Challenger is the only town in New Mexico of any size without a Chinaman.

The Citizen was the only daily newspaper published yesterday in New Mexico.

 is Col. Wm. M. Berger, who will arrange place and hour of meet-

Gov. Otero can do much to further popular education in this territory by appointing to the office of territorial superintendent of public schools a man qualified to fill the position, one who is a practical educator, and who will earn his salary by building up the educational interests of the territory.

The present territorial superintendent of schools has no little conception of the public schools, and cares as little for their advancement that he declined to attend the annual meeting of the teachers at Santa Fe last week.
 His office is in the capital building, where the teachers held their meetings, and he was invited to attend.

PUEBLO INDIANS.
 The house committee on Indian affairs has received a letter from the commissioner of Indian affairs requesting two items of appropriation to pay the special attorney of the Pueblo Indians of New Mexico for the current and ensuing fiscal year, to assist in obtaining an order of court for the "first priority" of an ample and definite quantity of water for irrigation and other purposes. In response to a request that the United States attorney aid in the matter, the attorney general said "that he had no authority to protect the interests of the Pueblo Indians." The appropriation committee will not give a special appropriation, but will give everything they intend to give in a general bill.

EDUCATING THE CHILDREN.
 The latest report of the United States commissioner of education shows that there are 17,000,000 pupils in public and private schools. Of these 15,000,000 are attending the public common schools of the elementary or secondary grades. These and other figures show that in the common schools, either as pupils or instructors, are one-fifth of the population of the United States. The three richest, wisest and most cultivated nations of the old world—Great Britain and France and Germany—(the German empire, including all the confederated states)—have a combined common school enrollment of only about 10,000, though their combined population is over 120,000,000. If the time hasn't already arrived, this army of American school children surely herald it, when the United States will be a "world power" without the aid of bayonets or smokeless powder.

THE TWENTIETH CENTURY FACTS.
 The twentieth century will contain 52,562 days, which lacks one day of being exactly 146,097 days. Of these 146,097 days are attending the public common schools of the elementary or sec-
 ures show that in the common schools,
 either as pupils or instructors, are
 old world—Great Britain and France
 school enrollment of only about 10,000, after that the same thing will happen at the following intervals: Six: eleven, ington's birthday, which occurs, as also

INDIAN EDUCATION.
 Miss Estelle Reed, general superintendent of Indian schools, has just received her third annual report on the Indian schools of the United States. In addition to giving much interesting data, she discusses in an interesting way the conditions, the needs, and the prospects of the Indian schools treating the Indian question in a clear manner and from a practical point of view.

Miss Reed emphasizes the overshadowing importance of industrial training for both boys and girls. The boys should be taught stockraising and farming and given a practical knowledge of tools to enable them to mend their weapons and farm implements and shoe their horses, and the girls should be trained in the art of practical

SCHOOL OF MINES.
 What Prof. Jones Says About This Territorial Institution.

LIBERAL CONGRESSIONAL SUPPORT.
 Prof. A. A. Jones, of Bozeman, president of the School of Mines at Bozeman, Mont., was here the other day. He is convinced that the School of Mines occupies a place of importance in the future development of the territory. He says:

"Yes, the New Mexico School of Mines is now beginning to fulfill the purpose for which the institution was designed. The work now carried on in mining engineering and chemistry is fully up to the standard of any similar schools in America. The school has recently made many additions to the line of equipment to successfully carry on a high plane of scientific and technical work. The work in general is far different in character from that of any of the sister institutions, which the territory has established, and the field covered by its instruction is not, as some few have claimed, to duplicate work done in the other territorial institutions. The school does not give instructions in pedagogy, military tactics, bookkeeping, or dead languages.
 Although a preparatory department is now run in conjunction with the technical work, which is only done to fit candidates for the more advanced work in the scientific courses, and the work in this line is gradually being eliminated as the school grows in numbers and reputation, the school is a valuable asset to the territory. When this time is reached that the school is no longer a preparatory school, but a school of science, the school will be a valuable asset to the territory. The good emanating from the School of Mines is not merely a local affair, but is creating more tangible wealth for the territory at large than comes from any other source. The few thousands of dollars which the school receives annually for its support is a mere pittance to the good created and derived through its beneficial influence. The many young men who have and who now seek instruction in the school of Mines are not metallurgists and engineering positions in the territory, and are filling themselves for the higher technical work which the rapidly advancing methods of the mineral industry require. The measure now pending in congress giving to the school federal support is confidently expected to become a law. This measure passed the house without a dissenting voice, and was reported on favorably by the committee to which it was referred in the house. This measure provides for the school of Mines for the year 1901, an increase of $100,000 per annum for five years, reaching a permanent fund of $1,000,000. The success of this measure is practically assured, and the school will receive an increase of $100,000 per annum for five years, and from the 10,000 acres of land donated to the school by the Ferguson act, the New Mexico School of Mines will overshadow the other institutions in the territory, and methods pertaining to the metallurgical sciences."

PROBATE COURT MATTER.
 Custody of Children Will Cause Litigation at Las Vegas.

Quite an important case has been going on before the San Miguel county probate court since the first of the year, and it is expected that testimony will all be in by to-night. It seems that nearly nine years ago, N. Segura and wife were appointed guardians by the court and petition of the said Mrs. Simon Myers, of her two children, a little boy five years and girl eight years of age. Now comes the mother.
 Mrs. Simon Myers, and petitions the court that her husband, John Myers, the step-father of the children, be granted the children by adoption, he petitioning the court to become their legal father. The mother, Mrs. Myers, who has been under the protection of the court, and looked after by their guardians for the past nine years, declares now to return to their mother, but she will not say with whom they have become attached, the children now being aged fourteen and seventeen respectively.

ANOTHER RAILROAD.
 The Choctaw Will Extend and Connect With the Santa Fe at El Paso.

The news comes from St. Louis to the effect that the Choctaw road will soon begin work on an extension from Weatherford, Oklahoma, to a point on the Santa Fe near the Texas line, says the El Paso Herald.

Francis L. Gowen, president of the road is quoted as follows: "This rapid development of the country having forced the matter, the company has decided to extend its line eighty-one miles westward from Weatherford, its present terminus, and also to build a branch road 120 miles in length, from a point near Weatherford, in a southwesterly direction, to a point on the Atchison line near the southern boundary line of the Indian Territory.
 Both lines will run through good agricultural country. A large coal tonnage is also assured to the branch line by contract under which the Atchison company will lease for five

HAYDN'S UNHAPPY WIFE.

 Her Sister's Name Was

Haydn married, not the girl he was in love with, but her sister. "Haydn," you should take my oldest daughter," said the father. The girl, however, as Keller had done a good deal for Haydn, the composer felt that he must sacrifice his affection on the altar of duty and oblige the old man. At the time of the marriage, in 1760, Haydn was 29, and his bride was 23.
 There does not appear to have been much love on either side to start with, but Haydn declared that he had really begun to "like" his wife, and would have come to entertain a stronger feeling for her if she had behaved in a reasonable way. Unfortunately, Anna Marie had neither rhyme nor reason in her composition. The entertaining Marcella says that the majority of lavish married to enter into a stage performance. The composer's wife, Anna Marie, was a woman of great talent,

OVER 8,000 MILES OF TRACK.
 Santa Fe Increased System's Mileage
 by Purchasing Peas Valley.

Some misapprehension arose last week over the ownership of the Peas Valley and Northeastern railroad, running from Amarillo, Texas.
 The Santa Fe company has practically owned the Peas Valley and Northeastern railroad since it was sold to the Santa Fe company in April, 1898.
 The purchase has just been formally made, however.

This increases the mileage of the system to 8,000 miles, which makes its total length over 8,200 miles.

BIG GALAPAGOS TURTLES.
 The Heaviest Weighed 600 Pounds and Was Worth for Scientific Tests $500.

From the Galapagos Islands the schooner Julia Whalen has brought ten of the immense turtles for which the islands are noted. The biggest shell back of them all weighs 600 pounds and is said to be the largest ever brought from the islands. Unfortunately, the monster reptile was accidentally killed two weeks out from the islands. A sharp piece of timber fell on the deck and pierced the animal's lungs. The turtle coughed blood for awhile, and an attempt was made to plaster up the hole, but the injured tortoise died in a fortnight. As scientists estimate the average life of these turtles at 200 years, death within two weeks of an injury is practically instantaneous—for a turtle.
 It is said in the islands that no turtle has died a natural death in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. During the two centuries that scientists have allotted it to live some accident generally befalls the turtle. Many have perished by falling over precipices, and a number have been overrun by lava flows. In fact, the turtle is a very vulnerable animal. In the islands, in fact, the turtle is brought back dead by the Whalen. Shows marks on his shell of having been caught in some fiery flow. There are scars on his shell, showing that the lava moved more quickly than he. A ton of cactus leaves was brought on the schooner as food for the turtles.

R. E. Snodgrass, an instructor in zoology at Stanford university, and E.
 Heller, a zoologist there, were with the Whalen for the purpose of making scientific observations. One of the giant tortoises belonged to them, and they have in addition 150 varieties of fish. Sixty-two varieties of fish were taken on the voyage, and the collection is remarkably rich zoologically. Of the fish brought back to Stanford, 50 specimens are new to science. The collection brings also a most complete collection of insects, many of them un-described, and a fine collection of birds and reptiles. They have a specimen of a marine iguana, or sea lizard, six feet long.

The college men report that the turtles, though still numerous on Albuquerque, have disappeared from the other islands, except on Dunes Island, where one species of the testudo family still exists. There are three species on Albuquerque, but on the other islands, each of which had its separate species, the turtles are extinct. The inhabitants of the islands kill the turtles for their oil, and the supply is steadily growing less. The turtles brought back on the Whalen are worth from $200 to $500 apiece. There were ten, some of them bound for museums, some for zoological gardens and more for the soup kettle.—San Francisco Chronicle.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

C. J. Whit, wife from Kansas City, are late arrivals, stopping at the Hotel Highland.

The plumbers are in great demand these cold days, on account of the water pipes freezing and bursting.

P. J. Turner, the Colorado stock inspector for New Mexico, with headquarters at Las Vegas, was in the city yesterday and last night on business.

The regular monthly meeting of the Albuquerque library association will be held Saturday morning, Jan. 5th, at 10:30 in the library rooms on West Gold avenue.

Nabor Miralob, of San Rafael, and Jose Y. Aragon, of Mangas, well-known sheep raisers and ranchmen, are in the city stocking up with ranch goods and supplies.

Word was received this morning that Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shoup, both of whom have been sick with la grippe for the past week, are improving and are now able to be up.

A. B. Reagan, government farmer for Indiana, stationed the past year at the Jones Paddock in the city and is one his way to the Apache agency, where he has been transferred.

Car loads of lumber and laths for the new railway hotel and depot are arriving from the east daily, and Messrs. Anson & Holman, the contractors, will from now on push construction work.

Brookmeyer & Cox have finally got themselves well fixed up in their new quarters on Gold avenue, and, of course, such cold snaps as these days keep their force of plumbers busily engaged.

There will be a regular communication of Temple lodge, No. 6, A. F. & A. M. at Masonic hall to-morrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Regular business. By order of W. M. C. W. Medler, secretary.

There will be an annual meeting of the Albuquerque national guards to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. Every one is requested to be present, as the election of officers will take place. Ben Benjamin, president, J. Edwin Owen, coupon clerk.

Small weekly newspapers, both English and Spanish, are springing up like mushrooms in all parts of New Mexico and Arizona. The Arizona Review is the name of a weekly just launched at Kingman, a small town out on the Santa Fe Pacific. A printer, Lew Blakely, is the editor and publisher.

David Kelleher, an old civil war veteran who is known throughout New Mexico and Arizona, is reported to have died at the California Soldiers' home the other day. He was sent to the home a few years ago from Kingman, out on the Santa Fe Pacific, and an aged wife now resides there to mourn his death.

Linus Shields, who was at the Jones hot springs where he spent the holidays with home folks, returned to the city yesterday, and has again resumed his school duties at the university. Linus claims that the mountains of the Jones country are pretty well covered with snow, but he found the weather here about as cold, if not a little bit colder, than at the Jones springs.

A. J. Maloy, the well-known Railroad avenue groceryman, spent yesterday (New Year) in visiting grocery boxes from his old stand, No. 118 Railroad avenue, to No. 214, further west on the same avenue. Messrs. Smith & McGee, who retire from active business life for the time being, sold all their store fixtures and furniture to Mr. Maloy.

The new conductors on the Santa Fe Pacific, having regular runs between this city and Window, are James Purcell and A. L. Chandler. These two well-known railroaders were in line of promotion, and The Citizen is pleased to understand that they will now punch tickets on regular passenger trains going and coming from this city on the Santa Fe Pacific.

At the police court this morning five plain drunks were brought up for sentence. Judge Crawford imposed fines of $5 in each case. Joe Baker, a rough neck, while passing through Albuquerque, visited the city jail, and started a fight following it up by using gross language on the streets with the result that he landed at the police station and paid $10 to the city for his fun.

A. B. Goetz, for several years the general manager of the Peace Valley Irrigation company, stationed at Carlsbad, has resigned that position and has left to accept a position with the Texas Cattle company at Ft. Worth. Mr. Goetz was a great help in advising the Peace valley, and his departure will not be regretted by the people of Carlsbad and that valley. The Carlsbad people will miss his city and his friends also regret his departure from the territory.

Painters, paper hangers and plasterers have been at work the past few days at the store room on south second street recently vacated by Henry Broadmeyer, and as soon as the work is completed Mrs. McCright will occupy the room as her millinery store.
