The United States is Asked to Look After the Interests of That Country in Venezuela While She Joins the Attempt to Collect a Few Debts, England and Germany Are Awaiting Results From the Action Taken Before Proceeding to Blockade Ports.

NO ORDERS HAVE BEEN SENT TO ADMIRAL DEWEY

Caracas, Dec. 16.—The governor of Margarita Island reports that British and German warships are off that island. Minister Bowen yesterday politely refused to have a monster patriotic parade pass before the United States legation. Every one here hopes that arbitration proposed by Venezuela through Mr. Bowen and Washington, will be granted. When the combined fleets seized the Venezuelan ships at La Guayra, the German commander delivered to the Venezuelan captain the following document:

"By order of my sovereign, and at the command of the commodore of the German squadron in West Indian waters, I, the commander of the Panther, request you to lower your ship's flag immediately and leave your ship with your crew within ten minutes. This is not a measure of war on the part of Germany, but only with the object of making a provisional seizure of your ship in order to oblige the Venezuelan government to recognize our just demands. In case you disobey, and wish to defend your ship, I shall be obliged to prevent you from so doing by discharge of arms.

"December 1.

Signed "Bokerman, Commander."

INHABITANTS WERE SCARED.

LaGuayra, Dec. 16.—The arrival of the British cruiser Charybdis, and torpedo boat destroyer, Quail, yesterday, caused a bad scare. They took up a commanding position with guns covering the fort and seemed about to open fire. They then steamed away in the direction of Curacao.

NOT REFERRED YET.

London, Dec. 16.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today, under secretary Cranborne said no attempt had been made by Great Britain to refer the dispute with Venezuela to arbitration.

MONROE DOCTRINE RECOGNIZED.

Berlin, Dec. 16.—The German government has not yet replied to President Castro's offer of arbitration, being still in correspondence with the British government on the subject. It is intimated in the cabinet appears to be that President Castro's proposals are merely a move in a game designed to see what Germany and Great Britain are now willing to do, and as a test also of American public feeling. The prevailing idea here, at present, is that it is too late to arbitrate. The conduct of the United States is regarded in diplomatic opinion here, as being strong and dignified and the state department's handling of the affair is looked upon as establishing Europe's recognition of the Monroe doctrine, because every step of Germany and Great Britain was made after taking into account what the United States thought of it. At the same time, it is claimed that the events in Venezuela are saving the United States many future complications, by letting the Latin republics understand the United States will not protect them from the effects of financial delinquency and internal disorder.

BRITISH CABINET MEETING.

London, Dec. 16.—Premier Balfour presided at a cabinet meeting held at the foreign office at noon today. The Venezuelan crisis and the king's speech at the proroguing of parliament were the principal matters considered.

ITALY JOINS IN.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The Italian ambassador today called at the state department and advised Secretary Hay that Italy had joined the allies in the operations against Venezuela. He requested that Minister Bowen assume charge of Italian interests in Venezuela, and the secretary granted this request, subject to the approval of Venezuela. Italy enters the combination on the same plan as to abstention from territorial seizures, as Germany and Great Britain. Failing to hear from Europe as to Mr. Bowen's proposal to arbitrate the Venezuelan troubles, Secretary Hay today addressed cablegrams to the United States ambassadors at London, Berlin and Rome instructing them to call the matter again to the attention of the governments to which they are accredited, with a view to securing an early expression of opinion from them.

HOUSE WANTS INFORMATION.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Representative McCall of Massachusetts, today introduced in the house, a resolution directing the secretary of state to inform the house concerning any working agreement between Great Britain and Germany, and the diplomatic officers of the United States, or any assurances by these governments to the diplomatic officers of the United States, as to the nature, extent or purpose of the joint demonstration of these governments against Venezuela and with particular reference to the occupation of territory of Venezuela. The resolution asks that the correspondence regarding this subject be transmitted to the house.

WILL BLOCKADE PORTS.

London, Dec. 16.—Replying to a question in the house of lords today, Lord Lansdown, the foreign secretary, said that if the seizure of Venezuelan gunboats did not produce the desired effect further coercive measures would be employed. The matter had been considered in consultation with Germany, and it had been decided to resort to a blockade of the ports. It was not intended to land a British force and still less to occupy Venezuelan territory.

NO ORDERS TO DEWEY.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Nothing has been heard from Minister Bowen at Caracas since yesterday morning, so Secretary Hay had no fresh information to carry to the cabinet meeting today relative to the Venezuelan affair. It was stated positively at the navy department, that no order had been sent to the North Atlantic squadron or the combined fleets under Admiral Dewey since the departure of the squadron. It was also stated that the admiral is at liberty to dispose of the vessels as he pleases without regard to the developments of South American politics.

TESTIMONY CONCLUDED.

Arguments Have Been Commenced for the New Trial of Albert T. Patrick.

New York, Dec. 16.—The taking of testimony in the argument for a new trial for Albert T. Patrick, convicted of the murder of William Mark Rice, was concluded today. C. G. Battle, counsel for the plaintiff, Jones, who was called as a witness, told of Jones's confession and said he understood immunity had been promised Jones. Mr. Tomlinson opened the argument for the plaintiff.

OLD MEN QUARREL.

One Was Found Dead and the Other Is Charged With Murder.

Aspen, Colo., Dec. 16.—District Attorney Gray began an investigation today of the murder of James Couits. Couits, who is a pioneer of Aspen and 73 years old, was found dead last evening back of the feed store of Owen Thorne. Death was caused by an ax or similar instrument. He had quarreled with Thorne, who is 70 years old, over money he alleged Thorne owed him. Thorne was arrested and charged with the murder.

STATEHOOD
BILL OFFERED

On the Conclusion of Dillingham's Speech it Will Go Over Until Jan. 5.

STRONG DELEGATION IS DESIRED THEN

Senator Quay Insisted That Another Senator Be Prepared to Speak When Consideration is Resumed.

Special to the New Mexican.

Washington, Dec. 16.—The senate today postponed the discussion of the statehood bill until after the holiday recess and will take it up January 5. A strong delegation of representative New Mexico citizens should be in Washington by that time to give aid to the passage of the bill. Everything looks favorable for the passage of the bill and it is fully believed when it comes to a vote on the floor of the senate, it will be passed by a large majority.

THE MINORITY REPORT.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Senator Bate yesterday presented in the senate the minority report of the committee on territories favoring the immediate passage of the house omnibus statehood bill without amendment. The report opposed the uniting of Oklahoma and Indian Territory into one state. It shows minutely the condition of each of the three territories and says these are such as to call for immediate statehood. It shows that both the Republican and Democratic parties at their last conventions adopted with perfect unanimity platform planks recommending each of the three territories by name, for statehood, and as such expression, the report continues, should be respected by both parties. It says among other things:

"It was never intended that congress should bar by party objection, admission when population, wealth and institutions were the same as in the case of other states."

With reference to the qualifications in the population of the territories, the report contends that "it ought to suffice that 95 per cent of the population are white in Oklahoma, and the 95,000 white population in Arizona, and the 122,000 white population in New Mexico are quite sufficient to even all the foreign born in each of these territories." Summing up the minority report says: "Each of these territories has complied with every requirement heretofore made by congress for the admission into the union. Each has population sufficient for the representation in congress. Each has wealth abundant to support all expenses of statehood. Each has institutions in harmony with republican government as understood in the union."

Liberal quotation was made from the report of the majority on the statehood bill. One of the parts quoted is that referring to the statement made by a witness that some of the white people in the territories are "like the riff-raff who follow construction of railroads." Commenting on this statement the minority report says:

"The riff-raff who follow railroads have been sturdy Irishmen, whose pick and shovel and spade and labor have built the hundred thousand miles of the American railroads. Why that riff-raff should not be good citizens in New Mexico as they are in every other state and territory, the report does not advise the senate. Presuming that the witnesses upon whose testimony this reference to riff-raff has been made, was greatly mistaken, we are forced to conclude that there has been a mistake made somewhere between the witnesses and the committee since the testimony has all the marks of a purpose to convict of unpreparedness on the part of Arizona and New Mexico, rather than to enlighten the senate as to their republican form of government."

The report is signed by Senators Bate, Helfeld, Bailey and Patterson, constituting the Democratic membership of the committee on territories.

MANY SPEECHES YET.

Washington, Dec. 16.—Yesterday afternoon, Senator Dillingham addressed the senate in opposition to the admission of New Mexico and Arizona. He quoted from the testimony and observations of the sub-committee which visited the territories. Each day after 2 o'clock, the statehood bill becomes unfinished business, with the exception of tomorrow, which has been set aside for eulogies for the late Senator Sewell of New Jersey. Senator Nelson of Minnesota, will follow Senator Dillingham and, in turn, will be succeeded by Senators Burnham and Keen. After these members of the committee are heard, other senators will speak. Senator Beveridge, chairman of the committee, will close the debate. The senate will adjourn on Saturday for the holidays and it is not believed action on the bill is possible until after the senate re-assembles.

DELEGATIONS AT WORK.

Special to the New Mexican. Washington, Dec. 16.—The delegations from the territories are here in force working for the different statehood bills. The Oklahoma delegation which is opposed to the bill combining Oklahoma and Indian Territory and which favors the admission of Okla-

DENVER OFFICERS
STILL OUT OF JAIL

The Ten Days' Stay of Sentence Expired Today but the Supreme Court Granted a Further Stay of Ten Days.

MUCH TROUBLE FOR THE MAYOR AND ALDERMEN

Denver, Dec. 16.—The ten days' stay of sentence granted by Judge Mullins to Mayor Wright and the eleven aldermen, whom he sentenced to four months imprisonment for disregarding the injunction issued by him, expired today, but they were kept out of jail by a further stay for ten days granted by the supreme court, to which the case was taken on appeal.

homa alone as a state, consists of Sidney Clarke of Oklahoma City, Horace Speed, United States district attorney; U. C. Guss, president of a bank at Guthrie; Judge Frank Dale, W. H. Merton, F. H. Greer, Joseph McNeal and C. E. Billingsley, bankers; and T. J. Lowe and H. E. Asp, attorneys. They claim the Beveridge substitute embodies every feature urged by the Democrats in their campaign in the territory.

The delegation that favors the passage of the Beveridge substitute, admitting Oklahoma and Indian Territory as one state, includes, C. Bates of Oklahoma City; W. H. Cassatt of Washington, William Johnstone of Bartlesville, I. T.; E. N. Ratcliff of Vinita, I. T.; George Cook of Oklahoma City; J. L. Cheatham of Bristol, I. T.; James Long of Wetumka, I. T.; T. H. Allen and J. H. Lovett of Coweta, I. T.; and many others.

The New Mexicans here are ex-Governor L. Bradford Prince of Santa Fe; Judge B. S. Baker, U. S. Marshal C. H. Foraker, Albuquerque; Thomas Hughes, editor of the Albuquerque Citizen; Treasurer F. A. Hubbell and Sheriff T. S. Hubbell of Bernalillo county; O. E. Cromwell, capitalist; N. N. Marron, Democratic territorial committeeman; Senator Andrews; F. W. Clancy, territorial district attorney; Jerry Leahy of Raton; Deputy U. S. Marshal Fred Fornoff of Albuquerque; E. V. Chaves, attorney of Albuquerque; B. Bibb and S. Bibb, merchants of Laguna; C. A. Spies and O. A. Larrazola, attorneys, of Las Vegas.

The members of the delegation deny that President Roosevelt told them he is opposed to the admission of New Mexico at this time. They claim he was non-committal only and gave them the impression that he would keep his hands off the fight. It is understood that the president is at this time too much engrossed with matters of international importance to take any part in a question that is under consideration by the senate.

LETTER OF THANKS. The Washington Post recently contained a strong editorial favoring the admission of all three territories seeking statehood, which is reprinted in this issue of the New Mexican. Delegate Rodey sent the following letter to the editor of the Post: "On behalf of the people of the great territory of New Mexico, whom I have the honor to represent, I sincerely thank you and your great newspaper for the kind editorial on the question of statehood in this morning's issue of the Post. I am sure, also, that I voice the sentiments of the people of the other territories for this kindness."

MASS OF TESTIMONY.

The testimony taken by the sub-committee on territories during its recent trip through New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma, has been printed as a senate document. The testimony is given in full and the book, with maps, contains 3,094 pages.

DILLINGHAM STILL SPEAKING

After the Agreement he Resumed His Remarks Against the Omnibus Bill.

Washington, Dec. 16.—In the senate, when consideration of the statehood bill was resumed this afternoon, Mr. Beveridge suggested the advisability of discontinuing the debate upon the bill on conclusion of Mr. Dillingham's remarks, until the senate meets January 5. The arrangement was agreed to, but Mr. Quay required it to be understood that Mr. Dillingham should complete his remarks and print them in the Record this week, and that January 5, some other senator will be ready to address the senate on the bill. Mr. Dillingham resumed his speech in opposition to the omnibus bill. When the senate met today, a joint resolution offered by Mr. Wetmore of Rhode Island, was adopted, appropriating $3,000 for the purchase of a bronze bust of the late President McKinley. Senators Hale, Allison and Cockerell were named as conferees on the bill appropriating $50,000 to pay the salaries of the anthracite coal commission.

LITTLE GIRLS WORKED ALL NIGHT

Chairman Gray of the Anthracite Commission Said They Were Much Impressed by Their Testimony and the Citizens of Pennsylvania Should Demand of the Legislature a Law Which Will Prevent the Employment of Children at Night Time.

ONE OPERATOR APPEARED FOR THE UNION MINERS

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 16.—When the coal strike commission met today, Chairman Gray opened the proceedings by saying that the commissioners were impressed with the spectacle of the little girls who were before the commission yesterday and testified that they worked all night. He said the people of the community and citizens of the commonwealth should not let the incident pass without taking some steps to have the legislature of Pennsylvania seriously consider the enactment of a law that will forbid the employment of children at night. At the suggestion of the commission, the statement of the wages of the fathers of two of the girls were presented. One earned more than $1,000 last year, and the other over $900. The miners sprung another surprise by presenting an individual operator on the witness stand against the operators. He was John C. Haddock of Wilkesbarre, president of the Plymouth Coal Co. Haddock, in answer to questions put to him by C. S. Darrow for the miners, said he had been in the coal business 35 years. His company operated the Black Diamond and Dodson mines near Wilkesbarre. Haddock explained that the miners' ton, which runs from 2,700 to 3,200 pounds, was fixed years ago so that the employer could get out of it 2,240 pounds of pure coal above the size of pea. Pea coal and all sizes below that was waste. This waste is now being utilized.

A UNIQUE CASE.

Two Thieves of a Watch and Stud Paid a Legitimate Bill.

A unique case was closed at Roswell on Saturday when Sheriff Higgins sold to the highest bidder a fine gold watch and a diamond stud. Several years ago a man named Robert Dillworth was a well known man about town in Roswell and was taken sick. Dr. Skipwith was employed to treat him. After he recovered, he left town and went to Texas without settling the physicians bill which was $93. Last fall, during the fair, Dillworth returned and one day reported that his gold watch and diamond stud had been stolen from him. The officers located the thief in Charles Roush and found the stud concealed in his mouth and later located the watch. Roush was bound over to the grand jury and the watch and stud were held as evidence. Roush was indicted at the recent term of court, pleaded guilty and is now in the penitentiary. Dr. Skipwith then attached the watch and stud to satisfy his bill. Last week a man appeared from Texas with an order for the watch and stud from Dillworth who claimed neither belonged to him but that he had stolen them and wanted to return them to the rightful owner. In spite of this, the goods were sold and were purchased by Dr. Skipwith for $38.

TRIED TO ESCAPE.

James F. Dinwiddie, Who Killed George Wright, Implicated in a Plot in Colorado.

James F. Dinwiddie, who is serving a life sentence in the Colorado penitentiary for the murder of George Wright, formerly of this city, was implicated in an attempt to escape Saturday, although he claims he was an unwilling participant, and the prison officials believe him. Two men named Armstrong and Russell, got out of their cells and then, with keys they had made or that had been passed in to them, liberated three others, among them Dinwiddie, who was brought to the prison only the day before. They bound and gagged the cell house keeper and then sawed some bars at the rear window. Armstrong tried to crawl through, but the opening was not large enough and he stuck fast. All this had required time that covered the half hour report time of the cell house keeper to the captain's office and an emergency call was sounded for an investigation. Two dozen armed guards hurried to the cell house and forced the men back into their cells. All except Dinwiddie were severely punished.

CIVIL WAR VETERANS.

Resolution Pending to Admit Them to the Fort Bayard Sanitarium.

Senator Mason has introduced in the senate a resolution to permit volunteer as well as regular soldiers, to enter the Fort Bayard Sanitarium for treatment. The resolution is now in the hands of the committee on military affairs and Delegate Rodey is doing all in his power to secure a favorable report and have the resolution adopted. The resolution is as follows: Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That Fort Bayard, New Mexico, now used as a sanitarium for soldiers of the regular establishment, be, and is hereby, designated as such sanitarium for the reception of volunteer soldiers of the war of the rebellion, who have an honorable discharge from the United States Army and who are found otherwise eligible to admission, according to the rules that now govern the entry of soldiers of the regular army.

All persons suffering from stomach troubles, rheumatism or kidney ailments ought to go to the Paywood Hot Springs and get well.

MORE REASONS ADVANCED

Santa Fe Stands in Need of a Modern School Building Centrally Located.

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 13, 1902. To the Editor of the New Mexican:

The necessity of having a large commodious school house or two, seems to be generally recognized by everyone. The last school census shows an enrollment of 1,800 children entitled to school privileges and our public schools have room for less than 500. Of the 1,800 not over 600 are able to pay tuition to attend private or parochial schools, or to go to other towns for school privileges. Even if there were more who are able to attend private schools there are not the facilities at present in Santa Fe for accommodating a greater number. Therefore, it is evident that there are in Santa Fe at least 1,300 children who must be educated in free public schools or grow up in ignorance. It is a recognized fact throughout the civilized world that education at any cost is cheaper than ignorance in this day and age of the world. So the proposition simply resolves itself into the question: Shall 1,300 school children in Santa Fe grow up without the opportunities of an education or will the parents of these children vote bonds for the purpose of providing proper school facilities? Since this is the true condition and not a theory, where is the father who will deliberately cast his vote against the education of his own children? He does not want his child to have an education, or that the present old shacks are good enough for his children?

There are very few parents in Santa Fe who are able to start their children in business, or at death to leave them a fortune, but all parents in Santa Fe can do even better than that, they can unite to provide the means whereby their children may obtain an education which is better than riches. An educated people is always well to do, becomes a people of newspaper readers, of producers and a happy people.

Again a large centrally located school building or two would equalize the work of the teachers. I learned that the reports of the teachers for the last month showed the attendance of one teacher to be 10.5, the attendance of another in the same ward to be 28.8. In another ward the attendance of a teacher was 54.5, of another 60. If these teachers were all teaching in one and the same building, the pupils could be so distributed that each teacher would have about forty pupils, instead of some having too small a number, and others too large a number. The best work cannot be done under the present existing circumstances. But some say that it is no use to vote bonds for they cannot be sold, or sold, it will be at 30 or 40 per cent discount. Section 1,384 of the Compiled Laws of 1897 of New Mexico, says that bonds for erecting school buildings can not be sold below par and that the rate of interest on the bonds shall not exceed six per cent.

Therefore, the thing to do is to vote the bonds and if they can not be sold at, or above par, they can not be sold at all, and will cost the city nothing.

The same section says that such bonds shall be payable in no less than twenty nor more than thirty years from date. By that time the children who receive the benefit of the bonds will be the ones to help the capitalists and well-to-do people who would move here before that time, to pay off the principal. But says some objector, it will keep people from moving here to issue bonds. Well, has it kept people from moving to Albuquerque, Las Vegas or Roswell? Or from moving to Colorado Springs, Pueblo or Denver where they have a heavy bonded indebtedness.

No, it will not keep people from Santa Fe but will draw them here quicker than any other enterprise, at least, it has in all other cities where the experiment has been tried.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 16.

New Mexico Demands Statehood of the 57th Congress.

Of Right and in Justice New Mexico Should Be a State.

Extract from the Congressional Record of June 25th, 1902, page 7,842.

President pro tem, of senate: The chair has been requested to restate the proposition, and will do so.

The senator from Indiana, the chairman of the committee on territories, has stated in open session today, that the committee will report on the territorial bill, so-called, on the third day of the next session of congress. Thereupon the senator from Pennsylvania asks unanimous consent, that on the tenth day if the senate is in session and on the first day thereafter if it may be in session if not on the tenth, the bill shall be made the unfinished business.

Is there objection? The chair hears none, and the order is made.

There is considerable decline in the prices paid for livestock, but beefsteaks remain at the same old figure.

Venezuela evidently thinks fighting is cheaper than paying bills. This is somewhat on the old idea that moving costs less than paying rent.

Colonel William J. Bryan is going to Mexico to study existing conditions in a republic which still adheres to the silver standard. It ought to be an eye-opener to him.

Mexico is about to pass anti-trust legislation. It is a relief to know that trusts are a universal tendency and are not the product of any distinctive American policy.

In one little Indiana village last week 165 citizens were arrested, charged with election frauds. Mind you, that was in Senator Beveridge's state, not Delegate Bodey's territory.

It is wet of South African war fame, is not only a good soldier, but also a good advertiser. His recent book on the war in South Africa is having an enormous sale.

Grover Cleveland in addition to duck hunting, has now concluded to show up as the friend of the colored man and brother. He is evidently anxious to remain in public view.

New Mexico yellow sheets admit with sorrowful tears that there will be a big administration majority in the coming assembly. No one would have expected that much honesty from them.

The first foreign exhibit for the Louisiana Purchase Exposition has arrived at St. Louis. New Mexico isn't doing anything as yet toward gathering an exhibit that will be worthy of the territory.

The big man of war, Maine, is to be ready for sea by December 19, and is to join the squadron now cruising in West Indian waters under the command of Admiral Dewey. Uncle Sam is evidently keeping a close watch upon the present Venezuelan imbroglio.

In Chicago they are again discussing the question of the best ten books in existence. In New Mexico it is believed that a full pocketbook and a checkbook when there is a good balance in the bank to draw upon, are very good books for people to possess.

The cost to Uncle Sam of taking care of his Indian wards is being gradually reduced. The Indian appropriation bill drafted for the consideration at the present session of congress carries only $6,000,000, which is $2,000,000 less than the last Indian appropriation bill.

In looking over the political fight in Utah it becomes apparent that Apostle Smoot can take care of himself. He will be the next United States senator from the state of Utah. Very presumably he is getting the help of the Mormon church and that shows that he is perfectly capable of looking after his own interests.

It is about time that the New Mexico, Texas and Colorado boundaries are correctly and finally surveyed. It is no joke for the inhabitants of settlements like Elkhito to be told one day that they live in Colorado, the next day that they are citizens of New Mexico, and the third day that it is not definitely known whether they are in the Centennial state or in the Sunshine territory. Between dodging two tax collectors and trying to find out where they are at, the people along the border are leading a strenuous life.

The arrogance of President Castro is based on the fact that he expects the United States to stand between him and Germany and Great Britain. But President Roosevelt has defined the Monroe doctrine sharply by saying that it is applicable only to the alienation of American soil by a European power, but is not intended to shield an American republic from the result of its own folly.

The financial condition of this territory is first class and territorial obligations are commanding a higher premium in financial markets than ever before in the history of New Mexico. United States senators opposed to statehood for this territory ought to pay attention to this fact. It is one that speaks mightily well for the people of New Mexico and for an honest and efficient territorial administration.

There is no more Philippine war news, simply because the islands are pacified and there is no little lawlessness in that part of the world as in most parts of the United States. Peace on earth, good will to men applies to all parts of Uncle Sam's dominions at this time. Though covering a larger area than did Rome in its glory, the gates of Janus are closed much oftener and much longer than they were in the days of Augustus.

President Castro by arming all men between the ages of 18 and 55 is preparing the means for his own undoing. Unless he can manage to feed and pay that army and lead it to victory it will turn against him and Venezuela, with its bankrupt treasury, and with Germany and Great Britain collecting and keeping its customs duties will have another revolution. But then, Castro will go out in a blaze of fireworks, which many men prefer to a quiet retirement.

James Hill, the railroad magnate, declares that the nation has reached the top wave of prosperity and will start on a decline within a few months, a decline that will end in a panic. Mr. Hill is certainly too pessimistic, but nevertheless it will be well to hold the reins tight in matters of speculation and watering stocks. As long as the Republican party remains in power so long will this nation be prosperous, but there are panicky waves even in times of prosperity. It is quite possible that years are coming which although they will be years of quiet and general prosperity yet may bring disaster to some of the top-heavy trusts and corporations launched in the past few years and in which launchings James Hill has taken a prominent part. He knows best the weakness of the recent railroad mergers and industrial trusts and he has a right to feel pessimistic about their probable future. This policy of paying six to eight per cent on water cannot last forever, no matter how prosperous the nation.

TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS STATEHOOD RESOLUTION IN POINT JUST NOW.

The Trans-Mississippi congress at its 12th annual session held at St. Paul, Minn., August 12, has passed the following resolution recommending statehood for New Mexico:

"Resolved, That the fundamental American principle of self government as well as every consideration of justice and equity, requires the immediate admission to the union of the territory of New Mexico, which fully possesses the population, character, resources and financial ability necessary to qualify it for statehood."

This congress was composed of representative and strong men from every state and territory west of the Mississippi river; it voices the sentiments of United States without regard to political party, not only in the matter of statehood for New Mexico, but also in many other directions. At this time, the above resolution concerning statehood for this territory is republished by the New Mexican that it may be called to the minds of the members of the United States senate, who are opposed to the admission of this territory into the sisterhood of states.

ADMIT THEM ALL.

The Washington Post in its issue of the 12th instant, contains the following very timely editorial upon the question of the admission of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Arizona into the sisterhood of states:

"It is difficult to understand the opposition to the bill which provides for the admission to statehood of Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. Perhaps the opposition in the case of Oklahoma is not as strong as in the cases of New Mexico and Arizona, but that fact—if it be a fact—only adds to the mystery of the situation; for it would seem to mean that the majority in congress are willing to admit a Republican territory and to exclude a Democratic territory on purely partisan grounds and without the smallest reference to justice. We prefer to assign some other motive to the antagonism. It is not pleasant to think that the Republicans in congress could be guided in their acts by considerations so petty and unpatriotic."

"For many years past the national conventions of both parties have declared in favor of admitting these territories. As a matter of fact, they committed themselves to New Mexico and Arizona before Oklahoma was thought of. Gentlemen now sitting in congress—in both houses, for that matter—have, in the past, advocated and voted for the plank. How can they now explain their present opposition to a measure which heretofore they have ardently espoused and advocated? These are interrogatories we do not undertake to answer. Enough for us that certain Republicans in congress are now repudiating the solemn declarations of their party and fighting against a measure which they themselves have expounded and urged in the immediate past."

"The truth is that these territories should be admitted to statehood without further ado. They are entitled to it, and the consummation will be useful in every imaginable way."

From a Pastor

"I am the pastor of the Baptist Church at Port Jervis, N. Y., and sometimes am called upon to take part in evangelistic work away from home. Not long ago I went to Sandy Creek, N. Y., which is swept by the damp winds from Lake Ontario. Here I contracted a bad cough, and became so hoarse that I could hardly preach to my congregation. It was not only distressing in a bodily sense, but extremely embarrassing to enter the pulpit in this condition. I had heard of Acker's English Remedy, and bought a bottle and began taking it. The next night my throat was nearly well, and I delivered my sermon without difficulty. In a few days I was thoroughly cured. I conceived it to be my duty to benefit mankind physically as well as spiritually whenever I can, and am glad to write these words in praise of this grand old medicine. Those with sensitive throats and those who catch cold easily should certainly take Acker's English Remedy."

Bellamy Storer, late minister to Madrid, and now ambassador to Austria-Hungary, paints the condition of Spain in such rosy colors as to cause some people to smile incredulously. Poor old Spain is probably as well off as it ever was, but as to conditions being ideal on the Pyrenean peninsula, a wide margin must be left for Mr. Storer's sympathies.

A dispatch from the City of Mexico says that the trouble with the republic to the south of the United States is higher than the average income. Complaints of that kind are also heard quite frequently in the United States. The real trouble is that few people want to live within their incomes rather than that they are unable to do so.

There are at least three towns for county seat honors and the legislative assembly that convenes next month will have a choice assortment of new county contests to dispose of. The candidates for county honors have a race sufficient for half a dozen ordinary counties, but there are other questions than area to be considered in passing upon the advisability of creating new counties.

A telegram from Port au Prince says that General Alexis Nord has entered the city and his election is assured by the strong military force at his hand. These few lines give a correct idea of what kind of a republic the Haytiens are maintaining. It is the kind of republic that J. Pierpont Morgan would like to see in the United States, only that the dispatches would say: "Grover Cleveland entered New York City today at the head of a score of trust magnates. He will be elected to the presidency of the United States by reason of the millions of dollars backing him."

The Jaguar Special

By PAUL R. BULLARD.

STRANGE affairs happen upon the solitary railroad of Spanish Honduras. Hold-ups, collisions and runaway trains are of frequent occurrence on its 50 miles of length, but its most extraordinary incident was that in which George Powers took part.

It was in the "dry season," when the banana plants were weighted with their bunches of green fruit, ready for cutting.

"One day," as Powers tells the story, "the fruit steamer Breakwater anchored unexpectedly in the offing of our Caribbean sea harbor of Porto Cortez. Soon, at her agent's orders, there was hoisted at her masthead the signal indicating 'Fruit, ready for a quick cargo.' And when the ship had reached the dock a fruit train was being made up.

"Then we learned that the Breakwater was expected to sail for New Orleans with a cargo of bananas early the next morning. Extraordinary efforts must be made to load her with a suitable shipment in less than a day's time. To hurry was decidedly unpropitious, but the banana given by the railroad officials was as oil to lubricate the machinery of the transportation department," and I was handed these orders:

Engineers Powers will take engine No. 13, with 18 platform cars, and proceed with best speed to La Pimienta; load cargo of bananas; return to San Pedro; load fruit there. Report at this office after the run, and not later than ten p. m. to-day. (Signed) COLVILLE (Supt. of Trans.).

"Such an order meant 'hurry.' My fireman oiled 13, the only locomotive available, and the yardmen made up the train. By noon we were started. There was work enough ahead to keep us all out of mischief for the next ten hours. To cover a round trip of 100 miles, load 18 cars with bananas and pull them into Porto Cortez within ten hours would be the record for speed upon the Honduras railroad.

"So old 13, with throttle wide open, was soon puffing up the rough road bed to La Pimienta at an unaccustomed pace. The telegraph line was equally busy, and when we ran past San Pedro the ox-cars were already unloading their nine and ten-bunch loads alongside the track in readiness for our return. Between four and five o'clock we whistled for La Pimienta, the terminus.

"There the station agent had a gang of 'loaders' ready, and before the train had quite stopped the green bunches were being passed to the loaders in the cars. In an incredibly short space of time the bananas rose, tier upon tier, to a heavy load; and all the time my fireman fed the sticks of soft pine to our roaring fire box, for we should need a good head of steam to get back to San Pedro in season. The agent sarcastically asked me: 'Is the engine good for the heavy pull with-out a breakdown?' and I replied:

"Number 13 is about to surprise everybody by a record trip! And so we did, both because of and in spite of an unprecedented adventure.

"At six o'clock we had loaded all the fruit in sight, and whistling for 'open brakes,' we started for San Pedro. The down grade helped us materially. In less than an hour we had covered the distance and were taking the fruit aboard from our last stop.

"Delay began here. There were few men to load the fruit, and the handling of it was slow; every bunch was thoroughly inspected by the loaders lest they should grasp tarantulas crawling among the bananas. But at eight o'clock the train was loaded, the pitchpine headlight was lighted, the throttle opened and the whistle shrieked its farewell to San Pedro.

"Two hours only were left in which to make the run in schedule time over 35 miles of rolling country and with a weight of 18 heavily loaded cars. The 'passenger,' with her light freight, was allowed four hours for the same run. The darkness was intense, and the vibration of the train soon became so great that the headlight was shaken into a mere sputtering, and at a lurch went out. The front of the engine became the limit of my vision.

"The white mile markers were passed so quickly that my fireman lost his count, and we could not tell where we were. But No. 13 was doing her best. Not a valve had blown out, nor a rod broken. Our clattering over the track was varied only by the frantic squealings of a fine fat pig, sent by the agent at La Pimienta to the captain of the Breakwater as a delicacy for his table. Piggy continually squealed from its berth in an open fruit car.

"In one place a large limb extended from a tree over the track, just high enough to clear the stacks of the passing engines. The pig seemed to scream more loudly than before and we heard a new sound.

"What was that? asked my startled fireman. 'Did you hear that crash?'
"Oh, never mind! Give me more steam," I replied, for I knew we must be nearing a steep grade. I blew the signals to release the brakes, but without avail.

"In a minute we struck the hill. It was a hard one to climb, and the engine puffed so loudly that I did not notice the cessation of the pig's squeals. Slowly but surely we were coming to a standstill. The brakes still seemed set. I again blew the signal for their release, but the train came suddenly to an irresolute stop, although making herculean efforts to keep going.

"The incline had begun. To start the train was impossible. I had

"I lighted a pine torch, swung from the cab to ascertain the situation, and had passed several cars when the most terrible yell echoed through the forest. The men from the rear of the train were shouting at me. It was impossible to distinguish what they were saying, because of the yell, which were rising apparently between me and them. These did not alarm me much for the creature seemed like a wildcat, a reckless, but not dangerous, night prowler. So on I walked toward the rear of the train.

"Approaching the trainmen, I heard them shout: 'Look out for the jaguar, Powers!'

"Now, no wild creature is more dangerous by night to man than a jaguar. I halted and stared. I could now see the glaring eyes of the fierce brute as he pawed the lifeless pig. Those eyes followed me with such hostile intent that I hastened back to the cab for the fireman and my Winchester.

"Of course, one of us had to stay with the engine, so I left my fireman in charge and returned alone, with torch in hand and rifle ready. The trainmen came toward me from around the rear of the train. They told me that the jaguar must have been crouching on the overhanging limb, and having heard the squeals of the pig, must have leaped recklessly into the passing train for his prey. The trainmen had discovered him when they started to answer my signal of 'brakes off.' The brute held them at bay. They were in the rear car. A jaguar was in the next one, and I could not pass over the train to release the brakes. The 18 loaded cars, most of them having tightened brakes had stopped No. 13 on the incline.

"I must either give up hope of getting to the port in time for loading the Breakwater, or else must kill or drive away the jaguar. The fire of my eyes was intensified by the flickering light of the torch. It was not a pleasant grimace when the brute suggestively wiped his lips and tongue with those huge paws.

"The engine gave a sudden lurch. My fireman must have been meddling. It threw the animal from his balance. His tail lashed. Handling the torch to a man, I raised my Winchester. The beast glared ferociously, and measured with his eye the distance to the ground. Some of the men ran. As the animal seemed about to jump, I took hasty aim and pulled the trigger. Apparently the jaguar was unharmed, but he had changed his opinion about the jump, and only sprang a few feet along the top of the bananas toward the engine. I aimed at him again and pulled the trigger. Then I remembered that the only cartridge in the Winchester was the one I had fired.

"I shouted to the fireman, but before I could make him understand the cowardly fellow jumped from the cab and scampered into the forest. Luckily, there was no other jaguar awaiting him.

"I went toward the cab, expecting to find the jaguar in possession, and determined to club him out with the butt of my gun; but he was not in the cab. I blew 'brakes off,' and casually looked around. On the floor of the tender, among the wood and casks of water, stretched out at full length and apparently couching for a spring, I saw the jaguar. I jumped from the engine. The thought of the fireman's cowardice did not amuse me. As fast as possible I ran toward the rear of the train.

"Ten o'clock was approaching. The ship could not receive her fruit unless we started immediately. In my haste I had left the rifle in the cab; now I took a crowbar which one of the brakemen handed me. But the plan from which I hoped most was his suggestion that I should climb upon the engine from the front of the cab, and then reach in to open the steam valve on the chance that the escape of the hissing steam would frighten the brute to the point of leaving the train.

"I opened the valve—the jaguar never moved.

"I then reached a heavy iron wrench and threw it at the beast with all my strength. It struck him upon the head, but he did not stir. I was startled. Climbing to the fancied security of the top of the cab, I poked him with a long-handled rod; but I could see no sign of life.

"After a close watch, I descended to the floor of the cab and opened the furnace door to have more light. The jaguar was dead. There was a hole through his head caused by the lucky shot from my Winchester. He had walked to the tender in a daze and died there.

"I blew the whistle vigorously. It was a welcome sound to the trainmen. The brakes were speedily released. The fireman came scrambling back; I opened the throttle, and slowly the train went up the incline toward Porto Cortez.

"At a little after ten o'clock that night the whistling of No. 13, approaching with her load of bananas, summoned the crew of the Breakwater, whose captain congratulated the officials of the Honduras railroad on the remarkable expedition of their fruit service. But when he saw the nine tender and heard the story of the difficulties of the run, he remarked that the railroad officials should pass a vote of thanks to me upon the success of the record trip of the road."

STARTLED

By some sudden sound she drops the vase upon the floor. She is nervous and may be told that nervousness is a luxury which only a rich woman can afford to indulge in. Nervousness has cost many a woman her position. Sometimes when on run machinery the price of nervousness is mutilation—a finger lost or perhaps the whole hand crushed.

Nervousness in women is commonly but a symptom of womanly diseases. It is useless in such cases to "doctor" for the nerves alone. Cure the diseases which attack the delicate womanly organism and nervousness will be cured also.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong, sick women well. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness. It tranquilizes the nerves and induces refreshing sleep.

"In the day," I was troubled with nervousness, headache, heart trouble and female weakness," writes Miss Blanch M. Bruce, of New York City. "I used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' and I did so and I began to improve rapidly. Continued taking the medicine, half a dozen cases of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery' for the space of five months and in less than a year had regained my former health."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the muddy complexion.

The prediction for tonight is for fair weather with stationary temperature. Last night the thermometer went lower than at any time this winter thus far as at 3 o'clock this morning it was 9 above zero.

Thermometers on the ground level probably registered about two degrees lower. By 6 o'clock this morning the temperature had risen to 13 above zero. The maximum temperature yesterday was 24 at 1:50 p. m., and the minimum 12 at 6 a. m. The precipitation was .03 of an inch. The maximum sun temperature yesterday was 37 degrees.

There are postoffices named Santa Fe in Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Kentucky, Missouri, New Mexico, Ohio, Tennessee, Argentine Republic, Mexico, in every Central American state, in every South American republic, Spain, and on the Isle of Pines. There isn't a day that the local postoffice does not receive mail matter intended for some other Santa Fe. It is quite likely too, that often letters or parcels intended for Santa Fe, N. M., go to some other Santa Fe on account of illegible address or the name of the territory being omitted in the address.

Through the courtesy of the telegraph companies and the different railroad companies, the local office of the weather bureau was today informed of the condition of snow today at noon: At Raton there was a three days' storm and one inch on the ground; Las Vegas 18 inches; Albuquerque, rain; Torrance 12 inches; Kennedy 4 inches; Estancia 12 inches; Moriarty 9 inches; Santa Fe 1.5 inches.

HEADLESS BODY.

Murder and Robbery Were Probably Committed and the Building Fired.

The partly consumed and headless body of Charles Kyle was found in the smoldering ruins of George Sampson's Indian store on Friday night. The store was located at Cienega, Apache county, Arizona, about thirty miles west of Gallup. No sign of the head was found, and it is believed the store was robbed, Kyle murdered and then the building set on fire. A half-breed Indian interpreter, named Frank Walker, is known to have been at the store that afternoon.

Rich Strike Reported.

There is some excitement in the San-dia mining districts over a reported strike of copper and gold made by prospectors sent out by an Albuquerque firm. It is said an eight foot vein of ore running from sixty to eighty per cent copper and carrying considerable gold has been uncovered. BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION PUBLICATIONS APPRECIATED.

The work done by the Bureau of Immigration in sending out pamphlets on the different counties is highly appreciated and results in much good. The following letter from B. C. Hernandez, probate clerk of Rio Arriba county, is a good sample of those received:

"I received your letter advising me of the Rio Arriba county pamphlets which I also received in good season. I have been distributing them very liberally back and forth to parties who I know take special interest in the development of our county, and I send the enclosed letter which is one of several I have received regarding the pamphlets. Kindly send him a supply. These people are spending a good deal of money in our county developing mines, which, by the way, are paying out very well. I think these pamphlets are the best sort of advertising and are doing more good to our territory than any other kind of advertising. I congratulate you on your efforts in this connection."
