"The Romanians are offering resistance on the roads through the passes on the eastern front (Transylvania). South and west of Kronstadt, the position generally is unchanged."

"On Monte Pasubio during the night of October 15 and on the following morning, the enemy attempted attacks which were checked promptly," the statement says. "On the whole front yesterday bad weather hampered operations of the artillery. Heavy snowfalls in the mountains are reported."

The text says: "Our aeroplanes carried out numerous flights in the region of the Somme. They fought sixty-five engagements, in the course of which two enemy machines were brought down and three others came to earth within our lines."

'MARINES MERELY TO REINFORCE POLICE'

Athens, Oct. 16 (via London, Oct. 17).—The British legation explains the landing of marines at Athens as Piraeus was merely intended to reinforce the police. It is generally thought, however, that this action was taken to prevent demonstrations like those of this morning.

SITUATION APPEARS TO BE DANGEROUS

London, Oct. 17.—A Reuters dispatch from Athens says: "The situation appears to be dangerous. There have been royalist demonstrations in the streets. Admiral du Poutre, commander of the entente allied fleet in the Mediterranean, has been ordered to leave the harbor."

CROSS, FEVERISH CHILD IS BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. When the little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 6-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

racean, was killed and a detachment of French sailors was driven back by a hostile crowd.

"A procession of some 4,000 malcontents, headed by the Greek and American flags, stopped outside the American legation, protested against the landing of foreign marines, and demanded the protection of the American minister, who was absent."

"The demonstrators then paraded the streets, singing the Greek national anthem."

RUSSIANS CONTINUALLY POUND TEUTON LINES

London, Oct. 17.—On both the northern and southwestern fronts of Russia," says Reuters' Petrograd correspondent, "heavy rains and fogs are impeding the operations, but the Russians are not giving the enemy a moment's rest. Many trenches have been captured by hand grenade and bayonet attacks in the dark."

"The nervousness of the Germans at this style of fighting has been expressed in panicky bursts of reckless gunfire. The Russian attacks on the new German position of Svinushki-Volynski, southeast of Vladimir, resulted in the capture of first line trenches on a wide front, despite the concentration there by Germans of some of their best regiments. The Germans brought up reinforcements from neighboring sectors and fresh reserves."

"Five counter-attacks, accompanied by curtains of fire, were delivered by the Germans, isolating the Russian trenches. In the fifth attack, the Germans at some places reached the Russian lines, and threatened to break the Russian line. The Russian bayonets, however, were too deadly and the Germans renounced their attempts at the recapture of their old positions."

"At Kilibaba, in the Carpathians, the Russian infantry also has been scoring heavily in hand-to-hand fighting. With a view to interposing a barrier to the Russo-Rumanian forces, the Austro-Hungarians began an attack in considerable force Saturday. They breached the Russian entanglements and their musket gunfire destroyed part of the Russian defenses before they launched their infantry attack. Under cover of the woods, they reached some portions of the Russian trenches but after a sharp struggle they yielded before the Russian bayonets."

GREEK TROOPS ORDERED OUT TO PREVENT CLASH

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Athens, Oct. 16 (via London, Oct. 17).—Marines from the ships of the entente powers to the number of about a thousand, have been landed at Piraeus and have occupied the railway station at Piraeus and several buildings in Athens. Immediately, when this became known, the streets of Athens swarmed with Greeks frantically cheering King Constantine and chanting the Greek national anthem. Great crowds marched through the streets, thousands gathering in the neighborhood of the post office square.

The war minister, General Dracos, ordered out Greek troops and marines to guard every approach to the square and in order to prevent any clash between Greek civilians and the French, who occupied that section, establishing a complete cordon about the French and taking all precautions to avoid any incident or accident capable of starting strife.

It is impossible to predict whether trouble can be prevented throughout the night. The Greek government is fully alive to the fact that Greece's fate hangs on the prevention of further measures on the part of the French commander.

Earlier in the day a review by King Constantine of the sailors belonging to the vessels of the Greek navy which were taken possession of by the entente allies, was made the occasion for an immense royalist demonstration, crowds parading the streets, hauling life-size portraits of the sovereign and wildly cheering for the monarch.

Admiral Dabianov, minister of marine, read an order of the day, praising the loyalty of the sailors and complimenting them on their conduct under most trying circumstances.

After the ceremony, the king assembled the officers about him and addressed them personally, expressing pride that they had scorned offers of money and honors, and had remained faithful to their oath to their country. He gave his word that he would stand by them to the end, regardless of what their loyalty might entail.

CHARGE SENATOR OF FINANCING MURDERS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Red Oak, Ia., Oct. 17.—The trial of two $25,000 damage suits recently instituted by State Senator F. F. Jones of Villisca, against J. N. Wilkerson, a Kansas City detective, and eight well-known citizens of Montgomery county, charging libel, are expected to produce interesting developments at the term of the district court which opens here today.

The complaint charges the defendants with responsibility for stories to the effect that Jones financed the Villisca murders in 1912. Both sides express anxiety for an early hearing, but it is thought on account of the intense feeling among the people of the county, that an effort will be made to obtain a change of venue.

Chicago Mayor on Stand

Chicago, Oct. 17.—William Hale Thompson, mayor of Chicago, and republican national committeeman for Illinois, were placed on the witness stand before Justice Olson, of the municipal court today in connection with State's Attorney Hynes' application for warrant against chief of Police C. C. Healey and the latter's secretary, William Lofhardt. He denied ever having interfered with the chief's performing his duties.

FARMERS GO ON RECORD, ALONG WITH UNIONS, IN FAVOR OF WILSON

Strong Endorsement Is Given, at Meeting of Agricultural Congress, of President's Foreign Policies.

DIAMOND REPLIES TO COLONEL ROOSEVELT

Labor Leader Says Rough Rider Did Great Harm to Miners When He Settled Anthracite Strike.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 17.—Endorsing in the most emphatic language President Wilson's foreign policy and applauding his courage and patriotism, the Farmers' National congress of the United States, in its thirty-sixth annual session, today telegraphed hearty congratulations to the president, expressing the profound gratitude and appreciation of this important body for the successful efforts of the president in keeping "the nation preferably at peace during one of the most trying periods of its history." The organization also expresses appreciation of the administration's "constructive and effective legislation enacted for the benefit of the farmers of America."

Vrooman, Wilson's Representative.

The president, unable to attend, sent Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carl Vrooman to "convey to you my personal greeting and assurance of sympathy and good will. The loyal and effective support which has been given by your organization to further the passage of legislation in the interest of the farmer during the present administration is most sincerely appreciated." To the president's telegram the congress today sent this reply:

"Your message of good will to the Farmers' National Congress of the United States has been met with great enthusiasm.

"This congress, at the thirty-fifth annual session at Omaha, Neb., Sept. 30, 1913, adopted the following resolutions:

"Resolved, that this congress commends the foreign policy of President Wilson, while standing at the head of the American nation during one of the most critical and trying periods of its history.

"Resolved, that we express absolute confidence in his courage, patriotism and diplomatic ability.

"Resolved, that we offer him our loyal support in his effort to protect the rights of American citizens and to maintain impartial neutrality."

"The Farmers' National congress extends to you as the executive head of the nation its profound gratitude and appreciation on your successful efforts to keep the nation honorably at peace during one of the most trying periods of its history.

"This body notes with grateful appreciation the constructive and effective legislation enacted for the benefit of the farmers of America during your administration with the loyal assistance of those representatives of all parties who have supported the president in his efforts to promote the general welfare, accept our sincere thanks and assurances of continued loyalty."

Denounces Roosevelt On R. R. Affair.

Speaking officially for the United Mine Workers of America, William Diamond, statesman for the union, today denounced the attempt of Theodore Roosevelt to discredit President Wilson's handling of the recent railroad controversy.

Mr. Diamond makes it plain that the republican effort to show that Candidate Hughes would have dealt with the railroad strike just as Roosevelt "settled" the coal strike is not making labor votes for the republican candidate.

"The United Mine Workers is not concerned as an organization in party politics," said Mr. Diamond, "but it is directly concerned when a political speaker misrepresents the facts with regard to matters which vitally affect the interests of the union."

"Mr. Roosevelt forced a settlement of the 1902 strike when the miners were at a point of winning a great victory, and when action such as Roosevelt took was the only thing that could save the faces and pocket-books of Messrs. Morgan, Stotesbury, et al. It is ridiculous for Mr. Roosevelt to talk as he did at Wilkesbarre about arousing the antagonism of these financial interests. He was their master, coal was selling at $28 a ton, the time had come when the owners could no longer refuse to end the famine by granting the just demands of their employees and the union still had a million dollars in its treasury."

Roosevelt's Interference Bad on Miners.

"Because of Roosevelt's interference, the miners endure five months of suffering and privation without gaining their object. The award was not satisfactory, it was ten years before the miners could get it modified sufficiently to secure representative committees to enforce the award. The anthracite miners were more by direct negotiation last spring without losing a single day's wages than Roosevelt's settlement gave them."

"The anthracite coal miners will not be impressed when Mr. Roosevelt says that the recent railroad controversy should have taken the same course."

HUGHES REPLIES TO HECKLERS IN IOWA; ROUNDLY CHEERED

York had legislation in its favor by which the consumers of gas paid a rate, as fixed by law and sustained by the courts, of 80 cents.

"Then there followed an investigation of much wider concern. It related to the security of the homes of Americans. It related to the security of those who, through life insurance, had endeavored to protect their lives and their children against the hazard of untimely death. We had in that a very laborious inquiry. It brought to my attention a great variety of matters deeply affecting the interests of the community."

"We endeavored to safeguard the policyholders of the nation by wise legislation, regulating our life insurance enterprise. We endeavored to see to it that public supervision should be entirely impartial and wholly efficient in the interest of those concerned in this great enterprise."

"It was called from this to the governorship of the state. I went with a great deal of information with respect to the conduct of public business. I went to the governor's chair with this determination, that while I sat there, there would be no influence or power which should in any way affect my action so as to be in the slightest degree injurious to the welfare of all the people in that state."

The crowd interrupted with a yell. "Who's all right?" some one shouted. The answer came from every section of the house, in a roar: "Hughes!"

"Now, I refer to this," Mr. Hughes continued, "because there has been recently an extraordinary statement made that in some way I have become a sponsor for invisible government. Such a preposterous charge needs no attention and yet I should like to take advantage of the fact that it has been uttered to remind the American people of one or two things."

"In the first place, during my governorship at Albany, there was no barter of appointments for legislation."

"In the next place, legislation was considered upon its merits in the open."

"At the same time, we had legislation dealing with the great subject of the regulation of the public utilities. There were men who did not at that time see the importance of that action. We thought that it was time to vindicate the supremacy of the public interest. We did not buy our way through the legislature; we did not compromise with principle. We went straight to the people of the state, and the people sustained our policies and they were enacted into law."

"I desire to say to my fellow citizens that no one more than I stands determined against every influence of the invisible government, against every alliance of business and politics, against every subversion of the machinery of government to any private purpose against every means of corruption in our public life."

"And I should not want to occupy the highest station in the gift of the people, except upon the terms upon which I shall occupy it if called; and that is that there is no promise or obligation to any man, and that we will stand there with visible government, according to our constitutional system, in the interest of all the people of this land."

The nominee had just about concluded his attack on the administration for the enactment of the Adamson bill, when he was asked if he would repeal the measure is elected.

"My dear sir," he replied to a surer, "you cannot repeal a surer, 'repeal'." The crowd cheered. "You cannot repeal what has been done by this administration of authority," Mr. Hughes continued, "and further your question shows that you do not fully understand the terms of the Adamson bill."

"Under the Adamson bill it goes into effect the first of January, then there is a provision that for six months or nine months, there shall be observations of its workings. Six months is the minor period, and then the wages which are to be upon this new basis shall continue to be paid until thirty days after the report of the commission."

"Now sir, this will have been in operation for a very long time before I should even take the executive chair, if elected, and will have completely its purpose before Congress would have its session in the following December."

"I do not suppose that any question of repeal would be involved, but I do say, that when that question arises, if it does arise, if I am elected, I will follow the principle that I now state and have just stated of ascertaining the exact facts and what justice would dictate ought to be done at that time."

Mr. Hughes concluded his speech with a reiteration of his denial that a vote for him meant a vote for war."

REPORT VILLA TO BE ON BABICORA RANCH

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
El Paso, Oct. 17.—Francisco Villa is now on the Babicora ranch at Babicora, according to the statement of passengers arriving here today from Pearson, a station on the Mexican Northwestern railway below the American expeditionary base.

Evidence from other sources indicates that Villa is concentrating his troops in the Babicora district, as passengers from Parral say that Villa lands are moving northward, and from Terreon report them heading northwest.

All reports agree as to heavy Carranza troop movements, indicating an energetic campaign against Villa directed from Chihuahua City. General Mayotte started a few days ago with a column from Santa Rosalia to cut off Villa's retreat to the south, while another large force is proceeding from Villa Ahumada toward Casas Grandes.

It is said in Chihuahua that the reason why no energetic steps were taken against Villa after the attack of September 16 on that city was due to shortage of ammunition, handicaps now overcome.

ASK PARLIAMENT FOR GOVERNMENT RATION CONTROL

Complaint Made of Inadequate Measures in Handling Food Supply and Preventing Excessive Rise in Prices.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
London, Oct. 17.—In the house of commons today a debate arose over the food situation, a number of the members complaining of the inadequate measures of the government to control food supplies and prevent an excessive rise in prices.

Walter Runciman, president of the board of trade, in reply to the complaints, said he was hankering for a practical proposal which had not been forthcoming for preventing evils that were largely due to the increased food consuming capacity, not only of the army, but of munitions and other workers, and the decreasing supplies of food.

Mr. Runciman said there was no evidence of serious monopolization or exploitation of foodstuffs, and if there had been he would not have hesitated to ask parliament for power to deal with such a situation.

In relating the measures the government has taken with regard to meat and wheat, Mr. Runciman said every effort was being made to increase available tonnage for imports, and that the admiralty had agreed in many instances to do with a smaller number of vessels. In conclusion, the president of the board of trade said there would be no extension of the principle of rationing, and that the government had no intention of putting the country in the position of a blockaded city.

D. C. HOSPITAL CORPS ENTRAIN FOR HOME

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 17.—The first field hospital company of the District of Columbia entrained here tonight for its home station. The men will stop over in El Paso tomorrow, to be issued overcoats and winter clothing.

The signal corps of the District of Columbia finished its field training in Nogales Monday and started for Douglas, but whether afoot or by train has not been learned. The company marched from Warren, Ariz., to Nogales.

The Fifth New Jersey infantry, 1,200 strong, was not able to entrain today, as expected, the Colorado troops, which arrived yesterday, not having brought sufficient equipment to carry them eastward. Additional equipment has been ordered and they are expected to leave Douglas October 25, it was stated by Major Cannon, camp quartermaster today.

AMERICAN REMOVED FROM DUTCH LINER BY BRITISH

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
New York, Oct. 17.—Four Belgians and one man claiming to be an American were removed from the Holland-American liner Ryndam by British authorities at Kirkwall and Falmouth, according to officers of the ship on her arrival here today from Rotterdam. The American passenger was Ernest Young. Passport irregularities were alleged by the British.

Wireless advices that submarines had been active near the American coast were received by Captain Krui of the Ryndam, soon after leaving Falmouth, and at night all lights were kept burning, including name and nationality in electric letters three feet high, along the rail on each side of the vessel. Nothing was sighted, the officers reported.

NEW YORK STRIKERS ATTACK STREET CARS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
New York, Oct. 17.—Violence in the city's transit situation was resumed today when strikers and sympathizers made several attacks on surface cars in upper Madison avenue. Bricks were thrown through windows and several passengers were injured, and a conductor was assaulted and robbed. Police reserves dispersed the troublemakers.

The strikers apparently took advantage of the fact that 2,400 policemen were parading to display the military efficiency acquired at summer preparedness camps.

OIL STRIKERS' DEMANDS ARE REFUSED AGAIN

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)
Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 17.—The demands of the striking Standard Oil employees were refused again today, when a committee representing the strikers conferred with George Hennessey, superintendent of the Standard Oil company's main plant. The committee was appointed yesterday as the result of a mass meeting arranged by the city authorities.

Superintendent Hennessey informed the committee it was reported that he would deal with them when they dropped their wage demands. He said the company was ready to grant or arbitrate the other demands regarding work conditions and rearrangement of hours.

Iowa Blackmail Case Dropped.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—It was learned today that federal investigation of the so-called "Iowa blackmail case" has been dropped. An Iowa man, whose name was never made public, in this case was said to have been victimized out of $10,000 by two girls, Harold W. Jirka, attorney for the girls involved, said that investigation had shown that the girls had a just claim on "a wealthy druggist from Cedar Rapids."

A tentative program was discussed and submitted to a committee for drafting along lines described by the national defense act, providing for military instruction in civilian institutions. It will be issued by the war department in the form of a general order. Under the proposed plan, the government would provide army instructors, equipment, and other assistance.

CHURCHMEN VOTE TO REMOVE FROM SERVICE PRAYER FOR PRESIDENT

House of Deputies at Episcopal Convention Substitutes Petition for the Nation Instead.

PRESENT SUPPLICATION IS ENGLISH ADAPTATION

New Version Not Concerned Over Executive's Health and Prosperity or His Eternal Felicity.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—The house of deputies of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church voted to eliminate the special prayers for the president of the United States from the morning and evening prayer service, and to substitute for them a prayer for the nation. The new prayer will be used in both services.

As it is now in the prayer book, the morning prayer asks for the president, the house of deputies, the president, the nation, and the world. The new prayer is adopted for both services, while making that the president and all others in authority, to be given the wisdom and strength to know and to do their duty, makes a reference to long life, health, prosperity or eternal felicity.

The house also voted, despite vigorous protests, to omit the words "the president of this state," from the evening prayer. It being argued that "all others in authority" included the president.

The change, which was adopted at the suggestion of the commission on prayer book, must be approved by the house of bishops and by the general convention before it can become effective.

Adaptation From England.

Rosell Page of Beaver Dam, Pa., objected to the change. Rev. Leighton Parks of New York spoke in favor of the change. He said that the present prayer in the morning service was an adaptation of the prayer for the king in the prayer book of the Church of England, and that it was trivial to pray for the health, prosperity and long life of the president.

In the house of deputies, the day was largely occupied by the reading of the proposed changes in the book of common prayer. The recommendations of the commission appointed to study the problem, were read and discussed section by section.

Members of the commission answered inquiries and offered suggestions, and in practically every case the changes being in the interest of abbreviation and simplification, were approved.

The house of bishops, the upper body, holding its meeting behind closed doors, also spent the day considering the proposed changes.

Committee Is Adverse.

Shifted parliamentary maneuvering averted the resolution admitting women to membership in the house of deputies from being killed by an adverse committee report. The committee to which the resolution, introduced by Robert H. Gardner of Maine, had been referred, reported the proposal was inexpedient at this time. Mr. Gardner, however, before the committee report was acted upon, made a motion placing the original resolution on the calendar, thus giving it a chance for discussion in the house.

STARS IN FILMDOM

THE FILM DEBUT OF E. H. SOTHERN

He explained that a woman is no longer a chattel, as she was regarded 1,900 years ago when the church was founded.

Commencement of the European war was taken in both houses of the convention today. From the house of bishops came the announcement that the pastoral letter this year will contain a message to the communicants of the church "in view of the present world crisis." This letter is read at the final session of each triennial convention and subsequently in each Protestant Episcopal church in the United States.

The Right Rev. Charles H. Brent, bishop of the Philippines; Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts; and the Right Rev. Charles P. Anderson, bishop of Chicago, were chosen to draft the letter.

Steps looking toward an official expression from the convention of its attitude on practical methods tending to minimize war were taken today, when the house of deputies adopted a resolution, submitted by Lewis Stockton, a layman of Buffalo, N. Y. This proposed that a committee of three clergymen and three laymen be appointed to present a resolution embodying these ideas to the house. The house of bishops concurred in the resolution.

A larger religious life in the homes of the United States was urged in a resolution introduced in the house of deputies by the Rev. Charles N. Tyndell of Williamport, Pa. This resolution, which was referred to committee, said there had been serious changes in the family and the home life of the American people during the present generation and that it is to the church that the people look for a different leadership in conserving the best elements. The resolution provides for a commission of five bishops, five clergymen, and five laymen "to study the whole question of the present status and condition of the home and family life of the people of the United States in its relation to religion and morals," making a report to the 1919 convention.

Announcement was made from the house of bishops tonight that the Rev. Irving B. Johnson of Fairbairn, Minn., will be consecrated bishop Colorado in Denver, January 1. The Right Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle of St. Louis, presiding bishop of the church will officiate.

Announcement also was made that the house of deputies will go into executive session late tomorrow considering the confirmation of the election of the Rev. James Wise of St. Louis.

AGRICULTURE RESOURCES NOT MADE THE MOST OF

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 16.—E. J. Watson, president of the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture, issued a call today for a meeting of the association's executive committee at Washington, October 25, to discuss conditions which he said were retarding agricultural development. He declined to discuss the conditions, but issued a statement saying: "For some months certain conditions have been developing in many of the states, that are not making fullest development of the agricultural resources of the nation and there has been an increasing demand that steps be taken to cure these conditions. It is probable that the executive committee, the members of the committee will proceed to Shadow Lawn, to discuss them from the national standpoint with President Wilson."

PRESIDENT'S PARDON COST HUBBARD'S LIFE

Philadelphia Press.—On January 11, 1913, Elbert Hubbard pleaded guilty in the federal court at Buffalo to six counts in an indictment brought by a federal grand jury charging him with sending immoral matter through the mails. The matter was contained in a periodical of which he was proprietor. He was fined $100 on one count and sentenced to the other five counts and was placed on probation for one year. He appealed his conviction, deprived him of his rights as an American citizen. He appealed to President Taft for a pardon, but it was denied on the ground that the petition was premature. In April, 1915, desiring to obtain a passport in order that he might go to Europe to write about the war, he went to Washington and through Secretary Tumulty appealed to President Wilson, who referred the matter to the attorney general. Recommendation for a pardon was made and the pardon was signed by President Wilson. Hubbard obtained his passport, sailed on the Lusitania and was lost.

GERMANY'S FIFTH WAR LOAN REACHES HIGH GRAND TOTAL

Subscribers to the Empire's Coiffers of Mars Bring Amount of Last "Touch" Up to 10,500,000,000 Marks

Berlin, Oct. 17 (via London, Oct. 18).—The fifth war loan attained its grand total of 10,500,000 marks by the taking of big subscribers—those leading more than 50,000 marks apiece, while the individuals subscribing less than 25,000 marks fell off considerably from the figures of the fourth loan, according to a recapitulation of the loan statistics just published. The number of subscribers who offered over 50,000 marks increased from 18,262 to 12,575, and their loans increased from 4,138,909 to 5,221,000. The subscribers of more than 1,000,000 marks increased by 151 to 725, and their loans by 625,969,000 marks, the highest increase in any one class.

The smallest subscribers—those loaning less than 200 marks—fell off in number by 612,924, and in subscriptions by 47,609,000 marks. The fifth loan suffers unjustly by comparison with the fourth loan, however, because the latter was distinctly a loan of little subscribers and only collected all of the previous three loans. The fifth loan includes 716,000 marks subscribed by the population of Munich, a Russian Baltic province.

A gold purchasing headquarters was opened in Berlin today at which the public may turn in jewelry to increase the empire's supply of gold against the payment of the exact value of gold. Others are to be opened soon. The first visitors included the mayor and city councilors, men and women of Berlin society, officials of the state and empire, who came in such numbers to the city hall headquarters that it is expected this bureau will have to be enlarged.

ALL RUN-DOWN AND NERVOUS

Says This Lady Who Had to Support Family of Four. Read Below Her Statement About Cardui.

Tolpelt, Ga.—Mrs. Sallie Eldon, of this place, writes: "I was in very poor health, all run-down, nervous, had fainting spells, dizziness and heart trouble. I had these symptoms usually at my work. I had a very hard time, working for seven years in a hotel after my father died. I had to support my family of four. I read the Birthday Almanac and thought I would begin taking Cardui. I received good benefit from it. I am sure it will do all that it claims to do. I took three or four bottles before it began to show effects. After that I improved rapidly and gained in health and strength. I took nine bottles in all. This is the only time I have taken it. I was down to 100 pounds and I gained to 125. I felt like a new woman. I couldn't sleep before and had to be rubbed. I would get so nervous and numb. And all this was stopped by Cardui."

The true value of a medicine can be determined only by the results obtained from its actual use. The thousands of letters we have received every year for many years from grateful users of Cardui, are powerful tributes to its worth and effectiveness. If you suffer from womanly ailments, try Cardui, the woman's tonic.

DECLARES FRENCH POLICIES WILL BE REMOULDED

Premier Briand Predicts That After the War the Republic Will Make Use of Its Lessons.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—The remodeling of French political methods after the war resulting in a concentration of government, is predicted by Premier Briand, according to a conversation the premier has had with friends, which is recapitulated in the Figaro by Alfred Capus, the dramatist and member of the French academy. M. Capus quoted the premier as saying: "As the result of lessons which it can not escape, I believe our country will resume instinctively the notion of direct council and authority. There will be this difference, that while under political regime this authority was upon it historically and by custom, today it is the country itself which demands it from its elected representatives as well as a more firm and concentrated direction of its business."

Bound to Have Fresh Outlook. "I am thinking of the next group of politicians who will be in power. They are bound to come on the scene with a fresh outlook and less bound by opinions and doctrines will submit themselves more easily to experience. Our present political methods are not at all damaged by the war. They simply require to be revised and remodeled and readapted."

"There will be substituted the notion of public welfare which has been lost in what one might call the pulverization of efforts. What will be wanted will be the concentration of effort in the general interest."

"In my opinion the need of tomorrow is to concentrate instead of disperse, and you can not imagine with what good will universal suffrage will accept these principles."

Speaking of the actual situation, Premier Briand said: "I simply ask you to consider what has already been gained and what no hazard of war can take from us. Compare what France and Paris were in July, 1914, with what they are in October, 1916. The truth is, that we were not decadent, but that a new generation had sprung up, more sensible, perhaps, to reminders of defeat, more serious, more impatient, than those which had preceded it. German insolence had contributed a great deal to this state of mind. And as one, nevertheless, dared not to think of war, there resulted a continual conflict between excited imaginations and humdrum routine politics. It was a kind of moral confusion, which manifested itself by an acute need for distraction, by a violent desire for the new, the unexpected."

Felt the World Did Not Appreciate.

"No, again, it was not decadence; it was, rather, a drive toward the old, the old ideal revived bluntly in the mind by incessant provocation. And then we felt that the world did not appreciate us at our just value, and that irritated and hurt us."

"A nation seen from without has a general aspect to which its citizens contribute. It is that which forms the foreigner's view upon which he forms his opinion. Well, our aspect was not in our favor and that was because it was not truly ours. It was distorted by an old defeat and the truth is that when France showed by unheard-of heroism that she meant to throw off the obsession—that that day suddenly all peoples by common agreement recognized their error as regards us and the prestige of France has become again extraordinary—greater than it has ever been at any epoch."

Regained All Influence.

"In resuming our individuality as a nation we have recuperated at a blow all our influence, all our attraction. That is what we have gained and nothing can affect it. That is the moral work accomplished in these two years, not to speak of the rest."

"The consequences? Incalculable. They will affect all of us, our advances as citizens as much as our industrial prosperity. They will affect labor, commerce, the arts of luxury. The completion of the task, the crowning of it by victory, is well worth taking time and patience over. And if that victory is hard to win it is precisely on account of its extent and of what must be wrested from the enemy before it can be complete. For much depends upon it. A free existence, prosperity, social reform, a republic powerful and unchallenged."

WILSON LEAVES FOR CHICAGO TO MAKE ADDRESSES

While Not Scheduled to Appear Before Partisan Gatherings, a Marked Political Effect Is Counted On.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 17.—President Wilson will leave here tomorrow for Chicago, where he is to speak three times Thursday. En route to and from Chicago, his train will make a number of brief stops in New York, Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. While Mr. Wilson has refused several invitations to make speeches, he will appear on the observation platform of his private car to shake hands with people who assemble to greet him, and perhaps say a few words to them.

While arrangements for the president's visit to Chicago include no appearance before the strictly partisan organizations, his campaign managers are counting on the trip to have a marked political effect. They include Illinois, Indiana and Ohio in the doubtful states and wish the president to meet as many persons as possible on tomorrow's trip.

Travels in Regular Car.
Leaving here at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, the president will travel to New York in a regular Pullman car. He will leave there on a special car at 1 o'clock, going to Chicago by way of Albany and Rochester.

Thursday, he will make the following stops: Goshen, Ind., 8:47 a. m.; Kokhart, 9:05 a. m.; and South Bend, 9:34, arriving at Chicago at 11:59 a. m. Several other stops may be added. The president will remain in Chicago until 11:45 o'clock Thursday night.

At 1 p. m., he will lunch at the Chicago Press club, and afterward will address a non-partisan women's meeting at the auditorium, dining privately afterward. At 8 o'clock in the evening he will deliver the main address of his trip before the third annual new citizens' alliance meeting. This address is expected to have an important bearing on the hypnestic issue of the campaign.

The president will return to Long Branch Friday by way of Alliance, Pittsburgh, Altoona, Huntington, Lewis Junction and Harrisburg. Mrs. Wilson, Secretary Tumulty and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the White House physician, will accompany him on the trip.

President Wilson spent most of today working on official business in preparation for the visit to Chicago. He will speak here Saturday at a celebration of "Farmers' day."

SUPER-DREADNAUGHT ARIZONA IN SERVICE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Oct. 17.—The super-dreadnaught Arizona, one of the two most powerful ships in the United States navy, was put in commission at the navy yard here today under command of Capt. John H. McDonald. The vessel is manned by sixty-seven marines and 800 sailors, said to be considerably short of her full complement. The men were assembled from various ships.

The Arizona, a sister ship to the Pennsylvania, was constructed at the New York navy yard. She has a displacement of 22,547 tons, is 608 feet long, and designed for a cruising speed of 21 knots. She has twelve 14-inch guns and a secondary battery of twenty 5-inch guns, and also carries two anti-aircraft guns.

Body of Prince to America.
Boston, Oct. 17.—The body of Norman Prince, the American aviator who was fatally injured last week while operating an airplane in a French raid on Obendorf, will be brought to this country for burial, it was learned today. Arrangements for the shipment of the body will be made by Frederick Prince, Jr., a brother, and Charles Prince, an uncle, who took charge of the body of the aviator when he died in the hospital in the Yonkers on Sunday, shortly after receiving the cross of the Legion of Honor.

HANLY DISPUTES HUGHES' CLAIM WITH EMPHASIS

Prohibition Candidate Asserts Liquor Interests Were "Invisible Government" at Albany.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) South Bend, Ind., Oct. 17.—Declaration by Charles E. Hughes in Albany, that there was no invisible government in New York, caused Frank J. Hanly, prohibition candidate for president, today to assail Hughes' attitude on the liquor question during that period. Hanly insisted the liquor interests then comprised a powerful "invisible government" in New York, and that Hughes refused to attack them.

"I have no desire," he said, in speaking to several Michigan and Indiana audiences, "to butt into the despicable controversy going on between Wilson and Mr. Hughes, but that the record may be kept straight and the country not misled, I take issue flatly with Mr. Hughes' statement that while he was governor of New York there was no invisible government."

Says Hughes Knew It.
"There was no home during his administration when invisible government was not triumphant at Albany, nor has there been an hour since, when it has not been," Mr. Hughes knew it, and was constantly impudently by the best citizens of his commonwealth to do battle with it, and he refused to molest it, or even touch it.

"It dominates Mr. Hughes now, sealing his lips, making his tongue mute; dominated him until nothing can persuade or induce him to give public utterance, however slight, against it, though he has journeyed through states where the people are at death grips with it."

Wilson Also Mute.
"The only defense Mr. Hughes can make to this charge is to answer that President Wilson also is mute, and obedient to the same element of invisible government. To this extent, both are its representatives, at best, the dumb tolerators."

Little hope is expressed that Michigan will go dry this fall, although local dry workers insisted they would win by a majority of from 15,000 to 20,000. The crowds were only fair. After crossing the Indiana line tonight into Hanly's home state, the increase in numbers was pronounced.

Finding that Michigan voters, like their California associates, were arguing that President Wilson is opposed to statewide prohibition, Ira Landrith, the vice presidential nominee, declared at Kalamazoo today that the president's position was being misrepresented. Landrith said he had seen a letter the president wrote to a Texas man declaring his advocacy of statewide prohibition. This letter was not among those forwarded to the prohibitionists recently by Secretary Tumulty in his explanation of the president's idea on the dry situation.

MEXICANS RELEASE AMERICAN CATTLEMAN

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Del Rio, Tex., Oct. 17.—George Miers, American cattleman, arrested by Mexican military authorities at Salinas, Mexico, on a charge of violation of Mexican customs laws, arrived here today, having been released under a bond.

Miers was arrested October 2, with Joseph Wilmoth, a Chicago banker, in connection with alleged violation of Mexican customs laws relating to cattle exports from Mexico. Wilmoth was released without filing of formal charges.

Wheat Breaks All Records in Portland.
Portland, Ore., Oct. 17.—Wheat prices broke all records on the local market today, spot bids advancing from 2 to 4 cents per bushel. Spot, blue stem, bids were quoted at $1.41, as against 89¢ a year ago. Five thousand bushels of November blue stem were sold at $1.02, a record for the present year.

NO REDUCTIONS OF CONDUCTORS' PAY POSSIBLE

Officials of Brotherhoods Expose Canard Set Out in Hope of Jarring Union Men Away From Wilson.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL) Washington, Oct. 17.—W. Jett Lauck, economic expert and chief statistician for the railroad brotherhoods, issued a statement today disposing of the claim made by republican politicians that passenger train employees will suffer a reduction of pay on account of the Adamson eight-hour law. Referring to reports published in morning newspapers that passenger engineers would be paid by the hour instead of on a mileage basis, Mr. Lauck replied:

No Substitution Made.
"The Adamson law does not substitute hourly for distance or miles as a basis of payment. By the terms of the Adamson law, eight is substituted for ten hours in existing agreements between the railroads and their employees. This is the express provision of the law and President Wilson specifically so stated in his address to congress."

The basis of payment remains absolutely unchanged in this respect. Employees may take either hours or miles for any trip, as has been the custom hitherto.

Under the provisions of the Adamson law rates of pay to passenger men could not be reduced.

Mr. Lauck's statement was supplemented later by A. B. Garretson, president of the Order of Railway Conductors and spokesman for all of the four brotherhoods in the eight-hour negotiations, and by W. B. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Engineers.

Garretson telegraphed from Cedar Rapids, Ia.: "There is no foundation whatever for the statement that passenger conductors oppose the Adamson law on the ground of fear of a reduction in earnings."

"Nothing in the law warrants such an attitude," Carter wired from Peoria, Ill.

"The mileage basis governing payment of employees in passenger service will not be disturbed under the Adamson law."

PRESENTS PLAN FOR IRRIGATION BY GOVERNMENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) El Paso, Tex., Oct. 17.—Judge Will H. King, chief counsel for the United States reclamation service, presented a new plan for limited government control of irrigation projects in the west to the International Irrigation congress today.

Speaking as a delegate from Oregon and not as an official of the reclamation service, Judge King urged his plan to have the government approve of the engineering soundness, a proposed project, guarantee the bonds which would be issued by the irrigation district and then have the water users composing the district organization consent to government control of the project until a major part of the cost had been collected. The project could then be turned over to the district organization, he said. This Judge King stated, would permit each district to build its own system without funds being advanced by the federal government, the government acting in a protective capacity only.

Dr. W. M. Jaffure, dean of the agricultural department of the Kansas Agricultural college, made a plea for retaining the farmer boys and young men on the farms. He recommended that farm values be fixed on a productive and not speculative basis and said a credit system based upon character should be established as the present credit institutions, including the land bank, were inadequate.

not propose to make official representation until we know the full facts and in the view of the United States government that applies only to the special proceedings of the German submarine, which we understood, are now the subject of special consideration of the United States government, who are themselves ascertaining the full facts of the case and willing, I suppose, in due course, to let it be known to the world what view they take.

"We shall then be able to decide whether it is necessary for us to make any official representation on the subject, and if so, what the nature of this official representation shall take."

Lord Hareford expressed the hope that the situation would not be allowed to remain as it was, as it would lead to irritation.

"We do not want political questions raised between these two great countries," he said, "but they are certain to be raised unless some definite conclusion is reached or some communication made between the two governments which will clear up the question."

WASHINGTON HAS NO DECLARATION TO MAKE

Washington, Oct. 17.—"There have been no indications in official circles here that the United States would make any declaration of policy regarding the U.S.S. visit to the western Atlantic, unless evidence of a violation of international law developed. The visit off Nantucket is viewed as an isolated case, in no way reopening the general submarine issue, and it is understood that all the information gathered thus far indicates that the submarine's activities were held within legal bounds. The investigation, however, has not been completed."

Officials have consistently declined to make any formal comment on the U.S.S. exploits while the incident is in progress. But surprise was apparent tonight at the suggestion that the submarine may have secured information illegally through newspapers taken aboard at Newport. That such a charge has not been considered here as entering prominently into the case.

AMERICANS TO OPERATE IDLE SONORA MINES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Douglas, Ariz., Oct. 17.—Adolfo de la Huerta, governor, and General P. Elias Calles, military commander of Sonora, have consented to the operation of all idle mining properties in the state, by an American syndicate, headed by J. Wilkerson, an American, who has been making his headquarters in Guaymas for several months, according to a private message received here from Nogales today. Wilkerson is in Arizona making final arrangements for beginning operations, the message said.

Many of the idle mines are owned by foreigners. The Sonora officials insisted on a survey of all properties the Wilkerson syndicate proposed to work.

A guarantee that his backers intended to prosecute the venture was given by Wilkerson, who is said to have agreed to pay the state a percentage of the gross output of the mines, to bear all expenses of transporting them and to surrender possession on demand of the owners.

RAIN SUSPENDS OPERATIONS OF BEAN THRESHERS

Feared That Excessive Moisture Had Injured Crop, but Since Weather Cleared, Is Found to Be Unhurt.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Mountainair, N. M., Oct. 16.—The past week has caused the bean threshers to suspend operations temporarily on account of the heavy rainfall. The precipitation has been greater during this time than has been known during a corresponding time of any October since the settlement of the country. It was feared that the excessive moisture had damaged the beans. But since the weather has cleared, careful examination of beans, both in the shock and stack, has been made, and they have been found to be all right. The threshers are again at work, and some beans are coming in for shipment. The roads are very heavy with water, but a few days New Mexico weather will see the beans rolling in and carloads rolling out.

Freight Business Good.
Local Agent J. A. Copeland of the Santa Fe, reports business as extra good with beans and cattle shipments going out, and supplies coming in. The amount of local freight handled at the Mountainair freight office is astonishing, and one wonders what becomes of all of it.

The decision of Judge Medler last week, quieting title to the Blue Star mining claim at Scholle, wherein the decision was awarded the Abo Canyon Copper Mining company, was received with delight by local people, as it insures the continuation of the working of these claims, which had been lying idle some fifteen years or more. Col. G. W. Pritchard, president of the company, advises that the output of the mine will be increased, and is looking forward to the installation of machinery in the near future.

Rev. B. E. Farley, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, has been what he is pleased to term "The Purple Heart Hero." He has been soliciting supplies, especially the nutritious frijoles from the growers to be donated to the various benevolent institutions of the state, including the Mountainair Industrial School for Girls, the Albuquerque Biblical School for Spanish-speaking Boys, the Methodist Deaconess Hospital and the Children's Home, all of Albuquerque, and the National Methodist Sanitarium at Silver City, and has thus far secured pledges of eight hundred pounds of beans. As he has just started his campaign, it is fair to expect that the Mountainair country will supply the wants of these institutions along this line.

Record in Mountainair School.
The honor roll of the Mountainair public schools was published last week for the month of September. This includes the names of all pupils who have been neither absent nor tardy during the month and contains sixty names. Out of a total enrollment of a little over one hundred, this speaks exceedingly well for our schools.

E. C. Sharpless has been marketing a portion of his beans and is driving to town in a new model Ford as a result. He threshed 38,000 pounds from 27 acres, or something more than a thousand pounds per acre.

RECENT FIGHTING ON SOMME FRONT UNPARALLELED

Detailed Reports Show Attacks Between Oct. 9 and Oct. 13 Greatest Actions of Whole Battle.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Berlin, Oct. 17.—(By Wire) to Sayville.)—Detailed reports about recent fighting on the Somme front show distinctly that the attacks between October 9 and October 13 are to be reckoned among the greatest actions of the whole Somme battle. "The objectives of these great French and British efforts were Bapaume and Peronne. Moreover, numerous hostile attacks of violence were directed against the front from Courcellette to St. Pierre Vaast wood north of the Somme, and between Fresnoy and Mazancourt and against Chaulnes, south of the river. Of these engagements those north of the Somme were most severe.

"On October 9, 10 and 11 the main centers of combat were north of Thiepval, north of Courcellette, near Sully-Sailly and in the vicinity of the St. Pierre Vaast wood. On October 12 a great and well co-ordinated attack was launched over the whole front from Courcellette to Bouchavesnes."

Even Surpassed Early October Attack

Speaking of the attacks on October 12, the news agency says: "The defenders of the Somme front had thought it impossible that the violence of the artillery fire in the great attack early in October could be exceeded, but nevertheless even this was surpassed. In spite of the terrific hail of iron the British and French did not succeed in reducing the German positions to such an extent that they could be stormed. French and British infantry in compact waves charged the German positions but were speedily brought to a standstill by the German curtain of fire.

"Notwithstanding their heavy losses, they attempted one attack after another. Near Sully-Sailly six charges were made. All failed completely, with the heaviest losses for the enemy. German infantry left their shelters and standing in the open, shot down the enemy columns with rifles and machine guns."

The effect of the German fire on the French and British, the news agency says, "was simply shocking." The account continues: "The Germans had not lost their energy and will notwithstanding days of the heaviest shelling, lack of sleep and the impossibility of obtaining sufficient food on account of the interruption to communications. The enemy displayed remarkable tenacity, but more remarkable was the bravery of the Germans, who not only had to defend positions against superior numbers but were called on to make counter-attacks and expel the enemy wherever he succeeded in gaining a foothold in the German line."

"Whole columns of French and British were literally mowed down by the German fire, the news agency says, and in the places where the fighting was fiercest, especially before St. Pierre Vaast wood, barricades of corpses were piled up." The account continues: "The enemy's attacks abated somewhat on October 13. He concentrated his efforts against Sully-Sailly and St. Pierre-Vaast wood, as well as the district east of Bouchavesnes."

"There is no possible doubt the enemy attempted to reach a decision with this enormous effort. Especially on October 12 he planned to break through on the largest scale. All prisoners declare that the losses of the enemy, especially those of the British, reached an amount here to fore unknown. Reports of German troops confirm this. Prisoners state French infantry companies now number hardly fifty men. The commander, in order to stimulate the courage of the troops had alcoholic drinks distributed profusely among them before the charge. This fact shows better than anything else the real morale of the French troops. Prisoners speak of the attack as 'hell on the Somme,' and 'useless slaughter.' The tragedy of the Somme seems near a climax."

Art of Goya in Magazine.
Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—"Goya and His Art," beautifully illustrated with reproductions of his most famous paintings, furnishes the theme for one of the leading articles in the November number of "Boletin de la Union Pan-Americana," just received by the library. The frontispiece is a bird's-eye view of Santiago, the capital of Chile. One of the illustrated articles is on the "Manufacturing Industries of Argentina," and the other on "Rare Industries in Central America." Indicative of the growing interest in Spanish America is the fact that the Sunday Magazine, of Los Angeles, beginning with yesterday's, will be devoted almost entirely to Latin America.

WILSON'S EFFORT TO SEND RELIEF TO POLAND FAILS

President Not Successful in Inducing Allies and Central Powers to Conclude Settlement.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 17.—President Wilson announced today that his efforts to bring about an agreement among belligerent nations to allow relief supplies to be sent to Poland had failed.

The statement follows:

"I have now received replies from the king of England, the president of France, the emperor of Russia, the emperor of Germany and the emperor of Austria, to my letter of July 25, 1916, in which I tendered the offices of this government in negotiations looking to a fresh consideration of the possibility and method of relieving Poland. It appears, I greatly regret to say, that there are still important differences between the allies and central powers as to the terms under which relief supplies may be sent to Poland. I am disappointed that I have not yet been successful in inducing the powers to conclude a definite settlement."

The letter sent by the president to various nations, made public today is as follows:

"Your Majesty: In view of the overwhelming disaster which has befallen the millions of non-combatant inhabitants of Poland, I feel justified by the universal and earnest expression of the sympathies of the American people regardless of racial origin or political sentiment, to suggest to your majesty that the subject of ways and means for the saving of those people who still survive, be given the further benevolent consideration of your majesty's government."

Should Avert Starvation of Millions.

"While no one can fail to appreciate the suffering and sacrifices of the people primarily engaged in the existing war, nor the difficulties in the way of alleviating the hardships of those who are the incidental sufferers of the war, the death by slow or rapid starvation of millions of innocent people is so awful a fact that such an outcome should be averted if it is within the compass of human effort to avert it. In the effort to avert it, I confidently pledge the co-operation of the people of the United States, if only the way can be found to make their co-operation effective."

"May I, therefore, be permitted to suggest that an entirely fresh consideration be given to the possibilities and efforts for relief for Poland and to tender the friendly offices of this government in negotiations to this end, and being understood that any proposed shall be of such a character as to be adapted to the accomplishment of no other right than that of the relief of the distressed inhabitants of Poland."

"In conclusion, I can only add that it is my sincere hope that your majesty will see in this note no intention to interfere with the rights and policies of your majesty's government, but merely an attempt to express to your majesty the sympathy and compassion for the starving inhabitants of Poland, felt by the citizens of the United States—a sympathy and compassion which they do not desire shall be evidenced merely by our word, but which they hope they may be permitted to express by assisting in the actual work of furnishing food to the starving inhabitants of Poland."

"I have the honor to be, your majesty, Faithfully yours,

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

He was sent to the asylum in order to hold him while the investigation progressed, it is stated.

EXTRA MUSICAL TREAT IN STORE FOR LOCAL PEOPLE

Everybody likes to hear good singing. That is why the Fortnightly Music club has engaged three of the finest exponents of vocal art before the public to participate in its Artists' course for this season.

Florence MacBeth, the coloratura soprano, is known on both continents as a rare artist with a personality as refreshing and delightful as a spring breeze. Her immense popularity is proved by the fact that, preceding her engagements with the Chicago Opera company, she is booked for twenty-five concerts.

In direct contrast to the clear, flute-like tones of Miss MacBeth, are the deep, full tones of the brilliant contralto, Frances Ingram. Thousands of music-lovers heard her last season and, with a tour of seven cities and five concert appearances in addition to her work in the Chicago Opera company ahead of her this season, thousands more will enjoy that privilege. The Fortnightly had some difficulty in securing an open date, in fact the season tickets were printed without Miss Ingram. When it was learned later that she would pass through Albuquerque the tickets were stamped, and the club is including this concert, at its own expense for the same price originally announced.

Of equal rank with the great Maud Powell, whom the Fortnightly presented so successfully last season, is Rudolph Ganz, the famous Swiss pianist. When the European war broke out he responded to his country's call and was for a time a captain in the Swiss military reserves. When it was learned that he would not be needed for active service, the Swiss government permitted him to make a tour of the United States. He is ready to respond should Switzerland at any time join the belligerents, and to prove that he is with his country in spirit he has turned over the entire proceeds of several concerts to the Swiss relief fund. He is a noted composer as well as one of the greatest pianists of the present day.

Cecil Fanning, the last to appear, has youth, fire, and enthusiasm in addition to a wonderful voice and art. He is entirely American trained and he bids fair to rival John McCormack for his singing of the songs and ballads the people love. His records may be heard at Rosenwald's. Season tickets to this remarkable concert course are now on sale. Student ticket, balcony, half price.

INDEPENDENT G. O. P.'S TO HOLD CONVENTION

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 17.—A convention of self-styled "Independent republicans" of San Miguel county has been called for October 26, in the Plaza hotel in the town of Las Vegas. The convention is called by a number of men who style themselves the "central committee" and are headed by Margarito Romero, brother of Eugenio Romero, the county treasurer, and uncle of Secundino Romero. Mr. Romero has stated that the convention is for the purpose of bringing about the nomination of men for the various county offices who have not been holding office in recent years. The "new election movement" was started by Mr. Romero last summer. Among the men who have signed the call for the convention are Apolonio A. Sena, a former member of the legislature, and Benigno Martinez, formerly chairman of the board of county commissioners. The democratic county convention is to be held on the same date, October 26, but it is not known whether the two meetings being called the same day has any significance.

Rain for Past Week 2.68 Inches.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 17.—The total rainfall for the past week was 2.68 inches, according to the gauge at the normal university. Considerable damage to the livestock interests will result because of the excess of moisture, it is believed, though the rain will put the range in good condition. The cattle, it is believed, have weakened and made less likely to withstand the ravages of a hard winter.

Sues Southern Pacific for $25,000.

Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—Because her husband was killed by tramps on a train on which he was brakeman, between Lordsburg and El Paso, Mrs. Laura E. Stevenson has sued the Southern Pacific for $25,000 damages. Grover C. Stevenson, on September 18, was at work on a freight train near Deming when he was attacked and killed by four tramps.

Don't Neglect Kidneys

Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Prescription, Overcomes Kidney Trouble.

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention than any other organ of the body to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

The kidneys should receive some assistance when needed. We take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, yellow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

All ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. There is nothing else like it. It is Dr. Kilmer's prescription used in private practice and it is sure to benefit you. Get a bottle from your druggist.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention the Albuquerque Morning Journal.

ARMY MULE KING OF TRANSPORTS ON THE BORDER

When It Comes to Navigating on Muddy Roads, Sixty Horsepower Trucks Are Not in the Missourian's Class.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) El Paso, Tex., Oct. 17.—In the big practice marches that the national guard units along the border are put through, with 18,000 men on the road at one time, the heavy test thrown upon transportation has vindicated the army mule in a way that surprised the old timers.

Motor trucks, with yellow prairie-schooner tops drawn over tons of supplies, make an impressive display on paved streets or macadamized roads. In Europe, where the road systems are perfect, motors have naturally superseded the old king of transport. But except in certain localities the deserts of the southwest are not provided with roads built for automobiles.

The divisional "hikes" out of El Paso form lines about fifteen miles long. For about ten miles stretch sections of infantry, cavalry and artillery that grind the roads under boots, hoofs and wheels. Then come field ambulances and supply divisions. The accumulated dust and drifting sand conceals treacherous chuck holes. Suddenly a truck goes in up to the hubs.

In the rear line, stalled trucks, and even stalled wagons, appear at intervals. They are unloaded, boosted out of the ruts and reloaded. Some of them are left too far behind to catch up in the night. This means some company has to roll up in its blankets, supperless, the horses of some troops must go without fodder, or some other unit may have to be watered.

But past the stalled sixty horsepower trucks, amble the trains of pack mules. The only trouble is that the mules do not pack enough.

Just arrived from the growers in California our stock of sweet peas. Plant your sweet peas now for next year and they will do much better than if planted next spring. E. W. FEE.

Magnums to Hunt in New Mexico.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 17.—A party of fourteen steel magnums will spend several weeks in the New Mexico mountains of this vicinity, arriving here the early part of November, according to announcement made by S. L. Fisher, who has been engaged as guide. The Harvey ranch will be the rendezvous and trips will be made in all directions from that well-known resort 10,000 feet above sea level. S. R. Cawthorne and J. J. Merrill of the American Steel Wire company are at the head of the party. Twenty horses will be used in the pack train. Mr. Fisher is known as one of the most successful hunters and guides in the entire state.

NO MORE BACKACHE FOR HER.

Mrs. J. M. Gaskill, Elma Green, Ind., writes: "I suffered from severe backache, and sharp pains shooting through my back until I could not stoop over and get up without aid. Urinary trouble seemed to be the cause of it all. A single box of Foley Kidney Pills gave me such relief that I cannot praise them too highly." This standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments can be taken with safety for backache, swollen ankles and rheumatic pains. Sold everywhere.

The democratic candidates in the present campaign are running on their records. The republican candidates are running away from theirs.

A. A. Jones has served in a cabinet position with distinction and ability—such is his standing that he has been designated as the personal representative of the president of the United States to open formally the greatest irrigation project in the world. His opponent is a man whose experience in statesmanship is limited to the activities of a county boss whose rule was a scandal to the community in which he lived.

W. B. Walton is an active, progressive democrat whose whole political life has been spent in furthering the principles which have made the administration of Woodrow Wilson the most successful since the civil war. His opponent is a reactionary republican whose two years in congress have been spent in hampering and hindering to the extent of his ability the progressive measures of President Wilson.

E. C. de Baca has for nearly five years been part and parcel of the splendid administration of Governor William C. McDonald, and is pledged to continue the McDonald policies if he is elected governor. His record is one of achievement and of progress. His opponent has no record to speak of—that is to say, he has a record, but he will not speak of it, nor will he allow any one else to speak of it if he can help it. The minute anything is said of the Bursum record Bursum rushes into court with a libel suit and declares that he will no longer submit to being called a "crook" or an "undesirable citizen."

Compare the records of the candidates on the two tickets, man for man. The democrats are out in the open, appealing for votes on their merits—asking for support on the strength of what they have done. The republicans have no reason to offer why people should vote for them except that they want the offices. Mud is their only ammunition—abuse their chief weapon.

There is a Real Difference

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

CIVIC ORGANIZATION MEMBERS HOLD MEETING

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—A meeting of representatives of various organizations engaged in civic work was held this afternoon at the public library assembly room to provide a method of raising funds toward the cost of erecting a recreation hall at Columbus for the New Mexico national guard. Next Tuesday will be tag day and the ladies will be busy about town, tagging all patriots.

The matter of entertaining the New Mexico Teachers' association was also discussed. After the meeting, the library committee met and selected books and journals for the coming year.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1916

LET NO MISTAKE BE MADE.

Let there be no mistake made today at the republican county convention. It is understood that County Commissioner Armijo will not accept a nomination again but that Alfred Grunfeld and Manuel Springer will accept. If the nomination is tendered them. If the republicans should fail to nominate them, there are responsible citizens of this county who will see to it that they get on a ticket, and that ticket will win.

If there is any one thing upon which the responsible taxpayers of Bernalillo county are determined, it is that their fiscal affairs shall remain in good hands.

There should be no opposition to the re-election of the present board of county commissioners, and the re-election of Superintendent Montoya should be made unanimous. There are times when we should rise above party for the sake of the public good.

HUGHES AND THE HATTERS' CASE.

Mr. Elmer E. Studley sends the following to the Journal with request that it be printed:

"I note in your editorial column of the Journal under date of October 15th, the following comment:

"One of the consequences of Mr.
Hughes' candidacy is that he is called upon to defend and explain the opinion written by him in the Danbury Hatters' case."

"What the Journal most needs in this matter is information. The only opinion ever written by the supreme court of the United States in the Danbury Hatters' case was written by Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller, and that opinion was announced by the United States supreme court on the 23rd day of February, A. D. 1908. At that time Mr. Charles Evans Hughes was the governor of the state of New York."

Careful lawyer as he is, Mr. Studley, like Jove, sometimes nods. If he will look up Lawle vs. Lawle, 235
U. S. 522, he will find a most vital opinion handed down by the supreme court, January 15, 1915, in which it is held that the circulation of an "unfair libel" by a union violates the antitrust law, if it is intended to restrain and does restrain commerce between the states. It also holds that members of labor unions who pay dues and continue to delegate authority to officers of the unions to unlawfully interfere with interstate commerce
are jointly liable with the officers.

This opinion was written by Justice Holmes and was concurred in by Justice Charles Evans Hughes.
It is because of these actions of the supreme court that Candidate Hughes
now finds himself compelled to defend the record of Justice Hughes.
The Journal stated that in accepting the nomination, Justice Hughes violated an amiable tradition of the highest judicial body in the world,
thereby bringing it unfavorably before the public, and that his action in resigning for the purpose of accepting nomination at the hands of a political convention was an unfortunate precedent.

Mr. Hughes says the prestige of the nation has suffered since Wilson became president. The prestige of Hughes has suffered since he went on the stump.

JULIA WARD HOWE.

The biography of Julia Ward Howe,
by her two daughters, Laura E. Richards and Maude Howe Elliott, is one of the notable books of the year, and deals with one of the notable women
of all time.

In the history of mankind few personalities have presented so striking
an example of serene heights attainable by normal development, as did Mrs. Howe. We use the word "normal" advisedly, for Mrs. Howe was not a master in any one field of endeavor.

As a poet she was no more than a second rate. The "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was the best of her productions, but it was timely, rather than great. As lecturer, essayist, and philanthropist, she was never the equal of the leaders of her time. Her novels were merely special pleas, and never could be considered as works of art. Yet, with it all, she was a greatly gifted woman.

Few men or women of any generation are able to achieve a complete life, and Mrs. Howe did that. Greatly favored by circumstances of birth and early education and the traditions of a cultured family, and possessed of a healthy body and a vigorous mind,
she believed in the worthwhileness of living; and it is a fine experience to read her biography and to note how unerringly, with no spurts of speed,
she rose steadily in the human scale
through all of the normal experiences of womanhood from the joyous girl
to the ripe grandmother of nearly one hundred years.

We may not like "Uncle Tom's Cabin," but we are bound to love
Julia Ward Howe.

There was a battle between the Hughes women and the Wilson
women of Tacoma, Wash., which shows that there is real interest in the campaign somewhere. The battle was merely one of slaps. Policemen interfered before the hair-pulling stage
had been reached.

AS TO MR. HUBBELL.

Frank A. Hubbell has issued a circular letter attacking the Journal and its management. The only remarkable thing about the Hubbell letter is its utter lack of truth. Here are a few of the untruths:

D. A. Macpherson, never at any time, made a request of Frank A.
Hubbell regarding an appointment to office for any one. He never made a request of Frank A. Hubbell for anything.

The Journal never has attacked the private life of Frank A. Hubbell. The lowest thing of Frank A. Hubbell is that the Journal has attacked his family. The family of Mr. Hubbell is an excellent one, and he should be too proud of it to drag it into a political campaign for the purpose of making political capital for himself.
At no time has the Journal ever intimated that Mr. Hubbell was interested in a case arising from a brawl, when asked what she knew
about it, replied, "Well, her told I
to hit her," and counsel remarked, "Her
did, did her?" Nautilus abashed, witness added with confidence, "and then
he came at me."

The Journal has attacked Frank A.
Hubbell as an unscrupulous political boss, as an official of Bernalillo county who was not faithful to his trust.

Mr. Hubbell says all of the charges made against him were tried in the courts and that he was completely vindicated. This is another false statement. The courts never heard the merits of the case, and the only thing approaching a vindication was the decision by the court that the territorial governor had no power to remove him on charges preferred by the attorney general.

The charges made by the Journal against Frank A. Hubbell have had to do with his public record only—with his record as superintendent of Bernalillo county schools, as county treasurer, and as republican boss of the county. This Mr. Hubbell knows, and his letter attacking the Journal is intended purely for the purpose of attracting sympathy for his lost cause.

The republican leaders may talk
as much as they like about the reconciliation of Roosevelt and Taft,
but neither Taft nor Roosevelt are mentioning the matter. Each believes the other cost him a term in the White House.

LET WELL ENOUGH ALONE.

Mr. Hughes asserts over and over again that if elected he will not drive
the country into war. No one believes that he would do so. He, with the responsibility upon him, probably would follow exactly the course that has been followed by President Wilson.

Because Mr. Hughes says he would accomplish the results that have been accomplished by Mr. Wilson, only that he would go about it in a different way, many republicans prefer re-election of President Wilson. They know that he has "delivered the goods,"
and they are afraid Hughes, with his different methods, might come a cropper.

This is a time for letting well enough alone.

No one should judge Mr. Hughes harshly because he is not making a better campaign. The trouble is not lack of ability but lack of material with which to attack Woodrow Wilson.

IMMORAL TO BET.

The Journal is asked if it is safe to bet on the election of Woodrow Wilson. It is just as safe to bet on Wilson at this election as it is to bet on Hughes. In this country as many as sixteen million votes might be cast, though it is not probable that more than thirteen to fourteen million voters actually will go to the polls. In this election there are so many unknown currents, so many elements which have no precedents in former elections, that no man is wise enough to say with certainty which side will win in November.

Besides, it is immoral to bet.

President Underwood, of the Erie railroad, says the reason Mr. Wilson changes his mind probably is because he has a mind to change.

About this time of year we begin to favor a law compelling the government to lay in our winter supply of coal.

THE MODERN MARATHON

With Scissors and Paste

FLOUNDERING IN PROMISSES.

(London Globe.)

Attention is directed just now to the meretricious cockney "derangement" of negatives. There is a provincialism that flounders among the personal promises. An assize court witness in a case arising from a
brawl, when asked what she knew
about it, replied, "Well, her told I
to hit her," and counsel remarked, "Her
did, did her?" Nautilus abashed, witness added with confidence, "and then
he came at me."

AN HONEST ORBITORY.

(Marquette Tribune.)

Frank Walter was a unique character. An honest comment is difficult to make in a newspaper. We do not want to say an unkind thing about him. He put nothing into this world and got nothing out of it. His hard-earned wealth brought him an early grave, and he could take none of it with him. He was honest as he was honesty, obeyed the laws of the land
when it cost him nothing, neighborly with one, trusted no one, got all he could and kept all he got. His uppermost philosophy of life was a false one—that is, that a man with money in his pocket must of necessity have friends and happiness. He contracted no debts, gave nothing to charity or public enterprise, knew nothing about the high cost of living, traveled never, read little, never went to a cent's foolishness, never invested or gambled. Many a lad of 19 has seen more of life worth living than he. He belonged to no societies, fraternal or religious. He enjoyed making good deals in buying and selling. He was sober, industrious, independent, a stickler for the last pound of flesh allowed by law. He has passed to his reward.

THE SOLDIER'S RETURN.

(London Answer.)

Respite! Seven days' respite after nearly two years in the incessant sound of the guns, in the midst of war.

He fingered the precious slip of paper cautiously, tenderly—read it over and over again. "No 20,044, Pte.
W. Smith, has leave of absence—to proceed to England."

England! Brightly, he translated.
"W. Smith," himself. And tomorrow
he would be speeding through France,
pacing the deck of the cross-channel steamer. Tomorrow night he would be home—home, after two years!

Glad! He was excited, more excited—big, strong, hard soldier—than ever he had been over the impending school treat of his boyhood. Only 12 hours more, and then home for six days.

He placed the precious pass in his breast pocket—placed it next to the photograph of his mother he carried it always. It seemed that his leave belonged to his mother.

It was no more hope now. Home was real. He had been traveling since the early morning. He had left war and France behind. The fast train to— that had only crawled,
the speedy channel boat that to him
had moved too sluggishly, the train
that had clanked at a snail's pace
from the home port to the London junction, and the slow wheels of the West country train, had at last brought him to the scenes he knew.

And down the country road his feet could not make pace enough. He was eager—too eager—for sight of the old cottage and all it held to be valuable and conversational with the old station master.

At last he turned down a narrow lane. He caught the heavy scent of the honeysuckle and the sweet freshness of the newly mown hay. And then the old house flashed into view.
Another hundred yards and he saw the creepers that twisted and clung
up the frontage, and used, he remembered, to burst into his window.
His eyes feasted on the smoke that curled so contentedly about the quaint looking chimney-pot.

They would be at tea. Almost he gave a whoop of joy. His goal, his home—he had reached it. He hastened up to the door. He knocked gently. Surely they would guess!

He was afraid to surprise them. His mother, his father, his sister—they may not have expected him so soon, perhaps.

A chair is pushed back; there are quick steps to the door; it is pulled open, and he stands on the threshold. There is a pause.

"Mother, 'us Bill!'" his sister cries.
And then two thin arms are stretched up about his neck, and he is bending down to her. He feels the fingering caress of his mother's lips as she kisses him with her kiss of welcome.

The golden days have dawned and waned swiftly. Six days of a wonderful peace, of a quiet that had stolen
into his soul and had made him
even more enamored of the subtle fascination of home. He liked to hear the rattle of the kettle and dish, he liked to hear the quick
step of his mother, he liked to listen to his sister's singing as she performed each household task.

He looked through the window over the broad fields, and thought, how good it would be to work there once again. But not yet.

Tomorrow these things would be a memory. And should he be fortunate to come back—come home—
he shall come back again.

There is that kiss that only those who have felt it know the worth of,
and he passed quickly through the garden gate. He is going to face horror and tragedy, brutality and ravage again.

And he knows the answer
as he looks back at the old hatched cottage, with its green creepers tracing over its walls, with the homely smoking chimney, and framed in the gateway, his dear old mother.

And he knows that she and home
are worth it all.

IN THE MAW OF THE SLOT MA- CHINE.

A case has arisen in New York, and is in the hands of the public service commission of that state, which, if followed to its logical conclusion, will bring to terms the unresponsive slot machine or put that delusion out of business. It is a pressing public need.

Dr. William Brady of Elmhurst, with that incisive which we all feel to be becoming, but which is sometimes costly, dropped his one cent into a drinking cup machine on a railroad
train and got nothing for his trouble and outlay. He is not the first one to suffer such treatment by some shabby slot machine. We have all been victims at one time or another,
and have turned away in sorrow and chagrin, suppressing a disposition to create a riot in order not to expose the fact that the depravity of an inanimate slot machine had got another victim. But Dr. William Brady of Elmhurst is different. He has no intention whatever of allowing a slot machine to impose upon him with impunity and get away with his cent without offering the least return for it.

He has lodged a formal complaint with the public service commission, and all the administrative machinery that would be set whirling to secure the return of one cent to Dr. Brady, or see to it that he gets his money back.

Thousands, perhaps millions of pennies have gone into disabled slot machines and never been heard of more, and for which there was no
quid pro quo. These unsatisfactory investments are being made every day, and it's about time that somebody had heroism enough to do something about it. Dr. William Brady that hero, and we wish him luck—
and his money back.

Mrs. Henry S. Kane, and Mr. and Mrs. Spitz, today became members of the Santa Fe Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, thus running the charter membership up to eighty-eight. It will take only three members to pass the Montreal,
Canada, society, which stands ninth
in membership among the fifty societies of the institute in the United States and Canada.

With ten more members it will pass
the Syracuse, N. Y., society, which has a membership of ninety-seven. Fourteen more members will enable Santa Fe to pass to St. Louis with 101 members. Nineteen more members will place Santa Fe ahead of Baltimore, which has 196. Rochester, N. Y., is fifth among the societies with 127
members; Pennsylvania is fourth with 134; New York third with 159;
Boston second with 216 and Washington, D. C., first with 257 members.
But also with a long waiting list, as the membership is limited to 299 annual members, the others being life members. The Santa Fe society has five life members.

Mrs. Grace S. Hurwood of San Diego, Calif., today became a member of the Archaeological society. She arrived last week from Colorado Springs and will probably spend the winter in Santa Fe.

Three more paintings of the Grand Canyon by Sheldon Parsons, the Santa Fe artist, were sold today.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapiesin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—
which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn
lumps; head dizziness and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undiges-ted food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapiesin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women to-day
know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods
without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion;
if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest,
most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin
which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets
things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Papeo, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

DETENTION HOSPITAL TO BE REFURNISHED; SMALLPOX CASE HERE

The city will place the detention hospital in condition to receive patients. The place has been looted of furniture. The city is not looking for an epidemic of smallpox. Its preparedness is based on the theory that if there is need at all for the detention hospital, the need will be urgent and there will not be time for refurnishing the place then.

Health records show that there is one case of smallpox here. The patient is an employee of the Santa Fe railway and the railway company is taking care of him. He has been quarantined in a bunk car in the lower yards. The case was discovered a few days ago.

STATE ELECTRICAL ASSOCIATION WILL MEET HERE IN 1917

The New Mexico Electrical Association, which met at El Paso, yesterday selected Albuquerque as the place for its next meeting. The convention will be held here February 12, 13 and 14, next year. W. P. Southard, president of the association, telegraphed yesterday saying that the convention had chosen this city.

Mayor Henry Westerfield received a telegram from Mr. Southard, informing him of the convention's selection. Mayor Westerfield had wired an invitation to the electricians.

PABLO LUJAN ENTERS THE RACE FOR SHERIFF

Pablo Lujan, member of the Albuquerque police force, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for sheriff. Lujan had been mentioned as a possibility. He, however, made no public announcement of his candidacy until yesterday.

Lujan's record as a police officer with his service to the party and his personal strength in politics make him a formidable candidate. He has an excellent record in the police department here for long and valuable service. He has been a patrolman for seven years. That, however, is not his complete record of police experience. He also was a deputy sheriff in Bernalillo and Socorro counties for years.

SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS BIG GAIN FOR COUNTY

The school census for Bernalillo county shows a relatively greater increase in districts outside the city than that scored by the city in children of school age in the last year. Figures furnished by County Superintendent Anastasio Montoya show there are 5,591 children of school age in the rural districts, a gain of 559 over 1915. In Albuquerque there are 5,287 children of school age, a gain of 127 over 1915. The gain for the entire county, including the city, obviously is 716.

POLITICAL CASE NOT TAKEN UP BY COURT

The Gillenwater injunction cases, which will decide whether the Baca wing of Gillenwater wing of the republicans has the best right to the party emblem, were not taken up by the district court yesterday. The transcript of evidence taken by Claude Hutto, referee, was not filed until shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

SENATOR CATRON WILL SPEAK HERE TONIGHT

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD CONVENTION TODAY IN CITY

Place Changed From Old Town Because District Court Is in Session; Club Headquarters Selected.

The republican county convention will be held today at the Hughes-Fairbanks club's headquarters, 213-215 West Gold avenue, not at the court house, as the call stated. The change was made last night because the district court is in session.

The convention will be called to order at 10 o'clock probably by Capt. W. H. Gillenwater, county chairman. He was in Albuquerque last night, but at that time was not certain whether he would be here for the opening of the convention. If he is not Sheriff Jesus Romero probably will take the chair for the call to order.

Captain Gillenwater's term as county chairman will end today, as he is state chairman. Assessor Fred R. Heyn or Sheriff Jesus Romero, or possibly some one else, will be his successor. Mr. Romero is the probable nominee of the convention for sheriff and his nomination probably would eliminate him from consideration as county chairman. Mr. Heyn, friends say, would not be a candidate before the convention.

Montoya Almost Certain Choice.

The action of the convention was regarded last night by party leaders as almost certain as to two nominations. That Sheriff Jesus Romero would be renominated as candidate for sheriff and that Superintendent Anastasio Montoya would be renominated as his successor was thought to be probable. Mr. Montoya has no announced opposition. Manuel Pino was said to be a candidate for the office of sheriff, but he was not expected to give Sheriff Romero dangerous opposition.

The convention may instruct its delegates to the district convention for a candidate for district attorney. The district attorney will be nominated by delegates from Bernalillo, Sandoval and McKinley counties. If the convention does instruct it will have a wide range of possibilities to pick from. George H. Craig, Judge John Haron Burg John W. Wilson, John Venable, Felix Baca and A. A. Sedillo were mentioned as the party's selection for this office.

In nominating legislative candidates the convention may have just as much material to choose from. However, there was not so much indication of it last night. A party leader did not know of any one in Bernalillo county who was an announced candidate for legislative honors. Mr. Christian of San Juan county, is a candidate for the senatorial nomination for the "shoe string" district of Bernalillo, Sandoval and San Juan counties.

O. A. Larrazolo to Speak.

Nestor Montoya of Old Town has been mentioned as nominee for county clerk. County Clerk A. E. Walker was said not to be a candidate for reelection. Dave Armijo and City Clerk Thomas Hughes have been named in political gossip for treasurer. Mr. Hughes said, however, that he was not a candidate.

Others who have been mentioned are:

Assessor—B. Spitz and George Albright.

Probate Judge—Frank Ackerman and John W. Wilson.

Congressman H. C. Hernandez and O. A. Larrazolo of Las Vegas will speak before the convention.

DEMOCRATS SPEAK IN DEMING ON ISSUES OF NATION AND STATE

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
Deming, N. M., Oct. 17.—Antonio Lucero, secretary of state; Wm. B. Walton, state senator and democratic candidate for congress; George A. Davidson and Harry L. Patton, democratic candidates respectively for state land commissioner and attorney general, spoke here last night on national and state issues.

Great disappointment was felt over the failure of A. A. Jones, assistant secretary of the department of the interior, and candidate for United States senator, to be present owing to a belated train. A large and representative audience had assembled at the Crystal Theater to hear his address, which had been widely advertised.

BURSUM AND WAGNER HEARD AT PORTALES

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—A hitching rack served for a platform at Portales, when H. O. Bursum and J. H. Wagner, spoke to a big crowd at the court house. Portales at the last election cast only eleven votes for the republican candidate for congress, but a woman's republican club occupied the jury box and more than filling it when Bursum and Wagner spoke, and the candidates were greeted by an audience numbering several hundred.

W. E. Lindsey, republican candidate for lieutenant governor presided.

Through the lower Pecos valley republican clubs have been organized with many more members. It is said, that there were votes for the republican ticket two years ago.

At Silver City, former Governor General Norman W. Gilchrist, of the Philippines, was given an enthusiastic reception at a republican meeting.

Dr. Jessie A. Russell of Glendale, Calif., is also said to be receiving favorable reception in the democratic counties where she is organizing women's republican clubs for national suffrage.

DEMOCRATS PICK THEIR DELEGATES TO CONVENTION

Twelfth Precinct Exceeds Its Allotment to Make Certain of Having a Full Representation.

Democrats of Albuquerque last night chose their delegates to the county convention, scheduled for Friday. The democratic convention was to have been held at the court house, but the place probably will be changed for the same reason that the republicans moved their convention from Old Town to Albuquerque.

In the Twenty-sixth precinct the democrats elected twenty-five delegates and twenty-five alternates. Assistant United States Attorney H. G. Coors, Jr., was chairman and R. H. Crews secretary of the primaries in that precinct. More than fifty men met in the Central school for the primaries.

In the Twelfth, twenty-four delegates were chosen. The precinct's allotment was twenty-three. The number was exceeded to insure the precinct's having full representation in the convention. No alternates were elected. The Twelfth precinct primaries were held in the police court room at the city hall. All seats were taken and some men stood in the corridor. Col. D. K. B. Sellers presided and J. R. Espinosa acted as secretary.

Delegates of Three Precincts.

Here are the delegates from the city precinct and San Jose:

Sixty at Fathers' and Sons' Banquet

Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—The Fathers' and Sons' banquet this evening at the library hall of the Woman's Board of Trade brought out sixty men, most of them young men, who after partaking of a bounteous repast, served by the Woman's Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, listened to an admirable address by Leonard Poulson, of New York City, on the Big Brother movement and the grip it has taken upon the country. There were also remarks by local men and by Rev. B. Z. McCollough, who was in charge of the affair.

Gordon Carrington Made Lieutenant.

Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—Gordon Carrington, lieutenant recently of Fort Stanton, Lincoln county, where his father, Dr. P. M. Carrington, was in charge of the Marine Sanitarium for Tuberculosis, has been commissioned a lieutenant in the coast artillery, having graduated from the San Diego high school and finished two years at the University of California.

W. S. King Gets School Contract

Santa Fe, Oct. 17.—The department of education was informed today that the contract for the new graded school building at Anthony, Dona Ana county, has been awarded to W. S. King, an El Paso contractor, for $110,700.

MAY OPEN 1,215,000 ACRES OF INDIAN LAND

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE.
Tucson, Ariz., Oct. 17.—A tentative agreement between government officials and local citizens was reached last night through which the Papago Indian reservation may be reduced over 2,000,000 acres. The action, if taken, will open up a rich mining section to a development now withheld because of government restrictions, it is declared.

Frank Thacker, who represented the Indians at the hearing, declined to make public a report of an investigation for the department of the interior, but it is understood here that the report favors the reduction.

The reservation, which comprises 2,215,000 acres, is the home of 5,600 Indians.

Commission Holds But One Session.
Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 17.—The Mexican-American joint commission held only one session today, the members admitting at its close that no material progress had been made. The Mexican members reiterated confidence that the campaign being started against Villa would be a success and serve to demonstrate Mexico's ability to restore and maintain peace along the frontier.

BIG FLOUR MILLS OPEN WAREHOUSE HERE

The Hutchinson Flour Mills company, Hutchinson, Kan., makers of the celebrated U. S. flour, has opened in this city a wholesale warehouse, and in the future Albuquerque will be the distributing point for all other sections of New Mexico. The company realized the importance of the establishment of a warehouse in New Mexico centrally located, and of course selected Albuquerque. J. J. Mann has been given the state of New Mexico, and Albuquerque will be his headquarters and home. Yesterday he called on a number of local grocery merchants and was favored with some good orders. He expects to visit the other cities and towns in the state as soon as possible.
