MINE DISASTER AT TELLURIDE

Fifty to Seventy-five Men Are Still Imprisoned in the Smuggler-
Union Mine.

RESCUERS DRIVEN BACK

Twenty-two Bodies Were Recovered Last Night—The Tunnels and Levels Are Filled With a Foul Smoke—Work of Relief Difficult.

Telluride, Colo., Nov. 21.—Persons who came into town this morning from the Smuggler Union mine, four miles distant, say the workers have almost abandoned hope of finding any of the imprisoned men alive. Every few minutes the rescuers rush inside, only to crawl back helpless and strangled as they meet the foul smoke which fills the tunnels and levels. The officers of the company say work will be hastened in the hope that many may be found alive. It is believed that from 50 to 75 are still imprisoned. Twenty-two bodies were recovered last night. TWO BODIES SACRIFICED THEIR LIVES TO SAVE THE MEN.

Denver, Nov. 21.—A special to the Post from Telluride says that the work of rescuing the miners suffocated in the Smuggler Union mine yesterday was resumed at 9 o'clock this morning. Searching parties were unable to work last night, owing to the dense volumes of sulphur gas which permeated the eighteen miles of underground workings. It is not expected that all bodies will be recovered before midnight, and it may take even longer. The full number of dead will not be known until a complete roster of employees is secured. There may be 50 more bodies in the mine. It is certain that every man imprisoned is dead. Each body was placed upon the shoulders of twelve stalwart miners and brought to the coroner's office. From 150 to 200 men were engaged in this work.

Shift Bosses Horgelson and Barkley sacrificed their lives in a vain attempt to save the lives of their mine associates. They could easily have escaped. Instead, they went into the workings to spread the alarm. The coroner will hold an inquest upon but one body. There is talk of raising a relief fund for the widows and orphans.

ONLY THREE OR FOUR MISSING.

Denver, Nov. 21.—Up to 2 p. m. 23 bodies all told were rescued. At 2 o'clock an attempt was made to enter the ninth level from the north, but on account of the density of the smoke it was impossible. It is stated by one of the officers of the company that only three or four men are missing and the total number of dead will not exceed 25.

THIRTY LOST THEIR LIVES.

Denver, Nov. 21.—A special to the Times from Telluride says: Thirty miners lost their lives by suffocation from smoke driven in the Bullion tunnel of the Smuggler-Union mine from fire that destroyed the buildings at the mouth of the tunnel yesterday. Twenty-two bodies have been recovered and it is known that seven or eight men, still entombed in the north level, almost certainly perished. This morning the bodies of Shift Boss Torkleson and Tram Boss Barkley were taken from near the level.

Thirty Thousand Letters Mailed at Los Angeles, Seventeen Pouches of Letters from East and 300 Sacks of Packages and Papers Burned.

NONE OF THE PASSENGERS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—In a disastrous wreck yesterday on the Santa Fe, near Needles, the entire mail carried by both trains was burned. At least 30,000 letters mailed in this city for the east were destroyed. The eastbound limited carried 17 pouches of letters and over 300 sacks packages and papers. No registered mail was lost, none being carried on limited trains. Of thirteen victims taken to the hospital, all will probably recover except R. R. Higgins, conductor of No. 3. He was badly "crushed" and is not expected to live. All those seriously injured are "trainmen and dining-car men. With the exception of slight injuries, the passengers were unhurt.

St. Paul, Nov. 21.—Letters were sent out this afternoon from the governor's office addressed to the governors of North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho and Oregon suggesting co-operation in the fight against the railroad merger and asking the state executives to suggest plans for concerted action.

The Situation on the Isthmus of Panama Is Anomalous and Somewhat Disquieting.

THE LIBERALS HOLD COLON

While the Government Forces Are in Possession of Panama—Immediate Attack on Panama Not Contemplated—The United States Protects Road.

Colon, Nov. 21.—Colonel Barrera, commander of the Liberal forces, notified the former officials of the government that he has appointed a commission to take over their offices formally today. The feeling in the community cannot be regarded as antagonistic to Liberalism. The existing conditions created no panic, but it is a recognized fact that the Liberals hold in Colon while the Conservatives are in possession of Panama, creates a state of affairs which cannot possibly continue. Colonel Barrera admits the government troops here numbered little less than 120 men. It was at first reported that twelve or more men had been killed and about 30 wounded, but the bodies of more dead have since been discovered. The Liberals claim to have been in possession of all railroad stations between Colon and Las Cascaides. No immediate attack on Panama is contemplated. The United States gunboat Machias, it is understood, will not interfere with the fighting, but will protect railroad and foreign interests.

QUIET AT PANAMA.

Washington, Nov. 21.—The secretary of the navy received the following cablegram from Captain Perry, commanding the battleship Iowa, dated Panama, today:

A Big Fair and Bazaar at Albuquerque.

At the request of the Retail Merchants' association the St. Joseph's hospital bazaar at Albuquerque will be held next week instead of the third week in December. The merchants made the plea on the grounds that if the bazaar was held in December it would hurt their holiday trade. The hospital is being built by the Sisters of Charity, and the proceeds derived from the bazaar will be applied to furnishing the hospital. The Ladies' Guild of the St. John's Episcopal church had also planned to give a two-days' fair during December, but also complied with the request of the Retail Merchants' association and postponed their entertainment until the first week in February.

Hurt at Glorieta.

Bert Julian, a Santa Fe fireman, was struck by a bridge girder and dangerously injured. He came to Albuquerque about a year ago from Marcelino, Mo. Julian took Fireman Hays' place Sunday night, Hays being too sick to go out on his run, and in crossing the Glorieta mountains through Apache canon, Julian leaned from the cab, his head coming in contact with the girders of a bridge, knocking him to the ground and injuring him probably fatally. The freight train was stopped and the injured man taken to the railway hospital at Las Vegas. Late reports say he cannot live. His wife and baby now reside at Marcelino, Mo.

A CLASH IS FEARED IN KENTUCKY

The Union Miners at Madisonville, Kentucky, Refuse to Obey the Order of the Court to Disperse.

THE MILITIA WILL BE SENT AGAINST THEM

Madisonville, Ky., Nov. 21.—Although everything is quiet in the mining district this morning, it looks as if there will be a serious clash between the authorities and union miners now in camp, owing, it is said, to their refusal, by order of County Judge Hall, to disperse. President Wood of the United Mine Workers, says the men will not disband. Judge Hall says: "If the miners are not dispersed by Saturday morning, I shall call upon General Murray and troops, who will disperse them."

NEW MEXICO MINING INTERESTS.

Splendid Indications for Oil at Santa Rosa—Sierra County Mines.

Horace Kingsbury has resumed work on the Great Republic mine at Gratton, Sierra county, opening up a body of gold ore.

The Romadake Mining company has commenced development work on its group of claims in the San Andreas mountains, 35 miles west of Tularosa.

The Silver Monument mill at Fairview, Socorro county, had to close down on account of an accident and will not resume until a casting has arrived from Denver and is put in place.

The Hillsboro Gold Mining company of Sierra county, has installed a new pump to unwater the mine it is working near Hillsboro. The former appliances were not adequate to remove the volume of water that flows into the workings of the mine. The shaft will be sunk considerably deeper.

J. W. Orchard, who has held an option for nearly a year on the Duda mine on the Macho, in Sierra county, has taken up the option. Consideration $3,000. A. J. Brown of Ute, N. Y., also has an interest in the mine. It is the intention to do extensive development work on the mine.

The Grandview Mining company of the Carpenter district in eastern Grant county, has opened a large body of lead and zinc ore, which averages 24 feet in width and at several places is 150 feet wide.

Hon. John L. Thompson of Titusville, Pa., in the center of the Pennsylvania oil region, president of the Spartanburg, Pa., First National bank, and an oil man of experience, has declared that the oil indications near Santa Rosa, Guadalupe county, are far better than have been ever found in Pennsylvania. One of the most favorable indications is the 45 degree trend of the oil lands. Experienced oil men will not go into a new district unless it shows the proper degree. If oil is struck near Santa Rosa, the probabilities are that it will be high grade.

A Boston syndicate intends to commence operations on the Sunol group near Organ, Dona Ana county, by New Year. A plant is to be erected for the treatment of gold and copper ore.

Kingsley and Ames have uncovered ore on the Tough Nut, at a depth of 75 feet, and an abandoned shaft eastward of the present workings of the Excelsior, at Organ, is being cleaned out, so that a lead of high grade ore at 50 feet may be further developed.

The mill on the Modoc at Organ will be completed by January.

On the Bennett-Stephenson at Organ not much more is being done than to keep the water under control. It is understood that the owners, the Copper King company, will soon begin extensive operations on the mine and adjoining claims, which it owns.

The new pump on the Mountain Key mine at Pinos Altos, Grant county, has been installed and is pumping the water out of the shaft which is filled up to the second level. The capacity of the pump is 20,000 gallons a day and it will be but a short time before the shaft is cleared.

The Cherry Creek Copper company which incorporated last week will sink a 100 foot shaft on the Beacon group in the Rio Montalvo in Grant county. Timber is being hauled to the Copper Ring and Little Burro mines near Santa Rita, on which the American Consolidated company intends to erect a milling plant.

Considerable prospecting and development work is going on in the newly discovered copper district in southeastern Chaves county.

T. Mooney, Guy Thomas and J. P. Kelly have received the contract to drive another 200 feet on the McGinty tunnel at Elizabethtown.

John Williams has closed down work on the Willow Creek placers near Elizabethtown, Colfax county, for the season.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting company has received a gasoline hoisting engine which it has placed on the Tom Payne mine in southern Santa Fe county.

M. Byrd, of the Cape Milling company, has left Lincoln county for St. Louis and Chicago to purchase machinery for the Crow mine in the Bonito district in Lincoln county. There are seventeen claims in the Crow group, all situated on the same lode. Drifting has yet failed to disclose either of the vein walls.

The Cook's Peak country is to be thoroughly tested for oil. The El Paso company has let a contract for boring a 1800 feet well on its property in Luna county. The machinery is on the ground. Experts have pronounced the oil indications excellent. If oil is not struck, the promoters are certain that they will strike artesian water which would be of great benefit to Luna county.

All the machinery for the Aberdeen concentrator near Lordsburg, Grant county, is on the ground, and a building is being erected over it. The concentrator is to be ready for operation on New Year's day. The shaft in the Ma-

A LAND CONTENT.

Hon. B. M. Read, attorney, today in the United States land office, filed an appeal in the land contest case of Crescenciano Gallegos appellant, vs. H. W. Kelley, appellee, a desert land entry in Guadalupe county being involved, the land being within the limits of the county seat of Puerto de Luna, being desert land entry No. 517 for the SE. 1-4 SE. 1-4, sec. 23, SW. 1-4 SW. 1-4 sec. 27, and the NE. 1-4 NE. 1-4 sec. 33, township 9 N., range 22 E. The appellant sets up the contention that the land in dispute is not desert land and that the entry was irregular.

THE WAY OUT OF IT.

Santa Fe Should Have an Up-to-Date
Opera House or Theater.

To the Editor of the New Mexican.

Santa Fe, Nov. 21, 1901.—In your last edition, referring to the Rice opera troupe, you say "there will be no more shows at Santa Fe this season as the insurance companies object to performances in the court house." In justice to the insurance companies and their agents you might have added: "Unless an extra premium for each performance is paid (just as it was done in former years) on account of the hazard being increased by such performances, or unless the present rate is advanced adequately, or the county foregoes the privilege of claims due to fire originated while the court house is used for purposes other than for which it is supposed to be used, and upon which the tariff has been fixed. On those conditions the insurance companies will not object to any performances; otherwise the county must take its own risk on certain occasions, for the insurance companies cannot be held liable under the conditions of the policies, vide printed conditions of policies. The easiest way to evade any possible trouble would seem to be the building of an opera house. Very truly,

Insurance Agents.

Denver, Las Cruces and Organ men have organized a company to work ten new claims on the west slope of the Organ mountains. They will use diamond drills and intend to sink sixty feet on each claim. The claims adjoin the Bennett-Stephenson on the north and the Modoc on the south.

On account of the strike of the mill men at the saw mills at Alamogordo, work on the Torpedo mine at Organ, Dona Ana county, has been greatly retarded, as the formation of the rock is not of sufficient solidity to permit workmen to drive safely more than ten feet ahead of the timber men. All suitable timbers have been used up and now the work on the shaft will be delayed until the Alamogordo mills can send more timber.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 57th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

Agualondo wants to be a free man. He cannot well be blamed for this desire. It is human nature.

All indications point that the state of Nebraska is going back on Colonel Bryan, and is doing it in a hurry.

The Tammany judges are now deciding against Chief of Police Devery. The end of Devery's official existence must be drawing near.

Like Santa Fe, most of the towns and cities of New Mexico report that there has been more building this year than in any previous year. Certainly, a sign of prosperity.

Deming rejoices over the installation of a telephone system. One step after the other in progress in New Mexico towns that is keeping them abreast of the cities of the east.

It seems that all the Filipino insurgents are not yet truly good. The impression is gaining ground that in order to be good the average Filipino insurgent must be dead.

The latest railroad trust is the Northern Securities Company, with a capital stock of $400,000,000. This trust may be for the benefit of the people, but the chances are that it is not.

The counties of Chaves and Eddy in southeastern New Mexico are prosperous. They have waited for some years for that prosperity, but it is there now. All things come to him who waits.

The able correspondents of the yellow sheets of the country in Washington seem to know more about the plans of the administration, than the administration does itself. But this is the 20th century.

Atlanta, Georgia, and Columbia, South Carolina, have had two inches of snow already and blizzard weather seems to have set in early in the south Atlantic states. That should be an indirect advertisement for New Mexico's climate.

Just criticism of public officials is a good thing for the people. But unjust and unfair criticism and false accusations are detrimental to the government and are of injury to the people. The yellow sheets of the territory are practicing the latter.

District Attorney W. H. H. Llewellyn is daily adding to his fame as a public prosecutor. The conviction of James E. Cole at Alamogordo, for murder, was a brilliant victory on his part that will be commented upon even outside of the confines of New Mexico.

The mining development of the territory is remarkably on the increase. The prospects for next year are very bright. Within a few years New Mexico will take its proper place in the front rank of the commonwealths that are producing gold, silver and copper.

The official returns of Alabama show upon their face that the new constitution was adopted by a handsome majority. The Alabama Democrats believe in using the election machinery for all it is worth when they have it. The way to ratify is to ratify and they have done so.

The Republican party must take up the subject of trusts in the near future and handle it vigorously. Legislation to suppress trusts must be enacted. The busting up of a few gigantic trusts between this and 1904 will materially clear the political atmosphere for the Republican party.

Alabama has found it necessary to make highway robbery a capital offense. This is falling in line with New Mexico which makes train robbery a capital offense. Civilized communities owe it to themselves to protect themselves against crime if it does take severe measures at times to do this.

Hon. B. S. Rodey, New Mexico's delegate to congress, sums up, before going to Washington, the main reasons for statehood and the principal benefits it would confer upon the people of the territory. It is a convincing statement and no man can gainsay it. New Mexico by right should and will be a state and that before many more months have rolled around.

District Attorney E. C. Abbott has brought suits against delinquent tax payers for the year 1900, in Rio Arriba and Taos counties, and proposes to push these cases to a speedy issue. The same course should be taken with delinquent tax payers in Santa Fe county. There are many thousands of dollars delinquent taxes due in this county, which ought to be collected and that very promptly.

The Santa Rosa National bank at Santa Rosa, Guadalupe county, with a capital stock of $25,000, is being organized and will soon be an accomplished fact. Las Vegas capital is behind the bank. The capital stock is to be increased to $50,000 as soon as possible. Facts like these indicate that the business in the territory is increasing and that capitalists have confidence in the honesty and efficiency of the territorial administration.

The beekeepers of Colorado in convention assembled have decided that alfalfa honey is the best. As New Mexico is pre-eminent an alfalfa territory it should also produce the best and the largest quantity of good honey of any state in the Union and that fact should open large markets for New Mexico honey. Beekeeping is a pleasant and light occupation, in fact so much so, that many women have made a success of it. Here's a hint to healthseekers who are seeking to engage in some business and in some other occupation in New Mexico.

While Colorado produced almost 50,000 pounds of tobacco during the last fiscal year, New Mexico and Arizona together produced only 18,000 pounds, and the greater part of that was raised in Arizona. Experiments have shown, and it stands to reason, that if Arizona and Colorado can produce good tobacco, New Mexico can also produce tobacco for which a ready market would be found right in the territory itself. It does seem strange that New Mexico does not produce more tobacco, but undoubtedly some day someone will take the lead in making tobacco culture more general in New Mexico.

In several of the counties in the territory delinquent taxes amount to tens of thousands of dollars. In Socorro county, it is said, that the delinquent tax foots up over $200,000. In other counties a similar bad state of affairs exists. Had these delinquent taxes been duly collected as the law provides and contemplated the tax rate for the present year for territorial purposes would have been much smaller than it is, many of the counties would have been in excellent condition financially and the county tax rate would have been materially reduced. However, this bad state of affairs is not the fault of the territorial administration, but is mainly the fault of the several collectors in the counties interested. The revenue laws provide a very simple and adequate remedy in delinquent tax matters. Every six months the delinquent tax list should be published and thereafter the proper officials, namely the collector or the district attorney, under the law, can take proper action for the prompt collection of delinquent taxes. The executive of the territory has but small power in these cases. The governor has not the power to remove delinquent officials except in a few specified cases. Delinquent tax lists grow from year to year under this state of affairs.

A Friend of the West.

President Roosevelt has announced that his message to congress will urge the re-enactment of the Chinese exclusion act, which expires by limitation next year, and that he recommends to congress that action be taken to reclaim the arid lands. This shows the president to be a particular friend of the west. There is an ample surplus in the United States treasury of no apparent usefulness as long as it is merely a surplus, but which if put to the work of reclaiming the arid lands of the west, will be eventually returned to the United States treasury a thousandfold. It would be making two blades of grass grow where none grew before and that is after all the greatest work that man can perform. It would mean homes for thousands of worthy homeseekers, good markets for eastern industries and a re-enforcement of the prosperity of the United States by providing a domain whose crops would not be affected by the vicissitudes of drought or flood. It would be the most magnificent work that the United States has ever undertaken and which would practically add another empire to the nation's domain.

A Shortcoming That Should Be Remedied.

One of the most important offices in the territory is that of superintendent of public instruction. Unfortunately the work of the office is being hindered greatly and kept back by the fact that there is absolutely no appropriation for contingent expenses for the office. The sum of $200 was appropriated for the present fiscal year for that purpose and that was expended within the first four months. Had it not been for the fact that Colonel J. Frank Chaves, superintendent of public instruction, is putting up his own money for postage stamps and other important items and that he managed to get supplies on credit, he would have been unable even to write a letter on the business of the office. For the coming fiscal year the appropriation for contingent and traveling expenses is somewhat larger, but not at all enough. It amounts to $500 and out of this sum the superintendent is expected to visit each county of the territory on official business at least once a year, in addition to furnishing supplies that are necessary for the proper conduct of the business of the office. The work of it is steadily on the increase and letters on school matters from officials, teachers and others interested are being received by the dozen daily. There are numerous reports to be made and many blanks are to be furnished the county superintendents, under the existing statutes concerning the school system of the territory. Colonel Chaves is doing all he can to keep the business of the office up to the standard required by the law, but he certainly has a hard time of it in doing so. He is compelled to employ a clerk for whose services he must pay out of his own pocket, as the business of the office is too great to be conducted without a clerk. The next legislative assembly must remedy this unsatisfactory and unwholesome state of affairs and the New Mexican will take good care to bring this subject up again at the proper time.

For You to Read

"What puzzled me in the beginning was that I kept losing flesh without any cause for it that I could see. I had a little trouble with my stomach, too, and after a while began to grow weaker and to cough. The cough, I thought, would soon go away and cure itself, but it didn't. It grew worse, and then I began to spit up a peculiar looking substance. I never thought of consumption, but one day I had a hemorrhage, and then was frightened in earnest and did just what you would do. I rushed to the doctor. He was either too busy, or something else, for he didn't do me any good. I kept going on down hill, and the outlook was bad. Things took a different turn, however, when I heard of Acker's English Remedy for Consumption, for I took it, and it not only cured my coughing and spitting, but also built up my whole system. I took on permanent flesh, and today am just as healthy a man as you can find in a week's travel. You may be sure I always keep Acker's English Remedy in the house and it is a good thing I do so, for one night my youngest child was seized with croup. That hoarse, wheezy cough was the first signal, and I lost no time in giving the poor little sufferer proper doses of this grand medicine. In almost no time the disease was under control, and my child was saved. I have a bottle handy all the time. It serves the same purpose in keeping croup out of the house that a good lock and key serve to keep burglars out. It is both an expectorant and a tonic. It cured me of consumption and my child of croup, and I know what I am talking about." (Signed) Hon. M. HOGAN, picture frame manufacturer, 242 Center Street, New York.

THE CHARLESTON EXPOSITION.

The New Mexico Commission and the Territorial Exhibit.

Albuquerque Citizen.

South Carolina and the southeast will hold a six months' interstate and West Indian exposition beginning on December 1, 1901. The purpose is to make known to the country the value of our new possessions in the islands of the sea and the resources of the "New South."

The opportunities to make a profitable display of the varied resources of New Mexico are exceptional. It will open up an entirely new country and one that promises rich returns if a proper display of the opportunities afforded by the diversified products of our favored territory can be made. The last legislature for some reason made no appropriation and Governor Otero appreciating the opportunity is anxious that something should be done to make known New Mexico's claims upon the homeseeker and the capitalist. He also appreciates the fact that the energy displayed by New Mexico in making a creditable exhibit at Charleston will have a favorable influence on the minds of the senators and representatives of the great southeast when the claims for statehood of the great southwest come before congress this winter.

Governor Otero in order to promote the objects appointed as members of the New Mexico commission to the Charleston exposition W. H. Pope of Santa Fe; A. H. Harlee of Silver City; R. W. D. Bryan of Albuquerque; H. N. Wilcox of Santa Fe, and A. E. Page of Roswell. The commission organized with Mr. Pope as chairman and Mr. Bryan as secretary and treasurer. These gentlemen have been active in promoting the purpose of their organization, but have been crippled on account of lack of means to pay even the ordinary expenses of caring for the exhibits freely given to them.

An appeal will be made to the commissioners of the different counties in the territory to make a small appropriation to meet these different expenses.

The county commissioners of Bernalillo county have taken great interest in the matter and will undoubtedly at their next meeting appropriate some money to enable the commission to get together a large display of the mineral wealth of the county.

The Hyde Exploring Expedition company will send a magnificent display of Navajo blankets and pottery and may have some Indians there giving a practical exposition of blanket weaving. Mr. Wetherell, the manager of the company, has taken a great deal of interest in the matter and with his well known energy, so well shown at the last territorial fair, will open out in Charleston an exhibition that will attract marked attention.

The Santa Fe Railway company will transmit over their line free of charge all exhibits for the exposition. They may also send a special exhibit of their own which will surpass that made by them at Buffalo.

In order that there should be a full exhibit of the matchless ores of New Mexico, the Santa Fe company has issued instructions to all their agents in New Mexico to receive and ship free of charge to R. W. D. Bryan at Albuquerque, N. M., all exhibits intended for the Charleston exposition. Mr. Bryan will receive them and care for them, see that they are properly marked and when enough are gathered together will ship them to Charleston. It is to be hoped that the miners throughout the territory will bring specimens of ores from their mines and their districts, and ship them to Mr. Bryan. It is requested that all the territorial papers copy this, so that all miners and those interested in mines in New Mexico be given the opportunity to have their districts represented. It is expected that every mine in New Mexico will have a creditable piece of ore at Charleston. It matters not whether the mine is for sale or not, it should be represented, so that a full and adequate showing of the wonderful wealth of our territory may be made.

It may stimulate mining men to contribute to this cause, to announce that it is the intention, after the close of the Charleston exposition, to move the whole mineral exhibit to the world's fair at St. Louis in 1903.

Desire Judge McFie Reappointed.

Astoria Index.

Statements in certain quarters to the contrary notwithstanding, the reappointment of Judge John R. McFie to his present position is desired by nine-tenths of the people of San Juan county and we believe the same ratio will hold good throughout the entire first judicial district. Under Judge McFie's administration crime is suppressed and every case is heard in an intelligent manner. And there appears to be little doubt that the appointment will again be tendered him.

Gentlemen: I write this testimony from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past twelve years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I chanced to see your sign upon your window on 130th Street, New York, I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

"Something New Under the Sun."

All doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure. While pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of Catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This wonderful remedy is known as "Snuffles the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure," and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine sufficient for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Snuffles" is the only perfect Catarrh Cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently, and is also wonderfully quick to relieve Hay Fever or Cold in the head.

"Once. She was driving with Hobart."

"Oh, then you know all about it."

"I know Hobart," drily.

Mrs. Tom nodded.

"But," she deprecatingly reminded him, "he is fascinating; quite the man to attract a young creature unaccustomed to his type. She was just from school."

"I thought that all the girls' schools now were colleges?"

"No matter; they don't teach how to read Bert Hobart."

"So Miss Everton took private lessons, eh?"

"They were engaged," Mrs. Tom announced, briefly, "and he jilted her."

"It is a way he has. You want me, I suppose, for a sort of soothing sirup?"

"Oh, she doesn't need soothing sirup, or tonic, either; not she. Of course," musingly, "she is in a proper wrath against herself. A girl so sets her heart, you see, upon crowning a real king. It is the very prettiest among her castles in Spain, and there's nothing like the humiliation of having throned the wrong man. But what is the use?"—leaning back resignedly among the cushions of her divan—"of talking to a man about that?"

"Do you suppose a man never wants to kick himself?" asked Jim.

"He wants to kick the other party first."

"Am I to infer that a woman does not?"

"You may be sure of it. Her indignation against herself swallows everything else. The foe in such cases is beneath attention. But," with a vexed little grimace, "that complacent smile of Hobart's is certainly exasperating. It would do me good to have him thoroughly learn that Elsie Everton has his little soul's measure and wouldn't marry him to save his life."

"Oh, she wouldn't, eh?"

"Not," energetically, "to save her own life."

Jim quoted:

"The case of Betty Baxter, who rejected a man before he had asked her."

and skeptically smiled.

"As I said," retorted Mrs. Tom, bristling, "the matter is much too deep for a man's understanding."

"Then why," Jim laughed good-naturedly, "are you prodding me with it?"

"Because," suddenly gracious, "you are a valuable ally. Elsie is coming to visit me."

Jim flung back his head to break in with a jolly laugh.

"And Hobart is to witness my devotion and grow madly jealous. Oh, Sallie, Sallie!"

"You know very well," said Sallie, beaming on him, "that your attentions make any girl the fashion. Hobart and a dozen others will follow your lead. I want Elsie to have a good time."

"Scolding a lot of poor fellows that never did her any harm; that's a girl's idea of a pleasant time."

"You'll help, dear?"

"Oh, I'll be polite to your guest, of course."

"Of course," gleefully, "we'll soon have him subdued."

"And married?"

"Well," slowly, "it's really wonderful how much a woman will forgive."

Jim chuckled.

"I am glad," was Mrs. Tom's next remark, "that the trellis at Hobart's is being cleared away; it obstructed the view."

Jim stood up. "Shall I go over?"

"I know," she interrupted, "he can see every man that comes up the steps, all the flowers that come, every drive she takes, and I'll see to her clothes, they make such a difference."

"Poor man," Jim said, with a comical grimace. "I'll go and have a smoke with him."

"If he should ask you," Sallie called after him along the hall, "about a report that she flirted with him, say you heard it."

"I say, Sallie," Jim remonstrated over his shoulder, "bar fibs."

"There really is such a report."

PLAYED OUT.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Mrs. Tom assured him. "I started it myself."

"Good Lord deliver us," said Jim. "It will get him in a proper state of mind."

"I dare say."

"Do you really mean to marry her to Hobart?" asked Tom, who had been an amused witness of this little chat between his wife and her brother. She waited to hear the front door shut, then smiled and touched a finger to her lips.

"To Jim," she whispered, and passed the finger from her lips to his. "I see," he said, "and I'll join the game."

"How?"

"I'll be one of the rivals. A married man can get very much in the way when he wants to."

"But, Tom, it really isn't necessary. With Jim in the lead, there'll be rivals enough."

"The more the merrier," gayly. "I'll help."

"It's ever so good of you," said Mrs. Tom, and hummed a little tune in the pause that followed.

About two weeks later Jim was hurrying along the sidewalk one day when Mrs. Tom's trap drew up alongside.

"I was going to you," he said, as he stepped in, "with news."

"News?"

"Yes. Hobart is meeting your expectations. We happened in at the florist's together, and he grinned so offensively that I judge you may feel quite sure of him."

"You were both ordering flowers for that girl?"

"You don't suppose that I am going to back down for a cad like Hobart, do you?"

"But you look and talk as if he were successful."

"Well," sullenly, "I'll not take his grin for it."

Mrs. Tom faltered a bit over her next question.

"Is anyone else in the running, do you think?"

"No, unless—You're not quarreling with Tom about anything, are you?"

"He's in this plot," with a faint laugh.

"Acts his part," drily, "pretty well."

"He does everything well," said Mrs. Tom, but she was pale.

"He pays a good price for orchids, too."

"He was at the florist's with you?"

"He was. And his grin," sulkily, "was very like Hobart's; and he went off humming that idiotic jingle!"

"The lion and the unicorn fighting for a crown. Up jumps a little dog. And knocks them both down."

"Tom is so right," said Mrs. Tom. To which Jim grunted, and the drive was finished in silence.

That night Miss Everton went to her hostess for a bit of confidence; she was prettily flushed and shy.

"You persuaded me," she began, "to let Mr. Hobart speak, so—I did."

"Yes," Mrs. Tom answered, coldly.

"But, oh, Sallie, I do feel small about it. Don't you think, dear, that a different sort of man, a man who thinks of me at my best, would hate to know I did it?"

"A different sort of man?"

"Oh, very different," demurely; "you," with a shy, bright glance, "think so, too."

Righteous, astonished wrath gathered in Mrs. Tom's eyes, but a knock interrupted. With the opening of the door came a rainbow gleam of orchids.

"Oh, glorious!" cried Miss Everton. There was a basket full of the rare, spidery beauties. The servant waited, looking to his mistress, who was pale and silent.

"For Miss Everton?" she said, at last.

"For you, madam."

She went hurriedly past him and down to the smoking-room. Jim and Tom were there. Flushed and a little out of breath, she ran to Tom.

"Don't get up," settling an arm comfortably over his shoulder and looking across to her brother. "I only want to tell Jim that Bert Hobart has been rejected."

"You're sure?" cried Jim.

"And I wish," with a peremptory nod, "that you would go up and ask Elsie if she'd like a glass of wine, or anything."

Tom began to laugh, but met his wife's eyes with tears in them, and stared instead.

"I'm so glad," struggling with a happy sob, "about Jim and Elsie."

"Nonsense; you mustn't fib to me, Sallie. What's the matter?"

The only answer was a long breath of content. Later, however, there came a retort question.

"What did you mean by that 'little dog' jingle?"

This had to be somewhat elaborated, and then Tom finished his interrupted laugh.

"Why, I was helping the plot," he said.

"Oh, yes. And I am ever so much obliged to you," with another sigh of peace; "ever so much; but next time, dear, you needn't bother."—Town and Country.

A FINANCIAL DIFFICULTY.

The City Must Pay the Last Judgment of the Water Company.

The peremptory writ of mandamus by Judge McFie, commanding the mayor, city clerk and members of the city council to meet tomorrow evening in council chambers to issue a warrant for $1,129.65, the amount of the last judgment that the Santa Fe Water and Light company obtained against the city, has brought the financial difficulties of the city of Santa Fe to an issue.

There are three propositions to meet this issue. One is to issue bonds to the amount of all the judgments of the water company against the city and to apply the cash in the city treasury to other bills now due. In addition to judgments, the city is in arrears for water and light, police salaries and other expenses. This would clear the financial situation at once, at least for the present.

The second proposition is to issue bonds not only to cover the judgments of the water company, but also other floating indebtedness. There are several difficulties in the way of that proposition. The validity of some of the floating indebtedness has been questioned and the city cannot issue bonds for such indebtedness unless judgment has been obtained in the courts.

The third proposition is to pay the cash in the treasury to satisfy the water company judgment of $1,129.65, the other judgments having been compromised and there being ample time in which to pay them.

The tax receipts for November will be the heaviest of the year and will be sufficient, it is claimed by the advocates of the third proposition, to pay all bills that have become due.

The city of Santa Fe is not in such bad financial shape as would appear from the above. Its bonded indebtedness does not exceed $15,000; its floating indebtedness and judgments against the city are considerably less than $10,000, and there are about $3,000 of delinquent taxes coming to the city which are tied up in court at present. The city school district has not a cent of bonded nor any other indebtedness. With a just assessment and a close collection of taxes Santa Fe would be far better off financially than the great majority of other cities in the United States, some of which not larger than Santa Fe, have bonded indebtedness running up to $200,000 for city purposes and yet do not seem to be overburdened with taxes. A just assessment and a strict business administration are the secrets that enable other cities to get along so much better, to make extensive public improvements and yet have no excessive tax rate.

One section was filled with Austrian immigrants who were bound for the Rock Island extension by way of El Paso to be employed on construction work.
