MINERS' STRIKE!

More Mines Closed in Anthracite Region

Plenty of Money to Move Crops.

England's Reply to Germany Identical With That of America.

INSTRUCTIONS TO MINISTER CONGER

Philadelphia, Pa. Sept. 25.—There is more activity to-day in the coal miners' strike situation. Men are marching from mine to mine in the Hazleton region inducing workers to quit.

Near Wilkesbarre several washers that were idle for several days are now at work to-day.

From Hazleton comes the information that Markle & Co. granted some demands made by their men ten days ago, leaving to the miners the question, the reduction of the price charged miners for powder.

Money to Move Crops.
Washington, Sept. 25.—Assistant Secretary Vandenberg returned to the city from New York where he had a conference with sub-treasury officials in regard to supplying the demand for small notes to move crops.

England's Reply.
London, Sept. 25.—Lord Salisbury has replied to the German note in terms identical with those of the United States.

DIRECTORS TO CONGER.
He Will Be Ordered to Confer With Li Hung Chang.

Washington, Sept. 25.—The direction to Minister Conger to put himself in relation with Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching has not yet gone forward. The message practically has been framed but its form is subject to the president's approval.

Reply to German Note.
Berlin, Sept. 25.—Foreign office officials inform the Associated Press that Russia and Japan have formally answered the German note, "particularly emphasizing their agreement to the proposition to have the ministers designate the guilty."

Request Refused.
London, Sept. 25.—Lord Salisbury this afternoon refused to pass on Prince Ching's request for credentials as plenipotentiary, referring the whole matter to the British minister at Peking, Sir Claude Macdonald.

Waiting for Earl Li.
Peking, Sept. 25.—Diplomatic and military authorities here are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Li Hung Chang. There is a general desire for the establishment of a semblance of Chinese authority, which it is believed will tend to clear the situation.

The authority of Li Hung Chang to treat for peace is still doubted. William W. Rockhill, special commissioner for the United States, is investigating the situation.

Thirty British wounded in the Tun Choo explosion, are dead.

Given Hard Job.
Shanghai, Sept. 25.—It is reported from Chinese sources that the dowager empress has issued a secret edict commanding Li Hung Chang to raise an army to recapture Peking.

Health of Secretary Root.
Washington, Sept. 25.—Adjutant General Corbin has received a personal letter from Secretary Root saying that his condition is improving but giving no indication of his purpose to return to his duties in the immediate future.

Is Short a Candidate for the Presidency.
New York, Sept. 25.—Robert N. Widenman, chairman of the campaign committee, and Everett V. Abbott, secretary of the national (third tier) party, gave out to-day the official declaration by Senator Caffery of the presidential nomination of the national party.

In substance the reasons Caffery gives for declining are that he is unalterably opposed to a policy which would make the country the champion of fiat money; and is opposed to a policy which would destroy the ideal of a government founded on the consent of the governed and which would build up favored classes by legislation.

TEXAS FLOODS.
Rivers Overflow and Do Much Damage to Crops and Property.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 25.—According to advices received here up to noon by Chief Train Dispatcher Fisher, the Austin and Northwestern railroad, reports from Houston last night that the towns of Marble Falls and San Saba state that both towns are intact and the water falling two inches an hour to-day. All crops and much farming property are swept away, and several hundred people living in the low lands made homeless, but there has been no loss of life reported. The river at this point is fifty-three-quarters of a mile wide and is rising. The surface of the river is covered with debris of all kinds including dead stock.

Fulfillment of Prophecy.
When the masters of immortal name, Wagner, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Liszt and Joachim, foreboded that the tendencies of improvement in modern plans must be toward the realization of total beauties, approximating in volume and quality the human voice, they could not foresee that professional opinions of the greatest living finds its fulfillment in the product of a Chicago factory—the Klimbail. This plan bears the proud distinction of being used at the present day as the artistic supplement to the human voice in the home studies of Patti, Eames, Nordica, and other artists of the highest rank.—Chicago Tribune.

The Wife of an Alamogordo Barber Found Dead.

HALF-BRED INDIAN SUSPECTED.

A special to the El Paso News from Alamogordo says: Last Friday afternoon, between 4 and 5 o'clock, the town of Alamogordo was surprised by the discovery of the murder of Mrs. Catharina Harper, wife of a colored barber, John Harper. The woman was found murdered in her own bed room. She had been shot with a 38-caliber revolver, an examination of the wounds showed. The bullet had entered three inches to the right of the left breast and passed clear through the body. There were no signs of a struggle. There was a spot of blood on the bed pillow, but none on the floor, although the body lay some three feet away from the bed. The impression of the body was plainly marked on her breast, which was badly burned by the powder, showing that the murderer had pressed the revolver close against her breast. Her hand was blackened by powder, showing that she had grasped the barrel in an effort to defend herself.

Mrs. Harper was a half-bred Indian and was married last winter in Albuquerque. From all accounts she was a woman of good character, and lived happily with her husband, who was a quiet, inoffensive working man. Most of the time she was in the kitchen, and jewelry was lying undisturbed on a table near by when she was found dead. It was not until the neighbors reported having heard a muffled shot shortly after 4 o'clock, and unconfirmed rumor said that a strange man was seen leaving the house a little later.

Her husband was at his home, and learned of his wife's death only when called by the neighbors. A 38-caliber pistol was found in the room, but examination showed that it had not been fired for a long time.

James Stockton was arrested at Alamogordo Saturday night, charged with the murder. A letter taken from the pocket of the man arrested, directed to his wife and requesting her to leave her husband and go away with Stockton furnished the clue which led to the arrest.

The Santa Fe News, in commenting on the murder, says: John Harper, the husband of the deceased, is very well known in Santa Fe, where he resided for about twenty years and was employed as a porter at the Palace hotel. He was married here to a young woman from whom he was subsequently divorced, and who is now residing here. The news of his second wife's death attracted considerable attention among the colored people in this city. It is said that she was an orphan girl whom he and his former wife had adopted and raised in this city, and subsequently sent to school at Albuquerque.

A PROMINENT VIRGINIA EDITOR

Had Almost Given Up, but Was Brought Back to Perfect Health by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

READ HIS EDITORIAL.

From the Times, Hullettsville, Va.

I suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and thought I was past being cured. I had spent much time and money and suffered so much misery that I had almost decided to give up all hopes of recovery and await the result, but not the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and also some testimonials stating how some wonderful cures had been wrought by this remedy, I decided to try it. After taking a few doses I was entirely well of that trouble and wish to say further to my readers and fellow sufferers that I am a hale and hearty man to-day and feel as well as I ever did in my life.—O. Some Legal Pointers That Every Prospector Should Know.

Under the act of congress (Rev. Stat. Sec. 2324), a lode claim cannot exceed 1,500 feet in length by 600 feet in width, and should be in the form of a parallelogram, having its side lines equidistant from the center of the lode with end lines parallel to each other.

A lode is a zone, belt or body of quartz or other rock lodged in the earth's crust, and presenting two essential and inherent characteristics, viz: (1) It must be held in place vertically, or by the adjoining rock; and (2) it must be impregnated with some of the minerals or valuable deposits mentioned in the statute, and which will authorize the location of a lode claim.

In locating a mining claim all that the statute requires is that the location shall be distinctly marked on the ground so that its boundaries can be readily traced. Whether any markings have been made, and whether they are such that the boundaries of the location can be readily traced, are questions of fact.

The statute does not require any record of the location, but when one is made it prescribes what it shall contain, viz: That the name of the locator, the date of the location, and such description of the claim by proper references as will identify the claim, the principal object of the claim; and, if considering everything it contains, the name of locator, date and description by reference to some natural object or permanent monument, the claim can be identified, the record is sufficient.

No notice of location is required by the statute, but when the same is posted on the ground it must be considered as a marking to aid in tracing the boundaries. When such notice contains a description of the claim and is recorded, it operates as constructive notice to the public lands the ground located, and the prior location gives the prior and better right. A valid location vests in the locator the exclusive right of possession and enjoyment of the ground located, together with all the holes therein.

The maxim that one may recover on the strength of his own title does not apply in the case of a naked trespass, or intruder, although the party in possession may have a defective title; in such case the latter's possession alone is sufficient to maintain ejectment.

A TRIPLE MURDER.

Navajo Buck Commits a Bloody Deed and Then Shoots Himself.

News reached Gallup Saturday evening of a bloody affair near Fort Defiance, on the Navajo reservation, which resulted in the death of a squaw, her sister and child, and the Navajo buck who had presumably killed the rest. It is not known what was the cause of the tragedy, but two or three days after the crime had been committed the bodies were found. Each victim had been shot and killed by the same bullet. After having murdered the rest the Navajo took a string and attached it to the hammer of his rifle and committed suicide by shooting himself in the head. Major Haylett, the Indian agent, is investigating the affair.

A JUST CRITICISM.

Gallup Gleaner's Write-Up About the Big Fair.

EDITOR HENDERSON WAS HERE.

The editor of The Gleaner spent Wednesday and Thursday in Albuquerque. He had a fine time. The first day he was taken in hand by the local press association and after meeting with a large number of the fraternity from various parts of the territory, who met to organize a Territorial Press Club, they were all driven about and shown all the points of interest in the Duke metropolis, including the large and up-to-date plant of the Southwest Brewery and Ice Company. In the evening a fine banquet was given by the local club to the members of the press at the Highland hotel. It was well attended and heartily enjoyed by the molders of public opinion.

During the afternoon the principal place of attraction was the Midway and the grand stand. At the latter place in the afternoon one of the features which impressed itself on our mind most forcibly was the junior dancing class of Mrs. Walton. Eight little couples took part in and, fantastically went through the gyrations and evolutions of the "cake walk." The big crowd went almost wild with enthusiasm as each little couple contended for the prize. The judges were fair and the gold medal was awarded to our favorite little couple.

Many other attractions held the crowd until quite late. The fireworks in the evening were also very good. Thursday was the big day. It was a holiday, and by eleven o'clock the principal streets of the city were packed on either side with all classes of people who had assembled to see the big street parade.

The floats were all right. The Queen of the Carnival, Miss Anita Palladino of Albuquerque and four maids of honor, Miss Edith Hill of Gallup, Miss Helen of Bland, Misses Rutherford and Elliot of Albuquerque, and two little pages, Marie Mann and Marie Vorhees made a beautiful and lovely picture. It certainly was a "gem of beauty." The Elks, the Knights of Pythias, the Columbian society were faithfully represented, and many other fine trades and mercantile floats composed the long parade. The Chihuahua band was not present but the parade was none the less a success.

On Thursday afternoon the Elks had a special house for their friends and the Zeller Cafe. They provided themselves with royal entertainers and left nothing undone to make their friends perfectly at home. In the city including the carnival fair Friday night to occupy the time of residents as well as visitors, but our limited amount of space this week cannot allow us to dwell on the details. In brief the fair was all right, and may the one next year be still better.

The Citizens desires to correct an item to the effect that the fifty-six pound watermelon, which was devoured by the city printers last Sunday afternoon, was presented by Major Eugene Van Patten of Las Cruces. The melon was raised by, and presented to the Fair association by Macedonio B. Martinez, who is a Mesilla valley farmer. The melon was intended for exhibition at the territorial fair, and was brought to the city by Major Eugene Van Patten, who on finding no exhibition hall, left it at The Citizens office, where it remained on exhibition until last Sunday afternoon, when the printers of the city made good use of the luscious melon. The printers are under obligations to Mr. Bataan for the gift and to Mr. Van Patten for bringing it to the city.

The Fair association committee, especially the writer, who was more or less in touch with the proceedings, desire to thank E. P. McCanna, who had charge of the ticket office at the grand stand, and M. J. Gallagher and James Smith who handled the big crowd as it passed through the turnstiles to the grand stand, for the good work they rendered. These gentlemen did not in the least get rattled, and treated the immense gathering day after day, as if it was a regular every day occurrence. Their work was of the all-around order.

During the fair women demonstrated the fact that they were not expert target shooters. Quite a number tried their skill at Hawley's shooting gallery and missed the big target many times. Some of the shots penetrating the frame house just back of the target, and one shot, passing through the board, came uncomfortably close to a man who was eating.

Messrs. Hill & La Driera, who drew up the plans and specifications for the fair grand stand, request the carpenter who secured the plans from The Citizens office to return them either to the president of the Fair association or to their office as soon as possible. The plans and specifications are needed for future reference.

Some one telegraphing to the Prescott Courier from this city is rather reckless in his use of adjectives, and if he will make himself known will be properly castigated. He called ex-Governor Prince a "hypocrite." Frank A. Hubbell "an uneducated hireling of Governor Otero," etc.

One of the front wheels of one of W. L. Trimble & Co.'s big furniture wagons broke down on Railroad avenue this morning, and of course the incident created the gathering of quite a crowd. The damage was soon remedied, and the wagon proceeded on business again.

Phil Prager, the St. Louis commercial tourist who was in business in Albuquerque in the early days of the city, is now here with his samples. He is always assured of a fine list of orders.

Mrs. Wiley M. Weaver, who was here during fair week and was the guest of the Misses Armijo in Old Albuquerque, returned to her home in Gallup, last night.

The republicans will invite Col. R. E. Twitchell to be present at the county convention in this city next Saturday, and deliver one of his rousing republican speeches.

Republican primaries will be held tomorrow evening. In precinct 26 the primary will be held at the city building, and in precinct 26 at the Stamm building.

Max Schuster, well known here, enjoyed fair week with his wife and children. He returned to his mercantile duties at Holbrook last night.
