New Mexico demands Statehood from the Fifty-Seventh Congress.
FRIDAY, NOV. 29.

New Mexico has more money in circulation among the people than ever before in its history.
The New Mexican says that Capt. Fritz Muller has announced that he is not a candidate for governor.
The populist party is about to go out of existence. A democratic side show it did not draw much attention.
President Roosevelt has dined with Booker T. Washington and Major Llewellyn. It is Mrs. M. Bond's turn.
Last year the United States exported a total of $250,000,000 in animals and animal products, including 48,000 horses and mules.
Appraisers of the estate of President McKinley fix its value at $200,000, and decide upon $8,000 as the annual allowance for the widow.
The war taxes rendered necessary by the war with Spain have produced a total of $14,000,000, and been paid without any perceptible strain upon the country.
Committees of the Pan-American congress in Mexico are rapidly getting their reports in shape. It is proposed to hold international conferences every five years hereafter.

One trouble with the trust problem is that the monopolies instead of the people may run the government. Government control sounds very nice, but who will control the government?
The republicans of New Mexico are almost unanimously in favor of Governor Otero. He has made the best executive the territory has ever had, and he is in favor of progress and enterprise.
By the death of Emiliano L. Gutierrez this country loses a valuable citizen. He was progressive and enterprising, and in the legislature favored measures that would help build up the territory.
The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says that irrigation is a bigger subject than it was a year ago. The drought of 1901 was an object lesson, but the subject is a growing one apart from special circumstances.
Reduction of letter postage to one cent an ounce in this country is not recommended by the postmaster general, nor is it demanded by the people. Neither would the postal revenues justify such a reduction at this time.
Secretary Wilson has given the leasing of the public grazing lands to large cattle owners a body blow in his annual report. He calls the attention of the president to the proposition and declares that the grazing lands the highest use of which, by reason of their aridity, will be for pasturage for indefinite future, should be immediately associated with the ownership of arable lands.

TAUGHT TO WORK.
In his annual report Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department makes some important suggestions regarding a change of methods in handling the Indians. The total number of Indians in this territory is estimated at $7,358,880. Hitherto they have been treated as wards or dependents. With the allotment of lands to the individual, and the breaking up of tribal relations, the secretary is of the opinion that the Indians should be taught to work and become in a larger measure, or wholly, self supporting. To this end he recommends the assistance of the government and the inauguration of industrial training in all schools where it is not already established, so that the Indians in all cases may be taught trades and industries adapted to their circumstances.
The statement is made that the original copy of the Declaration of Independence has faded until all its signature is decipherable. Even John Hancock's bold autograph, made bolder than usual in defiance of England, cannot be read. Parchment, discolored by years, is all that remains of the document that proclaimed the birth of the greatest republic the world has ever seen.
RESERVOIRS AND FORESTS.
The annual report of Secretary Hitchcock, of the interior department, contains many topics of special interest to the people of the west.
Among other things, the secretary says that the time has come when the timber and stone act, if not repealed or radically amended, will result ultimately in the complete destruction of the timber on the unsurveyed and unreserved public lands.
The most important topic in the report concerns the pressing question of irrigation and water supply. Secretary Hitchcock does not hesitate or speak in equivocal terms, but says in no many words that the time has arrived when reservoirs must be built and managed as a part of a national system of forest and water conservation. They can not be successfully maintained, however, he declares, without a thorough system of forest protection. The introduction of practical forestry on the forest reserves has now begun.
"The general policy," he says, "is

ROSENWALD BROS

Chicago, Oct. 26th, 1901.

MESSERS. HALL & LEARNARD, Albuquerque, N. M.

Gentlemen:—Your favor under date of October 22nd is received and contents carefully noted. We have booked your order for the several plans to which you refer in that favor and in regard to this matter, we beg to say, owing to the very large increase in the demands made upon us we are having a good deal of trouble in making prompt shipments. Our business has grown much faster than we had anticipated and although we are constantly adding to our facilities and resources we find it absolutely impossible to keep up with our natural growth.

Strange to say this increased demand has come almost without any effort on our part either by advertising or otherwise. It has come in practically unsolicited and speaks volumes for the satisfaction which our piano must be giving wherever it has been placed.

We expect within the next few months to move into much larger quarters, after which we hope that we can give you and all of our other representatives prompt and more satisfactory attention.

Hoping this explanation for our recent tardiness will be satisfactory, we beg to remain, with kind regards,

Yours very truly,

CHICKERING BROS.

Engineer H. M. Hogan Expired from the Effects of Injuries.

Surrounded by his devoted wife, daughter and several friends, Engineer Hugh M. Hogan expired Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock in the Santa Fe Pacific hospital, as a result of the horrible scalding by steam which he received in a railroad accident at Horace station which occurred at 4:15 o'clock in the morning. The injured man retained consciousness until the end and during the day he talked to his family and friends of the unfortunate occurrence. As the shades of night came on it was apparent to those about his bed that it was only a question of a short time until the man would be relieved of his untold agony by death, and the heartbroken wife and young daughter wept and bemoaned the loss of the soul of a kind husband, father and citizen took his flight from this earthly abode. The news of Mr. Hogan's untimely death spread to his friends and homes of every friend in the city, which cast a gloom that will long be remembered. He was universally beloved, and in his death a bright and happy home has been saddened, a vacancy in the order of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has been created, which can never be filled, and in the community in which he lived strong ties of friendship existed that never would have been severed only through the agency of death.

The body of Mr. Hogan was removed to the undertaking parlors of A. Borders, where it was embalmed and prepared for burial. The funeral services were held at 2:30 o'clock under the auspices of Rio Puerco lodge No. 446, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The services were opened by Mrs. T. J. Shincley, who sang "Angels Ever Bright and Fair." The next selection was "Nearer My God to Thee." The bereaved family and a large assembly of mourning friends were present, who viewed the remains as they peacefully reposed in a beautiful black cloth casket, where they will lie in state until 6 o'clock tonight.

Tomorrow morning the body will leave Albuquerque for Vincennes, Ind., where the deceased's parents are bowed in grief awaiting the arrival. T. J. Ford has been appointed escort by the local order, who with Mrs. Hogan and daughter, will accompany the remains to their final resting place.

"IT" IS A LADY-MAN.

Such is the Opinion of the Hospital Authorities.

The mystery has been solved. Miss Anna Savara, who came here a few days ago from Trinidad, Colo., and was taken off the limited train on a stretcher, suffering with liver trouble, is still at the hospital, and Marshall McMillin, of the Citizens' that "it" is a man and woman combined, his information being derived from the hospital authorities. It is understood that the lady man was born in London, England, 41 years ago and has been in museums for the past thirty years, but saved up very little. If any of the money earned "it" has a few dollars now and hopes to go farther west, on charity, provided "it" recovers from the present spell of sickness.

THEY ARE AT WASHINGTON.

Delegate Rodney, H. B. Ferguson and Major W. H. H. Llewellyn. A Washington dispatch to the Denver Republican says: Delegate Rodney called upon President Roosevelt and urged that he recommend the admission of New Mexico as a state in his forthcoming message.

Hon. J. B. Ferguson of Albuquerque and Maj. W. H. H. Llewellyn have arrived to aid Delegate Rodney of New Mexico in his statehood fight. They are at the National.

Major W. H. H. Llewellyn, of New Mexico, formerly a member of Colonel Roosevelt's Rough Riders, was a caller on the president and urged the claims of the territory for statehood. He was the guest of the president at dinner and escorted Mrs. Roosevelt to the theater.
