WON THE STRIKE!

Telegraphers on Santa Fe Pacific.

Jeffries and Sharkey to Fight Next May.

All Silver Republicans Urged to Become Good Democrats.

TORPEDO BOAT STOCKTON WRECKED.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Five minutes before the strike of the telegraph operators west of Albuquerque on the Santa Fe railroad system was called, J. M. Harr, third vice president of the Santa Fe, informed M. M. Dolphin, president of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, that the company would grant the men's demands. Dolphin hurried to the train dispatcher's room and started to send a message to Albuquerque, calling the strike off, when the clock struck 12 and the keys became silent. Dolphin hurried to the Western Union Telegraph building and after an hour and a half, succeeded in reaching a representative of the order of telegraphers at Needles, California. To him he sent the following message: "Call strike off. Railroad company acceded to demands of the men. Use your utmost influence to get the men back to work, places and re-establish traffic at all points." Dolphin said: "West of Albuquerque the men have been working for small wages, and were on call at some places 24 hours a day. We made a new scale and asked an eight hour rest out of the 24. The advance in the wages granted will amount to nearly $20,000 a year to the men."

Will Fight.
New York, Nov. 14.—A match was made to-day between James J. Jeffries, champion pugilist, and Tom Sharkey. The terms are that the winner shall take the entire purse. The battle will be decided next May before the club offering the largest purse. If the battle takes place in Nevada it will be to a finish.

Political Funeral.
Minneapolis, Nov. 14.—Charles A. Towne, chairman of the silver republican national committee, George H. Shibley, of Illinois, committeeman, and E. S. Corser, treasurer of the committee, have been in conference all day with the party's future. It is understood that they will decide to issue an address in which they will express the belief that the time has come for giving up the party organization and merging the membership into the democracy. All silver and Lincoln republicans will be urged to become democrats in good standing.

Torpedo Boat Wrecked.
Washington, Nov. 14.—The navy department has received a dispatch from Annapolis saying that the torpedo boat Stockton has gone ashore on Horn Point shoals. There is small chance of getting her off until the wind changes. The Stockton is a new torpedo boat, and was about to have her trial trip, the board of inspection being on her.

Funeral of Villard.
New York, Nov. 14.—The funeral of Henry Villard was held at his late residence, Thorwood, Dobbs Ferry, this afternoon.

Dead.
Louisville, Nov. 14.—Major Charles Alfred Booth, quartermaster of the United States army in charge of the United States arsenal at St. Louis the past four years, died here to-day of pneumonia.

College Burned.
Roanoke, Va., Nov. 14.—Fire to-day totally destroyed Virginia college. The young lady students saved practically no effects. No lives lost.

Big Failure.
New York, Nov. 14.—Edward A. Treat, receiver for W. L. Strong & Co., said to-day he was at present unable to remove the uncertainty whether or not the firm is solvent. It is not known whether the firm was financially embarrassed before the death of Ex-Mayor Strong.

The general opinion in the dry goods trade is that it would not have been necessary to apply for a receiver had it not been that Mr. Strong and Mr. Stott, of Stottville, N. Y., died within a few days of each other. It is generally supposed that Strong was a large endorser of Stott.

Lost—Sunday I lost my pocket book, containing several checks and some loose money. The above reward will be given for return to JOSEPH SCHWARTZMAN.

Patronize Home Industry.
The Union cigar makers of Albuquerque call the attention of cigar smokers to the fact that two-thirds of the cigars consumed in this city are made in filthy tenement houses and by Chinese labor. These cigars are very dangerous to the health of the smoker. Such cigars are not advertised because they are good, but because the jobber and retail dealer buys them cheap. Why not smoke cigars made at home and by doing so help build up the city of Albuquerque? If the smokers of Albuquerque would insist on having home-made cigars, Albuquerque would have at least twenty cigar makers at work.

ABE IS BETTER.

Myrtle Farrell Slowly Recovering From the Effects of Chloroform.
Myrtle Farrell, who took several ounces of chloroform at her room yesterday afternoon, expecting to climb the golden stairs and then be tossed backward, is reported to be improving this afternoon, but is still a very sick woman. Considering the amount of chloroform she took, she is doing well. Dr. Pearce did good work in getting her on the road to recovery, and after she wears off the effects of her debauch, followed by her self-complacent satisfaction, she will be all right once more.

Those who know the woman give credit for being one of the most generous, liberal-hearted women imaginable, and besides a liberal allowance every month for the care of her child at Camp Verde, Arizona, she donates a good amount of cash to every month to a crippled brother and a sister who are also in Arizona. These same friends, who praise her for her generosity, claim that she has a most amiable temper when her mind is not debauched by drink, but a perfect demon, always ready to fight or commit injury to those against whom she holds an imaginary wrong, when drunk.

She is the daughter of Frank Dugan who shot Worth Keene at Gallup several years ago, over some coal mine dispute, at the time that C. W. Medler was the receiver of the Rocky Cliff Coal Mining company. It was through her work that her father escaped punishment for the shooting, after which he left Gallup and it is said that he is now in the employ of W. A. Maxwell in the state of Washington.

IN A STUPOR.
At 2:30 o'clock this morning the report reached City Marshal McMillin that Myrtle Farrell was dying and that the doctor had given her up. The marshal, with The Citizen representative, called at the room of the woman and found the victim of chloroform poisoning asleep, with Mrs. Peeney and a lady member of the local Salvation Army corps watching at her bedside. Mrs. Peeney, on being questioned as to the condition of the woman, stated that it was her opinion that the woman was gradually dying and her vitality would soon become exhausted, after which she stated that Myrtle was

IRRIGATION PLANS.

Subjects to Be Discussed at Chicago.

Six Million Dollar Failure in New York.

Alabama Knights of Labor Factions Holding Conventions.

SUNDAY THEATRES IN DENVER.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Two important subjects to be discussed by the irrigation convention in Chicago next week are projects for irrigation of arid lands in Milk river valley, Montana, and for the furnishing of a reservoir in the neighborhood of $1,200,000, which will supply not only these once prosperous, but now distressed Indians, but a large area of public lands and calculated to pay the cost of the entire project.

HIS FAILURE.
New York Dry Goods Firm Falls For $6,000,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—Wm. L. Strong & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants for whom a receiver was appointed in New York yesterday, have a branch office in this city at which a large business is transacted. Attorneys for creditors have secured attachments against the firm here. The attorney for the Griswold-Worsted company, said: "It is one of the largest of failures that has occurred in the last five years, and the liabilities will easily amount to $6,000,000."

Factional Knights of Labor.
Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 14.—The Parsons and Hayes factions of Knights of Labor are holding state conventions without interference with the Parsons faction. The Parsons wing is waiting for an ultimate decision to be reached in the courts, when the merits of the controversy will come up for hearing.

Denver Sunday Theatres.
Denver, Nov. 14.—In the case begun by David Hart to prevent Sunday theatrical performances, Police Justice Thomas to-day decided in favor of the theatres, holding the city ordinance on the subject void.

Today carried Mora county by a majority.

The state of Missouri gave a plurality for Bryan of 12,329.

The city of Las Vegas cast at the recent election 749 votes.
 The county of San Miguel cast at the recent election 4560 votes. Santa Fe cast 2390 votes.

At the recent election the city of Santa Fe cast 1462 votes. Today received 51 majority.

Officials of the American Federation of Labor say that only 23 per cent of the men are unemployed.

The amount of indemnity that will be demanded from China by the powers for the outrages is at least taking shape and will be something like $200,000,000.

The New York Journal wants to reorganize the democratic party. There are a few vacant places in its ranks that the leaders would like to close up.

According to official data one silver mine in Mexico, the Veta Madre at Guanajuato, has produced silver bullion to date of the value of over $1,000,000,000.

Congress at its coming session will probably cut down the war revenue taxes about $15,000,000, or nearly one-fifth, depending, however, on the behavior of the Tagalo braves in the next three or four months.

Several of the territorial officials appointed by Gov. Otero did everything in their power to aid the democrats in their recent campaign. The governor will not doubt cut off their official heads at the earliest possible opportunity.

Everybody is extremely thankful that the election is over and that the red fire and hurrah of campaign are a thing of the past. It now behooves us all to buckle on our armor and make the next four years the most prosperous in the history of the United States.

Guadalupe county gives O. A. Larrazolo, democratic candidate for delegate, 16 majority. The county ticket is mis-erious. This proves two things: first, that the republican party must get an immediate move on itself in the direction of regulation of commercial organiza-tions; second, that the republican party must be big money in all branches of the live stock business, from Belgian hares and chickens up to elephants.

The biggest tunnel scheme ever undertaken in New Mexico has been started in the El Estrecho district. It will be under Baldy mountain, and will be 2,000 feet long, and will attain a depth at that distance of 1,000 feet. It will be driven by hand power during the winter, but a full plant of machine drills will be installed in the spring. It will open a hillside that is well marked with good crops.

The Canadian militia consists of about 40,000 men, and although legislative power exists to enable the government to keep up its strength by law, it is not likely to be done. The militia is the entire male population between 15 and 60 years of age to serve under arms in case of emergency. Service has been chiefly voluntary, and the difficulty experienced in keeping up the proper strength of the force.

A REPUBLICAN INNOVATOR.
 One of the most conspicuous innovators in the republican party in New Mexico is Pedro Sanchez of Taos county. The Taos Crescent says of him: "The man who now holds the position of census enumerator for New Mexico under republican administration, who brags that he carries his home precinct in the hollow of his hand, has shown, by his work in that very pre-cinct and those districts that he is a traitor to the party which supported him for thirty years and without which, he would probably be herding sheep to-day."

THE SHEEP CENSUS.
 The enumeration of sheep was not made by the census until 1880, when the number reported was 15,311,000. In 1890 the number given was 21,733,000, and only 22,471,575 in 1900. Between 1880 and 1890 a very rapid advance was made, from about 22,000,000 to possibly 42,000,000, followed by a decline in the later years of the decade to 31,000,000. Annual estimates were made by the department of agriculture, not including the mountain areas, all nearly the same of the decade, when statistical service was organized in the great ranch districts. The figures were, therefore, not complete in those years. After this disturbed and fluctuating record the estimates became more reliable and the development more uniform. The total number of sheep in the United States is 41,832,044; the total valuation, $12,655,512. The Rocky Mountain state contains over 60 per cent of the total number of sheep in the country and over 40 per cent of the total value.

A SOLDIER HOMESTEAD.
 A soldier who served at least 90 days during the civil war, who was honorably discharged, and who has remained loyal to the government since, has these advantages among others, in the matter of a homestead: He is allowed to enter upon and receive free patent for 160 acres, and further, he is allowed six months after locating his claim and filing his declaratory statement, in which to make his entry and begin improvements. The time he served in the army is deducted from the time ordinarily required to perfect a title, and if he was discharged on account of wounds or disability incurred in the line of duty, then the term of his enlistment is deducted from the time ordinarily required to perfect a title; but in no event shall a patent be issued until the settler has resided upon, improved and cultivated his homestead for at least one year after he began improvements. A. D. Johnson Gives Some Good Pointers About Water.

HE HAS HAD EXPERIENCE.

Editorial Comment.

I have noticed lately in your paper the articles of Prof. Hiram Hadley of Las Cruces, and Mr. Allaire of San Antonio, and thought that a few words from a non-professional, but one with some practical knowledge of securing a water supply for irrigating purposes out of the quicksands of the Rio Grande bottom, might be of interest.

Prof. Hadley favors a committee of investigation to visit California, but, as Mr. Allaire says, our location here and that of California are entirely different. I would suggest that such a committee had better visit the Arkansas bottom of Kansas, where the formation of the soil, the crops, etc., are more like ours here in this valley. The idea of Mr. Allaire of putting a large water plant at or near the mouth of a ditch is very good if a sufficient supply could be secured for a large plant in one place, but my experience during the last ten years has taught me that it is a great deal better, easier, and more economical to secure a supply of water for a number of small plants situated from 50 to 100 feet apart—that is, in the flats. A well can be procured to give a moderate amount of water at a comparatively small expense, but when an attempt is made to pump a great amount of water to cover 300 acres a day, the undertaking is a very difficult task. This ditch, or long well, seems to be quite feasible, and would be, if it could be secured to a sufficient depth, but I have never seen one. I have seen a well over five or six feet deep made in this shape. There are, however, three different kinds of wells which can be placed in the quicksands. The first and most suitable is a well of Santa Fe, second table, 3 to 11 feet in diameter, and 10 to 15 feet deep. This is, of course, known to almost everyone as a very expensive job. The next best, in my opinion, is a circular well of sufficient diameter to give a required amount of water, which I will term an "open brick well." This well is built of vitrified brick, back of the ditch, and is filled in. No cement is used. A mortar is used, but on opening of from 1/4 to 1/2 inches is left between the ends of the bricks. This will allow the water at all stages to come in through the sides of the well, and as up from the bottom. In sinking the solid rock well, all water is shut out from the sides, and there is no but what is raised from underneath. This again, this first water flow at river level will stand up to a large pump but a short time. If a well can be secured with four feet of lift to start with, and the pump has been running a short time the well will have been raised to a lift of twelve to fifteen feet, and if the bottom of the well is located in a gravel strata, as it should be, the chances are good that a well ten feet in diameter will supply two twelve-inch pumps. One four-horse gasoline engine costing about $250 will operate these two pumps. The two pumps will cost about $100. The total cost of the well and pump, and the engine and walking beams about $100 more, making $450, or for a safe estimate, $500 for the plant after the well and water supply have been secured. It is a hard matter to estimate the cost of the material for the well, as I am not posted on the price of vitrified brick. With hard brick at $10 per thousand, a well ten feet in diameter and about 30 feet deep can be put in for about $200, making complete plant capable of supplying two twelve-inch pumps, or about 400 gallons in 24 hours. It is estimated that this would be enough to raise water from the river level to 20 to 30 acres of ground every 24 hours, with a first cost of from $1,000 to $1,200. These plants could be duplicated about 1,000 feet apart until the necessary amount has been secured to supply the land under the ditch. This I believe to be the most practical way of securing the water, although a cheaper well can be put in with what is called "perforated casing."

This casing made of galvanized sheet steel and thoroughly riveted together, is pressed down into the sand and the sand is packed around it. After it has been carried down to the desired depth, the bottom is filled with gravel or rock to prevent the sand from rising. The pump can be lowered down into these tubes, leaving the pump in an almost open body of water, as these castings are perforated with inch holes the entire length. The greatest difficulty in putting them in would be the encountering of boulders or rock in the sand, which quite often causes a loss of labor on a well, as the pipe would have to be pulled up and removed to another point.

Another satisfactory well, which is very substantial and will last a life time, is that which is known as the "sinking" series of pipes. This is made by sinking a series of pipes, each six or ten inches in diameter, down to a gravel strata through the quick-sand. This gravel strata below affords a good reservoir, which will raise the water to a level above the first water level, or a little above the first water level. When these points are put down into that gravel and four or five of them are connected, one a minute can be pumped from them from one year's end to another. There will be, however, quite a loss of water in seepage from running through the long ditch, which would be saved if a plant could be put in at every two or three farms.

This stirring up of the bottom of the ditch with a dredge or harrow would cause the loss to be much greater. In my opinion, it would be much better to allow this silt from the river to remain in the ditches to form a sort of sediment which would prevent a great deal of seepage until the close of the season, when, late in the fall, if the river does not rise again, the pumping plants could be started up and the ditch worked with a dredge and this sediment from the river distributed over the ground, leaving the ditches clean again, ready for the spring watering. It has been proved that this method of working will save a great deal of water, and it is a great deal better to use the river in any way, whatever, but at the same time keep their ditches in such a shape and connection that the river water can be turned into them. I hope that the duty of the Las Cruces college will be in the way of play to take up this matter on a large scale and push it through to completion.

The best physicians in the place send their patients to his store whenever they can. Anything which Mr. Peaslee may say can be depended upon absolutely. In a letter to W. H. Hooker & Co., New York City, proprietors of Aker's English Remedy, he says: "In all my many years' experience as a druggist, I have never handled a medicine of any nature that gave such complete satisfaction as Aker's English Remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. I have sold hundreds of bottles, and have yet to learn of a single case where it failed to cure. In a certain case, it acts with a certainty that is really marvelous. My wife does not take much stock in medicine, but she has absolute faith in Aker's English Remedy. She has used it for years, and always having it at her elbow in case the children are attacked by croup at night. It is a positively harmless remedy, as I can personally testify. I know of a little girl who accidentally drank a whole bottle. She was, of course, sick at her stomach for a short time, but the sickness passed away, and then the child was in better health than ever before. I can understand why Aker's English Remedy is so efficacious, because I am a druggist. It is not a mere expectorant, but a strengthening, invigorating tonic as well. While it loosens the irritations of the mucous membrane, it also builds up the constitution and purifies the blood. I endorse it absolutely."

Sold at 25c. per bottle, throughout the United States and Canada; and in England, at 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., 4s. 6d. If you are not satisfied after buying, return the bottle to your druggist, and get your money back.
