PHILIPPINE REVENUE BILL

The Measure Was Voted Upon This Afternoon After a Spirited Discussion.

DEMOCRATIC AGREEMENTS

The Senate Committees Are Constituted by Ballot With the Membership Selected in Caucus.—The Senate Was in Executive Session This Afternoon.

Platt, Connecticut, offered a resolution suspending the rule providing for the appointment of the members of the various senate committees by ballot. The resolution was adopted. Platt then submitted another resolution appointing formally the committees agreed upon in the caucus. It was adopted. The senate went into executive session.

ARMY NOMINATIONS.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The senate committee on military affairs today agreed to report favorably all army nominations before it, except those to staff positions, concerning which questions have been raised.

HOUSE.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The house today resumed the debate upon the bill to provide temporary revenues for the Philippine Islands, under the agreement that the bill be voted on at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Henry, Texas, was the first speaker. He characterized the bill as oppressive and outrageous. He dwelt upon the injustice of the double export and import tax on rice, sugar and tobacco, and charged that this double taxation was in the interest of the sugar and the tobacco trust.

Henry pointed out that Porto Rico last year produced more sugar for export than the Philippines, and denied that free importation from the islands would threaten Louisiana industry with annihilation. Benefits from the sale of cotton and rice, he argued, would more than compensate it for any injury to its sugar industry.

Williams, Mississippi, followed Henry. He said, to avoid the embarrassments and difficulties of the situation, he believed we should get rid of the islands as soon as we could do so with honor to ourselves and benefit to the Philippines.

Williams paid his respects to the supreme court, which, he said, arrived at its decision by a "shifting majority of one." It made of the old inelastic, outmoded constitution, an instrument that would bend to political necessities.

Hepburn, Iowa, supported the bill. He declared the Philippines were incapable of self government, so also were the Cubans.

Hepburn became involved in a spirited four-cornered exchange with Deamond, Shafoth and Cousins. Dalmell, Pennsylvania, closed the debate. The motion to recommit the Philippine bill was lost by a vote of 122 to 172. The bill passed—163 to 128.

THE SCHLEY INQUIRY.

Admiral Schley and His Counsel Held a Conference Today.

Washington, Dec. 18.—A conference was held today between Admiral Schley and his counsel. The bill of exceptions to the majority findings of the court of inquiry will be ready for presentation to the secretary of the navy today.

BILL OF EXCEPTIONS FILED.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 18.—Admiral Schley's counsel late this afternoon presented to the secretary of the navy his bill of exceptions to the findings of the majority of the court of inquiry. The bill concludes with the statement that the proceedings of the majority of the court were irregular; that Admiral Schley's rights had been prejudiced and that his testimony in many particulars was not considered and that the evidence is absolutely insufficient to sustain the opinion rendered and that therefore grave and irreparable damage has been done to Schley.

Admiral Schley also served notice that if Admiral Sampson objects to the finding of Admiral Dewey he will claim the right to be heard in reference to such objection.

In regard to the last claim, Secretary Long informed counsel that it was not the practice of the department to have oral hearings on matters of this kind. He intimated he would entertain written argument.

THE COPPER SITUATION.

ANOTHER REDUCTION IN COPPER

The quoted prices are now 14 cents for lake copper; 13 1/2 cents for electrolytic, and 13 cents for castings.

Salt Lake, Utah, Dec. 18.—The body of James R. Hay, secretary of the Pacific Lumber company, was found this morning buried in a shallow trench alongside the Rio Grande and Western tracks near Sixth East and Thirteenth streets. On Monday night Hay called at the home of Peter Mortensen, contractor, and collected $3,500 which Mortensen owed the lumber company. Since that time nothing had been seen or heard of Hay until he was found this morning. The money was gone. In the back of his head was a jagged wound. Peter Mortensen, who paid young Hay, was arrested this afternoon on suspicion of being connected with the murder.

Baker of Nebraska, associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico; Levi Davis, receiver of public moneys at Santa Fe, D. C.; Frederick Muller, receiver of public moneys at Santa Fe, N. M.

WHO THE NOMINEES ARE.

Washington, Dec. 18.—Governor Miguel Antonio Otero was born at St. Louis, October 17, 1859, of distinguished New Mexico parentage. He studied at St. Louis University, Notre Dame University. He was cashier of the San Miguel National Bank from 1880 to 1885; city treasurer of Las Vegas from 1885 to 1894; clerk of the United States district court of the 4th judicial district from 1890 to 1893. Has been governor since June 7, 1897, having given New Mexico the ablest administration in its history. He was married on December 13, 1888, to Caroline V., the youngest daughter of ex-Chief Justice Lafayette Emmett of Minnesota.

Judge Benjamin S. Baker, who was today appointed associate justice of the New Mexico supreme court, to succeed Judge J. W. Crumpacker, is a resident of Omaha, Neb. He has been an associate justice of the supreme court of the state of Nebraska and is a learned jurist and attorney of repute. NEW MEXICO JUDGES CONFIRMED.

Secretary Reynolds's Reappointment Sure—New Mexico Delegation Feeling Good.

Washington, Dec. 18.—The nomination of W. J. Mills of Las Vegas, to be chief justice of the territory, John R. McFie of Santa Fe, and Frank W. Parker of Hillsboro, to be associate justices for the territory of New Mexico, were yesterday in executive session confirmed by the United States senate. There was absolutely no opposition to them.

The senate yesterday afternoon also confirmed the appointment of Creighton M. Foraker as United States marshal for New Mexico; A. W. Thompson, receiver of public moneys at Clayton; and E. W. Fox as register of the federal land office at Clayton, Union county.

The reappointment of the present territorial secretary, J. W. Reynolds, has been decided upon and his nomination, it is expected, will be sent to the United States senate tomorrow.

The New Mexico delegation here, that is the real delegation representing the people of the territory, feels very good. It is expected that the nomination of Governor Otero will be promptly considered by the senate and may be confirmed before the holiday adjournment, although the time for a consideration of it is very short.

The appointment of Judge Baker of Omaha, to be associate justice in place of Judge Crumpacker is very pleasing to the New Mexico delegation here, as the judge is highly spoken of as a fine lawyer, has great experience on the bench and is a mighty good man.

Major Llewellyn and Judge Parker were visitors at the White House today where Judge Parker was presented to the president by Major Llewellyn.

The Jacksons Plead Not Guilty.

MINING NEAR LORDSBURG.

Many Mines Are Shipping Ore and Others Are Doing Extensive Development Work.

Special Correspondence New Mexican.
Silver City, Dec. 18.—Many mines in the Burro mountain district near Silver City are shipping ore and many more will soon be on the list. The Michigan New Mexico Copper company, a new corporation, started work a short time ago with seven men and are already taking out pay ore.

The Sampson and St. Louis mines are shipping about 15 to 20 tons of concentrates to Silver City daily.

The Dundee, owned by the Orion Mining company is shipping about 20 tons of ore daily to the smelter at Lordsburg.

The American Consolidated Copper company has decided to ship a few hundred tons of ore before putting up its new concentrator. The ore will average 10 per cent copper with a few dollars per ton in gold and silver.

The town of Lordsburg is destined to be an important mining and commercial center. With a smelter in operation and another concentrator and smelter combined blowing in on January 1, and the El Paso and Southwestern railroad nearing completion, the town is certainly enjoying substantial growth and progress.

The Arizona Copper company has struck a vein 14 feet from wall to wall at a depth of 80 feet which averages 7 per cent copper.

OPPOSITION TO MARCONI

The Anglo-American Cable Company Is Objecting to the Inventor's Plans.

A MONOPOLY THREATENED

Marconi Is Today Awaiting a Message From London Announcing the Result of the Negotiations With the Objecting Company.

New York, Dec. 18.—William Marconi's wireless experiments in New Foundland cannot be stopped by the Anglo-American Cable company even by resort to the courts. They declare the character of a monopoly would not operate to estop scientific experiments, and according to English decisions, such a grant would not operate to bar an invention unknown at the time a concession is granted.

MARCONI'S PLANS.

St. Johns, N. F., Dec. 18.—Marconi is today awaiting a message from London announcing the result of the negotiations between his agents and the Anglo-American Cable company. The inventor fears the latter will insist that he must not engage in commercial business here until after the expiration of the company's monopoly. Marconi is not disposed to agree to such a condition, believing he can perfect the means for signalling between Cornwall and Nova Scotia within a few months. He has now practically decided to visit Nova Scotia on Sunday, but this does not necessarily mean he will abandon New Foundland on account of the Anglo-American Cable company. Superintendent Mackey of the Anglo-American company, in this province, denies that he protested to Governor Boyce against the latter visiting the Marconi station. It is certain, however, the cabinet met yesterday forenoon, prior to visiting Signal Hill, and discussed whether to go there or not. Premier Bond says the government decided to support Marconi while his work is experimental, on the ground that its scientific value should be ascertained in the interest of the whole world, without taking sides in the controversy.

Davis at the Copeland ranch in Lincoln county, nearly three weeks ago, and last Saturday a young man calling himself Will Bright, but who it is thought may be another of the Hood boys, was arrested at Roswell, and Sunday morning another man named L. B. Watson surrendered to Major Howell at the court house at Roswell, after eluding the officers all night. Alfredo Gonzales, sheriff of Lincoln county, and Jack Hardeman, his deputy, started for Lincoln with them Monday morning accompanied by H. M. Miller and his son, Eben Miller.

Santa Fe New Mexican

THE NEW MEXICAN PRINTING COMPANY

Entered as Second-Class matter at the Santa Fe Postoffice.

The New Mexican is the oldest newspaper in New Mexico. It is sent to every postoffice in the territory, and has a large and growing circulation among the intelligent and progressive people of the southwest.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 37th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

Senator Hanna can be depended upon to hold his own.

They were great hands at making charges, but they were very small when it came to proving them.

The able correspondents of the El Paso newspapers are long on fabrications, but short on facts in their dispatches.

Pat. F. Garrett has been appointed collector of customs at El Paso and the El Paso people are still wondering how it was done.

The cause of statehood for New Mexico is being hurt more by some of its own citizens than by outsiders. It is a pity, but it is true.

The anti-imperialist leagues of the country have taken a header and have disappeared. They exhibit better sense than they were given credit for.

Judging from President Roosevelt's character and his past history it is safe to assert that whenever he wants a change in his cabinet he will make it and that without much ado.

The position of paymaster seems to be about the most important to those from New Mexico who have made a fight against Governor Otero. The fight was a merry one while the money lasted.

The culture and astuteness of the Boston women is phenomenal. A Boston woman guessed the number of beans in a jar within half a bean. Boston is still the hub of the universe when it comes to beans.

It is said that United States Senator James K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is not ashamed of his connection with the two Bryan campaigns. Well if he is not, he ought to be.

The Washington Post in the following editorial remark, rather hits the nail on the head: "The administration that drives the federal officeholder out of politics, must be very solid with the people in order to keep its fences in repair."

The election of Estrada de Palma to be president of the new Cuban republic, would be a stroke of mighty good policy on the part of the Cubans. It remains to be seen, however, if they have sense enough to act as good policy and common sense dictate.

The ship building and marine interests of England and Scotland are greatly alarmed at the prospect of congress passing a ship subsidy bill and of its approval by the president; one of the best reasons indeed why such a bill should be passed promptly and become law.

Judge Dunne allowed the Chicago American's editors to go free on a technicality. The judge's action however, does not by any means exonerate them. However, not much could be expected from a judge of that name: it has a sort of Chicago anarchist sound.

The chances for the re-election of United States Senator W. E. Mason by the Illinois legislature are growing brighter. The senator has just introduced a new brand of champagne and is sending samples thereof to the high minded Illinois legislators with his compliments.

The Schley-Sampson controversy promises to drag on for another year or two at which prospect the patient public is not at all pleased. After it has been all settled, if it ever does get settled, neither Schley nor Sampson will be regarded as more or less of a hero than at present.

The reduction in the price of lead by a combine of large dealers is probably not so much to create a greater demand for the metal, but to close down the independent producers. A price of four cents a pound for lead is not to the liking of New Mexico lead producers.

They are never happy in South America unless they have some sort of a revolution on hand. The latest is from Brazil and the news is that the enemies of the republic are actively at work and that an open outbreak against the constituted authorities may be expected at any moment.

Governor Odell of New York, has a plan for the just and fair assessment of railroads in that state. It is to be hoped that he will be successful and should he be so he will certainly prove a public benefactor. His efforts in that line will be watched with great interest all over the country.

The recent murder of Attorney Thomas Hefflin at Silver City, by a gambler, again demonstrates the fact that there is too much pistol carrying in some sections of New Mexico. The law upon this point is very stringent and should be strictly and rigidly enforced. The pistol must go.

When it comes to furnishing candidates for federal office, New Mexico has never yet lacked patriots who are willing to assume the burden of any office that Uncle Sam desires to bestow upon them. In that the citizens of New Mexico are very much like the citizens of the states.

The admirals have made their report and it is not unanimous. Therefore, Admiral Schley still has the benefit of the doubt.

Senator Morgan is at his old stand, pushing the Nicaragua canal. In that he differs from his Democratic colleagues, in advocating a project that is really worth consideration, and which Uncle Sam will undertake.

Judge Cantrill of Kentucky, is a candidate for United States senator. If his court had the selection of a senator, Judge Cantrill would certainly be the man. Cantrill is the judge, the law and everything else in his court, and everything is done just as he pleases.

The British have captured Commander Kritzinger, whereat there is great rejoicing. It seems however, that for every commander that the British capture there are two or three Boer leaders to take his place. The kind of warfare that the Boers are waging fits every mother's son of them to take command of a guerrilla band.

A few days ago, the middle, western and southwestern states were in the grasp of a great blizzard. Yesterday the same was the case in the middle eastern and northeastern states. The blizzard extended as far south as Georgia, much destruction of property and many deaths were the result of the blizzard as reported. Nothing of the kind ever happens in New Mexico.

The territorial credit is first class. The interest coupons on territorial obligations are promptly paid on time, the funded debt is being reduced, the sinking funds for the redemption of territorial bonds are kept intact and are being increased and territorial securities demand a premium in the financial centers of the country. This statement is fact and speaks for itself.

Death has been reaping a big harvest in train wrecks, caused by the misunderstanding of orders by train men. The engineer or conductor of a train have placed in their care scores of lives again and again and it is essential therefore that they should be men of special training and fitness for their position, men who will not guess at orders and men who can be relied upon to take no risks at any time.

In the counties where there is an efficient tax collector, tax collections have been very good for the first half of the present tax year. After all this question of a just and proper assessment and of an energetic collection rests with the people, to a very great extent. If the people will elect competent and honest assessors, collectors and boards of county commissioners, more than one-half the battle will be won.

The Democrats have commenced their policy of objection and obstruction in congress. Instead of meeting issues like that of providing revenues for the Philippines squarely and suggesting as good or a better plan than that advocated by the Republicans, they drag other issues into the debate and attempt to make material for the national campaign of 1904 by talking vaguely about giving the Philippines freedom.

The resignation of Postmaster General Smith will mightily please the Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, United States senator from Pennsylvania, while the appointment of Henry C. Payne will please almost as much the Hon. Marcus A. Hanna, United States senator from Ohio. This is probably the first time that Mr. Smith has pleased these two gentlemen whose love for him would not have set fire to a candle.

The epoch making invention of Marconi of wireless telegraphy across the Atlantic ocean, is not yet giving the trans-Atlantic cable owners any gray hair. Wireless telegraphy depends too much upon atmospheric conditions, is not available for cipher and private telegrams, which constitute nine-tenths of the business of the cable companies, and it is at present impracticable to maintain more than one wireless line across the Atlantic for fear of confusion if there were more than one line. The wireless method also lacks accuracy, the prime requisite for any telegraph business.

Press dispatches assert that all kind of people in El Paso have brought charges against ex-Sheriff Patrick F. Garrett, protesting against his appointment as collector of customs at El Paso. A man never knows how bad he really is, until he wants a federal office in one of the territories. Of course, in Mr. Garrett's case, there is another point to be considered and that is that he had the temerity to ask for a place that is considered the absolute property of El Paso by El Pasoans. That of course, makes him all the worse a man. But the president nominated him anyway.

A peace conference was held at New York between labor and capital at which methods were discussed which would tend toward a better understanding and relation of employer with employee. The conference was notable by the absence of representatives of capital and the labor leaders had the pleasure of talking only to each other. The trouble is that labor is like any other commercial commodity, its price is governed by the demand for it, and to inject another principle into its relation to capital is love's labor lost.

The construction of the Santa Fe Central railway between the capital of the territory and a connection with the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific will make a great change in the railroad situation in the territory. The people of Guadalupe, eastern Valencia, Lincoln and Otero counties will be drawn much closer to the centers of population in the Rio Grande valley and there will be much more unity of interests, not only from a business standpoint, but from every other human standpoint will the construction of this road prove of great benefit to the territory. That it will prove a paying proposition from the first day that trains shall run over it admits of no reasonable doubt.

THE INTERNATIONAL DAM SCHEME.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat Reviews the Situation as It Stand Today. Globe-Democrat.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The fight between Texas and Mexico on one side, and New Mexico on the other, over the distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande river, will be renewed at the present session of congress. Mr. Stephens of Texas, has introduced his bill providing for the construction of an international dam at El Paso, and will endeavor to secure a report upon the measure from the committee on foreign relations, to which it had been referred. The bill was introduced at the last session, but the committee refused to take any action upon it.

The bill provides for the appropriation of $2,317,000 for the construction of the dam, but there will be more than that many dollars' worth of trouble over the proposition if the promised opposition to it is fully developed. It will renew the old dispute between New Mexico and the Texas people, who are supported by the Mexican government, over the distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande. Mexico claims priority rights to the water, and opposes the claims of New Mexico to any considerable use of the water for irrigation purposes. New Mexico, on the other hand, points to a magnificent valley, 100 miles long and bigger than many of the eastern states, rich in soil, that will always remain a desert if New Mexico is not allowed to complete the construction of the Elephant Butte dam, 100 miles above El Paso. Work on this structure, which was to be completed without cost to either the United States or the Mexican government, was commenced in 1896 and continued for about a year, at an outlay of $100,000, when further progress was stopped by legal proceedings. The New Mexicans claim that the building of the dam at Elephant Butte would not deprive Texas and old Mexico of water, but would provide a storage reservoir, the largest in the world, that would preserve the waste waters and not reduce the flow to the points below so much as a gallon. The work on the dam was stopped by a suit brought by the United States, alleging that the Rio Grande was a navigable river. This claim the New Mexicans scout as preposterous.

The republic of Mexico bases its claims to the water on the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, and has an array of facts in support of its contention that there is not enough water in the Rio Grande to keep more than one reservoir supplied, and that the construction of the Elephant Butte dam would be a violation of treaty rights. Under its alleged rights the republic of Mexico claims indemnity from the United States, and also the control of the waters of the river, to be used for domestic and irrigation purposes. Mr. Stephens' bill provides that the republic of Mexico, in consideration of the construction of the dam at El Paso, shall abandon her claims for indemnity and agree to share in the equal distribution of the waters from the El Paso reservoir.

This the New Mexicans assert, would be very nice for Texas and even more agreeable to the Mexicans, as both would share in the waters of the dam, without having been required to contribute to the cost of its construction. The New Mexicans assert that, next to their work for statehood, their best efforts will be used to prevent the government's approval of the construction of an international dam at El Paso. Governor Otero, Delegate Rodey and all of the New Mexicans who are here or will be here to urge their statehood measure are also united in their plans for contesting to their utmost the Stephens bill.

THE SANTA FE

"Banks Among the Best"—So Say the Railroad Commissioners of Missouri.

The railroad and warehouse commissioners of the state of Missouri made an inspection trip over the Missouri lines of the Santa Fe on October 7, 1901. Their report of the trip contains the following very flattering language:

"The high physical standard of this property, as indicated in our last inspection report, has been fully maintained, while the presence of 'extra gangs' along the line, evidence its continuance. Right of way is cleanly kept, embankments are constantly being strengthened, while steam ditching is now at work cleaning out and opening out and opening up drain ways in cuts. This line is heavily ballasted in its entirety with crushed rock, coarse gravel and burned clay, but the latter (in use on west end principally) has been found not equal to the requirements of heavy equipment and traffic, and is now being taken out and gravel distributed.

"As previously reported, the standard as adopted by this company is 75 pounds, the line throughout being equipped with them, and same is in first class condition, well supported by an ample supply of good, sound ties, securely spiked.

"We note with pleasure the steady progress in permanent bridge work, the greater part of these structures being now steel girders and trusses, supported on first class abutments of concrete and stone, while each year witnesses the removal of wooden structures in such a degree as indicates in a short while their practical elimination and some of them having been taken out since our last inspection trip, one year ago, and steel, stone and concrete structures substituted therefor. "Depots and stock pens in good, commendable condition. Highway crossings, both over and under grade, well maintained, and fencing in good, fair condition. We unreservedly rank this line as being among the best in Missouri, in its physical condition."

There is nothing like Asthmalene. It brings instant relief, even in the worst cases. It cures when all else fails.

The Rev. C. F. WELLS, of Villa Ridge, Ill., says: "Your trial bottle of Asthmalene received in good condition. I cannot tell you how thankful I feel for the good derived from it. I was a slave, chained with putrid sore throat and Asthma for ten years. I despaired of ever being cured. I saw your advertisement for the cure of this dreadful and tormenting disease, Asthma, and thought you had overspoken yourselves, but resolved to give it a trial. To my astonishment, the trial acted like a charm. Send me a full-size bottle."

Rev. Dr. Morris Wechsler, Rabbi of the Cong. Bnai Israel, New York, Jan. 3, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO., Gentlemen: Your Asthmalene is an excellent remedy for Asthma and Hay Fever, and its composition alleviates all troubles which combine with Asthma. Its success is astonishing and wonderful. After having it carefully analyzed, we can state that Asthmalene contains no opium, morphine, chloroform or ether.

AYON SPRINGS, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1901.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Gentlemen: I write this testimony from a sense of duty, having tested the wonderful effect of your Asthmalene, for the cure of Asthma. My wife has been afflicted with spasmodic asthma for the past twelve years. Having exhausted my own skill as well as many others, I changed to see your sign upon your window on 130th Street, New York. I at once obtained a bottle of Asthmalene. My wife commenced taking it about the first of November. I very soon noticed a radical improvement. After using one bottle her Asthma has disappeared and she is entirely free from all symptoms. I feel that I can consistently recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this distressing disease.

Yours respectfully, O. D. PHELPS, M. D.

DR. TAFT BROS. MEDICINE CO. Feb. 5, 1901.

Gentlemen: I was troubled with Asthma for twenty-two years. I have tried numerous remedies, but they have all failed. I ran across your advertisement and started with a trial bottle. I found relief at once. I have since purchased your full-size bottle, and I am ever grateful. I am now in the best of health and am doing business every day. This testimony you can make such use of as you see fit.

Start Girls Right!

Many beautiful girls become invalids for life, because at the crucial period of puberty they pay no attention to the laws of health. Mothers should protect their daughters' health by giving them necessary information and proper treatment. When the menses come on a girl unawares in her inexperience she is either frightened into convulsions, or scared into trying to check the flow. Many girls have checked the flow and it has never started again. And as a result they have grown pale-faced, with "crow-tracks" on their cheeks, and dark half-moons under their eyes. A dose of taken every morning after a girl is twelve years old will bring the menses on properly and keep them regular. It will help her to develop into attractive womanhood and equip her for the duties of wife and motherhood. All druggists sell $1.00 bottles of Wine of Cardui.

The Hollywood, Asbury Park, N. J., February 3, 1900.

I read your advertisement in regard to Wine of Cardui in the Baltimore American, and it so favorably impressed me that on my visit to Baltimore during the holidays I purchased a bottle of it for my adopted daughter, who was suffering with female troubles. She had been under the doctor's care for some time, and when her period would come on her suffering was something terrible. I induced her to try it and the first dose brought on her menses. She took it regularly according to the directions, and was greatly relieved. To use her own words, "it saved my life."

THE GATEMAN.

"At the railroad crossing the gateman stood. Turning the crank in his faithful hands. Bent and wrinkled, yet strong and true To the daily duty 'tis his to do. The sun may shine, or the clouds may frown."

July he torrid, December cold. Yet there, in his suit of well-worn brown, He guards the way for the young and old, Keeping with steady, tireless brain A watch for the inbound, outbound train. He signals the passage of each through the town.

As with "Tinkle!" and "Tinkle!" the gates go down. Now the waiting children caper and dance And the rustling maids, upon errands bent, View the intruders with discontent—While heavy car and elegant coach Rumble along on the shiny rails.

And on the busy one's time encroach With the vexing burden delay entails—Oh! I would that on every road to-day, In spite of impatience, of fret, of frown, The gateman puts to the crank his hand, And steadily turning, the gates go down.

Oh! I would that on every road to-day, Where sin and its train hold right of way, Some gateman as ready as this might stand Turning the crank in his faithful hands—That ever when danger should threaten those Whose path must cross the enticement of those

Some gate a-tinkle might interpose, And hold from disgrace the weak one's back—Some gateman be built for unwary feet, To halt them midway in the perilous street, And to signal to each, spite of frost or frown:

"Stand back for your life, while the gates are down!"

—Marcia M. Selman, in Youth's Companion.

The Hole in the Cliff

By T. C. HARBAUGH.

IN THE warm summer sunshine that brightened a very humble-looking Cornish home a ruddy-faced boy of 16 sat overhauling a bird-hunter's rope. So intent was he with his work that he did not notice the ill-dressed figure that slouched down the narrow road toward him, and paused at last a few feet away to watch him with a pair of jealous eyes.

"Mending your rope, are you?" suddenly asked the man.

The boy looked up and for the first time saw the evil-looking speaker. "Yes, Sir, I'm strengthening a few strands," answered the ropemaker.

"The sharp rocks out, you know, and one wants everything safe when he goes down."

"There's something better than egg-hunting in the wind just now," said Sid Sloper, the ragged fellow.

"What is it?"

"They've just posted a reward for information that will lead to the detection of the smugglers. Three hundred pounds ain't to be picked up every day, boy, and it's better than going down over the cliffs after gulls' eggs."

The Cornish youth, who was accounted the most successful egg-hunter along the coast, made no reply, but dropped his eyes to his work and did not look up again for a few moments.

When he raised his eyes, Sid Sloper was gone, and he thought he saw the ragged man's retreating figure vanish down the road, but was not sure.

"Egg-hunting is profitable enough for me," thought the boy, "but I would not mind earning the £300. Sid Sloper's word is to be taken with a good deal of allowance, though the coast guard is very anxious to catch the smugglers, and the reward may be out."

The village mentioned by Sloper, the vagabondish Cornishman, was situated a good mile from the coast. It was farther away than the home of Brant Burton, the young egg-hunter, and as the boy had not been there for some days, he did not altogether disbelieve the man's statement about the reward.

The sun was hanging very low in the west, when, provided with a basket and a rope, he set out for the Cornish cliffs. He had discovered a hole right above a narrow ledge of rock which promised good results, and the number of birds that whirled about the place tempted the boy as he had not been tempted before of late.

There existed among the egg-hunters of Cornwall a most intense jealousy. They would watch one another like paid spies, and some even went so far as to cut the ropes hanging over the cliffs, leaving the poor bird-nester in a terrible predicament.

Brant Burton, the gull-hunter, had resolved to investigate the opening in the cliff about sundown when there was not so much danger of his being seen; and when he reached the edge of the wall the sun was disappearing, a ball of fire, beneath the waves of the channel.

Paying out his rope, he made one end fast to a jagged rock near the brink of the cliff, and with his basket strapped to his back, swung himself over the wall.

It was not his first descent on a similar mission. He always kept a cool head and steady hands on such occasions, for beneath him, hundreds of feet sometimes, boiled the whirlpools of the English channel.

This time his good rope did not fail him, for after a brief descent he stood on a scanty ledge of rock with the darkening sky far above and the wild waters below.

The hole in the cliff was large enough to admit a man, though it had not looked so from his point of observation. To the Cornish boy it seemed more than a mere rendezvous for gulls.

All at once something fell past the boy, and the next moment to his horror he discovered that his rope had vanished!

PLAYED OUT.

Dull headache, Pains in various parts of the body, Sinking at the pit of the stomach, Loss of appetite, Ferventness, Pimples or Sores on all positive evidences of impure blood. No matter how it became so, it must be purified in order to obtain good health. Acker's Blood Elixir has never failed to cure Scrofulous or Syphilitic poisons or any other blood diseases. It is certainly a wonderful remedy, and we sell every bottle on a positive guarantee. For sale at Fischer's drug store.

For a moment he stood paralyzed by the awful catastrophe, for he could realize fully what it meant.

After awhile he went to the very edge of the ledge and looked up. He could not catch a glimpse of a dangling cord of any kind, and a hundred feet below the white waves of the channel dashed against the foot of the wall.

His situation was terrible. "If this is your work, Sid Sloper, may Heaven forgive you!" exclaimed the young egg-hunter. "I've caught you following me before now, for you don't want anybody to make a few shillings but yourself."

As far as his vision could reach, Brant Burton saw nothing but the tumbling white caps of the ocean. The sun had gone down, and the surface of the water was fast losing its brilliant hues in the shadows of descending night.

The roar of the breakers came up to the boy on the narrow rock and filled his heart with terror. A few late gulls whirled before his eyes, as if to mock his fleeting hopes, and darkness came down over the scene.

The young egg-hunter of Cornwall was terribly imprisoned. It was some time before he ventured to investigate the hole in the cliff. The loss of his rope had taken his mind from everything else.

When he did turn into the dark place and struck a match along the rough wall, a most astonishing discovery rewarded him. He seemed to have been suddenly transported into a veritable smugglers' paradise.

On every side were the fruits of many a night's foray along the coast—boxes containing silks and laces, and contraband merchandise of every description.

The cave was provided with natural shelves, which were stored with goods, and costly furniture existed everywhere in profusion.

If the Cornish boy had found the smugglers' cave with his good rope waiting for him over the cliff, he would have rejoiced, but he was imprisoned where his life was in imminent danger.

A return of the smugglers, luckily for the young hunter at that time absent, would pretty soon put an end to his career of cliff-climbing, and the little home behind the waters would never know his fate.

Brant Burton had no doubt that he had discovered the cave of the very men for whose detection the government had offered a large reward. No person had dreamed that it had existed in that vicinity, and the interior of the cavern in the cliff told the boy that it had been used for evil purposes a long time.

After awhile the moon came up and silvered the rolling waves of the channel. Its light fell against the foot of the cliff, and showed the boy at intervals the scant pathway between the sea and the rock.

Armed with a coil of rope which he had found among the smugglers' goods, he leaned over the ledge and tried to measure the distance between him and the water. It was uncertain work in the moonlight, but he did the best he could.

There was but one hope of escape, and that lay along the foot of the cliff, which was slippery and washed by the tide.

The Cornish boy dropped the rope and saw it reach the rocks below. A thrill of exultation took possession of his heart.

He fastened the other end of the rope to an iron staple in the cavern, and thrust into his bosom a piece of peculiar lace which he took from one of the boxes. He remembered having heard a coast guardsmen say that a certain kind of lace was being smuggled into Cornwall, and he believed he had found it.

When all was ready, the young gull-hunter again trusted his fortunes to a swaying rope—this time to one he had never before tested.

The following moment he was swinging between the cliff and the sea, going down hand over hand toward the surging tide.

When he touched the rocks beneath, he was forced to hug the wall, for the waves were at his very feet. He shuddered when he thought that he would have to follow the narrow path for more than a mile before there was a break in the cliffs, but he nerved himself for the task and started off.

It proved to be the most perilous journey of his life. All the way he was compelled to hug the wall of rock, with the roaring surf leaping at him. More than once he was caught, and barely saved himself by clinging to rocks that cut like knives.

At last Brant Burton reached the break in the Cornish wall. It was to him a gate of safety.

Springing forward, after a brief rest, he ran to the village and told his story to the constable of the coast guard. It was hard to believe, but his hands and the lace were proof enough.

That night half a dozen men went down over the cliff to the smugglers' cave, and when the thieves came back with more booty, every one fell into the hands of the law.

Sid Sloper had no idea when he cut the Cornish boy's rope that he was enriching Brant with £300, and when he found that his young rival had escaped, he left the country before the law could deal with him, and the village is not sorry that he has never returned.—Golden Days.

A German Possibility. For our part, we hope Emperor William will compete for the America cup and enter the next race with a sort of German Shamrock. It would be an inspiring spectacle, thinks the Chicago Tribune, to see a magnificent yacht bearing the name of Das Kaiserliche Koenigliche Grueene Kleeblatt in full chase for that cup.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

A poor complexion is usually the result of a torpid liver or irregular action of the bowels. Unless nature's refuse is carried off it will surely cause impure blood. Pimples, boils and other eruptions follow. This is nature's method of throwing off the poisons which the bowels failed to remove. DeWitt's Little Early Risers are world famous for remedying this condition. They stimulate the liver and promote regular and healthy action of the bowels but never cause griping, cramps or distress. Safe pills. Ireland's Pharmacy.

Read the two sides of this story and then give a verdict on the evidence as to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

WHAT MRS. HAYTER SUFFERED. "I had been sick for more than a year with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Lucy Hayter, of Jacksonville, Fla. "Several different doctors treated me, but none did me any good. One doctor said that I never could be cured, that I had Bright's Disease, I suffered nearly death at times; he said the doctors called it Bright's Disease. I was bed-fast most of the time for six months. My mother begged me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

WHAT DR. PIERCE SAID. "With but little hope I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he said 'he could cure me.' I began to take his Golden Medical Discovery, and although I had given up to die, I began to improve from the start, and by the time I had taken twenty-two bottles I was entirely cured. I weigh more than ever before in my life and am entirely well."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It cures through the stomach diseases of heart, liver, lungs, kidneys, etc., which have their origin in disease of the stomach and its associate organs. Sick persons are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

An engagement isn't of much satisfaction to the average girl unless it makes her friends think she is better off than they are.

A. J. Snell wanted to attend a party, but was afraid to do so on account of pains in his stomach, which he feared would grow worse. He says, "I was telling my troubles to a lady friend, who said: 'Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy will put you in condition for the party.' I bought a bottle and take pleasure in stating that two doses cured me and enabled me to have a good time at the party." Mr. Snell is a resident of Sumner Hill, N. Y. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

One of the things which puzzle a man is that a mother will fret more over catching her boy smoking than catching him in a lie.

Editor Lynch of the Daily Post, Philadelphia, N. J., has tested the merits of Foley's Honey and Tar with this result: "I have used a great many patent remedies in my family for coughs and colds, and I can honestly say your Honey and Tar is the best thing of the kind I have ever used and I cannot say too much in praise of it." A chattel and real estate mortgage by Francisco Romero and Macdonia Mestas de Romero, on nine parcels of land at Pojoaque, 400 ewe lambs, 150 she-goats, 10 cows, one wagon, and two horses. Train No. 2 from the west and south on the Santa Fe railroad was four hours late yesterday afternoon; train No. 8 from the west last night was four hours late; trains No. 1 and 7 from the east were nine to ten hours late and train No. 3, the flyer from the east, due at Lamy yesterday morning at 8:10 did not pass Lamy until 9 o'clock last evening. One or two of the eastern trains were delayed by an acetylene explosion under one of the cars, which killed a boy and injured a man. The accident happened in Kansas. Train No. 2 from the south was nearly three hours late this afternoon.

Louis Pacheco, a son of Valentin Pacheco of Tesuque, returned this morning from Chillico, Oklahoma, where for the past two and a half years he was a pupil at the United States Indian school at that place. When he went there he could not speak a word of English, he now speaks the English language very well and without accent, writes a good English letter of excellent penmanship. He has been thoroughly taught the trade of a shoemaker and has also learned something about machinery and running steam engines. He is fully capable of making a good living for himself. His case shows that good work is being done at that school. He would have remained longer had it not been that his father within the past few weeks has become blind and needs his son's help.

Cooler weather is predicted for tomorrow. The maximum sun temperature yesterday was 54 degrees, and the maximum shade temperature 40 degrees. The minimum temperature was 18 degrees. This morning at 6 o'clock the temperature was 37 degrees. The minimum temperature occurred at 2 o'clock and was 26 degrees. The daily change of temperature in Colorado and New Mexico between yesterday and today shows a marked contrast. At Pueblo yesterday morning the minimum temperature was 2 degrees below zero and at 6 o'clock this morning it was 18 degrees above zero, a rise of 20 degrees in less than 24 hours. Last night the minimum temperature at Pueblo was 12 degrees and at daybreak the wind was blowing a gale. At Santa Fe the range of temperature yesterday was only 25 degrees.

An Accidental Shooting. While out hunting near Raton, Oury McClay, 11 years old, was accidentally shot by his brother Joe, a lad of 16. The boys were going through some thick brush, Joe being in the lead, with his shotgun on his shoulder, when the trigger caught on a limb, causing the gun to go off. Eruptions

Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation.

To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous.

The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Almina Walter, Box 212, Arizona, Wm., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. There are more testimonials in favor of this great medicine than can be published.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Promises to cure and keeps the promise. Don't put off treatment. Buy a bottle of Hood's today.
