POLITICAL TWINS MOST TRYING TO LEADERS OF TWO GREAT PARTIES

Two Issues Give Decided
Cause of Worry to Men Who Are Trying to Mobilize for Campaign of 1916.

EIGHTEEN STATES ARE IN DRY COLUMN NOW

Wets Losing in Famous Stronghold: Negro Problem Makes Whisky Menace to South,
Is Contention.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Washington, Oct. 9.—(Continued from page 1.)
The two issues which are most trying to the leaders of the two great parties are the whisky question and the negro problem. The whisky question is a national issue, while the negro problem is a local issue. The whisky question is a national issue because it affects the entire country, while the negro problem is a local issue because it affects only the South. The whisky question is a national issue because it affects the entire country, while the negro problem is a local issue because it affects only the South.

Strange Bedfellows.
While these two issues are essentially non-partisan, circumstances have made some strange political bedfellows. Thus, in the South, where the white voter is supposed to like the liquor fully as well as the negro, the negro has become a powerful ally of the prohibition cause, and of the eighteen prohibition states in the Union the South supplies seven, while the other states of the Union supply eleven. In the North, where the white voter is supposed to dislike the liquor, the negro has become a powerful ally of the prohibition cause, and of the eighteen prohibition states in the Union the North supplies seven, while the other states of the Union supply eleven.

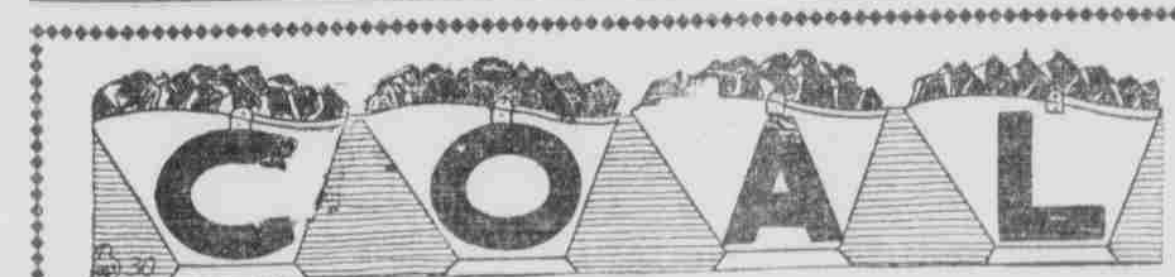

ALVARADO MAN RESTORED BY WONDERFUL REMEDY

Gets Appetite and Comfort Back After Taking First Dose.

T. A. Hensley, of Alvarado, Texas, suffered for a long time from indigestion, loss of appetite, and general weakness. He had been told that he was suffering from a serious disease, and was in a very bad state of mind. He had been told that he was suffering from a serious disease, and was in a very bad state of mind. He had been told that he was suffering from a serious disease, and was in a very bad state of mind.

"I have taken your treatment for stomach trouble and consider it a decided success. I have been suffering from stomach trouble for a long time, and have been told that I was suffering from a serious disease. I have been told that I was suffering from a serious disease, and was in a very bad state of mind. I have been told that I was suffering from a serious disease, and was in a very bad state of mind.

My stomach is now in good shape, and I am able to eat and drink as usual. I am now in good health, and I am able to do my work as usual. I am now in good health, and I am able to do my work as usual. I am now in good health, and I am able to do my work as usual.

When We Went to School

They taught us A. B. C. (American Block Coal) and that there were 2,000 pounds to a ton. Since we have been in the coal business we haven't forgotten it either. But 2,000 pounds don't always mean a ton of coal on the scales. Dirt, rubbish, clinkers and slate will increase the weight of a load of coal without giving you a 2,000-pound ton of pure, screened, heat-producing coal. Every pound of foreign matter that is in your coal means the loss of a pound of real coal. "FULL VALUE" coal is what we sell just as honestly as if the government made us stamp it, as they do pure food.

Capacity of City Is Taxed to Entertain Visitors That Are Pouring in From Every Section of State.

INFORMATION BUREAU
IS WELL ORGANIZED

Everybody Assured of a Good
Time During Gay Carnival Season That Will Begin Tomorrow Morning.

Albuquerque has seen its carnival
before, but never has she seen anything like the throngs that are now
gathering to take in the first great
state fair that has ever been held in New Mexico.

Walk down Central Avenue and look at the people this morning. You will find it is not an easy stroll along the sidewalks. You will notice that there have been no horse-drawn carriages
for some time. Instead of taking the regular Sunday parade down Central Avenue, the people are merrily thronging the sidewalks.

Some time ago the city had such
a multitude of horse-drawn carriages
and wagons that it was well known to everybody. When it first became apparent that the multitude
of this fair was to arrive that of course the city was well prepared for the occasion. With a large force of men to look out for the comfort and convenience of the visitors to the city. Some men it seemed to be a question of how many people we could be able to attract to Albuquerque, and became a problem of how
we were going to take care of those
that were sure to come.

Problem solved.
This problem was soon solved. An order was made to the police and
hospitality of all classes and conditions of citizens. Private homes were placed at the disposal of the visitors. This would mean that no one should be able to say that the city was lacking in the matter of hospitality.

A bureau of information was organized by the fair commission
which will place of the visitors in all matters. Headquarters have been established in the A. M. C. A.
office, near across the street from the main fair station. In charge of these headquarters is J. H. Hartman, who has a competent staff of men under him. A complete list of all the horse-drawn carriages, wagons
and vehicles is on file. Mr. Hartman and his assistants will meet every train for the next week, and will place themselves at the disposal of the visitors for the purpose of seeing that comfort and happiness
shall be the rule of the fair.

Big Time Assured.
A big time is assured everybody
who comes to take in the fair. There is no end of fun to be had from the new fair of being in a crowd, and this will be the biggest crowd that has ever been gathered in Albuquerque.
From the time that the parade
starts tomorrow morning with these hundreds of men and the parade will be the big draw of the fair. The night
time will be something that is never repeated.

It will be a big crowd in fact it is already a big crowd. But Albuquerque is ready to the emergency.
The hospitality of her people has never been thought of in Albuquerque.
Now, with there is a better to more complete organization for looking after the people. No sign of wagon will be allowed to go away from Albuquerque with a fair complaint as to
the treatment received at the hands
of the people of the city.

That white problems, whether water or other, are being solved by a crowd, and
the crowd will see them in a day.

MONARCHISTS IN PORTUGAL CAUSE MANY DISORDERS

General Impression as to Source of Revolts Incorrect; Assert Authoritative Advice From Lisbon.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Lisbon, Sept. 1. The things in northern Portugal which have been supposed for the time being to have been caused by monarchists, are in fact the result of a more complex form of government than the present extreme radical one in power, and not by monarchists as appears to be supposed outside Portugal. Great unrest is observed in official quarters, but the indications are that the government does not yet consider the danger as past. Troops are kept in constant readiness day and night for service, especially from warships in the harbor play nightily upon the water's surrounding shores, with the object presumably of preventing attacks from insurgents who might attempt to land from their boats or barges. Among distinguished republicans arrested are Miguel de Caceres, a deputy and son of a recent republican leader, Dr. Eduardo de Abreu. Two republican provincial civil governors have also been arrested and forty other persons more obscure.

Prisoners Are Stunned.
Many of the prisoners were stunned and shocked by the scenes by caricatures, members of the secret political societies which uphold the present government. Senor Teófilo Mayor, a great leader, proprietor of Oporto and a known socialist, was arrested and taken to a police station for examination. His body was brought out half an hour later. The authorities say he committed suicide, but there is considerable doubt as to whether Mayor's death has caused a great sensation in that part of the country.

When the revolt broke out, the Spanish destroyers entered the Tagus, ostensibly for coal, but the public took their entrance as a reminder that Spain is now watching constantly. It is generally believed that the Spanish warships in the Tagus during the uprising in last May would have disembarked machine in good numbers, and that the rebels had such disorders continued twenty-four hours longer.

RECOGNITION OF CARRANZA HAS NO TERRORS FOR GENERAL VILLA

STORIES OF HOARD OF MONEY ENTIRELY FALSE

Generals of Convention Forces
Pleased With Outlook; 40,
000 Men Said to Be Headed Toward State of Sonora

IN MORNING, GENERAL VALLA LEARNED WORDS in Paris, Tex., Oct. 9.—The war is just beginning, said Gen. Francisco Villa, with a broad grin, upon receiving from his representatives at Washington today the news of the recognition of the Carranza party as the de facto government of Mexico.

A murmur of relief ran through the group of his "dorasos," his bodyguard, which crowded the car as the new spread from lip to lip.

"We know now what we have to do!" one exclaimed.

Leaders Gratified.

In the discussion following the retirement of the American women, a sentiment but satisfaction was generally expressed by the chiefs of the northern league.

General Villa returned to his private compartment and refused to give any statement upon the news, saying he had nothing to add to his statement of today.

Col. Darcio Silva, assistant chief

claim that now would begin a campaign that would secure constant supplies.

Claim 40,000 Men.

"We will enter Sonora with 40,000 men," he said, "20,000 are now at Cuernavaca. We are well armed and equipped. The army has been recruited. It is now a clean-cut fighting unit. Every superfluous officer of the government has been cut off to fund the army.

"Just what our plans are cannot be revealed. They have been carefully thought out and will be carried

Colonel Silva's eyes half close
strenuously, but he would make no answer.

All through the day a band played outside his window, and back and forth behind his car, shuttle train bearing 10,000 said, 20,000 troops, and Gen. Juan Medina's brigades, the remainder of the Villa government forces that have been dispatched through Juárez to Chisos Grandes. More trains at Chihuahua City. It was said they would go to Chisos Grandes direct.

By introducing the American Women's General Villa said:

Has No Hidden Money.

"My enemies say I have a hoard of money in the banks. You must believe me, for I speak the truth. I have no money. I have only faith in my cause for which I am fighting. Please tell Americans this."

Before the arrival of the news of the recognition of the Carranza faction, General Villa had announced that in the event of the recognition of Carranza, he and his men would fight to the last man and he expected victory. He also suggested the formation of a coalition board of a govern-

Despite the recognition of the so-called "constitutional" government," he said, "the revolutionary forces will continue as though nothing had happened." Carranza and his government does not represent the poor people. Half a mile from the constitutional forces we get all our information from the poor people who hate Carranza and his reactionaries. Carranza represents much for the stockholders and the big named interests in Mexico, for the monopolies, but he represents nothing on the poor

He then suggested a condition cabinet formed of conventionalist representatives who would select a president.

CARRANZA WINS RECOGNITION BY LATIN-AMERICA AND WASHINGTON

Satisfactory Guarantees Are Assured and Amnesty Is to Be Granted to Political Enemies Within Limits.

MORAL SUPPORT OF UNITED STATES SURE

Villa Leaders Are Disappointed in Hope That Administration Would Insist Upon Conference of Factions.

(By Morning Journal Special Letter Writer)

Washington, Oct. 9.—A recognition of the party led by General Carranza as the de facto government in Mexico was unanimously agreed upon today by the Pan-American conference as the step to be recommended to their respective governments. Secretary Lansing, on behalf of the United States government, expressed its intention to recognize General Carranza and his associates as the legitimate government of Mexico, and the ministers of Brazil, Chile, Argentina, and the ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala transmitted tonight the decision of the Washington conference as well as their opinions in agreement with it. Mr. Lansing has obtained the approval of President Wilson to the plan and before the conference began all the other ministers in the Latin-American corps also had given their adherence to it.

Important Diplomatic Step.
The action of today's conference was regarded generally as the most important diplomatic step in the Mexican situation since the United States decided to withhold recognition from the Huerta government more than two years ago. It means that the Carranza government will receive the moral support of the United States and that an embargo on shipment of arms to opposing factions will be held as long as recognition actually is extended, which probably will be within a fortnight. The conference was in session for

G. A. R. Marching Down Pennsylvania Avenue 50 Years After

General Grant in Camp at Vicksburg.

View of Parade Taken From the Treasury Building With the Capitol in the Distance.

General Lee During the War.

The Grand Army of the Republic marched down Pennsylvania Avenue today in honor of the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation. The parade was one of the greatest sights Washington has ever known. This photograph shows the parade marching down Pennsylvania Avenue from the Capitol.

Three hours after which Secretary Lansing made the following announcement:

"The conference, after careful consideration of the facts has found that the Carranza party is the only party in Mexico which possesses the essentials for recognition as the de facto government, and that there is no other party in Mexico which is recognized by the United States government."

Wait Formal Approval.
Secretary Lansing said the United States would wait until the Carranza government had been formally recognized by the United States government before it would take any action to recognize Carranza as the de facto government. He said the conference contemplated no interference in Mexico's internal affairs, and that the question of an embargo on arms and ammunition had not been discussed.

Officials believe many elements in Mexico will align themselves with Carranza, and that the latter will himself adopt a liberal attitude toward his opponents, permitting of a reconciliation of the various branches of the so-called constitutional party, of which he was one of the leaders.

Carranza's Guarantees.
Secretary Lansing made it clear that while the United States would not condition recognition upon the signing of amnesty or the settlement of other questions of a purely internal nature, satisfactory assurances on these and other subjects have been received from the Carranza government. These assurances are as follows:

- 1.—Foreigners will be protected in their lives and property.
- 2.—The Carranza government assumes full responsibility for claims growing out of the revolution and will adjust them equitably to persons of international connections.
- 3.—No one will suffer in his life and property on account of religious beliefs, all the abuses and more which have been part of Mexican politics will be permitted to return and will be prohibited thereafter they do not participate in politics and obey the Mexican laws governing the operation of churches and schools.

Decree of Amnesty.
A decree of amnesty is to be issued which will enable all persons, irrespective of political affiliations, to return to Mexico with the exception of those guilty of complicity in the plot to kill Carranza and those who are charged with civil crimes. A law political leaders who formerly have opposed the Carranza government will not be permitted to return until the government is firmly established, and then only if they will pledge allegiance to it.

The form in which recognition is to be extended has not been decided. Secretary Lansing said an ambassador might be sent to the Carranza capital or an ambassador named by Carranza, residing here, if that there might be an exchange of notes.

Full Moral Support.
The recognition of a "de facto government" does not limit the action to any one, officials explained. The term applies to an authority that issues acts of recognition. When a constitutional government is established, other precedents will be given to the American diplomatic representatives. In the meantime the full moral support of the United States is to be given to the Carranza government in its restoration of constitutional authority.

Secretary Lansing reported to the assembled ambassadors of Argentina, Brazil and Chile and the ministers of Bolivia, Uruguay and Guatemala today that he had conferred with representatives of the Villa and Carranza factions and had come to the conclusion that the Carranza party possessed the military supremacy, or "material capacity," requisite for a government. On this point all were agreed.

Carranza's Program.
Mamfandula Diaz, by Eliseo Arredondo, Carranza's representative at Washington, set forth the political program of his government, which includes the cancelling of "unjust" elections at once and then of a constitutional assembly to which Carranza would appoint as representatives of Carranza's government. This assembly will organize a constitutional government by holding a general election.

incited to launch a series of further waiting until Carranza carried some of his promises into effect, but the conference of opinion was that finally with the moral support Carranza would be able to carry out his plans, since he already had obtained the support of a substantial body of voters.

Separate Recognitions.
Secretary Lansing later explained that such a recognition would not represent the attitude of the United States and would not be a recognition of Carranza as the de facto government.

The recognition of General Carranza is incidentally looked upon by Secretary Lansing as a long step toward solution of the Mexican situation. With recognition the process of reconstructing Mexico is expected to begin. Army officials expressed their pleasure that it was possible for the United States to recognize Carranza because he was the first to take arms against Huerta, and for the liberal principles of the revolution which the United States was in sympathy.

General Villa's followers had hoped that the conference would endorse its efforts to persuade Carranza to turn a revolution government. What the Villa faction will do is not clearly indicated, but that they will continue the struggle in the field is considered certain, although most of their leaders are at present in Washington and official reports show that many of their troops have gone over to the Carranza side.

Secretary Lansing will report to President Wilson tomorrow what occurred at today's conference.

CHINA RELAXES OPIUM REFORMS TO GET REVENUE

War Breaks Down Expected Sources of Income to Such Extent That Importation of Drug Is Countenanced.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Peking, Sept. 8.—The effects of the war upon China have been severe in many ways, and one of the worst is that the government, driven for need of money to desperate straits, has now been compelled to relax, for the purpose of revenue, on the opium reform which it effected in recent years to the amusement of the world.

The Chinese government has been living for a number of years largely on loans procured from European countries. These loans came to an abrupt end when the war began. The Chinese government endeavored to make domestic loans, but succeeded only in a comparatively insignificant way. It is now trying to institute a new system of taxation, but is making little progress, and recently agents of the ministry of finance have come to an agreement with a combination of foreign opium merchants in Shanghai to permit 5,000 cases which have been lying there for over a year to enter the province of Kansu on payment of a sort of $1,000 a case, making for the government income of 500,000.

No More Indian Opium.
Those who come across the border of the Indian opium that will come largely in China. This was stock which was certified by the British government in India and permitted to come to China during the last few years before the British government finally decreed the shipment to this country. Since that time opium merchants in Shanghai have been fighting hard to get the drug into China, and the Chinese have been struggling to keep it out. Now, however, the Chinese ministry of finance, Chen Shoukai, being driven to desperate straits, has come to an agreement with the sanction of President Xian, without whose approval it could not be done, to settle this long-standing question by allowing opium to be imported in Kansu for 11 months, at least two more years.

Meantime governors of different provinces, according to authentic and persistent reports, have also modified

Visitors to the State Fair Are Invited to Visit The University of New Mexico

You are invited to go through the buildings, to meet members of the faculty and to acquaint yourselves with the work of the institution; its equipment and advantages and the opportunities it offers to the young men and young women of this state for thorough, broad education.

The University will maintain a booth at the state fair grounds, where out-of-town visitors who wish to go to the University campus are asked to call, and where convenient arrangements will be made.

The University government will appreciate the co-operation of Albuquerque owners of automobiles in assisting visitors to get to and from the campus. Those who care to volunteer for this assistance should advise the committee in charge of the fair grounds booth.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater--Saves Fuel

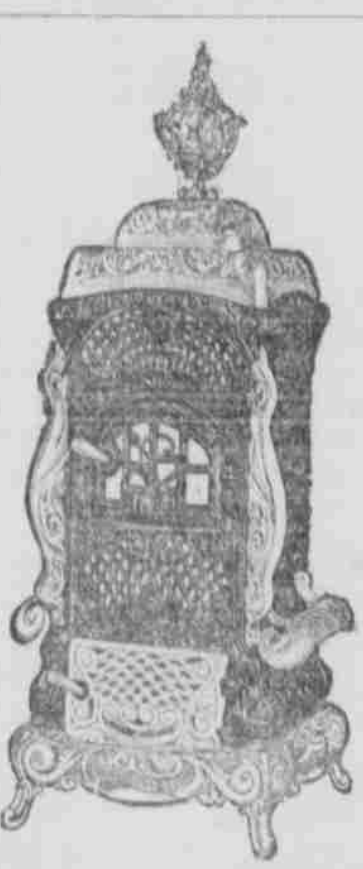

HEALTHFUL
HEATING

Moore's Air-Tight Heater is a very handsome stove, and adds another touch of comfort and beauty to the home. It is built to heat on the same plan as a furnace which heats and circulates warm air in the home.

Leading experts in heating and sanitary engineering unitedly agree that circulating warm air is the proper and most healthful manner of heating, and many schoolhouses are required to be warmed that way.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater in the home means warm floors and happy, healthy children and a wonderful saving in fuel.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater Will Keep You Warm. Buy it and be comfortable.

HEATS THE UPSTAIRS

In nearly every home there is a half or room upstairs you would like to heat.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater is built to do this without interfering with heating downstairs. On the top of every stove is a collar and a large heating pipe can be attached to it and run to a register, plate in the ceiling and a large volume of heat carried to the upper part of the house, thereby greatly adding to the comfort of the family.

BIGGEST OF ALL STATE FAIRS NOW READY, WITH EVERY COUNTY IN LINE FOR GREATER NEW MEXICO

ROUSING MEETING IS HELD IN PARLORS OF COMMERCIAL CLUB BY MEMBERS OF ALL COMMITTEES

Enthusiasm Apparent on Part of Men and Women Who Have Success of Big Enterprise in Their Hands; Trains to Be Met by Reception Committees and Albuquerque Hospitality to Be Shown at Its Best; Queen of Carnival to Be Crowned at Conclusion of Big Illuminated Parade; Brilliant New Feature Added in Sand-painting by Navajo Indians From Reservation, Something Seen by But Few, Even Among Old-timers.

"Ready!"

Such, without exception, was the response to each of the chairmen of the various state fair committees at the final meeting of the committee members held last night in the parlors of the Commercial club. There were in all 100 or more. Everybody was in a "ready" and the humming of the fair that New Mexico or the southwest everywhere now only awaits the word of Governor McDonald, which will be given at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to it is full swing.

Through organization was apparent in everything that was done and said at the meeting of the Commercial club last night. The various chairmen did not content themselves with saying that everything would be all right—they told what had been done and proved that everything was all right.

Big Parade Tomorrow.

Governor McDonald will reach the city tonight on Santa Fe train No. 5. He will be met by a special reception committee, and escorted to his apartments in the Alvarado. During the day today and tomorrow morning other dignitaries will arrive, and they will be met at the station. Everything possible in the way of a cordial welcome will be extended all the while to the fair.

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:15 o'clock the various military organizations and marching clubs will gather in front of the Alvarado hotel to form the opening military parade. The cadets from the New Mexico Military Institute, the two local national guard companies, the mayor and members of the city council, the county commissioners of Bernalillo county, the governor, lieutenant governor, Senator Catron, Congressman Hernandez, the justices of the supreme court and the judges and district attorneys of every judicial district in New Mexico, or so many of them as are able to accept the invitation extended them by the state fair commission, will be in this parade.

The parade is expected to reach the fairgrounds about 2 o'clock. The governor and other officials will be escorted to the special stand erected in front of the grandstand. Governor McDonald will make an address formally opening the fair, and there will be brief addresses by Senator Catron and Congressman Hernandez, and from that moment the fair will be on its feet.

To Welcome Visitors.

Hospitality was the idea uppermost at the meeting last night. Badges bearing the inscription, "Hello, Neighbor! Albuquerque Welcomes You," were distributed among the various committees. These badges are to be worn throughout the fair week and are to be the sign by which all visitors are to be invited to ask any questions or apply for any assistance that may be needed.

The big committee of fifty appointed at the "What's the Matter With Albuquerque" meeting held in the high school auditorium several weeks ago had been specially urged to attend the meeting, and a majority of its members was present. A large number of ladies was present, and the feminine portion of the gathering showed no less enthusiasm in the proceedings than the men.

A special committee, headed by Secretary Thomas Egan, of the Commercial club, was appointed by Chairman M. E. Herkey to meet trains and make visitors feel at home. The other members of this committee, besides Chairman Egan, are Mayor D. H. Bonbright, Wilcox H. Booth, Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, Rabbi Moshe Bergman, F. B. Schwenker, D. A. Macpherson, Mrs. Alfred Grundfeld, Mrs. Moshe Bergman, Mrs. D. A. Macpherson and Mrs. J. T. McLaughlin.

It was also announced that the Women's club will maintain a rest room for the women visitors to the fair at the corner of Third street and Gold avenue, in the old Hilda-Spitz storehouse. Easy chairs, rugs and small tables are needed to complete the equipment of this rest room, and any persons having such articles that can be spared during the week are requested to telephone Mrs. J. G. Gould, whose number is 850. The club will send after any such articles as are offered.

Hospitality Ball.

Special attention was also paid to the big hospitality ball that is to be given in the armory Wednesday night. There is to be a meeting of the committee having this ball in charge this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parlors of the Commercial club. A request for "hand-ups" from those who would promise to be on hand and help in carrying out the details of this ball vigorously punching the breast, followed by heavy strokes on the back and shoulders, and a last punch on the loins. The main dance is followed by an understudy, who dances chaunting an air of corn in each hand to the other with a spring of overtones. This dance follows the sand-painting, and the sand-painting is probably the most beautiful thing that has ever been seen by fair visitors. The artists go through a certain process before taking part in the making of these pictures from colored sand.

A building is erected in the shape of a hogan for these painters. They will start every morning with their painting on the floor of the hogan. By 7 o'clock in the afternoon the picture is complete. At 1 o'clock the painting is destroyed, and this is followed by the religious dances as stated above.

A great many preparations are necessary to the giving of this dance, and it is one of their sacred dances and absolutely no ladies will be allowed within a hundred yards of this hogan. It was with the greatest effort that these Indians have been secured for these paintings. A great many Indian traders who have lived their lives among these people have been unable to see these sand paintings, and it is one of the big features of the state fair.

FLAG OF ERIN CENTRAL FIGURE IN DECORATION OF THE CITY BUILDING

The red and orange colors of the state fair are conspicuously absent in the city hall decorations. Their absence is not the only thing about the only thing about the municipal decorations that challenges notice. Crowned green flags bearing the golden harp of Erin, hang over the front door of the city hall, and the main entrance to the hall, looking somewhat funny in the flood of orange and red that hangs over the roof of the city.

The central station firemen decorated the hall, under the direction of Fire chief Klein. Flags and bunting, all in the national colors were used. When the chief left Capt. John W. Burnett decided that the work was not complete and put up the green.

The little green flag was taken off the motor fire truck in the station and a banner one put in its place for the fair parade.

UNIVERSITY BAND HAS NEW UNIFORMS; GIVES A DOWNTOWN CONCERT

The University of New Mexico band, wearing new uniforms, gave a short concert at Second street and Central avenue last night. The band's new uniforms arrived yesterday. They are dark blue with silver and silver braids. The organization will play at the fairgrounds tomorrow during the University-Military institute football game and will march in the industrial parade Thursday.

The band has twenty members with Stanley Seader director and Lee Walker, drum major.

'VAGS' SENTENCED BY POLICE JUDGE; WILL BE ALLOWED TO 'HIKE'

Two "vags" caught in the police roundup, were sentenced to ten days last night by Police Judge George R. Craig. They gave their names as Oscar Harvey and George Nichols. They promptly will be given a chance to leave town.

Several plainclothes men were added to the force last night to assist in the clean-up before the fair. More will be put on tonight or tomorrow and remain on duty until the fair closes.

LOCAL WOMAN CHOSEN AS DELEGATE TO THE BIENNIAL CLUB MEET

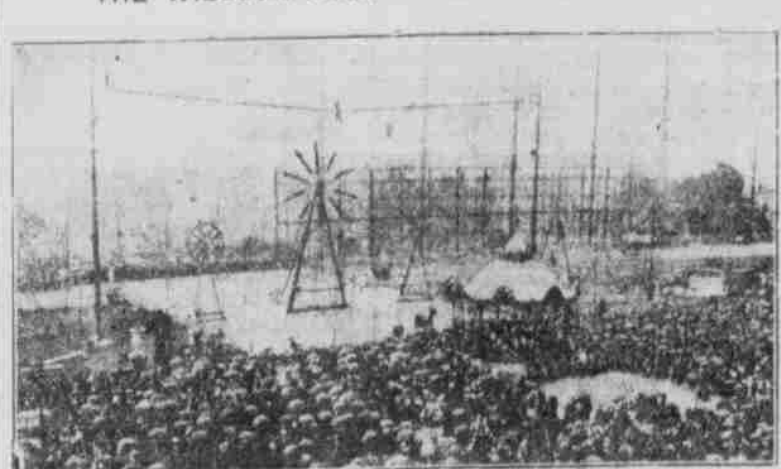

Returning delegates to the meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs brought word of the selection of Mrs. D. A. Bittner, of this city, as one of the delegates to the national biennial convention of women's clubs to be held in New York City in May of next year.

Other delegates chosen were Mrs. W. J. Lamb, of San Marcial; Mrs. F. C. Hink, of Tucuman.

The alternate chosen were Miss Seaburg, Miss Stuber and Mrs. Meni DeLeon, of Baton.

SNAKE DANCE IS GREATEST SIGHT OF ALL AMERICA

Noted Traveler Declares Ceremony of Hopi Indians Excels All Other Attractions for the Tourist.

Clayton Fowler in New York Sun.

The most impressive thing that I saw during my travels was the snake dance of the Hopi Indians on their reservation in Arizona during the last week in August. I have seen Asiatic snake charmers and the ceremonies of an African tribe who worked themselves into a frenzy by the hypnotic effect of the prolonged beating of the same upon a tam-tam and the beat of the camp fire, during which they bit off the heads of snakes and swallowed scorpions, but these expected backwash and it was generally believed that the fangs of the snakes had been removed.

The snake dance is the culmination of a festival that lasts several days during which it is preceded by other dances and by foot races. It is performed by a religious fraternity, into which the members are initiated about the age of puberty. They prepare themselves for the rite by a fast and diet for a few weeks before, during which they collect the snakes. At the conclusion of the ceremony they drink an emetic and use a lotion, the contents of both of which are secret. This regimen is said to render them immune.

Dancers Garbed in Paint.

The minstrels were covered with war paint. Their only garments were loose, fringed, breeches, not reaching to the knees, high moccasins and a tail composed of the skin of a wild animal. Some wore necklaces of small birds. All had headresses with feathers.

The music was made by rattles shaken by a row of about ten men, some of whom represented the antelope and buffalo—fraternities. The dance was performed by about twenty braves in complex, one of each two holding feathers with which he tossed the snakes and sought to divert their attention from those that held them.

The dancers entered in single file, passing before the musicians after each stamped upon a piece of wood covering a hole, so that they might thus communicate with the great spirit in the bowels of the earth. This was followed by a dance consisting of a measured movement of the feet of the dancers and musicians, as they stood in rows opposite each other. Then, as they circled around the stone of each couple in turn took a snake from a mass of shrubbery where the snakes were hidden in large.

About Fifty Snakes.

The snakes numbered fully fifty, mostly rattlers, with a few whip snakes among them, since this summer rattlesnakes were scarce. Upon the first round each snake dancer seized a single snake, grasping it in the middle by its teeth, leaving its feet to coil with the tail around his arm or neck, there to writhe, twist and rattle, while it might with the head, his strike and bite. Later some would take two or even three, each in their hands and mouths.

At times a snake was thrown from the dancer's mouth upon the ground, where it hissed and rattled. One of these charged upon the spectators, but a white man in the front row caught it by the neck and threw it back into the fire. In spite of the tossing of the snakes more than once closed their teeth in the faces, necks and shoulders of those who held them, but the war paint concealed any blood that followed.

Indians Chant a Prayer.

Throughout the Indians chanted a prayer that the serpents would persuade the great spirit to give them rain, and women wearing bright colored shawls threw meal upon the ground. This lasted about half an hour. The Indians then threw all the snakes into the middle of a ring which they formed before the inner side of the stone and divided them among different couples, who ran with them down the trails upon the side of the cliff going east, west, north and south, until they found holes among the rocks of the desert where they deposited the serpents. Finally the dancers took emetics and abortions, in the latter being assisted by the virgins.

SHOW SHIPPEDDairy Stuff of Highest Order
to Be Exhibited at State Fair by Crile and Sherman;
Exhibit Men Here.

Some of the best of the dairy cows which were shown at the state livestock and products exposition at Roswell, which closed yesterday, are on their way to Albuquerque for the state fair. It was with a great effort that the owners of this stock arranged to show it here and up to Friday night had not yet found the way clear to come. It was loaded Saturday morning at 3 o'clock and should reach Albuquerque Monday. A. D. Crile is sending six of his Holsteins, and Melvin Gray, Tom Malone and George Perryman, all of Roswell, are sending fourteen of their registered Jerseys. These cows are all high class stock and from some of the best blood in the United States. There are also several imported cows in the lot.

Another carload of stock is on the way from the Peace valley. A. D. Crile and C. P. Sherman, of Roswell, and O. M. Trotter, of Artesia, shipped Saturday a carload of their registered hogs for exhibit at the fair. A carload of Herefords also have been shipped by DeGraffenreid and Dryden, of Fort Sumner. These shipments will give the state fair a portion of the best stock which was exhibited at the state livestock and products show at Roswell during the past week.

Claude Simpson and George Williams, who will have charge of the Cherokee county exhibit, arrived last night and the first carload of exhibit stock is expected this morning. Cherokee county was necessarily late because much of the exhibit material could not be taken from the fair at Roswell until Friday morning, they asserted, but promised all would be in place by noon tomorrow.

SPLENDID CAST IN THE TWO ORPHANS
AT PASTIME THEATRE

The William Fox version of Twain's famous drama, "The Two Orphans," which differs radically from the stage version in power, life and color, calls for the service of an all-star cast. The production is headed by Theda Bara and Jean Seberg as the two orphans, and Louise, the "two orphans." The part of Henriette is a radical departure from the vampire parts with which Miss Bara's name has become associated both here and in Paris, where she was leading woman of the Theatre Antoine. Her splendid artistry, however, renders the French actress capable of giving an unusually powerful rendition of the character, and she succeeds admirably in bringing out the deep emotional side of Henriette. Jean Seberg, one of the most women and beautiful of the younger American actresses, gives an appealing performance of power and pathos as Louise, the blind girl. Miss Seberg makes her screen debut in this part.

Herbert Brenon, the director of "The Two Orphans," himself portrays Pierre, the cripple who loves Louise with the blind worship of an inferior being. He makes the part one that stands out as a splendid bit of character work with a vivid understanding appeal to the hearts of his spectators. E. L. Desmond, a noted Broadway star, is seen as Jacques, Pierre's blind brother, who blames Louise and passes the penalty for his mistakes with his life at the hands of Pierre. As the count de Lamoignon, Sheridan House, the brilliant dramatic star, the feature of a score of his successes, gives a performance of rare power and vitality, using to his big success to superb heights of art. Mrs. Cecil Barker as the countess Thérèse, the triumph she secured as the Countess Delamora in the Clemenceau Case, as produced by William Fox, John Daly Murphy, an exceptionally clever light comedian, is seen in the lively and amusing Pierre, and Frank Goldsmith, as the Marquis de Broglie, renders this important part impressive and striking. While as Mother, Prochard, Grace Berkeley gives a performance that will give everywhere, have declared it to be the best of her career. Her make-up alone is this wicked old hag of the French aristocracy is startling in its realism, while, as the sinister harpy who is the evil genius of the two orphans, she thrills her spectators with her work.

This wonderful play at the Pastime theatre today and tomorrow, special matinee. Adults, 15 cents. Or, 10 o'clock. Time of shows: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 p. m. Six weeks.

Judge Reynolds Decides
Competent Evidence Showing
Actual Damage Lacking

The Johnson case came to an end yesterday morning and the jury was directed to find issues for the plaintiff. The jury was directed to find issues for the plaintiff. The jury was directed to find issues for the plaintiff.

Judge Reynolds brought the Johnson case to a close immediately after the plaintiff rested yesterday morning by directing the jury to find the issues. The court believed that the plaintiff had not shown competent evidence of damage and that the profit he expected to make was too conjectural.

Petition for the foreclosure of a lien against George Hamilton, an executive for the Albuquerque Traction company, was filed by Senator Isaac Barth for the Arno Hanning Electric company. The petitioner alleges he furnished materials and performed the labor for the remaining of six street cars for which the plaintiff was to pay $32,000. His claim was filed with the county recorder to perfect the lien, he says. He asks judgment for $32,000, the recorder's fee, attorney's fee and costs, and that the total be adjudged a lien against the street railway.

Juan Duran took a decree of divorce from Mrs. Zenaida G. de Duran. She was charged with desertion by Duran. No reference was made in the decree to their child, Miguel, 2 years old, who was in the possession of the mother at the time of the filing of Duran's complaint, he said. Modesto G. Ortiz was attorney for Duran.

The Hayes Motor Sales company was granted judgment against O. S. Evans of San Juan county, the plaintiff, to recover $27,000. This amount was found to be due on a promissory note, interest and attorney's fee. Senator Barth was attorney for the plaintiff.

Walter Weinman brought suit against H. B. Sorrells, asking judgment for $1,694, on an alleged promissory note, which the plaintiff says was transferred to him. Senator Barth is Weinman's attorney.

SISTERHOOD HEARS LECTURE
ON NEW MEXICO ARCHAEOLGY

Santa Fe Oct. 9—Two hundred and seventeen members of the Protestant Episcopal Sisterhood, occupying a special train, spent the two hours in Santa Fe the greater part of the Palace of the Governors on their way to San Diego and San Francisco. Most of them came from the middle west and Colorado.

George H. Van Stone, secretary of the chamber of commerce, met the excursionists at the station and gave to them the principal sights of Santa Fe. He did not escape them. Trademark McKee, of this division, was in charge of the train and excursions. At the museum, Mrs. H. L. Wilson gave the visitors a lecture on New Mexico's archaeology.

OLD MEXICAN CHARGED

Kansas City Life, Sends Compliments of Company to
O. J. Durand.

The substantial letter from Fred W. Fleming, vice president of the Kansas City Life Insurance company, speaks for itself. He testifies the valuable work of the local agency and gives credit where credit is due.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 4, 1915.
Mr. O. J. Durand, Albuquerque, N. M.
My Dear Sir—The vice president of the Kansas City Life Insurance company, whom I met at the Durand agency from New Mexico during the month of September, just passed, announced to me $12,000, while for the same period of 1914, it was $72,000, a net increase of $60,000, or 50 per cent for the month.

New Mexico has also distinguished itself by winning the first prize in the six weeks classified contest which ended September 12 to agency representatives who are not members of the $100,000 club. T. T. Gwyn was the first prize awarded for the largest volume of business, and V. A. Moore also won the first prize awarded for the largest number of applications during the six weeks' campaign.

I wish to congratulate the Durand agency upon this splendid showing, which reflects the generally prosperous conditions throughout the Sunshine state, and I also extend my congratulations to Messrs. Gwyn and Moore upon the distinction they have gained.

There has been a general improvement in business conditions throughout the United States during the past sixty days, and before the end of the year general prosperity will have invaded every portion of this country.

With kindest regards, and best wishes,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) FRED W. FLEMING,

BY DUSTIN FARNUM
IN PARAMOUNT PLAY

The Crystal theatre today and tomorrow will be an attraction of considerable power to lovers of daring for the bill there will be "Captain Courtesy," released on the Paramount program with Dustin Farnum in daredevil riding such as few people have ever seen. Mr. Farnum is said of this opportunity to show the public that he is actually a rider, for everybody knows that skilled horsemanship can not be faked—it has to be done. When he plunges through a stained glass window of the old San Fernando mission to warn the Indians, his spirited thoroughbred, with allied nostrils and head aloft, becomes as much an actor as the rider himself. He sniffs the breeze, then bridges a most dangerous gap with his glossy, supple body, landing in the center of the chapel where the padre is at prayer. This scene is tremendously dramatic, and shows Mr. Farnum to the very best advantage. Mr. Herbert Standing, who has established himself in the hearts of photography lovers, enacts the role of the padre in a most natural and artistic manner.

FREE CHRISTIAN
SCIENCE LECTURE
THURSDAY NIGHT

Thursday night at the high school auditorium, Prof. Herman Hering of the board of trustees of the "Mother Church," the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., will deliver a lecture on Christian Science.

The lecture has been arranged for Thursday evening on account of that being one when the program of the state fair is less crowded than other evenings and because, held at that time, a great number of Christian Scientists and interested persons from outside the city can attend easily.

The lecture will begin at 8:15 o'clock and the general public, both local people and visitors, is invited to attend.

ROADMASTER IS KILLED WHEN HIS CAR JUMPS TRACK

Acting Roadmaster Lawson, Laramie, of the New Mexico division of the Santa Fe railway, was killed yesterday at Tilleria, two miles west of Las Vegas. The report of the accident was received here last night. Lawson started from Las Vegas on a railway line morning car yesterday morning. No one saw the accident. It is supposed the car jumped the track as it was found twenty feet from the track while the body of Lawson was lying between the rails. E. Montoya, section foreman, found the body, which was placed on train No. 19 and taken to Las Vegas.

The widow and two children survive. The family resided in Las Vegas for several years.

A Huntress

Clara-like, the maiden's mien:
Expert she was with gun and cart-
rifle.
She wore a hunter's garb of green,
And sought with me the quail and partridge.
We ranged the tangled woodland side
To wing a plover was her pride.
To wing a plover was her pride.
Nor did she scorn to bag a rabbit.

She upon me of meadow and close
We tramped, and she—she never witted.
And I admired her bow and nose
That was so nicely applied.
We hunted together on a hill,
And talked of game both big and little.

Of love and sentimental fog
I dreamed she did not care a thing!
And all went well until a day
When I sat solitary and dejected;
Then to her eyes I cast a ray
That I poor fool had not suspected.

Sudden she laid aside her gun
And caught up Cupid's bow and arrow
And shot a shaft—twas only one—
But that it pierced me to the marrow.

COLLEGE DANCE.
A dance was given by President J. E. Goodell, of the Albuquerque Institute of Education, in the nature of a reception to the old and new students of the institution, which proved to be one of the most enjoyable affairs of the week. The dance was held at the college, and the direct management of the affair was entrusted to the chairman of the program committee.

The officers of the new society are Arthur Young, president; Miss Williams, vice president; and Miss Charlotte Hixson, secretary.

SOWERS-JAGLES.
The parlors last Wednesday of Miss Tallie Sowers and Mr. Philip Jagles, united two well-known and popular social groups. The evening was performed by Rev. Hugh A. Cooper at the Presbyterian church in the presence of only a few relatives and intimate friends. Following the ceremony this social party was the guests at a reception at the home of Mrs. A. E. Reid, on South Eighth street.

The wedding couple as a surprise to most of the acquaintances of the couple, but the congratulations showered upon them at the reception were no less hearty on that account.

Mrs. Jagles is one of the most prominent women of the city. Mr. Jagles has been mayor of Los Lunas for some time and is one of the most prominent residents of that community.

The couple left Wednesday night for a honeymoon trip. They will make their home at Los Lunas.

MRS. KETH'S RECEPTION.
Mrs. Arthur E. Keth invited a number of friends to her home, 324 West Central avenue, Thursday evening for a reception. The evening was a number of national dance songs of her own composition.

Among those greatly enjoyed by her audience were the "Gipsy Dance," "A Gipsy Girl's Romance," an Egyptian dance, "In the Shadow of the Moon," "The Indian Dance," "The Rain Song," "The Italian Vineyard Dance," "The Spanish Parade," and "The Little of France," a children's dance.

In appreciation of Mrs. Keth's kindness Mrs. Wheeler dedicated these songs to her.

Those present had a most enjoyable time. Later refreshments were served. Mrs. Reid played, Mrs. Stewart recited and Miss Edna Kriebel, recently of San Francisco, sang. Miss Kriebel possesses a sweet contralto voice.

FOR MRS. BRADLEY.
One of the most brilliant receptions of the season was given on Saturday afternoon last for Mrs. E. L. Bradley at the home of Mrs. T. J. Winters and H. S. Rodey at the home of the latter. The affair was given to Mrs. Bradley in recognition of the honor she has acquired and

MRS. PILGRIM.—As you were unfortunately unable to secure the self-makeup cream, please write to my secretary, as follows: "Valeka Surratt, 116 South Fourth Street, Albuquerque, New Mexico." I will send you a sample of the cream, which is a safe mixture, of which take two teaspoonsful after each meal and at bedtime.

MRS. BETTY.—You will understand I cannot assure you any more than can anyone else that the best can be surely developed and perfected. The formula I give here is admitted to be the most effective for the purpose. Mix together two ounces of rice water, half a cup of sugar and half a pint of cold water. This makes a safe mixture, of which take two teaspoonsful after each meal and at bedtime.

MRS. PEPPIER.—Yes, it is possible to rid the face of blackheads in a few minutes by applying some powerful remedy. Use a sponge, moisten with hot water, and rub the face on the face on the parts affected with blackheads. There is no pinching out those persistent blackheads, as this spoils the skin. You can get the benefit at any drug store. I consider this one of my best formulas.

MRS. W. B. O.—In a great many cases where there is a skin disease which makes the powder visible. That's why I use my own face powder. The simple white formula. No one can detect it, yet it gives an extraordinary look, and smoothness to the skin. Take Valeka Surratt Face Powder. It is obtained at many drug and department stores. If you find difficulty in getting it write to my secretary as suggested above. Mrs. Pilgrim said she had tried it and saying whether you want white or flesh tint.

MRS. JENKINS.—A remarkable preparation to prevent excessive perspiration. The simple white formula. It is obtained at many drug and department stores. If you find difficulty in getting it write to my secretary as suggested above. Mrs. Pilgrim said she had tried it and saying whether you want white or flesh tint.

"A Humdinger"

We have with us today—or to be more accurate, we will have with us tomorrow—the real humdinger fair that Bob Putney promised us when he took on the job of providing us with a fair. We have let the tail go with the hide, and we are now in for the merriest, maddest, humdingerest week that we have known for many years, or perhaps that we have ever known.

The town is already so full of people that lower Central avenue looks like a section of Broadway, and the crowds have not yet fairly begun to come in. We are going to have our hands full taking care of all these people, but there is no doubt that they will be taken care of. There is a certain intoxication that comes with a big crowd, a feeling of delicious irresponsibility, a feeling as the Texas Widow puts it, that the devil is off and the limit is the bright blue sky. That sort of feeling has already begun to take possession of Albuquerque folks.

This decoration of the city has been done well and systematically, and the streets and stores look good. Personally, I think that the color scheme of red and orange leaves something to be desired—that it is a bit souder and subdued for so festive an occasion. But let's not be finicky. There's enough of gaiety and gladness in the other contraptions to make us forget anything of that sort. We are out for a good time, so let's have it.

He—Do you remember Horatio at the bridge?
She—I don't think I ever met him. You know we invite so few men.

TWO BIG DANCES.

In the nature of things, there will not be much private entertaining during the week, and the chances are that next week will be worse and more of it. There are two big events to be given in connection with the fair, and the two will absorb about all the social energy that we have.

The Montezuma ball, of course, takes first rank among the big dances of the entire year. It is a historic occasion—the traditional high time that is the highest of them all. There has been little given out about the Montezuma, except that it is going to be just a little bigger and better than any in past years—that it is to measure up to the humdinger standard set for the fair. At the time this is written it isn't even definitely decided who is to lead the grand march, but such details will be adjusted in short order, and it may be taken as a settled fact that the Montezuma will not fall, where they will make their home in future.

Mrs. James N. Gladding and her small son left Wednesday for El Paso to join Mr. Gladding, who was recently appointed city engineer of El Paso.

Mrs. Thomas Hughes, mother of City Clerk Thomas Hughes, left last week for Washington, D. C., to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Lou Hughes. Another daughter, Mrs. O. C. Watson, accompanied Mrs. Hughes on her way to La Junta, going from there to her home in Denver.

Mrs. E. A. Butt has been called to Wolf Creek, Tex., on account of the illness of her daughter.

Judge and Mrs. R. S. Rodey are enjoying a visit from their son, Percy Rodey, of Boston.

Miss Anselma Howden, accompanied by her son, Mr. Howden, returned Sunday after having spent the summer on Long Island. Mrs. Howden will return in about ten days.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church has been postponed from next Thursday to Monday, October 13, at 12:30 o'clock in the church parlors.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hunt arrived by air Thursday from their home in El Paso. They will remain here through the fair as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Will Springer, and will be accompanied on their return to El Paso by Mrs. W. J. Walton.

Mrs. W. W. Strong is entertaining her brother-in-law, Mr. A. E. Nicholson, of Fort Worth, N. Y. Later in the month Mr. and Mrs. Strong will arrive from New York.

What Causes Tuberculosis?

In the opinion of many medical authorities, tuberculosis is aided, if not actually caused, by a loss of time from the system. "Where there is a deceleration, the lime will not be so rapid," says Dr. J. M. Carhart, of San Antonio, in the May, 1913 issue of "Medical Progress."

It is supposed these facts are difficult, slow in some forms they are not easily ascertained.

In tubercular affections, however, calcium lime is so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be assimilated by the average person and in this, in part, lies its success.

We make no boastful claims, but many cases of tuberculosis apparently have yielded to it. It contains no opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs. It is safe to try. From our draught or direct.

Company Mr. Nichols to the Pacific coast.

Dr. and Mrs. Chalmers, of East Las Vegas, will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Morrisett, at their home on West Silver avenue, during the state fair.

The members of the Country club have a most enjoyable dance Wednesday evening. The attendance was the best of the season, and the dancers are planning to make these dances regular semi-monthly events during the winter.

Miss Belle Newhall and Mrs. R. M. Ivey left for their home in Monroe, La., last week, after a visit with the James T. Newhalls, of West Gold Avenue.

The Women's Catholic Order of Foresters will meet in regular session in Odd Fellows hall next Thursday. A social hour will follow. The Bluecher orchestra will furnish the music and five hundred will be played.

Mrs. B. S. Rodey, entertained the Sunday school teachers of St. John's Episcopal church Tuesday evening at her home, 502 Kent avenue. Rev. E. B. Locke and Mrs. Bullock were honor guests. Light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Barth will have as their guests during fair week Mrs. W. C. McDonald, who will arrive from Santa Fe Wednesday, Judge and Mrs. M. C. Haddock, of Socorro, and Judge and Mrs. Dan Jackson, of El Paso.

Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. L. B. Mitchell entertained the students of the university who are in St. John's church at a reception to meet Bishop and Mrs. Frederick B. Howden and Mrs. M. C. Haddock. Dr. and Mrs. Mitchell were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson, Dr. and Mrs. John D. Clark, Miss Gleason and Professor Weese. There were about thirty guests.

University Notes

A most interesting address was that delivered Tuesday morning at assembly by Mr. H. B. Hening, editor of the Evening Herald, on "College Spirit." Senator Isaac Barth will address the students a week from next Tuesday in Rodey hall, and will reveal to his audience some of his experiences on his recent trip across the war zone into Germany. The public is cordially invited to hear this address.

Miss Ethel Hickey, of the English department, has returned from Portugal, where she read a paper at the convention of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

President David H. Boyd has returned from Roosevelt, where he went to visit the New Mexico Livestock and Products exposition. Dr. Boyd is enthusiastic over the country and the people of that section of New Mexico.

Interest last week centered about the appearance of members of the Freshman class, about seventy-eight in number, in the new McKay postage stamp green caps ordered by the upper classes. The caps are decorated with yellow buttons. The caps for the few remaining "drops" are of a mustard yellow with green buttons. The women of these classes wear the colors in the form of ribbon streamers.

At the Library

A book which is creating as much interest as that of one of Bonaparte's "Germany and the Next War," but which takes a wholly different viewpoint about written by a German, is called "I Accuse," (German), by Alexander Gray. It is a most unusual book and in the east there is a great demand from all readers for it. The translation by Alexander Gray is a model of idiomatic English, and the book justifies all that has been said of its power and significance.

The passages suppressed by the Swiss censor for reasons of wartime policy are still represented by white spaces in the English version, but they are not numerous enough to affect the value of the book.

The author is said to have held a high position in the service of the German government. Whoever he is, his indictment is a strong one. His accusation is to the effect that "Germany and Austria are alone and exclusively guilty of having conspired and intentionally brought about the European war." This charge the author aims to prove, point by point, from inside evidence as well as from the published diplomatic correspondence. He exhibits the faculty of the charge that Russia or England was the aggressor, and tells his countrymen that they have been deliberately deceived by a handful of imperialists and traitors at Berlin.

A great number of the travelers who spent part of their summer on the Pacific coast this year were fortunate enough to see the tragic actress Nazimova (Na-zeem-ova) play the "War Bride" in a one-act play by Marion Westworth of Santa Barbara. The story goes that the actress played it one night in New York and was besieged with offers for bookings aggregating over three years. To the reader of the play as it now appears in book form, the question cannot fail to occur as to how much of its success is due to the timeliness of the theme. Certainly there is no great amount of originality in its handling; and it may be fairly regarded that outside of its timeliness the play has no more merit than hundreds of other Russian imitations written yearly by students of modern drama. Its theme, however, does not die; it is a story, for though it is a literal one not due to the author's creativeness, it is presented with dramatic effect. KURDS LIVE IN SAME WAY THAT ANCESTORS DID

Warlike Nomads of the Far East Still Carry on Profession of Arms Without Much Regard for Opponents.

(National Geographic Magazine)
The Kurds are a survival from the days when self-respecting men lived only, or at least principally, by the sword. Their wild tribes are scattered throughout Asia Minor, acting to thwart the most modest efforts of the land toward modern comfort, security and organization. Although once fabulously rich, the country has not been able to bring forth a sufficient quantity through all the years that the Kurds have practiced their untamed housekeeping here, a housekeeping that has consisted in abandoning the summer tent for the winter cottage, after preliminary acts of killing the owner and his family, and the replenishing of goods at the point of a rifle. The transaction usually followed by the burning of the looted shop.

The Kurd is a picturesque citizen, and, whatever his numbers may be, remains a potent factor in Turkey. He is much more in evidence than the Armenians and other peoples amongst whom he lives.

The Kurd is the traveler's first impression in Asia Minor, and, in most cases, he remains the predominant one. The Kurds wear clothes of vivid colors; they also wear rags that, in the poorer ones, of the most rich-looking nondescript. The Kurds ride the best horses; they are always armed; they bully the Armenians, the travelers and the overlord Turks themselves.

The Kurds have been unable to get a complete mastery over their subject Kurds, and have employed an administrative policy toward them of letting them alone. Thus, the Kurd masters Armenians, robs Armenians and travelers and considers both of these occupations his just right. In a useful state, the Kurd lives in the hills and herds sheep. He is a pastoral tent dweller in the summer, in the winter he moves to the Mesopotamian plains and either lives in his tent or turns the owner out of a so-called house. His tent is of black, hempen goats' hair, and its interior is of mats, quilts and cooking pots. His children go naked and his women ragged. His board is not with sour milk.

When by chance he builds a winter home, it consists of a hole in the ground with a flat roof of wattle and clay—air-tight, smoke-tight, light-tight. There are small smoke vents in the roof, but the whole effect is that of a prairie dog's dwelling. Within, it is as light and airy as a low level coal mine.

To be of "Ashrai" blood, in Kurdish estimation, is to be really worth while. The Kurds have a conscious superiority which gives them a certain bearing of nobleness and dignity. A Kurdish chief is an impressive, often an affable individual. These people are not inclined to settle down, and they do not seem to want others to settle in some districts, however, they have taken lands wholesale from the Armenians, massacring the owners, and have become rich landlords.

Officially, at least, the Kurds are Mohammedans. They reject the notion of vowing their women, reverence fire, and are, in subjects of religion, altogether liberal. Many of them are Kizilbash, heretic Moslems, and some few are Christians. Their little feudal organizations are their nationalities, and their patriotism is a devotion to the privilege of being able to live at the expense of others. They are medieval, with all the headstrong presentiments of medieval times. It was not until 1913 that the first Kurdish newspaper appeared. This was published at Constantinople. As, however, there is no such thing as a definite written Kurdish language, this paper is carried on under some difficulty. There was something called a "Kurdish movement" before the war, but its history seemed hopelessly confused. The latest reports from the hands of the Kurds tell of the massacre of many thousands of Armenians.

WILSON AND WILHELM.

American history writers will tell
future generations that President Wilson, in the momentous year 1915, prevented war with Germany. But writers of other nations likely will divide the honor almost equally between
the president and Kaiser Wilhelm II.
It takes two to make a quarrel; also
it takes two, generally, to prevent one.

German philosophers and leaders
have provided for a generation upon
the doctrine of "the world as will,"
but it has remained for an American school teacher to prove to them that
the will to be patient, when you know that truth and justice are with him, is more powerful than the will
of the world, if the world happens to be wrong. It was the patience, the reserve strength of Woodrow Wilson
that conquered and laid low the will
of the German war party, which sought to influence the Kaiser to defy
the demands of the United States.

There is something inspiring in the spectacle which the world has been witnessing these past hundred days.
An unbending, headstrong, powerful will, surrounding the Kaiser, was forced to let their monarch hear the words of law and humanity from a single-handed American. Woodrow Wilson, deserted at the critical moment by the head of his cabinet,
wanted by former President Ham-
milt, backed up by misguided citizens
of foreign birth and by pusillani-
mous citizens of native birth, scoffed
at by the newspapers of six great belligerent nations, stood calmly by the best American traditions as the absolute foe of compromise upon questions of national honor and the rights of American citizens. In profession
an American school teacher, and with no weapon but a pen, Woodrow Wilson did these things of which his country will tell coming generations with pride.

Now let us turn with justice to the ambition of Germany. We know him
generally as an ambitious, self-willed,
proudly intelligent egotist. But a recent writer who has had exceptional opportunity to study the character of the Kaiser asserts that he is "a man
of great power, but that he shows
himself at his best in great crises."
Other great men have had similar characteristics. General William T.
Sherman was reliable, nervous, excitable and fertile usually, but in the presence of imminent danger,
when a battle was raging, when prompt and important decision was demanded, he became as clear as crystal and as bold.

Judged by this writer's decision in meeting the American demands, we should say that in this great emergency William II. showed himself at his best. He is said to be an extro-
verted and egotistical personality,
but in the face of the unopposed
will of his people, he came to the crisis, became as calm as a lake
and as bold.

The man who fails to see the state fair this year will miss the treat of his day among life. The grounds
look like a combination of heaven & hell's circus and the fair. The Wild West show looked into the sun-
dine exhibition and an Indian village.

THE "SATANIC SCHOOL."

Southey spoke of those writers of the nineteenth century whose teachings were believed to be against the accepted principles of morality and
"the Christian religion as a 'satanic
school.'" The most prominent of
those offenders were Byron, Moore, Shelley, Bulwer, Paul de Kock and Victor Hugo. That satanic school
did not die with the man first associated with it. There is a similar school in Europe today, only it is different in that it is worse.

It is now predicted that one of the few beneficent results of the war will be the death and burial of those lit-

rary reputations of western Europe
which define them and have flourished
upon those especially beautiful and
false philosophies of Schopenhauer, Nietzsche, and all of the kindred and French realists, individualists, nihilists and free-thinkers who have sought and found the profit
public into the belief that one's life
is his own to live as he chooses without reference to society or to those immutable laws—written and un-
written—whereby founded and built up on the truth of action rather than on
the truth of mere words and theories.

There is in our own country, where
and especially growing class of so-
called "advanced thinkers," women
and men of wide but shallow culture,
who have followed the exotic theories
and doctrines of these glittering individuals of modern literature, until
we have an almost well-defined class
which practices and affects to believe in what they call spiritual experiments, free love, and matine
personal affairs and all of those self-
delusions of "reasons" by which men
are authorized in as many like and erroneous to its adherents the right
to live their own lives without reference to the organic laws of society,
nature and God.

The flower of this noxious literary
growth, in novel, novel and drama,
has been the apotheosis of individualism as the inherited right of what they call "reason," the exaltation of wantonness as a prerogative of individuality, the identification of moral and mental licentiousness which they describe as "spiritual freedom."

That largest school of intellectual voluntarism springing up in France in the shameful days of 1870-71, its
seeds were wafted across the channel to take root in England where it has flourished for two decades.

If the war will dig the grave and
deeply bury the literary reputations
of these purveyors of a false philosophy of life by inspiring more rugged
and righteous thought, it will not have been fought wholly in vain.

The first day of the hunting season
in West Virginia, one of the sportsmen killed a bird dog, shot off three
of his own toes and broke his arm.
He might have done as much with
the season closed to all except fools.

FALSE PROGRESSIVENESS.

Editor Morning Journal:

I have read your editorial with interest, because they cover a wide field
of important subjects, and are generally fair to all sides, so far as statements of fact are concerned. They indicate that the writer of them has been widely and fairly and has come
in contact with nearly every phase of human life and activity. But I have failed to find progressive ideas in the Journal. Instead, it seems to believe that what is best, distinct from entireties, leads to look down the hill into the unexplored country beyond. It should be given credit for advancing the cultivation of the best
of things that we have with us,
but it omits the introduction of anything not suggested by age and conventional approval.

The Journal idealizes law and the rule of the majority. It is opposed to socialism as a fact, and believes as strongly as any man of the press that we have all of the truths of religion
with us today, and that any new discovery or interpretation is a product of the devil.

This adherence to the conventional
may be comforting to the part of the Journal, but it is fact. You are just as much capitalist in thought
as any Wall Street banker, hold just as much to things that are as
any priest, and condemn promptly
and severely every person who tries
to change things for the better.

There is a new thought in the world, a new spirit is stirring the conscience of men and women. It is the spirit of the dawn of pure
democracy; the rule of the people over
the property and the rule of the people
for the good of the people by means
of the cooperative commonwealth.
When there will be no rich
and no poor, no great and no small,
no high and no low; when each child,
according to its capacity, will have equal opportunity for happiness with
every other child born into the world.
Let us of our kind, think it over
a bit and see if even in your opinion,
such change would not be an improvement of the affairs of this world.

A SOCIALIST.

Albuquerque, Oct. 8, 1915.

The editor of the Journal believes
he has a fair group of the teachings
of socialism, having read with considerable care practically every work
written by German, French, English
and American authors, as well as
most of the works of the social scientists, and there was a time in his life
when he believed much to the gloom
of them. He has seen some acquaintance with the various religious and scientific philosophies. As all other men probably believe of themselves,
he believes he has an open mind.

Much alleged to be progressive is not progressive, but retrogression to ward conditions of primitive man.
Government is a growth, a part of civilized society, as distinguished from savagery when every family had to defend itself from other families. As mankind became less savage, as they learned, needs were crystallized in laws for the enforcement of which government was instituted among men.

As regards religion, mankind has progressed morally only when influenced by the religions of Hebrew origin and has reached the highest development in those countries where the prevailing faith is Christian. With education the understanding of the teachings of Christianity has been improved and is broadening, but
the prevailing principles are the same as they were a thousand years ago.

So far as socialism is concerned, it is a beautiful theory, but has always been impractical. We have the story of the first effort at Christian socialism in the following words from the Acts of the Apostles:

"Neither was there any among them

IS THE TRAFFIC COP DISCRIMINATING?—By Brinkerhoff.

that lacked for as many as were possible of land or houses sold them,
and brought the price of the things
that were sold and laid them down
at the proper level, and distribution
was made into every man, according
as he had need."

But the trouble came to those early Christians, just as it has come to every socialist organization since.
"But a certain man named Ananias,
with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession, and kept back part of the price."

There are three agents in production—labor, capital and land or ability. The more willingness to work does not make work. There must be management. Also there must be exchange of the products of work. In the practical application of the theories, the socialist would provide only the most commonplace and
routine work, and there would be no
incentive to initiative.

The socialist would come to an end of the advancement, come
only as a reward for hard work
of preparation. The man who has learned nothing is not equipped to do that which is to operate an industry successfully. There must be the ability, society will become a stagnant pool, the world for individual
growth is supplanted by conformity
and all of the culture and beauty of the world to the dead level of materialism.

It is estimated that there will be fully five million more marriages
between men and women in the war
years. There will be some excess
men for continued marriages.

POURTRAIT OF JOHN HOWARD PAYNE.

The Museum of Fine Arts has recently painted a portrait of John Howard Payne, the author of "Home, Sweet Home," painted by Charles Robert Leslie. The head is a very fine piece of work, and is one of the few existing representations of Payne's personality. As Leslie was chiefly interested in Leslie's paintings, and is not known to have painted many portraits, it is all the more interesting, as

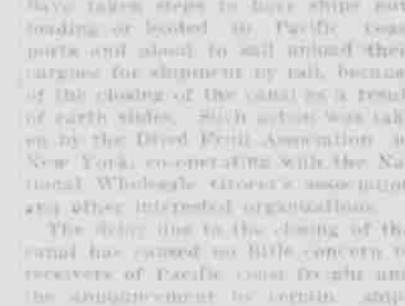

it may be inferred that it was a labor
of love. At all events it is most symbolically treated, and gives a charming impression of the sensitive
and intelligent countenance of the poet.

It is one of the ironies of fate that after the death of his mother, when he was 14 years old, Payne himself never had a home. He was born in New York, June 2, 1812. His only very precious child, and at the age
of 14, while a clerk in a counting-
house, he edited a weekly journal,
called the Temperance Mirror. After two years at Union College, he decided to devote himself to the stage and his first appearance, as a professional actor was in "Young Sorel," at the Park Theatre, in New York, in February, 1830. After playing in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Washington and other cities, he went to England, and for his first appearance at Drury Lane Theatre on June 4, 1832. He again closed the part of Young Sorel. The portrait acquired by the Museum of Fine Arts was painted a year or two

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The great success of Herpicide is due entirely
to its dependability. Persons suffering from dandruff and falling hair turn to this well known scalp prophylactic and germ remedy knowing that
the desired results will follow its intelligent use.
On account of its exquisite odor, Newbro's Her-
picide finds favor among those of the greatest refinement. The ladies are enthusiastic because of the brightening effect upon the hair which it keeps always light and fluffy. Herpicide is a delightful hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp due to dandruff almost instantly.

Send 10c. stamps or silver, to The Herpicide
Co., Dept. 127-B, Detroit, Mich., for sample bottle and booklet. Applications at the better barber shops. Sold and guaranteed at all toilet goods counters.

STOCK EXCHANGE TRADING SHOWS MORE STRENGTH

Railway List Is Active and Prices Advance Steadily and Broadly During Session;
U. S. Steel Favorite Again.

By Morning Journal Special Staff Writers
New York, Oct. 9.—Railroad stocks made another strong bid for public favor today, adding 2 to 5 points to yesterday's striking gains on a very large volume of trading. Those issues played throughout the active session, war shares and kindred descriptions being backward at all times, with moderate pressure here and there.

Virtually every division of the railway list participated in the advance which was steady and orderly, with some building and profits in the final dealings. Reading, which led the movement of the preceding session, was relatively heavy but improved later. Southern Pacific rose 1 to almost 2. At today's top prices some railways recorded their best quotations for a year or more.

United States Steel led the list as usual, though its sales total was proportionately smaller. It rose a point to 8 1/2, which equals its high quotation of recent years and the September tonnage statement issued by the steel corporation immediately after the close of the market disclosed an increase of over 400,000 tons in unfilled orders over the preceding month.

Bethlehem Steel recovered 5 points of yesterday's setback at 45, and promised strength was evinced by American Smelting and Consolidated, the latter supplementing recent gains with 4 1/2 points to 14 1/2. Total sales of stocks amounted to 865,000 shares.

An actual loan expansion of almost $4,000,000 reflected the activity of the week in securities, while the cash gain of approximately $5,000,000 was in excess of estimates. Excess reserves decreased by about $7,000,000 to $153,274,729.

Virtually all forms of foreign remittances were lower, particularly sterling and francs.

Bonds were active with profit taking in convertible issues. Another side of Anglo-French notes was made at 83.

Total sales of bonds, par value, aggregated $2,655,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call, during the week.

gain and provisions dealer by 7 1/2 to 10 to 25.

Wheat at first showed a decided tendency to climb, owing to a falling off in receipts northwest and to complaints that serious damage had been done by shocks sprouting and rotting in Minnesota and the Dakotas. Relatively strong quotations at Liverpool had a further bullish effect on the market here. There were also advances from the seaboard and that in the opinion of some authorities a good export call was now regarded as likely to be a fixture for the next four or five months. On the ensuing bulge in prices here, however, sales by receiving houses widened out to an unusual extent, and brought about a sharp setback that finally narrowed the gains to almost the vanishing point.

Beetish pressure had the same success with corn as with wheat. Crop damage reports from Illinois and Iowa failed to make any important lasting impression and so, too, did talk of a number of recent shipments having been made to Europe. Oats were swayed almost wholly by the action of other cereals. Country offerings remained small.

High prices for hogs carried provisions up. Active export demand continued.

HIGH SCHOOL OF ALBUQUERQUE IS GIVEN ATTENTION

School Board Journal Devotes Page of Illustrations and Considerable Other Space to Local Institution.

A page of illustrations of the high school and a column of explanatory and complimentary text is given in the Albuquerque high school building in the latest issue of the School Board Journal. The illustrations include the plan of all three floors, a view of the auditorium and a general view of the building.

The article is as follows: The high school of the present day differs from the early high school of the cities and suburbs of the last century. Abundantly so, it is true in the cities in the west, where a single secondary school serves not only an urban but also a rural, agricultural population.

A building which houses a high school offering courses that differ in the extreme, in content, content and student body, is the new Albuquerque high school. The school serves not only the city of Albuquerque, but also the surrounding county of Bernalillo, which has a large farming population.

Building Described. The building has a total length of 162 feet, and an extreme depth of 100 feet. It is substantially constructed of reinforced concrete and brick walls, with reinforced concrete floors throughout, and fireproof stairways. The exterior walls are of buff brick and trimmed with limestone, and the roof is covered with asbestos composition.

The ground floor, which is on a level with the surrounding site, affords accommodations for the office of the board of education, the superintendent of schools, the principal, and the various departments. There are also on this floor, a rest room, domestic science and art rooms, manual training room, locker and toilet rooms, gymnasium, shower bath and dressing room.

The first floor contains the main floor of the auditorium and physical and chemical laboratories, a science lecture room and several classrooms. On the second floor have been placed the main study room, the library, typewriting and bookkeeping rooms, and several classrooms. The balcony of the auditorium is entered from the second floor.

Simple Interior Finish.

The interior finish is simple, sanitary and substantial in the extreme. The classrooms have hard pine floors over cement. The corridors and ground floor rooms have composition floors and the stairs have a polished tread over the reinforced concrete. The walls throughout are finished in cement plaster, and the wood trim is white pine.

The sanitary equipment is of the best. The plumbing is of the most substantial type, with sanitary drains, fountain, non-siphoning shower fixtures and siphon closets. The heating and ventilation is effected by means of a plenum system fitted with automatic temperature regulation. A vacuum cleaner has been installed.

The furniture is of the best type. It includes an automatic phonograph and record clock system, an intercommunicating telephone system, individual lockers, slate blackboards, specially designed manual training and science equipment, steel library shelving, etc.

The building has a total capacity of 520, and the auditorium will seat comfortably 350 persons. The building cost $301,000, or $195 per pupil. On a cubic basis the building cost $17.4 cents per foot. The heating and ventilating cost $12,192 additional.

Much credit for the very economical arrangement and the very complete educational equipment of the building is due to John M. Mine, who coordinated the plans with the architect. The building was designed by the well known firm of Frost & Frost, El Paso, Texas.

JAPANESE SOON TO ENTER CHINA FOR PROSELYTES

Indications Point Toward Imminence of Great Propaganda for Converts to the Buddhist Faith.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Tokyo, Sept. 2.—There is increasing evidence that Japanese Buddhists are to undertake propagation of the faith in China with great intensity. The movement is one of several demonstrations with which the Japanese people are trying to emphasize their national spirit, in connection with the forthcoming ceremonies of accession of the Emperor Yoshihito, and the movement is singularly noteworthy because it was through China and Korea that Buddhism came to Japan.

The force of the Japanese missionaries in China has already been increased, and the campaign for further missionary work is in full swing. The movement is frankly explained as both religious and political. Japan has apparently come to the realization that her missionaries can accomplish great things in spreading the influence of Japan in China and in impressing in a friendly way the desires of Japanese to increase their prestige there.

Will Rival Christians. The Buddhist leaders, especially the progressives, contend that the propagation of religion in China has been monopolized for much by Christians and denied too much to Japanese. The object of Buddhist propaganda in China should be attained, they declare, on the principle of humanity and charity.

The Buddhist views have been set forth in a memorial which has been presented to the government and to every member of the diet. It points out that the western powers, realizing the great importance of grasping the mind of the native population for extending their rights and interests in China are giving every protection to their missionaries. For the extension of her religious propaganda, the Buddhists emphasize the fact that Japan is in a very convenient position geographically. Nevertheless neither government nor public seems to have attached any importance to the matter. The attention of public-minded men has been too much concentrated on the material side of Japan's interests; not enough men have turned their attention to the spiritual side of Japan's interests, represented by the extension of religion in China.

Huge Sum of $100,000.

The memorial goes on to state that the past efforts of the Buddhists have not been appreciated, and have proved of little avail. Enormous sums of money had been expended in erecting religious headquarters in China and in sending missionaries to that country. Noble leaders had penetrated into the far interior and not a few had perished there as martyrs to the cause of Buddhism.

In conclusion the memorial appeals to the government to help "the great work of propagation, believing it certain to lay a strong foundation for the establishment of permanent peace in the far east and the happier relationship between the Japanese and Chinese peoples."

A good deal of interest has also been created by a manifesto issued by the Nichiren sect, the most radical and zealous Buddhism. The tract is couched in unusual terms and bears the heading:

"Japan will soon be destroyed—Sound the alarm!—Sound the alarm!"

Emperor Not Venerated.

The Japanese Evangelist, which is the organ of the Christian workers here, publishes a translation of the tract with the comment that it contains the statement of the Nichiren sect that it possesses "real, without knowledge." The pamphlet declares: "The people of Japan are proud of their heavenly origin, but behold before the God of Christianity, the holy emperor who is a great god and holy, and the one lord in the universe, is slanders as a 'child of sin' and is regarded as being without any authority in the sphere of morality." The manifesto continues:

"It is not true that Christianity (though which threatens to destroy and grind into dust our incomparable and supreme Japanese nationality) is now spreading through all classes." Truly this is a sign that reveals the spiritual downfall of the Japanese state if there is in us a drop of loyalty to the emperor how can we be indifferent to the presumptions of these tactics? The true followers of our national spirit, Nichiren, perform now in which he said, 'I will be a pillar of Japan. I will be the eyes for Japan. I will be the great ship of salvation of Japan.'"

The tract concludes with a trumpet call to protect the nation by a deeper study and truer practice of Nichiren's doctrine.

EAMES SENTENCED FOR FIRE TRESPASS

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 9.—Leo H. York of Alamogordo, was sentenced to practice in the federal court yesterday. Robert Eames of Alamogordo was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail for selling fire to timber on a forest reserve. Judge Chapman of Bernalillo was sentenced to thirty days in jail of Santa Fe and the payment of $100 fine for selling liquor without paying the internal revenue tax.

For Indigestion. Never take pills and preparations containing poisons or other drastic ingredients for indigestion, as the more you take the more you will have to take. What is needed is a tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets that will enable the stomach to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.

RUSSIANS TREAT CAPTIVES BETTER THAN DO TEUTONS

Red Cross Official Declares Prisoners Returning From Germany Often Are in Poor Health Due to Lack of Care.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Petrograd, Sept. 22.—Official Red Cross Commissioner Ernest Hart, in a report to Prince Oldenburg, patron of all voluntary work in Russia, contrasts the good appearance and general healthfulness of Russian prisoners of the war with the disastrous condition of Russian war prisoners returning from Germany, at the time of their exchange of Tormen on the Swedish frontier. Commissioner Hart stated Tormen at the special request of Prince Oldenburg to witness the transfer towards the end of August. His report follows:

"In the large new school house at Tormen I found 247 invalid or disabled men (Austrian and German) most excellently accommodated, the wards being large, airy and scrupulously clean, the beds very comfortable, with ample room between each, and the food consisting of nourishing soup with meat, another dish of meat and wholesome bread in good quantity."

"I spoke to several prisoners, who were grateful for the treatment they had received both on the journey from Petrograd and at the hospital. They were clean and physically in as good condition as the injuries they had received in battle permitted. That is to say they were well nourished, where their own clothing was deficient or worn out they had received fresh clothing including a warm overcoat, a cap and often boots."

Humaneness Not Neglected.

"I saw these men sent away across the border the same evening and the arrangements for removing them by wagon, stretchers and boats furnished with medical conveniences and protected from the weather left nothing to be desired on the score of humanity. I also crossed into Haparanda and inspected the arrangements of the Swedish Red Cross under Dr. Nauckhoff, who spoke very highly of the consideration and humanity of the treatment of the injured prisoners of war to the Russian authorities. It was very clear that the Swedish authorities did not hold the same unfavorable opinion of the treatment of Russian prisoners as the Germans, and that they were sent out of Germany in a painfully dirty and neglected condition, often half-naked and half-starved."

"I had the opportunity of verifying these reports the next morning, when about 250 Russian prisoners arrived from Germany. Several of them were wearing the same cotton-clothing given out to them in the hospital, with worn-out flat slippers on their feet and no socks, and they had traveled in this condition from Koenigsberg in Germany, through Sweden and into Russian territory at Tormen. Many of the men were like scare-crows so ragged and filthy was their condition, and one was clothed in the uniform of a dead French prisoner of war. They were thin and weak and said that they had been half-starved during the imprisonment. They produced samples of the bread that was given them, it being extremely hard and mouldy and mixed with potatoes and even particles of straw. They said little or no meat was given them in the thin soup served out to them daily. In addition they had been subjected to severe punishment for alleged breaches of discipline despite their maimed and disabled condition, the punishment including their being compelled to stand on barriers for hours at a time, being tied to posts with their arms above their heads. They were also frequently struck by their German guards with the butts of their rifles or the flat of their swords."

"One of the worst features of the returned Russian prisoners was the number of cases of tuberculosis. These numbered some sixty out of the 250 men returned and I was told that the usual number was about 20 per cent. The cases of tuberculosis among German and Austrian prisoners, on the other hand, were only five to six per cent. out of the total of 1,250 already exchanged. Some of the returned Russian prisoners had lost their feet while in prison in Germany, from frost-bites due to exposure. There have been no such cases among the German and Austrian prisoners in Russia, and I have had the opportunity of seeing and conversing with these prisoners in Moscow and other parts of Russia which I have visited during my journey in Poland, Galicia, mid-Russia and the Caucasus."
