The Britishers and Boers Fighting at Bach Other.

Another Armored Train Reported Blown Up.

Proclamation of Loyalty to the Queen Promptly Issued.

SULTAN OF TURKEY DROWNED.

Proclamation of Loyalty to the Queen. There is no further news from General Cronje's western command. Commandant General Joubert's command is now at Volkrust. The town is quiet. Postal communication with surrounding colonies has been suspended but that between Transvaal and the Orange Free State is maintained.

The minister of mines reports satisfactory number of mines being worked and the government will keep shafts of abandoned mines free of water in the interest of shareholders. It is reported that forty six cases of gold, valued at 500,000 pounds and discovered in different canyons at Johannesburg, have been confiscated by the government.

Commandant General Joubert has issued a circular to Chief Laager, in consequence of the report that some Burgers had misbehaved themselves on the journey to the borders, plundering a number of stores. Such offenses, the commandant general says, will be severely punished.

WAR NEWS FROM LONDON.

Captain Nesbitt Killed in Train Blown Up.—The Boers are advancing.

London, Oct. 14.—The Exchange Telegraph company received a dispatch from Cape Town, dated this morning, saying that the Boers had blown up another armored train, carrying telegraph operators from Mafeking.

SEIZED RAILWAY STATION.

London, Oct. 14.—The Boers, it is reported, have seized the railway station north of Fourteen Streams, between Vryburg and Kimberley. Fighting is still continuing in that neighborhood. According to dispatches from the front, the Boers made several attacks on Mafeking which were repulsed. A disquieting report comes from Pretoria that the Rustenburg and Marico commands crossed the border and entered Rensburg, a territory between Mafeking and Mafeking, blowing up the bridge over Mallopo river, and destroying a train load of dynamite and track. As Mafeking depends upon Rensburg for water supply, the significance of this move is evident.

CAPTAIN NESBITT KILLED.

London, Oct. 14.—Latest reports from Vryburg say the armored train destroyed at Krasnapin contained, in addition, Nesbitt's force of a number of workmen and six residents of Mariborg, who, on hearing of the Boer advance, took refuge on the train.

Captain Nesbitt, who was killed at Krasnapin, belonged to the Mafeking mounted police. He served in the Matabele wars, during which for daring exploit he won him a Victoria cross.

FAILED TO DRAW THEM ON.

London, Oct. 14.—The following dispatch from Ladysmith was received at the war office: "Sir George Stewart White went in the direction of Van Rensburg's pass at 3 a. m. (Friday) but failed to draw the Boers to the pass. He returned to Ladysmith, where he now is. No engagement occurred."

A dispatch from Pretoria says: General Kock wires from Natal border, that his command occupied Natal border, and also captured the railway station.

General Sir Redvers Buller, who will have full command in South Africa, accompanied by his staff, left Waterloo station this afternoon from Southampton to go on board the Dunottar Castle. His departure was the occasion of a great patriotic demonstration.

FIGHTING AT KRAKAPIN.

Three Thousand Boers are Encamped on Ingogo Battlefield.

Kimberley, Oct. 14.—The report that fighting has taken place at Krasnapin has been officially confirmed.

Durban, Oct. 14.—Authentic news reached here of 3,000 Boers encamped on the Ingogo battlefield last evening.

Durban, Natal, Oct. 14.—The Boers have not occupied New Castle. The last train left Thursday with railway, telegraph and police officials. Mr. Jackson, magistrate and a few residents, remain of their own desire. The Boers are encamped at Ingogo, fifteen miles from New Castle.

Report Confirmed.

Pretoria, Oct. 14.—Advice from Volksrust confirm the report that the Boer command occupied Laing's Neck without casualties.

British in East Africa.

LATEST FROM THE PHILIPPINES.

New York, Oct. 14.—The steamer Natmeg State, of the Bridgeport line, was burned to the water's edge this morning, and a wreck on Old Harbor off New York Point. The passengers were taken off by the steamer City of Lawrence. Freight all destroyed. The steamer took fire at 6 o'clock this morning, while waiting in the Sound and after the passengers were taken off she was headed by her captain. The City of Lawrence came up to her pier in East river with some of the passengers of the Natmeg State, and ambulances were sent for Captain Charles Brooks, of the Natmeg State, reported the steamer a total loss.

He said three of his crew were burned to death and feared some passengers suffered a like fate. At 10:30 the following list of the known dead and wounded was given out: Dead—Samuel Jayne, baggage master; Barney Hendry, oiler; unknown woman; Patrick Coffey, first mate; injured—Harry J. Witt and mother, Philadelphia; Mrs. H. Purcell, New York. The Natmeg State was valued at $150,000. It is estimated that damage will foot up to $200,000.

LATER.

Later, the following additional names of known dead were given out: Fernand Brady, New York, cabin boy; Chas. Anderson, Thomas Murphy, John Connors, all of the crew. It is feared some women and children were lost by the swamping of life boats. O. J. Halbur, a passenger, said the fire was first seen by Baggage-master Jayne, who after arousing all the passengers, he took the boat jumped overboard and died from injuries. Said Halbur: "Life boats and rafts were thrown overboard as quickly as possible and the passengers got into them. Some of the life boats were so overloaded that they capsized, but the passengers, many of whom had life preservers, clung to the sides until the yacht Kisnet arrived and helped them."

IN THE DAKOTAS.

President McKinley and Party at Aberdeen, S. D.

Aberdeen, S. D., Oct. 14.—President McKinley's train arrived this morning. A large crowd gathered to see the first president of the United States who ever visited the Dakotas since statehood. The First South Dakota volunteers arrived from the Philippines this morning. They fell in line behind an escort of Grand Army of the Republic veterans, who followed immediately after the carriage of the president and cabinet. As they passed the reviewing station, 5,000 inhabitants, reinforced by thousands of soldiers, cheered loudly. Addresses were made by President McKinley, members of the cabinet and Governor Lee.

The president landed the services of the volunteers and said: "I thank you for your splendid services to the country; I thank you for standing faithful, unflinching on battle line; I thank you for your loyalty to the Union; I thank you for waiting in trenches until relief came; I thank you for having transferred this banner to those who succeeded you in the future, and I thank you for the part you have taken in the great struggle for liberty, humanity and civilization."

Fatal Explosion.

Britton, S. D., Oct. 14.—A threshing engine, belonging to Peter Anderson, twelve miles southeast of here, blew up today, killing four men and seriously injuring one more. George B. Gullickson and C. A. Ahlstrom are among the killed. Low water supposed to be the cause.

Schwan's Column Scattering Insurgents in All Directions.

Washington, Oct. 14.—The following cablegram from General Otis was received at the war office:

Manila, Oct. 14.—Schwan's column swung into line from Los Marinas yesterday morning, camped at Bacoor last night and scattered the insurgents, who are probably retreating by detachments on the island. The condition of the roads prevented further pursuit. One hundred and twenty-five men of the Thirty-seventh volunteers, under Major Chestham, drove the insurgents to the east and westward.

TRAIN BANDITS.

Particulars of the Hold-Up of Northwestern Train.

Robbers Wrecked the Safe and Secured Booty.

Whistling Bullets Compelled Express Messenger to Open Car.

YACHT RACE DECLARED OFF.

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The following report of the robbery of the Northwestern train, No. 9, last night is received: "Three or four men, masked and heavily armed, came to the office at tower 'W,' a block station located half way between Belmont and Maple Park. They told the operator to hold up his hands. This was about 10:30 p. m. He thought they were fooling, but they tied him down with buckskin. There was a train coming and the operator told the men it was freight No. 119, and the men cleared the block. When No. 9 was approaching close the men saw it was that train and dropped the train order signal, stopping the train. They immediately blew open the safe of the American Express company's car, looted its contents, then cut off the engine and ran to a point two miles west of Maple Park and escaped. The express train was badly damaged. It appears when the engineer, Dan White, brought the train to a standstill, two masked men jumped on the steps, pointed guns at him and the fireman. They cut up your hands," they shouted. The railroad men did so. Two robbers detached the engine from the train and White was told to pull out two miles up the track. There he attempted to make a fight and recapture the engine. He struggled manfully, but finally one of the robbers shot at him, but failed to hit him. In the meantime the other men attacked the conductor and brakemen. Numerous shots were fired to intimidate them. One of the brakemen escaped in the darkness and reached Belmont, where he sent an alarm to the train dispatcher's office at Chicago.

The robbers ordered Express Messenger Frank Holton to admit them to the car. "You open up that car," one of the robbers shouted, "or we will blow it up." Back from the car came the shout, "You try to force it open and I'll shoot the first man who shows his head." A volley of shots was the reply. After several bullets had whistled by his head, the express messenger opened the door. The robbers then came to the car and compelled him to give up the keys of the local safe. They then blew open the through safe with dynamite, the explosion bringing down the car. The robbers grabbed all the money and express packages they could find. It is estimated by officers of the express company at Chicago, that there was $25,000 in the safe besides some jewelry.

When the special train bearing General Superintendent Sanborn, reached the scene of the train robbery, they found not only had the operator been bound and gagged, but the conductor and brakemen of the train had been tied securely to the express car by the robbers, thus preventing immediate pursuit. The trainmen were only able to give the railroad officers the location of the robbers had taken in making their escape.

Another special bearing General Manager Anteloff, of the American express company, and a Pinkerton and a number of detectives, arrived and an organized pursuit began. A good description of the robbers was given by Operator Whistler. Blood was streaming from Whistler's face where he had been struck with a revolver. He was almost dead from exhaustion, who declared, "he towel used as a gag having been stuffed down his throat."

The Chicago & Northwestern railway and the American Express company together offered a reward of $3,000 to day for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the robbers.
