TURK SUBMARINE OFFICERS HELP RESCUE PANIC STRICKEN CROWD

Vivid Story of Experience in Mediterranean Told by American Woman Writer on Her Arrival in New York.

AUSTRIAN COMMANDER SHOWS HIMSELF HUMANE

Calls to Terrified Men and Women Urging Them to Be Calm and Exclaiming "We Are Not Murderers."

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
New York, Nov. 28.—A Turkish submarine, stopped the British passenger ship Barullos in the Mediterranean and after twenty-five persons had been drowned, assisted in rescuing many of the 250 passengers who had gone aboard in a panic, according to Eleanor Franklin Egan, an eye witness, who arrived today on the steamship New York.

The Barullos, according to Mrs. Egan, who is a writer returning from a six-month trip through southern Europe, left Alexandria, Egypt, on October 2. Although the ship flew the British flag, her crew was Greek, the passengers, a majority third class, being chiefly Greeks and orientals. When about five hours south of Crete the ship picked up three boats containing the crew of the British steamship Sallor Prince, which had been sunk by a submarine a few hours previous.

The Barullos, Mrs. Egan said, carried only four lifeboats, each with a capacity for thirty people. The picking up of the crew of the Sallor Prince created a feeling of excitement which was never again felt when suddenly a submarine came to the surface about two miles distant and fired a shot over the Barullos, evidently as a signal for her to stop.

Instantly a wild panic broke loose, said Mrs. Egan. "Let the crew go," she heard the Turkish officer shout. "Women, get into the lifeboats, throw your children into the sea and jump after them. Frightened sailors cut the ropes holding the lifeboats and when they were launched into the water, three of the six were swamped and emptied of their human loads. I was caught in the rush and literally forced over the side into the sea.

Officer Most Humane.
"It seemed that I had no sooner struck the water than the submarine appeared under the bows of our ship. On her deck I saw a number of men with an officer whom I took to be an Austrian. The submarine had her collapsible lifeboat out and the submarine crew were pulling people out of the water onto her deck. The officer was holding up his hands above his head and shouting in perfect English: "For God's sake, go back to your ship, we are not murderers."

The first of the panic over, we moved back to the Barullos and the officer, a young man, who appeared to be in a half-drowned state, was crowding the deck of the submarine, which remained alongside. When all the rescued were returned to the Barullos, a roll showed that twenty-five were missing, including children, seven women and four men.

Heart-rending Scenes Occur.
In addition to the twenty-five drowned, many were wounded in the panic. Several of the most serious were taken into the submarine and treated by our ship doctor, who went aboard at the invitation of the submarine commander.

Mrs. Egan said she witnessed many heart-rending scenes. "One woman," she said, "who had lost her three children, by throwing them overboard, went stark mad. In the meantime was a young girl, a schoolgirl, who was a woman, with an infant child, was seen almost exhausted trying to cling to the sides of the ship. She was surrounded by other children. A rope was thrown into her hands, but looking up, she flew to the deck in English. "Don't mind me, I belong to no one and have no one to care for me. Help some one else."

With these words she passed the rope to another woman, and with her hair in one arm came from sight.

Only One Shot Fired.
"Only one shot was fired by the submarine. She remained alongside for five hours, until all possible rescues had been made and the wounded had been attended. She then disappeared, and we proceeded to Alexandria without further incident.

"I did not know her name or designation number, but she was one of the largest boats of her kind I have ever seen. The captain of the Sallor Prince told me that he recognized her as the same one that had sunk his ship some hours previous, although at that time, he said, she flew the Austrian colors. Her deck armament consisted of two twelve-pounders, which were in plain sight as she came alongside the Barullos. The Sallor Prince, her captain said, was given twenty minutes to get her crew into the lifeboats before she was sunk by the shots fired into her hold."

BRITISH SOLDIERS WASTEFUL, IS CHARGE

London, Nov. 28.—British soldiers in the trenches are careless and wasteful both of ammunition and of lives, according to a "correspondent" in the front.

This statement has been made by John Hodge, M. P., who returned from a visit to the front. He was informed, he said, that thousands of tons of beef and millions of rifle cartridges were lying about the trenches and trampled in the mud.

Washington, Mr. Hodge found, was in some cases checked by the officers in charge. The trouble is, the men get an excessive amount of meat—twelve ounces—in their daily ration. No account is taken of casualties or of the fact that the men are around the trenches, fall into the bottom and get stepped on. Ultimately they are buried in the trench mud. This is also the fate of the cartridges left behind by the men when relieved. In some cases, the officer of the relieving party would ascertain how many rounds had been served out and how many fired so as to keep a check on this amount lost. But these officers, according to Mr. Hodge, are in a minority.

The same complaints as to waste have been made against the troops in the English training camps. Here the blame is laid to overabundant rations and the wastefulness of cooks who throw away whole loaves of fresh bread and left over beef and vegetables.

AMERICAN MISSIONARY MURDERED BY TURKS

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
Paris, Nov. 28.—(11:15 p. m.)—An American missionary, who was killed by Turks at Uria, Mesopotamia, while trying to defend Armenians from the Turks, according to a story published today in the newspaper Nouvelle de Bado.

A dispatch from Boston November 12 said the American board of commissioners for foreign missions had announced the death of the Rev. Francis Leslie, a missionary stationed at Uria. His death, it was said, was due to poisoning. No details were given. Mr. Leslie had been acting as intermediary for 300 French, Italian and Russian refugees who were interned at Uria. His home was in Michigan.

MIKADO RETURNS TO PALACE IN CITY OF TOKIO

Cortege Moves Through the Streets in Solemn Procession, Multitudes Keeping Perfect Silence.

Tokio, Nov. 28.—Accompanying the imperial shrine in a cortege which was a replica of that which departed for Kioto on November 11, Emperor Yoshihito returned to his capital today after an absence of three weeks. He drove to the palace through streets jammed with silent multitudes. Cheering was forbidden by the police, who desired to maintain a note of reverence. The procession was viewed by many Americans, including bluejackets from the United States cruiser Saratoga, flagship of the Asiatic fleet, who are stationed here.

The coming week will be filled with festivities. American and Japanese officers will mingle at receptions which have been arranged by United States Ambassador Guthrie, lieutenant commander Horn, naval attaché at the American embassy, and Vice Admiral Kato.

Words are obsolete as part of an officer's equipment in the field. Officers who had them left them at home when they went to the front. A small bamboo cane has taken the place of the sword except when in action and then some officers carry rifles.

In anticipation of the royal review, an order was issued at the headquarters by France for all officers to provide themselves with swords. This piece of antiquated etiquette fell heavily on the purses of the subalterns. The king, on account of falling from a horse, was unable to review his troops after all. And it is said that the king would have been the last man in England to place this heavy tax on his officers for the sake of mere form, had he known of the order.

SEVERE WINTER WEATHER CHECKS OPERATIONS IN BALKAN STATES

Serbs Hold Only Fringe of Country, Main Forces Being Driven Into Albania and Montenegro.

BULGARIANS REFRAIN FROM FURTHER ADVANCE

French and British Are Bringing Up Reinforcements and Consolidating Their Positions Rapidly.

London, Nov. 28 (10 p. m.)—The greater portion of what remains of the Serbian northern army is believed to have crossed into the mountains of Albania and Montenegro, where the Serbs are continuing, with the aid of King Nicholas' troops and supplies which are reaching them from the Adriatic, to offer stern resistance to the Austro-German and Bulgarian invaders. Like the Bulgarians, however, the Serbians hold only a fringe of their country, which widens as it reaches the southwestern corner, of which Monastir is the center.

Bulgarian Half Advance.
For some reason, variously explained, the Bulgarians have halted their march on that city. It is said in some dispatches that, having re-occupied part of Macedonia, largely inhabited by their fellow-nationals, the Bulgarian people and government are disinclined to push on any further west and on this point are in disagreement with their Austro-German allies, who are determined to drive not only the Serbians and Montenegrins, but the French and British troops out of the Balkans.

Severe Winter Begins.
While at the present time they have largely superior forces the task may prove a difficult one. Winter has set in at an unusually early date and the natives predict that it will be severe. Since fall at Salonika, however, for the first time in eight years, which is taken as a sign that in the Balkans the peninsula there will be a very heavy fall. During the latter part of the week almost continuous storms compelled a suspension of operations, giving the French and British time to bring up reinforcements which are being landed at Salonika daily and consolidate their positions.

Force to Romanian Border.
The Austro-Germans also have had to divert part of their armies down the Danube to the Romanian border, Rumania having refused the German request for the opening of the Danube throughout its entire length to enable the German and Turkish Rumania to transport their troops. Rumania insisted that armed ships must not pass the Danube, which is on the Danube at the Rumanian-Bulgarian frontier.

With the concentration of the Russian troops, the attitude of Rumania is becoming daily more hostile to the Austro-Germans, having aided Bulgaria in her campaign against Serbia, which is now cleared, is called upon to protect her from aggression from the east.

Russian Warships Active.
Russian warships, including new dreadnaughts, have again been seen off the Black sea coast of Bulgaria, but there is no news of any landing or movement of troops.

On both the eastern and western fronts, the artillery, as was the case last winter, is doing the heaviest part of the work, and it appears doubtful whether either side will attempt an offensive for the present.

Italy, on the other hand, undeterred by winter, is pushing her offensive and rendering the Austrian hold on Gorizia and Rovereto daily more uncertain.

The Turks have again been showing some activity in Gallipoli and minor successes against the allies. However, no big action has been fought.

Rumania and Greece.
German anxiety over Rumania is matched by that of the allied powers with regard to Greece. Last week it was believed that all difficulties between Greece and the allies had been surmounted, but it was found necessary to send another note to Greece, the reply to which is promised Monday. The allies now demand not only assurance of the safety of their troops, but adequate railway facilities for their transport, the withdrawal of Greek troops from the vicinity of Salonika and the policing of Greek waters against German submarines.

AIR BATTLES FEATURE REPORTS FROM FRANCE
Paris, Nov. 28.—The following official communication was issued Monday.

During the course of the day our aviators continued most active. In Belgium one of our aeroplanes set fire to a number of a squadron succeeded in burning down a German aerodrome which fell into the sea off the coast of France. A torpedo boat and German small boats started out from Ostend and Middelkerke for the purpose of rescue. Allied hydro-aeroplanes and artillery attacked the small boats and succeeded in sinking one of them.

A squad of ten aeroplanes has bombarded the hangars at Habsheim, east of Mulhouse. Eight shells of 100 millimeters and twenty shells of 150 millimeters were fired, and a ninety millimeter shell caught fire. One of the hangars on the ground was damaged by our projectiles. The enemy vainly attempted to pursue. One aerodrome struck by several bullets from a machine gun was obliged to land. Another crashed near Lutterbach.

Bravery of Enemy Is Highly Praised; More Than 100,000 Prisoners Reported Captured by Teutons.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
Berlin, Nov. 28 (via London, N.Y. 11:15 p. m.)—The reorganization of the sixtieth congress, which convenes next Monday, will begin tomorrow. Democrats of the senate hold their caucus at noon and at the same hour the ways and means committee members of the house will undertake the task of reorganizing the rules and providing for committee recommendations.

Tonight every train brought to Washington scores of senators and representatives who had postponed their coming until after Thanksgiving. Nearly all the majority members of both branches of congress have arrived, but some of the minority members are waiting until later in the week, when republican conferences will be held.

Revelation Expected.
The senate democratic caucus will be called to order by Senator Kern, the conference chairman. It is expected that there will be daily sessions throughout the week, the question of reviving the rules and providing for committee recommendations. For several months a special committee headed by Senator Owen, of Oklahoma, has had revision of the rules under consideration. This committee will report to the entire senate recommendations, including a modified form of cloture on debate, designed to prevent endless filibusters. It is believed that a majority of the democrats will favor some form of cloture.

In addition to the troops have completely broken the tough resistance of an enemy, which, in addition to being supported by the nature of the country, is hured to war and fought bravely. Neither impenetrable roads, impassable rivers, thickly snowed, nor the absence of reinforcements and shelter were able to check our advance. More than 100,000 men, almost half the entire Serbian fighting forces, have been taken prisoners. Their losses in battle and by desertions cannot be estimated. Guns, including heavy artillery and an incalculable quantity of material of all kinds, have been captured. The German losses, however, deplorable, have been extremely moderate and our troops have not suffered from disease.

SEBRIAN LOSSES NOT SO GREAT AS CLAIMED
London, Nov. 29 (3:25 a. m.)—The Daily Chronicle's Saloniki correspondent says he is informed from Serbian headquarters that the cost of the Serbian retreat during the past months has been 15,000 men taken prisoners, 4,000 killed and 37,000 wounded.

"This," says the correspondent, "the main body of the Austro-Germans, which was the rounding up of the Serbian army, may definitely be declared to have failed. The strategy of the Serbian commander-in-chief, General Putnik, has been brilliant, especially considering the difficulties of roads and the lack of railway communications. CANADA SEIZES ALL HIGH GRADE WHEAT HELD IN THE ELEVATORS

Twenty Million Bushels Taken Over by Government for Great Britain and Allied Nations.

ALLEGED PURPOSE IS TO CURB SPECULATION

Step Would Not Be Necessary Had Dardanelles Been Opened, Says Official Statement.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
Ottawa, Ontario, Nov. 28.—The Canadian government has commandeered all high grade wheat in elevators from Fort William on Lake Superior to the Atlantic coast. The action was taken under the special war act by the Canadian grain commission. The wheat seized was of grades one hard and one two and three northern. It was the property of grain shippers and millers. That taken is all of the stock which on Saturday night was in public elevators at Fort William, Port Arthur, Midland, Triffin, Port McNicoll, Collingwood, Godfrich, Kingston, Port Colborne, Prescott, Quebec, St. John, Montreal and Halifax.

20,000,000 Bushels Seized.
A revised estimate places the amount at about 20,000,000 bushels. A considerable amount is the property of American grain dealers. The grain was taken Saturday night so that grain exchanges should be affected as little as possible. It is officially stated that the price will be advanced fairly and the grain owners promptly paid by the Canadian government. It is estimated that there is still in Canada in the hands of farmers and dealers west of Fort William, 15,000,000 bushels surplus available for export. It is expected that this will be taken in the future for the use of Great Britain, France and Italy.

The domestic supply of Russia is more than sufficient to meet the needs of that country. Had the Dardanelles been opened the surplus of Russian wheat would have made the present action unnecessary. It is stated. While the wheat just taken was commandeered to fill an order from the British government it is understood that most of it will be shipped to the allies.

Look After Shipments.
The Canadian government will look after the transportation of the grain to the Atlantic seaboard, and from there its shipment across the Atlantic will be undertaken by the British government in the same way that shipments of oats and hay have been handled for the past year.

The following official statement was issued by the government tonight.

The phenomenal crop of wheat in the Canadian west has brought upon the government the duty of assisting to the farthest extent possible in its marketing. The supply of wheat the world over is known to have been abundant and the importance of this crop for the disposing of our grain is so that account, the greater. For many months the government has been in touch with the British authorities, with a view to procuring orders from the United Kingdom and other allied governments in order that the utmost share of the consuming demand in those countries may be turned toward our Canadian surplus.

As a consequence of this, the British government has requested within short time a very large supply of numbers one, two and three northern wheat.

Matter of Surplus.
The problem of meeting these requirements and of disposing of such prices as would induce the repetition of orders in Canada, then confronted the government.

The effect of government purchases in the open market, such as were made by different countries in the war, is well known to the public. The market rises abnormally, adding to the profits of grain dealers and speculators, who have purchased the grain which the government requires. The advance in price of large amounts of grain in large amounts, the loss of the purchasing government and the profit not of the producer but of the owner of the stored grain.

To secure the desired end, this year the Dominion government determined Saturday to commandeer all high grade wheat in the elevators at the head of the lakes and eastward. This involves the purchase of anywhere from twelve to fifteen million bushels. The price paid has not yet been settled by the government, but will shortly be fixed on a fair basis. The commandeering order goes no farther than is stated above, and instructions have been given that all loading now under way is to be continued and no delay whatever occur in the transport of the commandeered grain from the elevators to ocean terminals. It will be understood that the order does not apply to grain in elevators west of the lakes or in transit at the time the order was issued.

There are of course many questions of important detail that arise and demand adjustment, and these will be given the fullest consideration and the promptest decision possible. There seems no reason why the grain market should be radically affected by the action taken. Obviously, it does not involve any increase in the world's consumers' demand, but means simply the filling of the existing demand in the extent of the grain taken by this much of the Canadian surplus instead of filling the same from other sources. If the result should be a rise in the Canadian prices, then beneficial effect will be secured to the grain farmers themselves and not to the holders of grain in store. While the holders of grain in store are entitled to fair treatment, it has been thought desirable not to precipitate market conditions at the expense of the customers from whom we hope to obtain orders in the future and who are our allies in the war.

The action taken by the British government is based entirely on war conditions and the response of the Canadian government has been dictated by regard to the same state of facts.

For some months there have been negotiations between the British government and the Canadian government relative to the marketing of the tremendous wheat crop, but only on Saturday were instructions received in connection with the expropriation. This year's Canadian wheat crop, according to the last official estimate, was 226,000,000 bushels. Later an official figure placed the crop at about 250,000,000 bushels. For export the surplus is expected to exceed 200,000,000 bushels. Great Britain's demand is caused by war time conditions and the Canadian government's action is attributable to the same cause. The present orders go on further than the amount stated, but it is anticipated that very large supplies are needed and, though there is no official announcement to that effect, it is more than likely that more wheat will be acquired on similar times later.

Although such action as commandeering is radical, it is not unusual in war time. The Canadian government, in connection with the matter, is dealing only with the British government, and the disposal of the grain so acquired will rest with the home country.

WILL MAKE HIGHER PRICES FOR PRODUCERS
Toronto, Ontario, Nov. 28.—Prominent Toronto grain merchants said tonight that the Canadian government's commandeering of all the wheat in the elevators east of and including Port William will create higher prices for the producer, but that the eastern dealers will be placed more or less at the mercy of the western dealers for wheat to fill the orders which were to have been filled by the wheat commandeered.

NO ADVANCE OF PRICE IN AMERICA EXPECTED
Minneapolis, Nov. 28.—F. A. Haller, president of the Minneapolis chamber of commerce, and Franklin M. Crosby, a director of Washburn-Crosby company, millers, said tonight that the seizure by the Canadian government of certain stocks of wheat would not affect the United States market to any degree even temporarily.

"The amount of grain commandeered is comparatively small," Mr. Haller added, "and could be shipped from Port Arthur and Port William within two weeks." Mr. Crosby said the action of the Dominion government "does not concern American millers' interests to any extent, as there is no Canadian wheat coming in or purchase and very little in hand for re-shipping."

MONTENEGRINS PREFER TO DIE FIGHTING ENEMY
BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
Paris, Nov. 28 (11:45 p. m.)—The Montenegro consular general at Paris, has received the following dispatch from Cetinje under date of November 27:

King Nicholas has addressed an energetic proclamation to the people. He urges them to remain calm in the face of the danger which threatens Montenegro and recalls the heroic defense of Serbia, now invaded.

The Serbian army has been obliged to retreat, leaving the mountains of Montenegro, where the forces of the two Serb kingdoms, united against common foes, will resist valiantly. Faithful to its traditions, Montenegro will carry on the struggle until death, which it would prefer to slavery. The allies have undertaken to revitalize the population of Montenegro and the army; the latter will defend the glorious soil of its native land without sparing blood.

It is said that from mountain to mountain around its king with the ardor that full confidence in a definite victory for Montenegro and its great allies gives.

SCHOOL PROBLEMS IN CYPRUS ARE DIFFICULT
(Associated Press Correspondence.)
London, Nov. 28.—The youthful Cypriote is a difficult subject to educate, for once he gets a bit of schooling he becomes too proud to work and lets his parents support him, states a report from the British authorities on the island of Cyprus.

Cypriot schools are in the towns, large part of them in the towns, but return in modern European clothes and are imbued with the idea that it is beneath their dignity to lay hands to any sort of toil, even to fetching a pitcher of water from the spring. They are even encouraged in this idea by their parents. As a result, educated youth refuse to do any work except clerical, and when not employed, they spend their days in bed and their nights in cafes.

The island of Cyprus which became a British possession on the outbreak of the war with Turkey, was recently offered to and refused by Greece as the price of joining the allies. Its former years it was considered for its famous wine, a desert vine of the nature of port, but little known in Europe now. Large supplies of livestock and of foodstuffs have been purchased by the British government from the peasants, although this year's crop have been poor. The olive crop was almost a complete failure and the wheat disappointing. But the high price obtained for cereals and vegetables for the use of the British troops in Egypt and the Dardanelles made amends to the farmers.

The British rule here has been popular not only with the Christian, but with the Mohammedan population, who were glad to escape from Turkish corruption and exactions.

On both the eastern and western fronts, the artillery, as was the case last winter, is doing the heaviest part of the work, and it appears doubtful whether either side will attempt an offensive for the present.

Italy, on the other hand, undeterred by winter, is pushing her offensive and rendering the Austrian hold on Gorizia and Rovereto daily more uncertain.

The Turks have again been showing some activity in Gallipoli and minor successes against the allies. However, no big action has been fought.

Rumania and Greece

German anxiety over Rumania is matched by that of the allied powers with regard to Greece. Last week it was believed that all difficulties between Greece and the allies had been surmounted, but it was found necessary to send another note to Greece, the reply to which is promised Monday. The allies now demand not only assurance of the safety of their troops, but adequate railway facilities for their transport, the withdrawal of Greek troops from the vicinity of Salonika and the policing of Greek waters against German submarines.

BY DR. LUKENS
FOR LECTURE ON CHILD WELFARESuperintendent of Children's Home Society Seeks to Stimulate Interest Among People of New Mexico.MANUSCRIPTS TO BE
ALL IN BY CHRISTMASFive Awards to Be Made, Best Paper Receiving Forty Dollars; Competition Open to All Citizens of State.

With a view to stimulating in the people of New Mexico interest in the subject of child welfare and to arousing the public to a realization of the needs of the unfortunate children of the state, Dr. C. E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home Society in this city, has inaugurated a contest, to be participated in by the ministers, public speakers, lecturers and writers of New Mexico for the best lecture, or sermon-lecture, on the subject of the inherent rights of childhood from infancy to maturity.

The contest is now on, and will continue until Christmas day, by which time all manuscripts must be in the hands of Dr. Lukens. Five prizes have been offered, the first prize being $40 and the others $10, $5, $2 and $1 respectively.

In his capacity as superintendent of the Children's Home Society, Dr. Lukens has spent much time in helping solve problems of childhood. There is no man in New Mexico who comes so intimately in contact with those problems as he or who has a clearer insight into the needs of the community in regard to the children. It is Dr. Lukens' idea that the approach of the Christmas season is a time when the people of New Mexico should be reminded of the need of better and more organized work in the interest of child welfare.

Contest Is Open.

The contest is open to all the people of the state, and will be judged on the individual merit of the manuscript submitted. Where the contestant is a minister of the gospel, or a public speaker, it is required that the lecture shall be delivered from some public platform or pulpit before January 1, 1916; but this regulation will not operate as a bar to any man or woman who may wish to enter the contest and who is not in a position to deliver the lecture as a public speaker.

The manuscripts will be judged by a committee of three, headed by Dr. Lukens himself, the other two members of the committee being Mr. E. Fox, editor of the Morning Journal, and H. B. Henning, editor of the Evening Herald. The rules for the contest have been laid down as follows:

Rules of Contest.

1. Manuscripts must not be under 2,000 words, nor over 3,000.
2. Must be typewritten on letter-head size paper, and on only one side of sheet.
3. The writer must be an adult.
4. The lecture or sermon-lecture must be delivered on platform or in pulpit before January 1, 1916. If by a layman reasons will be considered why this rule cannot be complied with.
5. The following general outline should be followed in the preparation of the lecture: Liberty will be allowed on the stress to be laid on the certain parts, or additions may be conservatively made in the subject matter to be submitted.
6. The lecture submitted will be the property of Dr. Lukens, whether it wins a prize or not. The lecture submitted must not have been printed by the author in or on any paper, without the authorization of the giver of the prize.
7. The contest is open to any and all adult persons reading this offer and following the rules, but there must not be less than six bona fide contestants submitting their manuscripts. But as there will doubtless be many the latter stipulation will not need to be a restriction.
8. The manuscript must be sent in not later than Christmas, 1915. Names of contestants will not be published.
9. A prize of $40 will be given for the winner of first prize, $10 for second, $5 for third, $2 for fourth and $1 for fifth. Checks will be mailed promptly on the decision of the judges New Year's day, 1916.
10. The manuscripts should be mailed to Dr. C. E. Lukens, Albuquerque, N. M. The judges will be Mr. E. Fox, editor of the Morning Journal, H. B. Henning, editor of the Evening Herald, and Dr. C. E. Lukens, superintendent of the Children's Home Society. The majority deciding the lecture will be judged as a popular address on its educational, inspirational and heart-moving merits only. Contestants should notify Dr. Lukens, Albuquerque, N. M., as soon as possible. All newspapers asked to copy this offer for their readers.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Warren C. Otto.
Warren C. Otto, 24 years old, died at 6:30 o'clock last night at a sanatorium. He was formerly a furniture dealer at Wheeling, W. Va. He came here four years ago, accompanied by his brother. The body will be shipped to Santa Fe from No. 2 this afternoon to C. T. French. The funeral will be held at Wheeling.

MRS. CREEGAN'S FATHER
DIES IN KANSAS CITY

The following is from the Kansas City Times of November 24:
Orlando A. Creggan died at his home, 2441 East Eleventh street, early yesterday morning. Mr. Creggan was 74 years old. He had lived in Kansas City twenty-eight years and came here from Ohio. He entered the army in the civil war and became an artillery captain. His wife, Mrs. Corinne C. Creggan, one son, J. C. Creggan, and a daughter, Mrs. J. S. Creggan of Albuquerque, N. M., survive. The funeral will be at the undertaking rooms of Rose & Co. burial in Mount Washington cemetery.

Injured Man Leaves Hospital.

Paul Los Vegas, N. M., Nov. 28.—Fred L. Jones, the young man who was badly injured by being struck on the head by a truck in the hands of Joseph Cleveland at the corner of 11th and 1st streets, was today able to leave St. Anthony's hospital, where he has been since he was hurt. There is every indication that Jones will recover completely, even as to the cracking of the skull at the base of the brain.

lect the interests and happiness of the child, by right personal example, by right consideration of its physical and educational needs, and its statutory rights, in the big brother and sister feeling which will protect the child of time, present and future, as well as effort and money in the most efficient way of giving permanent help to the child, instead of the merely temporary enjoyment afforded by giving Christmas presents as a Christmas duty.

The unselfish lending of mother and father hearts, dealing by some misfortune of natural per chance which can be filled by receiving some child devoted by nature of its home and love.

The message to our social future in the neglect of the homeless child and the child being reared in an immoral environment.

The unselfish but real and positive lending of the neglected child for the shelter and home of a mother-heart, its ambition and longing to have its chance to be somebody in the world.

How will you answer the call of duty in the coming year?

To properly care for your own children?

To adequately respond to the cry of need from the poor and neglected children?

The rewards now in your own consciousness, and the eternal fruits of a good deed, done to children.

VICTA Sells Pictures.

Santa Fe, Nov. 28.—Carlotta Viera, the famous actress, today sold three of her best known and most admired pictures to James I. Diette, an Indianapolis business man. One of them is "Sunset on the Lake Peaks" and shows the afterglow of a fall sunset upon the blood of Christ, with the deep shadows in the foreground and the high lights upon the snow-covered peaks. The "Tessie" is the portrait of a Pachuco looking from a roof top over the village. The portrait is an unusually strong one. The "Tessie Girl" is a companion picture, a young woman standing in the doorway of an adobe wall on which hangs a string of red peppers.

Governor Appoints Delegates.

Santa Fe, Nov. 28.—Delegates to the American Civil association convention at Washington, D. C., December 28 to 31, were appointed by Governor McDonald today as follows: A. A. Jones, Las Vegas; Neil B. Field, Albuquerque; L. Bradford Prince, Prince, Santa Fe; Frank Springer, Los Vegas; and A. B. Fall, of Three Rivers.

Santa Fe, Nov. 28.—Cut square in two by an El Paso & Southwestern train, an unknown man was picked up near Oscura. A card without name, on his body, indicated he had been sent east by an El Paso employment agency.

OSTEOPATH'S OFFICE
ROBBED IN AFTERNOON

Dr. C. H. Conner's office in the Stern building was robbed yesterday afternoon. A stranger, wearing a hat and carrying a bag, entered the office and took a small box from a desk. The doctor, who was not at home, returned to find the box missing. The thief was seen running away from the building.

WIND AIDS FIREMEN
IN FIGHTING WEED
FIRE NEAR BREWERY

A weed fire burned an area a block wide and two blocks long east of the brewery yesterday afternoon. The central station firemen were unable to throw a stream on the fire, but having a strong wind, they were forced to fight the flames with pumice and air. A wind, which at first threatened to sweep the flames toward Broadway, abated, aiding the firemen. In the end they put out the fire.

Santa Fe Personals.

Santa Fe, Nov. 28.—William A. Hayer, private secretary to United States Senator Thomas B. Catron, left last night for Washington, D. C. Senator Catron having gone a few days ago to be present at the opening of congress.

Unusual Theme of "The Seventh Noon," a Stirring Photoplay to Be Seen at Lyric Today and Tomorrow.

Suppose you had exactly seven days to live; what would you do with yourself in the interim?

Enjoy yourself to the very limit of your resources? Or would you go away somewhere, probably to some obscure point, and wait calmly for death? In claim you?

A difficult question to decide, to be sure, but one, nevertheless that is an every day occurrence in almost every life in the universe.

In "The Seventh Noon," a five-part Mutual masterpiece, Ernest Glendinning, popular idol of countless thousands of theater-goers throughout the country, as "Peter Donaldson," a young and brilliant, but poverty-stricken lawyer, is confronted with just such a proposition. He has but seven days to live—in other words death will overtake him on the noon of the seventh day.

This masterpiece, true, adapted from the book of the same name from the pen of Frederick Olin Bartlett, and published by the Small, Maynard company, of New York, is one of the greatest sensations ever known in literary circles when presented to the public. And its presentation promises to cause even a greater sensation.

The story of the play deals with young Donaldson, who has failed dismally in his law profession because he fought only to uphold the truth. Discouraged with the world in general, Donaldson calls upon an old friend, a chemist, to learn that he has discovered the formula for a subtle poison, which will cause certain death the seventh day after it has been taken into the system. And Donaldson, in order to do away with himself and at the same time furnish the chemist with a test of the power of his poison, creates a phial of it and later drains it.

Then he calmly awaits the end, determined, however, to enjoy himself to the full before death claims him. While enjoying himself, he meets with a series of strange adventures, rescues the brother of the girl he has fallen in love with from a career of crime and then—"what?"

"The Seventh Noon" will be shown at the Lyric theater today and tomorrow.

STRUCK IN FACE
WITH FRUIT JAR;
SIX STITCHESLeo Dunworth Wounded in Three Places by Kitchen
Variety of Grenade; Trio Is Arrested.

That a common glass fruit jar has, on a smaller scale, something of the effect of one of the Kaiser's high explosive shells, was learned by the police last night. Leo Dunworth, who was struck in the face by an empty jar, gave ample proof. Three wounds, each over his left eye, on his left jaw and his lower lip, Dr. L. H. Rice, city physician, secured up the wounds at police headquarters, taking six stitches.

The police say that Dunworth was struck by a jar to the hands of Raymond Salazar, or which had just left the hand of Salazar. They were unable to learn whether it was thrown by Salazar, Dunworth and the latter's companion, Juan Garcia, were arrested, the former on the charge of assault and the last two, charged with drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

One of Trio Furnishes Bail.

The police learned of the affair when Capt. O'Grady met Dunworth, cut and bleeding, on South First street. He heard Dunworth's story and rounded up the other two. The alleged assault took place in front of the house at 414 North First street, where Salazar lives with his wife and mother-in-law. Garcia was released, under bond to appear before Judge Crain this morning. The other two were held in jail.
