PEOPLE MOURN MCKINLEY'S DEATH

Solemn Scenes at the Death Bed of the Beloved Ruler.

PATHETIC PARTING WITH MRS. MCKINLEY.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—William McKinley, twenty-fifth president of the United States, died at 2:15 o'clock this morning from the effects of the assassin's bullet. Theodore Roosevelt, with the administration of the oath of office today, will begin to exercise the functions of president today.

The death of President McKinley came in the small hours of the morning under circumstances of peculiar weirdness. For hours he had lain unconscious, with all hope of his survival abandoned. He came out of his stupor last evening about 7 o'clock and while his mind was partially clear there occurred the last endowments and last goodbyes. In this interval of consciousness Mrs. McKinley was brought into the death chamber. The president had asked to see her. She sat beside him and held his hand and heard his last words of encouragement and comfort. Then she was led away and not again during his living hours did she see him.

The president fully realized that his hour had come. He whispered feebly, "Nearer, my God, to Thee," words of a hymn always dear to his heart. Then in faint accents he murmured: "Goodby, goodby. It is God's way. His will be done." The president soon after lapsed into unconsciousness. Members of the cabinet, grief-stricken, were gathered in the large drawing room of the Milburn house. They ascended the stairway, one after the other, noisily approaching the threshold of the chamber where the dying man lay and gazed within. Meantime the president had lapsed into a state of complete unconsciousness and it was only a question of hours, perhaps minutes, when the end would come. By 10 o'clock there was no perceptible pulse. The extremities had grown cold and the rigidity of death was fast falling upon the sufferer. Physicians who remained at his side detected only the faintest heart beats.

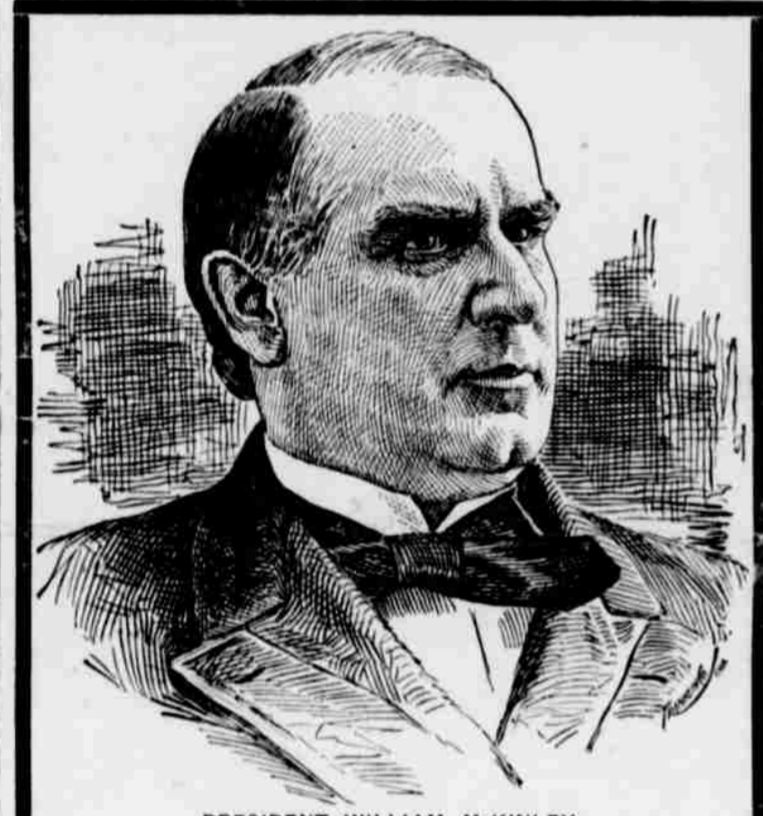

Some, knowing all was over, departed, while others remained because of respect for the expiring president. Dr. Jaeway, the eminent heart specialist, arrived shortly before midnight and proceeded at once to the bedside of the president. An instant glance told him that the time had passed for slightest hope. He turned away, telling the assembled relatives and officials that the end was very near.

At 2 o'clock Dr. Rixey was the only physician in the death chamber. He observed a slight convulsive tremor. The president had entered the valley of the shadow of death. "Ford" was at once taken to the immediate relatives who were not present to hasten for a last look upon the president in life. They came in groups, the women weeping and men bowed and sobbing in intense grief. Grouped about the bedside at his final moment were the only brother of the president, Abner McKinley, and wife; Miss Helen McKinley and Mrs. Sarah Duncan, sisters of the president; Mrs. Mary Barber, niece; Miss Sarah Duncan, niece; Lieutenant James F. McKinley, William B. Duncan and John Barber, nephews; F. M. Osborne, cousin; Secretary George B. Cortelyou, Chas. G. Dawes, controller of the treasury; Webb Chase and William C. Brown.

In the adjoining room were the doctors, Charles F. McBurney, Eugene Wadlin, Roswell Park, Charles J. Stockton and Herman Mynter. It was 2:15 o'clock. Dr. Rixey placed his hand close to the breast of the expiring president. Then he straightened up. "The president is dead," he said.

The president passed away peacefully as though he had fallen asleep. Only the sobs of the mourners broke the silence. Mr. Cortelyou passed from the room and down the stairway. In the large drawing room were still assembled the members of the cabinet and officials high in the administration. Cortelyou said: "Gentlemen, the president has passed away." Cortelyou then announced to the newspaper men: "The president died at 2:15 o'clock."

All that remained was to perform

PRESIDENT WILLIAM MCKINLEY.
Shot by an assassin, Leon Czolgosz, a red-handed anarchist, at Pan-American Exposition, Buffalo, N. Y., where he was the guest of the people. Friday afternoon, Sept. 6, he was shot in the chest and the wounds early this morning, September 14, making the third president of the United States assassinated.

by at halfpast. Preparations are in progress to give the public buildings a draping of black. At the city churches tomorrow there will be services and prayers for the late president.

The autopsy will be performed by Dr. Harvey L. Garford and H. C. Mattinger, the well known pathologists of Buffalo.

The results will be embodied in a statement signed by the physicians, which will be given to the press. Efforts were made to obtain from the physicians a technical history of the case.

They said that copious notes had been taken by each, and these would be used in preparation of a general statement which will be published in a medical journal. Pending that statement they thought it not proper to discuss the subject.

At 10 o'clock relatives of President McKinley began arriving at the Milburn house. Mr. Milburn for a time stood at the door with bowed head, with the friends of the McKinley family. Over thirty photographers gained admission through the police lines, pointed their cameras into the tear stained faces of the relatives and snapped the shutters.

Senator Hanna came to the house at 10:40 accompanied by Comptroller Dawes and Elmer Dover, his private secretary. The senator walked haltingly and bowed his head as he approached the house.

The cabinet began to assemble at 10:30. The only absentees were Secretaries Gage and Hay, who had not yet reached the city.

CAUSE OF DEATH.

The autopsy has been completed and a bulletin on the subject will soon be issued. Dr. Mynter announced that death was the direct result of a gangrene produced by the bullet wound. The bullet has not yet been found.

At the close of the autopsy it was announced that the bullet supposed to have lodged in the muscles of the back had not been found. Further search will be made. Death was caused by toxemia.

ROOSEVELT ARRIVES.

President Roosevelt arrived at Buffalo at 1:40 and went to the house of Ansley Wilcox.

PROGRAM OF FUNERAL.

The program agreed upon by the cabinet includes a short service of prayer at the Milburn residence tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. Monday at 7 a. m. the remains will start for Washington on a special train, on which the cabinet, as well as the family, will embark. Arriving there, in the evening the body will be taken to the White House, where it will remain overnight. Tuesday it will be taken formally to the capitol, where a state funeral will be held. Wednesday the remains will be escorted to Canton, and on Thursday the interment will take place.

ROOSEVELT SWORN IN.

Milburn House, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt drove up at 2:28 with mounted policemen on either side of the carriage. Mr. Wilcox was with him. Colonel Bingham opened the door of the carriage, stopping at the curb.

ference of opinion. The matter is entirely optional with the new president. Members of the McKinley cabinet and assistants as well as heads of important bureaus and foreign representatives doubtless will tender their resignations as usual in change of administration, but undoubtedly will be asked to continue in office some time.

THOUSANDS OF TELEGRAMS.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Expressions of condolence began to arrive almost simultaneously with the announcement of the president's death. After daylight telegrams began arriving in a steady stream, thousands reaching the house before noon. Those for the grieving wife were of course laid aside.

POISONED BULLET SUSPECTED.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 14.—Dr. James A. Lydston, commenting upon the death of President McKinley, said that the bullet which remained in the body might have been poisoned.

CLOSED.

New York, Sept. 14.—All exchanges are closed.

NO SESSIONS.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The board of trade and the stock exchange held no sessions.

DEPARTMENTS CLOSED.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 14.—All executive departments of the government closed for the day as a mark of respect for the president.

Secretaries Hay and Gage held a conference, at the conclusion of which it was stated that probably the members of the cabinet would not tender their resignations until after President McKinley's funeral.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14.—President Roosevelt arrived in Albany from North Creek at 7:55 o'clock this morning at 8:20 o'clock left for Buffalo on a special train.

STOCK EXCHANGE CLOSED.

New York, Sept. 14.—The board of governors of the stock exchange this morning decided that the exchange should remain closed today out of respect to the memory of President McKinley.

Telegram of Condolence.

This morning at 2:30 o'clock, Hon. B. S. Rodney, New Mexico's delegate to congress, wired the following self explanatory dispatch:

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 14. Hon. G. H. Cortelyou, Buffalo, N. Y.: New Mexico bows its head and mourns with the nation at our irreparable loss. Our sympathy to the bereaved.

B. S. RODNEY.

No Lynching.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Abolishing no truth in report that Anarchist Maggio was lynched here last night. No excitement and no threats of violence.

ATTEMPTED OUTRAGE.

Mrs. Captain Jack Crawford Attacked by Unknown Scoundrel.

Special to The Citizen.

San Marcial, Sept. 14.—Last evening Mrs. J. Crawford was attacked by some one who was known. She was grabbed by some one, who held her by the throat and when she tried to call for help was hit in the mouth with a stick, which knocked her teeth out and cut her lip badly. She was found unconscious and prints of a hand on her neck. Captain Jack Crawford is now here looking into the matter.

HOW RECEIVED HERE.

Messages of the Death of the President Case Gloom Over This Community.

The sad news of the death of President McKinley was received in this city by a sorrowful community, who felt the most sincere regard and respect for the man as an individual, as well as for the chief executive of the nation. Nowhere was President McKinley held in higher esteem than in this section of the country and in no part of the union is there more keen regret at the sad outcome of the tragedy enacted on the sixth of this month. When the sad tidings reached Albuquerque the flags in the city were placed at halfmast. Many stores and public buildings were draped in mourning to honor his memory. The gloom cast over the Jewish residents of this city was especially noticeable, the sad event occurring on the anniversary of new year.

Never in the history of the union has the demise of one man been attended by such general sorrow as that felt today by high and low, rich and poor, throughout the length and breadth of the land. North, south, east and west with one accord mourn with the president's nearest and dearest, for the loss of this noble, honest man.

Mrs. R. F. Filmore was a passenger for Las Vegas this morning, where she will meet her husband, who is returning from the east.

London, Sept. 14.—King Edward telegraphed to Ambassador Choate as follows:

"Most truly do I sympathize with you and the whole American nation at the loss of your distinguished and ever to be loved president."

PARIS MOURNS FOR MCKINLEY.

Paris, Sept. 14.—News of President McKinley's death became known here generally about 10 o'clock and the central portion of the city immediately bristled with furled and crepe draped American flags. President Loubet called at the American embassy, but could not see Minister Porter, who is ill.

Defiant Anarchist.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 14.—Emma Goldman sat this morning in a comfortable room of the women's annex of the Harrison street police station. She was calm and defiant.

"Do you feel no sorrow today?" she was asked.

"No," she exclaimed, in a harsh voice, "I feel no reason for regretting McKinley's death."

Insane Anarchist.

New York, Sept. 14.—Charles Miller, who was arrested last night on suspicion of being the man who left Berlin, N. H., yesterday saying he was going to Washington to kill Vice President Roosevelt, was arraigned in police court today and committed to the insane pavilion of Bellevue hospital for examination as to his sanity. He talked in a rambling manner.

New Mexico demands Statehood from the Fifty-Seventh Congress.

The New Mexico Territorial Fair will be held in Albuquerque from October 15th to October 19th. Premium list will aggregate $10,000.

ALBUQUERQUE, SEPT. 14, 1901.

DEATH OF THE PRESIDENT.

At 2:15 o'clock this morning the soul of William McKinley took its flight and his great heart ceased to beat. His life was gentle and was filled up with good deeds done to his fellowmen. When he was shot, his first words in regard to the assassin were: "May God forgive him."

Death came as a happy relief to his worn body, and the nation will enshrine his name deep in its heart as their most beloved ruler.

The people of New Mexico sincerely mourn the death of President McKinley. He was always kind and courteous to the citizens of the territory and was anxious to have the territory admitted to statehood. It was his intention to do everything in his power next winter to secure the passage of a state-enabling act for the territory.

Three republican presidents have been assassinated, and the people standing beside the lacerated body of William McKinley should resolve that the lives and reputations of their rulers should hereafter be protected, and stern laws for the suppression of anarchy and agitators should be enacted.

Thirteen physicians attended President McKinley, which was enough to kill anybody.

The anarchists will tackle a hard proposition when they run up against President Roosevelt.

The pastors of this city will arrange a union memorial service on the day of President McKinley's funeral.

The Alabama constitutional convention has completed its plan for disfranchising the negro, and the instrument as amended will be submitted to popular vote.

The territorial board of equalization by resolution has increased the taxable assessed value of the city of Albuquerque from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000. If that board can make the assessments, why not abolish the county assessors and save expenses?

When President Garfield's funeral took place in 1881, the people of this city held memorial services at the fair grounds. The city had no public park at that time. It is suggested that the people unite in this memorial and that the service be held in the city park on the day of the funeral. The two bands of the city should be invited to take part in the service and a union choir should be selected.

CHARLESTON EXPOSITION.

The Charleston Exposition will be held in winter, and South Carolina is being advertised as "the land of perpetual sunshine." The exposition managers are circulating a good deal of literature filled with information of the highest value. A pamphlet, illustrated with maps, bearing the title of "Charleston and its Exposition," its advantageous position and industrial and commercial future, compiled by Alexander D. Anderson, has just been issued. It contains a century's growth of population, tables of distances, commercial data, topographical notes, industrial productions, native resources, etc. The total value of the products of the great Southeast which is tributary to Charleston is placed by Mr. Anderson at $1,975,975,724. The number of farm products are estimated to be worth $578,626,231. Forestry products $133,000,000, mineral products $109,947,092, fishery products $10,000,000; net value of manufactures $143,000,000.

A HEAVY ADVERTISER.

The experience of a heavy advertiser whose home office is in Buffalo, N. Y., in the working up of a great business in proprietary medicines, is not essentially different from that of others. To a reporter he said that he had depended almost exclusively upon the leading daily newspapers of the large cities for publicity. For many years he put 80 per cent of his gross receipts into newspaper space and this year his appropriation for such newspaper advertising is "as large as to stagger belief."

AMERICANS PREFER LAW.

Legislators and citizens on all sides are expressing the opinion that advocacy of the murder of statesmen must be held to be treason and so recognized and treated by law. There is a general agreement on this point, and no doubt action of that kind will be taken next winter by the national and state legislatures.

The argument may be made by flighty theorists that even anarchists have a right to their opinions, and that if they wish to do away with the prevailing system of government, or with all government, they have the right to say so.

So they have, but that is where their right stops. To resort to "force," as they call assassinations, is to engage in war against the nation and the nation has a right to protect itself, the same as against a hostile fleet.

THE GLOOM OF DEATH!

Last Hours of Stricken President-- Solemn Farewell Scene in Death Chamber.

"IT'S GOD'S WAY; HIS WILL BE DONE."

FAVORITE HYMN OF PRESIDENT MCKINLEY

L EAD kindly Light, amid the encircling gloom,
Lead Thou me on;
The night is dark and I am far from home,
Lead Thou me on.
Keep Thou my feet; I do not ask to see
The distant scene; one step enough for me.

I WAS not ever thus, nor prayed that Thou
Shouldst lead me on;
I loved to choose and see my path; but now
Lead Thou me on.
I loved the garish day and, spite of fears,
Pride ruled my way; remember not past years.

S O long Thy power has blessed me, sure it still Will lead me on,
O'er moor and fen, o'er crag and torrent, till
The night is gone,
And with the morn those angel faces smile,
Which I have loved long since, and lost awhile.
—CARDINAL JOHN NEWMAN.

Milburn House, Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 13.—Before 6 o'clock it was clear to those at the president's bedside that he was dying, and preparations for the last offices of farewell from those who were nearest and dearest to him were made. Oxygen had been administered steadily, but with little effect, keeping back the approaching death.

The president came out of one period of unconsciousness only to drop into another, but in this period, when his mind was partially clear, occurred a series of events profoundly touching in character. Downstairs, with strained and tear-stained faces, the members of the cabinet officers at anxious waiting. They knew the end was near and the time had come when they must see him for the last time on earth.

This was about 6 o'clock. One by one they ascended the stairway. Secretary Root, Hitchcock and Wilson were also there, but they held back, not wishing to see the president in his last agony. There was only a momentary glimpse of the president as he lay on the threshold of the death chamber. Then they withdrew, tears streaming down their faces and words of intense grief choking their throats. After they had left the sick room, the physicians rallied him to consciousness, and the president asked almost immediately that his wife be brought to him.

The doctors fell back into the shadows of the room as Mrs. McKinley came through the doorway and the strong face of the dying man lighted up with a faint smile as their hands clasped. She sat beside him and held his hand. Despite her physical weakness she bore up bravely under the ordeal. His last audible words were: "Goodbye; goodbye. It is God's will. His will be done." Then his mind began to wander and soon he completely lost consciousness.

The president's life was prolonged for hours by the administration of oxygen and he finally expressed a desire that he be allowed to die. About 8:30 the administration of oxygen ceased and the pulse grew fainter and fainter. He was sinking gradually, like a child into eternal slumber. By 9 o'clock the pulse could no longer be felt in his extremities and they grew cold.

At 9:30 the sick room was crowded with a gathering waited for by the nation. All the evening those who hastened here as fast as steel and steam could carry them continued to arrive. They drove up in carriages at a gallop or were whisked up in automobiles, all intent upon getting here before death came. One of the last to arrive was Attorney General Knox, who reached the house at 9:30. He was permitted to go upstairs to look for the last time upon the face of his chief. Those in the house at this time were Secretaries Hitchcock, Wilson and Root, Senators Fairbanks, Hanna and Burrows, John Day, Abner McKinley, the president's brother, and his wife; Dr. and Mrs. Baer, the president's niece and her husband; Mrs. Barber and Mrs. Duncan, the president's sisters; Mrs. Mary Barber, Mrs. Williams, Mrs. McKinley's cousin; the physicians, Dr. McBurney, who arrived after 8 o'clock; John G. Milburn, John S. Scattergood; Harry Hamlin, all of this city; Secretary Cortelyou and a number of others. Rev. C. D. Wilson, a Methodist minister of Tonawanda, N. Y., who had been the president's pastor for three years at Canton, called at the residence to inquire whether his services were needed, but did not enter. Another Methodist minister, who has a church near by, remained at the Milburn residence for two hours in the belief that his services might be desired.

At 9:37 Secretary Cortelyou, who had been much of the time with his dying chief, sent out formal notifications that the president was dying, but the president lingered on, his pulse growing fainter and fainter. There was no need of official bulletins after this. Those who came from the house at intervals told the same story—that the president was dying and the end might come at any time. His tremendous vitality was the only remaining factor in the result and this gave hope only in a brief postponement of the end. Dr. Mynter thought that he might last until 2 o'clock a. m. Dr. Mynter said at 11 o'clock that the president was still alive and would probably live an hour. Thus the minutes lengthened to hours, and the story that the president was dying and the end might come at any time. Early Fall Arrivals

The fall season is now upon us, and with it the demand for seasonable goods. We are ready for you—yes, we have anticipated your wants.

This season finds us in a better position than ever before to accommodate our large fall stock which is now commencing to arrive.

We invite your inspection and feel assured that our large variety and reasonable prices cannot fail but to cause ready purchases.

Ladies' Walking Hats

Our millinery department with every year has more and more convinced us of its popularity. We need not look far for the reason. Being on the alert for all the latest novelties that are put on the market, we are always the leaders in style.

Our merchandise coming from headquarters places us in a position to sell at prices which others might pay. The advance styles of walking hats have just arrived. They are beautiful, ranging from 75 cents to $2.25. Heavier hats are again in vogue, of which we have a large line on display. We also call your attention to our tailor made hats, which are extremely chic and nobby productions of the milliner's skill.

Room will not permit us to detail any more of our most popular creations, nor can we give due justice to same by so doing.

ROSENWALD BROS

Letter to Messrs. Hall & Learnerd

from their old employer Lew H. Clement, present manager of Whitney & Courter Co., Toledo, Ohio, the largest music house between New York and Chicago, says:

TOLEDO, OHIO, MAY 1, 1900.

HALL & LEARNERD, Albuquerque, N. M.

Dear Friends—Your letter received and we are very glad to hear from you. I was also glad you were going to do some piano business and had succeeded in securing the agency of Clifford Chickering's pianos. I hope you will do well, and one thing sure you are starting out right in pushing high grade pianos. It is sometimes harder to sell a GOOD piano because of course it must bring more money, but it MAKES FRIENDS and not enemies, and its good words of those who have bought pianos from you more than anything else which makes it easy to sell others. The Chickering Bros. will prove all you can claim for it. My brother-in-law in Detroit, H. Green, has had one over five years and ALL SWEAR BY IT AND NOT AT IT. With our best wishes,

Lew H. Clement.

NOTE—We believe our success during the past year proves the above letter to be true.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS
