THE ISTHMIAN CANAL BILL

The House is Disposed to Hurry Final Action on the Measure as Amended by the Senate.

THE PHILIPPINE CIVIL BILL

Jones of Virginia Made a Characteristic Speech Against the Measure—The Military Academy Bill is Finally Disposed of But the Sundry Civil Bill Still Hangs Fire.

SENATE.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—The senate today decided by the senate today that when it adjourned it will be until Monday next. A partial conference report on the sundry civil service bill was presented by Allison and was agreed to. The senate insisted upon its amendments and is still in disagreement. It has named conferees. The senate has agreed to the conference report on the military academy bill, thus finally disposing of that measure. At 1 o'clock the senate went into executive session. The nomination of General Crozier to be chief of ordnance was confirmed.

At 3:10 the senate adjourned. THE ISTHMIAN CANAL BILL. Washington, June 20.—The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today decided to recommend the isthmian canal bill, which passed the senate yesterday, to go to conference without the preliminary of a further reference to committee or the consideration of the house. If this recommendation is approved by the house, the future struggle over the canal bill will be in conference.

HOUSE.

Washington, June 20.—The consideration of the Philippine civil government bill was resumed in the house today. Jones of Virginia, resumed his speech. He declared it would be better for the Filipino people to live under the present hybrid rule, than have imposed upon them the civil government proposed by the pending measure, which would enable that civil government to dispose of all the valuable franchises of these islands, strip the forests of their timber and sell all the agricultural lands to corporations and syndicates.

The house non-concurred in the senate amendment to the Nicaragua canal bill and agreed to the conference asked for by the senate.

Messrs. Hepburn, Fletcher and Davey were appointed conferees on behalf of the house.

HANNA AND BURTON CONFER.

The latter changes his determination and will remain a candidate for congress.

Washington, D. C., June 20.—Senator Hanna and Representative Burton and Dick held a conference this afternoon over the controversy of Burton's accepting the nomination from the Cleveland district. After the conference it was stated that a satisfactory adjustment had been assured and Burton would remain a candidate. Although another conference is to be held, it is expected that the basis of settlement will be that the county committee will conduct the county campaign and that Burton will organize a congressional committee to conduct his campaign.

D., that the Vatican accepts the proposition of Judge Taft, governor of the Philippines, regarding the disposition of the friars' lands, on all the main points, but dissents on minor points. An official document is being prepared by the Vatican and will be delivered to Taft today.

NEW MEXICO CLIMATE WORKS MIRACLES

Two Instances Given by Chicago Record. Herald of Two Prominent New Mexico Men Cured of Consumption After Cases Were Declared Hopeless.

THE CASES OF R. W. TANSILL AND OF GEORGE WARDMAN

In illustration of the effects of New Mexico's climate, says the Chicago Record-Herald, two remarkable cures have been effected recently at Carlsbad which are worthy of mention. They were remarkable not on account of the prominence of the patients, but because of the distressing condition they were in when they arrived at Carlsbad, and the apparent hopelessness of their cases. One of the patients was George Wardman, former editor and proprietor of the Pittsburgh Dispatch. He was lifted from the cars when he arrived at Carlsbad four years ago. His voice and his strength were gone. He personally believed that he had come to Carlsbad too late, but his recovery began on the first day of his arrival, and today he is a well man. He drives and looks after a fine estate he purchased in Carlsbad and has a renewed interest in life. He spends certain months of the year traveling, but makes his permanent home in the atmosphere of New Mexico. He has many years of life before him.

The other patient was R. W. Tansill of Chicago. He arrived in the Pecos valley in September, 1888, after having tried all the health resorts in the world. His friends and physicians regarded his illness as fatal. He pitched his tent on the Pecos river on the present site of Carlsbad. It was a prairie then, inhabited only by prairie dogs and jack rabbits, and 90 miles from the nearest railroad. Mr. Tansill recovered. He has improved year by year. He has seen the prairies transformed into a garden of fruits and flowers. Avenues of trees have taken the place of sand dunes and water is freely distributed everywhere. One of the largest irrigation systems in America has been established and perfected there.

It is Mr. Tansill who has recently purchased what was known as "The Heights," an extensive estate on which J. J. Hagerman expended $250,000 in improvements, drives, buildings and artificial lakes and the like.

The estate comprises more than 1,000 acres. It is now the purpose of Mr. Tansill to dedicate this property to the establishment of a sanitarium for the treatment of those afflicted with tuberculosis, consumption and kindred diseases. It is not a money-making venture. The sanitarium is being established to give others the relief given the two cases cited here out of hundreds. The marked success of the government sanitarium at Fort Stanton has had much to do with determining the location of the new sanitarium at Carlsbad. It is now definitely settled that the pure air of New Mexico will cure consumption. The site for the Carlsbad sanitarium is a superb one. The summit is approached by a long avenue of trees, whose over-arching branches make the driveway cool and shaded all hours of the day. From the summit a grand view is had of the Pecos valley north and south, with its groves of cottonwood and green alfalfa fields. Winding through these fields is the Pecos river, rolling southward toward the sea. To the west as far as the eye can see stretch the Guadalupe mountains, and beyond them the pine-clad Sacramento.

To the east beyond a low range of hills are the limitless Staked Plains, the "llano estacado" of the Mexicans, over whose expanse 40 years ago roamed countless thousands of buffaloes and antelope. Soft winds constantly play over the summit, bringing with them the ozone from the mountains fragrant with the scent of the pine and hemlock. The sanitarium promises to be from every point of view one of the most attractive health spots in the world, and it is a question if the pure air of New Mexico found there is not the most beneficial for consumptives to be discovered anywhere. To the enterprise of Mr. Tansill is bending all his energy, hoping that when the sanitarium is established it will rescue many from the grip of the dread disease.

THE COTTON BALE TRUST WINS.

The Texas Supreme Court Hands Down a Decision in Its Favor.

Austin, Texas, June 20.—The supreme court has decided in favor of the shippers in the compress case against the state. The decision is based on the fact of the court holding that competition had not been destroyed, because there was none in the first instance. As to the constitutionality of the anti-trust law, the court held that the state may annul the charters under it, but that it can not collect any penalties.

BRITISH NAVY CRITICIZED.

Rear Admiral Beresford Declares That the Whole British Naval System is Rotten.

London, June 20.—During the discussion of the navy estimates in the house of commons today, Rear Admiral Beresford, a conservative, scathingly criticized the deficiencies of the navy. He declared the whole admiralty system rotten and led to great extravagance and that there is a general want of efficiency in the navy, on which depended the existence of the empire.

PROGRESS IN LAS CRUCES

The Great Benefit That the Agricultural College at Mesilla Park is to the Town.

SIGNS OF AN AWAKENING

Despite Some Opposition Las Cruces Will Probably Soon Be Incorporated as a City—A Boulevard is Planned from Las Cruces to Mesilla Park Which Will Be Lined With Handsome Residences.

Special Correspondence New Mexican. Las Cruces, N. M., June 19, 1902. A line from this end of the territory will not probably prove amiss. The first part of the year having now practically passed into eternity, one's thoughts naturally turn upon what has been accomplished. The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts has closed its first term. It has been a most successful one. The number of pupils has been larger than ever, and the institution has materially increased in reputation and prestige. There can be no doubt but that it will continue to gain in name and reputation and that it will in a short time be recognized as the great educational institution of all this section of country, drawing liberally from the ranks of the people of not only Southern New Mexico, but also from Mexico and Texas. The college has the great advantage of being thoroughly well equipped with all appliances for teaching, and its endowment funds are so liberal that the management has secured the best educational talent to be had anywhere. The college has had a decided effect in elevating the general tone of society in this county, and it may be confidently anticipated that in time no more refined and cultured class of people will be found anywhere. A move is on foot to construct a new boulevard between this town (Las Cruces) and the college. At present there are two roads to the college from this point, known respectively as the upper and lower roads. They are both circuitous and more or less sandy. The present movement contemplates a straight road through one of the prettiest parts of the valley. It is anticipated that upon the construction of this boulevard, the lands upon each side of the same will be cut up into small tracts, upon which many of the professors in the college and others whose interests are connected with the institution will build elegant and refined homes. By this means the college will become an integral part of this town and cast its influence over the local affairs of the latter place. It is needed.

Another movement that promises good results for this place is the effort now being made to incorporate the place under the general laws of the territory. This movement bids well to succeed, but it is not without opposition. Strange to say the businessmen and property owning inhabitants of the town, the people who will pay the taxes and shoulder the burden of maintaining the municipality, are almost unanimously in favor of incorporating, while the people who pay nothing and who profit directly by the work in the way of street cleaning and municipal improvements are quite sure that they do not want any incorporation. The explanation of the matter is simply this: That some of the retail liquor dealers are afraid that the municipality will curtail their present privileges as to selling liquor on Sunday and perhaps place other restrictive burdens upon their business. Their position is quite intelligible. As to others it seems clear that the matter of the incorporation has been misrepresented to them and they have become confused. However, there is every reason to believe that those who are in favor of this progressive step, those who believe in clean streets, uniform sidewalks, and all the advantages that go with a modern American town will triumph in the contest. The decision is to be rendered by the board of county commissioners at their July meeting.

The Rio Grande is again dry. It is clear that this condition is to be anticipated now each year about this time. Why? is not so clear. There are two theories: First, that our friends in Colorado are appropriating the water, and second, that there is a diminished rain and snowfall in the north. I have no answer for the question. However, it is clear that this emergency must be met by the use of pumps until such time as some one, Uncle Sam or a private company, shall build a storage reservoir. The college authorities are now experimenting as to the subject of the use of pumps, and their bulletin is awaited with great interest, not only by the people of this valley, but by the people of the Rio Grande valley generally. As it is, there has been no loss as yet in this valley on account of the lack of water. The first cutting of alfalfa has been made, and the second cutting is assured; if there shall be any rains during the next three or four weeks, enough to give one more irrigation, there will be a third cutting and perhaps a fourth cutting. So far, not fewer than 2,000 tons of alfalfa have been shipped out of the valley from this and neighboring points. This has brought not less than $15,000 into the valley from outside sources, and the money has been distributed where it will do many people some good. It is now generally recognized that alfalfa is the money-making crop of the valley, and more and more land is being planted with it each year. It is safe to say that the area in alfalfa has been doubled within the past four years.

Wheat is now being cut and gathered.

Las Cruces had a jail delivery last week; four prisoners escaped, only one of whom was recaptured; the other three made good their escape into Mexico.

The usual exodus to the mountains and seacoast is now taking place with the advent of warm weather. In late years the beach at Santa Monica and San Diego and other places in Southern California have become quite popular in this section. The railroads have adopted a cheap rate, comparatively, and thus put a trip to the coast within the reach of nearly every one.

The political pot has already commenced to simmer. Dame Rumor has it that Hon. Martin Lohman would like to go to the next council. He would make a splendid representative, bringing to the performance of his legislative duties his ripe judgment and methodical business training. The many friends of his brother Oscar, who now holds the office of treasurer and collector, would like to see him in the sheriff's office. Mr. Lucero, the present sheriff, is credited with the desire to be the next treasurer and collector of the county. Should he desire a re-nomination for his present position he can easily command it. Judge A. B. Fall has moved back into the territory (if he ever left it) and will be somewhat of a factor in its politics. Persons who ought to know say that the judge has washed his hands of the Democratic party and will henceforth affiliate with his old opponents.

The commencement exercises at the convent school of the Sisters of Loretto take place this evening. These devoted Sisters maintain a splendid school, which is liberally patronized. Among the visitors here to witness the exercises are Consul Mallen and General Hernandez. The writer had the pleasure of meeting the latter some twenty years ago. At that time (the writer) was a reporter upon an El Paso paper. General Hernandez was raiding back and forth across the line between Mexico and the United States, and both governments mobilized a considerable number of troops along the border to head the wily Red off. General McKenzie, who did a good many years ago, was in command of the American troops and stationed at Old Fort Bliss, and General Hernandez was in command of the Mexican quota, being stationed for a part of the time at Juarez, Mexico. The writer was directed to interview both generals on the subject of the agreement, as reported, that the troops of each nation might cross the international line into the territory of the other in pursuit of the raiders. He called upon both of the generals, was politely received, and got information enough to make a readable article. It might be added that it was under the agreement above mentioned that General Crook afterwards followed the Indians into the heart of the Sierra Madre and brought them out again, whence they were shipped to Florida.

The dead are Conductor Noble; Fireman George Rasmussen; Engineer Walter Scott; Baggageman Moeller; and an unknown tramp. Harry Ziegler of Hammond, Ind., was among passengers injured. ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING.

A Sensational Story Comes From Nogai, Lincoln County.—Hurst and Wife Arrested. R. L. Hurst and his wife Leona Hurst were arrested at Nogai and had a hearing before Justice of the Peace George E. Sligh on Tuesday on the charge of kidnaping and abducting two young girls, the daughters of Miles May and J. F. Dalton. The girls were found in Hurst's cellar and were detained there against their will. It is alleged, for immoral purposes. Neither of the girls is over 15 years of age. In default of bail Hurst and wife were sent to the Lincoln county jail. The pair came to Lincoln county two years ago from Oklahoma.

A BLOW FOR ALAMOGORDO.

The El Paso and Rock Island Railway Shops of That Town Have Closed Down.

The El Paso and Rock Island railway shops at Alamogordo were closed down this week until July 1 and 200 men were thrown out of employment. Many of the men are leaving the city as they can secure steady employment elsewhere. A small force of men will remain at work for emergency purposes.

Wool in Storage. The Bibb Mercantile company, of Laguna, Bernalillo county, has about 350,000 pounds of the spring clip wool stored in its warehouses.

The crop is an average one. Vegetables have been plentiful. There will be plenty of fruit.

This is the place for the industrious and thrifty farmer; only half a crop, of which he is always assured, will in a few years make him rich; the reason is that there is a steady and strong demand at big prices for all he raises, not only in the growing city of El Paso, which lies so near, but in all the mining camps in the surrounding mountains.

Las Cruces had a jail delivery last week; four prisoners escaped, only one of whom was recaptured; the other three made good their escape into Mexico.

The state engineers for Colorado, Nebraska and Utah are preparing to make a demand for their share of the $2,000,000 appropriated by the irrigation bill. As the sum is so small it has been intimated that certain western states will have to unite in making their demands if they wish to secure enough of the money to accomplish any good results.

It is possible that the three states named may unite in making a request for enough money to make the preliminary survey for establishing an interstate irrigating system. State Engineer Dobson of Nebraska, called on State Engineer McCune of Colorado at Denver this week and discussed the matter with him. He also desired to secure information concerning Colorado's irrigation laws, in order that the work might be done as harmoniously as possible.

Mr. McCune says that the petition for the appropriation already has been filed in Washington and he has been assured it will be acted upon favorably. The money is apportioned by the secretary of the interior and is secured from the sale of public lands in the arid states of the west. It is not equally divided, but is given out by the secretary of the interior as he sees fit. Therefore it will be necessary to use all the influence possible and make proper representation in order that New Mexico may secure its share.

COAL OUTPUT RESTRICTED

Bituminous Coal Miners of Northern and Central Pennsylvania Are to Work Only Four Days a Week.

THE SILK MILL STRIKERS

A Number of the Silk Mills at Paterson Resumed Operations This Morning With Policemen, Firemen or Deputy Sheriff on Guard—The Employees of the Mills Have Been Armed.

Clearfield, Pa., June 20.—Patrick Gilday, president of the district miners' union, issued an official order today, reciting that bituminous coal is being shipped to points east, which will aid in breaking the strike in the anthracite region. In order to prevent this, it is ordered that the output of northern and central Pennsylvania be restricted and the miners are notified not to work more than four days a week.

THE STRIKERS LOSING GROUND. Paterson, N. J., June 20.—A number of silk mills opened this morning with policemen, firemen or deputy sheriffs on guard. The crowds at the plants dispersed promptly. Two dye houses were also opened with non-union dyers' helpers. The employees of the mills are armed.

THE IRRIGATION BILL.

Several States Going to Work to Secure Part of the Reclamation Fund.

Speaker Henderson has signed the irrigation bill and presented the pen with which he signed it to Representative Mondell, who expects also to receive the pen President Roosevelt used in signing the act. Both pens will be presented to the Wyoming state historical society, which has a collection of historical articles in the state capital.

F. A. Newell, of the geological survey, will spend part of the summer in the west, making a preliminary examination of reservoir sites which may be selected under the new irrigation act.

A FREIGHT WRECK ON THE SANTA FE

A Cloudburst at Naravisa That Tore Out Rock Island Bridges and Considerable Track But Failed to Do Any Other Damage.

THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT THE LORETTO ACADEMY AT LAS VEGAS

Special Correspondence New Mexican. Las Vegas, N. M., June 19, 1902.

Juan Bruno is on today's sick list. Miss Bertha Chapman of Oakland, Calif., is here visiting her brother, J. N. Furlong.

Died, at the Asylum, yesterday, Mrs. Manuelita Baca de Stockton, wife of a prominent stockman at Belen, Valencia county. The deceased had only been here a few days, and was very ill when she came.

Engine 1080 that was in the wreck at Sands, had to be sent to the Raton shops today for repairs.

William Frank went to Santa Fe this afternoon to meet his brother who has been at school at St. Michael's college there.

The diamond drill for the El Porvenir Coal Company has arrived and will be put to work on the mines at once.

The Santa Fe had a little smash up this morning about 9:30, freight No. 95 getting three cars of ore in the ditch at Dillon. A journal on one of the 18 cars loaded with ore broke, and played havoc with things in general. Engineer Hawksworth was at the throttle and Conductor Thomas in charge. The wrecker was sent up from here to clear up the track immediately upon receipt of the news.

Paulin Crespin, the young man injured in Colorado about two weeks ago by falling from a work train on which he was working, died this morning at his home in Upper Town. He was 24 years of age, and the funeral will be held tomorrow.

Captain J. G. Clancey, the owner of the big Alamogordo ranch near Puerto de Luna, left this morning for his ranch after a couple of days in town.

Mrs. E. V. Long left today for Raton where she goes as the delegate from here to the Epworth League convention. Her husband will leave tomorrow for Denver.

In the divorce suit of Vicente Martinez against his wife, Josefa Padilla, the wife has filed a reply saying that her husband is trying to get away with her property and that he has done nothing to support her and the family of six children since 1899, and as she is poor, she asks that the court make her husband pay her attorney's fees in the suit.

The people always look for something particularly fine when the Sisters of Loretto give any kind of an entertainment, but last night's closing exercises of the academy surpassed anything of the kind given in a long while. The program was a long one, and of particular merit all the way through. It consisted of good music, both vocal and instrumental, and "The Heir of Rockford," a laughable little play, was presented by the pupils of the academy. Their acting was good, and was really a very enjoyable affair. Rev. Paul Gilbertson conferred the honors on the five graduates of the grammar department, and also awarded the gold medals given for good attendance, record, etc. After the concert, ice cream and cake were served to the large crowd present, and dancing was enjoyed after the refreshments were cleared away. The remembrances of the evening will be most pleasant to those who availed themselves of the opportunity of being present.

The city engineer gave the grade for a sidewalk on 4th and 5th street today for the laying of a sidewalk to the new high school building.

The superintendent of the Chilocco government Indian school in the Indian Territory, has written here for a date for a ball game. The superintendent is headed for California with a bunch of his Indians and they want to stop here and give the local team a whirl. The team cannot play here on any day except Sunday, and the baseball park seemingly cannot be procured for any Sunday games, despite the fact that the money with which the accommodations were erected on the grounds, was largely raised by subscription around town, so the offer of a game will most probably have to be turned down.

FRIDAY, JUNE 29.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 57th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

Eugene F. Ware, the new pension commissioner, is wearing right well in his office.

The voters of New Mexico must not forget on election day this fall that one of the fruits of Republican victories then and there will be statehood in 1903.

The governors of the southern states are very prompt and active in calling out troops after lynchings. They always make a show at closing the stable door after the horse is stolen.

President Roosevelt has signed the Hansbrough-Newlands irrigation bill and history will on that account call President Roosevelt's administration the greatest since the administration of President Lincoln.

It seems that some free trade money was spent in Cuba to make Cuban reciprocity sentiment. It is therefore not to be wondered at that there is a considerable fight over the Cuban reciprocity question in congress.

The king of Italy has invested several hundreds of thousands of dollars in coal lands in this country. The young man is level headed and knows that good coal properties in the United States are very valuable and will be more so in the future.

Among the Boers that are surrendering are many boys of 11, 12 and 13 years of age. General De Wet says these boys made excellent soldiers and are good shots. There is good stuff in them and therefore they ought to make good farmers and citizens now.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat evidently signs the pass situation in Missouri rightly when it says: "The man who gives out the pass has a successor. Long live the man with the pass!" In New Mexico it is about the same thing. Long live the man with the pass!

Secretary of the Navy Moody is shaking things up right lively in the navy department and that in the right direction. Some of the officers who have been for years enjoying soft snaps in Washington have been ordered to sea and to active duty. Turn about is fair play thinks Secretary Moody and he is right.

The British authorities are not wasting any time in the Transvaal and Orange River Colonies recently acquired by them. The tax on the gold mines of the Rand has been doubled. This may be severe on the owners of these mines, but will prove a pretty good thing for the British government and for British tax payers generally.

There are indications that Tom Johnson of Cleveland, Ohio, is rapidly growing to be the biggest man in the Democratic party and that he will be that party's nominee for the presidency in 1904. While Mr. Johnson has no earthly chance of being elected he is undoubtedly the man who will poll the most votes for the Democratic party should he be nominated.

In the very nature of things there must be factions in political parties in this country. But when a faction is small and consists of nothing but a few disappointed officeholders and snide reformers, it cannot do any appreciable harm. It may do some buzzing and make some noise, but that is all it can attain. A case in point in this territory these days.

There is not a single county in the territory wherein, with proper assessment and careful action by the board of county commissioners, the assessed value should not be increased for this year. In the county where this is not done there is something radically wrong and the courts should take a hand in investigating the case. Under the Duncan revenue law, the courts have ample power to do so.

General Funston has telegraphed the War department that if the Interior department discontinues giving rations to the Indians on the San Carlos reservation in Arizona, an outbreak will occur. It had been decided to discontinue the rations on July 1, but upon General Funston's advice, the issue of rations will be continued after that date. It is a pity that no provision can be made for those Indians to earn a living by honest work. The land of the reservation is poor and irrigation water is scarce. The only solution to the problem of providing for the Indians without giving them rations is to build storage reservoirs for them and thus make the Indians self supporting. This should be done without much further delay.

The capital of New Mexico, the city of Santa Fe, is doing right well these days, thank you. To be sure there are a few knackers within the city, a few back-biters and a few slanderers who do what they can to retard the city's growth and to injure its advance and prosperity, but fortunately they are not many and cannot do much harm. Upon the whole the situation is very encouraging.

The Tilden Democrats of New York will put forward Ex-President Grover Cleveland for a third term for the presidency. The Tilden Democracy of New York must be blind as bats or deaf as stones if they know so little about the sentiment of the people as to talk seriously of Grover Cleveland running again for the presidency. Grover has given such evidences of good, common sense however in late years, that he will undoubtedly decline the proffered honor by the Tilden Democracy.

The board of county commissioners of this county is doing its best in putting assessments of taxable property real and personal in proper shape and with a view of doing justice to all concerned. There may be isolated cases in which tax payers feel aggrieved at increases in assessments. In such the proper remedy is an appeal to the territorial board of equalization. In the great majority of cases wherein assessments have been increased there is no doubt in the minds of those best posted, but that the action of the board is just and fair.

A great irrigation enterprise is under way in northern Taos county. Thirty thousand acres will be placed under irrigation to actual settlers. The segregated from the public land territory for fruit raising, for alfalfa, for grain crops and for the feeding and fattening of sheep. The cost of this enterprise is estimated at $250,000. New Mexico is steadily forging to the front and facts like these show that this assertion is true.

No good reason can be advanced why statehood should be kept from the territories of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona. The house of representatives was of this view and passed, by practically unanimous vote, the omnibus statehood bill for these territories. The senate ought not to hold back, but concur in the action of the house at this session if possible and if not, during the first thirty days of the short session this winter. Such will not only do tardy justice to the million of citizens of these three commonwealths, but will also be very good politics from a Republican standpoint. The Republican majority in congress should heed this state of affairs.

Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is still great at writing editorials upon the political situation. In a recent editorial he sets forth the dangerous condition this country is in and says that the Democratic party is standing between the country and a yawning abyss. Just imagine the size of an abyss that would be able to swallow this country, if you can. Imagine another thing, the Democratic party standing before a yawning abyss and not being afraid of it. In addition the query arises, why does not the blame abyss stop yawning? It can not yawn all the time, everybody gets tired of yawning and an abyss ought to do as everybody else does.

MEASURING THE NATION'S PROSPERITY.

It is a commentary upon the growth and prosperity of this nation that in the readjustment of the salaries of postmasters at presidential postoffices just completed, 2,630 postmasters will from July 1 on receive increased salaries aggregating $252,000 a year. The number of increases this year is 259 in excess of last year, New Mexico receiving six of these increases, and is the largest in the history of the postal service. Twenty-four offices of the second class will be advanced to the first class and 110 from the first to the second class and only two offices will be relegated from first to second class, and three from second to third class, and twelve from the third to the fourth class. The number of postoffices in each class at the present time is: First class 220; second class 1,025; third class 3,495. The average salary of the postmaster of these offices will be increased from $17,420 to $17,745, which is a better showing than has been ever made before. As the increase of salaries depends upon the increase of receipts by postoffices, the above figures give a glimpse of the increase of business in the United States during the past year.

THE ADVANTAGE OF FOREST RESERVES.

The Rio Grande at Albuquerque and other points is dry. The Santa Fe river still has a good volume of water in it, thanks to the Pecos forest reserve which protects not only the sources of the Santa Fe, but also of the Pecos, the Nambé, the Mora, the Gallinas and a score of other important streams. It is becoming more apparent every day to the people that the Pecos forest reserve is the greatest advantage that this section of New Mexico has been given by the United States government and that it were best for New Mexico that the sources of every one of its streams were thus protected, although going to the opposite extreme as was done in the Gila reserve where hundreds of square miles of mere grazing land were included in the forest reserve should also be avoided. The cutting down of the timber on the Tierra Amarilla grant for instance, is the cause of the Chama running dry every summer and having destructive floods every spring. Storage reservoirs at the head of that stream would prevent this but as long as these have not been built and are not likely to be built for many years, the forests are the best conservers of the waters needed in spring and summer for irrigation. The cutting down of the forests of New Mexico although of immediate financial benefit is the greatest calamity that is befalling the territory unless steps are taken to replant them immediately.

LISTEN TO THE TALK.

It Comes from Pueblo, Colorado—It Comes from the Back.

Did you know it? Know the back could talk? Tell its troubles like a child? Tell you why it aches and pains? Tell you why it's lame and weak? Warn you of the kidneys' ills? Kidneys have too much to do. Can't be sick and filter, too. Listen to them when they speak. Relieve the kidneys, cure the ache. Keep the kidneys free at work. Then the back is silent. It does not ache; it does not pain; it is not weak nor is it lame. It's healthy like the kidneys: All backache pains and kidney ills are quickly cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Here's proof of it: Mr. Wm. Gower of 310 Santa Fe avenue, Pueblo, Colo., proprietor of the barber shop at 310 Union street, says: "I was mining up in the hills when my back first began to trouble me. This was four or five years ago and since then my back had ached more or less and while at work it caused me considerable misery. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and severe backache would result. I read a little book advertising Doan's Kidney Pills and being very favorably impressed I got a box of the remedy. The treatment removed the trouble with my back and invigorated my whole system." Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Santa Fe. Drop into Ireland's Pharmacy and ask what his customers report.

"One Minute Cough Cure" beats all other medicines I ever tried for coughs, colds, croup and throat and lung troubles, says Dr. Scott Curran of Loganton, Pa. One Minute Cough Cure is the only absolutely safe cough remedy which acts immediately. Mothers everywhere testify to the good it has done their little ones. Croup is so sudden in its attack that the doctor often arrives too late. It yields at once to One Minute Cough Cure. Pleasant to take. Children like it. Sure cure for grip, bronchitis, coughs. SPRING FEVER.

Spring fever is another name for biliousness. It is more serious than most people think. A torpid liver and inactive bowels mean a poisoned system. If neglected, serious illness may follow such symptoms. DeWitt's Little Early Risers remove all danger by stimulating the liver, opening the bowels and cleansing the system of impurities. Safe pills. Never gripe. "I have taken DeWitt's Little Early Risers for torpid liver every spring for years," writes R. M. Eversley, Mountville, W. Va. "They do me more good than anything I have ever tried." I cheerfully recommend Kodol." Don't try to cure stomach trouble by dieting. Try only further weakens the system. You need wholesome, strengthening food. VIRULENT CANCER CURED.

Startling proof of a wonderful advance in medicine is given by druggist G. W. Roberts of Ellsworth, W. Va. An old man there had long suffered with what good doctors pronounced incurable cancer. They believed his case hopeless till he used Electric Bitters and applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which treatment completely cured him. When Electric Bitters are used to expel bilious, kidney and microbe poisons at the same time this salve exerts its matchless healing power, blood diseases, skin eruptions, ulcers and sores vanish. WHEN THE GEESSE GO FLYING.

When the geese go flying northward where the clear blue waters are. When you hear them, like old ladies blithely gossiping afar. When they pass on flapping, snapping up against the slanting sky. Laughing down at you, as you stop to watch them fly. How the old, wild longing haunts you, how the old scenes rise in view. Where the world was wide and peaceful and the simple things were true. When the geese go flying northward where the lakes, kissed by the sun. Laugh in glad anticipation, oh, for freedom and a gun! Oh, to ding away ambition and go journeying afar. From the forges and the markets where the weary people are. To go stumbling through the briars and across the hills again. Caring nothing for the future or the things that worry men.

There is something sweet and luring in the mellow breeze that blows down among the old gray stubbles where they stand in slanting rows. There is something in the murmur of the stream that hurries on. Through the rushes like the whisper of a spirit that is gone. Like a whispered invitation to go roaming free and far. When the geese go flying northward where the sky-blue waters are. —S. E. Kiser, in Chicago Times Herald.

TWO IN AN AUTO

By William Perry Brown.
(Copyright, 1901, by Authors Syndicate.)

VOLTAIRE having gone lame at the hurdles the day before, his master was taking a morning walk instead of a ride, when he met Miss Hearst in an auto. He paused his hat and evinced a disposition to stop, whereupon the lady gave the steering gear such a vigorous twist that the machine seemed determined to chase Eskridge off the sidewalk and over the fence. "Stop me!" she called, but before he could move she had accomplished the feat herself with a suddenness that nearly sent her over the dashboard and into his ready arms. "The thing seems dread mouthed," said he. "You're too hard on the bit." "It's my first trip alone," she explained, turning the auto in a jerky, hesitating way as the power was nervously applied or shut off, until she drew up beside the curb in orthodox fashion. "Great fun, though, this—this—"

"Motoring," suggested Eskridge, tentatively. "Motoring!" Helen's glance was pitying, though her accent hinted at scorn. "Does it look like a street car? To me it is now the correct form, so Mr. Crandall says." "I suppose he has put you on to this new electric fad," said Eskridge, eyeing the spick and span automobile as if it were a personal enemy. "Put me on!" Helen's glance as well as tone were harmoniously contemptuous now. "How slangy you grow." Then in assumed surprise: "You seem to be walking. Where is Voltaire?"

"Where I suppose Rosamond is, in the paddock." Rosamond was Miss Hearst's favorite riding pony. "While you and Crandall 'mobe' in your horseless, I suppose I may be allowed to mope on foot."

Helen looked up and down the avenue, at the vacant seat by her, then at the gloomy young man on the sidewalk. "Mr. Crandall is in the city," she responded, demurely enough. "He may be 'motoring' there for what I know—George!"

Eskridge, interpreting Helen's manner rather than her words, had seated himself beside her with a celerity that nearly took her breath away. "Hang Crandall," he exclaimed, briskly. "You are not to be trusted in one of these things alone. Start up, Nelly."

But Helen had recovered her dignity as well as composure, and her tone became correspondingly chilly. "Don't crowd, Mr. Eskridge. One needs room to work these levers satisfactorily, as you ought to know."

"I don't know that I ought to know anything—"

"Yet you presume to advise me, who have been taking lessons two weeks."

"Under Crandall," George could not help interjecting.

"Under Mr. Crandall, whom you seem to wish to see hung."

"I don't want to see him, hung or unhung; or hear of him, either," and George was about to add, "unless he is hung," but he nipped his underlip just in time.

By this they were spinning down the avenue and into a road leading to the wide stretch of ocean beach that ribbed the seaward side of Loon Island, not unlike a section of some Broddingnagian race course, with a chorus of summer surges instead of shouting crowds as the natural environment. Helen, reading jealousy under all this anti-Crandall surliness, grew tenderly self-complacent as she endeavored to slow down to a more conversational gait. Then a perturbed look came into her eyes as she fumbled at the levers.

"What can be the matter now?" she began.

"What shapely hands you have, Nelly!" interrupted Eskridge, rather irreverently, and seemingly oblivious of the fact that they were tearing along towards the ocean at a runaway pace. "Oh, dear!" she complained. "Why won't the odious thing turn?" They were leaving the road and plunging right on over the low sand dunes that lined the beach. "Such a foot!" continued George, diverting a dreamy eye to where one of Helen's small, strapped driving slippers was vainly pressing at something which she supposed would control the application of the motive

I could not rise to my feet without fainting.

"I had suffered for three years or more at monthly periods," writes Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C. "It seemed as though I would die with pains in my back and stomach. I could not rise to my feet at all without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better, had better appetite and slept better. Now I have taken two bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets a pleasant and effective laxative for women.

"Why don't you help me?" urged Helen, imploringly. "What's the use? Call on Crandall."

"If he were here he would help. Something must be wrong." "Everything is wrong." This gloomily. "If Crandall really were here now—would you—er—"

"No, I wouldn't. Help me to stop it, please—do!"

The last low sand ridge had been passed and they were gliding over the smooth, hard, wet beach toward the water. Eskridge furiously did something with his foot, unseen by Helen, and the auto stopped.

"Have I really no hope?" he asked, lugubriously, as she sighed in relief. "After all my months of devotion—"

"Months!" Her rose lips curled incredulously. "Six weeks ago I hardly knew you—oh, George!—why don't it turn as well as stop?"

"Perhaps it needs Crandall, being a Crandall machine."

"You're just dreadful to-day!" Helen, indignant, was about to leap out when Eskridge again made a furtive move and the auto again started forward like a thing of life.

She was thrown back into his arms and her eyes sparkled angrily, but fear once more became dominant, for the machine sped toward the sea as if determined to drown them both.

"I—I'm going to jump," she cried, nervously. "And break your pretty neck? No; let's drown. It's easier."

Eskridge folded his arms as if to await the inevitable. "Crandall will hypnotize another girl, and—"

"I wish he were here to manage this auto."

"I don't. If you won't have me, you shall not have him." The hiss of the incoming tide mingled with his tones. "We will die together."

Miss Hearst shuddered; yet, had she been afoot, clad in her latest love of a bathing gown, she might have enjoyed the liquid swirl that now licked the pneumatic tires. Why she did not boldly leap out she hardly knew. Did fear restrain her—or George?

As the water deepened the mobile moved more slowly, yet it neither stopped nor turned. An incoming wave, curling upward in a greenish, graceful, menacing way, made her breathe quickly and she looked at Eskridge. Ye gods! He was, or seemed to be, preparing to light a cigarette. Was this despair, idiocy or sheer bravado? Handsome he certainly was, though she had hardly considered him so before. Perhaps his indomitable composure at such a crisis forced a sudden admiration upon her and banished the image of Crandall forever.

At any rate, as the whitening roarer in front poised itself over the dashboard, Helen uttered a faint shriek and threw her arms around George, scattering his cigarettes.

"Save me!" she implored. "Then you do love me, even though I don't run an auto?"

"Y-y-e-s!" The shower bath was descending and she closed her eyes. "Ugh—ow!"

"And you don't care for Crandall?" pursued Eskridge, inexorably. "No—oh! Isn't this horrible?"

"It's blissful, ecstatic. One kiss, dear. Now—open your eyes."

Missouri Code Pleading

By Mr. Everett W. Pattison.
(Author of Pattison's Complete Digest, Nearly 600 Pages, Price, $6. Delivered This Book is a Very Important One for all Lawyers.)

The New Mexico Code is largely modeled on the Missouri Code so that this book and the Form book, are the most practical for use there.

It sets forth, as succinctly as is consistent with clearness, the present condition of the law governing pleading as interpreted by the courts of last resort in Missouri. The decisions are mostly those of the Missouri courts; though in some instances illustrations have been drawn from the decisions of other code states.

The Author Thoroughly Believes in the Advantages of the Code System of Pleading.

He further believes that precision and exactness are even of more importance in code pleading than in pleading at common law. For, while it is true that the common law requires the utmost strictness in adherence to forms, yet, if its forms are followed, the practitioner need have little fear of attack upon his pleading, even though that pleading should totally fail to inform his opponent as to the real points in issue. On the other hand, the very object of the Code is to compel parties to make clear the grounds upon which their right to recover, or their defense, is based. The lawyer who is well grounded in the rules of pleading will surely have the advantage in litigation. The constant study of this valuable work, familiar with the rules set forth in it, and with the decisions enforcing and interpreting those rules, cannot fail to make one a good pleader.

SPECIAL OFFER—To those who buy both books at once, we will offer Pattison's Pleading Form Book (Price, $5.00) if ordered within the next 30 days for $4.00 additional, thus offering the two works, giving all there is to be said about Pleading in Missouri.

In one order, Prepaid for $10.00.

A copy will be mailed free on application to the undersigned.

IN PURSUIT OF ATCHISON.

It is believed that the murderer is still near the town of San Pedro.

William W. Atchison, the San Pedro murderer, was seen day before yesterday. It is also reported that Mrs. Atchison went out the same evening to a rendezvous with him and probably gave him funds which the many friends of Atchison at and around San Pedro had raised to help him out of the country. District Attorney E. C. Abbott received a message from Cleo Weldner last evening saying that the friends of Atchison have promised that Atchison would surrender himself if protection from mob violence and a fair trial be guaranteed him. District Attorney Abbott and Sheriff Garcia gave assurance that Atchison would be safely brought to Santa Fe and would be given a fair and speedy trial. Atchison is a poor walker and on account of his weight a poor rider on horseback. It will be difficult therefore for him to make much progress should he attempt to make towards the Texas border.
