MANCHURIAN CITY FURNISHES MANY RUSSIAN TROOPS

Call for Reservists Takes 3,000 Men From Town of 30,000, Which Is Normal to a Chinese City.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Harbin, Manchuria, Oct. 14.—Russia has called for reservists from 3,000 men from this city, which has a population of 20,000. Inhabitants of Manchuria are not Russian citizens and therefore are not subject to military service. But the Russian government has made the line between Siberia and Manchuria very imaginary. For many months after the effects of the war, but recently it has fallen the empire under the grip of war. Troops and supply trains, which are robbing the country of its settlers, its livestock and its grain, pass through the city constantly. Recently a home in Harbin has escaped the last sweep of the army for reservists and recent conscription laws the names of many young Russians who left Manchuria in fight for their empire. All business in Manchuria, not directly connected with the war, has practically come to a standstill. The staffs of business firms have been depleted and in many offices the work is being carried on chiefly by young Danes and other European neutrals.

Before the Russian-Japanese war there were few settlers in this part of Manchuria and Siberia. Since that time the Russian government has offered very favorable terms to prospective landowners and at great cost has lured many peasant farmers in Siberia, near the Manchurian border. These men were carried east with their families at very low rates. Immigrant lodgings were afforded at various points along the railway and the government advanced large sums of money to get the new farmers started.

Peasants Do Not Grumble.
Now the very men who were brought to Manchuria at such great expense and pains are being torn from their new prairie homes to join the army. But there is little grumbling on the part of the stolid peasants. They do not grumble at being torn from their homes, but they do grumble at the government's policy of forcing them to leave their families behind. The government has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front. It has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front. It has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front.

The reservists from various towns along the western part of the trans-Siberian railway are taken chiefly to Harbin or Vladivostok for mobilization. At nearly every station reservists and their families are waiting for the train. The government has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front. It has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front. It has provided for the families of the men who are going to the front.

At one station, east of Harbin, the correspondent of the Associated Press saw an open air mass held for 200 men who were about to enter a troop train. The men were closely grouped around the speaker, with their hands and hats common to the clergy of the Russian church. He wore a yellow sash robe, richly embroidered in gold and held aloft a golden cross which reflected the rays of the sun, which was just setting in the edge of the vast prairie behind him. The speaker's voice was heard with unvarying voices and listened with rapt attention to the priest. Their religious fervor was shown especially by the eagerness with which the priest had pronounced the benediction. Many of the reservists, who were forward with them so they might stand together before the priest and receive his blessing.

Women Stand Apart.
Throughout the service the wives, mothers and sisters of the reservists stood at a respectful distance and listened dutifully to the inspiring singing of their menfolk. They had no part in it and manifested more of the enthusiasm shown by the robust men, standing with bare heads, completely under the sway of their spiritual adviser whose intensity of manner was heightened by his unusual garb. No man could have more easily approached in appearance the great Russian conception of Jesus Christ and the priest's inspiring influence upon the reservists was little less than miraculous.

Even the tearful embraces of wives and mothers did not dampen the ardor of the men, who bravely answered the inspiring whistle of the waiting engine and sang the Russian hymn as the train whisked them off to an uncertain fate.

Every troop train contains at least a brass picture of Jesus Christ, the Virgin Mary, or one of the saints. Usually a candle is kept burning before this altar of the orthodox Russian faith. The soldiers seem to find great comfort in their religion, and on their long ride across Siberia, they can be heard chanting hymns more frequently than other songs.

However, Lordsburg and Hatch are near enough to the border to supply the demand in the future, although it will take a little more money to get there from Arizona.

MINNESOTA AND ILLINOIS RIVALS GRIDIRON HONORS

"Big Nine" Championship Is a Fifty-fifty Split Between Teams That Recently Battled to a 6-6 Tie.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 14.—Gridiron championship honors for the "Big Nine" were divided between Minnesota and Illinois as a result of yesterday's game.

Two teams who battled to a 6-6 tie two weeks ago, remain the only undefeated teams in the conference and on form alone should maintain that record in their final games. In the weekend contests just finished, the Toppers were rated a stronger eleven than Chicago, while the latter played its best game with the latter playing its best game with full strength, and Wisconsin was reckoned by experts a team slightly inferior to the Illinois. Wisconsin and Chicago, in their contest, were not to make two touchdowns each, but played on practically even terms, so that past performances indicate a fifty-fifty split between the two teams next Saturday and a defeat for Chicago by Illinois.

The final showed much the best football that has been played this year in the Midwest. Wisconsin, which is believed, expected such a splendid victory for the championship election, though they considered Coach Zuppke's better team and the likely winner.

Other games furnished some surprises. Purdue's defeat by Kentucky was somewhat of an upset. Indiana, coached by John Northwestern's flying and interference, showed the purple hope for a victory. Ames upset some predictions by trouncing Iowa.

This and last week's game, with Illinois and Notre Dame's much-travelled eleven, found small opposition from Creighton.

A remarkable record was that made by Holot, usually a strong secondary team, which finished his season yesterday without having scored a point against any of its opponents.

WOULD PROMOTE 7 'LIGHTWEIGHTS' TO WELTER CLASS

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Nov. 14.—Recommendations that seven former lightweight boxers be elevated to the welter division were made at a meeting of the directors of the American Boxing association here today.

The seven were Mike O'Dowd, Soldier Bartfield, Kid Graves, Buckey McFarland, Willie Ritchie, Jack Britton and Ted Kid Lewis. As there was doubt if Ritchie, Britton and Lewis wanted to be declared welterweights, it was deemed best to drop them. The champion, light-heavyweight, was declared, McFarland to be paired off, the winner to be declared the champion.

In the middleweights, it was recommended that Young Ahearn, Mike Gibbons, Jeff Smith, George Chip, Jimmy Quigley and Eddie McCreary be entered into an elimination contest. Jack Dillon was recognized as the champion light-heavyweight.

The board recommended that Willie Ritchie be given sixty days to defend his title as American champion at 125 pounds, or forfeit the championship. In this case, Charlie White and Johnny Dundee should be matched for the title, the board feels.

Censure was directed at Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, if being charged that he had not given his best efforts in contests during the last year.

ALL DOPE UPSET WHEN ELIS PUT TIGERS TO BAD FOOTBALL TEAMS

Form Reversals of Princeton and Cornell Constitute Main Feature of Pigsaw Game in the East.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
New York, Nov. 14.—Vale's agonizing rally and defeat of the best football machine turned out by Princeton in years, furnished the greatest upset in form that has marked eastern gridiron classics in many seasons.

At the same time, the measure of Colgate to Syracuse, while the Cornell eleven only saved itself from defeat at the hands of Washington and Lee by a great rally in the closing half of the contest and the downfall of Brown before Harvard furnished more surprises in the week-end games.

The Tigers invaded New Haven with a splendidly coached eleven, which all through the season obtained a remarkable amount of power and action out of a squad composed of only fair material. Vale on the other hand, had a team of players who, man for man, were equal to any among the minor institutions, but the lack of everything that went toward the making of a perfect gridiron.

It is true that Princeton did not show the same amount of strength and speed that has marked some of her earlier battles and that Yale benefited by new leadership, but the fact remains that the final uncovered a remarkable improvement after less than two weeks of coaching under Shell and swept the Tigers off their feet. In perfect use of both strategy and dominance, individual and team play, Princeton towered over the rough and ready tactics of the Blue.

The interference, tackling, punting and speed of the Tigers stood out in bold contrast to that of the Blue efforts.

While the defeat of Princeton had no bearing on the struggle for the so-called eastern championship, the overthrow of Colgate by Syracuse removed a most important contender and left the field occupied solely by Cornell and Pittsburgh.

The victory of the Tigers was a big surprise. Colgate had a splendid record up to Saturday and while Syracuse was admitted to be a team of unusual power and ability, a close or even a narrow loss was generally looked for.

His winning from the strong Washington and Lee eleven after the star southern team, which has not lost a game in two years, had secured what appeared to be a safe lead. Cornell demonstrated that its rise to top prominence in college football was no fluke from the firmest kind of all-round football ability. When the Blue combination awoke to find itself slipping behind it uncovered a brand of almost irresistible football in which a perfect attack and offensive were carried out with the greatest skill.

The victory of Harvard over Brown furnished no further line in the Crimson's chances against Yale, since first string substitutes were used almost exclusively in the contest.

In the matter of the more important contests, the competing eleven played as expected. Pennsylvania and Michigan battled to a scoreless tie, in which the Wolverines showed fine football knowledge.

Both the Army and Navy teams emerged victorious from their respective games. The Army was called upon to face an opponent of more than ordinary caliber.

COLORADO AGGIES ARE EASILY ENTITLED TO CONFERENCE HONORS

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Denver, Nov. 14.—Football experts today were unanimous in their declaration that the Colorado Aggies are the best team in the Rocky Mountain conference. With their defeat yesterday of the Colorado college Tigers at Colorado Springs, 24 to 13, last year's record, the Aggies are virtually the champions of the conference.

WANT GAME—ON THANKSGIVING, WITH DENVER UNIVERSITY. EXPERTS SAY THERE IS NO CHANCE FOR THE AGGIES TO FEAR THE OUTCOME OF THIS CONTEST.

Considerable interest is being manifested in the Thanksgiving game between the Tigers and the Mines eleven, owing to the latter's defeat of the University of Colorado in Denver yesterday, 12 to 6. These two games together with that between the University of Colorado and Denver university, close the Rocky Mountain conference season.

BARNSTORMING TABOO ON PACIFIC COAST

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Major league baseball clubs no longer will be welcomed in cities of the Pacific Coast league as participants in exhibition games. The league directors have officially placed on the taboo list last night when the league directors at their annual meeting voted to close the gates of all league parks against exhibition games whether of local or foreign talent.

Such contests were termed by President Allan T. Baum as measures to the life of the "game" that lay the golden egg, as they detracted from interest in the game. He said the cause of yesterday's action was the fact that Manager Charles A. Comiskey brought his Chicago White Sox to the coast, but also divided his players into two teams, neither fully representative of the best material he had.

The league also put itself on record as opposing the playing of winter baseball by players under contract or reservation on the ground that the practice was detrimental to summer playing ability.

Yale Men in Good Shape.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 14.—With the exception of Wideman, the right end, the Yale football team emerged from its victory over Princeton on Saturday in excellent physical shape. Wideman, it was learned today, has a badly twisted knee, which undoubtedly will prevent him from playing against Harvard next Saturday.

NEBRASKA HEADS MISSOURI VALLEY FOOTBALL TEAMS

Cornhuskers Conceded Leadership of Conference by Reason of Their Impressive Defeat of Kansas.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Kansas City, Nov. 14.—Nebraska was scheduled today to be the last football team in the Missouri valley to face the Cornhuskers in a game which the Cornhuskers expected to win.

While the Nebraska-Kansas game was the most important in the southwest yesterday, the schedule offered an unusual number of games of local interest. Ames won the championship of Iowa by defeating the University of Iowa, 16 to 6. Missouri staged a real comeback by winning from Iowa, Washington and Lee, 14 to 0.

Nebraska's victory over Kansas was a real upset. The Cornhuskers had a hard fight after several years' defeat by the Nebraska team. The Cornhuskers' victory over Kansas was a real upset. The Cornhuskers had a hard fight after several years' defeat by the Nebraska team.

New York, Nov. 14.—Most of the delegates representing the different divisions of the American Athletic union, the annual meeting of which will take place here tomorrow, arrived today. Several of the committee completed reports which they will present at the meeting.

One of the principal topics discussed today was the election of a president to succeed Alfred J. Lill, Jr., of Boston, who has held that office for the last two years. Only two persons were prominently mentioned as likely candidates. These were George J. Turner, of Baltimore, and Seward A. Simons, of Los Angeles, Cal.

The delegates and friends of the late James E. Sullivan, for many years secretary-treasurer of the national organization, today attended religious services in his memory and then participated in the burial of the body, which was interred in the cemetery of the late Sullivan.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 14.—Vanderbilt's decisive victory yesterday at Birmingham over Auburn, which was the University of Georgia's first victory, has generally been regarded as having shown that Vanderbilt may rightly claim championship football honors in the old southern intercollegiate athletic association territory.

Georgia, which is not regarded as being in this territory, is the overwhelming victory of Georgetown over the North Carolina Aggies at Washington came as a surprise.

"The Miracle of Life"

MUTUAL MASTERPIECE IN FOUR REELS.

WITH MARGARITA FISCHER AND JOSEPH E. SINGLETON, SUPPORTED BY A FINE COMPANY

This little drama handles the problem of race suicide with great force and delicacy; how a young wife, caring only for social pleasures, is led to see that motherhood is woman's crowning glory, is the main plot of a play that abounds in beautiful scenes and rousing situations.

Mrs. Clarence Burns, one of the most noted clubwomen in the east, and the head of several well-known women's organizations, including the Little Mothers' Aid society, after witnessing a performance of "The Miracle of Life," said: "I have never seen a picture like it. It cannot help affect every one who sees it. The rich are just as much interested as the poor."

GROSS EARNINGS
OF 32 RAILWAYS HAVE INCREASEDProblem Has Changed From Cutting Expenses to Handling Business Offered, Says Railway Age Gazette."Efficiency is accumulating that the tide has turned and that general business is rapidly returning to a condition of prosperity, with the good consequent effect on the welfare of the railroads and the railroad supply industry," says the Railway Age-Gazette in its current issue. Many railroad officers whose chief concern for years has been to reduce expenses where it has seemed impossible, now find their hands filled with the work of handling the business offered.Preliminary reports from lease roads operating 137,754 miles compiled by the Interstate Commerce commission indicate an increase in total operating revenue per mile from $1-21.9 in September, 1914, to $1-28.8 in September, 1915, or 6.2 per cent, and in net operating revenues per mile from $1.08 to $1.18, or 18 per cent.
This also represents a gain in both gross and net over September, 1912, when a similar compilation by the commission showed that the total operating revenues were $1-22.2 per mile and net operating revenues were $1-09.9 and net operating revenues were $1-20.9. The gross earnings reports of thirty-two roads available for comparison show increases of 8.63 for the first week, 11.38 for the second and 12.49 for the third, over 1914. Any enthusiasm aroused by comparisons with 1914 should be tempered by recollection of the exceedingly poor showing made in that year, but net gains as compared with both 1912 and 1914 are gratifying.Equipment Is Scarce.
The earnings figures are reinforced by the increasing frequency of reports of scarcity of equipment and congestion of traffic, and by the fact that several of the largest railroads in the country have in the past few days reported record car loading figures. The Santa Fe in the week ending October 29 had the largest load of movement in its history, the Burlington on October 12 and 13 set a new record for 15 hours, the Pennsylvania's middle division in October broke its record for a month, and the Missouri Pacific in October had the heaviest freight movement in its history.The report on surpluses and shortages of freight cars issued by the American Railway Association for October 1 showed a surplus of 99,961 cars, as compared with 151,389 on September 1 and 147,352 on October 1, 1914.
There was also a shortage of 8,742 cars. The statement for November 1 showed a large part of this surplus shipped out and a considerable increase in the shortage, which makes the net surplus less than it has been at any time since October 1912. Because of increasing freight traffic, come from all sections of the country, western roads feeling particularly the effects of the steady growth in the grain movement, which promises to be greater than ever before. The eastern roads are troubled by the heavy shipments of iron and steel, as well as of manufactured goods, which increase a large part in general business during the past two or three weeks at so fast by the western roads.Buying Activity Renewed.
Evidence of a renewed buying activity in the grain and railroad car markets is shown by the fact that since October 1 the railroad car market has advanced 10 cents. The Railway Age Gazette has reported in its new columns orders for 650,000 tons of rails, which represents an expenditure of over $13,000,000. Including 167,000 tons reported in our columns in September, this makes a total expenditure of over $24,000,000 for rails alone. With this rail there were placed orders for at least $2,000,000 worth of track fastenings. It has been the practice of the railroads in previous years to place their rail orders about the first of the year, but this year, on account of the compensation in the steel mills caused by the laying from abroad, they are beginning to place their orders much earlier than usual, and are likely to deliver at the time the rails will be needed.But, the Gazette adds, "the confidence aroused by the improvement within the past few weeks is sustained it will take many months of good business for most of the railroads to get out of the effects of the depression, and for many of them even a large increase in traffic will not suffice. A railroad's condition is now determined by gross earnings alone and the recent increase in net earnings is largely artificial. "There are the result of very tight economies that the roads have been forced to practice and which can not be continued without detriment to both service and property. The increase in traffic will bring about a corresponding increase in the labor organizations are already beginning movements for an eight-hour day and for increases of pay. If successful, these would cause increases in operating expenses, which, in the absence of heavy advances in rates, would soon absorb the enhanced net earnings now being shown. The improvement in conditions in the railway and railway supply fields are not able and gratifying, but nowadays the problems presented to the managements of the railroads in years of good business are hardly less numerous and difficult than those presented in years of bad business."CORRECTION It was stated in the Sunday Journal that the annual meeting of the New Mexico Poultry Breeders' association would be held in the El Paso-Spitz building, which was an error. This annual meeting, with a banquet, will be held from 6 to 8 in the evening of November 22, will be held in the basement of the Christian church, corner of Gold and Broadway, and the poultry show, covering a period of four days from November 22 to 25, will be held in the El Paso-Spitz building, corner of Third

HON. FELIX MARTINEZ.

Distinguished citizen of New Mexico, who will be one of the principal speakers at the convention of the New Mexico Educational Association, next week.ALBUQUERQUE TO BUY TICKETS FOR TEACHERS' MEETCommittee Goes Out This Morning to Add at Least 1,000 to Roll of New Mexico Educational Association.With the fixed determination of adding at least one thousand members from Albuquerque to the roll of the New Mexico Educational association, a committee of prominent educators and business men will go out this morning and add to the roll for the sale of membership tickets in the association. The tickets are within the reach of the most modest purse, costing only one dollar each, and there should be no difficulty in surpassing the mark set by the committee.From every point in Albuquerque yesterday announcements were made of the coming to be made today and the importance of the convention to Albuquerque was emphasized. It was pointed out that for four days next week this city will be the educational center of the state, that those in charge of the convention have gone to great expense in providing one of the most notable programs ever given at an educational meeting in New Mexico, and that the local residents in the more popular communities of the state, and that it is the duty of Albuquerque citizens to give their entire support, financially and otherwise, to an enterprise which means so much for the welfare of the entire state.Noted Speakers Here.
The list of speakers who will address the New Mexico teachers (this year) is one that would command attention in any gathering in the United States. Among them are such distinguished educators as Prof. M.
V. O'Shea, of the board of the department of education in the University of Wisconsin; Mrs. C. W. Wilson Stewart, of Frankfort, Ky., a noted authority on the reduction of literacy; and founder of the famous "moonlight schools" in Kentucky.
Dr. John H. Dowers, dean of the school of education in the Oklahoma Agricultural college; John J. Lantz, of Columbia, Ohio, formerly a member of congress and a conspicuous figure in national affairs; and Felix Martinez, one of the foremost educators of New Mexico and a leader in the development of the southwest.The lectures and addresses to be given by these speakers will be worth far more than the one dollar that is required to entitle members of the association to hear them, but aside from all this, the question of Albuquerque hospitality and the number of showing Albuquerque's appreciation of the convention in a particularly important way. The meeting of the association was held in the spacious auditorium of the high school. With a seating capacity of 850 and with the aisles and platform and every vacant space in the hall packed to suffocation, the audience was found insufficient to accommodate more than about two-thirds of the actual teachers in attendance. This year it was decided that the only thing to do was to hold the general meetings of the association in the city, the largest hall in New Mexico, and devote the high school auditorium to the sectional meetings.Money Is Needed.
In order to put the society in shape for the meetings it is necessary to provide seats, to construct proper platform facilities and to do a thousand and one other things that cost money. It is confidently expected that the crowd of the general meetings will average 2,500, and Albuquerque citizens are expected to take care of the entertainment of this big crowd during their stay in the city.
The committee that will go out this morning to sell membership tickets will be composed of Secretary Tom Kahn, of the Commercial club, Secretary C. H. Zepherman, of the Retail Merchandise association, City Clerk Thomas Taggart, City School Superintendent John Miller, County School Superintendent, Alameda, Montana, Judge George H. Craig, Postmaster H. C. Koshl, Dr. David H. Boyd and
M. E. Hickey.ALBUQUERQUE SUNDAY
