THE BIG PARADE!

Stupendous Procession This Morning.

The Queen's Float a Gem of Beauty.

C. Colombo-Isabella Float Awarded First Prize.

OTHER PRIZES AWARDED.

To-day is Albuquerque day, the business houses are closed, and the streets are filled with throngs of gaily attired citizens in honor of the occasion.

The first event on the interesting program of the day was the grand parade display and carnival parade, which took place this morning at 11 o'clock, being the most gorgeous, magnificent and comical display ever given in this city, the sublime, unique and ridiculous all being intermingled in making one of the grandest spectacles ever given in Albuquerque.

The president of the fair association appointed the following committee, Fred Fornoff of Socorro, Harry Potter of Santa Fe, P. H. Hogan of Cerrillos, judges to decide upon the merits of the displays in the parade, the gentlemen viewing the procession from two advantageous points on Railroad avenue and one on Second street.

The first regiment band headed the column, followed by Policemen Martinez and Harris on foot, the city council and the president of the fair association with several fair officers in carriages.

QUEEN OF THE CARNIVAL.

Next came the Queen of the Carnival, Miss Anita Palladino, in all of her glory and splendor, seated upon her magnificent throne surrounded by four beautiful maids of honor, and attended by two bright little pages, impersonated by Marie Mann and Marie Vorhes. The maids of honor, were the Misses Alice Rutherford, Elliott, Hill of Gallup and Helen of Bland.

GRUNSFELD BROS.

The enterprising wholesale dry goods merchants, Grunsfeld Bros., were represented with a splendid float displaying a large assortment of dry goods, blankets, etc.

SANTA FE PACIFIC SHOPS.

The Santa Fe Pacific shops were well represented by two large floats, one from the boiler department, the former fronting the boiler department, the former containing a little upright engine and boiler, steam hammer and forge, with workmen giving a practical demonstration of the kind of work they are engaged in. The latter float was filled with boiler makers, who raised a din in their efforts to repair the remains of an old boiler. These floats were followed by a large number of shop men in a uniform of black shirts and caps, carrying hammers.

Another home industry, the Albuquerque Steam Laundry, displayed their business by a decorated delivery wagon, while Driver Grimmer abused the crowd with his comical make-up and actions.

MANN SADDLERY CO.

Tre Mann Saddlery company, dealers in harness, saddles, etc., was represented with a large float containing a large dummy horse, attached to a modern buggy, making an interesting display.

MRS. WALTON'S DISPLAY.

Mrs. Walton manifested her interest in the Carnival parade, with a single two-seated carriage drawn by a beautiful white horse, both trimmed in white and gold, containing four little folks beautifully and gorgeously gowned in the style of 1777 representing a typical colonial turnout.

HOUSELESS CARRIAGE.

The horseless carriage, drawn by two large mules, was one of the most ridiculous rigs in the parade and was conceived in the brain of H. A. Palladino, who, with a number of his friends, impersonated the genuine hobos to perfection. The rig was escorted by several more refined hobos, who rode mules.

CHRISTOPHER COLOMBO SOCIETY.

As usual this grand and artistic body of men made a most beautiful display. Their main float represented the court of Queen Isabella, receiving Columbus on his return from the discovery of America. The scene was carefully worked out in detail and the posing of the characters represented was perfect. The queen on her throne, was Miss Michael Scott. King Ferdinand and his Spanish attendants, and the maids of honor, Misses Bertolino and Dineo, supporting her, Columbus, represented by Mr. M. Scott, stood in front of the queen, telling her story with his sailor's and Indians back of him, and the fruits and flowers of the new world spread at his feet. The float was a dream of colors, gliding and flags, and it was no wonder this exhibit captured the first prize. The smaller float, a beautiful model of the famous caravel of Columbus, the "Santa Maria," built of flowers and white satin and trimmed with flags floating in a sea of mirrors, was the daintiest piece of work in the parade. On the seat was Uncle Sam and Miss Italia in appropriate costumes to illustrate the harmony of the two nations. This whole affair was the work of Mrs. John Cuneo, who presented it to the society.

Eighty members of the society in sailor dress, with their elegant banner and the American flag brought up the rear of this magnificent display.

PIRE DEPARTMENT.

The fire fighters made a fine showing. Chief Ruppe in his wagon was followed by Captain Sutherland on the hose wagon drawn by the two handsome and well trained horses of the department. Driver Hale held the reins while the regular men filled the steps. The hook and ladder truck was in charge of Lieut. Harry Johnson and a score of men in uniform completed the turnout. J. KOBBER & COMPANY.

This firm was represented by a large handsome float drawn by four horses. On top was a large anvil to represent their blacksmith shop. On the platform was an elegant rubber tire runabout wagon, and a trap, harness, saddles and other fine samples of the goods sold by the firm were displayed. The float was neatly decorated with flags and bunting.

COOPER & MATTHEW.

Brick building contractors on a neatly trimmed float were laying the walls of a cottage. It was well on its way, being a rush job, a couple newly married being ready to occupy it. This firm has done some of the finest work in this city, and all their work is strictly up-to-date.

PASSMORE'S RIG.

The popular carriage painter had a most laughable outfit, and he acted the part of the travelling doctor to perfection. He had his effects all with him, and they were legion. He seemed to be hunting Kober's shop for repairs.

MRS. M. C. WILSON.

This south second street notion storekeeper had a large omnibus full of merry children, who sang songs, and on a banner declared that their mamma's all dealt with Mrs. Wilson.

The Coyote mineral water company had its wagon in line, loaded with the products of the famous Coyote canons springs.

THE KID HOBNO BAND.

Made up of sixty and one-half musicians, was composed of the tinners at the Santa Fe shops. Their costumes, tinners and make-up were a study, and their music made up for the absence of the great Chihuashus band, the boys making a great hit.

GUST E. GUSTAFSON.

Carpenter, contractor and builder, was building a frame cottage on a float. The frame was up, shingles were at work and following the workmen were the painters Sheppard and Brown putting on a coat of paint. The idea was to represent rapid and practical work.

THE TIPPERARY LAD.

Wm. Mason made a good thing of his Irish lad. A male hitched to a wheelbarrow, gave him means of conveyance and his rig was a great hit.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Mineral lodge No. 4 on its float showed the scene of the famous lesson of the order—the triumph of reason over evil. The king was on his throne with his officers, the headman, etc. The costumes were fine and the effect very realistic.

CLARKVILLE COAL YARDS.

John B. Beaven, agent for the Clarkville coal, had two wagons in the parade loaded with the fine coal sent out from his yards. One contained the largest lump of block coal ever brought to the city. The other with nut coal, a full ton weight is always guaranteed.

YESTERDAY'S EVENTS.

Amusing Cakewalk in the Afternoon.

Interesting Platform Features.

GRAND FIREWORKS IN THE EVENING.

The little folks were gaily attired in bright-colored costumes, executing the rag-time steps, the bowing and the graceful movements of an up-to-date cakewalker in a wonderfully skillful and catchy manner which captivated the throng of spectators, who went wild with applause.

Those taking part in this part of the program, were Pierce Riley and Eleanor Whiting, Helen Hilyer and Willie Wright, Lillian Hessel and Wallace Hessel, Jr., Tony Luna and Grace Luna, and a quartet consisting of Ed. Grunfeld, Marie Vorhes and Joe Walton; Reina Grunfeld and Lillian Taylor; Madeline and Catherine Grimmer.

The president of the Fair association appointed the following judges to decide upon the merits of the young contestants: Keller of St. Louis, Mo., Mrs. W. B. Walton of Silver City, and B. H. Houghton of El Paso.

The little folks all did so well it was very hard to decide upon the winning couple, but after a careful discussion of the relative merits of the walkers, the judges rendered the following decision:

First prize, each receiving a beautiful gold medal: Madeline and Catherine Grimmer carried off the second honors and were each presented with a gold fingered butterfly pin and the clasp.

The covered cake was won by Reina Grunfeld and Lillian Taylor, who were commended as Uncle Sam and Miss Columbia, causing much merriment by their clever movements.

Owing to a large rent made in the balloon, while it was being inflated, the ascension was not a success.

The splendid program presented in front of the fair grounds last night was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd who attended. The first number was the pretty dance known as the Spanish Flag, executed by Helen Hilyer, who was commended as a very graceful and pleasing dancer.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams won additional praise last night in their feats of skill and strength upon the trapeze, especially in the act when Mrs. Williams holds a trapeze with three men upon it.

McCaffery, the boneless wonder, seemed more like a man than ever last night, and as he went through his various evolutions, looked more like a serpent than a human being with the ordinary number of bones.

Joe Meyer, the oil-round fun maker, was more than lively and created merriment by his every move, but capped the climax, when he got stuck in a barrel and called for "Pa," who was impersonated by E. W. Spencer, another fun maker, dressed as an old Rube, who came running across the fair grounds in answer to the lusty calls of his partner. After being extricated from the barrel, Sawyer danced through the crowd, and was again commended as the finest ever seen here. Spencer, who stands on chair, table, and barrel, holding the tambourine to be kicked, kept the audience in an uproar by his comical antics.

Miss Della Myers again demonstrated her ability as a graceful and beautiful dancer, as she went through the intricate figures of the serpentine dance, which was enhanced by the colored rays of the calcium light.

The dance, which has won so much admiration in the east, was given last night for the first time in this city, executed by Miss Myers in the costume of the serpentine dancer, and as she gracefully waved the folds of her beautiful costume, the rays of a strong red light under the platform, made her body appear to be enveloped in flames of fire. The pretty dance won hearty applause for this act.

Mrs. Williams on the Spanish rings, and Mrs. Williams, in sailor costume, on the flying perch, executed some very pretty and daring feats.

The Chinese dragon dance, modeled upon the same performance given in A. A. Park, was rendered in a beautiful and gorgeous manner by twelve young ladies, under the supervision of Mrs. W. Y. Walton. The dragon, with a monstrous head, glaring eyes, tongue of flame shooting out of its mouth, proceeded across the stage, when suddenly amid a flood of light, the twelve beautiful young ladies emerged from the folds of the serpent and danced in the graceful steps of a special dance which was beautified by the rays of the calcium light. Those who took part were Misses Jeanette Walton, Laura Armijo, Marie Armijo, Grace Brooks, Edith Dalton, Emma Tischer, Anita Armijo, Nora Werner, Freda Barth, Laura Krawinkel, Isabel Spencer and Mildred Fox. The head of the dragon took fire as it was taken across the platform, but no one was injured by the accident.

The production of human statuary, which was given by members of Mr. Litt's company, was highly interesting and entertaining.

The fireworks, which concluded the evening's program, were very brilliant and beautiful, consisting of many magnificent and appropriate set pieces. This part of the program was under the direction of W. H. Wilson of the Los Angeles Fireworks company.

Splendid Game Yesterday Between Silver City and El Paso.

The Silver City Reds redeemed themselves for Tuesday's defeat by doing up the El Paso Colts in the second game of the tournament yesterday afternoon. They gained a lead of five runs in the fourth which the El Paso boys were unable to overcome.

Voices were in the box for the Reds, and while he allowed his opponents seven hits, succeeded in striking out fourteen men. In the fifth he retired the side in one, two, three order, Young Jacoby and McHugh fanning the air.

The Colts tried hard to win the game in their half of the ninth, with seven to four against them. Young led off with a two-bagger, Jacoby sacrificed to right, advancing Young to third; McHugh, a former Albuquerque player, was next to the bat and was due for a hit, having struck

PRESS BANQUET.

Mr. Bryan made a short, but interesting speech, which was mainly composed of the fact that he knew very little about a newspaper, and didn't care to learn. So far as his experience went, he was entirely satisfied and his knowledge of journalism was, that it made a point to roast his profession on every possible occasion.

Major Ernest Myers handled the toast "Early Acquaintance with the Newspaper of Albuquerque," in an extremely witty manner. J. M. Griffin, of the Afro-American, spoke to the toast, "The Afro-American in Journalism," and waxed eloquent in explaining the appreciation of the recognition given his race by the fraternity.

Those Hughes gave some interesting reminiscences of the newspaper work in Albuquerque twenty years ago and since. Mariano Otero y Armijo read an interesting paper, giving a historical sketch of the history of the papers that had been published in Old Town from 1860 to the present time.

Antonio Apache, New York, special correspondent, was very interesting in explaining some experiences of his in the metropolis of the country. B. Ruppe talked well, and for him, briefly, but interestingly, just the same, and handled his subject, "The Duties of the Press," as only Ruppe can.

Frank Kirster claimed that he sent his best cigars on the condition that he would not be called upon to speak; he gained his point.

A. E. D. Caracallen was at his best in giving quotations, and he certainly gave his hearers a treat in the recitations which were very timely and exceedingly enjoyed.

Mr. Berger told a good story, and then all was over. It was unanimously agreed that the banquet was a grand success.
