DUST TO DUST!

The Funeral of the Late Queen Victoria.

Great Throngs of People View- ed the Procession.

Restive Horses Taken From Gun Carriage by Order of King.

ABSENCE OF BLACK NOTICEABLE.

London, Feb. 2.—At 11 o'clock the royal train was seen slowly approaching Victoria station. All heads were immediately turned. The train conveying the king and queen, Emperor William and other royalties was immediately behind that bearing the queen's body. The royal personage was conducted to a pavilion, where the king of Portugal, Greece, Belgium and other distinguished personages were already assembled. The coffin was reverently removed by an officer and twelve grenadiers. The pall, with a crown on a cushion, regalia and insignia of the garter, were placed thereon, and the procession moved. Immediately behind the gun carriage bearing the late queen the king in a field marshal's uniform, Emperor William, also attired in a British field marshal's uniform and the Duke of Connaught, in a general's uniform, rode upon either side of the king. The king of the Hellenes and the king of Portugal rode immediately after King Edward and Emperor William's suites. In the procession were six carriages, the first and second carrying Queen Alexandra, Duchess of Fife (now princess royal), Princess Victoria and Princess Chastie of Denmark, and the daughters of Queen Victoria and the king of the Belgians.

Enormous crowds witnessed the passing of the cortege before Buckingham palace. At the junction of the Mall and Marlborough house, the cortege was viewed by an enormous throng. Members of the house of lords and house of commons occupied a special stand. The solemn and stately progress of the cortege through the park was rendered more impressive by minute guns of a nearby battery.

At 11:35 a. m. the first stop of the queen's funeral march echoed through the streets, even though the hearing distance was bare.

There was an ugly crash in the crowd at Marlborough arch when the gates were unexpectedly closed after the procession passed. Several persons fainted.

At 1:15 p. m. the procession reached Paddington.

At 1:30 p. m. the train bearing the coffin started for Windsor.

The body arrived at Windsor at 2:30 p. m.

ABSENCE OF BLACK.
London, Feb. 2.—There was in Victoria's funeral procession an absence of that black ceremonial generally connected with final progress to the grave. The coffin was drawn by cream-colored horses. The chief mourner himself, with his field marshal uniform, even though this was partially hidden by an overcoat, surrounded by his corps, failed to leave the symbols of mourning marking the route. Never in English history has a sovereign been borne to the grave attended by so many distinguished mourners.

BODY AT WINDSOR.
Windsor, Feb. 2.—Great throngs of people assembled in the vicinity of the railway station. The procession left the station at 2:40 p. m.

As the procession moved the artillery horses attached to a gun carriage became restive and nearly overturned it, whereupon King Edward ordered the horses taken off and bluejackets put in their places to draw the gun carriage.

The ambassadors and others who had reached Windsor in advance of the funeral train, joined the procession at the railway station and proceeded to St. George's chapel. The royal mourners, with the exception of the queen and princesses, proceeded on foot. The piers played dirges and the procession entered the chapel at 3:15 p. m.

The anchoring of crowned heads surpassed those who rode in the jubilee procession. All the great officers of state participated. The display of naval and military force reached the great total of 35,000 men.

The service at St. George's concluded at 4:10 p. m. The body will lie in state Monday in the Albert memorial chapel.

BEFORE LEAVING PORTSMOUTH.
Portsmouth, Feb. 2.—A heavy rain was falling at 5:30 o'clock, when the royal mourners left the yacht for the Clarence yard, where the Albert had lain all night with the body of the queen watched by a marine guard.

Admiral Sir Charles Zothan, the flag officer, and officer of all the ships in the harbor, with the naval attaché, attended the disembarkation of the body, which at 8:45 was carried off the yacht.

The landing place and approaches of the station were heavily guarded. Enormous crowds had gathered.

The royal train left Gosport at 8:56. Guards were mounted on the warships and minute guns fired as the coffin, borne by bluejackets, was transferred to a waiting saloon carriage.

INCIDENTS OF THE DAY.
London, Feb. 2.—Major Edward Hastings, a veteran officer, fell dead, as a result of the excitement.

There were quite a number of accidents during the crushes in London. Individual hospitals admitted as many as thirty cases. Several persons were badly hurt through falling from elevated places.

The day was sombre, wet and chilly, and the cloudy sky added to the gloom of the whole city.

The procession, apart from the gun carriage bearing the coffin, the royal family and official mourners, was not noteworthy.

A BIG PURCHASE!

Absorption of Southern Pacific

By Purchase of Controlling Shares from Huntington.

City of Galveston Wants Legislature to Repeal Its Charter.

AN ASTOR TO MARRY A DUKE.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 2.—President C. M. Hayes, of the Southern Pacific Railroad company, when asked if he thought the sale of the controlling interest in the company to the Harriman syndicate would create important changes in the management or policy, said:

"The Southern Pacific will go ahead very much as if no change had taken place. Its interests, in a traffic sense, are pretty well defined and are not to be disturbed by any new or revolutionary policy. I do not think the sale means one set of officers for the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific. The two roads are big properties, and can only be handled by separate sets of officers as at present."

Referring to his own position, Hayes said he had no reason to believe it would be disturbed.

Within H. Crocker said: "The Vanderbilt railroad and steamship interests will now have a direct line between Hamburg and Hong Kong across the American continent. Whatever the Vanderbilt do they do well, and if it is possible to improve the service of the Southern Pacific roads the new controllers will do it. With increased connections of the Southern Pacific, San Francisco stands in a fair way of rapidly improving in importance as a shipping point."

Third Vice President J. C. Stubbs, of the Southern Pacific, a warm personal friend of Harriman, says the change of ownership was as big a surprise to him as to other officials of the road.

It is expected H. E. Huntington will retire as director and first vice president of the company at the annual meeting of the company April next.

According to C. P. Huntington's will his widow was left two-thirds of his Southern Pacific stock and his nephew, H. E. Huntington, the remaining third. In round numbers the late magnate had 600,000 of the 2,000,000 shares of the Southern Pacific stock. H. E. Huntington's portion was, therefore, 300,000 shares. On the supposed basis of $5 a share he gets $1,500,000. Mrs. C. P. Huntington, on the same basis, realizes $2,000,000.

BUYING MORE RAILROADS.
New York, Feb. 2.—The Evening Post says: It was announced on high authority to-day that the Harriman syndicate not only acquired large holdings of Southern Pacific stock, but is also obtaining control of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas road. This is shown by the motives which led the Harriman syndicate to secure the Speyer and Huntington holdings of the Southern Pacific railroad, and thus the dominating interest of that property, involved a vast scheme of railroad consolidation. The close identification of the road interests with members of the Harriman syndicate would facilitate new relations proposed for Kansas and Texas property, and control Missouri, Kansas & Texas. It was asserted to-day have been practically already assured to the syndicate.

The syndicate that control these properties made more feasible and desirable the control of the Southern Pacific because it was the only remaining company west of the Mississippi river lines were on intimate relations with other properties controlled by the syndicate.

The Southern Pacific connection to San Francisco is essential to the Union Pacific and Missouri Pacific's Denver line, lying between that of the Union Pacific and the Atchafalaya and reaching the Mississippi river at St. Louis gives outlet to the lower Mississippi river essential to the broadest control of the markets of the west.

The Missouri Pacific and other Gould lines, particularly the Texas & Pacific, are, on the other hand, very closely interwoven with the Texas lines of the Southern Pacific. Both companies not only have long lines extending across Texas from El Paso to the Gulf of Mexico at Galveston, but in the eastern portion of the state both the Missouri Pacific and the Southern Pacific lines have extensive mileage, largely competitive and reaching jointly all important cities, including Fort Worth, Houston, Austin, etc.

Clearly, therefore, the acquisition of the Southern Pacific may be taken as completing the syndicate's domination of the transportation facilities of the southwest, south of the Union Pacific line, rounding out a system which will include, besides the Union Pacific and Central Pacific, the Missouri Pacific, the Kansas & Texas and the Kansas City Southern west of the Mississippi river.

WILL NOT CONSOLIDATE.
New York, Feb. 2.—It may be stated authoritatively that while the Harriman interests have secured control of the Huntington and Speyer stock of the Southern Pacific railroad it is not in contemplation to consolidate the two lines, but to see that they are worked in harmony and stop rate cutting. No material change in the personnel of the officers is in contemplation.

BILL SIGNED.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—The president signed the bill for the reorganization of the army at 12:40 p. m.

WILL ASK TO REPEAL.
Charter of City of Galveston—Bondholders of Securities Will Oppose.

New York, Feb. 2.—The city of Galveston, through the committee, is about to ask the legislature of Texas to pass certain laws repealing the charter of that city, providing for its future government and refunding its indebtedness. Charles S. Fitch, president of the New York Security Trust company and others, have been requested by the principal bondholders to act as a committee for the purpose of protecting their interests as holders of the city of Galveston securities.

Prospective Royal Marriage.
New York, Feb. 2.—The announcement of the engagement of Duke of Roxburgh to Miss Pauline Astor, daughter of Mrs. William Waldorf Astor, did not come as a surprise to friends of the prospective bride of this city. Reports of the engagement have been current since 1898, when Miss Astor was only 18 years old. The Duke of Roxburgh recently returned from South Africa, where under General French he did distinguished service. He is a lieutenant of the Royal Horse Guards.

AN UP-TO-DATE OFFICE.
One of the Finest Dental Parlors Ever Seen by a Woman.

One of The Citizen's representatives called on Dr. Wolvin & Carr, dentists, in the Grant block, recently, and found there one of the most thoroughly equipped dental offices in the territory.

On entering the reception parlor one finds themselves in a room handsomely furnished with velvet carpets and rugs, decorations of palms, also several very expensive oil paintings adorn the walls. These paintings are as good, and perhaps the finest that has ever been brought to the territory. These, together with the massive leather furniture, give an air of elegance and comfort.

Next, one is shown into the operating department, which is furnished the same as the room just described with the addition of all the latest electrical appliances, electrical mouth mirrors, reflectors and lamps, automatic operating chairs, fountain cuspidors, together with a sterilizer, where all the instruments are thoroughly disinfected after each operation.

Most noticeable is a large microscopical table in the center of which, covered by a glass dome, is a large and expensive microscope for the practice and research of scientific dentistry.

The doctors have histological specimens (two hundred) of all the organs of the human body, which they spent many months preparing and mounting in different colleges in the United States.

Next we were shown across the hall to the laboratory, or large work room, this room being also fitted up with all the latest improved apparatus, furnaces, lathes, electrical appliances, giving it the appearance of a laboratory worthy of mention. This room is devoted entirely to mechanical dentistry, where artificial teeth are made and crown and bridge work is done.

The art of dentistry is carried on better than here. Hundreds of dollars worth of the art in crown and bridge work can be seen in all forms of construction.

Dr. Carr is a graduate of the American College of Dentistry and has had a wide experience in the dental art. Dr. Wolvin is a graduate of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, and a post graduate of various dental schools. The doctors will make their homes in Albuquerque and are building up a large and stable practice.

Cerritos, N. Mex., Feb. 2.—The shaft house of the Santa Fe Gold and Copper Mining company at San Pedro burned to the ground last night. Loss is about $20,000. No one injured.

Soldiers Attacked.
Manila, Feb. 2.—Lieutenant Hickman and a detachment of thirty men of company M, Thirty-fourth regiment, while crossing the river Tuesday night were surprised by insurgents gathered at Fiestas, San Lucia, Island of Cebu. They were attacked in front and on flanks by a hundred rifles and more Bolomen. Five Americans were killed, four wounded and two missing. The insurgent loss is believed to be heavy.

Captain Malley, with a detachment, reinforced Lieutenant Hickman and recovered some of the bodies, which were mutilated. Additional attachments are endeavoring to surround the insurgents.

Big Fire in Detroit.

Prince Tuan Must Die.
Peking, Feb. 2.—M. de Giers, the Russian minister, had three hours' conference with Li Hung Chang this afternoon. M. de Giers says Russia will consent to the execution of Prince Tuan.

Fire This Afternoon.
An alarm of fire this afternoon at 2:20 o'clock called the department to the east Highlands; a frame barn and an outbuilding standing among the foot hills in an arroyo between Railroad avenue and Tijeras canyon road, were found to be on fire. They were located too far away to be reached by a line of hose, and nearest water hydrant, and were left to burn. The buildings were on property supposed to belong to Dr. J. A. Henry. A fire on the same ground about a year ago destroyed a house, and since then the house has been unoccupied. The origin of the fire is unknown.

THE TWO TERRITORIES.

Pima Indians of Arizona and Their Immediate Necessity.

NEW MEXICO AND ARIZONA.

The following article, written by the Rev. R. M. Craig, of Albuquerque, N. M., superintendent of Presbyterian missions in New Mexico and Arizona, appeared in the New York Evangelist a couple of weeks ago. It has been most favorably received and a copy placed in the hands of every member of congress.

The Gila River Indian reservation is situated in Pinal and Maricopa counties in southern Arizona. It extends for a distance of fifty miles on both sides of the Gila river and has a width from six to sixteen miles and consists of 257,120 acres.

The climate is the very best. June, July, August and September are not exceedingly warm, but pleasant and agreeable. The atmosphere is rare and dry. The winter months are delightful, there being practically no bad weather.

This reservation is inhabited by the Pimas, the Papagos and Maricopas, three of the nomadic Papagoes living south of the reservation, about 2,000 of whom formerly got their bread from the Pima reservation, number about 7,500.

Information obtained from the best sources, the Pimas and Papagos belong to the same tribe and came to this country about 600 years ago from the Rio Grande valley, where they were probably one of the numerous Pueblo tribes. Tradition tells us that they settled on the San Pedro and Santa Cruz valleys and afterward went to the Salt River and Gila valleys and raising crops or exterminated the former inhabitants.

They have always been industrious and successful farmers and irrigators. They lived in small villages and farmed the surrounding country, raising corn, cotton, beans, pumpkins and melons. They hunted the wild sheep, deer, rabbits and quail, and with the aid of the mesquite bean (the fruit of the cactus), the seeds of which they raised, they made a comfortable living. They had neither cattle nor horses in those early days, but were experts at irrigation and dug their ditches with their famed baskets.

They planted their crops in circular holes in the ground with sticks and covering it with their feet. Fine cotton blankets and fabrics were manufactured by them. Their principal weapons were bows, arrows and war clubs. Their axes and knives were made of stone.

About seventy-five years ago two Papagos, who had learned the use of the gun from the Spaniards, introduced cattle in Sonora, introduced cattle raising and wheat culture among the Pimas.

About 100 years ago, the Maricopas came from the United States, bringing with them the use of the rifle and protection with the Pimas and thus escaped extermination. The Pimas have always been friendly to the whites and defended them from their attacks. They have never been at war with the whites and have been friendly to the whites and defended them from their attacks. They have never been at war with the whites and have been friendly to the whites and defended them from their attacks.

During the past thirty-five years, under the auspices of the government and true mission work carried on chiefly by our missionaries, the Rev. Charles Cook, the Pimas have made great progress in the arts of civilization. They had no schools or churches, now nearly 1,000 children of the 4,000 Pimas and Maricopas attend school, nearly 1,000 of them are members of the Presbyterian church, their customs, manners and evil habits are a thing of the past, old habits have given place to decent homes, farming implements, such as wagons, carriages and plows and modern machinery are being rapidly introduced.

But in the midst of this prosperity and advancement a great calamity has come upon this people. Agriculture has been carried on only by irrigation. Nothing can be raised without it, whilst with sufficient water a rotation of crops can be secured with a yield of three times as much per acre as in the east. The only source of supply for such irrigation is the Gila river, but during the last twenty years the Mormons and other whites, with the Mexicans, have been settling above the reservation and have taken a large ditch from this only source of supply, the Indians have been deprived of the water needed for irrigation and today I find them on the very verge of starvation.

Traveling over this reservation from the east end to the Phoenix & Maricopa railroad, a distance of thirty miles, I find thirteen villages with populations as follows: Blackwelder with 1,000, San Juan with 800, San Juan with 111, San Juan with 154, Santa with 412, Hiri Charlie Chirch with 290, Lower Stogitok with 210, Babecchi with 138, Valley with 260, Shookit North with 140, Shookit South with 100, Shookit South with 80 and Shookit North with 87, or a total of 586 families with a population of 2,853 of whom 1,423 are males and 1,430 females. Of these 582 families have not raised anything during the past year, seven families have raised a full crop, seventeen have raised three-fourths of a crop, thirty-nine have raised one-half of a crop, and thirty-one families have raised from a sixth to a fourth of a crop.

Formerly the Indians lived on what is known as Gila Crossings living east of the Maricopa railroad, where they had an abundance of land and water, but as they were deprived of their supply they moved west. It is estimated that 1,000 Indians now living west of the Maricopa railroad, where they have no water, and have been for years ago they had an abundance of water, which has gradually decreased until at the present time there is not half enough to meet their necessities.

What is the only remedy for this condition of affairs in Arizona?

No one can deny that the Pimas have the first right to the water and that the government has neglected their rights for many years to see that these rights were respected. Agent Hadley, in his excellent report to the Indian department, shows clearly that these Indians were industrious and prosperous and that their progress toward civilization is one of the most encouraging features of Indian work. He also shows that these Indians have always been friends of the whites, even when robbed by them, and everybody must recognize the fact that in days gone by this friendship had a value that cannot be estimated by dollars and cents.

Chronic Constipation Cured.

The most important discovery of recent years is the positive remedy for constipation, Cascades Candy Cathartic. Cure guaranteed. Genuine tablets stamped C. C. C. Never sold in bulk. Druggists, etc.

Drying preparations simply saved every day, they cry up the secretions which adhere to the membrane and decompose, causing a far more serious trouble than the ordinary form of catarrh. Avoid salicylates, iodine, fumes, smoke and snuff, and use that which cleanses, soothes and heals. Try's Cream Balm is such a remedy, will cure catarrh or cold in head and throat easily and pleasantly. A trial size will be mailed for 10 cents. All druggists sell the 50c size. Try Brothers, 60 Warren St., N. Y.

The Balm cures without pain, must be used at once, or it will irritate and cause sneezing. It soothes and relieves immediately the painful inflammation. With Try's Cream Balm you are armed against Nasal Catarrh and Hay Fever.

These Indians have saved the government of the United States more than a million dollars, the amount now asked to build a reservoir, besides the lives of many whites. They have protected the overland mail, the freight roads and the early settlers from 1820 to 1870 and even before that time from the Apaches. The government and people of the United States owe them much. Well may the agent ask: "Are they not bound in honor to pay this debt by restoring to them their water supply?"

The question may be asked, "Has not congress appropriated $30,000 to feed these Indians during the present fiscal year?" This is true, but it must be remembered that the $30,000 is only a small fraction of the amount that will be needed in coming years with the water supply. With the wood disposal of the agent knows of no stock of any magnitude for the coming year on which the Indians might be employed, and therefore the amount necessary for rations will approximate $100,000. Instead of the $30,000 for this year, and to all this I would add, "Who can estimate the demoralizing effect on the old and on the young, and especially on those who have attended and are now attending the different schools of being deprived of their accustomed occupation and being compelled for no fault of theirs to become wholly dependent on the charity of the government?"

The government and territorial officials, the agent on the reservation, the superintendent of the schools, the missionaries on the field and an interested agent agree that there is only one way to meet the difficulty and that is "through the construction by the government of a reservoir for the storage of the flood waters of the Gila river."

Now is this practicable?

The investigations in this matter were formerly intrusted to Arthur P. Davis, and afterwards to J. B. Lippincott, whose report (see water supply and irrigation papers of the United States geological survey, No. 23, Washington, government printing office) is in every particular favorable to this proposition. Different sites were selected, investigations prosecuted and conclusions reached. In this report it is clearly shown that the San Carlos dam can be constructed, from which the Indians on the reservation may secure a sufficient supply of water without charge and the government recover itself for all expenditures from the sale of the remaining water rights.

I have just spent a few days on this reservation. I have looked into the faces of this people well high civilized and Christianized. I think of the hundreds of children from these homes that are being trained in these schools. I have seen these people crowd their churches Sabbath after Sabbath. I see industrious and trustworthy men anxious to remove self-supporting and in the name of justice, humanity and economy I unite with those who know the situation and plead for water for the poor Indians on this Pima reservation. May congress no longer turn a deaf ear to the entreaties of these Indians and their friends. Let congress during the present session but make the appropriation for this work, and let these starving Indians be at once employed in the construction of the dam, and then, instead of this great and fertile valley becoming a desert, we shall soon see it bloom and blossom as the rose and become the abode of a contented and well-to-do Christian community.

PROMOTION OF JOHN L. GAY.

An Albuquerque Boy's Recognition by the Government.

John L. Gay has recently been promoted by the government to the second pay grade, and his run will be between New York city and San Juan Porto Rico. The distance between New York city and San Juan is 1,500 miles and he is in the preferred service.

Several causes are attributed to Mr. Gay's promotion. The first of which is his thorough competency to fill the position. The second is his long term of faithful service. He has run out of the La Junta for the past ten years and has been in the mail service for thirteen years. Third, he speaks the Spanish language fluently which makes him a valuable asset to the service. In this run, he was hurt in a wreck several months ago and as his run here is quite heavy the strain might prove too much for him.

Up to the time Mr. Gay was hurt he had not missed but thirty days work in all of his service, and this promotion is certainly a recognition by the government of his valuable services.

His many friends here will be pleased to learn of his promotion. His first trip will be made on February 15, and he is now awaiting orders from the government to proceed to New York to enter upon his duties, which will be in a very few days—La Junta, Colo. Democrat.

It is the only safe and reliable remedy that gives immediate results. Children like it. Berry Drug Co. and Cosmopolitan drug store.

Scrofula the Cause.

Scrofula, catarrh, hip disease, white swelling, and even consumption have their origin in scrofulous conditions. With the slightest taint of scrofula in the blood, there is no safety. The remedy for this disease in all its forms is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which goes to the root of the trouble and expels all impurities and disease germs from the blood.

The best family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

SIMON STERN,

The R. R. Ave. Clothier.

It is for awhile for the benefit of his health. While here he was employed as nurse in the Santa Fe hospital, and was also an active worker in the Baptist Sunday school. He has many friends here who will regret his departure, but their many good wishes go with him.

Frederick Harvey, proprietor of the elegantly equipped hotels along the great Santa Fe system, accompanied by his son, Bayard, and General Superintendent J. F. Huckle, passed through the city yesterday in the special car of the former, bound for Kansas City. The party had been to California points for a week past on a tour of inspection. The health of Mr. Harvey has been quite poorly for some time and it is reported little hopes are entertained for his complete recovery.

Superintendent J. A. Rice, of the Navaho Gold Mining company at Black and his brother, Cecil, an employee in the office of the Albuquerque mill plant, came down to the city yesterday to meet their brother, H. H. Rice, who was passing through the territory on a business trip to Omaha en route to Morenci, Arizona, where he is interested with the store of the Detroit Copper company. The last named gentleman continued on his homeward trip last evening and the former gentleman returned to the gold-mining outfit today.
