WILL NOT INTERFERE

President Roosevelt Gave a Straightforward Answer to the Boer Representatives Today.

CALLED AT WHITE HOUSE

Wolmarans and Wessels Were Not Very Definite in Stating What They Would Like to Have the United States Do on Behalf of the Struggling Boers.

Washington, March 5.—Messrs. Wolmarans and Wessels, the Boer representatives who came to the United States from Europe for the purpose of conferring with the secretary of state were received by Mr. Hay this morning as private citizens and not in an official capacity. The principal object of the delegates was to induce the United States government to do something to terminate the struggle in South Africa. They were not very specific as to what they wanted, and apparently would be satisfied with the simple tender of good offices on the part of the United States. The secretary heard them attentively, promised to consider their representations and do whatever he could to ameliorate conditions in South Africa. Later Wolmarans and Wessels, accompanied by Dr. Frederick Mueller of the Orange Free State, were received by President Roosevelt, and remained with him about fifteen minutes. Roosevelt listened attentively to what they had to say, and informed them that this government will not interfere in the struggle.

TAXED THE PORTLAND MINING COMPANY

The City Assessor of Council Bluffs, Iowa, Adds Nine Million Dollars to the Taxable Property of the City.

THE ACTION OF THE CITY WILL PRECIPITATE A LAW SUIT

Council Bluffs, Ia., March 5.—City Assessor Everett included in his assessment roll the property of the Portland Mining Company, whose headquarters are in this city, but whose property holdings are in Colorado. The Iowa code makes provision for taxing corporations having their principal place of business within the state. The local representative of the company refused to make a statement of its taxable property and the assessor decided to assess the company on the basis of its alleged actual value, $9,000,000, as provided by law. The recent Burns-Doyle suit for the possession of a million dollars' worth of stock in the Portland Company, the assessor says, formed the basis for his calculations on the value of the property. The action of the city is expected to precipitate a law suit.

The bill passed without division.

The shipping bill was laid before the senate. Clay, Georgia, delivered a speech in opposition to the measure.

It Results in a Republican Victory Though Tickets Were Badly Scratched.

Seattle, Wash., March 5.—Owing to much scratching and a heavy vote, the returns of the municipal election held yesterday had not been counted at 3 o'clock this morning, but indications were that Mayor Humes was re-elected by a plurality of 500. The proposed charter amendment, providing for an increase of the city liquor license from $600 to $1,000 was carried. The amendment providing that the city build a lighting plant was also carried. The balance of the Republican ticket was elected by a good majority.

MORE SNOW EXPECTED.

Rescuers Are at Work Seeking to Recover the Bodies of Those Killed at Telluride.

Denver, Colo., March 5.—A special to the Times from Telluride says: The weather today is warm and hazy and more snow is expected within a day or two. About twenty-four men are working at the Liberty Bell mine and on the trail. One crew is clearing the trail between the curve station and the mine another crew is clearing a place to build a small boarding house, so the searchers will not have to come to town until all the bodies are recovered.

It was reported here last night that there were seven men in the Ingram basin and nothing had been heard from them since the slide. It may be possible that the men are safe and afraid to come down as the slides have been running every where.

A TIE-UP THREATENED.

Trouble on the Rio Grande Western Between a Train Master and Employee.

Salt Lake, Utah, March 5.—According to the Desert News, unless the present troubles between Trainmaster Cotter, of the Rio Grande Western and the employees of that system are settled before Thursday, the 13th, a general tie-up of the system may occur at midnight on that date. It is stated that a committee representing the telegraphers, conductors, engineers and trainmen's organizations have taken up the matter with Manager Herbert, and the latter is expected to come to Salt Lake within a few days to investigate the charges brought against Trainmaster Cotter. The latter, it is stated, recently discharged a number of old employees without giving them a hearing.

PRINCE HENRY AT CLEVELAND

Thousands of People Forced Their Way Through the Gates of the Union Railroad Station.

ENTHUSIASTIC CHEERING

The Prince Was Too Hoarse to Make a Speech—He Invited a Former Valet into His Car and Shook Hands With Him—Only a Fifteen Minute Stop Was Made.

Cleveland, O., March 5.—Prince Henry was too tired to appear for any receptions informally tendered him by the cities through which he passed early this morning in Northwestern Ohio until his arrival at Cleveland at 9:10. He retired last night quite fatigued, and slept until late this morning. He stood the rapid and trying swing through the country much better than many of his escort.

Thousands of people forced their way through the gates of the Union station when the train bearing the prince arrived. Rear Admiral Evans was the first person to appear on the car platform, and was cheered wildly. In the absence of Mayor Johnson, Acting Mayor Beacom extended the greetings. Prince Henry expressed his gratitude for the kind words. "Send him in," said Prince Henry when informed of the presence of a former valet of his on a man-of-war. The prince recognized him, and there was enthusiastic handshaking. Prince Henry stepped out from the crowd, followed by calls for a speech. The prince remarked that he was too hoarse to attempt a speech. After a stop of fifteen minutes the train pulled out for the east at 9:25, followed by tremendous cheers.

AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 5.—Prince Henry's special train arrived here at 2:45 and left at 3 o'clock for the Niagara Falls. About 2,000 people were in the station, several thousand more were unable to gain admittance.

NIPPED IN THE BUD.

Short Skirt Is Made in Service With a Revolutionary Attempt.

Belgrade, Servia, March 5.—An extraordinary attempt to start a revolution was made this morning in the frontier town of Shabab by a raid under the leadership of Alavancites, a relative of Prince Karageorgevich, pretender to the Serbian throne. Alavancites was killed and his adherents arrested.

Alavancites, with a handful of followers, arrived at Shabab from Mitrovitz wearing the uniform of a general of the Servian army, and called to the frontier guard to follow him. The latter, not suspecting anything wrong, accompanied the general to the town hall, where Alavancites ordered the fire department to join him. This motley procession proceeded to the gendarmierie barracks, where Alavancites paraded the gendarmes. Two of the latter, however, whose suspicions were aroused, escaped and apprised their commander, Captain Nikolic. The latter, when he arrived, called on Alavancites to produce some document as authority for his actions, whereupon the would-be revolutionist leader fired a revolver at Captain Nikolic, slightly wounding him; Nikolic promptly shot Alavancites whose followers were then arrested.

BLIZZARD IN THE EAST.

New York, March 5.—Another snow-storm, which threatens damage, started this morning. On the river the weather was so thick that ferry boats were unable to run at more than half speed.

Telegraphic service was further demoralized by the storm. The Western Union company reported that it was losing wires in all directions. The train service on the New York Central railroad, which was demoralized by the snow, was further impeded by snow.

Who Shall Bridge Canals on Private Property?

An interesting case has been appealed from a justice of the peace court at Roswell to the district court for Chaves county, which is to determine who shall bridge irrigating canals on private property. The case was listed as a damage suit in which Clements and Hurd sought to recover damages from W. G. Urton for obstructing an irrigating ditch through Mr. Urton's farm. The evidence showed that a bridge which had been placed there by the former owner of the ditch, the Roswell Land and Water company, had become unsafe and Mr. Urton has asked Mr. Hurd to have it replaced. This Hurd refused to do and Urton thereupon constructed a passageway of clay and straw over the canal, obstructing its flow. Hurd thereupon started the damage suit. Justice of the Peace Leon assessed the damage at $1 and costs and Urton promptly appealed to the district court.

The Seventy-First Regiment of the Virginia Infantry Is Patrolling the Streets of Norfolk.

A BAYONET CHARGE MADE

There Were No Casualties However and the Strikers Were Dispersed—The Barricades Built by the Strikers Last Night Have Been Removed.

Norfolk, Va., March 5.—Street cars, guarded by troops, are running at long intervals here today, but no passengers are being carried. Mayor Beman stated that there is no necessity yet for declaring martial law. Four additional companies of 71st infantry have been ordered out. This will place the entire command in the field, two battalions being already in service. The strikers were busy last night barricading the tracks, but this morning the obstructions were removed by troops. At midnight the soldiers were called upon to disperse the mob. Bayonets were used, but there were no casualties.

THE NAME OF NEW MEXICO.

There Are Some Good People in the Territory Who Find It a Stumbling Block.

To the Editor of the New Mexican. Questa, Taos County, March 2. Permit me to venture a line regarding possible ambiguity resulting from the name of this territory. The American has a passion for abbreviating. To save time, he often calls this "Mexico." dropping the prefix. On the train coming in yesterday as we crossed the Colorado line, a lot of children cried: "O, mame, we are in Mexico now." It went and they were not unlettered people. To what degree this sort of thing influences the unlettered I am not prepared to say. It is a fine point for those who seek to link cause and effect. Life is the sum of trifles.

Little drops of water.

Little grains of sand.

Make the mighty ocean.

And the wondrous land.

Only yesterday, a prominent United States official told me he had often been amused by the inquiries of tourists as to the amount of postage required to carry letters from here east. He was not particularly enthusiastic over the name, but thought Sunshine State would be first rate. Montezuma is a dead one.

Mexico and Marconi begin with the same letter.

Mexico is good, but Marconi is better. There is much in a name. Take for instance the name of Tiffany in the jewelry line. While we live, let us live!

Let us then be up and doing.

With a heart for every fate.

Still achieving, still pursuing.

"Buenos salud!" The Sunshine State.

Very truly yours,

MINES AND MINING.

An Experiment to Substitute Oil for Coke at a Lordsburg Smelter Is a Failure.

Thirty men are employed at present by the Silver Bar Mining Company on the Cooney mine in the Mogollon district, Socorro county. This force is to be increased as soon as there is an upward movement in copper. Between 50 and 70 tons of concentrates that will average 50 per cent copper, a few ounces of silver and some gold are freighted 76 miles to Silver City every month. The main shaft is down 400 feet while the distance of the main tunnel was increased recently from 600 to 900 feet. The Silver Bar pays regular dividends. Its stock is held in Colorado Springs, Colo.

The La Corona Company is a new organization that owns a group of seven claims between Hanover and Georgetown, Grant county, and also mining property in Central in the same county. The claims are gold, silver, lead and copper properties. About ten men are employed.

The Clifton Era states that Hens amounting to almost $10,000 have been filed against the Clifton Copper Company operating in Grant county.

The Pacific Union Company last week at Lordsburg, Grant county, experimented in substituting oil for coke in its smelter but the experiments were a failure as the draft necessary extinguishes the flame from the oil.

The Aberdeen Company has completed its concentrator at Lordsburg and made a trial run this week. The company has a large amount of ore blocked out in its mines but will have to increase its force to take out the ore.

The drill on the Anaconda at Red River, Taos county, is down 250 feet. The Copper Dome at Red River is being developed by J. C. McCullum and Sons.

W. D. Cannon and son, Charles, are doing their assessment work on the Evangeline and Copper Mountain at Red River.

On Malette Creek, George Walter and J. L. Bigelow are doing their assessment work on the Mountain View.

A Loss to Las Vegas.

The telegraph relay stations of the Santa Fe Railway Company at Las Vegas and Topeka will be abolished, and instead a quadruplex relay station will be established at La Junta, Colorado. The Santa Fe system seems determined to make La Junta the most important Santa Fe town west of Topeka. A large office building will be erected at La Junta.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 37th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

Judging from indications it looks very much as if the senatorial aspirations of a few New Mexico politicians were going up the spout.

The seasons come and the seasons go but the bank burglar goes on forever. The industry he has established seems to flourish as never before.

The Tillmanites in Charleston need not think that they can scare President Roosevelt. He is made of too stern a caliber for that sort of business.

Liang Chen Tung is to replace Minister Wu as representative of the Chinese Empire in this country. A Chinaman of any other name would smell as sweet.

The people of South Carolina are beginning to understand that the Tillmanites are a nuisance. They should abate the nuisance as speedily as possible.

Many important captures of insurgents are being reported from the Philippine Islands. Judging by the number of these the insurrection should be about at an end.

The people of New Mexico want two votes in the United States senate and one in the house of representatives in order that their needs might be promptly attended to.

The Democratic senators and representatives are displaying too much politics and not enough statesmanship in the proceedings of congress these days and there is one point wherein the Republicans gain.

In looking over recent exchanges it is found that some of the papers in the south have not yet found out that the Schley court of inquiry matter has been settled. Isn't it about time to give that matter a rest?

There are several yellow sheets in this territory which are viewing the present situation in New Mexico with great alarm. What all this alarm is about, no one seems to know but they themselves and they don't seem to be able to enlighten the people.

President Roosevelt will not stay away from the Charleston Exposition. He takes the position that the people of Charleston are not responsible for the stupid blunders of the lieutenant-governor of South Carolina. In this position he is absolutely right.

Detroit people are withdrawing their deposits from the national and private banks in that city. Remembering that Mr. Andrews, president of a Detroit bank, recently got away with a million dollars of the bank's money, the people of that city cannot be blamed for being bank shy.

A Pennsylvania judge recently decided that a man has the right to kill himself if he wanted to. Under that ruling a few statesmen and politicians in New Mexico, who are committing political kari-kari ought to be allowed to go on without molestation and complete the job.

New York has another snowstorm today. A day or two ago it had something like a cloudburst and the day before a blizzard. That seems variety enough to please anyone, but New Yorkers nevertheless think it is a monotonous variety. But it is their own fault. Why do they not move to Santa Fe?

The rulers of Italy and of Spain are having a tough time of it with the socialistic element in those countries. Serious revolutionary movements are in progress and bloodshed by the military has been had for the purpose of keeping order in several of the larger cities. The lot of the average European king or emperor is not as enviable or as happy as it might be.

The Santa Fe Railway Company has granted an increase of wages to the conductors on its branch roads who will now receive $100 with a chance of almost doubling that amount by getting in extra time. Brakemen too have been granted an increase making their wages $65 a month which can easily be increased to $100 by getting in extra time. It seems railroading pays well in the west and better than does the average white shirt front job.

Cincinnati today celebrates the centennial of its incorporation. There are a number of towns in this country who are quite proud of their age, such as New York, Boston, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, all prosperous cities whose age is no detriment to them at all. Santa Fe, however, can beat them on the point of age, although not as yet as to size and wealth, but is not out of the race as to the latter points at all. Another decade or two may do wonders for this beautiful and grand old city with natural advantages and attractions that even New York and Cincinnati might envy.

Congress is slow to act on the Isthmian canal bill. It is understood however that the Panama project has been killed by a senate sub-committee and that the Nicaragua route will be chosen. If that much is settled there is no further excuse for delay and congress should take definite action as soon as possible.

Prince Henry is tired out. He has evidently learned what it means to swing around the circle in the United States. It is not like making a trip through his own German empire which can be stowed away in the state of Texas and still have room to spare. He considers this a bigger country than he ever did before and yet he has not seen one-half of it.

Seattle had a municipal election yesterday and the independent spirit of its citizens manifested itself in the scratching of tickets to such an extent that it took twelve hours to count the votes. Among other things, the voters decided that the city should embark upon the course of municipal ownership or socialism, and as a starter build its own electric light plant.

The governor of South Carolina made a grievous mistake when some months ago he failed to accept the resignations of Senators Tillman and McLaurin when tendered to him. He is now kicking himself for making that mistake. That is alright as far as it goes, but the people of South Carolina should supplement that by retiring him to private life. He certainly deserves it.

The supreme court of the United States has reversed the decision of the 3d judicial district court and of the supreme court of this territory in the case of the United States versus the Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation Company on a technicality. This means two more years of litigation and retards the progress of the lower Rio Grande valley for that length of time.

The Washington Post gets off the following bright editorial paragraph: "Representative Moon would extend statehood to New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma. Think of the many people who will be glad to suggest this is a case of 'Moonshine state-making.' At same time the Post should understand that the people of New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma are in dead earnest concerning statehood and want it as the Texas cow boy wanted his gun."

Colorado prides itself upon the fact of having made the best record in sugar beet growing during the past year of any state in the union or in the world. New Mexico could make a still better showing if it were but given a chance. It is not a theory, but experiments have demonstrated that sugar beets raised under the right conditions in New Mexico, yield more sugar to the acre than beets in Colorado and that means than anywhere else in the world.

President Roosevelt has intimated to the railroad managements of the United States, that as far as his influence and power are concerned, the interstate and Sherman trust laws are to be enforced strictly to the letter. That is the right kind of a position for the executive of a great nation to take. Laws that are on the statute books should be enforced, whether their enforcement hurts mighty corporations or special interests or not. No president can ever hurt himself in the estimation of the great American public by insisting upon the enforcement of the laws of the nation.

Topographically, Taos county ranks with the mountain regions in Colorado, but it is superior to the best sections of Colorado on account of its more southern location, the winters not being as severe as Colorado winters. The mineral riches of Colorado extend through the entire county of Taos and it is but a question of time when by the application of capital and modern scientific methods that county will rival all the best mineral and agricultural sections of Colorado. Hence, the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company should lose no time in building a line from Fort Garland in Colorado, via San Luis, Costilla, Questa, San Cristobal, Arroyo Hondo, Agua de Lobo to Taos via the valleys of the Taos and Cieneguilla rivers to Embudo, and thence to Santa Fe.

COMMERCE WITH GERMANY.
This friendship of the United States with Germany is not merely a sentimental ebullition. The wonderful growth of commerce with that country is a marvel in the eyes of other nations. The exports to and imports from Germany in the year 1901 were ten times as large as they were in 1865. The commerce with Germany in 1901 represents the nice sum of $300,000,000.

An examination of the details shows that the percentage of increase in imports from Germany has been greater than the percentage of growth in exports to Germany, the figures being: Imports into the United States from Germany in 1865 $9,563,743; in 1901 $100,448,902. On the other hand, the exports from the United States to Germany were: In 1865 $20,315,302; in 1901 $191,780,425. Thus the imports into the United States from Germany are more than ten times as much in 1901 as in 1865, and the exports to Germany about nine and one-half times as much in 1901 as in 1865.

Finished manufactures form the chief features of the imports into the United States from Germany, and foodstuffs and manufacturers' materials form the chief features of the exports to Germany. Sugar, chemicals, cotton manufactures, silk manufactures, leather manufactures, toys, earthen, stone and china, wool manufactures, iron and steel manufactures, and cement are the principal items in the imports from Germany; while raw cotton, corn, wheat, flour, pork and beef products, mineral oils, tobacco, oil cake and meal, naval stores, wood and manufactures thereof and copper form the chief features of the exports to Germany. In a few classes of manufactures, however, notably iron and steel, the exports to Germany are considered, but as above indicated, the bulk of the movement from the United States to that country is composed of the articles required in the United States for food or manufacturing which it does not produce in sufficient quantities at home; while, on the other hand, the bulk of the imports into the United States from Germany are foodstuffs not produced at home or the higher grades of manufactures, such as sugar, wines, coffee, rice, chemicals, gloves, laces and knit goods, woolen dress goods, silk dress goods, cutlery, porcelain and chinaware and toys.

Last May I had a miscarriage, which was followed by flooding. I read your Almanac and my husband got me a bottle of Wine of Cardui and it stopped my flooding and restored my fallen womb to its place. Now I am cured after taking three bottles and have another to take which I got this morning. I am expecting to become a mother and Wine of Cardui will be my doctor.

When you need a good, reliable medicine for a cough or cold, or attack of the grip, use Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and you are certain to be more than pleased with the quick cure which it affords. ## Pitawitan's Nightmare

By Katherine Yates.

"If one apple costs two cents, what will six apples cost? Let me see; if one apple costs two cents, six apples will cost six times two, which is—oh, dear! I always get just so far, and then I can never do the rest," and a very large frown puckered Dorothy's forehead until it looked like the crinkly pink liberty silk on her own Sunday hat. Then she tipped back in the big rocking chair in the bay window, where she, an arithmetic and a tablet had been having a sort of wrestle, and, making a fine, large paper wad, she threw it at Pitawitan, the canary, who hung in a gilt cage in the window. Pitawitan did not even dodge, but only craned his yellow neck a little, eyeing the bit of paper with beady black eyes, and then began to trill pretty little notes and whistles, finally breaking into such a volume of song as threatened to burst his little throat.

Dorothy looked ashamed and turned back to her arithmetic. "If one apple costs two cents—"

"Chinap, chinap," called the canary. Dorothy laughed. "Of course they are cheap, Pitawitan."

"Well, didn't I say so?" answered Pitawitan.

Dorothy pursed up her lips. "Oh, you needn't expect me to be surprised to hear you speak, for if Pusskins and the Guinea pig talk, I suppose that there is no reason why you should not. I have been expecting it for some time."

"Glad it didn't give you a shock," said Pitawitan, sarcastically.

"And it's funny," went on Dorothy in an aggrieved tone, "that you fussy and feathery folk are so good-natured until you begin to talk, and then you are as cross and snippy and ill-tempered as can be. Here you have been singing as happy as anything all morning, and now—"

"Singing! Who said I was singing? Who said I was happy?"

"Why, I heard you singing my own self," exclaimed Dorothy, "just as cheerful and jolly even after I threw that paper wad at you."

"Singing!" repeated Pitawitan again disdainfully. "Singing! Do you call that singing, when I was just sitting here telling you what an ugly, disagreeable, ill-natured girl you are to throw things at me, merely because you couldn't get your lesson? You call that singing, do you?"

Dorothy looked disturbed. "Were you really talking to me like that? Why, I thought that you were always happy when you were singing."

"It is not singing, I tell you," cried Pitawitan, angrily. "It is just talking, and a lot of good it does to talk to folk in this house, too." "Why!" exclaimed Dorothy, indignantly. "I think that you have a lovely home. I'm sure I'd like to live just the same way, in a beautiful gold house hung on a spring, so that it sways all the time just like a hammock; no lessons to get, and lovely things to eat; there's a big lump of sugar in your cage all the time, and that is just the same as if I had a chocolate drop twice as big as my head to nibble whenever I chose. I've seen them as large as that and always just longed for one. And then there is your seed; that's just the same as nuts—walnuts and pecans—and then there's the little fish, and that's just the same as—as well, we'll call that bread; and then there's always fresh fruit, and water, and a lovely glass bathtub, and a swing where you can swing whenever you wish—oh, I'd just love to live in a place like that—and no lessons at all," she added again.

Pitawitan looked disgusted as well as he could. "Oh, yes, a lovely life!" he exclaimed. "And how would you feel if folk sometimes forgot to give you food all day?"

"But there's the sugar," said Dorothy.

"Well, how would you like to have nothing but chocolate drops to eat for a day at a time, and not a drop of fresh water, when they made you so thirsty that you were fairly choked? And then suppose that when you began calling for some one to bring you food because you were nearly starved, folks would say: 'Do just listen to that dear little bird sing. Isn't he quite the happiest little fellow that you ever saw?' And then when you grow desperate and screech so loud that you nearly split your throat some one says: 'Bless his jolly little heart; hasn't he the most joyous song? But it is just a trifle too shrill. Marry, will you please throw a towel over Pitawitan's cage; he is a little too noisy.' How would you like that?"

Dorothy looked grave. "But, Pitawitan, how are we to know what you are asking for, when we can't understand what you say?"

"Merely by coming to see what I need. But, anyway, how would you like to be shut up in a prison the whole time, even if it were a gold one? It isn't much fun, I can tell you; and I think that you must see me free in your room for a few minutes once in awhile, just to try my wings and get a little exercise."

"Why, I never thought of that!" exclaimed Dorothy. "Never thought of it! When I have coaxed and begged and pleaded on my bended knees! I'm sure—"

"But," interrupted Dorothy, "I never saw you get down on your knees. I didn't know that you had any."

"No?" sneered Pitawitan. "Well, I have, even if you didn't know it. Just because they bend backward instead of forward you didn't give them credit for being knees, but I can assure you—" they are a lot more comfortably arranged that way, and it don't wear off the toes of your new shoes when you kneel down, either."

Poor Dorothy felt discouraged with the conversation and was about to return to her arithmetic, but decided to try once more to turn the talk into pleasanter channels, so she said presently:

"Oh, by the way, Pitawitan, how did you happen to come to this country? You were not born here, were you?"

"No," said Pitawitan. "I came on a nightmare."

"On a what?" exclaimed Dorothy. "On a nightmare. Didn't you ever hear of a nightmare?"

"Why, of course, I've heard of them. But how could you come here on one, when it is only a bad dream?"

"Well, I did, anyway; and I've got it yet. I'll tell you about it."

"I was born on an island far, far away, and for some months I lived very happily with my father and mother and brothers; and in those days I really did sing. One afternoon while I was still quite young my eldest brother found a large piece of rich fruit cake by the roadside and called us all to come and share it. It was the most delicious thing that I had ever eaten, and I am afraid that I made a regular little pig of myself in my greediness. My mother warned me to eat lightly of such rich food, but I would not heed her, even when she said at last:

"If you eat any more of that you will certainly have a nightmare."

"What is a nightmare, mother?" I asked, for I had at that time never heard of one.

"Why, it is a dreadful dream," she answered me. "Perhaps you will dream that wicked men catch you and carry you away, away off, and shut you up in a cage and keep you there, hungry and lonely."

"However, I only laughed and said that I was not afraid of any dream, and went on eating."

"Well, when I awoke in the next that night I had a headache and felt heavy and miserable and wished that I had taken mother's advice."

"During the first part of the night I did not sleep well, and kept waking in a fright, but at last I went to sleep soundly and dreamed this dream:

"I thought that I had slept all night, and when I awoke in the morning the sun was just beginning to show above the horizon. I hopped out of the nest with my little brothers and flew down to the spring for a fresh drink and a bath, and then out to the meadow to pick up a breakfast. As we fluttered about, picking seeds from the grass heads or pecking at strawberries, I flew to a low bush to rest for a moment; but when I would have flown down again I felt my feet held fast by some sticky substance, and I called to my brothers to come quickly and help me. They came at once, but, alas! no sooner did they alight upon the bush than their feet also stuck fast, and, although we fluttered and screamed, it was all to no purpose."

"And then suddenly I saw coming toward us two rough-looking men carrying wooden cages, and I thought at once of what my mother had said would happen if I ate too much of the fruit cake, and I knew that this was a nightmare. I struggled and fluttered and shrieked, in the hope of waking up, but I could not; and one of the cruel men took hold of me roughly, and as he loosened my poor little feet said, carelessly, to his companion:

"We made this birdlime a bit too stiff this time. It is liable to injure their feet! And then he put me into a little wooden cage and did the same to my brothers, although of course I knew that they were not really suffering, since this was only a nightmare of my own; but I screamed and called to them just the same."

"They took us to a town near by, tied many cages together and packed them on a boat which carried us across the water, while I sat quietly in my cage and mourned and longed to wake up."

"Well, when we had reached land once more we were packed on a train—oh, I was so frightened—and brought many, many miles to this great city. I never spoke or cried. I would scarcely eat or drink, I was so weary and lonely, and I was taken to a store where there were many birds of all kinds, and there at last I found my voice again, for we all began to tell each other our troubles and our misery in being kept in cages as prisoners, and our fear of the future, and everyone who came in exclaimed:

"How beautifully and joyously these birds all sing! One would not think that they could be so happy in those tiny cages."

"Then one day your mother came looking for a bird for your birthday gift, and she chose me because of my particularly brilliant color—and—here I am." Pitawitan stopped and stood mournfully on one foot.

Dorothy looked puzzled. "But, Pitawitan, you said it was a dream, a nightmare. When did you wake up?"

"I didn't wake up," said Pitawitan. "But you are not asleep now," argued Dorothy.

"Yes, I am. This is all my nightmare—the cage and you and everything."

"It isn't so!" cried Dorothy. "I am a real girl! I am not just a part of your old dream."

"Yes, you are, too," said Pitawitan, emphatically. "I say you are, and it is only a nightmare, for that is what my mother said, and I guess she knows."

Dorothy jumped up with flashing eyes. "I'm not a dream girl! I don't care what your mother says, I'm just as real as you are, so there!"

Pitawitan's eyes flashed back. "Well, you'll see," he cried, angrily. "You are nothing but a horrid, ugly little dream girl; and just you wait until I wake up. Where will you be then?"

"And then one of them did wake up. I wonder which it was.—Chicago Daily Record.

AFFAIRS AT DULCE. The Fine New School Building on the Jicarilla Reservation is completed.

Colonel N. S. Walpole who is in Santa Fe on court business, reports that the fine new school building at Dulce, on the Jicarilla Apache Indian reservation in Rio Arriba county, is completed. It will not be opened however until a water supply through the new pipe and ditch line from the Navajo river is secured which will not be until the ice disappears from the river, toward the end of next month. The new reservoir holds 3,000,000 gallons and will not only supply the school with water but will also furnish water for the irrigation of several hundred acres of land. The Apaches are making steady progress toward civilization. Their health is good and the death rate among them is low. The school has been built for 150 pupils, but next year a dormitory will probably be built, making room for 225 pupils. There is very deep snow on the western slope of the Continental divide in northern Rio Arriba county, and the Apaches look forward to a prosperous year.

RIO COLORADO IRRIGATION COMPANY. Efforts Made to Interest George J. Gould in the Project—The Fort Garland Santa Fe Cut-Off a Principal Factor.

Norman C. Raff, banker at 63 and 65 Wall St., New York, a cousin of the Reynolds brothers, and for ten years cashier of the First National Bank at Albuquerque, is taking up with George J. Gould personally the Rio Grande Irrigation Company's holdings, these lands lying directly in the way of the new proposed Fort Garland to Santa Fe line of railroad. Questa, Taos county, is the center locally of this rich new empire with Taos an equally important point. It is believed that Mr. Gould can be interested in the project and if he becomes so interested, within a year, northern Taos county will be one of the busiest sections of New Mexico.

FIRE INSURANCE

Is of less importance than "weather insurance." The great majority of buildings never take fire but all buildings are constantly exposed to the assaults of sun and rain, heat and cold. An investment in SHERWIN-WILLIAMS' PAINTS, intelligently applied, is an investment in "Weather Insurance." The money is not spent in vain.
