THE LEASING BILL IS DEAD

Commissioner Binger Hermann Makes Clear to the House Committee on Public Lands the Results of a Lease Law.

LAND FOR SANTA FE CENTRAL

A Bill to Grant the Santa Fe Central Railway Company All Unappropriated and Unsurveyed Government Land on the So-Called Antonio Sandoval Grant.

The house committee on public lands Thursday considered the Bowersock bill, which provides for the leasing for grazing purposes of vacant public domain. Although no action was taken by the committee it was practically decided that the bill will never be reported. The commissioner of the general land office, Binger Hermann, was present and he gave his views on the leasing of public lands. He said such a bill would practically repeal the homestead law, the desert land law and the timber culture law. It would give preference to the large cattle holder and crowd out the smaller growers. The views of the commissioner were practically accepted by the members of the committee.

This action on the Bowersock bill, it was said after the committee meeting, would not necessarily end efforts to bring about legislation for the relief of the stock growers of the West. There are two other grazing bills in the hands of the committee and although both are in a measure similar to the Bowersock bill, they will be duly considered and hearings held. Then too, there may be an attempt on the part of a committee to draw up a bill that will be suitable and stand a chance of passing. It is the general opinion that such a bill ought permanently guarantee the rights of homesteaders in the stock districts. It is not unlikely that Lacey of Iowa, the chairman of the public lands committee will be the framer of such a bill.

Rates of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill granting to the proposed Santa Fe Central railroad and the Albuquerque Eastern railroad all unappropriated and unsurveyed government lands in what has been known as the Antonio Sandoval grant in New Mexico. Mineral lands to be excluded. It is provided that if these companies are granted this land they are to build their system from Santa Fe to Torrance, a distance of 116 miles.

The sundry civil bill as reported to the senate has a provision authorizing the expenditure of $2,400 for a survey of the eastern boundary of the Yellowstone park, and an additional appropriation of $2,000 for repair of the Casa Grande ruins, and leaves undisturbed in the bill as passed by the house several items of considerable importance to Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Idaho and New Mexico.

Senator Hawley, from the committee on military affairs, introduced a bill providing that hereafter when any lands on military reservations are deemed by the secretary of war to be useless for military purposes, with the approval of the president, he shall have power to sell them to the highest bidder for cash at not less than their appraised value, first giving 60 days' notice.

TWO MORE JUDGES FOR OKLAHOMA

The House Passes the Bill After Making Provisions That No Carpet Baggers Be Appointed to the Important Positions Created.

DELEGATE FLYNN DECLARES PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT BELIEVES IN HOME RULE

Washington, April 19.—When the house began its session today the members were gathered in groups discussing the stirring incident of the vote on the Cuban reciprocity bill last night. After a few minutes spent in correcting the record of some excited parliamentary sparring during the reciprocity debate, the house turned to routine business. A resolution was agreed to for the payment of the expenses incident to the McKinley memorial exercises. The bill providing for additional associate justices in Oklahoma was adopted. The provision that the appointees be residents of the territory created a lively discussion, Fleming, Georgia, saying it was designed to prevent "carpet bagging." Delegate Flynn, Oklahoma, declared the fullest confidence that the president would respect the home rule sentiment.

Grosvenor took occasion to talk on the action of the house yesterday on the Cuban reciprocity bill. He said the differential on refined sugar was placed in the Dingley bill against the protest of the sugar trust and at the request of the beet sugar producers. The latter had overstepped themselves in order to accomplish the humiliation of the members. Weeks of Michigan, commented satirically on Grosvenor's recent reference to the young, inexperienced members of the house. Telegrams of congratulations have been pouring in today. Weeks said, from the governor of Michigan and those high in the councils of the Republican party at the success of the movement against the reciprocity bill. With home support behind them, he and his associates did not propose to have the "riot act" read them by the gentleman from Ohio or any other leader.

SENATE. Washington, April 19.—The senate today referred the Cuban reciprocity bill to the committee on relations with Cuba. It also agreed on the conference asked for by the house on the Chinese exclusion bill. Frye, explaining that he felt bound to appoint conferees who would represent the majority sentiment of the senate, named Platt, Connecticut, Dillingham, Vermont, and Clay, Georgia.

Among the bills passed was one granting permission for the erection of a monument or statue at Washington, D. C., in memory of the late Benjamin F. Stephenson, founder of the Grand Army of the Republic.

THE CUBAN RECIPROCITY BILL.

Washington, April 19.—Very high tension was manifest among members of the house today as a result of the action of the house last night in overruling the ways and means committee Cuban reciprocity bill. Chairman Payne took the reverse philosophically and pointed out that the effect of the amendment was to take off not only the differential on sugar, but also the countervailing duty provided by the Dingley law, a result not intended by the author of the amendment. Under the Dingley act an additional, or countervailing duty is levied on sugar coming from countries paying a bounty on sugar, equal to the amount of bounty received.

Morris of Minnesota, who framed the amendment, said he did not think the claim was good, but if it was, the matter could easily be remedied by an amendment. The senate by no means has decided what it will do with the bill. The best opinion is that the bill will remain in the committee on relations with Cuba for some time.

Teller says he will support any action calculated to kill the bill in the senate. Not a few senators predict the bill will be allowed to die in committee.

A STRIKE AT SCHENECTADY.

About 4,000 Employees of the General Electric Company Have Left Work.

Schenectady, N. Y., April 19.—About 1,200 more employees of the General Electric Company left work today. They are members of the Drill Pioneers, Blacksmiths and Armature Winders' Union. A conservative estimate places the number of men now out at 4,800. The shops are practically tied up. Various unions have a strong line of pickets, and have thus far prevented any non-union men from going to work. The officials of the company, however, assert that they will fill the strikers' places in a short time.

A STRIKE IN DENMARK.

Copenhagen, April 19.—The strike of the dock laborers is spreading. Upwards of 8,000 men are now on strike in the various ports of Denmark.

STRIKE DECLARED OFF.

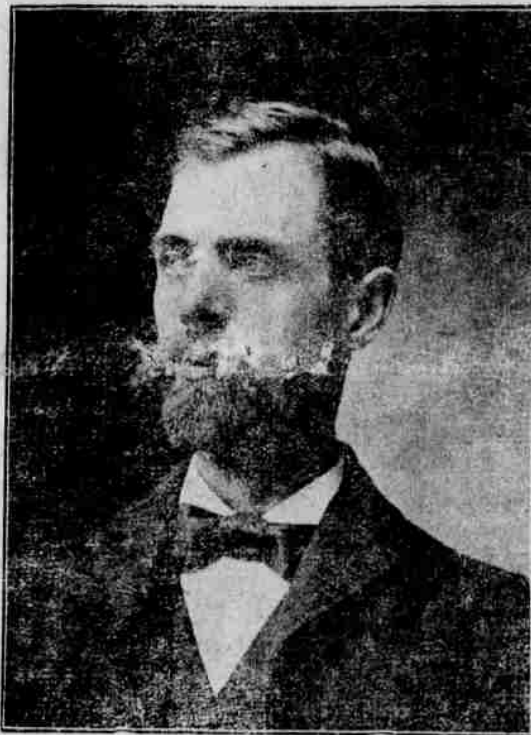

Schenectady, N. Y., April 19.—The strike at the General Electric works was declared off at 2:15 p. m. Before the strike was declared off a large number of employees not affiliated with the unions left their places and the officials of the company said about 8,000 men were out.

STRIKE AT WATERLOO SETTLED.

St. Moines, April 19.—Every striking employee of the Illinois Central railway shops at Waterloo returned to work this morning and no further trouble is anticipated. At a conference, the company accepted a second schedule of wages, prepared by the men. The strikers did not get all they first demanded, but are well satisfied with the concessions.

Editor of the New Mexican:

MEN OF THE HOUR IN NEW MEXICO

FAYETTE A. JONES
Director of the New Mexico School of Mines.

Professor Fayette A. Jones was born August 1, 1859, on a farm 29 miles southwest of Kansas City, Mo. His parents were among the early settlers of that part of the state. His father hailed from the state of New York, going to Missouri in 1847, where he engaged in teaching school in a log school house, now within the limits of Kansas City, later he followed the profession of surveyor. Professor Jones' mother settled in Missouri when a girl, coming from Virginia with her parents in 1844. She was a close relation to the celebrated Lee family of Revolutionary and Civil war fame. The early education of the subject of this sketch was very meager, consisting of what a country school could afford to impart. At the age of 18 he virtually bid adieu to the quiet old farm and began work in a flouring mill at Blue Springs, Missouri, alternately acting as engineer, book-keeper and assistant miller. After about two years from the time of entering the mill, the financial agent of the concern absconded with a large sum of money, which drove Mr. Jones' father to the wall, who was one of the principal owners. Unexpectedly thrown upon his own resources, using the little means earned at milling, he entered the State University of Missouri, spending nearly two years there, paying his way in part by working on the agricultural farm at ten cents per hour. On leaving the University he found employment in surveying about Kansas City. In the fall of 1882, he was married to Miss Agnes Cairns, from which union they are blessed with three children, two boys and one girl, all now attending the New Mexico School of Mines. He was appointed city engineer of Independence, Missouri, in the fall of 1883. On January 1, 1884, he received the appointment of deputy county surveyor, and assistant road and bridge commissioner for Jackson county, which county embraces Kansas City. Serving in the capacity of city engineer, deputy surveyor and assistant road and bridge commissioner for a period of four years he gained the respect and esteem of the public. In the spring of 1889 he was engaged in constructing a street railway in Warrensburg, Missouri. September, 1889, found him engaged in a new role, a student at the State School of Mines at Rolla, Missouri.

After the first year of attendance at this school he was recognized for ability in mathematics and engineering and was employed as assistant professor in those branches. Graduating in June, 1892, winning the degrees of mining engineer and civil engineer, hereafter, he accepted a position with a mining company in Arizona. It was at this place, the Union mine, that he received the distinction of laying the longest pipe line, about 14 miles, in Arizona. During this work he and his party narrowly escaped death at the hands of the Apache Indian, "The Kid." In September, 1893, he was chief of a party surveying a line of railway from Maxwell City, New Mexico, westward up the Cimarron canon to Elizabethtown, over the giddy heights of the Taos pass, through the ancient pueblos of Taos and thence to the valley of the Rio Grande. "It was on the 11th day of September, 1893, that the writer with a sturdy corps of engineers, turned the object glass of his transit westward and gave the preliminary order to advance. The blue outline of mountains about 70 miles distant, marked the greatest elevation of the Rockies in New Mexico. "In the center of grandeur, 'Old Baldy' lifted his head to the clouds at the towering height of 14,176 feet. From Maxwell City to the quiet town of Cimarron stretches a vast plain, through which flows the Vermejo and winds its tortuous way toward the town of Springer. This plain is also traversed by ditches, being improvements of the Maxwell Land Grant Company. The ranges in this section of the country are the best for grazing that can be found in New Mexico. Further west toward the town of Cimarron two other streams flow toward the southeast; they are the Cerecose and the Ponil, not so large as the Vermejo. "About three miles east of the little town of Cimarron our line of survey crossed the famous Santa Fe trail, running from the Raton pass to Fort Union. On the line of this historic trail, there still remained in evidence, broken pieces of wagons, the old rut worn to a deep gully, a disintegrated jaw bone of some faithful ox, all of which reminded us of the hardships of the past. "In setting up my transit by this renowned trail, I was almost overcome with emotion, when I thought of my father who had made the survey of this trail a quarter of a century before, from Fort Leavenworth to Fort Union, for the purpose of checking the distance of freight hauled for the government. "The town of Cimarron is situated just below the mouth of the canon which gave it its name. This point is regarded as a very favorable place for the location of a smelter. To the west and northwest are virgin beds of coal untouched by the hand of commerce. Also the coal fields of Blossburg and Dawson are near at hand, which would furnish fuel for smelting purposes at a nominal price. Cimarron is the only gateway through which the wealth of western Colfax county in its timber and mining product can pass. "With a railway tapping the vast resources of mineral from the mines in the adjacent camps of Baldy, Elizabethtown, Moreno, and Red River, Cimarron would soon take rank with the largest cities of the territory. In passing up the Cimarron canon one is awed with the grandeur of nature. Here tall trees, rushing water and palisades of columnar basalt, rising perpendicularly over a thousand feet, greet the appreciative eye. "About ten miles up from the mouth of the canon, the country opens out in what is known as Ponil Park. This is truly a delightful spot of growing grass and waving pines. Should a railroad ever be built through this section, which there will be before many years, Ponil Park will be an important point in the shipping of ore and lumber. All of the wealth from the mines on the east side of Baldy mountain will be loaded here. "On this side of the mountain is the famous Atzec mine which has produced in ore gold upward of three millions of dollars. "The canon at Ponil Park turns somewhat more to the southwest, though the grade is lighter and the valley broader. "In entering the Moreno valley, the pass is very narrow, with perpendicular walls of porphyry hundreds of feet in height. "This is by far the best place to build a dam for the storage of water of any place in the west. The Moreno valley at one time was a vast lake, about 20 miles north and south, by five miles east and west. "Through the lapse of ages the water has worn through the porphyry and granite at this narrow entrance and drained the lake. "In this valley are, perhaps, the richest and most extensive deposits of placer gold in the United States. The floor of the entire valley is literally

MAXWELL CITY TO EMBUDO

An Account of a Railroad Survey Made Over a Feasible Route in the Year 1893.

F. A. JONES THE SURVEYOR

A Line Up the Moreno Valley and Across the Taos Pass Via Taos to the Rio Grande That Would Not Be Difficult to Construct and That Would Tap a Good Country.

In view of the fact that the Maxwell City, Cimarron, Elizabethtown and Taos Valley Railway Company was recently incorporated to build a railroad from Maxwell City to Taos by way of Elizabethtown and that a railway project to build from Fort Garland, Colorado, to Santa Fe by way of Embudo and Taos is being discussed the following account of a survey over the proposed route, made in 1893, by Professor F. A. Jones, at present director of the New Mexico School of Mines at Socorro, will be of great interest.

"Perhaps no route in New Mexico offers such scenic charms or more enraptures the admirer of nature, than does the trail leading from Maxwell City westward up the Cimarron canon to Elizabethtown, over the giddy heights of the Taos pass, through the ancient pueblos of Taos and thence to the valley of the Rio Grande.

"It was on the 11th day of September, 1893, that the writer with a sturdy corps of engineers, turned the object glass of his transit westward and gave the preliminary order to advance. The blue outline of mountains about 70 miles distant, marked the greatest elevation of the Rockies in New Mexico.

AN ATLANTIC STEAMSHIP TRUST

J. P. Morgan Has Practically Consummated the Plan of Consolidating All the Leading Steamship Lines That Cross the Big Pond.

IT IS A TRIUMPH FOR HIM AS WELL AS FOR THE UNITED STATES

New York, April 19.—J. P. Morgan, who is now abroad, practically consummated a plan to combine all the leading trans-Atlantic steamship lines. London dispatches to the Associated Press announcing the combination were today confirmed at the Morgan banking house. It is yet too early to give the exact scope of the scheme, but as now outlined there will be an American holding company, into which all steamship companies, which propose to enter the combine, will put their stockholdings—pool their issues—in exactly the same way that the various concerns embraced in the United States Steel Corporation threw in their holdings, receiving in return stock in the main or parent company. Just what the capitalization of the company will be is not yet known, but the amount will be well in excess of $150,000,000. George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan and Company, is authority for the statement that American interests will dominate the proposed amalgamation and declares the result will prove not only a great triumph for Mr. Morgan, but will make the United States the real ruler of the merchant marine of the world.

The Hague, April 19.—In consequence of the queen's illness, the birthday of her husband, Prince Henry, passed practically unnoticed today. Telegrams of sympathy for her majesty in her illness are pouring in from all parts of Europe.

BOCAS DEL TORO HAS FALLEN.

There Was No Serious Injury to American Citizens or Interests.

Washington, April 19.—The navy department received the following cablegram from Commander McCrea of the gunboat Machias, dated Colon today: "Bocas del Toro, Colombia, has surrendered. No injury to the American citizens or interests. I am making arrangements to withdraw our forces this evening. I will sail for Aspinwall on Sunday."

strewn with nuggets and gold dust. The truth of this statement is verified in every case where bed rock has been reached. About six miles to the north of the gateway to the Moreno valley is the picturesque camp of Elizabethtown. This town lies in the lap between two mountains: Baldy mountain on the east and the Taos mountains on the west.

"Elizabethtown in the early days was the scene of great mining activity. It is claimed at one time the population reached 5,000. The early mining was mostly that of placer. The Lynch Brothers who have been operating the large hydraulic plant for many years, have amassed a vast fortune. Their access dates back to the early sixties, when a brother, who was afterward killed by a tree falling upon him, purchased the famous Elizabethtown and Red River ditch at receiver's sale, which bankrupted the original owner and builder. This purchase was made for $10,000, and virtually controls the water in the district. The ditch discharges about 4,000,000 gallons every 24 hours, and is over 40 miles in length, and is known as the Lynch ditch.

"Elizabethtown district and the Red River district have many mines and prospects; the value of these districts does not lie wholly in their placer deposits, but in the ledges and veins from whence these placers came.

"A short distance southwest of Elizabethtown stands a mountain of iron, a solid mass of hematite of superior quality and carrying several dollars in gold to the ton.

"Across the range, about ten miles west of Elizabethtown, is the Amizett mining district, which shows many mines of high grade ores, rich in copper, gold, silver and lead.

"From the gateway of the Moreno valley, our projected line of railway reached south and west, crossing the main range at an elevation of exactly 9,000 feet, at a point known as the Taos pass.

"Before proceeding further, it would be of interest, perhaps, to relate briefly a bit of gruesome history. Our camp for many days, when surveying to get across the range, was on the east side of the pass at the foot of the mountain.

"Here were standing an old cabin and an outbuilding which afforded partial protection. It was learned that this building was kept by a man named Kennedy, who pretended to keep a lodging house. After about two years in the lodging house business it was noticed that no person was ever afterward seen or heard of after taking a night's lodging with the landlord. It was also noticed that Kennedy was very attentive to gardening and digested about in his little truck patch.

"Suspicions were aroused by persons acquainted with the surroundings, and a vigilante committee waited on Mr. Kennedy early one morning—he was found afterward by others hanging from the limb of a pine. The garden floor of the entire valley is literally

KILLED BY HIGHWAYMEN

A Number of Young People Returning from a Dancing Party Held Up by Robbers.

THE OUTLAWS OPEN FIRE

The Robbers Fled into a Thicket and Were Not Captured—A Reward is Offered for Their Arrest—Two of the Young Men Were Shot Dead—Negroes Suspected.

Greensburg, Pa., April 19.—While a number of young people were returning from a dancing party early this morning, two masked negro highwaymen held up a couple who were in the lead and at the point of revolvers, overpowered Chas. McQuillis and forced him to turn over his money and watch. Meanwhile, Miss Annie Hill, who was with him, ran back and notified the others, who hurried to the rescue. The highwaymen immediately opened fire, and Alexander McNaught and Frank McQuillis were shot dead. The robbers fled into a thicket and were not captured. A reward of $500 is offered. Officers are searching the country. It is believed they were miners at the Jamison coal works, where scores of negroes are employed.

THE MURDERER OF NORA FULLER.

C. B. Hadley, an Accountant in the San Francisco Examiner Office, is the Guilty Man.

San Francisco, April 19.—Chief of Police Wittman officially announced today that the murderer of Nora Fuller was C. B. Hadley, for 14 years accountant in the business office of the Examiner. On January 16, the disappearance of Nora Fuller was announced and C. B. Hadley disappeared and has not been seen since. Theodore Kylika, a handwriting expert, declares that the man who wrote the name Chas. B. Hawkins to the advertisement luring Nora Fuller to her death was C. B. Hadley. He compared the handwritings and declares they are identical. So hurriedly had Hadley left his lodgings and fled that he did not even go to the bank to draw his money, a considerable sum of which he had on deposit. Nora Fuller, a 18-year-old girl, left her home on January 16, in answer to an advertisement for a nurse girl. No trace of her was found until a month later, when her nude body was found in a vacant house on Sutter street. The girl had been murdered.

out a femur bone, where it had been exposed by a wash in the garden soil. There is scarcely a doubt that this gruesome relic of the survey, was a bone of one of the unfortunate victims. Dr. J. J. Shuler of Raton has this bone.

"The grade in going down the mountain on the Taos side is gradual and easy. "The Taos valley is the most beautiful part of New Mexico. The soil is fertile, producing wheat, rye, corn, alfalfa, vegetables and fruits of all kinds. This valley was formerly the Egypt of New Mexico; it was the Mecca to which the whole southwest journeyed as Benjamin of old to buy corn in years of drouth and famine.

"It is not at all surprising that the Pueblo Indians located in this beautiful valley. Every stream on this side of the range is sparkling with abundance of water.

"The old town of Taos is practically today as it was centuries ago; to see the inhabitants toiling in the gardens and fields, carries us back to the time of Moses, as did the children toil upon the plains of Shinar.

"Some very old ruins presumably Pueblos, are to be seen to the right when nearing the main town. There are no legends as by whom these ruins were inhabited.

"An interesting feature is one of the old churches of the Pueblo Indians at Taos. It appears that these Indians rebelled against the United States government once and but only once, in the latter part of the fifteenth, and took refuge in this old church. Whereupon General Sterling Price bombarded them with cannon from a distant point, until the Indians hoisted a flag of truce from the top of the old church. The effect of that bombardment was in evidence at the time of the survey in 1893; the holes made by the shells were never repaired.

"The writer shall never forget the time when the corps of surveyors entered the suburbs of the town. They were met by all the prominent people of Taos, with music, song and general welcome. We were feasted and toasted, given receptions or entertainments every night while there. This act of appreciation in welcoming us into their homes and places of amusements, was entirely due to the native people of Taos, for there was but one American family living there at that time. It is in one of the cemeteries of Taos, where lies all that is mortal of America's greatest hunter, trapper, scout and guide, Kit Carson.

"From Taos the line of survey ran in a southwesterly course down the boxed canon of the Taos river, to the Rio Grande.

"A line of railway built over this route would open up the garden spots and store-houses of New Mexico's choicest possessions.

"The entire line could be constructed at comparatively small cost, and on a grade not to exceed two and one-half per cent."

SATURDAY, APRIL 19.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 37th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

The typewriter is mightier than the sword these days.

Pinch-back political influence is getting to be below par in territorial politics.

Despite some of the speeches in the senate and house of representatives, it may be safely assumed that the people of this country are pretty well united.

Judging by recent appointments made by President Roosevelt it can be noticed that "these newspaper men" and "them literary fellows" seem to stand together.

Senator Depew, in congress or out of congress, has the courage of his convictions. His career, political and financial, shows that it pays a man to be plucky and nifty.

Anti-railroad yelling and anti-corporation hooting are not so very profitable from a financial and political standpoint these days. The people are getting to know too much.

Many tax payers of this city are of the opinion that the city government can do without a city attorney; also that the salary of the city marshal can be reduced and that with no detriment to the best interests of the town.

The chances for the Hon. William E. Mason to be re-elected United States senator from Illinois are brightening. The Chicago papers no longer talk about Billy Mason's efforts to be re-elected; they now call it the political campaign of the Hon. William E. Mason.

The ship subsidy bill, now pending in the house of representatives, should be passed by that body and should become law. American ships sailing under the American flag upon every ocean and manned by American sailors are not only wanted, but are greatly needed by this country.

Within the past ten days several generals, a whole lot of commissioned officers and about a thousand riflemen and bolomen have surrendered to the American military authorities in the Island of Samar. This is the sort of news that is pleasing to the people of this country.

The British empire is compelled to make a change in its financial policy and free trade as expounded and understood by Cobden will soon be a thing of the past in British financial affairs. Conditions change rapidly in the 20th century and theories and policies of governments must follow suit.

Eugene F. Ware of Kansas, who is to be pension commissioner, is something of a poet, but as he is a very good man all around it is to be hoped that this will not be counted against him; in addition, his poetry is rather of a good quality. At any rate, give him a chance.

The Chinese minister to this country, Minister Wu, can take it out in talking, but the Chinese exclusion law must be passed by the present congress and that right speedily. The United States can do very well without Chinese immigration and the people by a very great majority demand the passage of the Chinese exclusion act.

The pro-boers in this country charge that American provision merchants, the farmers and the mule breeders are being corrupted by British gold. This charge does not seem to stem the tide. Bring on your corruption fund; the more of it the better, say the merchants, the farmers and the mule breeders of the United States.

Men like Fielder of Silver City, and Dr. Pierce of Albuquerque, are leaving the Democratic party in this territory and are joining the Republican ranks. It is evident that Republican principles are strong and are attracting thoughtful men. With a united front and good nominations, the Republicans will score a great victory in New Mexico in this fall's campaign.

It seems that some Boston merchants are fighting the admission of the territory of New Mexico into the sisterhood of states because they have a great grievance against the people of New Mexico. Some of them bought mining stock at a cent a share and expected they could sell the same stock within a year at $10 per share. This not happening they naturally felt greatly aggrieved. It must be said that they have some cause for this sentiment. The man who buys New Mexico mining stock at a cent a share and expects to sell it at $10 per share within a year and finds he cannot do so is, of course, disappointed and greatly so.

The Kansas congressional delegation had recommended ex-Congressman Blue for pension commissioner, but the president chose Eugene F. Ware of that state for the position. It was but natural that the Kansas congressional delegation for a day or two should feel blue over the matter, but as the state got its share taken, the delegation after all had not so very much to be blue about.

Sergeant Otto F. Menger, who was appointed postmaster at Clayton, Union county, a few days ago by President Roosevelt, served gallantly in the Rough Rider Regiment, during the Spanish-American war and made an excellent record as a soldier and as a man. He was severely wounded in the fight at Las Quasimas. In addition he bears the reputation of being a good citizen. The appointment is all right.

Assessors should see to it that every person owning any and all classes of taxable property should file a tax return on or before the 30th of April. If such return is not filed by that date, it is the duty of the assessor to make assessments, adding a penalty of 25 per cent thereto. If the assessors do their duty energetically, carefully and honestly and carry out the provisions of the law the assessment rolls for the present year will show a decided increase.

They do not mince political matters in Arkansas. It seems that Governor Jeff Davis, during the recent senatorial campaign in that state, caught one of his alleged friends carrying political water on both shoulders and after the primaries he addressed this alleged friend a letter in which the following sentence appeared: "I knew you were never my friend, although you pretended to be. I could see it from your sneaky eyes on the bench, and felt it in the clanny clasp of your Cassius-like hand." Governor Jeff Davis evidently is not easily fooled.

There are some very interesting ancient documents in the archives in this territory that should be put in good shape and prepared for exhibition at the St. Louis World's Fair. Some of these documents are in the territorial library and some in the secretary's office. Many of the papers are 200 years old. The next legislative assembly should make provision for such an exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. It would prove highly interesting to thousands and thousands of people, who will visit that great exposition.

The farmers in southwestern Colorado are raising sugar beets extensively, but they do not long especially for a beet sugar factory. They assert that it pays better to feed sugar beets to cattle and thus fatten them for market, than to sell the beets to a sugar factory. It is the belief that the cattle will sooner or later be crowded from the public range and that the future supply of beef for the United States must come from the alfalfa and sugar beet fields of the southwest. As Santa Fe and San Juan counties in New Mexico are sugar beet and alfalfa sections par excellence, the industry of feeding cattle for market will some day become a big money maker in this part of the territory.

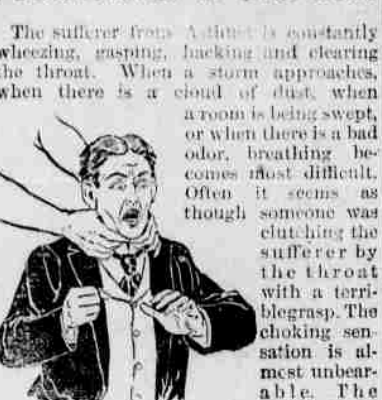

In the town elections, during the present week in Illinois, there was much disorder and in some towns there were furious riots. The question at stake in nearly all of them was license or anti-license. This bad condition of affairs in Illinois attracts no attention because Illinois is a sovereign state and the people know how to govern themselves. In New Mexico elections are peaceable, orderly and no man's right of franchise is abridged or curtailed in any way. In the city and town elections in this territory on the first Tuesday of this month everything passed off orderly and quietly. The elections were honestly conducted and the votes were fairly counted. Defeated candidates even have made no charges of dishonesty, unfairness or corruption at the polls. Still there are many eastern newspapers, senators and members of congress, who declare and assert that the people of New Mexico are unfitted for statehood.

The New Mexico School of Mines is daily demonstrating its worth to the territory. Under the directorship of Professor F. A. Jones it has achieved a standing the equal of any school of mines in the west. It offers to the young men of New Mexico a thorough and practical training for mining and civil engineering and also provides shorter courses for those desiring to become metallurgists and assayers. Besides fitting young men for these callings, the school also carries on researches along original lines and is doing much toward securing and spreading a better knowledge of the geological formations of the territory and the mineral wealth to be found in the different mining districts. Its complete metallurgical and assaying apparatus enables the school to make accurate assays of all kinds of minerals submitted to it and all in all it has become an important factor in the development of the mineral riches of the territory.

THE DEAREST SPOT.
That Prince Henry of Prussia liked the United States is very evident. In an address he recently made before the East Asiatic Association at Hamburg, he said: "This is a most welcome opportunity to look back for a few moments to the days I spent in the United States. I found in that country, not only what is called on the other side of the Atlantic a dollar hunting nation, but a nation striving with all its energy to secure pure and ideal possessions. There exists in the United States an intellectual and pleasant family life, and no better life of the kind can be found in this country. Where this life does not exist, every effort is being made to attain it. I can only recollect with a grateful heart the days when I was a guest of the great nation which endeavored to lighten every hour of my stay."

When it is remembered that Germany is the home-making, home-loving nation

Asthma's Clutch

The sufferer from asthma is constantly wheezing, gasping, hacking and clearing the throat. When a storm approaches, when there is a cloud of dust, when a room is being swept, or when there is a bad odor, breathing becomes almost impossible. Often it seems as though someone was clutching the sufferer by the throat with a terrible grasp. The choking sensation is almost unbearable. The troubles sometimes hang on for many days. There is only one thing to do, and that is take Acker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. Just what this medicine accomplishes is shown by the following letter from Mr. N. H. Andrews, a prominent resident of Springfield, Ohio, who writes:—

"W. H. Hooker & Co., New York:—Gentlemen,—It affords me a great pleasure to assure you that I have received both immediate and permanent relief from throat, bronchial and asthmatic troubles by using Acker's English Remedy, taken strictly according to directions. It is a blessing to humanity."
Sold at 5c, 10c and 25c bottles, throughout the United States and Canada. It is sold in England at 2s. 6d. and 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist and get your money back.

I have used one bottle of Wine of Cardui and one package of Thedford's Black-Draught. Before I began to take your medicines I had pains in my back, hips, lower bowels and my arms. Sometimes I thought I would go blind. My head ached and I was so weak I could hardly walk across the door. Now I can only feel a little of the pain in my side and I am going to take your medicines until I get cured, for I believe they will certainly cure me. I have been married twelve years and am the mother of seven children. I thank you for your wonderful medicine and what it has done for me.

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year. The poor powder would cause doctors' bills many times this.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the most economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and insures perfect, wholesome food.

Used always in making the biscuit and cake it saves both health and money. Made from pure, grape cream of tartar, most healthful of fruit acids.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO., CHICAGO.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade baking powders. They are mostly, in spite of the pure food laws, made from alum, which endangers the health. All physicians will tell you that such powders in food are injurious.

PIMPLES

We talk about them for their removal.

We talk about them at this time more than we do at any other because, for various reasons, they are more common in the Spring than in other seasons.

You can get rid of them, but you must cleanse your system, thoroughly.

You can't get rid of them any other way.

Hood's Sarsaparilla thoroughly cleanses the system, cures pimples and all other eruptions, makes the complexion clear and wholesome, corrects all run-down Spring conditions, and builds up the whole system.

"My sister and I have been in the habit of taking Hood's Sarsaparilla in the Spring and we find it works wonders. It relieves that tired feeling, purifies the blood, clears the complexion and makes us feel better in every way. I believe it to be a duty to speak in praise of so beneficial a remedy." Emma Rempp, 509 East Espenschild St., South St. Louis, Mo.

Accept No Substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla.
