GENERAL KNOX TO THE FRONT

Attorney General Knox and Mrs. Knox Visit President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay, Found President Very Busy.

TALKS ABOUT CAFE AFFAIR

He Confirmed the Report That He Had a Personal Difficulty With a Party of Men at Atlantic City—The General to Sail for Europe Shortly.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 8.—President Roosevelt was exceptionally busy for several hours today disposing of the accumulation of public business. By luncheon time, he cleared away a mass of official correspondence and was ready to receive Attorney General and Mrs. Knox, who arrived from New York about noon.

It is understood that Attorney General Knox will sail shortly for Europe, where, in France, he will devote some personal attention to the Panama canal question. It is quite probable now that proceedings looking to the determination of the ability of the new Panama Canal Company to pass clear title to the United States will be conducted in the French courts. To a representative of the Associated Press, Knox confirmed the report that he had had a personal difficulty with a party of men in Atlantic City last Wednesday night.

"It was one of those disagreeable incidents," said he, "that sometimes occur in a restaurant or other public place. Accompanied by Mrs. Knox, my daughter, and two or three friends including District Attorney Young of Pittsburgh, I was dining in the restaurant of the Gardner hotel. A party of men, none of whom I knew, seated themselves at the adjoining table. Their conduct was unbecomingly boisterous. They talked loudly, and their comments upon the members of my party and upon me were insulting, to put it very mildly. Under the circumstances, accompanied as I was by ladies, I could not resist their actions or their words at that time. They evidently were seeking trouble, so without attracting any more attention than possible, I got my party out of the restaurant."

"Then I returned," continued Knox, with a smile, "to see if the men really were looking for me. I think they were, for scarcely had I approached them when they sprang up. One of them aimed a blow at my stomach, but he failed to reach me. I have no idea who he was. What happened to him I am not prepared to say. These things occur very quickly. I am quite satisfied, however, that he does not feel as well today as I do. You will note that I am looking first rate."

"You do not know who in the party were your assailants?" asked the attorney general.

"Not positively. I understand that Charles T. Schoen of Philadelphia, and one of the Cramps also of Philadelphia, were in the party, but even of that I am not at all positive."

"What actuated them I do not know. A newspaper of today said it had something to do with my attitude on the trust question, but that seems to be entirely unlikely. As they sat at the table in the restaurant they made no reference to the action which, I, as attorney general, have taken against the certain so-called trusts. Their remarks were personal to me and my family, and were of such nature that I could do nothing but resent them. I understand that after I left the restaurant at the conclusion of the difficulty, the waiters suppressed the crowd with some energy."

The attorney general was evidently not in the least injured by his assailants, and as he chatted about the trouble, he did not seem to regret it very seriously.

This matter was discussed at some length and resulted in a final adoption of same with very little opposition.

J. D. Sena then brought up the subject of the franchise to the Capital Light and Power company and defended the action of the city council in relation thereto. This caused a protracted discussion, in which E. A. Fiske, Mayor Sparks and others took part and resulted in the adoption of a resolution offered by General Bartlett referring the matter to a committee of three to confer with a representative of the proposed company. The committee appointed by the board of trade is composed of R. J. Palen, G. W. Knebel and S. G. Cartwright.

A resolution was offered by L. B. Prince empowering the president to appoint delegates to the Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress and other similar bodies. The resolution was unanimously passed. MURDERER
MEETS JUSTICE

Toombs, Convicted of the Brutal Murder of Carrie Carson, December 30 Last, is Executed in Chicago.

A MOST HORRIBLE DEED

He Strangled Her and Mutilated Her Body and Then Compelled a Boy to Help Bury It Beneath the Ice of the River—Was Convicted by Boy's Evidence.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 8.—Lewis G. Toombs was hanged at 11:25 today for the murder of Carrie Carson on December 30. Toombs was a cook on the steamer Peerless and had hired a young woman to assist him on the boat, which was lying ice-bound in its winter quarters in the Chicago river. The only other occupant of the boat was Robert Keissig, a roustabout. It was the story of Keissig that convicted Toombs of one of the most horrible crimes ever discovered in this city. Late at night, Toombs had come to the steamer and had tried to force his way into the young woman's room. Failing of this he ordered her to cook him a meal. As she started to comply, Toombs strangled her and mutilated her body horribly and then compelled Keissig, who was an unwilling witness, to help him bury the body under the ice of the river. Several days after the boy ran away to the police, fearing for his own life, and told the story which resulted in the recovery of the body of the woman and Toombs' conviction. Two trials were held. In the first there were two brothers on the jury who held out absolutely for acquittal. The verdict of the second trial was rendered after a deliberation of only 20 minutes. One stay of the execution was granted and the supreme court was appealed to for a supercedes.

Toombs went to the scaffold without a tremor. He made a short statement in which he protested his innocence, and expressed his confidence that his name would be cleared of the crime attributed to him. Death resulted from strangulation.

TROLLEY CAR STRIKE.

Situation Remains Unchanged. Citizens Committee at Work.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 8.—The trolley strike situation is unchanged today. The citizens committee labored far into the night in an effort to find some common ground on which the strikers and railway officials could meet and adjust the differences but without reaching a conclusion. Another meeting will be held today.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 8.—The papers were forwarded to the attorney general by mail. They set forth that the trolley company failed in its corporate duties and responsibilities, and by its failure to operate its cars caused great pecuniary loss to the community in which it is chartered to operate.

This afternoon it was announced by the citizens' committee that they regard the strike as practically settled. The officers of the company have consented to retain the discharged employees and the strikers have agreed if the company will agree in the future to meet a committee of the employees, to return to work.

THE NAVAJO INDIANS.

Unless the Government Comes to Their Aid Many Will Starve This Winter.

Durango, Colo., Aug. 8.—The Navajo Indians never have been in such misery as now since 1885, when Kit Carson had them rounded up in the corral at Fort Defiance. The extreme heat and drought in the Navajo country has ruined the ranges and the ponies, cattle, sheep and goats are starving by the scores daily. The Indians had little else than horse meat to eat for some time, and unless the government comes to their assistance, many must starve during the winter.

LAS CRUCES MAY

Rumor Says That the Rock Island Contemplates Building Its Line from Alamogordo via Las Cruces to Deming.

CONTINUED SCARCITY OF WATER IN RIO
GRANDE—AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENTS

Special Correspondence New Mexican.

Las Cruces, Aug. 7.—This quiet burg has been stirred this week over a rumor that the Rock Island Railroad Company contemplates building its line from Alamogordo via the Organ Pass to this place and thence on to Deming, where a connection is to be made with the El Paso road. This rumor may have grown out of the heated imagination of some over-zealous boomer; but those who profess to know something say that the report is not a bit improbable. They reason this way: There is a keen struggle on between all the great railroads of the country to get the oriental trade, present and prospective. In this struggle distance is the controlling factor. To that end the Central Pacific has undertaken, at an expense of $4,500,000 to shorten its line through Utah a distance of thirty miles, by running its line on trestles, a difficult engineering feat, across the Great Salt Lake. To a like end the Santa Fe railroad will soon build from Portales to connect with its line at Isleta or Albuquerque. The Rock Island, it is further argued, did not build into New Mexico for the Mexican business alone; its undoubted ambition is to get to the Pacific coast, and the El Paso road furnishes the means. The latter road, it is said, is now pushing on to San Diego, where the best harbor is to be found south of San Francisco, in the United States, and the existence of this road, paralleling, as it does, the Southern Pacific for hundreds of miles through New Mexico and Arizona, is illogical, unless the purpose is to form an eastern link in the transcontinental line, the controlling factor in the transportation business, the construction of a line by the Rock Island from Alamogordo, by the route above indicated, to Deming would save not less than fifty miles, pass through a good country and connect with the largest towns in the territory by direct rail. Our quidnunc concludes his argument by asking why the El Paso branch to Deming was built, if the extension of the Rock Island to that place was not in contemplation.

The continued absence of water in the Rio Grande, the scarcity of rain and the suffering of crops, continue to force the question as to a supply of water for irrigation by pumping plants to public attention. The Agricultural College has continued its experiments since my last report, and the results have demonstrated that there is a great stream of water flowing under the valley at a short distance from the surface. This fact has been absolutely determined, for a run of 300 hours with a pump throwing out over 800 gallons of water a minute, failed to make the slightest impression on the underground supply. This body of water is found in a stratum of gravel lying about 40 feet below the surface of the ground. The gravel is about 12 feet thick and rests upon a stratum of hard clay. The pipe has a 15-foot strainer, with slots, three-sixteenths of an inch wide, by an inch square. When the pump is run, the water rises through this stratum of gravel until it rests upon the stratum of clay. The water rises to within 15 feet of the surface. In consequence of these experiments, Professor J. C. Carreras has just put in and completed a pumping plant with a single horse power, and a contract with the F. H. Bascom Company to put in a like plant, with a 12-horse power gasoline engine, upon her farm. The contractors guarantee not less than 700 gallons of water per minute. There are several other similar plants in contemplation.

The many readers of the New Mexican are gratified to see its stand in favor of providing by law for the election of a county attorney for each county in the territory. All of southern New Mexico is in favor of such a change. When the territory of the courts were paid by the territory there was some reason for providing the appointment of these officers by the territorial executive, but now that all these expenses are borne by the taxpayers of each county, it is most illogical and unsatisfactory that the prosecuting attorneys should have the expenditure of other people's money when in no way accountable to them for the manner of the expenditure. Give each county its own attorney and make the office elective.

ST. PAUL ENTERS TEXAS

By the alliance the former company will secure a direct line to Salt Lake City and the Missouri-Pacific will gain a direct entrance from the Kansas City gateway into Chicago. This will place the St. Paul system with a terminus more than midway to the Pacific coast and give it an entrance into El Paso, Texas, over the Texas-Pacific tracks which are now owned by the Gould interests, thus tapping the great southwest, which is girded by the Gould lines."

ALBUQUERQUE NEWS.

The Elks Special Train Pass Through the City—Delegation from a Visitor.

Special Correspondence New Mexican.

Albuquerque, Aug. 8.—For a couple of hours this morning, Albuquerque was unusually gay. The cause was the passing of the gorgeously appareled Quilen Sabe Marching Elks on its way to the Salt Lake City Elks' carnival. The delegations from El Paso, and Arizona, were breakfasted at the Alvarado by the local Elks. Then the club formed, and reinforced by the Albuquerque delegation, marched through the streets. Every member was in uniform, and the reception given the club was tremendous. A special train bearing the Elks left the city a little before 9. The following went from Albuquerque: District Deputy B. Ruppe, Sheriff Thomas S. Hubbell, Alderman Frank McKee and J. S. Beaven, F. A. Hubbell, T. N. Wilkerson, Wm. Dunbar, Wm. McIntosh, C. W. Medler, Wm. Spencer, Geo. P. Leonard, Fred Fisher, S. Delegate Dennis Flynn of Oklahoma, arrived in the city last night and remained here for an hour. He is on his way from Honolulu to his home in Guthrie. A number of leading Albuquerque citizens met him and bestowed a warm welcome. Mr. Flynn spoke in the highest terms of the work done in behalf of statehood by Delegate Rodey. Concerning his own refusal to be a candidate for re-election, he said that he would not have declined if he had not been convinced that the election of his successor was assured. He made no secret of the fact that he had senatorial aspirations. He was positive that the omnibus bill would become law this fall, and will devote his time to the election of a legislature favorable to his own interests.

Miss Albright has been in her present position a year and her success has been marked.

In the college, left vacant by the resignation of W. A. Sutherland, Mr. Hoblit is a graduate of the Chicago University and has been conducting the Spanish correspondence course for that institution for the past year. He also spent five years in Mexico and is well qualified for the position here.

Mrs. Sweet and family and the Messrs. Ford and D. Hunt, of the Las Cruces Progress, returned this morning from the mountains where they have spent the last two weeks.

Captain Jack Crawford passed through here today from his home near San Marcial, en route east. Captain Jack said: "I am going to deliver some readings in the reading rooms at different points in Colorado and then going on east, where I have a number of large platform engagements. I was never in more demand than now. I have been breaking broncos and have cultivated 20 acres of land, then the drought in this Sunshine state raised me and I am going east." He said he would be gone several months, and that he would attend the meeting at Butte, Mont., to which he was appointed delegate by Governor Otero.

The board of trade held a meeting yesterday to consider a proposition made by Margarito Romero in behalf of the electric railway. Mr. Romero asked that the board of trade take, or attend to getting subscribers for the 30 bonds of $500 each that the company desired to sell in this city. He offered the bonds at 85 per cent of their face value, the bonds being first mortgage bonds. The offer was accepted, the money to be raised by the board selling the bonds will not be turned over to the company until the road is complete and in operation, and the money is only to be given on the consideration that the company expend at least $100,000 in the construction of the road. The routing of the line was also discussed. From the Castaneda up 6th street and over on National avenue, or up 6th street and over on Douglas avenue. The first route seemed to be preferred by the board, on account of Douglas

Chairman Terr. Rep. Cen. Com.
J. D. SENA, Secretary.

The Texas Republicans are having great fun. They are making nominations for members of congress, but as to electing any of them, that is another story, as Rudyard Kipling says.

Chairman Babcock, of the Republican congressional campaign committee, predicts that the Republicans will have a majority in the house of representatives in the 58th congress. Surely the indications are that way.

Special Ambassador Whitelaw Reid is home again with a considerably lighter purse and it is reported that he will go to Phoenix, Arizona, the coming winter to recover from the fatigue of the coronation that didn't come off.

The Albuquerque members of the Democratic central committee are happy. They got the Democratic convention at Albuquerque about Fair time and passed a resolution sideswiping the omnibus statehood bill. Great statesmen they, indeed.

An investigation into the circumstances attending the last Haytian revolution shows that the insurgent army had to retreat because the razors it carried had become dull. From this it is judged that the importation of razors into Hayti stopped revolutions could make no head way.

In addition to being a great admirer of Emilio Aguinaldo and of the Filipino assassins, Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, has now become a rainbow chaser. He says that the warm reception attended Colonel Bryan during his recent tour through New England indicates Democratic success in that section this coming campaign.

Senator Burton of Kansas, who several times during the past session of the 57th congress tried to make a racket by flocking all by himself, is finding that the Kansas Republicans are not approving his course. The senator will do well to flock with the Republican United States senators hereafter. He ought to remember that he was elected as a Republican and is expected to do what is right by his party.

A few members of the Democratic territorial central committee want the Democratic territorial convention of New Mexico to ignore the senate of the United States to pass no statehood bill for New Mexico unless a proviso for sure Democratic success for the next 200 years is contained therein. It is not believed, however, that the Democratic members of the United States senate will comply with this request. After all there are some things that are entirely too ridiculous.

The Vatican has thought it over a second time and will gracefully acquiesce in the removal of the Augustinian, Dominican, Franciscan and Recoletto brothers from the Philippines, only the Vatican will do it in such a manner as to make the removal appear to be a voluntary instead of a compulsory one, and will replace the Spanish friars with American friars. The Christian and Franciscan brothers and the Jesuits have done good work in New Mexico and there is an immense amount of work for them to do in the Philippines along educational and religious lines, but the Spanish friars also meddled in political affairs and are obnoxious to the Filipinos. Therefore they must go.

They commence campaigning early in California and the campaign in that state has already reached such intensity that it compares with an ordinary New Mexico campaign as a Texas cyclone does with a Santa Fe zephyr.

The way General Jacob H. Smith is being welcomed in the United States shows that the American public has not been carried away by the anathemas the anti-imperialists have hurled against this brave general.

Many people in this country believe that Consul General Bragg is correct in his opinion concerning the Cuban people, but then he should not have stated so in a letter to his wife. That was as good as publishing it in half a dozen daily papers.

The way the Boer leaders are flocking to England seems to indicate that the doughty Burghers enjoy British adulation more than they did British bullets and that even though they succeeded not in conquering British provinces, they have conquered British prejudice.

The annual starvation stories from the Pima reservation in Arizona are again being sent broadcast. The Pima Indians have been doing this starvation act annually for so long that they should be getting accustomed to it. However, Uncle Sam should construct irrigation works for these Indians and do it quickly.

The president is apparently paying off social scores in inviting prominent members of the bar, press and pulpit to dine with him at Oyster Bay, but the way the king bees in American political life are finding their way to Oyster Bay at the same time indicates that the president is busy fixing other fences than merely social ones.

The valued St. Louis Globe-Democrat figures out Republican success in Missouri this fall. The New Mexican suggests, however, that the fireworks do not let off until after the election returns are in. With the Nesbit law and a Democratic state administration, Missouri, to outsiders, still looks decidedly Democratic.

J. Pierpont Morgan will not divulge what has passed between himself and the Kaiser. All he would tell the interviewers was: "I have nothing to say. I met the Kaiser and liked him." What fearful consequences there might have been had Morgan not liked the Kaiser, the trembling world can only imagine.

In an Ohio district a glassblower is to be nominated as the Democratic candidate for congress. This is because they need a man who understands blowing. This example is respectfully recommended to the New Mexico Democracy. The Democratic candidate for delegate to congress will have to do an awful lot of blowing to cut any figure whatever in this fall's campaign.

The strike fever cuts queer capers now-a-days. The grave-diggers for a cemetery in Chicago have struck for higher wages and are picketing the cemetery to prevent scabs from digging graves. One of the future developments of unionism will be that a man to be assured a decent burial will have to take out a union card before dying and to die in the way prescribed by union rules. In San Francisco striking barbers are compelling every man to be his own barber.

One of the strange innovations introduced by Americans into Cuba was the lighting of town and village streets. This was too much for Cuban civilization and now many of these towns have reverted back to their native darkness. A short time ago an inquisitive Yankee visited a town a few miles from Havana and instituted investigation into the cause of the sudden change. He found that the municipality was still paying for the oil, but the thrifty mayor had seized it and kept it stored in a warehouse. On being questioned on the matter he unhesitatingly said that under the old Spanish government the mayor was entitled to a certain tax on all such commodities coming into the town and he was only keeping up the good old custom. And that settled it. His motto was, no tax no light.

CUBA MUST BE CALLED TO ACCOUNT. As might have been expected, Cuba is already in trouble. No sooner was American management withdrawn than Cuban imbecility became apparent. While Colonel Bliss of the United States army, was in charge of the Cuban custom service, the receipts (which were published daily) averaged $41,000 per day. Now the receipts are not published at all, but rumor has it that some days they have fallen as low as $5,000. These alarming conditions demand decreased expenditures to avert bankruptcy. In this country about the first thought would be decreased salaries of government officials; but that would not be Cuban and of course the incomes of the officials remain intact. Their first idea is to reduce the outlay on the splendid sanitary regulations which were established at such expense by General Wood and his able associates. Naturally the surgeon generals of the army and navy are closely watching the situation fearing (as well they may) a recurrence of the dreaded yellow fever. When the United States troops took possession of Cuba, Havana and Santiago, these cities were festering in the accumulated filth of centuries. Americans could not exist in such unclean conditions and inside of two years these pest-holes were so thoroughly cleansed as to compare favorably with seaport towns in this country, but in far less time than that, the Cubans have fallen back into the old rut and now they are threatened with a speedy return of the dread pestilence, which was wont to ravage cities on the Atlantic coast. Indeed its horrors were not confined to the coast for at times they have decimated the river towns as far up as Memphis and Nashville, and spread panic and death on all sides. Fortunately the Platt amendment to the Cuban constitution provided among other things that Cuba shall execute plans of sanitation to be made mutually with this government to prevent the recurrence of epidemic and infectious diseases, but hardly had the starry flag disappeared from Moro Castle when this provision of the Cuban constitution was shamefully violated by the Cuban government and the inevitable result must be the yellow fever in all its deadliest forms. The danger to which the southern people are exposed imperatively calls on the administration to insist on the enforcement of the constitutional provisions above referred to. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Now is the time to secure the prevention to the end that the cure will not be needed.

THE BROKEN CIRCUIT

BY JOHN H. RAFFERTY.

Their friendship began in the early days of the wireless telegraphy demonstrations by Marconi. The only two of a large company of grasping students who agreed phenomena of wireless mental telegraphy and suggestion, Parker and Brevoort drifted apart from the scoffers and commenced to knit from the tangled materials of their dreams, their speculations and their oddly different temperaments, that queer but unbreakable friendship which endures without a break till poor Parker died. They became as brothers, forever delving into occult ramifications of science, silent, inseparable, and mutually self-sacrificing.

Brevoort's room was the front half of an old loft on the fourth floor of a store building just beyond the university settlement, and Parker lived in a sort of tenement in the tower of a flat building about a mile south in a direct line from Brevoort's place. Parker was studying law and his friend was in the junior medical class, but neither of them cared for rank or standing, preferring the pure knowledge along those devices, scattering trails that first lure the undisciplined minds of all imaginative students. Parker, who had a knack of modeling in clay, set up a sort of studio in one corner of Brevoort's barn-like room, and there the two friends spent most of their indoor leisure, studying, smoking, chatting, experimenting. Brevoort in time came to be a more dextrous sculptor than his friend and his room became populous with scores of more or less artistic and accurate plaster casts.

Lord knows just how they started or how far they got into the probing of the mysteries of mental radiations. They were in the habit of walking together for hours along the lake shore or in the park in silent conversation, so to speak, each with his keen mind fixed upon the other, each bent upon projecting words which simple messages as might reach the other's faltering consciousness. Then they discovered, or thought so, that these soundless waves of thought always seemed to travel best when exchanged while they faced each other with back to north or south. That suggested the idea of new experiments, and very soon Parker in his little room facing the north and Brevoort in the south window of his room were radiating short messages that had no meaning beyond the undeniable proof of all their previous surmises. But when the code got wind of these weird things they began to worry the friends. Brevoort was proof against the young women, but Parker, who was a tender-hearted, impressionable fellow, fell in love with Kate Caldwell, and made her a sort of side partner in their psychical researches. The odd part of this was that her introduction into the affairs of the two students made no breach in their relations, and when poor Parker fell sick with pneumonia Kate got a room in his boarding-house so that she could nurse him. Indeed, she had him moved from his draughty room in the tower, placed him in her own cozy bed and herself took possession of the sentry box.

Brevoort would relieve Kate every night and sit up with his failing friend, and between them they watched him so assiduously, lost so much sleep and fretted so much that at last they were obliged to give up all their university work and stand together, a forlorn hope, against the advancing, merciless intruder. Parker was quite conscious for a few days before he died and to Brevoort, bending over him, he reiterated his simple wishes. He wanted to be cremated; he had no next relatives, so Kate might have some of Brevoort's rest of his dust. She was to have his books and the furnishings of his little room, and Brevoort was to keep the utensils and equipments of the studio.

"You're a pretty good modeler now," whispered Parker, smiling ghastly. "Try your hand on a bust of me, take a death mask, will you?" He died that night with Brevoort and Kate holding his hands. His classmates carried his coffin to the furnace, and in the days that followed they had reverently divided his ashes they tried to make a fair division of poor Parker's mighty share of love and loyalty for them both. But it was nearly a week after his going that they set apart for each day a time when they might resume their experiments. The death-mask was done. It stood ghostly in Brevoort's closet, and beneath it in a tiny wooden box the handful of ashes of their friend. Kate had taken possession of the little sentry box, and upon its narrow mantel shelf in a little silver jewel box lay the relics of her lost lover.

"The night of the first day after their renewed efforts to exchange messages they met on the campus. "Did you get any message?" she asked, frowning petulantly. "No," he answered, looking furtively over his upturned collar; "what was it?" "I asked you to come over," her lip was trembling; "queer, we never failed before."

"Yes, it is queer," Then, after an awkward pause, "I say, Kate, did you notice anything while you were sending that message?" "No-o. That is, not just then. I had that little box of his ashes in my hand when I said 'come over.' I don't know where I laid it afterward, but I can't find it."

"They were silent for a moment, but before they parted he laid a nervous hand on her sleeve and said:

"We'll try it again to-night at eight. This time I'll send the message."

"All right," she answered, without looking at him, and darting into the hall.

But when they met again next morning and he asked her, hesitatingly:

"Did you get my message, Kate?" she looked up frightened to hear him call her "Kate," and then quickly answered: "No, Mr. Brevoort."

"Did anything odd happen while you were sending your message?" she asked, letting her eyes stray apprehensively over her pallid face.

"Yes, Miss Caldwell," and he laughed pitifully with a note of tired mockery in his voice. "Yes, a very annoying thing happened. Just as I had spoken the message there was a crash in my closet, and when I looked in the plaster mask of Parker was in bits on the floor. I think I can remember him well enough to make another from memory, but the ashes, his ashes, too, were scattered by the fall. By the way, did you find your little silver box?"

"No," she murmured, distraught and biting her red lip for a minute before she asked: "What was your message?"

"They were standing in front of the lecture hall now, and he watched her face for a breathless moment before he whispered: "Can't you guess, Kate?"

"I might, sir," she answered, coldly, "but I won't."

In Girlhood

There is a great need of motherly watchfulness and care. A growing girl needs all her strength, and if she is nervous and melancholy, and loses appetite there is surely something wrong. This is especially true as the young girl approaches that important period of change when the womanly function is established. Timely care and proper treatment at this period may save much after suffering.

The best medicine for young girls who are nervous, melancholy, and irregular of appetite, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures nervousness, dizziness, and melancholy, promotes the appetite, and gives the body robust health. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

"My daughter was troubled with dizziness and constipation and was very nervous for five years," writes Mrs. M. Carter, of 135 4th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. "I tried several doctors but they gave her no relief. At times she would eat nothing, had green and purple circles under her eyes, and was melancholy. A woman friend of mine told me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets' which I did. After taking one bottle of each she began to improve and is still strong and healthy. She is now twelve years old. There are no circles under her eyes now and she is healthy and robust, eats as much as any child, and is growing faster every day."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets regulate the bowels.

CONVINCING PROOF.
The Average Santa Fe Citizen Must Accept the following Proof.

The great Sir Isaac Newton, one of the most profound reasoners the world ever produced, once cut a large hole in a board fence to allow a favorite cat access to two gardens, and cut a smaller hole to allow her kitten to follow her. The weakness manifested in Sir Isaac's action was due to want of thought. Any reader who mentally debates the proof offered here about Doan's Kidney Pills and arrives at any other conclusion than that stated in this citizen's statement, is at short of reasoning powers as the philosopher when he turned carpenter.

Mr. J. S. Wood, accountant in the St. Louis Label Works, living at 206 Morton street, St. Louis, says: "My old home is in Quincy, Ill., a place where Doan's Kidney Pills are a household necessity. When I first came to St. Louis several druggists on whom I called did not have them in stock, and I sent to an old friend, a pharmacist in Quincy, Ill., for them. I had attacks of kidney complaint for five or six years, causing my back to ache just across the loins. I found that Doan's Kidney Pills acted as represented and when I noticed them advertised at 'Wolf-Wilson's,' corner Sixth street and Washington avenue, I went there for a box; not that I required them at the time, but I thought it was a good opportunity to adopt precautionary methods."

Just such emphatic endorsement can be had right here in Santa Fe. Drop into Ireland's Pharmacy and ask what his customers report. For sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

WATCH FOR A CHILL.
However slight at this time of year and in this climate, it is the forerunner of malaria. A disposition to yawn, and an all tired out feeling even come before the chill. Herbine, by its prompt stimulative action on the liver, drives the malarial germs out of the system, purifies the blood, tones up the system and restores health. 50c at Fischer Drug Co.

THE NEWS OF THE MEADOW CITY

avenue being the way most used by freighters and carriages, and it was feared a track down that avenue would interfere with the traffic between the two towns. The routing, though, has not been definitely settled. The board's proposition was telegraphed to the head office in St. Louis, and a reply is expected soon.

The spirit of Miss Ethel Schuster has winged its flight. She died last night at 9 o'clock, succumbing to the dread disease, consumption. Miss Schuster, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Kayler, came here about three months ago from Chicago, hoping to receive some benefit from New Mexico's climate, but her trouble had made too much progress before she arrived here and little benefit was noted. She was 21 years of age, and lived with her mother on 11th street. The remains, accompanied by her grief-stricken mother, were shipped today back to her home in Chicago.

The Las Vegas ball team redeemed their reputation yesterday afternoon by defeating one of the strongest teams that has played ball in the territory for some time, and decidedly stronger than the Albuquerque team which defeated Las Vegas last Sunday. The Lamar, Colo., team only got five runs, and only one of these carried. Las Vegas jacked up 15 runs, and most of them were earned. The feature of the game was a home run by Parsons when the bases were full in the fourth inning. Rhodes pitched a star game and allowed only six safe hits to the Lamar team. The boys had the ginger that was lacking last Sunday, and the game was exciting throughout despite the fact that they pounded the Lamar boys most terribly. The Lamar boys have played 22 games this season and only lost four besides the one they lost yesterday. The fact of our boys nearly closing such a team out, shows what they can do when they play ball. There was a fair crowd out, and they were well paid. The battery for Lamar was Cummings and Weel, and the Rhodes and Parsons for Vegas. The Lamar boys are captained by Mitchell of Rocky Ford, and they are a gentlemanly set of men. They have lots of life in them, and keep the music going on the diamond. Today the battery for Lamar will be Prentiss and Weel. W. B. Twitchell umpired the game, and gave good satisfaction. He was particularly good in the way of not allowing wrangling and delaying the game. The score by innings was as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Lamar	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	1	5
Las Vegas	2	0	2	4	0	2	1	1	15

The El Paso & Southwestern railroad expects to inaugurate its passenger service between Deming and Bisbee on the 7th of this month.

Samuel W. Brown, cattle inspector for the counties of Grant, Luna and Dona Ana, was in Silver City Monday, and reports the condition in the counties as good as usual at this time of year, the loss being no more than ordinary.

Mr. Brown states that more cattle have died in the Playas and San Simon valleys than in any other section, but even here the loss has not been serious. He is very hopeful of a good rainy season yet and feels confident that the worst is past.

The Inspector takes a very optimistic view of the situation and in his opinion the stock situation in southwest New Mexico is very good.

Dr. L. T. Hess, for the past two years pathologist and physical diagnostician at the U. S. General Hospital for tuberculosis at Fort Bayard, has been ordered to the Philippines for service in the archipelago. Before sailing Dr. Hess will be married in New York City to Miss May F. Stone, of that city. Miss Stone has been the guest for the past year of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Parker, of the Burros, and like the doctor is very popular here.

A popular couple of Silver City were married at Pinos Altos Sunday. The contracting parties are H. H. Kelly, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Kelly, and Miss Capita Simon, of Fort Wayne, Ind., who has been making Silver City her home for the past six months.

Mr. Kelly is quite a favorite in town and holds a responsible position in the Silver City National bank. The wedding was a complete surprise as the young people did not let any one know of their intentions before hand. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are spending a short honeymoon at El Paso.

LINCOLN COUNTY NEWS.

The North Capitol Citizens Want a Postoffice—Politics in Lincoln.

Special Correspondence New Mexican. Lincoln, N. M., Aug. 7.

The citizens at North Capitol have petitioned the postoffice department to establish a postoffice at that place, with C. F. Graves as postmaster. Consideration is suggested as a good name for the office. This word is a combination of the words coal and ore, and typifies the main industries of the place. The petition was forwarded to Washington this week, and it is expected that the office will shortly be established.

A convention of the Democrats of Lincoln county is called to meet at Lincoln on Saturday, August 16, for the purpose of electing delegates to the Territorial Democratic convention, to the council convention, 9th district, and to the legislative convention, 15th district; and to nominate candidates for the several offices of Lincoln county.

The equipment for the Eagle Mining Company telephone line has been received and will be placed in position as soon as an electrician can be secured to do the work.

F. C. Matteson has announced himself a candidate for joint representative from Lincoln, Chavez and Eddy counties, subject to the action of the Democratic convention.

Good rains are reported in the neighborhood of Glencoe. It is said that there is plenty of water in the Rio Grande, and that the fruit crop will be very large this year.

Los Alamos Notes. Special Correspondence New Mexican. Los Alamos, N. M., August 5.

A glorious, grand rain commenced to fall here today at 5 p. m., and some hail, but not enough to do any great harm. This will certainly make grass on all the ranges and help the growing crops of all kinds in this valley. I am of the opinion that this rainfall was enough to fill water holes on the ranges and will put an end to all drought. Sheep and cattle will now prosper and their owners likewise.

Flor Trujillo unloaded and delivered to William Frank 30,000 pounds of good dry native salt taken from the Tecolote salt lakes.

The second crop of alfalfa is being cut just now to get it out of the way and give the third crop a show to grow.
