THE CARLIST
UPRISING

Recruiting of Refugees and Malcontents on the Frontier for Carlist Army.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR SPAIN

There Are 20,000 Rifles and Uniforms Ready for the Revolutionists—Carlist Generals to Be Present at Meeting October 10.

Barcelona, Oct. 5.—Reports received from Cape Cerbera say that advances received there from various points along the frontier show that Carlist preparations are nearly completed. They have accumulated through smugglers twenty thousand rifles and uniforms have been obtained from Cuba and the Philippine Islands. An uprising is expected to commence in Berge and other points in the mountains forming the Carlist center.

Booklets containing instructions how to make guerrilla warfare are being distributed and men are being recruited from refugees and malcontents about the frontier. An important meeting is to be held October 10, when two Carlist generals are expected to attend with instructions from Don Carlos.

FATAL WRECK ON THE READING.

Four Persons Killed—An Open Switch the Cause.

Reading, Pa., Oct. 5.—Four persons were instantly killed in a freight wreck today on the Lebanon valley division of the Reading railroad near Hummelstown, Pa. The dead are as follows: Engineer Thomas T. Dolan, fireman Wm. H. McCombs, conductor Patrick Kane, brakeman Charles E. May, all of Philadelphia. A derailing switch was open and the train, running at the rate of 35 miles an hour, plunged into an embankment.

Big Grain House Falls.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 5.—J. Q. Adams and company of this city who conducted one of the largest grain receiving and exporting houses in the northwest, under the name of the St. Paul and Kansas City grain company, made an assignment to Fred V. Vandusen and P. B. Smith today. Assignments are not prepared to state the amount of liabilities or values of assets. The company owns or controls seventy country elevators.

Morton's Daughter Weds.

London, Oct. 5.—The wedding of Miss Helen Morton, daughter of Levi P. Morton, a former vice president of the United States, and Count Bosen de Perigord, son of the Duke of Talleyrand Perigord, was celebrated today at St. Mary's Catholic church at Chelsea with considerable display.

A NATURAL WONDER.

A Cave in the Sacramento Mountains That Is a Marvel.

There is in the Sacramento mountains a most interesting cave about which little has been said or written. It is practically unexplored and is known only to people in its vicinity, yet upon further exploration it may become famous.

Travelers going out from Capitan, N. M., to Fort Stanton, will see near the edge of the military reservation a large, round hole about fifty feet in diameter slanting into the side of the hill. This exposes a series of underground caverns, the extent of which has yet to be determined. The first floor in the entrance is reached at a depth of about sixty feet, from which other passages open out at irregular descents, some of them leading down to an estimated depth of 1,500 feet below the surface.

One of the first passages to be entered, known as the "bridal chamber," is at the left. From its large, vaulted entrance it leads into a chain of dark and silent rooms separated by small entrances. Following these from room to room the explorer at last sees sunlight again, imagining he has discovered another exit, but to his great surprise finds himself again at the starting point, having traveled in a circle. Another passage down from this point leads to chambers containing large ponds of water, whose dimensions one does not have an opportunity to explore. Further down a large abyss is entered, which seems like a little underground world. It has its hills and valleys, lakes and streams, ripples and waterfalls, with the dark earth roofing it over like a cloudy sky. Many rooms open off from this, the most interesting being the crystal cavern, where immense stalactites hang far down from the roof and reflect the light from the explorer's lantern with rainbow colors into pools of water on the floor.

A stream is soon discovered, which rushes by leaps and leaps down into a dark hole. This can be followed for a distance of several miles, the trip being made in a small boat which was made for exploring the cave by soldiers from the fort. At last this perilous voyage is suddenly checked by the overhanging walls of the cave which approach the water so closely that the boat cannot pass. Where this little stream ends and what becomes of its cold, clear water one can only surmise. In following this water course, which runs under the Capitan mountains, the explorer passes under another stream, Bonito creek, which flows continually on the surface.

Only one entrance to this cave has ever been found, but there are evidences that it has other openings through the earth's crust. This theory is strengthened by the fact that fresh air currents are constantly stirring through the cave. It is said that a party of Indians were once driven into this cave by the soldiers, who placed a guard over the entrance to catch the headdress when they would be starved out. After two weeks the soldiers abandoned the watch, only to discover that the Indians had a few days previous turned up unexpectedly in the Capitan mountains. The supposition is that they swam down the underground stream and came out at some exit unknown to the white men.

But few systematic explorations of this cave have ever been made. The most successful examination of it was made several years ago by a young lieutenant and a volunteer squad of soldiers. They followed the stream as far as white men ever went. Many curiosity seekers have gone down a short distance. Few people are willing to subject themselves to the dangers of such an expedition in order to satisfy their curiosity or for the love of the adventure. It is a perilous undertaking. It is easy to lose one's way among the dark chambers and the explorer is in constant danger in the darkness of falling into deeper abysses where, perhaps, a rushing stream would bear him off into the bowels of the earth. The excitement and interest in such an exploration is great; others may soon undergo the danger and tell us more about the cave. Then its dark and silent chambers will again resound with the tread of man, and like other attractions in the Sacramento mountains, this mammoth cave may be turned into a pleasure resort and be the destination of daily excursion trains and be advertised far and wide by the railroad companies.

GETTING DEEPER
INTO DEBT

Great Britain Will Probably Have a Deficit of $69,724,000 for the Present Fiscal Year.

NO MEETING OF PARLIAMENT

A Sixty Million Dollar Bond Issue Only Realized $56,700,000 Leaving a Deficit to Be Met by New Appropriations and Tax of $13,000,000.

London, Oct. 5.—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, chancellor of the exchequer, denies that parliament will meet this autumn to provide more money for the prosecution of the war in South Africa. Nevertheless, at the present rate of expenditure, the deficit for the fiscal year 1901-2 will be $4,000,000, while sixty million pounds of which it was expected to meet the deficit, realized at 94 1-2, $56,700,000, leaving a deficit, which must be provided for by fresh appropriations of $13,000,000. Sir Michael Hicks-Beach doubtless considers that the prompt action by parliament in January will take care of the deficit.

TO BE SUMMARILY PUNISHED.

Treacherous Natives of Samar to Be Taught a Needed Lesson.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 5.—Latest advices from the Philippines indicate that the military authorities intend to take prompt and vigorous measures for the suppression of the insurrection in the island of Samar and that their attention will be directed first to the summary punishment of the treacherous natives who took part in the massacre of Company C, ninth infantry at Balangiga. There is therefore every prospect that the island of Samar will be the theater of active hostilities for sometime to come.

By direction of Adjutant General Corbin, a report has been prepared at the war department briefly describing the island and its inhabitants, and the military operations that have already taken place there for the pacification of the people and the establishment of good order and government.

THE SCHLEY COURT.

Hodgson's Testimony Continues—But One Session Today, All Concerned Being Very Tired.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Lieut. Commander Hodgson, formerly the navigator of Commodore Schley's flagship the Brooklyn, continued his testimony before the Schley court this session today. The court began its session today with the understanding that there would be only one sitting. The members of the court and counsel are greatly fatigued by the continuous sessions.

Before the court, at its morning's session, the question of admitting Admiral Sampson's "Dear Schley" letter was discussed, as also the question of admitting newspaper clippings in the correspondence. The matter was taken under advisement. The court adjourned at one o'clock today.

The Field Sport at Louisville.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5.—The second day of the field games at the Interstate fair began at 10 o'clock this afternoon at Churchill Downs.

In the 100 yard dash, the world's record was equalled by A. T. Duffy, of Georgetown University. H. Hargrave, Yale, finished second and Wm. Hunter, Louisville, third. Time 9 4-5 seconds.

Running broad jump: F. C. Maloney, University Chicago, 20 feet 5 inches; first; O. H. Kacke, 20 feet 2 1-2 inches; Chicago, second; J. R. Pettit, University of Chicago, 19 feet 7 3-4 inches; third.

In the 440 yards: R. Barrett, Chicago, first; W. K. Holland, Georgetown University, second; F. M. Horton, University of Chicago, third. Time, 50 4-5 seconds.

Anti-Anarchistic Legislation.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Representative W. B. Shattuck, of Ohio, chairman of the immigration committee of the house of representatives, saw the president today in regard to the bill he will introduce on the re-assembling of congress, having the object of the suppression of anarchistic literature and speeches in this country. Mr. Shattuck said that the proposed measure will be made drastic if possible, and a strong effort will be made to secure the support of all parties in its favor.

Joint Smashers Must Behave.

Topoka, Kas., Oct. 5.—The Kansas supreme court affirmed today the judgment of the district court of Shawnee county in the case against Balfe Stark, one of Carrie Nation's assistants in joint smashing. Mrs. Stark was fined $25 and costs. The court says that though joint smashers were declared by statute common nuisances, this does not justify their abatement without due process of law.

No Trace of Miss Stone.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Oct. 5.—A semi official denial was issued today of the statement that the kidnappers of the American missionary Miss Helen H. Stone, and companion Mrs. Telika, are in Bulgaria. A note issued by the authorities declares that the troops and police who have actively searched the frontier for ten days have not found any trace of brigands.

$15,000 For the Stone Ransom Fund.

Boston, Oct. 5.—The first mail today brought $3,000 contributed toward the rescue of Miss Stone, missionary captured by bandits. This in response to the appeal issued by the American Board yesterday. Up to noon today the trustees of the Stone ransom fund have received $15,585.

OFFICIAL MATTERS.

APPOINTED COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

Governor Otero today appointed John T. Omstott a member of the board of county commissioners from the first district of Luna county to succeed W. M. Taylor, resigned.

INCORPORATION FEES.

Territorial Secretary J. W. Reynolds today paid over to Territorial Secretary J. H. Vaughn $25 additional incorporation fees for the quarter ending September 30, 1901, making the total $3,493.50, an unprecedented sum, giving an indication of the large amount of capital that is being invested in New Mexico.

THE HISTORY OF THE ROUGH RIDERS.

Adjutant General W. H. Whitman today received a letter from President Roosevelt in which the President states that owing to the new responsibilities placed upon him, it would be impossible for him to write the history of the Rough Rider regiment for the forthcoming roster of the New Mexico volunteers in the Spanish-American war authorized to be printed by the 34th legislative assembly. This is much to be regretted as the history written by the President would undoubtedly have been a literary and historical masterpiece.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

A Six Room House at Las Cruces Destroyed—Occupant Buried in Its Ruins.

Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 5, 1901. Special to the New Mexican.

During an electric and thunder storm this forenoon, lightning struck a six room house in the northern part of town, completely demolishing the same. The coral and stable near the house were also destroyed. The occupant of the house, Mrs. James Clark, was buried in the ruins. A large force of men is at work clearing away the debris, but there is no hope that she will be found alive.

MERE FABRICATIONS.

Court Notes.

A mandamus proceeding was brought in the district court of this county yesterday afternoon on the relation of Ross Griffith and Pat Hogen against the assessor of this county to require him to certify the license proper to be levied in the town of Cerrillos, $100 in place of $400 retroactive, on the ground that the last census shows the population of the incorporated town of Cerrillos to be 491 inhabitants. Where as theretofore a license fee of $400 had been exacted. As the law now stands it is contended that the population being less than 500 persons the proper license fee is $100. The hearing in the case will come up before Judge McFie next week. Judge N. B. Laughlin is the attorney for complainants.

Speakers at the Statehood Convention.

A meeting of the committee to secure speakers for the statehood convention at Albuquerque on October 15, decided to invite the following to participate in the convention: Dr. Nathan R. Boyd of Washington; Hon. Edwin T. Munger, president of the Hamilton club, Chicago; Delegate Flynn of Oklahoma; Governor Murray of Arizona; and Governor Otero of New Mexico. President Roosevelt was invited a short time ago, but in a letter stated that he could not attend, although in favor of statehood.

It is thought that several congressmen who are known to favor statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, will attend the convention, which will be held on the first day of the territorial fair.

INDUCED BY THEM TO COME

An Effective Plan Suggested That Is Already in Operation by the Bureau—New Mexico Not as Well Understood in the East as It Should Be.

The following letter from Rev. John Hill Bourne, East Las Vegas, is a sample of many received by the bureau of immigration. It shows clearly and conclusively that the bureau is doing good work for the territory and is being appreciated. The plan mentioned by the reverend gentleman as to sending short articles to newspaper and magazine editors has been followed by the bureau since the first of July of this year and is doing good work. There are many more articles on New Mexico's climate and resources appearing in eastern newspapers and magazines than ever before in the history of the territory, and the territory is becoming more and more widely known. The reverend gentleman writes as follows:

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 1, 1901. The Secretary of the Bureau of Immigration, Santa Fe, N. M.
My Dear Sir: Am greatly obliged for the 30 copies of booklet on Santa Fe county. I have carefully read it and find it remarkably well adapted to the purpose for which it was issued. The illustrated edition will have many advantages. The talk of statehood for New Mexico has aroused an interest in our territory. The east knows no more about New Mexico than it does of life on the planets. New Mexico is in every way different from what, as an easterner, I had conceived. The present is an especially good time to circulate literature. I receive frequent letters from the far east asking for information. Life is too short to write to each one a descriptive essay of New Mexico, hence my desire for your booklets and anything else on that line I can gather in. This morning I received a letter from a stranger in Chicago asking about Las Vegas, Santa Fe and Albuquerque as desirable places for residence. I counted it as fortunate for me in having your books on Climate Is Fate and Santa Fe county, which I sent.

I wish you could spare me some copies of "Climate Is Fate." It is a fine thing. It was that book sent me by Hon. W. B. Walton, of Silver City, who is a classmate of mine in the east, that brought me to New Mexico.

May I offer a suggestion to the bureau? Perhaps you have already adopted it, but I doubt it. Print a series of short, interesting sketches to be mailed to newspaper and magazine editors. They are always ready to print short items of general interest, and New Mexico is at present commanding attention. Editors would be glad to get such sketches and people would be glad to read them and the good to the territory could not be measured. The only objection to publications I have already seen on New Mexico for this purpose is that they are too bulky and too full of interesting facts for a busy editor to hold down.

Very truly yours,
JOHN HILL BOURNE.

Improvements at the Penitentiary.

The penitentiary authorities have bought considerable land around the penitentiary which will be put under cultivation and will help towards attaining the object of making the penitentiary self-sustaining. At present the convicts are building a pretty five-room cottage opposite the penitentiary to be occupied by the yard master. The cottage is being built of brick and will add another handsome building to those on the south side, which already boasts of the capitol, the deaf and dumb asylum for which a fine large building will be erected this fall, the penitentiary, the United States Indian school for which two modern buildings were erected this year and for which two more buildings are to be erected this winter. St. Michael's college and many pretty private residences. It seems that Santa Fe is growing toward the west.

A TYPICAL SOUTH AMERICAN STORE.
O. R. Larson, of Bay Villa, Sunday River, Cape Colony, conducts a store typical of South Africa, at which can be purchased anything from the proverbial "needle in a valley nine miles from the nearest railway station and about 25 miles from the nearest town."

Mr. Larson says: "I am favored with the custom of farmers within a radius of 30 miles, to many of whom I have supplied Chamberlain's remedies. All testify to their value in a household where a doctor's advice is almost out of the question. Within one mile of my store the population is perhaps 60. Of these, within the past twelve months, no less than fourteen have been absolutely cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This must surely be a record." For sale by all druggists.

An Involuntary Wooing

By Kenneth F. Harris.
(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

It was not the atelier of a fashionable, or even a prosperous artist; as a matter of fact, nobody was ever known to call it an atelier at all. Teddy Stebbins usually referred to it as "my shop," a designation that was rendered more or less appropriate by its situation on the fourteenth floor of a downtown office building. It contained no soft hued oriental webs or faded tapestry; there was not a rusty carpet or a spider's rapier on the premises, and the big windows were as innocent of stained glass as they were of curtains.

Miss Gleason was the stenographer for Balch & Skinner across the way. If Teddy left his door open and moved his easel out into the middle of the room, he could see her from where he worked, and she could see him from where she worked; therefore it is not to be wondered at that they soon detected one another in the act of what Miss Gleason characterized as "rubbering."

Within a few weeks, however, Miss Gleason met the young artist's ardent gaze with perfect frankness and a smile that was as sweet and sunny and altogether charming and dazzling as a smile as ever turned a young man's head. In fact, she smiled so frequently that old Balch, her employer, noticed it, and was curious enough to steal up behind her and find out what she was smiling at. To his credit, however, he said nothing about it, although it is more than likely that his glowering bifocal glasses were turned on his pretty stenographer rather oftener than before.

Then Teddy, guiltily taking occasion to wander out into the passage when he heard the slamming of the elevator gate in the morning, met Miss Gleason and was bold enough to wish her a good morning and follow up with something about the weather. Later the scope of the conversation widened. She admired the carnation in his buttonhole and he very gallantly asked her to wear it for him.

"Some of these fine mornings I'm coming in to see your pictures," she said, as she left him.

For the next few days Teddy got to "his shop" half an hour earlier, in order to sweep the floor and tip up generally. The majolica utensils were pushed altogether out of sight under the desk and the pipes were stowed away into a drawer. The young man began to consider whether, after all, Robinson's advice was not good, and wondered how he would look with a beard. It was only the probationary month of bursary that deterred him from attempting it. As a matter of fact, he did make up his mind to let his hair grow. One morning Miss Gleason made the promised visit, and he had a delicious half-hour of her all to himself.

"I think that you must be wonderful clever," she said, as he turned canvas after canvas around for her inspection. "I took lessons once, but I could never do anything but pascies, and I couldn't do them very well. I don't suppose a person could ever get anything as natural as you do unless they had genius for it. What a beautiful girl that is!"

"It's Miss Peyton," he said, indifferently.

The coming of Miss Peyton a week before had gladdened his heart to the point of ecstasy. Not that she was anything like as good-looking as the little stenographer, although her skirt had perhaps a better set and swing, and her boots might have been a trifle trimmer; but she was the daughter of G. W. B. Peyton, and consequently her patronage meant a great deal. "I wish that I could paint your portrait," he added; "I would give anything in the world for that—if I could do it justice, that is."

"I don't see why you couldn't," I guess it's about time that I was in the office. I heard Mr. Balch a moment ago," and she made her escape.

Miss Peyton called for her second sitting the day after that. Her chaparral was with her, of course, but had to leave for a little while to do a little shopping. Teddy decided that the girl was a particularly nice girl and not a bit spoiled. It is not certain whether Miss Peyton had come to any decision regarding him at that time. It is certain, however, that as the sittings went on, she became more and more friendly. She had blue eyes, by the way, and while Teddy was prepossessed in favor of eyes of a velvety blackness, he was compelled to admit to himself that blue eyes had their good points. Naturally he looked into them quite often.

He had to. Miss Peyton had a dash of the practical spirit of her father, apparently, for she took Teddy to task concerning his lack of sociability, urging the necessity of this quality from a business point of view. "I didn't know that I was unsociable," said Teddy.

"I don't mean that, exactly," she rejoined; "I think that you are very nice, but why don't you only go out a little?"

"If you only knew!" said the young man. "And I don't mean that, either." She hesitated, while he looked at her, smilingly; "I mean," she continued, "that I never see you anywhere that I go, and—"

"Oh, that!" laughed Teddy. "Well, that's my misfortune."

"It will be your fault from this time," she said. "Now, to begin with, I'm going to send you an invitation to a party I'm going to have on Wednesday night. You will promise to come, won't you?"

"I won't promise."
"But you will!"—and he did.
But as to keeping his promise, that was another thing. He was not particularly bashful, but he had an idea that the sort of society that Miss Peyton moved in was not his sort of society, and he was a little uncertain about his dress suit, which was certainly not shabby from continuous wear; therefore Miss Peyton looked for him in vain and in consequence snubbed several of her admirers so that they longed for death, or said they did.

Miss Peyton scolded Teddy with an air of proprietorship that the young man found to be very embarrassing when she saw him the next time, and then she suddenly became embarrassed and treated him with icy reserve for nearly an hour. Soon after this she brought G. W. B. her father, up to the studio, and the old man was quite cordial and seemed to approve of Teddy's shirt-sleeves. He invited the young artist to drop in and see him at the house some evening when he had nothing better to do.

"That's what I have been trying to get him to do," murmured Miss Peyton, with a side glance at Teddy from under her drooping eyelashes, "but he won't come."

"First time you haven't got your own way," chuckled the old man. "I guess it will do you good, missy. But if he won't come for you he won't for me." Whereupon Teddy could do no less than say that he would most certainly call, if he still might, and he did call this time and came down first and made him smoke and talked to him about his prospects in an easy sort of way and recommended him to cut the arts and go into business, which Teddy thought might not be such bad advice after all.

After a little Miss Peyton came down in a most bewildering little frock and the smile that Teddy got ought to have been sufficient reward for coming. G. W. B. trotted off before long and Miss Peyton played and sang in a sweet, thin little voice songs that made Teddy rest his chin in his hands and lose himself in the flicker of the fire. Then the girl left off singing and came and sat down by him and before he knew it she was talking about herself, which was a bad sign, and he himself, which was the delicate part. Some of her hair had somehow got into his brain. For a time, it is to be feared that he forgot all about Miss Gleason. At last he pulled himself together and rose to go, and she was obviously unwilling that he should go just then, so he stayed, and it was quite late when she waved her hand in farewell from the doorway.

There would, no doubt, have been a different ending to this story had it not been for Teddy's idiotic habit of talking to himself. He was a boy who took in a show, as a general thing, at least twice a week, so he might have remembered the almost invariably fatal consequences of soliloquizing, and he might have remembered the occasional incoherencies of villagers from the same foolish practice, nevertheless he talked to himself, and, as it happened, talked himself into a good thing.

It was after he had talked for nearly ten minutes to Miss Gleason, when he had called "Delia" for the first time. He was not only unimproved, but she noticed that his necktie had drifted to one side and had straightened it for him.

When he went back to the shop he threw himself into a chair in front of the easel, whereon Miss Peyton's nearly completed portrait was placed, and, thrusting his hands deeply into his trousers pockets and gazing at the picture blankly and unseeing, began to free his mind.

He was very much agitated, otherwise he would have noticed that the original of the portrait had arrived and paused at the half opened door. Miss Gleason saw her, and shortly after old Balch saw his stenographer suddenly rise from her work and walk unsteadily to the window as the door on the other side of the passage closed with a slam.

Miss Peyton paused at the door because she observed the young man sitting and gazing intently at her portrait, not working at it, but just looking, and with a rapid expression of face, she had never seen on his face before, although she had tried to imagine it. Then Teddy spoke.

"It's all foolishness," he said; "I'm a chump to think that she cares for me just because she has looked kindly at me a few times. She can't help being sweet and kind, bless her! And I haven't got any business to ask her how about it; I'm too infernally poor. It wouldn't be the square thing."

Miss Peyton did not wait for further particulars. She tiptoed in, and, being an impulsive young person, put her arms around Teddy's neck, laid her cheeks against his and said: "You won't have to ask her, dear."

So, after all, it was not altogether Teddy's fault. And we cannot hope to have things always turn out as we want them in this vale of tears.

In conclusion Mr. Balch remarked to Mrs. Balch one morning, as he laid down the paper: "It's the same Stebbins used to have the studio right opposite the hall from us. I used to think that you were a little gone on him in those days, my dear."

And Mrs. Balch answered: "Mol! Gone on him? The idea!"

"Some of my latest photographs," said the camera fiend, "I took 50 feet under water." "Why did you go to the trouble of taking them there?" remarked Peppery. "It would have been easier to tie a stone to them and throw them in."—Puck.

OLD PEOPLE HAVE THEIR TROUBLES.

NO MAN IS STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The stomach is the vital center of the body. It is the organ from which all other organs are fed. A weak stomach means a weak man. There never was a strong man with a weak stomach. What is called "weak stomach" is in general a diseased condition of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, which prevents the proper digestion of the food which is taken into the stomach, and so reduces the nutrition of the body. When all food is taken away the body starves. When the food eaten is only digested and assimilated in part it only nourishes the body in part, and so the body is partly starved. And this starvation is felt in every organ of the body dependent on the blood which is made from food.

The great variety of the cures performed by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, due to its remarkable power to heal diseases of the stomach and allied organs. It cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote, but which have their origin in a diseased condition of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. "Weak" heart, lungs, kidneys and weakness of other organs is cured with the cure of the weak stomach.

Mr. Thomas A. Swartz, Box 103, Sub-Station C, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I was taken very sick with severe headache, then cramps in stomach and food would not digest, then kidney and liver trouble, and my back got weak so I could scarcely get around. The more I ate the worse I got until six years passed. ## SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

District Attorney E. C. Abbott is visiting northern New Mexico on official business.

Judge Henry L. Waldo, the respected solicitor for the Santa Fe railway, is in the capital on legal business.

General W. H. Whiteman returned last evening from Denver, where he attended the Mountain and Plain festivities.

Hon. and Mrs. J. W. Reynolds last evening gave an elegant dinner to Governor and Mrs. Otero and Mr. and Mrs. Berger.

Hon. E. F. Hobart, John K. Stauffer and others left this forenoon on a drive to the cliff dwellings west of Santa Fe. They will return here before sunrise on Monday morning.

Hon. Jefferson Reynolds, of Las Vegas, was the guest last Sunday of his son, Territorial Secretary J. W. Reynolds and his wife, at the historic old Palace. From here he went south, returning to Las Vegas on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Elliott, parents of Mrs. F. S. Davis, who have been spending the past six weeks in California, and who are now on their way to their home at Paris, Mo., will stop off in Santa Fe for some time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Davis. They are expected to arrive here tomorrow noon.

P. Taupert, a young man who came to Santa Fe for his health and worked for two years for S. Spitz and then went to Mexico, has made a trip to his former home in Michigan and there took unto himself a wife. When Mr.
Spitz returned from the east this week he met Mr. Taupert and bride who were on their way to their home in Mexico, where Mr. Taupert holds a lucrative position at his trade of watchmaker and jeweler. Mr. Taupert has been completely restored to health by the western climate.

Rev. G. S. Madden, who is visiting in Santa Fe, intends to say good-bye to New Mexico for the present. He has just returned from a trip to the Grand Canon in Arizona and to California with Rev. E. E. Tarbill, D. D., of Cheyenne, superintendent of the Wyoming Methodist missions, who passed Lamy on Thursday. Mr. Madden will locate at Hueneme, on the Pacific coast, forty miles northwest of Los Angeles, the center of the California walnut region and a great shipping point. He will have charge of a prosperous Methodist church at that place. Mrs. Madden and children are at present at Long Beach, Calif.
Mr. Madden will leave here for California in a few days.

The Wallace Reading Club had a very enjoyable outing and picnic on last Thursday. The party reached the turquoise property of the American Turquoise company at about noon and were hospitably received by Mr.
and Mrs. J. P. McNulty, who entertained them at luncheon, after which Mr. McNulty escorted the visitors through the dark recesses of the mine from which are brought the beautiful blue gems which are prized so highly by the beauty and the fashion of the east. In the light of the full moon the party reached home after having passed a day which will long be remembered as one of unalloyed pleasure. The following were in the party:
The Mesdames Thomas, Marsh, Massie and McCormick and the Misses Morriso, Nicholson, Hurt, Marsh,
Staeb, Lamy and Massie.

One of the most enjoyable social functions in Santa Fe this season was the dancing party given by Miss Morrison, the charming daughter of Judge
A. L. Morrison, to her friends last Tuesday evening at Armory Hall. The hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion with the American flag, branches of asparagus and scarlet ger-anium, large bunches of the latter being grouped and dominating the delicate green of the prevailing background, marking a contrast very pleasing to the taste and adding greatly to the cheerfulness of the dancing hall. Dancing began at 9.30 and from the beginning it was evident the spirit of Terpsichore ruled the assembled guests; staid matrons tripping the graceful steps of the waltz and whirling through the maze of the lancers with all the vivacity and keen enjoyment of the younger people. The dancing floor was in perfect condition;
the music in accord with the surroundings; and with the animate faces, and pretty gowns of the ladies ever-changing in the figures of the dance, formed a pretty ensemble most pleasing to those present. At twelve o'clock a dainty and delicious collation was served by the hostess, after which dancing was continued till the "weesna" hours. The invitations for the evening included Messrs. and Mesdames McFie, Frost, Cartwright, Davis, Hughes, Knapp, Knaebel, Lord, Laughlin, Miller, Otero, Spitz, Selgman, Van Schick, Walker, Watson, Crosson, Mrs. Clark Carr, Mrs. Yrisari, the Misses Crane, Gildersleeve, Hurt, Hild, Johnston, Lamy, Massie, Manderfield, Marsh, Nicholson, Otero, Palen, Perea, Staeb, Sturges, the Messrs. Andrews, Armijo, Broadhead, Bartlett, Grungett, Harding, Harris,
Hastings, Johnston, Massie, Morrison,
McKenzie, M. Otero, Pope, Rivenburg, Staeb and Turley.

MINOR CITY TOPICS

Bon Ton: Louis Grade, Cuchillo.
There will be a dance at Gray's hall
this evening.

W. G. Ashdown and J. F. Williams, of Cerrillos, are visitors in the city today.

J. L. Talley came down from Buck-man's last evening to spend a day in the city.

The board of county commissioners will meet Monday in regular quarterly session.

The board of education should keep in mind the desirability, in fact the necessity, of making provision for the erection of two modern school buildings by next year. They should be built before next September. That is one way that Santa Fe can help itself to become a big and prosperous city.

There is no break in the ideal, sunshiny, bracing autumn weather of Santa Fe.

The train from the south on the Santa Fe railroad was several hours late this afternoon.

Emery Arnold, who has a ranch on the Pecos, is in the capital on a business visit today.

A meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held on Monday at the court house.

The Browns and the Mechanics will cross bats tomorrow afternoon on the athletic field of St. Michael's college.

pany is headquarters for pen carbon copy books in the territory. Call and see for yourself.

Miss Maggie Gelmer, stenographer
in the office of Territorial Secretary J. W. Reynolds, is confined to her home with illness.

Exchange: Elias Saleh, Las Vegas; W. G. Ashdown, J. F. Williams, Los Cerrillos; J. L. Talley, Buckman; Emery Arnold, Pecos.

A regular meeting of Carleton Post, G. A. R., will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock sharp. Visiting comrades are cordially invited.

The brass band of the United States
Indian school returned last evening from Taos, where it had attended the San Geronimo festivities.

Santa Fe has gone to sleep on the chance to secure a free delivery system for the asking. No wonder that some people call Santa Fe slow.

The millinery display at Miss Mugler's will continue next week with new lines of goods. The ladies are invited to call and inspect her new stock.

Palace: G. W. Harrison, Albuquerque; R. A. Fullenwider, Raton; J.
Law, Antonito; D. R. Dodge, Trinidad;
H. L. Waldo, Las Vegas; C. A. Carruth, Antonito.

Another attempt will be made on Monday evening to get together a quorum of the aldermen to hold a city council meeting. Important business is to be transacted.

The Fifteen club will resume its work for the coming year on Friday, October 11, and will meet with Mrs.
Warner at the home of Mrs. W. S.
Harroun. Mrs. Palen will be in the chair.

The Water street sewer should be flushed with a big stream of clean water every day. Better still, an underground sewer should be built and will be built if the city authorities do their duty.

The showers predicted by the weather bureau for last night and today failed to put in their appearance. The maximum temperature yesterday was 70 degrees and the minimum 48 degrees.

The leading grocery firms of this city have decided to close their stores on Monday evening on at six o'clock in the evening except on Saturday evening, when the stores will be kept open until the usual hour.

The fine residence that George W.
Schoch is building on Washington avenue is nearing completion and will be as elegant a home as any to be found in Santa Fe. Here is one man who has faith in the future of Santa Fe.

Judge McFie has taken under advisement the case of the Territory exrel McLean company vs. The Denver & Rio Grande railroad in which argument was completed last evening. The case involves the legality of the meat peddling and hide inspection act passed by the 34th legislative assembly.

If the present city administration does what is expected of it, it will see to it that before it is succeeded by another administration that new sidewalks, preferably brick, are laid where-ever needed and especially along the principal streets of the city. The city has the power to enforce the sidewalk ordinance.

The Ortiz block, at the corner of San Francisco street and Don Gaspar avenue is one of the most valuable building sites in the city. Every month that it remains unimproved it must mean a loss to the owner of almost $100. It would be an ideal site for a new opera house and big store rooms, as well as offices.

An old, blind man, name unknown, was brought to St. Vincent's hospital yesterday in a dying condition upon his arrival at the hospital. He had been brought down from Hopewell, near Tres Piedras, Rio Arriba county. Under taker James McCabe took charge of the remains. Interment was made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

The old Palace is beginning to look handsome in its old age. Not only has the exterior been repainted and replastered but the interior of the offices in the building are being repainted, repapered, refloored and are being renovated in general. All that is needed to finish the work is a substantial brick walk in front and on the Washington avenue side of the building.

Probate Clerk Manuel Delgado today recorded the 115 pendens or pending suits in the district court for Santa Fe county of the pueblos of Santa Clara and San Ildefonso vs. Edward F. Hobart, Helen M. Smith, the unknown heirs of Helen M. Smith and Derwent Smith, being suits in eject-ment involving about 9,000 acres, situated between the pueblos of Santa Clara and San Ildefonso on the Rio Grande in northern Santa Fe county.

Also a deed by Leo Hersch and Ernestine C. Hersch, his wife, Bertha Hersch, Helena Hersch, David Hersch,
Beatrice Hersch of Santa Fe, Hattie Hatcher and J. S. Hatcher of Pagosa Springs, Colo., to Mrs. Rosalia ersch for lots No. 10 in block 6 and No. 1 in block No. 44 in the city of Santa Fe.

Nothing Tastes Good

And eating is simply perfunctory—done because it must be.
This is the common complaint of the dyspeptic.

If eating sparingly would cure dyspepsia, few would suffer from it long.

The only way to cure dyspepsia, which is difficult digestion, is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured the niece of Frank Fay, 106 N. St., South Boston, Mass., who writes that she had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for six years; had been without appetite and had been troubled with sour stomach and headache. She had tried many other medicines in vain. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made her well.

HEADACHE

"Both my wife and myself have been suffering from HEADACHE and they are the best medicine we have ever had in the house. Last week my wife was frantic with headache for two days, she tried some of your CASCARETS, and they relieved the pain in her head almost immediately. We both recommend Cascarets."

OJO CALIENTE HOT SPRINGS.

These Celebrated Hot Springs are located in the midst of the Ancient Cliff Dwellers, twenty-five miles west of Taos, and fifty miles north of Santa Fe, and about twelve miles from Barranca
Station, on the Denver & Rio Grande Railway, from which point a daily line of stages run to the Springs. The temperature of these waters is from 90 to 122 degrees. The gases are carbonic. Altitude, 6,000 feet. Climate very dry and delightful the year round. There is now a commodious hotel for the convenience of invalids and tourists. These waters contain 1,688.34 grains of alkaline salts to the gallon, being the richest alkaline Hot Springs in the world. The efficacy of these waters has been thoroughly tested by the miraculous cures attested to in the following diseases: Paralysis,
Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Consumption,
Malaria, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys, Syphilis and Mercurial Affections, Scrofula, Catarrh, La Grippe, all Female Complaints, etc., etc. Board, Lodging and Bathing, $2.50 per day; $14 per week; $50 per month. Stage meets Denver trains and waits for Santa Fe train upon request. This resort is attractive at all seasons, and is open all winter. Passengers for Ojo Caliente can leave Santa Fe at 10:08 a. m. and reach Ojo Caliente at 5 p. m. the same day.
Fare for the round trip from Santa Fe to Ojo Caliente, $7. For further particulars, address
