other side of an appreciation of this situation.

"They have not been very definite about it; they have not told us exactly what they stand for. If they do not stand for a tariff for revenue only, they do not stand for anything at all, so far as I know in connection with the tariff. If they are not for that principle, so far as the tariff is concerned, they are without principle, because they certainly have not declared their faith in any other principle."

Wants Stewardship Always.
"They have, however, told us that they will give us a tariff commission. I sincerely believe that we should have every possible aid to an understanding of the facts affecting these serious problems. I do not believe in going blind. I have not come to this place of candor, leaving the career of which I spoke, for the purpose of parading out special privileges at the expense of the public welfare to any class or to any group."

"I want to see this difficult and important matter attended to with the utmost care and fairness. It can be done if we get the facts that apply to each situation; and I believe in a tariff commission; but it is perfectly idle for anybody to talk to the American public as if a tariff commission were a solution of the tariff difficulties. Tariff commissions don't legislate."

KANSAS MAN HEADS CHURCHES OF CHRIST

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 14.—By unanimous vote Kansas City today was chosen as the meeting place of the 1917 national convention of the Churches of Christ. The date for the meeting will be decided later.

Judge J. N. Mayhew, of Wichita, Kan., was elected president of the general convention, the ruling church body.

The committee on resolutions recommended increased activity on the part of the church to prevent labor troubles, pledged the church to do all in its power to bring about closer relations between employers and employees, and the ultimate consumer. It also called attention to the "settlement of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company strike by personal investigation of John D. Rockefeller, Jr."

HIGH FINANCIER STRONGLY URGES WILSON'S CAUSE

William L. Saunders Writes Letter to George W. Perkins Telling Him What Administration Has Done.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL).
New York, Oct. 14.—William Lawrence Saunders, chairman of the board of directors of the Ingersoll-Rand company, director of the International Harvester company, with which Mr. Perkins has long been associated, and the fifty million dollar American International Corporation organized by the National City bank to capture world trade for the United States, has written a fourth open letter to George W. Perkins as follows:

"In your letter to Mr. Tammity you accuse President Wilson of telling us that 'all is well in the business world.' This you deny and tell us that 'Wilson's words have never been translated into deeds.'"

Business Is Protected.
The business world is happily now in a position to say that all is well in place of the indiscriminate attacks made upon the business corporations under republican administrations. Instead of the uncertainty that existed as to what the department of justice is going to do, we now know that from the president down the government of the United States recognizes the rule of reason in the interpretation of the anti-trust acts; that these acts are enforced only against unfair practices that do harm to the public interest; that co-operation among competitors is encouraged and aided by the federal trade commission, which serves as a shock-absorber between the department of justice and business."

Safe Banking Law Provided.
You are a banker and know the value of banking. It is the foundation stone of all business—domestic and foreign. I need not remind you of the fact that the federal reserve act is a Wilson achievement. No matter who thought about it first, or who said it ought to be done, or who set up the framework, the fact remains that the republican party has had control of this government since Cleveland's time and did not provide a safe banking law. You know that the republican party and the bankers have favored a central banking system and that the keystone of the federal reserve act is not a central but a regional system."

DIVORCEES MAY HAVE MARRIAGE CEREMONIES BY CLERGY, IS RULE

House of Deputies of General Convention of Episcopal Church Rejects Proposal to Impose Further Restriction.

RECOMMENDATION IS MADE BY COMMITTEE

Earnest Discussion Takes Place in Which Strong Views Are Expressed in Opposition to Measure.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
St. Louis, Oct. 14.—The house of deputies of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church here today rejected the proposal to embody in its canon a provision forbidding its clergymen to solemnize marriages for a person divorced from living spouse.

The six hours debate which preceded the action indicated wide differences of opinion among members of the church. The recommendation was contained in the report of a joint committee composed of five bishops, five clergymen, and five laymen, appointed three years ago to study matters relating to matrimony. By its action today the lower house of the convention placed in abeyance for at least three years further consideration of any such amendment. The present canon provides that a clergyman of the church may marry the "innocent party" to a divorce granted on statutory grounds.

The proposal, however, pending in the house of bishops, the upper house, and will be brought to vote next Tuesday. Such action will be merely for the purpose of indicating the attitude of the bishops for no change in the canon can be made without concurrence of both houses.

Balancing on the amendment was by divorcees and the line between the clerical and lay delegates was clear cut, the clergy voting to adopt the proposal and the lay delegates rejecting it.

While the fight for the floor for the proposed innovation was led by Rev. Leighton Parks of New York, and the opposition headed by the Rev. Dr. E. H. McKim of Washington, perhaps the most spirited objections were voiced by the Rev. John Melish of Brooklyn.

"If you pass this law there are men in the church who will defy it and take the consequences," he said. "I should favor this resolution if it were merely a question of legislating for the rich."

Mr. Melish said there are many instances of women with children abandoned by their husbands, who would be driven to extremities for a livelihood unless they could re-marry. "It would be well for us to draw our robes about us," he added, "and we are going to hold a standard and shift the responsibility, but such action would conflict with the fundamental tenets of Christianity."

Dr. Parks urged that the passage of the resolution was necessary to protect the children.

"In the corrupt and adulterous generation let us go on record as setting the standards of our church in accord with the ideals of Jesus Christ," he said.

Strong Views Expressed.
Richard H. Dana, of Cambridge, Mass., opposed the proposal on ritualistic grounds, quoting from the Episcopal marriage service, "I forsook all others and keep unto thee, my dear, as thou art holy, in the sight of God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, and in the presence of this church."

The Rev. William M. Grossman, of New York, said: "We must cling to our ideals." He said, "The whole situation of the whole divorce problem is getting so serious that it is impossible for Christian people to stand it much longer. Today we've reached the point where the church standing before the great American public has got to stop quibbling and get down to business and adopt this resolution."

Application of business efficiency methods in handling church and parochial affairs was urged in the report of the commission on church business, presented by Robert C. Pray, of Albany, N. Y.

Tonight the clerical delegation at the convention attended a series of alumni dinners of the various theological institutions from which they were graduated. Tomorrow the delegates will occupy the Episcopal pulpits of St. Louis.

WILSON GAINS HEAVILY IN CITY OF BUFFALO

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL).
Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 14.—The court's pre-election poll of Buffalo has now covered fourteen precincts of the voting population. The figures published tomorrow show the result to date.

Wilson, 4,264; Hughes, 4,678. Wilson is gaining heavily among the workmen who voted the progressive ticket four years ago.

PERSHING EXTENDS LINE TO NAMIQUIPA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
El Paso, Tex., Oct. 14.—A report reached here tonight by way of Mexico that General Pershing had extended his line as far south as Namiquipa, where the Fifth United States cavalry went into the camp that it abandoned when the punitive expedition was drawn northward because of the rainy season.

Allan Liner Reported Sunk.
Montreal, Oct. 14.—Rumors were current here today that the Allan liner, eastward bound from Montreal, has been sunk. Allan line officials said they believed the rumors unfounded, adding that the ship had been by this time in mid-Atlantic.

REBELS MENACE CANALES; RIOS' BAND INCREASING

Carranza Garrisons on Border So Weak That No Resistance Is Expected in Case of Attack by Bandits.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 14.—Several Americans living in Cananea have sent their families to Arizona, because of the growing unrest there and the rapid gain in strength of Margarito Rios, recently elected presidente municipal of Cananea, whose election was set aside by an official proclamation of Adolfo de la Huerta, governor of Sonora. De la Huerta announced this step was taken because Rios and the city councilmen elected with him had been Villa supporters and were known to be inimical to Cananea.

Has Strong Force.
Rios escaped from Cananea at the head of 125 armed sympathizers, going to the Ajo mountains, twenty-five miles east. Since that time he is reported to have been reinforced by numerous deserters from the Carranza army in Sonora, as well as armed civilians who are dissatisfied with the monetary situation. His army is reported to number several hundred men.

Rios is in position to raid the border, being less than thirty miles south of the Ajo mountains, which is the point on the northwest of Agua Prieta, on the northeast. Much uneasiness is felt in Agua Prieta over his nearness.

Will Ask American Aid.
A number of Agua Prieta citizens are reported to have met secretly and agreed that if the town was attacked they would call on the United States soldiers stationed at Douglas, just across the international boundary, to come to their aid.

WHOLE DIVISIONS ANNIHILATED IN SOMME BATTLE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
Berlin, Oct. 14 (via wireless to Sayville).—British and French divisions with a total of more than one million men have been virtually annihilated in the Somme battle, says the military critic of the Overseas News agency. According to figures from Swiss sources, as given by the news agency, the Russian losses from June 1 to October 2 were about one million men. Turning to the eastern front the critic writes:

"The Fourth Siberian corps from August 13 to September 3 lost before Dubno 13,000 and 14,000 men before Dubno. The Tenth Siberian rifle division, which was attached to the Fourth corps, lost between 5,000 and 6,000 men near Selyet, and the Second rifle division in three days lost at the same place between 4,000 and 5,000 men."

From the beginning of the offensive divisions, strictly new and partly brought up to strength recently, were launched against the German positions on the Somme," the critic continues.

Referring to the total losses of the Russian army, the critic writes: "A Russian official at Kiev, according to a Swiss paper, numbers the Russian casualties from June 1 to October 2 at 76,000 officers and 922,500 other ranks, or 1,000,000 in round figures. The Russian figure is incomprehensible only if the great Russian losses before separate sectors on our front are considered. Thus the army group of General von Linsegen, which holds one-sixth of the eastern front, has lost 200,000 men since September 1 on the Russians which are calculated by a responsible authority at 62,000 to 68,000. These figures are probably below the actual losses. Corresponding reports are given from the army sector of General von Boehm-Ermolov by a war correspondent. There it was ascertained the Siberian corps, which are the best in the Russian army, were simply annihilated among the prisoners from one corps called Siberian, 75 per cent were southern Russians and 25 per cent Tartars, Jews or others. Some non-commissioned officers declared that nearly all the Siberian regiments had lost nearly their active strength in their career."

DANISH STEAMER IS CHASED BY SUBMARINE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
New York, Oct. 14.—When the White Star freighter Bovic sighted an eastward bound submarine in the Atlantic yesterday morning she was apparently in pursuit of a Danish passenger ship, the Hellekoy, according to observers on the deck of the Bovic, which arrived here today.

The nationality of the submarine was not identified. The Bovic, in fear of attack, put on full speed and headed directly west. As she passed out of sight of the other two vessels the Danish boat still seemed to be endeavoring to escape the submarine. The weather was clear and the Hellekoy was between two and three miles distant when she was observed, by the submarine about one mile to the Danes' stern. The Bovic was about 3.20 a. m. when the Bovic was approximately 200 miles east of New York.

The Hellekoy left here Thursday for Copenhagen and other Scandinavian ports, carrying thirty-six passengers in the first cabin, thirty-seven in the second cabin and stowage passengers. Many of those in the cabins are American.

When sighted by the Bovic the Dane was flying no flag, her identity being distinguished by her name and the Danish flag painted on her side.

A wireless message received here this afternoon from Captain Hellekoy today, made no mention of sighting or of being followed by a submarine.

Signal Corps Reaches El Paso.

ELEPHANT BUTTE DEDICATION TO BE HELD TODAY

Great Dam's Opening Will Be Signal for the Beginning of Ten Days of International Importance in El Paso.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
El Paso, Tex., Oct. 14.—The opening here tomorrow of the international irrigation congress marks the beginning of ten days of international events considered to be of much importance to agriculture in this and other countries. The irrigation congress will be followed by the international products exposition, which begins October 19, and the international soil products exposition, which begins on October 17 and lasts to October 24.

This will be the twenty-third annual meeting of the irrigation congress, and it is the second time that the sessions have been held in El Paso, owing to the international way it is not believed many delegates will attend from the belligerent countries, but it is said that already many delegates have arrived from nearly all of the republics of Central and South America and from countries that are not at war.

Many Leading Men Present.
Delegates from all parts of the United States are already here in anticipation of the various agricultural meetings and the international soil products exposition, which is to open its doors on next Tuesday morning. Many leading men are to take part in the meetings. They are here from Mexico and Canada, on either border of the United States, and from the Central American republics. Sunday will witness no sessions of the congress as special services have been arranged at all the churches of the city.

The real business of the congress begins tomorrow morning with the opening of the international soil products exposition, which is to open its doors on next Tuesday morning. Several governors of nearby states will be here during the sessions and to see the expositions. At least two are on the program for important addresses.

Turn Congress Begins Oct. 19.
The international farm congress will begin its sessions on October 19 and will close them on October 21. Its business is in a measure interwoven with that of the irrigation congress in spite of the fact that it deals altogether with dry farming methods. This will be the eleventh annual congress and has been a precedent meeting in El Paso. Its sessions will concern themselves entirely with educational matters. Its officers declare that already much has been accomplished in every sector of the west in this important work.

Several large buildings have been constructed to house the exhibits at the international soil products exposition, all of which are crowded with displays of farming machinery and other manufactured products. Among the exhibits are the United States government department of agriculture, the Canadian government, the Mexican government, several Central and South American republics, several Canadian provinces, twenty states of the United States, hundreds of individual farmers, and 300 manufacturers and commercial institutions.

How to Save the Valuable Gas Half of Your Fuel and Turn It Into Heat

Gas is the most valuable half of soft coal. And how to save this valuable gas and turn it into heat is of interest to everyone—because it means a greater saving of fuel. By using this you get absolutely the utmost heat from every shovelful of fuel.

BRYAN URGES WOMEN TO VOTE FOR WILSON

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE).
Denver, Oct. 14.—Appealing to the women of Denver to vote for Wilson because he always had supported suffrage, while Charles E. Hughes, he said, never had taken the trouble to vote for it when he could, William Jennings Bryan spoke at a luncheon here today. Most of those attending were women.

Mr. Bryan said that women, particularly mothers, should have the right to say whether the nation should have prohibition or war, and therefore should have the franchise.

GERARD'S PEACE EFFORT SCORED BY THE KAISER; BREAK FEARED

Ambassador Home to Warn President That Submarine War Is Likely to Be Resumed Before Summer.

VON TIRPITZ PARTY IS GAINING ASCENDANCY

Emperor William Declines to Discuss Plan for Ending War With Representative of United States Government.

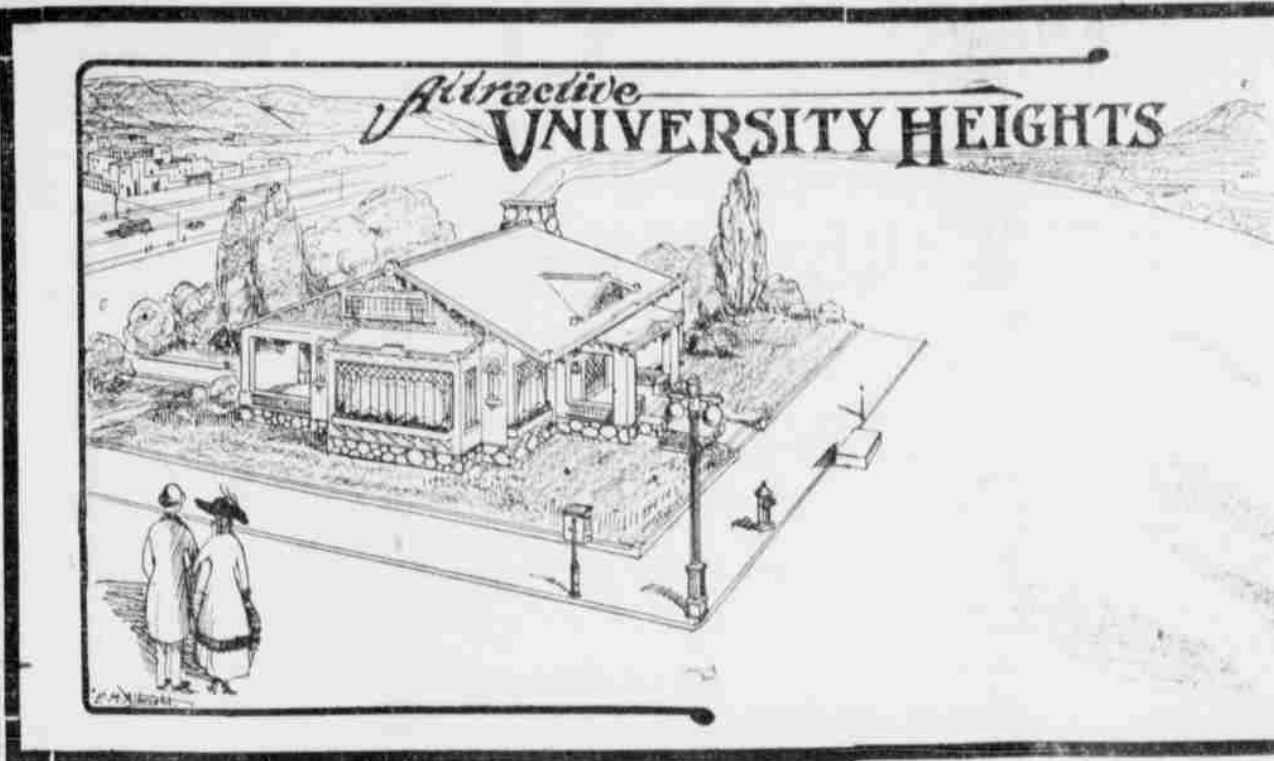

The following illuminating article is from the pen of William C. Bullitt, who has been for many months the correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, and who is regarded as one of the ablest and most reliable journalists in the United States.

New York.—As I witnessed you on Friday from the Frederick VIII, Ambassador Gerard positively brings no peace proposals from the Kaiser to the United States to discuss with the president the steps, diplomatic and military, which should be taken by the United States to prevent Germany from beginning again to sink many merchant ships without warning. I made this statement not as a quotation from the ambassador, but as a result of my own observations in Berlin during the last few months.

I have visited the American embassy almost daily during this period and have had the pleasure of traveling from Copenhagen to the United States in company with the ambassador. Moreover, when in Berlin my sources of information included nearly all the prominent German officials with whom Ambassador Gerard comes into contact, among them, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs von Jagow, his assistant, Excellency Zimmermann, President von Cuno, of the Deutsche Bank, President Haysen, of the Reichsbank, Secretary of State for the Interior Helfferich, Secretary of State for the Colonies Solf, Dr. Walther Rathenau, president of Germany's greatest electrical company and organizer of Germany's war industries, the leaders of the parties in the Reichstag, many generals and lesser officers.

I am able to say with absolute certainty that the ambassador brings no statement of definite peace terms from the Kaiser or from the German government. Ambassador Gerard has not seen the Kaiser since his visit to the great headquarters last April. Germany's Real Rulers Oppose U. S. Mediation.

Moreover, I am able to state from German sources that four weeks ago the Kaiser refused to grant to Ambassador Gerard another conference with the council at headquarters for the purpose of discussing Germany's peace terms. That council rules Germany. The Kaiser presides, and at the table sit Generals von Hindenburg and Ludendorff, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, Admiral von Holtzendorff, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs von Jagow, Secretary of State for the Interior Helfferich and several other officials. When Germany's peace terms are formulated they will be formulated by that council, and the fact that the Santa Fe, Oct. 14.—The Parsons exhibit of the Grand Canyon pictures will be taken to Chicago as a unit by W. H. Simpson of the Santa Fe system. One of the pictures has been purchased by Dr. H. T. Joy of New York City.

Miss M. E. Wood of New York City well known among connoisseurs of book binding as one of the leading craftsmen in that art and who spent the past two summers at the school of American Archaeology, received a medal at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco for her exhibit of artistic bookbinding. The exhibit is to be brought to the museum during the winter for a week or two.

FANCY BIRDS WILL BE GIVEN AS FAIR PRIZES

Dr. Hector Allot, curator of the southwest museum, whose lectures on art to the summer school are pleasantly remembered here, this week lectured on "The Museum of Tomorrow" before the Proximo club of Los Angeles.

Among the fossils recently discovered by the United States geological survey in the states bordering on the Gulf of Mexico are remarkably well preserved impressions of casts of leaves of several extinct varieties of ash, oak, beech and hickory, which were found along with three present day species. Although the leaves themselves had rotted and gone, here and there some were found in soft clay by sediment in such a way as to leave perfectly preserved impressions. The nuts, on the other hand, neither decayed nor petrified, but fell into pools of stagnant water, which is one of the best preservatives in nature, and there some were found also buried under silt and clay. Owing to their hard coats those which fell into places favorable to their preservation are today an excellent specimen, though slightly flattened by the long soaking and the gentle pressure of the clay. The deposit in which the leaves and nuts are found is not less than a million years old, or at least a hundred times as old as the pyramids of Egypt.

DROP KICK BY A SUBSTITUTE WINS FOR PRINCETON

Changes Seemingly Scoreless Game Into 3-to-0 Victory Over Tufts in Last Few Minutes.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 14.—Standing on the 45-yard line in the last few minutes of playing time Dave Tibbitts, a substitute Princeton back, sent a drop kick soaring between the uprights and changed what was a seemingly scoreless game into a 3-to-0 victory for Princeton over Tufts. Tibbitts has been out of the game all season from injuries and would not have been called into the fray this afternoon had not several of the Princeton back fieldmen been injured.

Princeton threatened to score on several occasions but in each instance were held for down or fumbles. Princeton carried the ball down the field on straight football for thirty yards to Tufts' eight yard line in the first few minutes of play, only to have Brown, a half back, fumble it. Jack Eddy, the Princeton quarterback, was the individual star.

LEHIGH DOWNED BY YALE IN A DESPERATE BATTLE

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 14.—Yale downed Lehigh today 12 to 0 in a desperate fought game. The feature was a sensational 65-yard end run through a broken field for a touchdown by Lehigh. Half a dozen Lehigh players tackled him but he shook them off. Kinsman made Yale's other touchdown on a fifteen yard plunge through tackle. Neither goal was kicked.

Lehigh could not pierce Yale's line for any appreciable gains.

CHICAGO BEATS INDIANA IN BIG NINE CONFERENCE GAME

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The University of Chicago football eleven triumphed over Indiana in the first game of the big nine season here today, winning by a score of 22 to 0. The defeat practically eliminates Indiana from the championship race.

Chicago tore razed holes in Indiana's line for steady gains. Erhart, one of Indiana's stars, was so severely injured near the end of the fourth period that he had to be carried off the field. The Indiana team was accompanied by more than 400 rooters, who made the trip by a special train.

WITH SIX RESERVES IN LINE HARVARD TRIUMPHS

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 14.—A football eleven from the University of North Carolina, coached by a Harvard graduate and equipped with Harvard players, was no match for the Crimson team today and they lost, 21 to 0. It was an exhibition of Harvard's secondary strength, as six reserves were called upon to fill the places of regulars injured in the game that Harvard lost to Tufts last week.

CORNHUSKERS WIN OVER KANSAS AGGIE ELEVEN

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 14.—The University of Nebraska defeated Kansas Aggie in a hard-fought game today, 14 to 0. The Aggie proved to have a strong defensive when it came to a critical point. Twice the heavy Cornhusker team carried the ball to within the shadow of the Aggie's goal only to lose the ball on downs. Nebraska made a poor showing with the forward pass. Nebraska made one touchdown in the first quarter and one in the second quarter.

DENVER VICTORY COMES AFTER APPARENT DEFEAT

Laramie, Wyo., Oct. 14.—Denver University defeated the University of Wyoming football eleven here today, 19 to 10, after the Wyoming "cowboys" seemed to have won the contest. Denver pulled up in the last period with two touchdowns and one goal.

Both teams used the forward pass for successful field gains. Denver's back field used the line plunge repeatedly for numerous downs. Crain's kicking and line bucking and Buchanan's defensive were features for Wyoming.

UTAH AGGIES BEATEN BY ROCKY MOUNTAIN CHAMPS

Logan, Utah, Oct. 14.—The Rocky Mountain conference champions, the Utah Aggie, off their feet in the opening game of the conference season on home grounds by a score of 63 to 0.

ILLINI LOSE THEIR FIRST GAME SINCE 1913 SEASON

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 14.—The University of Illinois lost its first football game since 1913 today, the superior Colgate eleven winning, 15 to 3.

RESTA IS WINNER OF 250-MILE AUTO RACE

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.
Chicago, Oct. 14.—Dario Resta captured the winner's share of the $15,000 Grand American prize today and went into the lead in the season competition for the $14,000 American championship purse of $14,000 by winning the 250-mile automobile race here today. He failed by a small fraction to equal the new world's record of 184 miles an hour, established at the Astor cup race in New York. Resta's time for the 250 miles was 2 hours 24 minutes, 16.65 seconds, a rate of 122.5 miles an hour. Johnny Aitken finished second, half a lap behind.

Ralph Hedlich, mechanic for Willard D'Alene, was badly burned when gasoline, being poured into D'Alene's car at the pits, flashed up as it spilled on the hot exhaust pipes. Billy Chandler also was burned in extinguishing the flames. D'Alene recovered the race but quit before the 25th mile. Hedlich appeared to have won third place when an accident put him out at the 24th mile. Hickenbacker finishing third, Galvin, Leads and Henderson finishing next in order, while the other eight cars which crossed the finish line were several laps behind the three leaders.

MINERS UNABLE TO REACH SCORE MADE BY TIGERS

Lighter New Mexico Team Holds Visitors From Golden, Colo., to 23-to-0 on University Field.

The Colorado Miners annexed the large 23 to 0 football score at the University field yesterday afternoon. There being nothing else, the Miners eleven had to content itself with the come egg.

At the outset the home boys knew the odds were against them; knew they were outwitted; knew, therefore, that the heavy field favored the visitors, and knew also the reputation the Colorado boys bore for playing fighting football. And knowing all these things, they of the gray jerseys went out upon the field and fought a fight that, for sheer, indomitable pluck, would be hard to equal.

Certainly, as far as score is concerned, the New Mexico university was beaten, and rather badly at that. But to the disinterested spectator looking back upon the game, it is not the thought of those three Colorado touchdowns by Van Brugh, nor of that spectacular goal of Stringham, that impresses, but the picture of a little gray team in the last quarter of a hopelessly lost game that they would not believe lost, bloodily-faced, anointed with mud, but game to the core to the very last.

"Fight! fight! fight!" shrieked the grandstand, and its idols in the field fought and fought and fought every inch of the Miners from the north gained.

A brief summary follows:
First quarter—Colorado kicked off and New Mexico lost the ball. Peterson, right half for the Miners, injured his knee and was replaced in the lineup by C. Schell. Lee, full back, ran the ball down the field and Van Brugh made a touchdown. Heitzman kicked goal. Score, Colorado, 7; New Mexico, 0.

Second quarter—Stringham attempted a goal from the field and failed. Roll attack for holding and was taken out. Robertson went in, New Mexico was penalized 20 scores.

Third quarter—New Mexico kicked off. Van Brugh made a touchdown. Heitzman kicked goal. Score, Colorado, 14; New Mexico, 0.

Fourth quarter—Stringham kicked goal from the field. New Mexico lost the ball in an attempted forward pass. Van Brugh made a touchdown and Heitzman failed to kick goal. Score, Colorado, 21; New Mexico, 0.

Though mostly on the defensive, there came at times opportunities for the New Mexico forward pass, and it showed up well. Three long passes were made for good gains—one from Adolphe to Shields, and one from Adolphe to Gidanel. The visitors' favorite method of attack seemed to be a shift, followed by an end run.

As in the Colorado Springs game, the evidences of Coach Hutchinson's training came to light in the skillful handling of forward passes as well as in the physical condition of the team. And no team, unless in perfect condition, could go through such a grueling contest as yesterday's without showing signs of weakening toward the lineups.

GERMAN VOTERS TO HEAR BUFFALO EDITOR SPEAK FOR WILSON

Joseph F. Ellges, of Buffalo, editor of the Volksfreund, a newspaper published in German in that city, will make an address this afternoon at 5 o'clock in the English and German quarters, 311 West Central avenue, in advocacy of the re-election of President Wilson. The speech will be in German, and all German-speaking citizens of Albuquerque, regardless of political affiliation, are invited to be present and hear Mr. Ellges.

The speech of Mr. Ellges is wholly without any previous preparation and was planned only a day or two ago when it was learned that the editor, who is spending a few days in Albuquerque, was advocating the election of President Wilson and would consent to make a talk to the German-speaking citizens, giving his reasons for the position that he has taken.

There are many citizens of German birth or parentage in Albuquerque, and it is believed that the hall will be well filled this afternoon when Mr. Ellges speaks.

INJUNCTION AGAINST GILLENWATER FORCES IS SIGNED BY COURT

Elfrico Bana, leader of the anti-Gillgewater forces of the republican party, yesterday took legal steps to prevent County Clerk A. E. Walker from filing the nominations of the Gillgewater wing.

Mr. Bana followed the same course that Capt. W. H. Gillgewater did last week in stopping officers of the Bana convention from filing its nominations, asking the district court for an injunction Judge Reynolds upon Mr. Bana's complaint, signed an order restraining County Clerk Walker from receiving for filing any certificate, list of nominations or party emblem adopted by a convention to be held by or on behalf of the republican party at any date subsequent to October 9.

The order runs until the termination of the Gillgewater injunction cases. The court appointed Claude Hutto as referee to take evidence in the Gillgewater cases, as told in the Journal yesterday.

GOVERNMENT NOT CONCERNED OVER AMERICAN LINE

Japanese and Russian Protests Over Railway Enterprise in China Not Apt to Be Diplomatic Subject.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.

Washington, Oct. 14.—Japanese and Russian protests against the proposed American railway enterprise in China may become a diplomatic subject eventually but there is no immediate prospect of the government becoming concerned unless the American line is being affected.

Dispatches from Peking today indicated that protests were being made against the location of the proposed American-built line through territory in which Russia and Japan claim special interests by prior concession.

As much as the location of the American line has not been chosen and the contract makes provision for re-location in case such a protest should be encountered, there is a possibility that a solution may be found between the parties themselves without the intervention of the state department which, up to the present, has not been identified in any way with the project.

Not Government Problem

The government does not feel called upon to step in at this stage, because the American International Corporation secured its concession from China entirely upon its own negotiations and let the contract for the railroad building to the Sinc-Cary company of St. Paul, Minn.

There were no guarantees for the loan from the Chinese government and it is considered purely a private enterprise. State department officials were looking for American Minister Reisch at Peking for forward and report.

In 1909, the American banking group, through Willard D. Straight, now vice president of the American International Corporation, secured a concession from China for the financing of a railroad through Manchuria, to be built by British interests.

This followed an attempt initiated by China after the Russo-Japanese war to drive a wedge between the two contenders and thus strengthen her threatened authority.

Secretary Knox took the concession to American interests as the basis for his proposal to "powers friendly to the complete commercial neutralization of Manchuria," for the elimination of causes of international friction.

China, however, refused to accept it in January, 1910, he was compelled to stand aside. It was the first time England had admitted Japan and Russia's special interests in Manchuria.

China Have Japanese Consent?

Japan and Russia, having thwarted the neutralization plan, then turned their attention, with the active support of France and England, to the original Chinese-American plan itself.

The Japanese minister at Peking informed "China that 'the consent of my government must first be obtained before any railroad extension' is made and called attention to 'the seriousness of the trouble' which might ensue. Russia followed with a similar note and later formally protested against the road on the ground that 'it would reach the actual territory of Russia' and 'affect her military and political arrangements.' Russia agreed, however, to 'issue a definite commitment later as to the conditions under which this railway may be built.'

Japan finally expressed her opposition, insisted on participation if the road were built and laid down what were considered impossible terms. Russia, according to France, later proposed that the road be transferred to a line from Kalgan to Tz'u, but by then the American interests had withdrawn and American railroad financing left China for some time.

During the negotiations the Russian minister in a note to the Chinese foreign office, March 4, 1910, said: "In the twenty-fifth year of Kuang Hsu (1899) the Chinese government declared that in constructing all railroads north from Peking, capital would be borrowed from no other country than Russia. China denied that this agreement had been made binding but it is assumed here to be that under which Russia has based her opposition to the American concession."

The body of Sanchez was taken to Fred Crollot's undertaking rooms.

JAIL PRISONER ROBBED A MAIL CAR, IS CHARGE

Meredith Howe, Who Attempted to Saw Way Out of County Prison, Named in Inspector's Complaint.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.

Meredith Howe, who attempted to saw his way out of the Bernalillo county jail yesterday was formally charged with breaking into a railway postoffice car on Santa Fe train No. 7 and robbing it. The charge was made before United States Commissioner George R. Craig by a postoffice inspector.

Howe will be taken to Kansas as the robbery with which he is charged took place between Syracuse and Dodge City, Kas. He will not fight against his removal to the Kansas district, it was understood. Rowe, say federal officers, was not alone in committing the robbery. A negro, named Savage, who is under arrest in Denver, and a white man, who is at large, were with Rowe, they believe.

Howe was arrested at Delta by a special officer of the Santa Fe railway and sent to the Old Town jail as a vagrant. Suspicion was aroused by his possession of a silver-plated mantle set in a leather case, white stockings, purse, pocketbook and child's silver bracelet.

Says He Started to Draw

The Santa Fe officer, V. L. Snyder, saw Rowe on top of a car of No. 7 and told him to get off. Rowe climbed down the opposite side of the car. The officer went under and faced Rowe when his feet touched the ground. Snyder said Rowe reached toward his right hip pocket and that he then drew his revolver and ordered Rowe to raise his hands. He found a loaded revolver in Rowe's pocket.

Rowe's attempt to get out of jail got little further than a beginning. He had made a saw by nicking teeth in a strip of steel taken from the sole of his shoe. He had only partly cut through one bar when his attempt was discovered.

LONDON WAITS FOR ZEPPELINS IN DARKNESS

In Lieu of Lights, the Authorities Have Adopted the Policy of Painting Street Obstructions White.

(Associated Press Correspondence.) London, Sept. 30.—Recent success against Zeppelin raiders have by no means convinced the authorities that Germany will abandon them in the near future. On the contrary, London is still preparing for the dark night when the Zeppelins will come. In the meantime, the city is being prepared for the possibility of a Zeppelin raid. The authorities have adopted the policy of painting street obstructions white. This is to make them more visible in the dark. The city is also being prepared for the possibility of a Zeppelin raid. The authorities have adopted the policy of painting street obstructions white. This is to make them more visible in the dark. The city is also being prepared for the possibility of a Zeppelin raid.

Tonies Don't Mind It. When the lighting restrictions first went into effect there were hundreds of street accidents, but these have gradually decreased until the number is no longer alarming. Streets of the West End—Piccadilly, the Strand, Trafalgar square—all are crowded nightly with promenaders and theatergoers. People stroll along the dark sidewalks in the best of good humor. There is seldom any disorder and the petty criminals of the past either have been transformed into first-class fighting men or effectively "put away." Of course, a Tommy will sometimes take advantage of the dark to kiss his sweetheart, and generally all the soldiers have their arms securely about their best girl's waist as they stroll along the footways. The bishop of London has denounced this practice as "loose and indecent," but the Tommies don't appear to have heard the bishop's sermon and no one else has the heart to stop them.

In that section of London known as the city—the home of finance and wholesale trade—the nights are particularly dark and misty. Along the main thoroughfares, the only moving object visible is a policeman. In their night-blue uniforms and black helmets, the bobbies appear most sepulchral. The Turk in dark clothes, a rule and the policeman is often startled to find himself face to face with a silent guardian of the law whose presence was not the least suspected.

Nor Do the Poles Play. The further dimming of the city lights since autumn began has undoubtedly helped the Zeppelins. On the raid of September 23, they were successful, however, in following certain thoroughfares in the outlying districts upon which trolley cars were running. These cars were checked, of course, but the suggestion has been made that the trolley flashes possibly served as a guide.

Zeppelins Chased a Bike. The story is recalled of one of the earlier raids when a little messenger boy on a bicycle was peddling along toward the cable office when he looked around and saw a big Zeppelin apparently right behind him. The plucky little fellow put on more speed, but when he looked around a second time the Zepp was still there and if anything was gaining on him. He hurried forward then with all the might in his little legs, but the motor of the airship's motors grew louder and louder in his ears.

A great thought struck the boy. He hopped off his wheel, blew out the light, and at the very first turning darted down a darkened side street. To his great relief the Zepp saved up his terrifying personal pursuit and kept straight to its course over the main highway. Triumphant, the messenger delivered his dispatches and his hair-raising story of escape at the cable station.

Raid Different from Last Year. The raids this autumn are wholly different from those of a year and more ago. Then the defenses of London and other cities were scarcely developed at all and the monster airships could loiter over their victims for hours with little or no regard for their own safety. Now they get a very hot reception soon after they cross the coastline and every foot of their aerial progress is challenged with bursting shrapnel and blazing incendiary shells. As to the effectiveness of the defense in the vicinity of London, it is known that of the five or six Zeppelins which reached this district in the raids of September 2 and 23, three were brought down a mass of wreckage from the skies.

Press comment upon the latter raid is generally in agreement that the defenses must be so strengthened that every enemy airship which crosses from Germany must be destroyed. The Daily Mail says the raids will be abandoned only when they are made too risky for the Zeppelins and when the enemy airships are attacked not only after reaching the British coast but when crossing the sea.

As to terrifying Londoners, it can truthfully be said that the most common comment heard upon the streets the day after the last raid was this: "Yes, I heard the guns, but I didn't get up."

The democratic ticket nominated the following: State senator, G. C. Smith; representatives, C. W. B. Bryan and Pat Romero; county clerk, Jim Duran; sheriff, J. E. Shelton; treasurer, C. M. Sanchez; assessor, M. Alexander; superintendent of schools, J. W. Thompson; county commissioner, Thomas Edmonson.

PARKER URGES PROGRESSIVES TO SUPPORT WILSON. (By Morning Journal Special Correspondent.) New York, Oct. 14.—With a plea for the re-election of President Wilson, John M. Parker, progressive candidate for vice president, delivered an address here today in a reception given him by members of the national progressive party, in which he dwelt at some length on the part taken by Theodore Roosevelt and George W. Perkins in the efforts to get the progressive and republican candidates in Chicago last June to unite on a presidential candidate.

Mr. Parker quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying in 1912 that "I am for this cause to fight to the end," while he last, and that "I will never abandon the principle to which we progressives have pledged ourselves and I will never abandon the men and women who drew around me to battle for these principles."

He also quoted George W. Perkins as saying that he was opposed to returning to the republican party because it had been "more reactionary than ever."

"I am not a democrat," Mr. Parker said, "but I believe the thanks of this nation are due to Woodrow Wilson for what he has accomplished in the shape of progressive legislation that has brought untold millions happiness and prosperity to our people."

CHICAGO OFFICES ARE GUARDED BY POLICE FORCE

Fight by City Attorney Hoyne Against Police Chief Becomes Acute; Senator Harding Mouthpiece of Mayor.

(By Morning Journal Special Correspondent.) Chicago, Oct. 14.—The city hall today, even that of the smoke inspector, policemen were on guard. It was part of the stage setting in State's Attorney Hoyne's legal drive against Chief of Police Charles C. Healey, whom he accused of conspiracy and malfeasance in office.

In the court of Chief Justice Olson of the municipal court politicians and lawyers gathered early to be present when Mr. Hoyne appeared to ask for warrants for the arrest of the chief.

The first witness was Police Captain William P. O'Brien, who recently was suspended by Chief Healey. Captain O'Brien named State Senator George F. Harding as the so-called mouthpiece of the city administration in matters pertaining to gambling, saloons and vice.

Senator Harding is a republican, a close friend of Mayor Thompson and for years represented the Second ward in the city council.

Witness said that the Reaux Arts club opened last month with the avowed purpose of selling liquor twenty-four hours a day, but particularly after the legal closing hour.

He wrote Chief Healey, asking that the license be revoked, but received no reply.

Eventually Sergeant Sullivan was sent to the "club" by Chief Healey, and witnessed drinking and dancing orgies participated in by white persons and negroes. Still no action was taken, the witness asserted.

GEN. VILJOEN AGAIN IN DONA ANA COUNTY. (Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Santa Fe, Oct. 14.—Gen. P. J. Viljoen, who gained fame as one of the fiercest leaders in the war against England, has again taken up his residence at La Mesa, Dona Ana county, after an absence of two years, during which he lived at Sierra Madre, a suburb of Los Angeles.

General Viljoen is still quite ill and it is because physicians urged his returning to a high altitude that he is back in New Mexico. He will devote himself to farming, journalism and politics. He is at work at present on a novel entitled, "The Story of the Rio Grande Farm."

SWINDLERS GET MANY VICTIMS ON LAND BANK GRAFT. (By Morning Journal Special Correspondent.) Washington, Oct. 14.—The federal farm loan board's warning to farmers against swindlers seeking to profit by organization of land banks has begun to bring in many reports of victims. The board recently announced that it would refuse charters to any banks in whose organization money had gone for promotion purposes.

Joseph J. Blumen of Bencland, Mont., wrote to the board that an agent of a promotion concern, pretended to have been employed by the government and got from him a $250 check for ten shares of stock and that he later received notice to pay $150 more.

Many Are Stung. K. T. Peck of Fish Tail, Mont., complained that agents of the same concern told him that to borrow he must become a shareholder of the concern. Peck paid $25 and obligated himself for several more payments.

S. A. Altman of Lincoln, Kan., wrote he had paid $200 on a similar proposition.

The board today issued this supplemental warning: "Farmers who borrow through the national farm loan associations are not required to pay any advance commissions. So all of these enterprises requiring payments from farmers are declared by the board to be fraudulent and the attention of the department of justice has been called to the matter and an attempt will be made to bring the offenders to justice."

ALLIES' AIR RAID IS FAILURE, GERMANS SAY. (By Morning Journal Special Correspondent.) Berlin, Friday, Oct. 13 (via London, Oct. 14).—Details of the operations of entente aerial squadrons in their raids in southern Germany on Thursday are given in supplementary reports issued today by the war office. The attacks are declared to have been carried out by from forty to fifty machines, but it is asserted that no military damage was done. A total of seven persons killed and more than a score injured was the extent of the casualties, says the statement, which follows:

On October 12, between 2 and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, several enemy air squadrons, totalling from forty to fifty machines, advanced in our south German home region. Bombs dropped on Donaueschingen, Altdorf, Huelingen, Eschweiler, near Neustadt and Hartsch in the Koenig valley, and Rothwell, caused no military damage. At Eschweiler a bomb fell on the reserve hospital, killing two children. At Trossingen, a first-aid seven persons were killed and twenty-seven wounded. Nine of the attacking aeroplanes were brought down by our airmen and anti-aircraft guns, including one British aeroplane.

This rainy, cold weather a good stimulating powder will do you lots of good; prevents colds and all kinds of diseases, and makes the boys happy. We have all sizes, 25c and 50c and $1.00. Eggs are now worth 5 cents each. It will surely pay to take good care of the hens. E. W. FEE.

GRUESOME CRIME COMES TO LIGHT IN UNION COUNTY

Body of Woman Found in Barrel Eight Miles South of Clayton Horribly Mutilated; Husband Is Suspected.

(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.) Clayton, N. M., Oct. 14.—The body of Mrs. Bernard Seigler, wife of a farmer living eight miles south of here, was found yesterday in a barrel horribly mutilated and with the skull crushed. Mrs. Seigler had been missing since last June and her trace of her whereabouts could be discovered until neighbors, searching the premises, made the gruesome find.

Some time ago Seigler was committed to the insane asylum in Las Vegas, but suspicion has arisen that he is feigning insanity and is movement is on foot to have him brought back to Clayton and placed on trial for the murder of his wife.

Mrs. Seigler was 30 years old and good-looking. The discovery of the crime has created intense excitement in Clayton.

ROAD BUILDER OF SOCORRO COUNTY IS GIVEN FROST. (Special Dispatch to Morning Journal.) Clovis, N. M., Oct. 14.—The republican candidates for governor and lieutenant governor made addresses at a meeting held here last night. The crowd was small and the enthusiasm still smaller, and after the meeting it was freely predicted that fully a third of the normal republican vote of Curry county will this year be cast for the democratic ticket.

The candidate for governor divided his time largely between promises of good roads in the event of his election and explanation of the peculiar success that he and his friends in Socorro county have had in the construction of six miles of the Socorro-Mogollon road at a cost of $27,000. No information was vouchsafed as to the alleged payment of salaries to friends of the candidate while no work was being done on the road.

After having heard from both the republican and democratic candidates, it is predicted that the Peons valley will give majorities for the democratic ticket even surpassing those rolled up in the first state campaign in 1911.

Tax Levies Fixed. Santa Fe, Oct. 14.—The board of county commissioners today fixed the tax levies for the ensuing year after careful calculations and audits submitted by schools and the city. In Santa Fe city the levy will be 23 mills altogether. The state levy is .265, the county levy is the same as last year 1.195 so that county and state levy together is 1.47. The state and county school levy is .265. The city levy is 83 or 16 mills higher than last year, there being a new levy of .02 for the public library at Santa Fe, .05 for an addition to the Second ward school building, and .06 for equipment for the Santa Fe high school building.

The Penitentiary

The republican candidate for governor is sensitive about any reference to his record as warden of the New Mexico penitentiary, so let's don't talk about it. The less said about it the better.

The present superintendent of the penitentiary is not at all sensitive about his record—he is willing for everybody that wants to to talk about it and discuss it and make any comment on it that they see fit. The present superintendent of the penitentiary is a democrat—John B. McManus—appointed by a democratic governor—William C. McDonald—and his management of the institution is characteristic of the efficiency that has prevailed in all departments of the state government under the McDonald administration.

When Mr. McManus took charge of the penitentiary it had been conducted for a period of years at a loss of approximately $33,000, during which time permanent improvements to the extent of only $17,000 had been made.

In the period from 1912 to 1916—the period of the McManus administration—with an increase of 52 per cent in the number of convicts, the cost per convict per day has been reduced from 60 cents to 42 cents. The total expenditures were less in 1916 than in 1911, and permanent improvements to the extent of $32,000 were made, as compared with $17,000 from 1907 to 1912.

In 1911 it cost $102,000 to run the penitentiary with 368 convicts. The number now is 426, and with 375 convicts in 1915 it cost only $99,000. In 1911, $4,600 was put into permanent improvements and there was a deficit appropriation of $16,300; in 1915, $9,500 was put into permanent improvements and there was no deficit.

There have been no errors in bookkeeping during the McManus administration.

In spite of the increased number of convicts the number of escapes has decreased.

This is the sort of management of state institutions that may be expected if a democratic administration is elected next month.

Expert of New York Tribune Says Germany Would Have Ignored Any Threat Less Drastic Than Certain War.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)

New York, Oct. 14.—More and more difficulty piles upon Candidate Hughes. His attempt to answer one of the tea questions of the thirty-six authors that have been staring him in the face for seventy-three days meets with the disapproval of the New York Tribune, one of his leading newspaper supporters.

Frank H. Simmons, chief editorial writer of the Tribune, whose analysis of the European war have made him internationally famous, declares in the Tribune's leading editorial today: "Would Not Have Sufficed."

"The Tribune disagrees with Mr. Hughes in the matter of the Lusitania. If by his Louisville utterance he meant to express the belief that had the German government known in advance that the sinking of the Lusitania would be followed merely by a severance of diplomatic relations, it would have refrained from the crime."

In other words, the Tribune agrees with the thirty-six authors in their declaration, unanswered by Mr. Hughes for seventy-three days, that "It is absurd nonsense to talk about action that would have prevented the Lusitania tragedy. The only honest question is this: Would you have made the disaster the subject of diplomatic negotiations, or would you have broken relations with Germany at once?"

Mr. Simmons says that the Lusitania disaster could have been averted only by letting Germany know that such an act of war "would have been followed by a condition of war."

ly relations with the United States. The action which invaded Belgium in defiance of all considerations of faith and honor and the probable certainty of British participation in the war as a consequence would not withhold its hand in the case of American lives. If the extreme peril to be run was an interruption of diplomatic relations and a cessation of communications, mainly at the mercy of allied consuls.

"It is only a little while since the German chancellor himself said publicly that the German government changed its course in the submarine matter because the profit of the old policy was not comparable with its possible cost, and the cost was a war with the United States."

All that Mr. Hughes has said what he would have done if president he said at Louisville. He declared that between the appearance of the advertisement in the morning papers warning Americans off the Lusitania and the hour of the boat's departure, at noon, "I would have made it known in terms unequivocal and unmistakable, that we should not tolerate continuance of friendly relations through the ordinary diplomatic channels."

But the Tribune says: "Neither Mr. Hughes' own candidate, nor any other American should misunderstand the conditions under which Germany refrains from murdering Americans on the high seas. Germany will return to this policy the moment she is convinced there is a profit in it. If the sole danger it involves is the dismissal of Bernstorff and the recall of Gerard, Germany will begin without delay."

"She would begin the day Mr. Hughes entered the White House if she were satisfied that this was the utmost that Mr. Hughes was prepared to advocate as an answer to German massacres."

In other words, Candidate Hughes, having said nothing, is respectfully urged by his supporters to try again.

ALLIES ASSERT RIGHT TO SEARCH MAIL FOUND ON NEUTRAL VESSELS

Positive Refusal of Demands of United States Is Position Taken by Belligerents Who Control High Seas.

LINCOLN IS QUOTED TO JUSTIFY CONTENTION

Promise Is Made to Remedy
Any Faults, Abuses or Serious
Mistakes in Censorship Carried On.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEARNED WIRE)

Washington, Oct. 14.—In their latest reply to American protests against interference with neutral mails, made public tonight by the state department, the allied governments reiterate their right to intercept and search all genuine mail found on neutral vessels on the high seas or in allied ports, but they promise to remedy "any faults, abuses, or serious mistakes" in censorship that may be brought to their attention. They declare, unjustified by facts, the American charge that illegal jurisdiction has been gained by diversion of neutral ships from the high seas into the territorial waters of the allies.

The next move of the American government has not been determined.

Reply to Lansing.
The note, transmitted jointly by the British and French governments, was delivered to the state department by the embassies last Thursday, but was not made public until tonight. It makes reply to Secretary Lansing's memorandum of May 24 in which the United States declared the allies had been guilty of "lawless practices" in their mail censorship methods and that "only a radical change, restoring to the United States its full rights as a neutral power, will satisfy this government."

Allies Affirm Sincerity.
It is maintained by the allies that they are "sincerely endeavoring to avoid any encroachment on the legitimate exercise of the rights of innocent neutral commerce."

Delays and annoyances are unavoidable, it is pointed out, and the exercise of full belligerent rights and a long list of precedents are cited to support the validity of the allied censorship methods. It is suggested that the Hague convention quoted in the American memorandum is not binding because it has not been ratified by several belligerent powers.

In an informal memorandum submitted some time ago Great Britain pointed out at length the changes made in censorship methods to expedite mail examination. These changes are only referred to briefly in the present communication.

Note Is Lengthy One.

The note is nearly 5,000 words in length. It argues that the United States and the allies agree that the postal union convention does not apply and that postal packages may be examined to see if they contain contraband. That being so, the note contends it is necessary to open postal bags, and examination cannot take place at sea without delay and inconvenience. Arrangements now have been made to carry on the examination with the least possible delay.

Although The Hague convention of 1907 has not been accepted by some of the belligerents, the note says the allies are prepared to accept the principle in the preamble as to "guaranteeing due to peaceful commerce and legitimate business," but cannot abandon their right to prevent the fraudulent use by the enemy of neutral mails for belligerent purposes. The case of the Atlanta is cited to show information can be as useful a means of war as ammunition, and the note says information as to military operations and enemy plots in neutral countries, especially the United States, has been discovered in this way.

Quotes President Lincoln.
An examination of precedents is held to show that the great powers have claimed the right to intercept enemy correspondence in neutral mails. The allied argument follows the line of President Lincoln's proclamation of May 12, 1862, which declared that information as equally contraband of war and cites the fact that intercepted enemy correspondence was used in the United States courts during the civil war and laid before congress.

The contention of the United States, the note argues, that money order lists should be classified as genuine mail and not as merchandise, does not take into consideration that such lists sent from the United States to Germany and Austria by mail correspond to money deposited in this country and serve as a notification to postal authorities of the amounts indicated, increasing the financial resistance of the allies' enemies.

In view of this, money order lists are refused passage.

Excuses Method of Search.
In connection with the reminder that the United States already has agreed that examination of private postal correspondence to ascertain whether it contains contraband is permissible, the note says:

"It is evident that this examination, which necessarily entails the opening of the covers in order to ascertain their contents, could not be carried on on board without causing a great deal of confusion, without great risk of error, loss or non-delivery. It was for these reasons that the allies have initiated the removal of the mail bags and their dispatch to points provided for prompt and regular handling. In all this, the allied governments have no other purpose but that of diminishing by all means in their power the inconvenience that the legitimate exercise of their belligerent rights in regard to enemy mail might cause to innocent neutral correspondence and to neutral vessels."

Shows No Favoritism.
After asserting that the United States and the allies are in agreement on principles but differ as to their application, the note, in reply to Secretary Lansing's declaration that the allies "compel neutral ships without just cause to enter their own ports, thus acquiring by force or unjustifiable means an illegal jurisdiction," says "The allied governments have never differentiated between their treatment of mails on board a neutral vessel on the high seas and those on board a neutral vessel compulsorily diverted to an allied port."

ROOSEVELT AGAINST ADAMSON 8-HOUR LAW

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEARNED WIRE)
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 14.—Theodore Roosevelt, speaking at a republican mass meeting here tonight, criticized the attitude of President Wilson on the eight-hour day for railroad employees. He declared that arbitration would have been the proper method of settling the threatened nationwide railroad strike, and instanced the application of this principle in 1902, when he settled the anthracite coal strike.

Standard Oil Has Strike.

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 14.—Six hundred men walked out at the Bay Way plant of the Standard oil company today in sympathy with the Bayonne strikers. The shops then closed down, throwing 1,266 more men out of employment. There was no disorder.

Prepared to Resist Attack.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 14.—Reports out of Parral, Chihuahua, state that the garrison in that place is prepared to resist an attack by Villa's men tonight, as ranchers in contact with the bandits sent in word that such an attack had been threatened.

CONVICTED OF MURDER IN THE SECOND DEGREE

Jury Returns Verdict Against Vicente Segoviano After Having Been Out but a Short Time.

Vicente Segoviano was convicted of murder in the second degree by a jury in the district court late yesterday afternoon. The jury returned the verdict after it had been out for some time.

Segoviano was accused of murdering the late Mrs. W. E. Provinces, who was shot and killed at St. Joseph's hospital, shortly after he had been wounded, that Segoviano was his assailant. Segoviano met him near the Santa Fe to preserve plant as he was going home and asked him for a drink, said Alvarez. He had none to give and Segoviano slashed him with a knife, he said.

Under Sheriff Dick Lewis and Deputy Sheriff Quintero Coulter, learning that Alvarez accused Segoviano, set out to find him. They found him at the back yard. He had been lying down previously, they believed. He had rolled up his coat for a pillow. The officers saw blood stains on the coat. Segoviano explained the stains at his trial, saying he had gotten them in a fight with Ignacio Lara fifteen or twenty days before the day of his arrest. Lara corroborated his statement.

His Trial a Short One.

Segoviano maintained on the witness stand his steadfast denial of any knowledge of the attack upon Alvarez. He denied any knowledge of the attack upon Alvarez. He had been lying down previously, they believed. He had rolled up his coat for a pillow. The officers saw blood stains on the coat. Segoviano explained the stains at his trial, saying he had gotten them in a fight with Ignacio Lara fifteen or twenty days before the day of his arrest. Lara corroborated his statement.

The idea of geographical and scenic education of the public by means of lectures and motion pictures is that of Secretary Franklin K. Lane, and to date all the country's national parks are being shown in the country with the exception of Yosemite and Banier, which will be released this winter.

Of the scenery in New Mexico Mr. Blanchard speaks enthusiastically. "None better in the United States," he declared. The photographers will go to Elephant Butte to film the dedication.

PIONEER COAL DEALER KEEPS
ABREAST OF TIMES

The Title Belongs to John S. Beaven; Establishes City Office; Installs Improved Howe Scale.

For the past twenty-six years, John S. Beaven has been serving the people of Albuquerque and immediate vicinity with coal and wood, and the title "Pioneer Coal Dealer of Albuquerque" is rightfully bestowed. For years his office and yards were located at the corner of First street and Coal avenue, just beyond the viaduct, and from this place many a load of coal and cord of wood went thither to thousands of homes throughout the city to keep warmth within and enable the housewife to get her meals "on time," as John's coal and wood was noted for quick work and both could be depended on when in service.

Some time ago Mr. Beaven was notified that the railroad company wanted the ground he occupied for some needed improvements contemplated along its right-of-way, and this necessitated looking out for other quarters. This was done, and recently the yards were moved to 522 South John street, on the east side of the railroad tracks, and in order to accommodate the people and at the same time be nearer to the business district of the city, Mr. Beaven also established an up-town office at 312 South Second street, where he is equipped to do business in the most approved order and in a more satisfactory manner.

At the up-town office there has been installed a mammoth Howe scale—the first of its kind in this city, and probably in the state. It is an exact pattern of the famous "Master" scale at Denver. It registers weights from one pound to ten tons, by a process similar to the one used on cash registers the scale prints on a slip of paper the exact weight, thereby avoiding any possible error that might occur otherwise. The platform of the scale is 26 feet long, and when weighing a load the team stands on the platform and is weighed together with the wagon. This feature means that the correct weight will be the result. By having the platform long enough to allow the team to stand on it, Mr. Beaven hopes always to give the correct weight. The scale will also be used as a regular city weighing scale.

NOW AT THE LYRIC

Harold Lockwood and May Allison, one of the most popular combinations in the silent drama, will be seen on the screen here at the Lyric theater today only in "The River of Romance," a five-part Metro wonder-play produced by the Yvonne Film corporation. In this production Mr. Lockwood is seen in the role of a wealthy young man who decides to make his own way in the world. Not finding anything better to do he buys a broken-down motor boat, which he uses to ferry passengers among the islands in the St. Lawrence river.

There he meets the beautiful daughter of a rich New Yorker, on a visit to the Thousand Islands. He falls in love with her, but she rebuffs him. The girl is struck by his manner, nevertheless, but on account of his station in life refuses at first to consider him seriously. Little by little, however, she loses her heart to him. How he finally carries her away against her wishes in his boat and forces her into an elopement, when she thinks he is a burglar, forms a story of thrills and stirring situations. The boat sinks while they are running away and the supposed boatman saves the girl.

There is an unusual twist to the finale, making it one of the best stories ever provided for these stars. Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison are surrounded by an unusually strong cast, including Lester Cuneo, Bert Rudy, Lee Walker, Phil Masi, Dan Hanlon, Mrs. Mathilde Brundage, Lillian Halpern and other well-known stage and screen artists. Henry Otto, who produced "Undine," directed "The River of Romance."

Fine Weave Underwear For Women and Children

Not since the day's of the change from heavy, clumsy, uncomfortable Winter underclothing to the lighter, warm without weight kind have we had such important improvements as you will find this year in FOREST MILLS fine weave underwear.

The finish of the yarn, the fineness of the weave, the wonderful softness and elasticity will astonish you. The garments are carefully cut to conform to the natural lines of the body, so imperative with the present day mode of street, afternoon and dance costume.

The new "Flatlock" seam is an innovation that every woman will welcome. The ends of the fabric are securely drawn together without overlapping, the seam is no thicker than the fabric itself. It means more comfort and better looks.

These, however, are not all the advantages of the new FOREST MILLS Fine Weave Underwear, but space is too limited to give you the details of all the new features.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1916

RUSSIA AND AMERICA.

Elsewhere on this page, the Journal publishes an article on Russia from the clear pen of "Gerard," a feature writer on the Philadelphia Public Ledger. It represents Russia in a light not familiar to most of the people of the United States, but in a light which must be considered before many years if we are to hold our own in the commerce of the world.

Russia has long been one of the little understood nations, and the Russian people never have been appraised at their real value. Two decades ago Russia was the Englishman "the bear that walks like a man." Russia was semi-civilized, medieval, the most western of Asiatic states, the descendant of the Tartars, half Mongol.

Germany today professes to be engaged in constructing a "barrier" to save western civilization against Russia's "Asiatic advance," and in Germany it is no invalidation of the indictment that the barrier is composed in part of Mohammedan Turks who are Monks, of Bukharans who are originally were Monks, and of Huns whose blood is that of the descendants of Attila's yellow horde.

The time was when Bismarck could not say enough in praise of Russia. He extolled the rich Russian language, which he learned while ambassador to the court of the czar. He admired the Russian character and had an attentive eye to Russian resources, which he hoped to have exploited by German industrial capitalists.

The despotism of the czar, which is being modified by developments, really is a western idea, borrowed from ancient Rome and set up in imitation of European absolutism. Peter the Great, a Romanoff, descendant of the Roman emperor at Constantinople and imitator of western institutions, the Empress Catherine who was born in Germany—these two, who were the makers of modern Russia, got their inspiration from the French Bourbons.

The Russian religion is derived from Constantinople, and its theology is permeated more with Greek philosophy than is the Roman church. Intellectually, Russia for a long period went to school to western Europe, even as America has been an intellectual colony of England. First, the intellectualism of Russia was colored by the philosophy of France, and later it took on a German hue, but during the past twenty years the thought of the czar's literary people has again turned to France and students have been flocking to Paris as once they flocked to Berlin, and French culture is as dominant today in Russia as it was in the days of Catherine the Great.

The trouble with Russia is that more than ninety per cent of the people of the empire have never gone to school. The population is a mass of ignorance, and superstition which is always to be found where there is ignorance of the dense sort.

But this war has stirred Russia to its depths. Prohibition of the use of vodka has made of it a sober nation. The money in the savings banks has quadrupled since the war began, and with the close of the war a new Russia will be born of the mighty struggle.

The resources of Russia are greater than can be found in any other nation of the world. It has gold, silver, iron, copper, coal, petroleum, great forests of virgin timber, and is capable of producing many times the amount of wheat that is grown in the United States, and the most fertile prairie lands are adapted to the raising of millions of cattle and sheep.

It is toward Russia that the United States must look in the future, and at Russia we know less than we know even of China.

THE DUTY OF THE VOTER.

The people of New Mexico are called upon this year to decide who shall be their state and county officers. Also they have three electoral votes to be cast for either Woodrow Wilson or Charles Evans Hughes for president of the United States.

The ballot box should not be approached in the spirit of a football game. This is no time to indulge in merely party rivalry for the offices

Nationally the question at issue is a traver one than has been faced by the American people since the civil war. If Wilson is elected, the affairs of this country will be in skilled and conscientious hands. If Hughes is elected the affairs of the country will be in conscientious but unskilled hands. We know that President Wilson has made a great record in the field of domestic achievement, but beyond doubt history will accord him a higher place in the conduct of foreign affairs. The president has kept the horrors of war from our firesides, and at the same time he has insisted upon and has maintained every right, guaranteed by national and international law, of the citizens of this country.

Between now and spring, it is almost certain that Germany will resume her submarine warfare. The party of von Tirpitz is steadily gaining over the party of von Bethmann-Hollweg in the councils of empire and to say that the rights of this nation and her citizens are to be bravely challenged soon, is no alarmist talk. In such a contingency whom should the people trust? Wilson has steered the ship of state carefully and skillfully. He knows the rocks and the shoals far better than they can be known by an untired pilot. He never has failed.

As to the affairs of state of New Mexico, they are in a formative condition. Before statehood they were in the hands of men who did not conduct them for the public good. A public office then was generally regarded as a private snap, and everything was directed toward the perpetuation of a corrupt machine in power.

This year, the question is, Who should have control in New Mexico? How would the state get the best government? Who would expend the taxpayers' money with the greater skill and faithfulness?

This is a time when men should forget, so far as county and state are concerned, that they are republicans or democrats and vote for the candidates believed to be the best fitted for the offices. That is the duty of the conscientious voter.

The politicians have at last deprived Sing Sing of a warden who worked for the good of the state but not for the benefit of a corrupt machine.

TRUE MISSIONARY SPIRIT.

The missionary spirit seems a permanent aspect of the human spirit. We see it, principally with religion, but religion is perhaps its vehicle rather than its exciting cause. At least the larger manifestations of the missionary spirit in our time are not associated with religion, but with nations and racial ends.

Tabid missionary zeal is, perhaps, an indication of imperfect civilization. Tolerance seems to be the fruit of higher civilization. To live and to let live is a better law than to be inspired to reduce our neighbors and the world to our belief, our method, our system. To trust to time, to suggestion, to example, to reason, to improve the rest of the world up to our presumably exalted level is certainly nobler than to take the sword to compel the peoples to obey our rule.

The true propaganda is that of persuasion. St. Paul, the greatest of all missionaries, reasoned concerning Jesus Christ to Greek and to barbarian. He never thought of imposing his faith by force. That crude performance was left to Constantine and Charlemagne who came after him, to Mahomet and his fanatics, and to the barbaric kings of the Dark Ages.

To win converts to whatever one believes in is meritorious, if the winning is by persuasion. But the forcible missionary spirit has desolated the world, is desolating Europe today. The present war is the result of the missionary spirit of Germany to impose its religion of efficiency upon the rest of the human race.

When we are criticized because of our imperfect civilization, we may reply that we do not consider our civilization so perfect as to be zealous to fix our standards on our neighbors by the slaughter of innocent people and the devastation of lands. To inspire us to propaganda by the sword we must be greeted by a concrete monstrous wrong as was slavery, or by an impossible situation as was that of Spain's rule in Cuba.

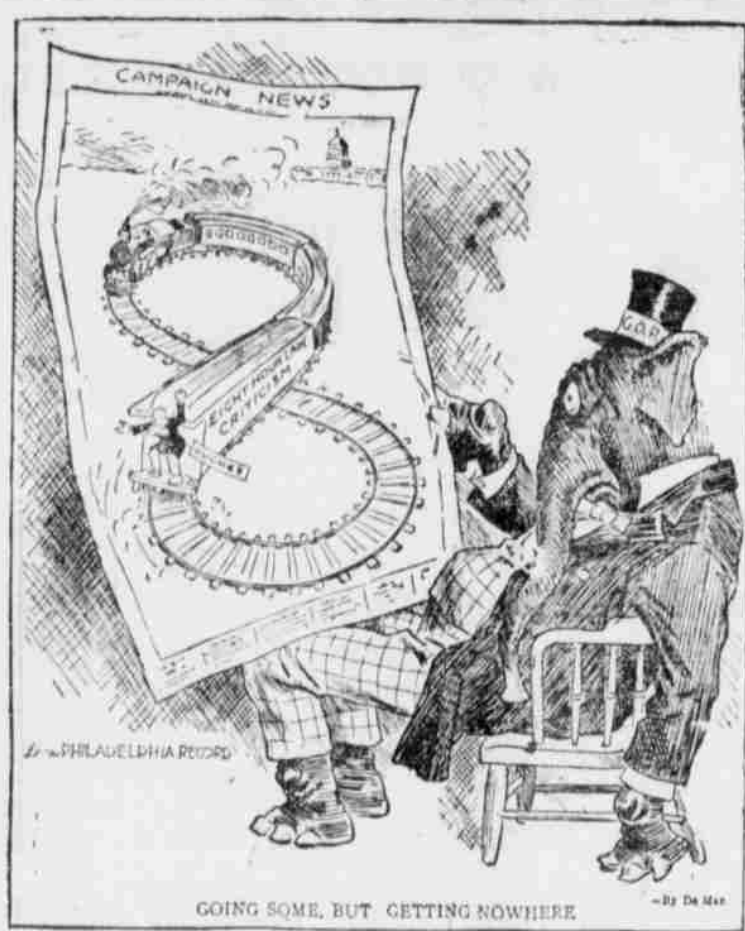

The speeches in the reichstag indicate that Germany is quite willing to make peace without indemnity or territorial concession. What did she go to war for?

EARN ALL HE GETS.

There is a general tendency to magnify the profits made by farmers during these days of high prices. If there is any man in the world who deserves prosperity, he is the hard-working, intelligent farmer. He is the foundation of all the prosperity of the nation, and usually he gets less out of his capital and labor than any other class of citizen.

In a rural survey of twenty-one representative counties of Ohio, one-fourth of the farmers studied were found to be highly successful, averaging an annual profit of nine hundred dollars over all farm and household expenses. Another fourth averaged an annual profit of three hundred dollars. Another fourth just managed to maintain themselves above the poverty line, while the last fourth farmed at a loss. All of these farmers owned their farms, thus having an appreciable investment in addition to the labor of the farmer, his wife and children.

Special agricultural education in the United States was begun in a general way a generation ago. At that time the average yield of corn was twenty-seven bushels an acre and the yield of wheat fourteen bushels. This is not far from the yield today. That the yield has not decreased may be credited entirely to the good work done by the agricultural colleges.

There is not much chance for the farmer to make large profits. If there were such chance, there would be a general concentration in the hands of absentee landlords and the farms would be operated by resident managers. Other businesses may be run in that way, but so far the man who makes anything like a fair return on the money invested in a farm must live on it and work it himself.

Agricultural colleges in these latter years are laying special stress on farm management. This is the hardest learned and most slowly extended item in the college curriculum; but it is the most important, for upon it depends the continuance of the individually-owned farm, which is one of the foundation stones, not only of American industry, but of American life.

Whatever profits the farmer can make from his land he is entitled to.

Washington did not hesitate to tell the allies where to get off, when it was intimated that American submarines might be mistaken for German and sunk by the ships of the entente powers.

Villa also now is talking of "me and God." He says it was only through the help of God that he was able to escape from his American pursuers.

Offers Service to Boost Climate of Albuquerque

Editor Morning Journal:
With your recent editorial in regard to the city of Albuquerque, and its lack of advertising because of the lack of a central advertising office, I am much impressed.

I wish to say that though I came here primarily for my health, news of the existence of Albuquerque, N. M., city being one of the first. It was only by chance that I heard of your city.

There are, according to statistics, in round numbers, upwards of one million people in America who are ignorant of the health benefits of the desert climate conditions, but are not reached and educated as to its superior advantages.

From observation, I believe Albuquerque's greatest advertisement is the simplest and most effective in the world—a living, thriving, and cheerful climate that can not be duplicated, the world over.

Colorado Springs, though much inferior, is well advertised and is the first location I considered. Silver City has means to this end, but it is safe to say that apparently, Albuquerque, peer of them all, is the least advertised.

I arrived here in the evening and the tidy enterprising appearance of your streets, gave me a confidence and a welcome that still remains—I have not none but the finest of people—and you are not made ashamed when you speak of your purpose here; for, as one man said, "We are all here for that."

There are existing, ready to be taken advantage of, before our very eyes, methods of reaching the better class of the million people anxious to hear of us—and the best ways always prove to be the simplest and least expensive.

Possibly a majority of those reached are responsible and thrifty people, who would under proper incentives make this vicinity their permanent home.

To take care of this there should be industry. There is your mammoth lumber plant, standing idle for years, merely by common business consent without a pretense or a plan to reopen it.

It seems that Albuquerque, the largest city in a large state, has taken no steps to bring through initiative and advertising, such industries that would be available and serve the dual purpose of making the city the center of health and industry.

And I'll venture to say that within a small radius, stored up in adjacent mountains are some of nature's most precious assets, waiting for discovery and enterprise—and that their existence is even now suspected by but not determined by passers-by.

Concerning health, the city should have issued, with the co-operation of every sanatorium, every landlord, every individual, an attractive and inexpensive booklet of statistics as to every benefit of climate, illustrations with given facilities of all sanatoria, and other means of caring for the nearly well.

Space forbids outlining how the distribution of these could be made of systematic through mailing lists secured from sanatoria, and boards of health from large cities and state institutions, and myriads of plans that "bring home the bacon," also regarding increased industry and business, but right here I seriously and respectfully offer absolutely gratis my services, such originally as I possess, to start these benefits on their way, providing a few hardheaded and loyal business men will signify their co-operation merely in supplying reasonable facilities to carry this on, shared with the original investment.

I am here for one year, perhaps two, possibly forever if I like Albuquerque as well as at present at the expiration of that time.

My age is 26 and I am bringing my family. I have both high school and college education. I am still on the payroll of that wonderful organization—the Ford Motor company of Detroit.

There should be an Albuquerque board of commerce in process without delay. You people have no idea how wonderful the Detroit board of commerce is and how fast it has accelerated the growth of Detroit—more in proportion than any other city in the world in a given time.

Since early boyhood I have worked my way through several kinds of industrial plants, and have gained such valuable knowledge of operations in factories, offices, advertising, purchasing, engineering, sales ends, are at your service if you will see fit to act with me.

To your interests without asking any remuneration, I would devote my time and thought, mostly for the pleasure of activity and in securing real results.

If this in any way impresses you, Mr. Editor, as to my sincerity, I beg the gift of this and such other as you will undertake only great things and bring from them success, arrange a meeting, and the rest is squarely up to me.

If you do not yet comprehend the value of young men at the helm, I refer you to the Ford Motor company, and nearly all Detroit motor car firms where you will find only young men in charge of all departmental responsibility.

As to remuneration, until I produce results, I would not consider it afterwards, any remuneration of those in voluntary and under no circumstances will be solicited.

This offer takes effect at once and I would like to get facilities under way with dispatch to produce results.

Russia's Future Sure to Be Great

(Quoted in Philadelphia Public Ledger.)

Almost every wide-awake business man or banker with whom I talk expresses some such opinion as this: "After the war look out for Russia. Twenty-five years will see it, next to the United States, the greatest industrial nation of the earth."

I find everywhere a genuine sympathy with such a development. We talk of America's "traditional friends" but none has been really more friendly than Russia.

The first big act of kindness for our cause was when the czarina refused to hire to King George III twenty thousand soldiers to fight in the revolution. George then went to the petty German states and got his Hessians.

Russia put its capacious foot down upon the European proposition during the civil war to interfere on behalf of the south. Her sale of Alaska to the United States was a fine thing for us, and did not have behind it the selfish motive of Napoleon when he sold Louisiana to President Jefferson.

It is not a given maritime rival to England that would humble her pride.

I repeat what I heard Charles H. Cramp, the renowned shipbuilder, say at the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war:

"When Americans shout for Japan they are lacking the wrong horse. Russia is our real friend and Japan never will be."

A noted Jewish scholar said to me not long ago in this connection: "This war is going to end Russia's treaty toward our people and to all other classes of it. This thing is like a vast school for Russia. 'Darkest Siberia' has vanished from the map."

A still more direct bit of testimony about Russia comes to me from an international banker who for two years has been studying the car's domain.

"Russia has the crude materials, she has the rich land, the breadth of territory, the fuel and the people to be another United States. Today Russia is manufacturing an enormous quantity of stuff she never knew she could make and which therefore she bought from her neighbors."

close of the war for everyone who was there in 1913, all due to this aroused industrialism."

With Scissors and Paste

AIR BOMBARDMENTS NOT EFFECTIVE.

(London Swift Kirland in Leslie's.)
I started at Dvinsk, Russia, to crawl out onto my balcony only to be blown back again into the room by a blast of air which showered the glass out of the window frames up and down the street. I was from an aerial bomb which dropped just around the corner, wounding twenty civilians, of whom six died later.

I got back again on the window ledge. This was no feat of unique and individual bravery. To get where one could see was as instinctive as to breathe. Everybody was out. The human animal can not stay in its lair when the biggest game shooting of man against man is on. Nobody cared nor noticed what any of the other spectators wore or, most of all, did not wear. Their white faces were turned up to the sky. They moved in a hand-in-hand line, scraping along the street walls. It was like a flow, the line distending where there was some slight shelter overhead, then extending again beyond.

Fires started. Black clouds of smoke drifted across the city, hanging in a strange way close to earth. I counted eight planes hovering above, and later there were six more. Two of the number had before this been injured and driven back. The light was growing clearer. High in the sky there were ever-whirling sharp angles of flame from our airplanes, shells and then the balloon bursts of white smoke. The great birds were replying with high explosive and incendiary bombs. Fragments from our own shells fell, cutting the air with a whistling scream. We—backbeaded Jews, leostchiks, shopkeepers, peasant women—were gazing with the same excitement which thrilled the throngs of Rome in the colosseum, but the gladiators whom we watched had arms to make the earth tremble, and we were not alone spectators—we were the hoped for victors.

The planes seemed living things, soaring with potential destruction. Our own guns, which spoke from the earth, were far more heroically akin to the civilization of the hour than the black figures, larked against the walls of the street, were slaves to the superiority of those engines of destruction. We were not men and women, we were not individuals. We were not even ants. We were vermin.

It was broad day and one by one the birds turned and flew far home. I realized then for the first time that I was hanging out of my balcony, in my palamas and that I was chilled to the bone.

The really extraordinary thing about the raid was to learn the next morning. After I had last got up, I went walking about the city with some officers. For two hours during that night there had been an inferno. It was astounding to learn that there had actually been so little damage. The fires which had looked so portentous had only been burning stables. A number of houses had been lost, tens of people had been wounded, a few had been killed, Dvinsk is supposed to be evacuated, but like every city on every front, it is not. There was certainly no panic. I knew nothing about the Zepel, but in England, but things after many people who hint darkly of great disasters which are kept from the public. After seeing how petty was the effect from the seemingly enormous attack at Dvinsk, I feel like taking the English communications at their face value.

LIVING IS THE THING.

(Amos Bronson Alcott.)
Entrance in nothing that cripples or degrades you. Your first duty is self culture, self exaltation, you may not violate this high trust. Yourself is sacred, protect it. Not force no claims wherewith to subvert your own members. Either subordinate your vocation to your life or quit it forever.

BOTH ARE EXPENSIVE.

(Samuel Johnson.)
A beautiful woman appeals to the eye. A good woman appeals to the heart. One is a jewel, the other a treasure.

BUILDING THE HOME.

(Samuel Johnson.)
The happiness of building lasted but a little while, for, though I loved to spend, I hate to be cheated; and I soon found that to build is to be robbed.

DOG HATED THOSE "REFILES."

The faithful old dog of Jim Greger, residing near Millville, was bitten by a rattlesnake last Thursday and is in bad shape. Mr. Greger recently lost a horse from the same cause. The old dog was a bitter foe of the reptile and was accustomed to hunt and kill them. After an evil record he finally became the victim of one of them. His recovery is doubtful.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderuff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderuff at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

Santa Fe Society

My body only last thou killed.
Blood of the Christ o'er mountains spread
Shall preach to you when I am dead
Before your vision the bloody hue,
For countless centuries to come,
Glowing at vapors' solemn hour
Shall prove my God a God of power.
The spirit sped—the last was dead;
A crimson glow suffused the gloom,
Lighting the eyes unseeing now,
And halting the classic brow.
With fear struck dumb, the Indians came
From out the ravaged mission walls,
Shrinking in terror, new and strange
From blood-red glow from the range
O'er-arched on bearded knee,
The broken Christ in reverence took,
Kissed the rule cross of painted wood
And placed it where before it stood.
With heart distressed he laid to rest
The youthful form of Padre Juan,
Graceful in death the slender frame,
Son of a house of honored name,
No more did old Kah-por despair,
Mindful at evening's rosy glow
Of Christ's blood shed for men below,
Three hundred years of hopes and fears
Have passed since martyred Padre Juan.
Dying before the altar there
Called on his God for answered prayer, Yet vapors' chime brings back the time
To every soul in old Kah-por;
Roses, the mountains of the east
Preach still the gospel of the priest.

THE DRUMMER OF THE EAGLE

It will be interesting to watch the criticisms by the art editors of the eastern press on the magnificent painting by Robert Henri presented to the museum this week by the federation. It was placed on exhibit Thursday afternoon at the residence of Director Edgar L. Hewett, but next week will go to the great museum of the east, where, unless all predictions fail, it will be hailed as one of the greatest, if not the greatest, painting produced in America this year. The portrait of the San Ildefonso Indian in life-size, it glows with color and throbs with vitality. The strong face is lit up with religious enthusiasm for old Juan de Diego is represented as the drummer in the Eagle Dance, a sacred ritual function in which he takes great pride. In fact, as he posed for the artist in the studio at the museum,
he would every once in a while pound his big drum furiously and mutter to himself. As he looked upon his picture yesterday he exclaimed: "Fine, fine, now I will live forever." Come to think of it, it is no small distinction.

time to live for all time in a picture
as great as the human figure. There is no better in the work. There is no attention, no weakening at any point upon the canvas. The figure stands out with a virility and a strength that make it seem ready to step out of the frame to lead the chorus in the Eagle Dance.

Ten was served the first afternoon
and, informally as well as unceremoniously, the affair turned into a reception and a feast for the artist. He was joined, two during the afternoon, to show the other pictures which constitute his season's work at Santa Fe to more than a hundred Santa Fe art lovers. It was a revelation to most of them and a feast they highly appreciated.

In the painting of children in all their moods, Henri has no superior, in the representation of the Indian
as he really is and of the Spanish types, he has no equal. He is a master, not only in his technique and philosophy, that was as illuminating as it was interesting. The dry number, the wit and the flashes of eloquence, coupled with a tenderness of observation and unflinching devotion to the truth, made the hour unforgettable. Mrs. Walter and Mrs. Wilson poured tea and the Misses Rollins, Parsons and Vanderhook served. Mr.
and Mrs. Henri left for their New York home yesterday, where Mr.
Henri's studio on Gramercy Park is a well-known art center that is a constant magnet to art lovers and students. He has already made his plans to return to Santa Fe in May and to remain until the end of the November next year. "There is beauty in every living thing," is his creed, and he finds it unflinchingly.

GRAND CANYON EXHIBIT.
The exhibit of Grand Canyon pictures by Sheldon Parsons in the Palacio de la Gobernación is one of those rare displays to which people without urgency return a second and a third time and even a fourth time to feast their eyes. Aside from its pictorial qualities, the colors without any reference to the picture, are as lovely as the harmonies of a Beethoven or a List are to the ear of a musician. Blue is dominant, but they also run the gamut of reds and greens, as well as of grays and yellows. The atmosphere in the landscapes is unsurpassed even by George Inness. If W. H. Simpson of the Santa Fe system were here to see it, he would not permit the exhibit to be scattered but would have it kept together in New York or Chicago at some place where the great public could constantly see and enjoy it.

ARTISTS ON THE MOVE.
Walter Ufer, the Chicago artist, is at work upon a large canvas in which four Indians hold the center of interest. The picture appears to be the best that Ufer has done as yet. It is softer in color than his landscapes and is sure to make an impression in Chicago. Victor Higgins, too, is at work upon a large canvas, upon the figure of an Indian with a huge black tunika. The decorative qualities of the painting are especially well pronounced. Mr. and Mrs. Ruff Harwood and the Misses McLeod return from Taos on Monday. Miss Grace Raynell left for Chicago on Thursday evening taking with her a number of the pictures of the Indian dances at Santa Clara, Taos, Coehiti and Santa Domingo, which are sure to be the talk on the Coast of Bohemia during winter. William Penhallow Renderson will take temporary possession of the artist's studio at the Palace next week to begin work on several large paintings. W. E. Rollins has moved into his studio at the museum and is preparing his pictures for the exhibit to begin on November 1. Carlos Viera is back at work again upon the St.
Francisco murals for the new museum, upon which K. M. Chapman is also engaged. The Taos society exhibit was returned yesterday to Taos from where it will go to the eastern art circuits. The Henri exhibit was shipped to a well-known art dealer in New York City.

CARD CLUBS.
The Saturday card club met with Harry F. Lee and the Viernes club on Friday afternoon with Mrs. Edmon-
son. Mrs. Sears also entertained at cards on Friday afternoon.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL MEETINGS.
The annual meetings of the Santa Fe and New Mexico Societies of Archaeology at the old Palace, brought out quite a number of people despite the inclement weather. The officers of both societies were re-elected in practically every instance. Mr. Frank Springer will preside over the Santa Fe society during 1917 and Judge
John B. McElie over the New Mexico society. A noteworthy series of lectures will be given during the winter.
The two societies have offered themselves as hosts for the discussion of the new museum building next July, an event which is to be of national scope and epoch-making in the annals of New Mexico.

Mrs. Harry L. Wilson, librarian of the museum, has been appointed by Mrs. George E. Todd, the new president of the New Mexico Federation of Women's clubs, to be the chairman of the art and archaeology committee of the federation for two years. She will take up in a systematic and vigorous manner the task of arousing interest in art and archaeology, for these two are linked closely in every community of the state where culture is more than a mere sounding word.

FIFTEEN CLUB MEETING.
The Fifteen club on Friday afternoon opened the Cercantes year at the home of Mrs. Frank W. Parker. It was the first program devoted to the Spanish Renaissance and received most interesting. The Santa Fe Women's club will follow next Tuesday with a Cercantes afternoon at the home of Miss Conrad.

Mrs. Walter presided over the Fifteen club meeting. The members responded to the roll call with quotations from Seneca. Mrs. Jacob Weltmer read a paper, "History of Spain to the Muslim Domination." Mrs.
Mrs. Edgar L. Hewett had a reading from "Salomé." The guests of the club were Mrs. Noyes Weltmer of Arizona, and Mrs. Sabia of Albuquerque.
The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. I. H. Rapp on East Palace avenue with Mrs. Jacob Weltmer presiding.

SEVERAL DANCES PLANNED.
Next Friday evening a masquerade dance is to take place in the assembly room of the public library. Several dances and parties are already planned for Halloween, one of them, too, to be staged in the public library of the Women's Board of Trade.

THE MAYOR'S WIFE ENTERTAINS.
Mrs. William G. Sargent was hostess on Thursday afternoon at a party in honor of Mrs. A. J. Fischer and daughter, Claribel, who will leave next week for New York, where Miss Fischer will take a conservatory course. She has just graduated from Colorado college and made a fine record not only in music, but also in the classic languages.

COMING AND GOING.

Attorney A. S. Pollock, of the reclamation service, who years ago was a resident of Santa Fe, being then connected with the Indian service, was a visitor in the capital this week revisiting old acquaintances.
District Judge M. C. Mechem of Socorro was called to Santa Fe this week to sit for District Judge E. C. Abbott.
The Woman's Home Missionary society of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, was entertained Friday afternoon by Mrs. E. H. Fallor.
Ex-Governor and Mrs. L. Bradford Pringle were attendants this week at the Episcopal convocation at St. Louis.
The working committee of the Red Cross met with Mrs. Frank W. Parker
on Thursday evening.

N. H. Hopkins of New York, who spent several days in spring among the cliff dwellings, has returned and brought with him C. D. Spaulding, also of New York, who spent the rain the left yesterday on a bear hunting trip
in the cliff dwelling country.

HISTORICAL CHAIR.

Among the papers which have become historic in New Mexico because of their association with historical characters or eventual occasions are the objects of furniture, tools, arms, etc., used by the history-making men and public life. Of the historical characters of the Mexican period, none occupies a higher place than the Rev.
Antonio Jose Martinez, cura of Taos, for it was he who established with his own private funds one of the two "colleges" opened in New Mexico in 1836, this at Taos, the other being by the year of New Mexico, Father Fernandez
in Santa Fe. In that same year, Father Martinez founded a newspaper which, together with the books used by him in his school, he printed in Taos. What is said to have been the first printing press brought into New Mexico. Father Martinez's valuable papers, books, printing press, etc., were after his death placed in the hands of the late Santiago Valdez, also a historical character, who was a good and personal friend of historian Benjamin M. Read, of this city, with whom he collaborated in Mr. Read's first historical work, "Guerra Mexico-Americana," by presenting to Mr.
Read nearly all of Father Martinez's collection of historical letters, documents, a copy of the newspaper "El Crepusculo" (believed to have been the first in New Mexico) and some of the school and religious books all printed in Father Martinez' printing office. What documents remained in Mr. Valdez' hands were, after his death presented to Mr. Read by his son, Rona Argueta, whose confidence and friendship Mr. Read also enjoyed. (One article only Mr. Read had not secured until now, that was the chair used by Father Martinez since 1826 in his class room and afterwards in his printing office and then in his studio until the time of his death. The old and priceless relic was left in the possession of the youngest daughter of Mr. Valdez, now the wife of Don Jose Montaner of Taos, who also as a token of her friendship for Mr. Read, made him a present of this century old chair, which was brought recently to Santa Fe by Mr. Manuel Ortiz of this city. Mr. Ortiz having gone to Taos to attend the festivities of San Gerolamo.

SOME MEXICO SPELLING.

A former of Ancient Poloque,
Aspired to renown as a jouque,
But he turned very pale
When he lost all his kale
Because the rice course was too rocky
A burro that lived in Nambu
Inclined from his pasture to stray;
So they had his ears split;
'Twas he hurt him a bit
No more did he wander awe,
A school boy who lived in Tesuque
Was naughty enough to play hooque;
The hooque he got
Made the youngster quite hot—
But they pacified him with a coque.
A spinster of old Abiquiu
Had lovers, alas, quite full;
So feeling quite blue
She sought pastures new;
Found a lover quite true;
After hearing him wail
She cried, "uu-uu, u will duuu!"

STOP! CALOMEL

IS QUICKSILVER

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when 50 cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver-Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can't salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver-Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver-Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, constipated tongue or sour stomach. You druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver-Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

After Nov. 30, it will cost you just $70 more to buy a 7-22 Chalmers. But the price on the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers remains (for the time being) $1090 Detroit

Until midnight of Nov. 30 you can get a 7-22 Chalmers for $1230 Detroit—a car of rare ability, fascinating in body equipment, and, like a beautiful woman, of exquisite charm.
After that date the price becomes $1350 Detroit—$70 more. The $70 is just a few dollars less than the increase in cost of manufacture of this car since its appearance in June.

To those who have longed for the 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers—and have not yet possessed one, just a word of warning: the price remains unchanged just now—$1090 Detroit; we do not know how long this low price will continue.
We reserve the right to increase the price without notice.

Only those who are buying materials such as go into high-grade automobiles can begin to realize the steady, upward trend of the materials market.

Just one condition today prevents a rise in price of the 5-passenger 3400
r. p. m. Chalmers—the fact that these cars are being made on a factory "work order" dating back several months.

Since the "work order" went through materials have jumped in cost again.
When the current "work order" is completed and if materials remain at their present level or rise higher, only one course will be possible, an increased price.

Those who have been driving Chalmers cars know how diligent has been the Chalmers effort to set down cars of the quality kind.

They will understand how impossible it would be for Chalmers to dodge the increase-in-materials issue and maintain the prevailing price on the 7-22 Chalmers.

Lower the quality of the Chalmers car? Never. The Chalmers men take great pride, not only in the money the car makes for them, but in the car itself. And pride, as everyone knows, is a thing that can never be compromised.

It would be like Tissot trying to paint a picture to fit a price.

As long as there's a name "Chalmers", there will be a quality car, and as long as there's a quality car there'll be a price fixed—not by the Sales Department—but by cost accountants.

And there'll be a fair deal. Chalmers says these two 3400 r. p. m. models will be continued into next season. You can bank on that. So that a Chalmers car you might buy now will be exactly like the one you would buy next spring.

Remember the $70 you can save now by anticipating the rise in price. There's an old Scotch proverb that says "A dollar saved is a dollar earned." $70 buys a good suit of clothes, a good pair of shoes, a good hat and some good gloves.
Also it just about pays your dues at the club for a year.

Or, if it's a 5-passenger 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers you want, our advice is to get one now.

We are not sure the price is going up and we are not sure that it isn't.
