Thompson Withdraws Name.
Chicago, Nov. 30.—Mayor William H. Thompson, whose name was filed with the Nebraska secretary of state as candidate for republican nomination for president will ask that his name be withdrawn, he said tonight.

Too Voluminous.
Despite eliminations already made upon his suggestion, Superintendent McFarland, of Silver City, still finds the course of study too cumbersome and voluminous. He furnishes monthly typewritten outlines for his teachers, from which at the end of the year, a course of study adapted to the Silver City schools can be formulated.

Supt. J. B. Taylor followed up the same thought by saying that it is im-

Champion of the Exams.
Mrs. Wallace L. Gumm, of Carlton, championed the eighth grade examinations with vigor as the only means of standardizing New Mexico schools. "My teachers and our pupils and their parents want to know that they are on the same basis as the teachers and pupils of other sections that they are measuring up with the best of them. I find that my teachers do more conscientious and effective work because they know that the eighth grade examination will now

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 20.—Another Harvard football machine crushed Yale, 41 to 0, today, wiping out all previous records against the Elis. Although the fighting spirit which Tom Sheehan imparted to the Yale eleven last previous to the victory over Princeton was still in evidence, it yielded to the blue and white of the Harvard eleven. Success in the building of the Harvard eleven was a momentary thing, but after the initial period of the game the result was never in doubt and interest in the Harvard eleven was centered in the size of the score that the long university eleven would run up.

Their hope of a record crumpled against the blue were not disappointed for before Captain Mahan and his teammates completed their first drive, the score stood 14 to 0. In the second period, the Harvard eleven scored the largest total ever scored by a Harvard eleven against Yale and the largest, but one, ever made in this eastern football classic which dates back to 1875. More than twenty years ago, in 1884, to be accurate, Yale defeated Harvard, 18 to 6, and had today's game continued for three minutes longer, these figures would be all probability have been equaled or surpassed.

As it was, the contest established several new records for the series, the largest margin of defeat, 41 to 0, the largest number of touchdowns scored by a Harvard eleven, six, and the largest number of touchdowns scored by a Harvard eleven, six.

In addition, Captain Mahan closed his football career with a wonderful display of individual ability, during which he made four touchdowns and five goals from touchdowns for a total of 29 points, which is said to be an individual record for this series.

rumpled around and through the Eli eleven for each after each apparently not a bit hampered by the slippery and uncertain footing of the stadium turf. Mahan's eleven sent about the other players of the crimson teaming, but Watson, King, Harris, Boies and Sneyd all showed in the perfect play of Neumann's gridiron steam roller. Across the line South, Hartman, Black, Wal, Allen and Captain Mahan were the heroes of a desperate and unrelenting stand against the charges of Harvard.

The afternoon was far from ideal for football. A chilling rain blew out of the west carrying the goal ball into the air, and the rain made the field so slippery that it was almost impossible to get a footing. The wind speeded some of the 50,000 spectators who sat huddled with furs and heavy wraps and only were forced to leave at last when the rain became too much for them. The crowd was wet and slippery and at times the players lost their footing.

On the opening kick of the game the Elis, taking a Harvard punt near midfield, rapidly worked the ball into crimson territory until the blue legions were frantically calling for a touchdown. There a fumble gave the ball to the crimson and on the first down Mahan sent it twisting down the field with a powerful kick to which the wind added together. The ball fumbled the catch and Harris, after three attempts, scooped up the ball and ran thirty-three yards for a touchdown, from which Mahan missed the goal.

Before the stadium adherents of the blue had time to recover their composure, the Harvard eleven was at work again. Taking the ball on a Yale punt the Cambridge team started a march up-field which did not end until Mahan had crossed the line. During the attack Harvard gave an inkling of the clever strategy by which she was to defeat Yale so decisively. Delayed passes, hidden ball tactics and other deceptive methods employed by Quarterback Watson completely bewildered the Elis, who were thrown off or drawn aside while his holes were opened in their line, through which the Harvard runners romped for big gains.

In the second period Harvard added another fourteen points on two touchdowns and a field goal. With the ball in her possession on Yale's 47-yard line the Mahan brigade moved steadily toward the goal until within thirteen yards of the line. Here the blue eleven intercepted a forward pass, but instead the ball was both delayed and hidden in handling until Mahan was able to slip through the widespread defense for a scoring dash.

The fourth score was gained almost before the line, although for more spectacularly. King was given the sphere after the Elis had been baffled by the passing tactics in the Harvard backfield, and adding Yale's left end ran fifty-five yards for a touchdown in a very corner of the field. Mahan kicked the goal.

In the third period the crimson showed another method of attack, snatching the ball on Yale's 21-yard line as the result of Savage's fumble on the fourth down. Mahan rolled off five yards through center which was followed by a lateral pass without gain. A forward pass, Watson to Colledge, put the ball on Yale's forty-yard line, and in four rushes the touchdown was scored. Mahan carried the ball and kicked the goal.

Yale made a great effort to score in this period, using a series of short and long passes which for a time broke up the Harvard defense. In fact, one perfect pass from Wade to Wilson sent the Yale captain over the Harvard line, but the touchdown was not allowed and the ball was brought back for holding the Yale line.

It was this passing game that paved the way for the final Harvard score. The ball was for Boies intercepted the ball and ran to Yale's 25-yard line. From this point a forward pass gained fifteen yards and then McKinnock plunged his way to within three yards of the goal. Again the goal was kicked, but the ball was kicked a few minutes later.

Yale was guilty of four fumbles to Harvard's one, but the crimson was penalized seven times for a total of sixty yards, while Yale lost four yards on two penalties.

Harvard's eleven suffered a dislocated shoulder. Several other players were injured but their hurts were not serious. One of these was Scotty, who played terrifically until the fourth period.

Only one attempt at field goal was made. This was by Neville, called into the play in the last period at a time considered opportune for a blue score, but the ball missed the uprights from the twenty-yard line.

SYRACUSE AND DARTMOUTH FIGHT TO A SCORELESS TIE

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Playing on a field which was slick with mud from the rain of Thursday and Friday, Syracuse and Dartmouth battled for one hour to a scoreless tie here today. Both teams fought desperately throughout.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA IS TRIMMED BY UTAH

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 20.—In a game filled with brilliant open play, the University of Utah today defeated the University of Southern California by a score of 20 to 12. Criss, of the University of Southern California, and Trenchard of Utah, were the sensations of the game, each making spectacular touchdowns.

LAST RATING COURSE TO BE FIRED FRIDAY AT ALBUQUERQUE RANGE

Artillerymen of the Albuquerque association today will have their last chance to finish their scores in the official rating course. Also this will be the last opportunity this year for the course to be closed, as far as club shooting goes, this year. The rating course will be a target shoot to be held Wednesday and Thursday. The shoot will be held under the auspices of the club and will be managed by W. C. Sullivan.

Scoring in the rating course will be done by the Washington and Modesto clubs. Modesto for expert riflemen, sharpshooters, and marksmen, together with rifle for those scoring as sharpshooters and experts, they will be sent from the west department.

HIGHS EMULATE HARVARD; BEAT AZTEC, 41 TO 0

The Albuquerque high school football eleven administered a severe trouncing to the Aztec high school team yesterday afternoon at the football field, winning by the score of 41 to 0.

In no particular were the Aztecs the equal of Coach Keppa's machine, except in the matter of weight. In that respect the teams were evenly balanced. From the opening whistle the local aggressors literally played the visitors off their feet in all departments of the game. Play was almost entirely in Aztec territory. In every instance Aztec chose to receive on the kick-off, and, securing the ball, to send it almost immediately to gain through the Albuquerque line. Receiving the kick-off, in each instance the Aztec player was downed within two yards of his twenty-yard line, an indication of fast work on the part of the Albuquerque forwards in getting down the field under kicks.

In the first period, simultaneously, the Albuquerque star fullback, was ruled out of the game for conduct unbecoming a scholar and a gentleman, having said "ruffie," or uttered some other equally ungentlemanly remark, under serious provocation. Thus handicapped and with a line man playing fullback, on the offensive, the Aztecs were unable to make any headway, gaining through the visitors line, due largely to the work of the line in opening up holes in Aztec's line.

In the first quarter Albuquerque scored two touchdowns, both by Captain Barton, and kicked goal once. In the second period two touchdowns were made, one each by Captain Barton and Lewis, and no goal. Captain Barton kicked a field goal from the thirty-five-yard line and Drake, tackle, scored the last score for a touchdown in the third quarter. Barton kicked goal. In the fourth period Captain Barton again carried the ball over for the last Albuquerque score, the attempt at goal after touchdown failing.

DINNER TO FOOTBALL PLAYERS BIG SUCCESS

The dinner tendered to the visiting and local high school football players and the Albuquerque high school athletic association and prepared by Miss Mandell's domestic science class, at the high school building last night after the game, was a great success. A number of substantial "cots" and tables from local and foreign players, and school authorities, featured the affair.

INDIAN SCHOOL IS WINNER OVER MENAUL ELEVEN

The Indian school held the Menaul eleven scoreless yesterday afternoon at the Indian school grounds while they were playing 14 points.

Neither side was able to score in the first half. Holat, the Indian star, was injured and taken out of the game after three minutes of play in the third quarter. However, the Indian Indians played harder, it seemed to make up for him loss. All scores were made after his leaving the field. Two touchdowns and one field goal by Spencer gave the Indians their score.

Menaul was able to push the ball forward for first down four times, two of which were twenty-five-yard passes. At no stage were the Indians seriously threatened.

INJURED, HE STAYS IN GAME UNTIL END BUT DIES HOUR LATER

BUCKINGHAM, W. Va., Nov. 20.—William Parker, star captain of the Buckingham high school football team, was fatally injured in a game here today. Parker's head was hurt in the first play but he remained in the game until near the close of the first half. He died an hour later from a broken rib of the brain.

GOPHERS DIVIDE HONORS OF BIG 9 WITH ILLINOIS

Latter Make Good Claim to Share "Place in Sun" by Beating Maroons; Minnesota Beats Badgers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The mid-western conference football season ended with the championship honors divided by Illinois and Minnesota. Both Gophers and Ill. came through the season undefeated and both downed their strongest rivals, Wisconsin and Chicago. In their own game, they played a 6-to-5 tie. Minnesota crushed the Badgers today by 29 to 2, another Illinois 17 to 2 against them. Illinois defeated Chicago, 19 to 6, as compared to the Gophers' 20 to 7 victory over the Maroons in comparative scores give the Minnesotans a small advantage. Again the Ill. with a weak team in the field, were held to a tie by Ohio state early in the season, while Minnesota has a clean record of victories except for the draw at Oregon.

MINNESOTA CLOSES SEASON BY DEFEATING WISCONSIN

Madison, Wis., Nov. 20.—The University of Minnesota football eleven closed its season today without a defeat by winning from the University of Wisconsin, 20 to 2. The Badgers outplayed the Gophers in the first quarter. After Ruppberg's field goal and punting Coach Jennings' men in the lead, but Minnesota branched in the next period and scored a touchdown in each of the last three sessions.

FERRIC DRIVE IN FIRST QUARTER DEFEATS CHICAGO

Chicago, Nov. 20.—By a terrific drive in the first quarter, Illinois downed Chicago today, 19 to 6, and made good its claim to a division of the conference championship with Minnesota. The victory of Illinois was due in part to fullback Hakstrom's fine punting and dashes off tackle.

THOROUGH PROBE TO BE MADE INTO KILLING OF BOY

Inquest Is Begun and Will Be Resumed Tuesday; Mayor Says Committee of Council Will Investigate.

The accident which caused the death of 6-year-old Owen Morris, son of Thomas M. Morris, will be thoroughly investigated. The inquest was started yesterday by Justice George H. Craig and will be continued Tuesday morning.

Mayor Boatright stated that the committee of the council would hold an independent investigation. This will be held as much in justice to W. J. Reed, driver of the motor engine, and the city as for any other purpose.

A coroner's jury was empaneled yesterday morning. Members of the jury were selected with care owing to the peculiar nature of the case.

The jury was taken to Thomas Blake's undertaking rooms on East central avenue and there viewed the body of the child.

Funeral to Be Held Today.

From the undertaking rooms the jury went to the central fire station, where the highlands motor was being repaired, and examined the machine. Next, the jury went to the Morris home and carefully looked over the place where the accident occurred.

Adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, when the taking of testimony of witnesses will be commenced. The long interim was allowed because of the funeral of Judge Mann, which is to be held tomorrow.

The funeral of the boy will be held today. Services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Central avenue Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Ellis Smith and the Rev. George H. Givan officiating. Burial will be in Fairview cemetery, George H. Givan, J. F. Simms, Hiram Hancock and O. E. Ayer will be pallbearers.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Mrs. Luz T. Chaves.

Mrs. Luz T. Chaves, 72 years old, died early yesterday morning at her home in Durango. She was the mother of E. V. Chaves, attorney for the Santa Fe railway. Mr. Chaves, whose headquarters are in Los Angeles, is on the way here. Another son, Joaquín, who lives with his mother, also survives. The body was taken to Fred Crollott's undertaking rooms. Funeral arrangements will not be made until Mr. Chaves arrives.

Antonio Lopez.

Antonio Lopez, 8 years old, died yesterday afternoon north of the city from typhoid fever. He was the son of Antonio Lopez. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Fred Crollott's chapel. Burial will be in San Jose cemetery.

Mrs. Gertrude V. Sanchez.

Mrs. Gertrude V. Sanchez, 39 years old, died yesterday afternoon at her home on West Pacific avenue. Three daughters and one son, who is at Flagstaff, Ariz., survive. The body was taken to Fred Crollott's undertaking rooms. Funeral arrangements will not be made until the son arrives.

The Junior choir of the Immaculate Conception church is preparing a beautiful program for the services to be held at that church at 5 o'clock Thanksgiving day morning.

SHORT AND UGLY WORD COMES NEAR TO BEING USED

Plenty of Pep Injected Into Discussion Over Certification of Teachers; Plea Made for University.

A strong plea for recognition of university graduates in certification of teachers was made yesterday afternoon before the educational council by Dr. Mitchell in place of Dr. David R. Boyd. The discussion which ensued showed that there had been a lack of "meeting of the minds," rather than a disposition not to give university graduates the certification asked for them by Dr. Boyd, and for a moment it seemed as if the short, ugly word would be passed.

W. T. Conway, of Baton, led off with a discussion of the proposed system of certification, which had been placed in related form on every desk. He criticized the main features, and came to the conclusion that after all "it is the spirit of the boy and the girl that counts and certification does not give that spirit." He was pleased that the law has practically eliminated the three-year professional certificate.

Circumscribed by Law.

J. L. G. Swinney, of Aztec, a member of the state board of education, explained that the board is very much circumscribed by the law. He was too pleased to see the three-year professional certificate disappear. He likes the old Kansas plan of insisting upon experience before granting a first-grade certificate and would prefer to have seven months' experience as one requirement for second-grade certificate, and fourteen months for first grade.

"In demanding efficiency in service, I am protecting the children, the people, the educational system of the state," he exclaimed. "It is better to eliminate the candidate who has no natural bent for teaching before he gets hold of a certificate guaranteeing to the people that he is fit to teach. He declared the proposed plan of certification to be too indefinite, and deplored the lack of unity among the educational forces of the state. "Legislators have told me again and again that the teachers do not themselves know what they want."

R. L. Enloe, of Silver City, also declared that the law itself practically prescribes who shall be entitled to teach and who shall not. Cities have the right to issue their own certificates. These are granted on two theories: "Credits and examination," and there are two classes of teachers, the self-made and the institution-made. The state board may fix percentages and add subjects required and the tendency is constantly upward toward stricter requirements.

There is considerable misunderstanding among teachers and school directors about certification and the system should be clear, simple and explicit. The state board of education does not resent suggestions from the outside, in fact, welcomes them on this subject. He favored special certificates for special subjects.

Dr. Boyd dwelt upon the demand by high schools for college-bred teachers, for teachers specially trained in a special subject, for teachers that have the breadth of culture that a college course implies. He complained that the state board had not yet recognized that special demand.

Dr. Mitchell presented cogently and scientifically the policy in other states in granting certificates to college graduates without examination. He outlined on the blackboard the requirements in various states as to the amount of instruction in education and psychology to be given the pupil preparing to teach a special subject, and asked that university graduates thus prepared should be given at least one year's certificate without examination, to be renewed in case the graduate made good.

Prof. T. G. Rogers, of East Las Vegas, deplored that the university graduate of intelligence and mature thought should be placed on the same plane as to certification with a high school girl in short dresses. Surely, four years of a university course fit a pupil far better to teach than eight weeks of professional training in even as good a school as the Normal university. The proposed scheme of certification flatters our high school but the requirements for second and first grade certificates should be made much stiffer.

Wants Teachers to Grow.

R. F. Asplund explained that the system of certification in vogue developed much as did the school laws, it just grew and now the time has come to do as was done with the laws—to compile and harmonize. He advocated one system instead of two, so that the higher grade can always be built upon a lower. At present and under the proposed system, when a teacher has obtained a first-grade certificate he is through and if he desires a professional certificate, he must start all over again. "I do not see much sense in granting life certificates. Teachers have a way of deteriorating unless they are kept on their mental feet. I would have them produce evidence of mental growth every once in a while. However, examinations are the bane of school life, they are wasteful of effort and of gray matter. I would have the evidence of cultural improvement consist in reading certain books or securing institutional credits. He was earnest in insisting that New Mexico teachers should be required to study New Mexico classics and history. The teachers have great influence in determining the attitude of the future citizen toward the state.

Here Dr. Boyd again made the demand that university graduates be given the same footing as a high school graduate. "Every city high school insists on college graduates to teach special courses. If it does not, I would like to know it."

W. T. Conway said that an employ a teacher who does not have an A. B. or A. M. degree, and have prepared to teach a special subject.

Enloe explained the preference given high school graduates by the fact that first-class teachers are paid only $75 a month in many instances and that New Mexico would lose the services of many of its high school graduates if certification were denied them.

W. O. Hall commended Asplund's idea of building up higher grade certificates logically and in sequence from the lower grades. He agreed that a university graduate should have a higher kind of certificate than the high school graduate. The same idea was taken by Prof. J. B. Clifton and Professor MacKay of Socorro.

Local and Personal

Dr. R. Fred Pettit and Mrs. Pettit returned yesterday from Phoenix, Ariz., where they attended the Arizona state fair. Dr. Pettit, who is one of the leading dog trainers of the United States, was a judge of the bench show, a position which he also filled last year.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnsworth will return to their home in El Paso tomorrow after spending their honeymoon in Albuquerque, having been married in El Paso November 10. Mr. Farnsworth was a resident of this city twelve years ago, but for some years has held an important post in the economic service in El Paso. While on their visit here the Farnsworths were entertained by friends in a number of occasions.

Don't Merely Ask for Duffy's— Insist On Getting Duffy's

Manufacturers, who have built up successful businesses through the sale of reliable products, are occasionally the victims of envious competitors and dishonest merchants who try to sell the unsuspecting public unknown and very often unreliable products, instead of supplying trade marked and reliable brands asked for.

For YOUR protection and the reputation of the manufacturer we direct your attention to the distinguishing points on every genuine bottle of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. If you are careful to familiarize yourself with them, no merchant, no matter how clever, can deceive you. The genuine is sold in sealed bottles only—never in bulk—and is wrapped in Duffy's Annual as shown at left of illustration. After you have removed the Annual, look for the "Old Chemist" trademark on the label and seal over cork, also the company name blown in bottle. (See right of illustration.)

The majority of merchants are honest, but you will occasionally come in contact with the merchant who considers profits more than your health. Trade where you get what you ask for.

"Get Duffy's and Keep Well."

Sold in sealed bottles only. Beware of imitations.

NOTE—Get Duffy's from your local druggist, grocer or dealer $1.00 per bottle. If he cannot supply you, write us, we will tell you where to get it. Medical booklet free.

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

You don't want a slow remedy
when your stomach is full of a uncertain one—or a harmful one—your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in giving relief; its harmlessness;
its certain unfailing action in regulating sick, sour, rawy stomachs.
It is millions of cures in indigestion,
dyspepsia, gastritis and other stomach trouble has made it famous the world over.

Keep this perfect stomach doctor in your home—keep it handy—get a large fifty-cent case from any drug store and then if anyone should eat something which doesn't agree with them;
if what they eat lays like lead, ferments and sours and forms gas;
causes headache, dizziness and nausea;
frustration of acid and undigested
food—remember as soon as Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. Its promptness, certainty and ease in overcoming the worst stomach disorders is a revelation to those who try it.

COUNTY UNIT LAW CAUSES WRANGLE AMONG TEACHERS

Asplund Takes Up Cudgels in Behalf of Legislative Enactment Which He Helped to Have Passed.

Remarkable was the episode that occurred toward the close of the meeting of the Educational Council yesterday afternoon. There had been a spirited debate over the county unit law and much quibbling because under the law some of the richer districts apparently help to contribute toward the maintenance of schools in poorer districts, although this is made up to them by the state in various ways. Rupert F. Asplund of Santa Fe, editor of the Educational Journal, had been taunted with the fact that he took pride in having assisted in formulating and passing the measure, when he arose for a parting shot.

"I am astounded," he said, "that any educator should put forth the monstrous proposition, that the children in a rich district are entitled to more education than the children in a poor district. Even though pressed against the wall, I will still insist that the children in the school district in Santa Fe county that last year collected only $1.53 under the special school tax, as the children in the richest part of Albuquerque. This is the ground upon which I stand and the doctrine for which I fight. Your rich city owes it to itself to see to it that every child in New Mexico has school opportunities whether its parents or its neighbors can afford to give it such facilities or not. The permanency of our institutions, of our commonwealth, rests upon that principle." There was thunderous applause, and then more applause and when that died down, the handclapping was renewed again and again.

County Unit Bill Explained.

Mr. Asplund told the legislative history of the county unit law, the conditions that preceded it, the benefits it will bestow. He showed that this year the state apportionment will be at least $1.30 per capita, and perhaps $4.00 per capita, and last year more than making up for any possible contribution that some very rich district might make toward maintaining school in a poor district.
He predicted that within very short time, the county unit law will give each school district in the state nine months of school. He explained the seeming miracle, how on a lower lay, each county will receive more money. Under the county unit law, no county less than $3,000 excess over last year.

He advocated the standardizing of school expenditures. One of the best features of the county unit bill is that it compels the making of budgets and compels districts to stay within that budget. Another merit is that the county superintendent not only approves warrants but also accounts, and the speaker hoped the time will come when the superintendent will also have the sole power of authorizing expenditures.

Mr. Asplund answered all questions.

TEXANS RESCUED BY WONDERFUL REMEDY

Find Swift Relief From Allments of Years' Standing With First Dose of Treatment.

Many Texans needlessly suffer from stomach ailments and disorders of the digestive tract which appear to be particularly prevalent in the South.
Many others have found a way to escape by the use of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy.

The first dose of this remedy proves
what it will do.

T. J. GOODPASTURE, 802 Sabine St., Houston, Texas, wrote: "I took your treatment last spring. I don't think I will have to take any more—
it completely cured me."

E. L. RANDELL, Laredo, Texas, wrote: "I have just finished my fifth bottle of your treatment and passed several gall stones. Your preparation has worked simply wonderfully during my course of treatment."

Mayr's Wonderful Remedy gives permanent results for stomach, liver and intestinal ailments. Eat as much and whatever you like. No more distress after eating, pressure of gas in the stomach and around the heart.
Get one bottle of your druggist now and try it on an absolute guarantee—if not satisfactory money will be returned.

on the detailed workings of the bill and announced that Expert James of the State Tax Payers' association will appear before the county superintendents' section to explain further the administration of the measure.

Hill Denounces Law.

Rev. C. C. Hill sees nothing but harm in the county unit law. While in sympathy with the principle that the strong should help the weak, he finds that the measure is not of much value to the county, in fact, works to the injury of six of its districts, depriving a number of children in them of their school facilities because of the distance they live from the obligatory school house permitted in the district under the law's provisions. "This law will engender extravagance," he declared, and some of my districts
when they learned of its passage, quickly devised means to expend their surplus." Here W. O. Hall interjected: "Because they erroneously believed that the city school district would grab the surplus." Mr. Hill continued, that the law has a tendency to destroy local interest in the district schools.

W. O. Hall advocated the creation of a county board of education that would make its own levies. Roswell, since the passage of the unit law, no longer charges tuition to outside pupils, thus virtually making the Roswell high school a county high school.
Supt. Bonifacio Montoya championed the county unit law, saying that criticisms of it come from lack of understanding. He thought the standardization of teachers' salaries a good thing and followed up the arguments of Asplund.

Hill's Strong Defense.

Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts, on behalf of State Senator Louis H. Hill, presented a strong defense of the county unit law. Every child should have equal educational facilities, was his plea. Speaking of the equalization of taxes, it was pointed out that such wealthy concerns as the Bell ranch in San Miguel county heretofore contributed nothing toward educating the children of the state, but this year will be compelled to contribute from $2,000 to $10,000.
The railroads will have to pay from $20,000 to $10,000 more this year for the public schools. When men like Charles A. Spiess, Charles Springer, W. A. Hawkins, were told that the interests they represent would have to pay more taxes under the unit law, they cheerfully assented as long as the additional burden was for the schools. The most biting criticism of the law that has been made is that it compels the cities to contribute toward the maintenance of the country schools. That, however, says Mr. Hill, is an advantage for the cities should recognize that they depend for their existence upon the country districts, and are merely helping themselves when they help to educate the children of those districts.

Supt. C. L. Burt pointed out the complications that arise under the law in treating new districts. Supt.
J. V. Conway asserted that the margin allowed for administration is not sufficient in districts employing first grade teachers.

M. E. Hickey of Albuquerque took a fall out of the statements of Mr.
Asplund, which brought about the discussion. He insisted that the principle of the law is absolutely wrong and that it is un-American to tax one district for the support of schools in another district.

W. T. Conway took the same position and regretted that John Morrow of Elton was absent, for then there would certainly be fireworks and for every reason he could advance against the measure, there were twenty that Morrow would urge. He didn't wonder that San Miguel county politicians favored the law, for San Miguel county had twelve districts that had no school simply because they didn't want any school. The law discourages those districts from making special efforts to improve their educational facilities.

Atanacio Montoya took the view that the law tends to decentralize instead of centralizing school administration.

The debate then closed with As-plund's brilliant peroration.

SPLENDID MUSICAL PROGRAM TODAY AT CASINO

The opportunity to enjoy a pleasant outing and at the same time hear a good musical entertainment, is offered to the public this afternoon from 2:30 to 4 o'clock at the Casino,
in Traction park.

There are a great many families living in Albuquerque whose only opportunity for an outing is on Sunday afternoons, and until now there has been no place for them to go.

In most cities of this size there are amusement parks for the public, and the pleasure afforded by such places is too well known to need any recommendation, and so it has been decided to offer such an opportunity to the people of Albuquerque.

In connection there will be a stand where one may obtain hot tamales, sandwiches and cigars. The ground will be open at noon, so those who so desire may enjoy an entire afternoon's outing. If the weather is pleasant the concert will be held in the open band stand and if the weather is too cool it will be held inside of the Cassino.

If the idea appeals to the public and the concert proves popular, arrangements will be made for the continuance of concerts, with added entertainment features, the entire season. This will give our city an opportunity to support and maintain a regularly organized band, which will be available for other occasions, and which at present we do not possess.

Come out and spend a pleasant afternoon and help to promote a regular amusement park for Alberque-que.

In order to help defray the expenses for the music, there will be a charge made for admission of 10 cents. Children under ten years of age will be admitted free.

BILHEIMER WILL NOT SPEAK AT UNIVERSITY

Owing to conflict in time between the vesper services, to have been held at the university, and the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. directors, G. S. Bil-heimer, international secretary, will not speak at Rodey hall this afternoon. The university will join in the teachers' vesper services to be held at the high school.

The directors will meet at 2:30 o'clock at M. E. Hickey's office in the Burnett building. They will discuss with Mr. Bilheimer the election of a permanent general secretary for Albuquerque.

TO THE Citizens of Albuquerque and Adjacent Territory

The officers and directors of the State National Bank respectfully invite attention to the rapid and substantial growth of this institution.

This bank was organized and commenced business on April 18th, 1904. Since that day every detail of its growth and expansion has been effected through normal business methods, and through the fact that the officers consistently have taken a personal interest in good service for each and every person whose account appears on their books, the effort being to promote the interests of our depositors in every legitimate way.

We heartily appreciate the confidence and support which our customers have given up and realize fully that without their help we could not have accomplished the results that we are now able to show in the statement which follows.

The directors of this bank, like its officers, are all active and actively interested in all its affairs, and are representative business men of New Mexico.

We solicit your business and assure you that you, like all our depositors, will be made to feel that your account is appreciated.

Briefly, the story concerns the life of La Valencia, a typical woman of the New York stock exchange, who is wonderfully beautiful but old in soul. Her lover (portrayed by William E. Shay), becomes a thief that he may shower luxuries upon her. He is sentenced to prison and for five years date his heart out in solitude to emerge at the end of that time a sad-faced, ragged man, entirely cured of his mad infatuation. By accident Valencia sees him. Her old passion for him is revived. It means nothing to her and she releases him from prison. He has fallen in love and married a good woman. She tries to win him back. When her fascinations fail, she threatens to expose his past life. He will not yield and she prepares to carry out her threat. Then destiny takes a hand and with characteristic audacity and power, the end comes.

THE IMPERIAL LAUNDRY KNOWS NO COMPETITOR

In Front Rank of City's Enterprises With a Payroll That Adds Much to Wealth of the Community.

Few citizens of Albuquerque realize that in the Imperial laundry the city has one of the most important industrial enterprises in the entire southwest, and that this establishment is recognized by all who are familiar with its work as one of the foremost laundries in the United States. But when one stops to consider that the Imperial has an out-of-town business extending all over the state of New Mexico and Arizona as far west as Needles, Calif., and that it gives employment to between seventy and eighty men and women, with a payroll surpassed by few manufacturing enterprises in the city, it will be seen that here is an industry in the front rank of those which have helped to build Albuquerque up as New Mexico's chief city.

The property of the Imperial laundry is founded upon just one thing—conscientious and efficient work. Founded fourteen years ago by its present proprietor, E. H. Edgar, and his brother, William L. Edgar, now of El Paso, the policy of the business has always been to give the best service at whatever cost, and to keep fully abreast of the times in installing new machinery, adopting new processes and doing everything possible to improve an already up-to-date equipment and operating force. The natural result of this policy has been that the Imperial is today without an equal in the laundry field in the entire southwest.

New Bleaching Process.

Two new processes have been instituted by the management of the Imperial in recent months which cannot fail to appeal to every man or woman who is given to patronizing laundries. These are the electric bleaching process and the cold-starch process.

Who is there that has not eyed in alarm a white shirt coming back from the laundry all stained up with rust? Under old methods there was but one way to bleach clothes in a laundry, and that was by the use of chlorine of lime. This powerful chemical made the goods white, but it also destroyed the fabric and shortened the life of the garment.

The new electric bleaching process employed at the Imperial, the secret of which is controlled by Mr. Edgar, not only whitens the cloth as well or better than the old process, without the use of a drop of any chemical, but it also absolutely destroys and annihilates every germ that may lurk in the garment, and this is done by the simple method of running an electric current through plain salt and water. By this process the customer is assured that there is no chance of his clothing being eaten up by bacteria while they are sent back from the laundry.

No More Cracked Collars.

Every man who wears collars has seen them come home from the laundry in such shape that when he went to put them on he had to stand to tear the edges of the buttonhole, apart—has seen them crack when they were given the least bit of bending.

Scientific laundrymen discovered that this was due to the fact that the cold starch formed a thick glue that made the linen so stiff that it was impossible to get around this difficulty by using the starch cold, and the cold-starch process, which is now used exclusively at the Imperial, came into existence. Result—a man can put on a collar now without being compelled to resort to profanity.

tude of strong points that might be enumerated to drive home the assertion that the Imperial is the best laundry in the southwest and has no superior in the country. Among others might be mentioned the fact that only the best quality of ivory soap, recognized as the best laundry soap made, is used in this establishment, and the further fact that the method of laundering clothes cannot be surpassed. Not only are pains taken to see that there can be no possibility of shrinking, but a process is used which absolutely sterilizes the cloth and kills every germ that might be concealed in it.

In line with the Imperial policy that the best is none too good, the services of E. H. Campbell were recently secured as superintendent of the big plant. Mr. Campbell, originally a Texan, has had wide experience in some of the best laundries in Atlanta, Georgia, Montgomery, Alabama, and other large cities of the southeast. He is recognized as an expert laundryman who knows every angle and turn of the business—a good man to charge of a good plant.

Now is the time to make your Fur purchases as Furs are bound to advance. The scarcity of dyes in this country accounts for it. Fortunately we bought at the right time and are now showing a magnificent collection of dependable Furs at prices that probably cannot be duplicated again this season.

It is quite important that one should choose a reputable house for furs as for diamonds. Every piece of fur we handle is guaranteed to be exactly as represented. Our Fur Department is most inviting.

Mrs. Bessie Hamilton, No. 918 Glen Ave., Latonia, Ky., writes: "I have taken two bottles of Peruna and commenced on the third one. I did not really need the third one, but thought it best to take another bottle. I have always weighed 162 pounds, but since I began taking Peruna, I weigh 120, for the first time in all of my life, and I am now 32 years old. Your medicine has surely done me a great deal of good, and I have recommended it to several other folks who have begun taking it. My mother, who is 74 years old, has also taken your great cure, and is already well. She took two bottles of Peruna and is flatter and looking well."

JUDGE EDWARD A. MANN.

The loss of Judge Edward A. Mann will be keenly felt throughout New Mexico. A lawyer of great ability, his practice extended practically to every section of the state. His wide acquaintance was due to his genial and kindly disposition toward all with whom he came in contact. He was the friend of all the world.

A brilliant public speaker, a conventionalist who always drew a crowd about him, wherever there were enough people to make a crowd, vignettes and happy stories poured from him in endless number. Had he not been a lawyer with a big practice he might have made large sums of money as an entertainer in any one of the great centers of population. His gifts were rare and varied.

In the death of Judge Mann Albuquerque and New Mexico lose a citizen who will be greatly missed and universally mourned. He was a big, good natured, kindly gentleman—a friend of all the world.

England offered Cyprus to Greece, but Germany goes her one better by offering Finland to Sweden. To buy Cyprus with Cyprus would be for England to pay with her own territory. The Germany promises to pay Sweden with Russian territory.

WHAT THE TEACHERS' MEETING MEANS.

The teachers of New Mexico are gathering for the most important educational meeting ever held in the southwest. Not only is the purpose of the meeting to instruct and inspire, but from it a better system of teaching "the young idea how to shoot" will develop.

Education formerly was for the military, leisure and socialistic classes. Now it is for all, and is industrial, utilitarian and social. At present we have centralized industry, subdivided or specialized labor, dissimilar races and enlarged governmental activities.

Not long since we fought our buildings with candles and plovered with a crooked stick. Today we fight with electricity and break ground with the gang plow. Efficiency is the watchword now in all departments of life, but the question arises: Has our educational system kept pace with other departments of activity?

If efficiency is to be the watchword in New Mexico education, there must be efficient educational agencies. The first of these is the county superintendent. Unless the superintendent is a man of vision and energy, there will be few good country schools. The next agency is the school board. It should be composed of men who sympathize with education, who understand the difference between the values of good and poor teachers, who believe in providing a comfortable school building and ample playgrounds.

What Parents Can Do.

The public has passed on, actively after another over to the church, on the one hand, and the public school, on the other. For a large part of every child's early education must be acquired at home. The parents should be sympathetic toward the teacher, and a good teacher will find many ways to bring about the cooperation of the parents.

A few decades ago, in the rural sections of the east, the teacher usually "boarded among the scholars." While the system was full of inconveniences, it was not without its advantages. The live teacher, by frequent visits to the homes of his pupils, had problems solved which she could not solve elsewhere. She understood the home environment of the child's life and could better account for its faults and deficiencies of study and conduct and usually could point out tactfully to the parents just what should be done to assist in remedying the defect.

As the Teacher, so the School.

Of course, the greatest agency is the teacher. As the teacher is so in the school. A teacher should have good health, common sense, a professional and general education, and a fine personality. She should be a person of sympathy. We do not need less intellect on the part of the teacher but more heart. She should have faith in children, then they will have faith in her, and she should grow in her work.

The county superintendent, the school board and the teacher should recognize that they exist for one purpose only—the benefit of the children themselves. The course of New Mexico in the past—a course that happily is passing—has been that too many school boards have had for their object the game of politics and the placing of the school money in the hands of teachers not because they could teach but because their fathers of inches could control a certain number of votes. Every school worker knows of the truth of this statement. Also for a few county superintendents have been elected because some political boss wanted this or that man, but his fitness to direct county education had become, somewhere, some person was to be rewarded for votes that could be delivered on election day. It required a hard fight in 1911 to get one of the best superintendents in the state nominated, because a boss wanted a saloonkeeper for the office.

Not in the Textbooks.

But we are not so much interested in the agencies of education as in the product of those agencies. The meeting of the educational association will hear much and the visiting teachers will learn much of what efficiency in education means and what is its scope.

With the teaching of the conventional course of study, we need not have much concern. But there are many things not in the textbooks which must have the attention of the teacher. The motto of our race might well be, "Take heed to the body." Emerson has well said that health is the first wealth. Physical leaders become heads of state, and if you read history you will find that the strong physique has played a vast part in the attainment of success.

Have we cause for alarm? Let us turn to the history. At the close of the battle of Waterloo, Wellington said the victory was won on the playgrounds of the English public schools. When the Boer war was fought less than a century later, forty per cent of the men who offered to enlist for service were rejected on physical examination, in spite of the fact that three times during the interval the standard of admission to the army had been lowered. The explanation was that from leading an outdoor life, the people of the British Isles had become urban and sedentary, and consumed large quantities of intoxicating liquors.

Physical Exercise Required.

In the United States we are fast becoming a sedentary, urban people. When the first census was taken only a little more than three per cent of the people lived in cities. Now the urban population is considerably more than fifty per cent, and the tendency in the schools is to put twenty-five horsepower heads on ten horsepower bodies. To be sure, we have athletics in the schools, participated in by a picked few. The rest of the school confine their athletics to running on the bleachers.

Also a fine spirit of toleration should be taught. The greatest democracy in the world should be in the school room. The true spirit should not be: "I am as good as you are," but should be: "You are as good as I am." There should be no jealousy of pure, and no antagonism between the children whose parent tongues differ.

Inspiring Ambition.

Another thing the teacher should exert herself to do is to impress upon the pupils the necessity of getting all the education possible for them to get, and that they are limited in that matter only by their own lack of will power. In Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography are found 1,142 names; 3,226 of these are college men. There were fifty-six signers of the declaration of independence; forty-two of them were college men. The constitution of the United States was drafted by fifty-five men, thirty of them were college men. Yet when the declaration of independence was framed and when the constitution of the United States was written, less than one-tenth of one per cent of the adult males of the country were college men. In the history of our nation, from the time George Washington was elected president to the present, seventeen of our presidents have been college graduates, as with 15 of our vice presidents, one-third of the members of the national house of representatives. All of the chief justices except one had more than two-thirds of the associate justices have been graduates of colleges.

Chance for Success.

If these facts prove anything, it is that the boy or the girl with a college degree has fully fifty times the opportunity of making a success of life that the boy who has only one through the public schools.

For these reasons, the Journal wishes to impress upon the teachers who come to this great convention, not only to make it a point to teach well the textbooks, but to use every endeavor to induce the children and their care to become educated, efficient men and women.

Premier Asquith says conscription will come only as a last resort, and as a last resort it seems that most of the men of military age in the British Isles are trying to get out of the country.

"OLD ED" must back up or quit the game for somebody who can play it.

Nervous Nights in London Town

English Is the Coming World Language, Says Charles T. Luthy

Germany is not only trying to conquer the world with its arms, but its professors are already advocating German for the world language, after the war. Will it succeed? The following statistics, taken from the World Almanac, show that in 110 years English has forged from fifth to first place among the European languages, while German has only moved from third to second place—a gain comparatively small.

Language	Spoken By
French	115,000,000
Russian	100,000,000
German	90,000,000
Spanish	80,000,000
English	70,000,000
Italian	60,000,000
Portuguese	50,000,000
Total	141,000,000

In 1911, the spoken languages were:

Language	Spoken By
English	150,000,000
French	130,000,000
Russian	100,000,000
German	90,000,000
Spanish	80,000,000
Italian	60,000,000
Portuguese	50,000,000
Total	152,000,000

English and American trade and pioneering, together, have put the English language where it is, and from the above showing it does, not seem that German is destined to become the world language with simply the influence of war that have in the past worked to give such languages their present rank. But if Germany comes forward with a "preparatory" to put its language to the front, may she not surprise the world in this respect as she has surprised the world in other respects? And knowing that Germany is never asleep, will the English-speaking people neglect their great opportunity of making English the world language by doing nothing, or by waiting until German has gained an insuperable foothold? The present moment changes in world affairs indicate that whatever is to be done to advance the cause of English as the world language must be done now. What can be done?

The race of the languages is a long one and a hard one, and ultimately that language must win which is the fittest. Has English the inherent qualities to fit it for the world language? True, its history and directness of expression, the volume and richness of its vocabulary, and the simplicity of its inflection, are factors that tend pre-eminently to fit English for the place; but its heterogeneous spelling as compared with the almost phonetic spelling of the German, is a most serious drawback, and unless reformed must unfit the language for its coveted position. No language is fit for the world language that wastes from one to two years of the time of every school child, and whose spelling is so heterogeneous as to make it impossible for the president of one of the foremost universities in this country, a learned man, to mis-spell seven or eight out of a sentence of some sixteen words.

Great learned societies of both hemispheres have long tried to solve the spelling problem but without success; but the time is now ripe so that the simplification of the spelling is imminent. This seems to be an age for working out profound problems as is shown by the aeroplane, the submarine, wireless telegraphy and telephony, and the marvelous inventions in a hundred other spheres of human activity. As the times have brought out an Edison and a Franklin, we are in the electric and biological fields, it seems that the times have produced in the field one whose inherited originality and analytic powers, whose thoroughness in the fundamenletter, both vowel and consonant, into as many specifically different forms as such generic letter now predominantly represents different sounds; by appropriately assigning the letters to the sounds; by resorting to dual and limited representations; and by retaining the present spelling, by way of exceptions, of a few refractory, recurring familiar words, and of other visual ideas, he evolved out of and adapted to the situation a provisional simplification that retains sixty-four out of 146 of said 5,000 words unchanged in spelling. The rendering in this system looks like English and is fairly readable at sight.

(4) Mr. Luthy's universal alphabet contains a letter for each of the forty-three different speech sounds in the human voice, its script letters are movemental correct and are of Roman script style, and except that economy compels the superseding of the nine diagraphs which now represent the mixed consonants ch, ng, sh, etc., with logically devised letters, it preserves the present spelling to the greatest degree practicable, by the following means, viz.: First, it substitutes each generic letter, both vowel and consonant, into as many specifically different forms as such generic letter now predominantly represents different sounds; second, it takes advantage of non-conflicting dual and of limited representation of the sounds; third, as the compounds l, n, g, and x sounds are now represented in the English alphabet, these four compounds retain such representation in the universal alphabet—thus giving it forty-seven letters; and fourth, it so assigns the letters to the sounds as to preserve the present spelling as far as possible.

By these means Mr. Luthy has evolved out of and adapted to the situation a universal alphabet for a system that is complete, accurate, and phonetic. The rendering, or text, of this alphabet retains thirty-six out of 146 of said 5,000 words unchanged in spelling—80 per cent more than did either of the three systems mentioned. It takes about 15 per cent less space (less letters) than our present spelling; and it has an English appearance and is fairly readable at sight.

It must be seen by the foregoing, by anyone in the least familiar with the matter, that no spelling reform system heretofore advanced at all compares in accuracy, in thoroughness and in comprehensiveness of research with Mr. Luthy's.

P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education, in his report to Chairman Hughes of the house committee on education, on Mr. Luthy's four manuscripts, "The Human Speech Sounds," "The Roman Script Letters," "The Simplification of English Spelling," and "The Universal Alphabet," states, among other things:

"It is easy to understand that the general use of Mr. Luthy's alphabet and method of spelling, based on his analysis of the human speech sounds, would greatly simplify the spelling and pronunciation of the English language. If these were in general use, to learn to read and write would be much easier than it now is. The elimination of illiteracy would go forward much more rapidly, and from ten to twelve months of time of the child in school would be saved for other subjects; foreigners would learn to read and speak our language much more rapidly than they now do, and the tendency toward the adoption of English as the world language would be increased."

"I am convinced that if a few popular books, especially books read by children and young people, were printed with the new alphabet and revised spelling and given general circulation, the desired result would gradually work itself out."

Estimating the public cost of educating a child, the home expenses, and the value of the child's time at $200 a year, the so saving of a year's time (ten months) to the school children in the United States would amount every eight years to FIVE BILLION DOLLARS!

The investigation shows that while worse than scholars in the grades, the systems taught in the school are so erroneous in form and execution that the longer scholars so write the worse they write. This shows that Roman script, also, is not correctly understood.

(2) If English is to become the world language, it is necessary that the vast accumulated English literature be handed down to posterity in a readable form; that is, the future spelling must be changed as little as possible from the present spelling. But the investigation shows that the Whitney system, the Spelling Reform association system, and the system of the Joint committee of the American Philologists, the National Educational and the Modern Language associations, made some twenty unneeded for changes and thereby so changed the spelling as to retain only twenty words out of 146 unchanged, and so as to make the rendering look like a foreign language. The advocates of such spelling reform systems did not, therefore, consider and did not understand the office of the English language in the matter.

(3) The universal alphabet must contain a letter for each of the forty-three different speech sounds in the human voice; its script letters must be movemental correct and of Roman script style; and as English is destined to become the world language, such alphabet must retain the present spelling as far as possible so as to preserve, as has been stated, the vast accumulated English literature to posterity in a readable form. But Mr. Luthy shows that each of the universal alphabets in the Congressional library (the third largest library in the world), either omits sounds, confuses sounds, adds spurious sounds, or errs in several or all of the ways and shows that not one of said alphabets considers the principles of the script letters, nor of the office of English as the coming world language. Such arbitrarily devised alphabets are, therefore not adapted to the situation, and they show that the essential principles which underlie the universal alphabet were not considered by the makers of such alphabets, and were not understood.

On the other hand Mr. Luthy's investigation has accomplished as follows:

(1) He has traced the solution of the fundamental speech sounds, both vowels and consonants, through all their series, classes, kinds and forms, in the limit of audible distinction; he has established that there are only forty-three different speech sounds in the human voice; and that the forty-three forms; he describes the original formation of every sound; he establishes their physiological correct pronunciations; and he exemplifies the forty-three sounds in all their ninety-three different forms.

(2) In analyzing Roman script, Mr. Luthy has discovered and established the naturally correct slant, he has reduced over letter to geometric form in conformity with such slant, and he has reduced form and execution to an intelligent system of principles. This is fully confirmed by the report on this work by the bureau of engraving at Washington. Analytic, geometric diagrams of letters exhibited by Mr. Luthy to the Journal are marvels of beauty and are a revelation in that they show at a glance an underlying, intelligent system of curves, lines and principles hitherto unthought of.

(3) Mr. Luthy shows that to preserve the present spelling to the greatest degree possible, every sound in every word must continue to be represented by the same letter that now most frequently represents such sound. To determine this, he analyzed the literal representations of the sounds in 5,000 words—500 each from ten authoritative sources. Then by incorporating every advantage that the situation offers, viz., by retaining the present, consonant diagraphs ch, ng, sh, etc., by modifying each generic the working out of the provisional system was necessary to bring out all the advantages and disadvantages in the whole situation, and while, if adopted, such system would, for the time being, make the least possible change in the present spelling, such provisional simplification is, nevertheless, incomplete and must eventually change over into the perfect spelling of the universal alphabet. There, and as it is just as easy, or easier, to make the transition from the present spelling to that of the universal alphabet as it is from the transitional spelling, the latter's introduction would cause a needless disturbance and a long delay. The simplest, the natural, and the ultimate solution for the reformation and simplification of English spelling seems to lie in the authoritative promulgation of such universal alphabet and of its pronunciation, and correct analysis of the human speech sounds and of the Roman script letters.

No existing university, learned society nor other similar institution has the power to act authoritatively in the matter. The trio of associations mentioned tried after doctoring on the Whitney system to stamp it with their joint authority in the hope that this would make the system take; but it fell flat. And the repeated failures of such associations in projecting such systems would deter the public from placing confidence in their further attempts. Congress should, therefore, appoint a commission of representative men to thoroughly look into the matter, and, if Mr. Luthy has what the situation demands the government should in some way promulgate the discoveries under its direction or control for the good of all.

Mr. Luthy states that if such a commission is appointed and its report is satisfactory and the government will freely promulgate the matter for the benefit of mankind he will turn over the four manuscripts to the government and it can determine for itself what it would be just to award him therefor. As these things must revolutionize the teaching of reading, writing, spelling and the speech sounds, and the works can be adapted to all the grades, it is to be hoped that the matter may not pass into the hands of some greedy money-making corporation that, with a fifty-six-year protective copyright, would extract hundreds of millions out of the masses.

Further, as the world looks to this country as "the hope of the future," would not the promulgation of these great, fundamental educational discoveries by our government among other nations put their people in a favorable attitude towards our people? Take, for example, China, with its 400,000,000, and that is soon to adopt alphabetic writing. Would not she appreciate to receive from this government, at the psychological moment, what must be for all time the correct analysis of the human speech sounds, the correct analysis of the Roman script letters and the natural universal alphabet? And how all this would advance the cause of English as the world language.

But congress will not ex-officio take cognizance of this matter; it is up to influential, public spirited men and the press to act. Who will take the initiative.

Such commission could well serve without compensation as the honor to serve thereon would be ample reward.

Gets Seven Years' Back Pay.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Nov. 20.—Pay for seven years' employment as a watchman for the Republic Mines company yesterday was awarded to Valente Montoya, by Judge David J. Leahy in the district court. Judgment was rendered against the mining company for $1,125, which is an average of $15 per month. Montoya asked for $60 in his suit, but the judge allowed him the revenues from the crops raised by the plaintiff in the mining company's lands. The mine is located in Mora county, near Las Cruces. It has not been operated since 1908. Several houses, a shaft house and a mill are upon the mining company's property.

Annual Show of the Albuquerque Poultry Association will open Tuesday noon, Nov. 23, in the store-room formerly occupied by Hild-Spitz, corner Gold and Third. Close Friday night, Nov. 26.

ANNUAL POULTRY SHOWS CREATE WARM FRIENDS

Other things may come and go but the poultry exhibit goes on forever. The prize rooster, the prolific hen, the laying pullet, all come in for proper notice and consideration. The owner of the blue ribbon winner of his scholastic, boasts of his ability as a breeder. But the real attraction which draws people to the poultry show is the opportunity for social intercourse which is not satisfied by any other event of the season.

The annual meetings seem to make life more worth the living in the minds of the poultry raisers, and they would rather have the simple privilege of exchanging solutions than to carry off the premiums on their products. It would be a splendid thing if there were more such gatherings as are witnessed at the poultry show.

Those gatherings help to promote sociability among the breeders, utility and fancy can here unite upon a common level and promote true fraternalism. All are mutually interested in the feathered tribe. Here it is that human hearts can be brought together. The spirit of human interest, mutual helpfulness and a common brotherhood is more apt to work in the conscience and souls of human-kind.

The closer people are brought together the broader-minded they become, and they realize that a common tie should, after all, bind the hopes, the objects, the purposes, the aspirations of all.

The poultry exhibition has long since demonstrated its utility in the matter of working out that part of human destiny, and it is so thoroughly grounded in popular affection that it cannot perish from among men.

Let us all go to the poultry show this week. We can meet our friends and there renew the memories of "Auld Lang Syne." We can review the fine specimens on exhibition, but above all we can say "howdy" and shake hands with our friends, not alone as fanciers or utilitarians, but as poultry breeders, representing one cause and one purpose for the good of all.

QUALITY IN EGGS THE RESULT OF FOOD EATEN

It is, perhaps, not generally known that the quality of eggs is dependent to a large measure, upon the food the hens eat. In eggs of high quality, the yolk is a deep, yellow color, and the white quite firm, not thin and watery. The feeding of green food and corn (preferably yellow corn) will add to the color of the yolk, and beef scraps will impart firmness to the white.

As certain foods will add quality to the eggs, certain other foods will impart a flavor that decreases the quality of the eggs. Thus onions, fish-scraps and high-smelling beef scraps will impart to the eggs certain characteristics and disagreeable flavors. Onions also lower the quality of eggs. Egg shells are often porous and air readily enters. Eggs should be gathered often and stored in a cool, well-ventilated room. If allowed to remain in a foul smelling poultry house for any length of time the color of the yolk will be lower, the quality of the egg.

Several years ago a poultry raiser used mottled-brown eggs. These were guaranteed to free the male of his. They did this all right, but their use in the nests also imparted a cucumber-like odor and taste to the eggs that made them unfit for food. It is safe to say that eggs of the very highest quality are not possible unless the male birds are removed from the nest. The embryo of a fertile egg often begins to develop before the egg is laid, and no matter how often gathered or how well cared for, fertile eggs cannot compare in quality with infertile ones. The germ of life is the germ of decay. An infertile egg will develop in quality with age or through improper handling, but it cannot decay.

DELAWARE PULLET BEATS EGG RECORD

A recent press dispatch from Philadelphia is as follows: With a record of 314 eggs in 262 days, Lady Eleanore, a White Leghorn pullet, today became the champion egg layer of the world. The little hen, weighing three and a half pounds, completed her year egg laying competition at Delaware college, Newark, Del., and beat the previous record of 286 eggs by twenty-eight. The pen of five birds of which she was a member, also broke the American record with 1,211 eggs. The average backyard food produces and seventy eggs in a year.

Besides the above record at least two others are recorded above 200 eggs in 262 days. One was an official record of 248 eggs made by a hen at the Oregon experiment station. This hen was about seven-eighths White Leghorn. The other record of 267 eggs was made by a Rhode Island Red hen in a private test in Massachusetts.

PLAN FOR EARLY CHICKENS.

Make plans this winter to get out chicks in March for the heavier breeds, and April for the lighter ones. To make 200-egg layers depends that they be hatched and raised just so, that they will begin laying in October and first part of November, and make the good record before the hot weather of summer when they will not do as consistent work, also the desire to sit. Also try and knock out the sitting by breeding from non-sitters.

POULTRY NOTES

Poultry Breeders' Association.

The annual meeting of the New Mexico Poultry Association, together with banquet, institute program and installation of officers, will be held in the basement of the Christian church, corner of Broadway and Gold avenue, at 6 o'clock, Tuesday, November 23. Plates, 50 cents each. Tickets on sale at Hupke's drug store.

This will not be a money-making entertainment, and the price asked merely covers the cost of the supper, which will be furnished by the ladies of the Christian church. Table capacity is limited. Therefore, you should secure your tickets early if you desire to attend. Everyone interested in the poultry industry should hear this program. Short speeches will be made by prominent educators in this line, including a representative of the boys and girls club movement from Washington, D. C., Judge V. O. Hobbs, who is prominently connected with the American School of Poultry Husbandry, W. T. Conway and other members of the faculty of the State Agricultural college, and officials of the state association.

The New Mexico Poultry Breeders' association was organized last year, and obtained its charter from the parent association, the American Poultry association, at its annual meeting in August, 1914. The New Mexico branch already has a membership of nearly forty poultrymen, and the meeting to be held here this week will be the second annual meeting at which officers for the ensuing year will be installed.

Big Annual Poultry Show.
The busiest corner in town is now at Gold avenue and Third street. Already, a force of attendants are putting the big store room in readiness for the poultry show, and most of the cooping is now in place. Judge Hobbs, who is now in San Francisco, has written that he will be here promptly Tuesday so that there may be no delay.

Never before has there been so much interest shown in an exhibition of this kind. Practically every fancier in the vicinity will enter their birds. A large number of out-of-town breeders have written for space and a number have already sent in their entry lists. All indicate points to what will probably be the largest poultry exhibition ever held in the state, in both numbers and excellence of the exhibits.

Don't Forget.
That entry list of your birds should be in the hands of the show secretary not later than Monday noon.

That the poultry show will open Tuesday afternoon, and all birds should be delivered to the show room before Tuesday noon.

That exhibitors may use their own cooping if they desire, otherwise, cooping will be furnished by the association.

That entry fees should be paid when entering your birds.

That by following these rules confusion will be eliminated; the secretary will be able to keep the show records properly and furnish you with record of your winnings and check cooping amount due you promptly at the close of the show.

Additional prizes.
Announcement of the following prizes, which were not contained in the printed premium lists, was made the other day:
For best male in American class, cash, $2.50.
For best female in American class, cash, $2.50.
For best male in English class, cash, $2.50.
For best female in English class, cash, $2.50.
For best male in Mediterranean class, cash, $2.50.
For best female in Mediterranean class, cash, $2.50.
For best male in a fourth class, to be composed of all other classes, cash, $2.50.
For best female in a fourth class, to be composed of all other classes, cash, $2.50.

For the best display of bantams (points to count) S. Vann will give a trophy, value $4.00.
For the best pen of Partridge Wyandottes a leather pillow top will be given by L. E. Thomas.

The American Houdan club offers three handsome ribbons for the best erect, best shape and best color respectively, to be competed for by Houdans exhibited by members of the club.

L. A. Erlanson will give a year subscription to the Reliable Poultry Journal for the second best display by school boy or girl; one year subscription for the best Buff Leghorn male, and one year subscription for the best display of Buttercups.

HOW WOULD YOU LIKE IT?
If you were a respectable Rock, Wyandotte, or Leghorn and had painstakingly grown a fresh, fluffy coat of feathers, lubricated your egg machinery, and started into egg action for the winter, how would you like to be entirely deprived of a dust bath and in consequence your feathers become matted and soiled so that you couldn't sleep at night for discomfort? Wouldn't your first move be to put on the egg-brakes?

Now is the time to lay in store a dozen bushels of dry, dust-free, if the dust is dusty, do it today.

S. C. Rhode Island Reds and Barred Plymouth Rocks

Winners at State Fair—Best male bird in Rhode Island Reds, best female in American class, best pen of Rhode Island Reds, second best cock, second best hen, third best cockerel, and third best pen in Barred Plymouth Rocks.

THAT LICENE CUP

We are offering a handsome silver cup, nine inches high, for the best pen of food having Licene applied. This cup will be given at the Albuquerque Poultry Association Midwinter Show to be held here November 25-26.

WHAT IS LICENE?

Licene is a Scientific Compound possessing strong LICE EXTERMINATING AND ANTISEPTIC PROPERTIES. It is for destroying Lice and "Nits" (eggs of lice) and for lice. Eggs on chickens. It is applied TWICE A YEAR but many of our patrons report that they have found one application a year sufficient. Considering therefore that one tube will prove as effective as fair trials of its merits have shown, LICENE is not only cheaper than lice powders and liquid lice killers, but it is also more conveniently handled and more easily applied. PRICE, 20 CENTS PER TUBE.

GETTING THE HENS TO LAY DURING WINTER

Hens should be fed well to encourage early molt and the pullets should be kept growing steadily without undue crowding to insure maturity before winter. Also older hens, drones and such should be culled out and sold before the molting season. If these things are attended to in time so that you have a good, thrifty flock of well matured pullets and young hens there is no reason why you should not get plenty eggs during winter.

Housing, feeding and general attention otherwise are the important things during the winter. The question of housing may be summed down to simply making the hen comfortable. Plenty of sunshine, dust to wash in, fresh air and protection from the weather. Any ordinary good house may be made comfortable for hens by just a little work. If you haven't an up-to-date chicken house he can soon make one out of the old one. All that is necessary is to make all sides except the south side tight. Leave the south side open, provide a curtain for stormy days and put in a couple of windows to let in the light when the curtain is down. Then make a rather dark corner for the nests.

The feeds and method of feeding are very important items. You can't expect to get eggs unless you feed for eggs. Why do hens lay well early in the spring? Because they are comfortable, and getting green feeds, worms, bugs and such things to make a perfect hen diet and because they have had a good rest from egg-laying.

We have found that very few feeds are equal to corn, wheat and oats ground mixed in equal parts for the grain feed. Some days this may be left off and the corn alone fed for about half of the ration, then some threshed oats scattered in litter for the hens to scratch for. When they have to be kept up during bad weather something should be fed in the litter every day to induce them to scratch and get plenty of exercise. But this proposition should not be carried too far. An hour or so of diligent work is all that a hen needs for one day. If they work too much they cannot lay so many eggs.

The green feeds and meat should not be neglected. The meat is very nutritious and the green feed is the best of medicine. Alfalfa and clover cut fine and soaked in milk are good. Sprouted oats are better, and cabbage is also very good. A patch of rye near the chicken lot will provide green feed nearly all winter for the chickens. It is much better for them to run out and get this feed on nice days than to be cooped up. Red scraps and cracklings may be used for meat feeds. Two or three good feeds a week will be sufficient.

If this sort of feeding is attended to regularly, plenty of grit supplied in self-feeders, the yards and houses kept clean, and the hens not exposed to snow and stormy weather there is no reason why the egg basket should not be filled even in the winter.

WORK OF SELECTION SHOULD NOT BE NEGLECTED

Selection of breeding stock on the average farm was almost unknown a few years ago. Now most farmers select a few birds to breed for, towards improving the flock. Few though are doing this to the extent that they should. The work of selection can not be emphasized too much. A neglect along this line is one of the reasons that commercial farms have only half as many eggs per year when she ought to be laying nearly 200.

The work of selection should go on all the time. Do not limit your work of selection to a general round-up each year and culling out the bad looking and old birds. There is some work of selection that should be done now. Did you note the hens that went broody in January or February? Generally these hens are early hatchers and pullets that commenced laying in the fall and laid up to the time they became broody. They were early pullets; but were lacking in individual strength and constitutional vigor to hold up under the strain of laying until the spring season was over. These pullets should be discarded as breeders, for constitutional vigor is of great importance as satisfactory hatching or early egg-laying.

While this selection is being done don't forget to select the roosters as well. Some of the foremost poultrymen hold that the rooster has more influence for the good of his progeny than a hen of the same record-laying stock. Look on her progeny. Whether this be true or not, to such an extent as this, it must be acknowledged that the rooster has some influence along this line, at least equal with the hen. So, while you care for and look over the flock of youngsters keep an eye open for the best rooster from record-laying stock.

POOR LAYERS MOLT EARLY.
To have a heavy laying and point producing flock, pick out and sell the hens which molt early.

Many of us often have kept the early molters with the idea that these hens would be ready to lay earlier in the winter.

Poultrymen at the Wisconsin, New York, and other experiment stations, however, have found from several years' trials that while the early molting hens sometimes do lay a week or two earlier, they also quit laying as a rule, from two to three months earlier than the late molters.

For the reason that it becomes more and more difficult to pick the poor layers after the molting season passes, it is best to do the culling now.
