WHAT IS 'CAP' GILLENWATER UP TO? EVERYBODY WANTS TO KNOW

Politicians Can't Figure Out Whether Republican Chairman Is Springing Something Subtle or Pulling Bone.

WORK UP TO DATE NOT LIKE IS USED TO BE

Republicans as Well as Democrats Puzzled at Methods Adopted by Funeral Looking Leader of G. O. P.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

San Francisco, Oct. 22.—Is W. H. Gillenwater, chairman of the republican state central committee, holding in reserve some extraordinarily subtle piece of political strategy, or is he merely pulling a bone? Is the elongated leader of the hosts of the Grand Old Party of Lincoln and Grant and McKinley too deep for the ordinary mind to fathom, or is he swinging at the ball and tearing a hole in the air? Is "Cap" really the wonderful political general that many have believed him to be, or has he been overplayed and over-press-agented?

In other words, what's the matter with "Cap"? What is his game? Has he any game? What is he up to? What will he do?

There are a few of the questions that are going the rounds in the hotel lobbies, the third emporiums and other places where politicians, near politicians and would-be politicians are wont to foregather and exchange choice bits of philosophy. The psychic "Cap" is worrying them, repelling some and attracting others. Not that it makes any great difference in the final showdown, but they would all like to know.

Not the Same "Cap."

Except that he still tiptoes around and talks when he talks at all, in that hushed, subdued tone and manner that suggests a well-trained funeral director looking after the comfort of the relatives of the dear departed, there is little in the "Cap" of today that suggests the "Cap" of former campaigns. It may be that he has decided to pull off some new stuff for a change, and that he has as much on his mind as he ever had, but the fact is undisputed and unchallenged that during the present campaign "Cap" hasn't been at all like himself. Not the least little bit.

Certain things have been done by the republican state committee, for instance, that if John Smith or William Jones had directed done, would have been attributed to plain, down-to-earth political stupidity and would have earned for John Smith or William Jones the reputation of having a skull so impenetrably dense that a diamond drill would not be sufficient to make an impression on it. But these things were not done by John Smith or William Jones—they were done by W. H. Gillenwater, reputed to be by far the most astute, not to say fussy and smooth, political genius that ever played the game in our fair state. Having been done by "Cap" Gillenwater, people don't call them bone-headed—people just wonder what they mean.

For instance.

It is not the least like "Cap" Gillenwater, for instance, to project his own personality on the screen at a time when he is managing the candidacy for somebody else. "Cap" has always worked from behind the scenes. It has mattered little to him what the people said or thought about him so long as he was able to put his own across. And as for taking the initiative and voluntarily making himself an issue in a campaign in which he was not a candidate—one would have been expected to see Gregory Page mount the pulpit and lead in the singing at a statewide prohibition rally.

When, therefore, in the present campaign Mr. Gillenwater sent out over his own signature a six-page, closely written typewritten letter violently attacking Shimmers Burkhardt and making Mr. Burkhardt's professional relations with the late unlamented Montezuma Trust company a personal matter of his own, everybody who read the letter wondered what "Cap" had up his sleeve. Burkhardt wasn't running for office, and

THE BUSINESS SIDE OF IT

The voters of New Mexico should not overlook the fact that the management of the state's affairs is not unlike that of a great business enterprise—that every citizen is a stockholder in a corporation, the capital stock of which is contributed by the taxpayers of the state.

When a corporation sets aside funds for a specific purpose the money is expended for that purpose—else the directors and officials are called to an accounting and are amenable to the law of the land. Economy and honesty are the prime requisites demanded of the managers of any business enterprise.

The application of these simple business principles is what is most needed in the affairs of the state government. When money is appropriated for road building, it should go for that purpose. None of it should be squandered in the payment of unnecessary salaries to political parasites whose only claim for consideration is that they can deliver votes on election day. When funds are set aside for schools the schools should get it all—it is nothing less than criminal that there should be any playing politics with the educational system of the state. And so it goes all along the line. The citizen has a right to feel assured that he is getting his money's worth when he pays his taxes. If the state's money is honestly and economically spent the burdens of taxation will necessarily be lighter, because there will not be so much money to be raised.

The overwhelming argument against the return of the old republican ring to power is that it has been responsible in times past for a system under which the funds of the state were squandered. The candidates on the republican ticket are for the most part men who were a part of the system and whose records since they were thrown out of power has not been such as to encourage the belief that their methods will be any different if they are again placed in control of the state government. Indeed, they are silent in the face of questions regarding their present views regarding their past records—they will not admit that the old system was wrong.

The administration of Governor McDonald has been characterized by economy and honesty and by a wholesome regard for the rights of the plain people of the state. If the democratic candidates are elected this year there is every assurance that this method of handling the people's affairs will continue.

Laying aside all question of personalities and of political partisanship, as a plain common-sense business proposition the voters of New Mexico should refuse to return to power the men who have once so polluted them—should continue in power the men who have given them honest and efficient government.

PRESIDENT IS CONFIDENT OF HIS ELECTION

Mr. Wilson Has Three Trips on His Schedule Before Election Day; Will Receive Returns at Shadow Lawn.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 22.—Optimism marks the attitude of the president in the campaign for his reelection, as it reaches its last stages. Men who have discussed the situation with him said today that he is confident he will be re-elected.

The president has two more speeches here, and three trips on his schedule before election day. He probably will receive the returns at Shadow Lawn. He will leave Wednesday for Cincinnati, where he will speak Thursday. Then he will deliver an address here Saturday at a celebration of "Woodrow Wilson day." Next week he will go to Buffalo and New York city, completing his speech-making with an address here November 4.

Alton B. Parker has accepted an invitation to take lunch with the president tomorrow and James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany, will lunch with him Thursday.

MR. HUGHES SPENDS A QUIET SUNDAY WITH WILCOX

Montclair, N. J., Oct. 22.—Charles E. Hughes, republican presidential nominee, spent the day quietly, dining this afternoon with William R. Wilcox, chairman of the republican national committee, who motored here from New York to confer with Mr. Hughes.

The candidate took a long walk during the afternoon and was in conference with Chairman Wilcox until a late hour tonight, after which Mr. Wilcox returned to New York.

Mr. Hughes' next campaign tour is expected to keep the nominee on the go until November 4, when he will close his campaign in New York city. The tour will be through the central west.

ATTEMPT HOLDING UP TRAIN IN LOUISIANA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Shreveport, La., Oct. 22.—Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific passenger train No. 2, westbound, was held up near Rayville, La., tonight by five robbers, but it is said that they obtained nothing. The men boarded the train at Rayville, crawled over the trestle and forced the engineer to bring the train to a stop after it had proceeded about a mile.

They failed in an attempt to uncouple the passenger cars and then tried to break into the express car but the doors were locked. They fired a number of shots through the windows of the baggage cars and fired once at the engineer. Nobody was hit. A railroad flagman who was a passenger, fired at the robbers and frightened them away.

A posse from Rayville started in pursuit of the bandits.

The Vicksburg, Shreveport & Pacific is part of the Queen & Crescent route.

FAMOUS REGINA TRENCH TAKEN BY BRITISH IN GALLANT STYLE

Tommies Want Comfortable German Dugouts for Winter Quarters and Go After Them in Desperate Charge.

CLEAR WEATHER GIVES OPPORTUNITY DESIRED

Terrific Artillery Fire Precedes Advance of Infantry on Works Close to Coveted Thiepval Stronghold.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)

British Front in France, Oct. 21 (via London, Oct. 22).—With the return of fighting weather the British resumed the offensive on a larger scale this afternoon and turned on enough gunfire and sent in enough troops to make sure Regina trench was theirs. It was the most important attack for three weeks.

All this month Regina trench has been developing a sinister reputation. It joins onto the old first line fortifications in the neighborhood of Thiepval and anything in that region, with comfortable dugouts, the Germans like to retain, in order to prevent the active battle front from broadening, and for another reason which a British soldier expressed when he said:

Need German Dugouts.

"With winter coming on, we feel the need of those deep, snug dugouts the Germans spent so much time in building."

Parties of the British got possession of portions of Regina trench on several occasions, but the Germans swarmed in front of their burrows and repulsed the invaders. Evidently, Regina trench was not to be taken by pulling and pushing one big life. In such cases there is nothing to do but wait till clear weather, when the guns can see what they are doing and turn on a No. 1 artillery curtain of fire.

Yesterday morning a set gunner's smile was on the face of the whole army. Instead of raining and mist making a gunner's plane of low visibility, an almost wintry sun was shining in crystal, clear air, literally an artilleryman's heaven. All the gun tribe necessary for the job were up and in position already waiting for such a day as this, when the eyes that see for them from the observation posts can tell whether the practice shells they leisurely fire are on the target which they are to paste as fast as they can on the signal being given for the concert to begin. When the same kind of weather continued today staff officers who arrange these affairs said:

Moving Day for Tommies.

"This is moving day for the Germans in Regina trench."

The Regina is a long trench of nearly three miles, about the same length as the battle front at Göttingburg.

Shortly after noon, when there had been the usual amount of shell fire all morning and nothing anywhere on the landscape that anything unusual was going to happen, a No. 1 curtain fire was suddenly turned on with the same effect on the ear as when all the whistles of New York start when the clock strikes 12 on New Year's eve.

The usual billow cloud of shell smoke vaporously extensive in the cold air, churned and whipped the length of Regina trench with the customary accuracy of those swaths of death and tempest, and then the British infantry were in full possession of the trench.

Some Germans bolted from the first ugly breath of that barrage, knowing from experience that the only thing to do was to move on to another position and force the gunners to press another deluge for the next step of the entire allied offensive. Six hundred left alive were taken prisoner.

The gunners are smiling at the stars tonight, which promise another fair day tomorrow. The cold weather has transformed the army into winter chrysalis. The battalions are marching up the trenches all wearing their overcoats. The call is for more chocolate and more bacon sizzling in pans in the dugouts. The gunners who were stripped for their work in August now warm their hands on the heated gun barrels. At night on the field where fires are permitted, a man gather around the blaze of any wood they can gather. Those digging new trenches on the ground won't mind how cold it is, so long as the ground is not soaked by rain.

Former Minister Has Blood Poisoning.

Amsterdam, Oct. 22 (via London).—A telegram from Sofia announces that Dr. N. Ghemadiev, former Bulgarian minister, has been tried for high treason and sentenced to penal servitude for ten years. Dr. Ghemadiev is seriously ill of blood poisoning.

Dr. Ghemadiev was arrested in connection with an intrigue against the Bulgarian government. It was reported he had accepted a bribe from a German agent. A later dispatch said the German agent had been killed and the German government to release him.

ASSASSINATION OF PREMIER BY SOCIALIST OF RADICAL TYPE

Dr. Adler, Who Fired Two Fatal Shots, Thought Count Stuerghk Should Have Convened Parliament.

WOUNDS TWO MEN WHO TRY TO ARREST HIM

Killing Occurs in Restaurant When Head of Austrian Empire Is Dining With Party of Friends.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)

Vienna, Saturday, Oct. 21 (via London, Oct. 22).—The assassination of the Austrian premier, Count Karl Stuerghk, was purely political and was induced by his refusal to convene parliament, according to the admissions of Dr. Friedrich Adler, his assassin, shortly after his arrest.

Dr. Adler is an eccentric and super-radical socialist, sometimes known as the "The Liebknecht of Austria," editor of the Kampf.

Wounds Two Others.

Dr. Adler's arrest was not accomplished without the wounding of two men who had leaped on him after he had fired on Count Stuerghk, and before Austria and German officers overpowered him.

The wounded men are Baron Aehrenthal, brother of the late foreign minister, and the head waiter of the hotel in which the shooting occurred.

Count Stuerghk arrived at the hotel at 1:30 o'clock. With him, at lunch, were Baron Aehrenthal, Count Oegenburg, governor of Tyrol; Herr Jacobson, a prominent Vienna musician; and an actor from the court theater.

At 2 o'clock, a man unknown to the premier took a seat three tables away. He ate lunch and paid for the meal, but lingered at the table.

Two Shots Take Effect.

Shortly after 2 o'clock he arose, advanced quickly toward the premier, and fired three shots. The first missed. The next two struck the premier in the head. Without a word, Count Stuerghk fell lifeless in his chair.

Baron Aehrenthal sprang toward Adler. The head waiter grasped the hand that held the revolver. Adler wrested his arm free and fired two shots. Baron Aehrenthal was wounded in the foot. The waiter received only a superficial wound.

Assassin Is Calm.

Dr. Adler apparently was the calmest man in the room. He gave his name to the police without hesitation, and added: "If you please, gentlemen, I know perfectly well what I have done. I shall not resist arrest."

Seeds of the assassination spread like wildfire and was received with indignation and sorrow.

The assassin, who is 32 years old, is a son of Dr. Victor Adler, a revolutionary deputy, and a socialist of a mild type.

SEVERE RIOTS FOLLOW KILLING OF PREMIER

London, Oct. 22.—A wireless dispatch from Rome reports that there were grave riots in Vienna after the assassination of Count Stuerghk, which the police were powerless to quell. The wireless also reports a renewal of the manifestations in Athens in favor of the United States intervening in behalf of the Greeks against the occupation of Athens and Piræus by entente allied forces.

SLAIN PREMIER WAS OPPOSED TO LIBERALISM

Berlin, Saturday, Oct. 21 (by Wireless to Sayville).—Little is known here regarding the motives for the assassination of Premier Stuerghk. The premier was a firm opponent of progressive trends in Austrian politics. He withstood the demand for the convocation of parliament. He was largely responsible for the stern Austrian press censorship, but there were no indications here that the waves of political feeling had run high enough in Austria to result in his assassination.

The premier was not regarded as a man of particular force, but rather as the representative of a system.

AUSTRIAN CABINET TO IMMEDIATELY REORGANIZE

Berlin, Oct. 22 (by Wireless to Sayville).—A Vienna dispatch to the Overseas News agency says that the Austrian cabinet held a session after the assassination of Premier Stuerghk, president of the senior minister, Baron von Hofmann, minister of national defense, in accordance with precedent, all the officers will offer their resignations, but it is not expected they will be accepted by Emperor Franz Joseph.

The minister of the interior, Prince Hohenlohe-Schillingensuf, who is on leave of absence, will return immediately.

Allies Make More Demands on Greece

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
London, Oct. 22.—The presentation by the entente allies of further demands on Greece, including the removal of Greek troops to the southern part of the country and the handing over of Greek war supplies, is reported by Reuter's Athens correspondent.

The Athens dispatch, which was dated Friday, says the demands were presented to King Constantine by the French military attaché. Greece is requested to transfer the entire military force in Thessaly to Morva. Delivery to the entente allies of war materials destined for the Thessalian forces also is requested. Other demands were made, the nature of which is unknown.

ately in Vienna and will act as premier for the present. The minister of finance, Dr. von Koerber, intended to depart today for a trip of inspection in Buxton, but has postponed his departure.

Among those mentioned as possible successors of Count Stuerghk, are Prince Hohenlohe-Schillingensuf, Baron Beck, former premier, and Dr. Koerber.

"Berlin newspapers point out that the murder of the premier was of uncalculated mind," says the Overseas News agency. "His sister has been in an asylum for more than ten years."

Dr. Friedrich Adler advocated anarchistic theories and was a violent opponent of his own father, Dr. Victor Adler, the recognized leader of Austro-Hungarian socialism. A few days ago, the Arbeiter Zeitung of Vienna, the official newspaper of the Austro-Hungarian socialist party, published an editorial denouncing Friedrich Adler's attitude as obnoxious to the socialist party, and detrimental to public interest. The editor-in-chief of the Arbeiter Zeitung is Dr. Victor E. Adler.

Twice during Sunday, in the morning and in the afternoon, German launched violent attacks against the positions newly won by the French in the Chaumes wood, south of the Somme. Both attacks were repulsed, according to Paris. Some of the attackers in the morning offensive gained a foothold in the French first line, but were surrounded and the 150 survivors made prisoner.

Berlin, in admitting that in Saturday's fighting the British north of the Somme made gains, characterized the British losses as a "reckless sacrifice of human lives." Several trenches between Bapaume and La Maunette, south of the Somme, were recaptured Saturday from the French, says Berlin.

Allies Gain in Macedonia.

On the Macedonian front, slight progress has been made by the entente allies in the Cerna river region. German troops are aiding their Bulgarian allies in the fighting at the head of the Cerna.

Heavy rainstorms and snowfalls are impeding the operations in the Austro-Italian theater.

A German aeroplane, which dropped four bombs at Sheerness, England, Sunday, is believed to have been the same aircraft that was destroyed later and fell into the sea under the attack of a British naval aeroplane.

HUGHES BOWS TO HYPHEN DEMANDS, SO RECORDS OF MEETINGS SHOW

ROOSEVELT DENOUNCED FOR SPEECH IN MAINE

Astonishing Disclosures of Secret Organization of Alien
Born Persons to Dominate
American Politics.

(The Journal would not have published the following astounding story wired from New York last night but for the fact that Robert W. Woodley, in charge of the publicity bureau of the democratic national campaign committee, sent a telegram personally vouching for the accuracy of every statement of fact which it contains.)

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
New York, Oct. 22.—The democratic national committee today made public the official minutes and authentic stenographic transcripts of certain proceedings of the American independence conference—the high-sounding title of the secret, racial organization under which Jeremiah A. O'Leary and his associates have been making their furtive and nationwide campaign in the interests of Charles Evans Hughes.

In addition to disclosing the astounding fact of a personal conference between Candidate Hughes and the members of the special committee representing the O'Leary organization, and the existence of a working agreement between it and the republican national committee, the records reveal the secret purposes, plans and scope of the body in all their startling boldness and daring, giving the disclosures a deep and national significance far beyond the interests of the present campaign.

The documents made public by the democratic national committee disclose:

What Document Shows.

First. The personal conference between Charles Evans Hughes and the special committee of the organization, held some time between September 7 and September 30.

Second. The demand of the special committee upon the republican national candidate, involving an insidious rebuke which for daring and audacity has no precedent in American politics.

Third. The promise made verbally by Mr. Hughes after an apologetic explanation of his new famous telegram, of congratulations to Theodore Roosevelt upon the occasion of the latter's Maine speech.

Fourth. The fulfillment by Candidate Hughes of his promise as manifested by his attack on the British embargo and blacklist and other campaign speeches designed to hold the German vote, and by the acceptance of his candidacy by the organization.

Fifth. The working agreement with the republican national committee for complete co-operation between the two organizations.

Sixth. The rewards: the unqualified endorsement and support of Charles Evans Hughes by the O'Leary organization and the secret support of certain republican congressmen.

Seventh. The concealment by both Mr. Hughes and his campaign managers of their dealings with this body, even after the insulting telegram to President Wilson by Jeremiah O'Leary—part and parcel of the American independence conference political propaganda—had aroused the open resentment of the nation.

Eighth. The law, chapter 392 of the United States statutes at large, (as amended) providing for publicity of contributions is applicable to "all committees, associations or organizations, which shall in two or more states influence the result or attempt to influence the result of an election at which representatives in congress are to be elected."

Hughes Is Implicated.
The facts concerning the character and aims of the American independence conference, itself revealed by these documents, are no less astounding than the disclosures which inseparably link to its activity both Candidate Hughes and his campaign managers. These facts established:

First. The personnel and character of the promoters of the so-called American independence conference, as shown by the roster of members of its national campaign committee, who with Jeremiah O'Leary attended the meetings of that body held at Detroit on September 7 and at Chicago on September 30.

Second. The alliance and co-operation between the American independence conference and the American embargo conference as disclosed in the report by the committee on the plans of the former organization and by the fact that Will W. McDonald, general manager of the embargo conference, is a member of the national committee of the independence conference.

Third. The permanency of its organization and its uncovered purpose of dominating American elections, not only on this presidential campaign but as pointedly proclaimed, in all future elections.

Fourth. The purely racial and secret purposes of the organization as a weapon of vengeance and force against Anglo-Saxon influence, as revealed in the official report of the committee on plans.

Fifth. Its present and future

VILLA FORCES ARE RETREATING BEFORE OZUNA

Chihuahua Is Quiet, but Every Precaution Is Being Taken by General Trevino to Guard Against Attack.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS)

Chihuahua City, Mex., Oct. 22.—The concentrated forces of Villa are retreating from Presno toward Santa Ysabel, closely followed by the command of General Ozuna, according to an official report given out today by General Trevino. Decisive action is expected in a few days.

ANOTHER STORY SAYS OZUNA WAS DEFEATED

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 22.—In the lack of detailed news of the battle between the forces of Villa and Carranza, rumor which claims Mexican origin, says that General Ozuna was caught in a trap by Villa, Ozuna himself being killed and his forces annihilated.

Recent semi-official reports from Chihuahua City, issued by a Mexican military censorship, develop these statements:

General Ozuna with a force of 2,000 cavalry, two sections of machine guns and a large supply train, left Chihuahua City on October 19 to take the field against Villa, who that day was reported in San Andres, forty miles from Chihuahua on the line of the Mexico Northwestern railway, which makes a downward loop out of the city in a bee line. San Andres is only about twenty-five miles from Chihuahua.

A message dated the 18th said that General Ozuna had been ordered by General Trevino to proceed along the Mexico Northwestern, reinforcing his column with the troops stationed along the line at Presno, Las Rosas and Santa Ysabel, which would add a thousand men to his command. Other messages mentioned Santa Ysabel as Ozuna's base.

Villa's personal force was said last week to contain 800 armed and 1,600 unarmed men, but a later message spoke of the concentration of the semi-independent commands under his control.

The brief messages since the first clash on October 20 have placed the fighting at San Andres, forty miles on the railway from Chihuahua City. Santa Ysabel, thirty miles, Palomas, about eighteen miles, and lastly Presno, which is only ten miles from Chihuahua, General Trevino's headquarters.

General Gonzalez at Juarez said tonight that he had no further information than that contained in the dispatches to the Associated Press.

Conditions are calm in Juarez, where an election for deputies to the constitutional revision congress took place today.

What Is 'Cap' Gillen- water Up to? Every- body Wants to Know

The republican candidates for office have gotten out of it just exactly nothing at all.

And Then Again.

It is generally understood in Santa Fe that it was upon the advice of their chairman that the various republican candidates entered upon the campaign of libel suits against newspapers that has been a feature of this campaign. This also was not at all like "Cap." Unlike sensibilities to criticism has never been known as a Gillenwater weakness. In former fights he has always had his candidates stand up and take their medicine. It has mattered little to him what the newspapers said about his ticket so long as he and the men for whom he was working were getting along in the matter of collecting votes.

Presumably, the idea of inaugurating the libel suit campaign was to present the widespread discussion of the records of the republican candidates which, in the campaign of 1911, reached the extreme edge of the limit of bitterness and acrimony. To put it bluntly, it is presumed that "Cap" thought he would muzzle the press of the state regarding the alleged shortcomings of his candidates.

The result has been just the opposite. The press has gone blithely and wholeheartedly on its way and said just what was on its mind—only the press has not taken at all kindly to the matter of having a libel suit poke up its head every time a candidate for office was criticized for some alleged official shortcoming in the past. Well informed republican politicians now privately admit that the libel suits filed by republican candidates in the present campaign have cost the ticket hundreds, perhaps thousands, of votes.

Republicans Wonder.

Republicans who have been in the thick of other campaigns in New Mexico frankly admit that they are puzzled at "Cap's" line of attack. They hope he has something up his sleeve, but they are afraid he is pulling a lame—that he is overtrained and off his stride—that his right hand has lost its cunning, to say nothing of his left hand, both his feet and dome of thought.

One of the best known republicans in New Mexico—a man who takes his republicanism with intense seriousness and really believes that there is no other real prospect except that which comes out under a republican high-tariff label, recently said: "We tried mighty hard to get Cap to take the chairmanship. I was one of those that begged and pleaded with him to sacrifice himself for the good of the party. I think now that I could have stood the blow if he had persisted in turning it down. Not only that, but I would be perfectly willing to swap him to the democrats and throw in a bonus with him."

Another View.

Another republican who makes a study of causes and effects in politics, and who has something of a gift of picturesque speech, gave an explanation of the matter that is a little out of the ordinary.

"The trouble with 'Cap,' he said, 'is that he's used to working with a whole lot of money back of him and he hasn't got it this time. They promised it to him, but they haven't made good. The result is that Cap hasn't got the tools he's used to handling. Not only that, but it makes him nervous to have to run a campaign without a wad of cash back enough to choke a cow, and he's running around in short clothes.'

"It's a fright," he continued, "and really, you can't help feeling sorry for Cap. About all he's been able to get has been from Frank Hubbard, and you know Frank smiles when he gives up coin just like he does when he thinks of having his neck amputated. They've promised that there'll be a bunch of coin handy before election day, but they've been promising something like that ever since the convention, and we need it right now. If it doesn't come soon I'm afraid Cap will be chief mourner at his own funeral."

Tony Ortiz left last night for Santa Fe. He had been summoned to serve on the petit jury in the United States district court.

GOTHAM EXPECTS SEASON OF FREE SPENDTHRIFTNESS

Gilded Stores of Shopping District to Lay in a More High-
Priced Stock Than Ever Stored.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

New York, Oct. 22.—More millions of dollars than were ever spent here in any one season will be lavished on luxury all over this town during the coming winter, according to estimates compiled today by hotel, show and shop men, on the basis of this fall's forecast of spectacular spending. Cleaned out by the crash of persistent purchasers, the gilded stores of the shopping section are hustling to lay in more high priced stock than they ever stored, while restaurant and hotel managers are scheming for more space to feed their clicking cash registers. With every theater seat sold far ahead and taxis thrashing about under a double demand, the men who measure the signs of a spendthrift season now declare that Gotham will gather more money before spring than was ever scattered about this metropolis by visitors in a single season.

Watching Whitman.

Denouncing the political play that resulted in ending Thomas S. Osborne's services to the state as an official of the prison department, New Yorkers are this week watching for further evidence of the petty party politics that get back the prison reform in which everybody is interested here. If republican schemers succeed in getting the governor to give them the wardenship at Auburn, where Warden Rattiman's work is endorsed by every criminologist in this city, it is predicted that thousands of real admirers of real prison progress will rebuke the state administration on election day. Tammany tactics are no novelty to the people of greater New York, but they are apparently determined that no governor shall introduce them into prison work without a powerful protest at the polls.

Paralysis Peril.

Fearing a flare-up of the waning paralysis epidemic in schools, where more than a million children have recently recovered, the health boards are now secretly tightening up their quarantine requirements against a sudden spread of this disease. With Princeton students shut up and scores of private preparatory schools segregated on account of cases within their walls, the examiners are sending in alarming reports of potential outbreaks. Though parents everywhere believe that the first frosts will kill this deadly germ, the experts are not so sure that this epidemic may not last through the winter and on into another hot season.

Park Protest.

Protesting against a thousand and one schemes to pre-empt park space for other purposes, the people of this town are now fighting to keep Central park purely as an outdoor playground of greenward and garden. Though art galleries might raise the artistic tone of a comparatively few visitors, their foundation space is worth thousands of dollars' worth of space for the people's play in natural surroundings. It is held, while the sight of a little plot of real green grass to metropolitans is worth yards of colored canvases. In spite of all the efforts of the high-brows, it seems that every square foot of garden will be retained in the parks here against all contemplated art gallery encroachments.

Since Peter Dunne found a band of resident burglar boys in his winter house uptown, this whole town has been jolting him on the perils of leaving town for even a day. As this boy band of second-story men seems to have located for weeks more or less in the surrounding houses, the author of Mr. Dunne finds he has nothing on his neighbors in harboring casual fresh-air inmates while he was away.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Says a glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast keeps illness away.

This excellent, common-sense health measure being adopted by millions.

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do. Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.
Those who wake up with belching, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, swollen complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

Attacks of Indigestion

"I believe Chamberlain's Tablets have saved my life," writes Mrs. Maggie Call, Golden City, Mo. "I had pains in my stomach so bad I thought I could not live. Our doctor said it was congestion of the stomach. I would go to bed perfectly well and wake up in the night as bad as I could be and live. Our doctor said it would do no good to give medicine internally. He had to inject medicine in my arm. Since taking Chamberlain's Tablets I can eat anything I want without hurting me." This form of indigestion is extremely painful and often dangerous. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets after eating and especially when you have failed and weight in the stomach after eating, the disease may be warded off and avoided. Chamberlain's Tablets meet all digestion, but strengthen and invigorate the stomach.

MR. WILSON ONLY ORIGINAL MAN IN THE WHITE HOUSE SINCE LINCOLN

Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant,
Rector of Ascension, New York, Gives His Reasons of Supporting President.

VOTED FOR ROOSEVELT
IN ELECTION OF 1912

Not Economical to Throw Away Exceptional Man Who
From Four Years Training
Has Learned the Office.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
New York, Oct. 22.—The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, rector of the Church of the Ascension, New York City, in a statement today tersely gives the reasons which prompted him to support President Wilson for re-election this year. Dr. Grant voted for Roosevelt four years ago. He says: "I shall vote the straight democratic ticket for the first time at the coming presidential election. Brought up a Massachusetts republican—a rather strict set—I have voted in the last thirty years once for Cleveland, once for Roosevelt and once for Judge Taft. Naturally, I have been trying of late to get a clear view of my reasons for such changed political sympathies."

Square Deal, Americans' Pride.
"Americans prize themselves upon getting a square deal. It is not a square deal to place unparalleled burdens upon a man, heavier than any others except Lincoln's, and then to turn him down. To give four years training in our highest office and then to throw away what an exceptional man has learned in that office is not economical. It wastes the highest human acquisitions."

"Mr. Wilson is the only original thinker on political questions we have had in the White House since Lincoln. He is a man for unprecedented problems. He is a road maker, a pathfinder. Mr. Wilson is the best social shock-absorber the country has produced. He makes easier going for the honest capitalist and for the honest workman."

"Mr. Wilson's enemies are the men part of the over-rich and their parasites. The luxury-loving classes are also the enemies of America. He is a man for unprecedented problems. He is a road maker, a pathfinder. Mr. Wilson is the best social shock-absorber the country has produced. He makes easier going for the honest capitalist and for the honest workman."

Wilson Young Man's Candidate.
"Mr. Wilson is the young man's candidate, because he is a man of courage, hope and confidence in human nature. Moreover, he has formed his industrial and social ideas from scientific observations and study extending over the last score of years—a critical time in the history of our nation and world."

"President Wilson has kept the nation out of a world-wide war in which sixteen nations have become involved and has kept us out of war with Mexico. Instead of dispatching ultimatum he calls a conference."

"Nothing has pleased me more."

WONDERFUL TALE OF AN ACTRESS
Struggled with Sickness and Discouragement; How Relieved.

Daysville, Killingly, Conn.—"I shall be glad to have every woman know what I know now, after using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Although I am only 24 years old, I have suffered for the past eight years. I hated the doctors, for a doctor told me to give up the stage where I was playing with my husband. I had bearing down pains, my health failed me, and I could not work on the stage. I even got around myself. I was always downhearted and discontented with the world, and only lived for the sake of my little girl. The doctor said to move to some quiet town away from the noisy city, and I might be able to live and feel well, so I went to Daysville in November. At that time I was back I could not walk around, and my husband kept house and I stayed in bed. One day in January I read your advertisement in a newspaper, and I sent for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and started taking it. Within two weeks time I was a different woman, could get around, and felt so good that it was a pleasure to do my housework. I felt contented and happy, and began to take the future of health, and am again able to return to the stage. We are again as healthy as the most precious fruit on earth."—Mrs. H. L. Adams, Box 55, Killingly, Conn.

about President Wilson during his administration than his self-criticism and his frank confession of some change of opinion during his administration. A champion golfer does not "make" every stroke. Finding the range is not vacillation.

"The democratic party in Cleveland's time gave to the country a new navy." The democratic party in President Wilson's administration has voted to make that navy the second in the world. A democrat is not necessarily a pacifist, nor a republican for "preparedness." In the first winter of the war the president was bombarded with memorials from republicans not to increase our army and navy. I was at an important meeting in New York, presided over and controlled by republicans, which had this as its object.

"For the United States to develop military power sufficient for defense is not militarism, but foresight. Every sensible American wants proper military and naval protection for this republic and its 100 millions of people. The first duty of a government is self-protection."

"Roosevelt accuses Wilson of not being an 'idealist.' The colonel's picture of an idealist is that of an American citizen in khaki, taking potshots at Mexicans. This reminds me of the remark of a Wall street banker, a charming and excellent man, who complained to me that the fault he found with workingmen was their 'materialism.' This was his name for their desire for increased wages."

Idealize Mexican War.
"Idealize duties, Americanism—these abstractions are the airy themes of republican orators. Their ideal is Uncle Sam at war with Mexico. Their sense of duty is Uncle Sam at war with Germany. Their Americanism is Uncle Sam, with fist doubled up, coat tails flying, challenging the world or denouncing the eight-hour law."

"Mr. Hughes is admirable and exemplary, but old-fashioned. The nineteenth century was a great age and some men have never gotten over it. Mr. Hughes would have made an acceptable president twenty years ago. He would have felt more at home with Hayes and Harrison than with Roosevelt or Wilson. The twentieth century is a new age. We must learn its lessons quickly. President Wilson knows them and can teach them."

"The best you could expect from Mr. Hughes, a supreme court judge, is what you got from Mr. Taft, whose ambition was to be judicial. He could always conceal coldness or cowardice or ignorance under an appeal to a legal discussion of a subject."

Progressivism Threat on Roosevelt.
"I voted for Roosevelt in 1912, largely because he promised a considerable body of social reform. This program he had taken largely from a group of men now working for Wilson. The lesson so learned could not have been native or congenial to Roosevelt. Had it been he would not have returned to the Root-Penrose-Harnes political machine. In short, it looks to me as if Mr. Roosevelt did not achieve progressivism but had it thrust upon him."

"The indignation of the republican party at the democratic party is not due to its failure but to its success. The governing class (as the republican party has considered itself to be) cannot forgive the popular party for showing its capacity for government. Their idea of property, as bestowing capacity for government, carried with it a sneer that a lack of financial success is just another name for lack of brains. Capitalistic conceit is tremendously upset by the success of the non-capitalistic groups at the highest of games—statecraft."

JEANNETTE RANKIN
Miss Jeannette Rankin, of Montana, is running on an independent republican ticket for congress in Montana. She was nominated in the primaries by a huge majority over her male opponents. Whether or not the house of representatives will seat her should she be elected is another question.

Jesse Isador Strauss Is Another Man of Big Affairs to Announce His Alignment With President's Forces.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
New York, Oct. 22.—Jesse Isador Strauss, of H. H. Macy & Co., one of New York's leading merchants, and a son of the late Isador Strauss, business man and philanthropist, is another of the many big men of affairs of the United States to announce his alignment with the Wilson forces. Mr. Strauss, treasurer of the Wilson business men's national league, has entered the campaign actively, declaring that Mr. Wilson's record, his experience and the unwavering of a change at this time, should determine every doubting voter to support his candidacy.

In stating his reasons for supporting the president, Mr. Strauss says: "I am satisfied that Mr. Hughes' failure to answer the question as to how he would have acted if compelled to decide the questions which have faced President Wilson, is due to the fact that deep in his heart, he feels he would have done exactly as the president did."

"Furthermore, I am satisfied Mr. Hughes felt that the judgment of posterity will approve the president's course throughout an administration better than any other administration in fifty years with internal and external embarrassments."

"Not since the civil war has there been an election in which experience in the administration of the presidential office was so important a factor in determining the candidate for whom the voter should cast his ballot. President Wilson has given us an administration rightly characterized by President Lovett, of the Union Pacific, and President Underwood of the Erie railroad, as successful and worthy of a further trial."

Republican Tariff is Menace.
"It appears to me that one of the greatest menaces of our national life is the republican tariff—a menace even greater than it was in Mr. Cleveland's time when the country emphatically decided against it. If we would sell we must buy, and if we build a wall against the production of other countries, retaliation on their part is inevitable. Furthermore, most of our industries are too firmly established to require babying."

"I do not believe there is any doubt in the mind of any man that the republican party, if in power, will enact in gratitude for the financial aid now said to be in process of contribution to it, that greatest aid to monopoly in this country, the extra heavy duty on imports."

"As a third, and perhaps less important argument against Mr. Hughes, I would urge his resentment from our highest judicial tribunal and his entrance into partisan politics. I believe that a president such as this should be consulted, and that the defeat of Mr. Hughes will be a deserved rebuke."

"If principle is the impelling motive of the progressives, I feel that they should turn to President Wilson, for his administration has realized in grand measure the legislative aims of the progressive party. In this connection I feel keenly the unreasonableness of an ex-president touring the country, passionately and vituperatively condemning the head of our government, both as man and president. I resent the sorry figure of an ex-president campaigning as an extreme partisan, and fomenting, as only he can foment, that unrest which is a great or less degree, is apparent in every presidential campaign. I look back with pride to the figure of Mr. Cleveland in retirement, working only an occasional public appearance, and then in a dignified, unobtrusive and impartial manner, giving the country the benefit of his mature experience and ripe judgment."

"During President Wilson's administration we have had property and peace. By all means let us re-elect him."

JUAREZ GOING BACK TO OLD VIVID DAYS

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Juarez, Mex., Oct. 22.—Juarez are not lacking that this city gradually is reverting to the former vivid days of the Villa regime in northern Mexico when Juarez, owing to its gay night life, was a mecca for tourists from all parts of the United States. Now it is giving evidence of deserting the calm, peaceful ways which it assumed when Villa lost his hold and Venustiano Carranza came into power in Mexico City as first chief.

The most significant of these signs is the sound of music coming from many of the saloons, or cantinas, that line Calle Comercio, the principal street. For months the strident, metallic pianos and strident orchestras have not been heard because the Carranza officials put a "lid" on all music in saloons.

The "lid" is lifting gradually and the first little tinkle when the saloons were allowed to sell, their spiffy liquors beside beer. Recently several of the "cantinas" removed the dusty covers from their electrical pianos and now almost every night may be heard the latest American ragtime, to be followed by the inevitable "La Paloma" and other languid Mexican airs, played for the benefit of tourists.

No reason is forthcoming for the removal of the ban by the civil authorities. However, it is rumored that the authorities need the revenue to be derived from the saloons to keep the city's municipal machinery running smoothly.

Injured by Wild Bronco.
East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 22.—Miss Annie Hoose, aged 45, was seriously injured and Severo Ullbarri, aged 12, suffered a broken leg Friday afternoon when a wild bronco threw its rider and plunged through a crowd in front of the armory, where the county fair was holding forth. The animal fell upon Miss Hoose and young Ullbarri, and its feet were caught under an automobile belonging to County Agent M. R. Gonzalez. Had it not been for this fact the two might have been killed, as the animal was unable to kick because of the heavy car. "Jockey" Beal, who had been attempting to ride the bronco, was thrown off. Several people were knocked down, but none but Ullbarri and Miss Hoose was badly hurt.

Rev. Father Bernard Conaty, Pastor of St. Joseph's, of Pittsfield, Announces His Support of Wilson.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
New York, Oct. 22.—The Pittsfield, Mass., News on its editorial page publishes the following comment on a tribute paid to President Wilson by the Rev. Father Bernard Conaty, pastor of St. Joseph's church, of Pittsfield, who declared, in announcing his support of the president, that "we should all thank God every day for our blessed knees for the guidance of our great chief, which has brought peace and prosperity to this country."

That is Campaign's Issue.
"That is the great, overwhelming issue in this campaign. It is of far greater importance than mere politics; it touches the very heart of our homes, of our well being. Hughes has said nothing to indicate what he would have done if he had been in President Wilson's place. He has not indicated what he will do if elected president. Abandonment of the foreign policies laid down by the president means war with Germany, as surely as the coming of tomorrow."

"Voters all over the country are beginning to realize this fact, and more and more they are indicating their intention of standing by President Wilson, who is growing in popularity and strength every day. Father Conaty also sounded a true note of patriotism when he said: 'Our streets are decorated with the emblem of freedom. We fly the Stars and Stripes in the breeze to welcome back home those brave soldier boys who answered the call to arms issued by the president!'

Troops Were Sent for Real Purpose.
"Republican spellbinders are not brooding hardly these days the early contention that the 'Mexican mess' was just democratic chicanery under. They have come to realize, even those who passed their days on the borders that the troops were sent there to meet a great emergency and they were kept there for a patriotic purpose."

"It is because of his staunch, unswerving patriotism that Father Conaty as a churchman comes out strongly for President Wilson. No one need search further for an argument why the president should be continued in office four years more."

VETERAN MARINES SHOW WELL IN TEST WITH YOUNG RIVALS
(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Domingo, Oct. 22.—In a test of endurance, conducted by Lieutenant Kingston of the United States Marines in Haiti to determine the staying powers of his men, 118 men, ranging in age from 19 to 52 and carrying the regulation field equipment, were given the test of ascending a steep mountain path, approximately eight miles, within a two-hour limit.

Eighty-four men accomplished the feat in the prescribed time, and of these twenty per cent were veterans of 44 years and over. The average age of those who succeeded was 29 years, while the percentage of tenderfoot recruits among the losers reduced their average to 24 years.

This experiment strengthens the theory of many that trained middle age rivals seasoned youth.

This standard remedy for kidney and bladder ailments can be taken with safety for backache, swollen ankles and rheumatic pains. Sold everywhere.

FIELD NARROWED TO FOUR ELEVEN IN BIG NINE RACE

As Result of Saturday's Game Minnesota, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Ohio State Are Left With Chance.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Chicago, Oct. 22.—Sports in the race for the "big nine" football championship have narrowed the field down to four eleven—Minnesota, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Ohio state, as a result of games Saturday. Iowa, while conceding a fighting chance, is not regarded as strong enough to withstand the attack of the acknowledged contenders.

Northwestern's 10 to 9 triumph over Chicago—its first in fifteen years—and Ohio state's victory over Illinois, were the biggest surprises on Saturday's schedule. Northwestern's swift, easy working eleven performed like a machine. Triple plays were used with sparkling brilliancy. The tackling of the Purple players was deadly, as they nailed Chicago runners almost in their tracks.

The playing of Captain Driscoll of Northwestern was exceedingly spectacular and effective.

Minnesota looks up sterner than ever, as the favorite to win the western conference honors. The Gophers buried South Dakota under a 31 to 0 score. Next Saturday they face Iowa. Sprafka, the big Gopher left back, proved to be one of the most desperate line plungers and consistent ground gainers ever developed.

The result of the Wisconsin-Illinois game indicates that Chicago faces another defeat next Saturday, for the Badger attack appears to be too strong for Chicago to combat.

Purdue failed to live up to expectations and was trounced, 24 to 6, by Iowa. The Hawkeyes displayed surprising strength and teamwork and their attack was bewildering.

Michigan's speed was an important factor in its 5 to 0 victory over the Michigan Aggies. Sparks, the spectacular quarterback of the Wolverine, and Captain Albin Kuhn, being largely responsible for the triumph, although Michigan's goal was but once in real danger.

THREE TEAMS STILL FIGHTING FOR MO. VALLEY

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 22.—Expected identification of the winner for the Missouri Valley conference championship was not forthcoming from last week's games, which left three undefeated teams still fighting for the prize and Nebraska with two unconquered opponents to put away. Instead of one, if the Cornhuskers wish to duplicate their feat of last year's all-victorious season. And that the Lincoln team did fair to turn the trick, was evidenced by their clean victory secured in Portland over the Oregon Aggies.

Valley football teams today hailed Nebraska's far-western triumph as a vindication of claims that teams of this section are playing a highly developed game, which the best teams in the country would do well to overcome.

Missouri and Iowa State (Amey) remain with Nebraska in the undefeated class of the conference. A matter of inches yesterday twice prevented a decision in the scoreless tie played by the Tigers and the Iowans at Columbia.

The game injected more uncertainty into the final outcome than has been apparent during the four successive seasons in which the Cornhuskers have reigned supreme in the valley. Both machines will give Nebraska a hard fight.

The Kansas Aggies played a neck-and-neck game against the Emporia Normal, winning 12 to 2. Drake defeated Washington, 12 to 0. University of Kansas utilized an off-day to rumble up the Kansas freshmen, 19 to 6, while Captain Lindsey watched the Kansas Aggies in preparation for the game with that team Saturday, and Coach O'Leary journeyed to Dallas, Tex., to see Oklahoma in action, in the hope of getting points on the Kansas-Oklahoma game on November 4.

The Dallas game, which resulted in a victory for the University of Texas, 27 to 7, was taken to indicate that Oklahoma's supremacy south of the Missouri river has met at least a temporary check. Certainly, the defeat virtually eliminated the Sooners from the southwestern conference title race.

REMOVAL OF GAME WARDENSHIP FROM POLITICS ASKED

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Santa Fe, Oct. 22.—The state of Maine, through efficient protection of her game resources, takes in $10,000,000 from people who come there to hunt and fish. We believe that by taking action before it is too late New Mexico can do the same. This is the argument behind the proposition to remove the New Mexico game wardens from politics, according to officers of the New Mexico Game Protective association here.

The association's written proposition for the reorganization of the office has been presented to the gubernatorial candidates for their approval, but no reply has yet been received. The association hopes for a public statement by each candidate within the next few days. Many prominent sportsmen are predicting that both candidates will ratify the proposed reorganization in toto.

Sinclair and Gaffney Said to Be Dickering for Brooklyn Team

HARRY SINCLAIR AND JAMES GAFFNEY.

It is said that Harry F. Sinclair, the wealthy oil man of Tulsa, Okla., and former Federal league baseball player, teamed up with James F. Gaffney, former owner of the Boston Braves, in a deal whereby the two hope to acquire the Brooklyn Dodgers. A few weeks ago it was reported that Gaffney and Sinclair were after the New York Giants, but that the deal fell through. It is known that Colonel Ricketts and the McKays, present owners of the Brooklyn club are anxious to dispose of their interests.

MIDSHIPMEN AND CORNELL STEADY UNDER ATTACKS

Showing of Navy and Tiger Holds Promise for Future Pennsy Approaching Its Former Power.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Oct. 22.—Eastern variety football games came through the week-end games without serious form upheavals, but there were several contests in which the final scores demonstrated strength or weakness not heretofore expected of the victors or vanquished.

Pennsylvania rose to unexpected heights in defeating Pennsylvania State in a game in which the Quakers always held the upper hand. The addition of Howard Herry, the all-round athlete, fresh from his severe training in the military camp on the Mexican border, was a decided factor in the victory, but the eleven as a whole showed that Pennsylvania is again approaching the powerful type of team that made the Red and Blue feared in past years.

Both Cornell and the Navy gave exhibitions of gameness and strength against opponents, which for a time threatened to wrest victory from the home teams. Neither eleven showed anything remarkable, but their steadiness under a storm attack promises much for the future.

Princeton and Harvard, on the other hand, were able to dispose of Lafayette and the Massachusetts Aggies, respectively, without the necessity of doing much more than the playing of a practice game.

The victories of Yale, Brown and the Army must be placed in the same category since neither Trinity, Rhode Island nor Williams had an attack of defensive sufficient to test the winners to any extent.

Considering the play throughout the east as a whole Saturday's games demonstrated that both the forward pass and the punt from the field again are to be prominent factors in the scoring. There was hardly a game of importance in which punts were not made through these two forms of aerial attack.

EPISCOPALS NOT TO CHANGE NAME OF THE CHURCH

Leaders of the Wing Advancing the Alteration Announce That Efforts in That Line Have Been Abandoned.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) St. Louis, Oct. 22.—Efforts to change the name of the Protestant Episcopal church have been abandoned in the convention in session here, leaders of the wing of the church advocating the change announced today. This follows the action of the house of deputies of the convention yesterday adopting without debate a little plea for a new hymnal, which reaffirmed the present name of the church.

A change of name has been advocated by some upon the ground that the word "Protestant" in the title apparently allies it with those denominations having their origin with the reformation. The Protestant Episcopal church traces its history to the time of Christ, they assert.

The Episcopal pulpits of St. Louis and neighboring communities were occupied today by members of the clerical delegations to the convention. Tens of thousands of unchurched people in the United States today, persons of excellent character and religious fervor, are to be won back to the church by fair play, a sense of justice and a life of willing sacrifice on the part of the clergy, the Right Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts, said in the official service of the general convention here today.

Spreading of social justice, the bishop has urged a larger consideration for a man-touched with "the spirit of socialism."

"Our play is what the together demand from the church. Men of today want and will have truth and we must, as a church, give such a man a hearing."

WIFE OF CARRANZA IN NUEVO LAREDO

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Laredo, Tex., Oct. 22.—Mrs. Virginia Carranza, wife of General Carranza, accompanied by her two daughters and Mrs. Alvarez Obregon, wife of the Mexican minister of war, arrived in Nuevo Laredo today from Mexico City on a special train. They would not discuss their trip nor its subject.

Alonso R. Garrett, American consul at Nuevo Laredo, has been instructed to show the party every courtesy in entering the United States. They will leave tomorrow for San Antonio. Mrs. Obregon is expected to go later to Los Angeles.

SHOCKS WERE FELT IN AND AROUND LOS ANGELES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Los Angeles, Oct. 22.—Two slight earthquake shocks were felt here and in neighboring towns, early tonight. Chandeliers and pictures on walls were shaken and crockery was tumbled from shelves, but no material damage has been reported. The first shock was felt at 6:45 o'clock, the second ten minutes later. Each lasted several seconds.

Considerable excitement was caused in this city. Reports from Santa Ana where the shock seemed to be felt were perceptibly, said that residents rushed into the streets, considerably alarmed.

FRANCE SEIZES MORE TERRITORY IN CHINK CITY

Squaremile Is Occupied Contiguous to Concession Tien Tsin Occupied by Troops of Gallic Republic.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Washington, Oct. 22.—Seizure by French troops of an additional square mile of territory contiguous to the French concession in Tien Tsin, in defiance of the Chinese foreign office, just reported in cable dispatches from Peking, brings to the fore one of the most complicated and most romantic points of conflict between old China and the western world.

Officials here indicated today that as an international affair, little importance was attached to France's action.

Has Romantic History.

Tien Tsin, back in the days when foreign ambassadors to China sought admission in vain, merely was a small dirty town with practically no trade. In 1860, after the British and French had forced their way over the Taku fort and humbled the Manchus at Peking, the right of residence was granted to the subjects of the two countries. The United States, as an interested onlooker, was the same right afterward, and Germany entered into the arrangement in 1881.

Separate sections for the four nationalities were set aside and small local centers of residence and trade grew up. In a few years, however, the American government abandoned its settlement, first because it had no use for it, and no money to pay for it, and second, because under the conditions it had become known as the "middle kingdom" between German and British concessions where all sorts of lawlessness prevailed.

Tien Tsin grew fast and construction of the railroad in 1897 made Tien Tsin the premier city of that whole vast section. In 1900 came the Boxer rebellion with serious damage when Tien Tsin became the base for the march of the nations on the capital.

In 1894, Japan secured a settlement in the city and after 1906, Russia, Belgium, Italy and Austria were given concessions on the left bank of the river. Making nine foreign nations holding and administering small slices of territory. As a result, all shipping for sea-going vessels in the biggest port of north China are in foreign hands. Nevertheless, the city has developed tremendously and is now a large cosmopolitan cross-section of Europe set down in the midst of China's teeming millions.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE IN SOUTHERN CALIF.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Fresno, Oct. 22.—According to reports received here two earthquake shocks that were felt throughout southern California, early tonight, were severe at Bakersfield and in the oil fields of that district. Power lines between Bakersfield and Los Angeles were said to have been damaged and it was reported that a Santa Fe ticket office at Tehachapi was wrecked.

SECOND SHOCK OF WEEK FELT IN BIRMINGHAM

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 22.—This city felt its second earthquake shock within less than a week today. No damage was reported. A shock last Wednesday tore down chimneys here and was felt generally throughout the southeastern states.

TWO OF BARGE L. L. FILER CREW WASHED ASHORE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22.—The bodies of two men, believed to have been members of the crew of the barge L. L. Filer, which foundered in Lake Erie Friday night with a loss of six lives, were washed ashore below Amherstburg, Ontario, about twenty miles down the Detroit river, today. ## AIRZ. PREPARES TO MAKE FAIR THE BEST EVER

The Commission Has the Grounds Nearly Completed to Accommodate What Will Be Largest Crowds.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL) Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 22.—The Arizona state fair commission has the fair grounds nearly ready for the reception of what will doubtless be the largest crowds that have ever been inside the gates, when the fair opens November 12.

Harvey Crawford, the aviator and builder of aeroplanes, is already in Phoenix and it has just leaked out that he is to stay here and open a school of aviation at the state fair grounds. Crawford has with him his large passenger-carrying machine in which he will take up visitors at the fair.

Ground is being broken for the 50-foot circle that is to be dug eight feet deep for the use of the great water-circus that comes with the great Water-shing shows, the carnival that will supply the big amusement features of the fair. This company carries twenty-eight cars of show paraphernalia and is admitted to be the best of its kind.

Nearly Double Last Year's Space. The numerous additions to the stock barns, sheds and pens are nearly completed and, though the commission has provided nearly double the space used last year, every barn and pen is already spoken for.

The Copper Queen Mining company has agreed to send its entire band of thirty-three pieces to Phoenix for the entire week and to stand every penny of the expense. This is real booming but it only shows the spirit that seems to prevail over the entire state. Every one seems to have dropped politics to look fair and even the picture houses are advertising the big week struts.

With all Arizona at home this year and with the money of one of the most prosperous years of the state's history in their pockets, there seems to be a feeling of "lets do something big this year" in every one. More exhibits, more entertainments, more races, more entries in every department insure the biggest and best fair Arizona has ever known.

The different hotels of the city are receiving requests for rooms even at this early date and that proves that there is going to be a great influx of visitors from all parts of the state.

THE CONFESSION OF CAL. RANCHER IS CONFIRMED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) Los Angeles, Oct. 22.—Although a number of teeth and small bones have been found in the yard of Benjamin L. Barrett at Santa Monica, tending to confirm the alleged wealthy rancher's confession to authorities last night that he had killed his wife and stepson, afterward burning their bodies, further search today failed to disclose the skulls or larger bones of the victims, and the police admitted they were mystified.

The district attorney said today's investigation indicated that either the wife, Mrs. Irene Barrett, or her son, Raymond Wright, or both, had been struck down in a stable on the ranch, and not in the yard, as Barrett stated. Blood was found, he said, on the sand floor of the stable.

Barrett, the district attorney said, sticks to his story in every detail. "When I asked him why he killed both of them, the official continued, 'he replied, I thought they were going to kill me, so I thought I would do the same thing to them, only do it first.'"

An alienist who made a casual examination of Barrett today reported that the prisoner apparently was well balanced mentally.

MEETING OF CABINET HELD IN MEXICO CITY

HUGHES BOWS TO HY-PHEN DEMANDS, SO RECORDS OF MEETING SHOW

the our own civil war; the capturing and detention of American ships such as the Stocking and the Genesee, the brutal treatment of American citizens upon neutral ships, taken unlawfully into British ports; the imprisonment and indignities offered American citizens on British territory; the unwarranted and inhuman interference by Great Britain with American charity destined for the people of the neutral powers and their allies, as well as the Irish people, extending even to charities of the Red Cross, an organization protected by international agreement and recognized by the highest instincts of civilization; and other offenses too numerous to mention, all of which are blows struck by Great Britain and her allies at the national honor and with interests of the United States and the dignity and sacred sovereignty of American citizenship.

Condemns Hughes' Silence. "This endorsement by Mr. Hughes of Mr. Roosevelt's un-American discrimination against American rights and American sovereignty might very well have been ignored if it had not been for the fact that Mr. Hughes, in all his public utterances since his nomination has, like Mr. Roosevelt, overlooked these great American questions by failing to discuss them.

"We believe that the aggressions of Great Britain and her allies are a political issue in the minds of the great masses of the American people and that such an issue cannot be another, evaded or destroyed successfully by any candidate for the presidency of the United States, and that such continued aggressions by Great Britain, continually ignored by American statesmen because of their pro-British tendencies or political cowardice, must inevitably lead to war, as they did in 1776 and 1812.

"We believe that American citizenships and sovereignty should be respected by every foreign power, and where American personal and property rights have been destroyed it becomes the duty of the nation in defense of its national honor and vital interests to take every step that may be necessary to protect them.

Committee Is Named.

"We, therefore, designate Carl E. Schmidt, Will R. McDonald, Jeremiah A. O'Leary and Frank Seiberlich as our representatives to place before Mr. Hughes this document, and we further respectfully request and empower them to secure from Mr. Hughes a definite statement for the benefit of a broad and liberal American that has been offended by the British propaganda, creating a deep racial antagonism in our country with resultant destruction and surrender of American rights, whether or not he will administer the presidency of the United States in accordance with the spirit of the fathers and the whole American people, instead of at the behest of present-day Tories, materialists and war parties who proclaim the false doctrine of British sovereignty, and the 'spirit of '76' is a treasonable hyphen."

"To this document, we, the undersigned, representing various organizations, individuals, constituents and interests throughout the United States, affix our names as an indication of our approval of those we represent."

The promise made by Mr. Hughes, What Mr. Hughes Promised.

The official minutes show that the report of the Hughes interview was made verbally by Mr. O'Leary at the afternoon session of the September 30 meeting of the so-called conference. It is interesting to note that the minutes contain illuminating and convincing corroborations of the essential fact that the verbal report was satisfactory from the O'Leary organization's viewpoint.

The report of O'Leary upon this occasion was in substance that Candidate Hughes had assured the special committee of the American independence conference that he had sent the congratulatory telegram to Mr. Roosevelt before he had actually read Roosevelt's Lewiston, Maine, speech. According to O'Leary, Candidate Hughes had simply glanced over the newspaper headlines and commended and felicitated Roosevelt upon what apparently was a great republican utterance.

O'Leary further said in his statement to the conference, substantially that Mr. Hughes promised that his future conduct in the speech-making line should be entirely satisfactory to the interests represented by the committee.

It is to be remembered that in the written statement read to Candidate Hughes the signers of that astonishing document called attention to "Various organizations, individuals, constituents and interests throughout the United States as indicating the approval of those whom they claimed to represent in a plain attempt at intimidation.

Another installment coming. The second installment of this remarkable revelation of political intrigue will be made public tomorrow by the democratic national committee. It will give the facts in convincing detail, likewise disclosed by the official records of the fulfillment by Candidate Hughes of his promise, the working agreement between the American independence conference and the republican national committee, the reward reaped by Mr. Hughes and his campaign managers and the concealment by them of their dealings with the O'Leary aggression.

CANDIDATE SAYS HE MET O'LEARY; NO CONCESSIONS

Charles Evans Hughes Admits Basis for Charges, but Denies Surrender to Demands of Hyphenates.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE) New York, Oct. 22.—Charles E. Hughes, republican candidate for president, denied tonight the charge of the democratic national committee that he had entered into a secret agreement with the American independence conference in which Jeremiah A. O'Leary is said to be the central figure.

The denial was in reply to a statement issued from democratic headquarters in this city containing what purported to be a report made by Mr. O'Leary, at the session of the conference in Chicago. In this alleged report, O'Leary was quoted as having said: "Mr. Hughes promised that his future conduct in the speech-making line should be entirely satisfactory to the interests of the committee."

The democratic statement charges that O'Leary and his committee were delegated to meet Mr. Hughes and ascertain his attitude with reference to "Mr. Roosevelt's pro-British attitude, American utterances in particular, and his (Mr. Hughes') policies in general."

The republican reply was issued at Montclair at midnight, after a three-hour conference between National Chairman W. R. Willcox and Mr. Hughes. The former called early in the evening, took dinner with the nominee, and afterward went into a conference with him over the nominee's recent trip. While they were conferring, the democratic statement was read to them over the telephone.

A few minutes before midnight, Chairman Willcox issued this statement:

"Chairman Willcox said this evening that the matter referred to had been brought to the attention of Mr. Hughes over the telephone and that Mr. Hughes replied:

"I saw the persons mentioned in their request about the middle of September, just as I have seen all persons and delegations so far as possible who have asked me to receive them.

"I have said nothing in private that I have not said in public. At the very beginning, in my speech of acceptance, I declared my position in favor of the absolute protection of American lives, American property and American commerce. This I reiterated to these persons, and I have stated to all others who have asked for interviews, as well as in my public speeches.

"To this maintenance of all American rights I adhere and shall continue to adhere. I have declared over and over again that I have made no private agreements and have engaged in no intrigue, and I repeat that statement."

"Chairman Willcox further said that the national committee has not had and has not now, any agreement or understanding with anybody on such a matter."

Few Opinions by Supreme Court.

NEW YORK HERALD'S POLL.

The Journal, in the two Sundays between now and the election, will publish the summaries of the New York Herald's polls, made during the two intervening weeks.

For those who believe the contrary, the Journal wishes to state that the New York Herald is vigorously supporting Hughes for president, but, as with any reputable newspaper, it does not allow its preferences to interfere with the accuracy of its news service. Only political organs do that. They are unfair to their readers, in the fact that they subordinate their news service to the interests of the political party with which they are affiliated. As with the news bureaus of the European belligerent nations, they suppress all of the news unfavorable to their side and exaggerate all the news that is favorable. With them, the political speeches of the opposition are barabazas, while the speeches of their party advocates are always able and statesmanlike.

The Herald's poll gives an unmistakable trend toward Wilson, but it does not show that he will be elected. Neither does it show that he will likely be defeated. The race is now neck and neck, with Wilson leading.

While every southern state is safely democratic, there is no northern state which may be so classed, and in nearly all of the states north of Mason and Dixon's line if the blue were extended to California and so varied as to conform to state lines, the vote is normally republican. The states which usually give republican majorities have many more electoral votes, in the aggregate, than the states normally democratic.

If Wilson is to be elected, he must overcome a heavy republican normal majority. The Herald's poll does not show that he has done that, at this time, but it does show that he is gaining at a rate, which if maintained until election day, will give him victory.

No newspaper poll, however careful, can give more than the trend. The Herald's method is to learn how the voter cast his ballot last election—democratic, progressive or republican—and how he expects to vote this election. It notes the percentage of progressives that is returning to the republican fold, and the percentage that is turning to Wilson. Also it notes the percentage of the voters who voted for Wilson four years ago and are not going to vote for him this year, and the percentage of those who voted against him then and expect to vote for him now.

In this way, the Herald reaches its conclusion that the trend is decidedly toward Wilson, and that the race is so close that no prediction as to who will win is warranted at this time.

Mr. Hughes is making the same speech everywhere, which is all right for new audiences composed of people who never read the newspapers.

THE MOTHER AND HER BOY.

Now that the cold winds are coming on, the mothers who have sons in the army on the border are employing the governors of states and the war department to send them some home. It is a plea born of sentiment and mother fear. It is a natural outbreak of the old instinct of the mother to protect her young. It is a petition from the heart and not from the mind.

War to a mother is the enemy of her son, and of her. If there must be fighting, it should be done by nature, left, not by boys. Her son, until he has left home for quite awhile, is a boy who catches unnecessary colds, accumulates needless bruises, and eats colicky food. He needs a mother's attention, and she knows that he doesn't get that on the border. Also she has heard of centipedes, tarantulas and scorpions, and she has the exaggerated idea of those who never lived in the southwest that they are dangerously poison. She wants her boy home where she can look after him.

But history has shown that war is a game of youth. The boys have won the liberties of all peoples, have erected empires and explored the world. Boys have formed the majority of the soldiers in every great war. The leaders and planners and thinkers have been men. In Europe, today, they are nearly all old men—hardened, cynical old men brought on the war and are in command; but it is the boys who manipulate the guns, fire the aeroplanes, man the submarines, and die.

General Alnoworth, while in charge of the records of the war department, found that of the nearly three million men who enlisted in the union armies, less than fifty thousand were over twenty-four years old, and more than two millions were twenty-one or under.

Nothing so much emphasizes the necessity for military training in the schools as the fact that if war should come, as it will if we are not so prepared that no nation will dare attack us, the boys of twenty-one and less will have to fight its battles.

THE COLONEL IS ALWAYS WELCOME.

The people of Albuquerque will welcome Colonel Roosevelt this morning. The colonel is an old friend of this section of the country. For some years his brand of politics has not been popular in the southwest, but he is recognized as one of the men of the nation who is both a thinker and a doer.

The fact that Colonel Roosevelt frequently thinks along wrong lines and acts as he thinks, does not materially detract from his popularity.

He will make a great speech today, and he will be given respectful hearing, but he will not change many votes. The voters of New Mexico have made up their minds, and those who favor Wilson will vote for him, and those who are opposed to Wilson will vote against him. So far as Charles Evans Hughes is concerned, he is merely a figurehead in the campaign. No man in the state is for or against him because of his personality. Woodrow Wilson is the issue in national politics.

Chief interest centers in whether Colonel Roosevelt will advocate the election of the republican candidates on the state ticket. The colonel prides himself on being a preacher of righteousness, and there is justifiable curiosity to know whether he can square his fight against Barnes, Penrose, Lorimer and their kind with advocacy of the election of Hubbell and Bursum, and the return to power of the most harmful political machine ever foisted upon a free people.

But it must be remembered that the colonel is a "practical" man, as he stated in a famous letter to "My dear Harriman."

Let us hope that Secretary of War Baker is not to become the Birchard of the Wilson campaign.

A STRONG PULL, AND A PULL ALTOGETHER NOW.

If the democrats win, they must work during the coming two weeks as they never have worked before in New Mexico. Opposed to them is a resourceful and unscrupulous foe. There must be no falling down anywhere, no failure to get the vote out, no belief by the democrats that they have won until the votes are all in the ballot boxes and counted.

The republicans are hoping to win because of quibbles and carelessness in the Pecos valley counties. They do not expect the democratic vote of Quay, Curry, Roosevelt, Chavez and Eddy counties to come out. They do not expect the full democratic strength to be voted in Union county. But they expect to get their vote out in every county in the state.

Now is the time for the democrats and the independents to get to work, and they must work unrelentingly from now until the polls close two weeks from next Tuesday, if they would rescue this state from the old hand that has misgoverned it whenever it was in power.

This is the time for a strong pull, and a pull altogether.

OUR EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The foreign trade balance of the United States for the twelve months ending with September, is the most remarkable in the history of the country. The purchasing power of the country is astounding, but not so much so as the selling power. Imports for the year aggregated $2,267,766,564, which is $412,840,919 more than the previous record year of 1914, which ended just before the beginning of the European war.

But the greatest showing is in our exports. For the twelve months ending with September, we sold abroad goods worth $4,571,945,882, which is $2,606,163,122 more than in the record export year before the European war, 1913. The trade balance for the twelve months ending with September is $2,664,179,318. The highest balance ever attained before the war began was $627,519,916, in 1912. The next greatest balance was $553,957,475, in 1912.

That such an enormous trade balance cannot be maintained after the close of the war, goes without saying. It would not be well if such balance could be maintained, for it soon would bankrupt the rest of the world. But it is certain that for a number of years after the war in Europe closes, there will be great demand upon the United States for American raw materials and American manufactured goods.

Europe must be rehabilitated from the waste of the war, and the great source of supplies for such rehabilitation is the United States.

Faith in the Divine Plan

By ARCHBISHOP TRENCH

I SAY to thee, do thou repeat
To the first man thou mayest meet
In lane, highway, or open street.

That he, and we, and all men move
Under a canopy of love
As broad as the blue sky above,

That doubt and trouble, fear and pain,
And anguish, all sorrows vain;
That death itself shall not remain;

That weary deserts we may tread,
A dreary labyrinth may thread,
Through dark ways underground be led;

Yet, if we will our Guide obey,
The dreariest path, the darkest way,
Shall issue out in heavenly day.

And we, on divers shores now cast,
Shall meet, our perilous voyage past,
All in our Father's home at last.

And ere thou leave him, say thou this,
Yet one word more—they only miss
The winning of that final bliss

Who will not count it true that Love,
Blessing, not cursing, rules above
And that in it we live and move

And one thing further make him know;
That to believe these things are so,
This firm faith never to forego—

Despite of all that seems at strife
With blessing, and with curses rife—
That this is blessing, this is life.

With Scissors and Paste

STEVENSON IN MONTEREY.

(Nellie Van de Graft Sanchez in Scribner's.)

To our house in Monterey Mr. Stevenson came often of an afternoon to read the results of his morning's work to the assembled family. While we sat in a circle, listening in appreciative silence, he nervously paced the room, reading aloud in his full, sonorous voice—a voice that always seemed remarkable in so frail a man—his face flushed, and his manner rather embarrassed, for, far from being over-confident about his work, he always seemed to feel a sort of shy anxiety lest it should not be up to the mark.

He invariably gave respectful attention and careful consideration to the criticism of the humblest of his hearers, but in the end, with Scotch pertinacity to his own opinion if sure of its justice. There was about him little or nothing of the arrogance of the successful writer, and it may be that his openminded willingness to hear and weigh the suggestions of others was a strong factor in the development of his powers. He was not too proud to learn from the meanest tramp met by the wayside, if so be that the tramp had something to teach him.

In this way we heard "The Pavillion on the Links," which he wrote while at Monterey and read us a chapter by chapter as they came from his pen. While there he began another story, which was to have been called "Arizona Breckinridge, or A Vendetta in the West." This story, with its rather lurid title, was to have been based upon some of his impressions of western America, but his heart could not have been in it, for it was never finished.

The name Arizona came out of his intense delight in the "songful, tender" nomenclature of the United States, in which terms he refers to it in "The Amateur Emigrant." The name Susquehanna was a special joy to him, and he took pleasure in rolling it upon his tongue, adding to its music with the rich tones of his voice, as he repeated it: "Susquehanna! Oh, beautiful! While on the train passing through Pennsylvania he wrote some verses about the beautiful river with the "tineful" name in a letter to his friend, Sidney Colvin, of which one stanza runs thus:

I think, I hope, I dream no more
The dreams of otherwhere;
The cherished thoughts of yore;
I have been changed from what I was before;
And drunk too deep perchance the lotus of the air
Beside the Susquehanna and along the Delaware.

Again, in writing the poem entitled "Tenderloin," it was the name that first drew his attention, and

It sang in his sleeping ears.
It hummed in his waking head,
The name—Tenderloin.

THE LAND QUESTION IN ENGLAND

(Correspondence from "The Front.")

The men in the dugouts talk on a good many subjects, but the one on which they are all agreed—that is, the land question. They are not going back as laborers' tenants, but as owners. Many of them have used their eyes and learned much about small farming in France. I wonder if people and politicians at home are beginning to understand that the bravery and camaraderie of officers and men in the field have broken down all class feeling, that our millions of men abroad are changed communities of whose thoughts and aims we know little.

Just as Grant's soldiers in the Grand Army of the Republic dominated the elections in the United States for a quarter of a century, so will the men in the trenches and ambulances come home to demand with their votes as a reward a very changed England. The England they will fashion is as likely to be a surprise to present owners of capital and leaders of labor as it may be to owners of land.

MILLIONS MADE IN MOMENT.

(San Ward in World Outlook.)

Change $25,000 American money into Guatemalan currency and you are immediately the possessor of $1,000,000! The secret is that $1 of our money is worth $40 of theirs. This is the climax of a long period of depreciation—for there was a time when Guatemalan money was worth twice as much as our own. Guatemala is the largest of the little—largest of these six tiny Central American republics. Though it is not true that "the Germans own Guatemala," as some assert, still Germans have become a great financial and commercial power in the land. In fact, Central America might in a sense be called "German America." Aside from the native population (which is a mixture of Spanish, Indian and negro) the largest population is of Germans, and they exercise an influence far out of proportion to their number.

MELANCHOLY OUT OF STYLE.

(Correspondence London Times.)

There was reviewed in the Literary Supplement last Thursday an anthology of melancholy, called the Book of Sorrow. Such a book might seem to be born out of due time; for those pleasures of melancholy that were so sweet to our great grandfathers are to us as faint and far away as the music of the harps to which they were so often sung.

We have of course no time or inclination for fantastic sorrows now, but even before the war they had long gone out of fashion even with the very young. They seem to us to have belonged to a happier time, when men had so much happiness to spare that they could play tricks with it and put their minds as it were in to a fancy dress of unreal mourning as if they were weeping over centaurs. Even to Milton the melancholy of the nightingale sweetened its music; and all through the ages men have talked about that bird as if it were superior in all other songsters in its capacity for sorrow.

But does the song of the nightingale sound melancholy to our modern ears? Does he not rather seem a magnificent virtuoso, starting upon his outdoor with the pride and certainty of Beethoven himself? And Beethoven who seemed to our grandfathers to enrich his music with unutterable sorrows, is he not for us rather the singer of divine energy, serious in the contemplation of all the complexities of the universe, but as far above tears as above foolish laughter?

The change can not be in his music; it must be in us.

We no longer prize melancholy as our grandfathers did, and therefore we do not look for it in the master's music.

We do not wish that music to stir unutterable sorrows in our hearts; the luxury of we are one that we have learned to deny ourselves. It is to us not a luxury to deny ourselves. It is to us not a luxury at all, but a necessity. The music of the nightingale is not a luxury, and the youngest of poets now would not, like Shelley, write proudly that he had spent the night among the tombs. Shelley in the letters of his youth seems always to be overcome by unutterable sorrows and to enjoy them as a child enjoys sugar plums. And all his life he was, like the legendary nightingale, inclined to be most musical when he was most melancholy.

One has only to read the young poets of today to see how they differ in this respect. They would much rather say nasty things than be melancholy. Often enough they are out of contact with the world, as their elders have made it, as all young poets ought to be. But they express their discontent in the laughter than in tears.

Unfathomable sea whose waves are years,
Ocean of time, whose waters of deep
We
Are brackish with the salt of human tears—

They never write in that manner, but prefer to tell us what a nasty, squid mess we have made of things. They are like ladies tripping over a muddy street with uplifted skirts and making a mouth at the mud as they trip. This no doubt is just as much a pose with them as melancholy with the young Shelley. They enjoy telling home truths as he enjoyed weeping; only the pose and the method of enjoyment has changed. Yet it is after all a superficial change of manners. Both the melancholy and the home truths mean the same thing—namely that to brilliant youth the world is never what it might be, that it is mismanaged by middle-aged people who ought to know better; and the middle-aged can not deny it. And there is something deeper than that in it all.

Notes of Interest From State Museum

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.)

Santa Fe, Oct. 22.—Ninety-seven was the mark reached by the membership of the Santa Fe Society of the Archaeological Institute this afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catron and Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Lavan becoming members. This puts the Santa Fe society up to the Syracuse, N. Y., society in eighth place in the institute.

Has a German submarine sent to the bottom of the Atlantic the exhibit of British artists that was to have been shown in the Palace of the Governors during the coming session of the legislature? It almost seems so, for Edgar Knight, brother of one of the British artists, writes: "The pictures I have promised you are now on their way to me. In fact, are very much over due, thereby disarranging my circuit somewhat but the Newcomb Art school, University of Louisiana, New Orleans, will get them for December as I had made that date some time ago with Mr. Woodward, the director, and other dates will have to be adjusted later."

Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Harwood, the artists, have returned to Santa Fe from Taos.

The library today received the study outlines of the General Federation of Women's Clubs on "Latin America and Pan-Americanism" and on "Modern Tendencies and Topics," including an interesting bibliography on the archaeology, history, industries, etc., of each Latin American country, on evolution, physical science, life, heredity, social life, health and the future, the meaning of life, the future, the new outlook toward womanhood, modern topics in novel, drama and poem, labor and industrial conditions, the immigrant, women in industry, business morals, socialism and social tendencies, government, rural communities, prison reform, alcohol, the negro, heredity, marriage, the double standard, economic independence of women, suffrage, divorce, the advanced young woman, social purity and the new outlook toward the problem of life.

"Iroquois Foods and Food Preparation" is the title of the latest monograph of the Canadian government in its anthropological series. It is by F. W. Waugh and covers 150 pages of text and many plates in half-tone and color. On one of the colored plates thirty-six varieties of beans raised by the Iroquois are depicted and including the New Mexico "Pinto" bean. Another colored plate shows fifteen varieties of corn, strangely like the Pueblo varieties of corn. Another of the illustrated Washington university studies was also received and deals with the "Anatomy of the Black Snake."

Wife Murderer to Be Tried.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 22.—Lon Cash and W. A. Lawson, deputy sheriffs of Union county, have taken Bernard Ziegelaar, the inmate of the New Mexico hospital for the insane accused of killing his wife, to Clayton, where he will be tried for murder. The man is not thought to be insane. He was sent to the asylum several weeks ago, shortly after the disappearance of his wife, the officers taking this means of detaining him. The woman's body was found a week ago in a barrel of crude oil on the Ziegelaar farm near Clayton. It had been dismembered.

The incorporators and directors are: J. E. Morgan and John Franklin of El Paso; O. V. Rye and R. W. French of Douglas; M. Earle, Des Moines, Iowa; S. Hayfield, Ancho, and T. H. O'Brien, Dawson.

Veteran Engineer Dead.

USED IT ELEVEN YEARS.

There is one remedy that for many years has given relief from coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. It is probably the best known family cough medicine in the world and because it contains no opiates is strongly recommended for children as well as adults. Mrs. Chas. Rietz, Allen Mills, Pa., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for eleven years and it has never failed me. It promptly relieves hoarseness, tickling throat, bronchial coughs, inflamed and congested membranes and permits refreshing sleep. Sold everywhere."

$250,000 MIGHT HAVE BEEN PUT TO GOOD USES

(Gerard in Public Ledger.)

They say H. C. Frick has paid $250,000 for another Rembrandt. Paintings never sold for that much money until a few years ago. Then Americans became so rich that it didn't matter to them whether they paid fifty thousand dollars or fifty cents for anything they happened to desire. Rembrandts move up in proportion to the competitive ambitions of American money-bags to possess them.

Instead of investing in a few square feet of paint and canvas to look at, Mr. Frick might have done other things with this spare quarter of a million, which apparently he does not need.

For example, this coke king who has turned out favorably, could keep fifteen boys or girls in college for all time to come, giving each one $1,000 a year to pay expenses.

Or if he didn't like that he could every year have three hundred and forty poor babies drinking clean milk for which he paid.

We hear much talk about "back to the soil." Frick's picture if turned into cash and loaned to deserving young men would enable 250 to start farming.

Or that fund would endow forever fifty hospital beds.

It would build 100 workmen's homes.

Were the picture buyer to copy Franklin and meet his money for one century instead of hanging it upon the wall for eternity, this $250,000, compounded at our legal rate of interest, would exceed $50,000,000.

Indeed, no president from Washington to Grant received so much money in the shape of salary from the United States as Mr. Frick pays for one little Dutch painting.

DEFECTIVE TEETH CAUSE OF WOMAN'S INSANITY

Brooklyn Eagle.

Chatham, N. Y.—How Mrs. Lloyd Warfield of Spencerport was cured of what appeared to be a hopeless case of insanity by the extraction of all her teeth came to light recently. Her mind was apparently a blank until the dental operation was performed, for immediately on her recovery she resumed some needlework where she had left off when her mind became affected last February, and then finished another uncompleted task.

Mrs. Warfield became dependent last winter. Her condition was attributed to worry over her mother's illness. She continued to grow worse from day to day in spite of all medical attention. Neighbors cared for her two young children and finally Mrs. Warfield was taken to a sanatorium in Troy. When her condition did not improve she was brought back home and arrangements were being made to have her sent to the asylum at Poughkeepsie. Her family physician after a careful examination, discovered that her teeth were affected and instead of to the asylum he took her to a dentist. All the teeth were extracted and when the operation was over Mrs. Warfield said she felt as though a cloud had been removed from her mind. The diagnosis had shown that every tooth was afflicted with an ulcer, which caused a pressure on the brain center. Mrs. Warfield is now as well as ever. Her husband is a clerk in a grocery store at Spencerport.

Dr. David Mullin Dead.

East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 22.—Dr. David Mullin, aged 26 years, a native of Ireland and a graduate physician, died at St. Anthony's sanatorium, after an illness of two years. Dr. Mullin had passed examination to practice in Colorado, but his health failing, he came here. George Mullin, aged 51, a merchant of Waynesburg, died in this city, and will be buried here. Mr. Mullin was a brother of Dr. Mullin of this city.

Will pay for the chance to heal Catarrh

After an experience of 25 years, during which time 30 million Americans have used Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly, the manufacturers of this remedy feel so sure that it will relieve catarrh—that they offer to pay for a chance to prove its benefit to any catarrhal sufferer. They announce that any resident of this community can go to almost any drug store and get a complimentary trial can at the expense of the manufacturers. If the druggist has no gratuitous packages, the person may buy a 25-cent tube with the unqualified understanding that if that first tube does not do that person more than a dollar's worth of good, he or she can get their quarter back from either the druggist, or the Kondon Company at Minneapolis. Over 35,000 druggists know Kondon's Catarrhal Jelly is effective, harmless, clean and pleasant to apply—and they know the Kondon people will gladly live up to this offer—"quarter back if not worth a dollar." Bigger and Better

SEEN IN MOVIES,
THANKS TO T. R.

Cammermen From Hearst International News Service and Pathe Weekly Here; Plans Laid for Big Parade.

Albuquerque will be flashed on the motion picture screens in every city and hamlet of the United States as the result of Col. Theodore Roosevelt's visit here today.

Camera men from Hearst International News Pictorial and Pathe weekly have been assigned by their New York editors to attend the reception and to make pictures of the parade. In all the principal theaters from New York to San Francisco and from Seattle in Jacksonville, Fla., the ranchmen and rough riders who are in the parade today will be marched across the moving picture screens before the eyes of 10,000,000 people. And after they have been shown in the United States they will be sent across the oceans to European and Asiatic countries.

Because of the importance of these pictures to the city of Albuquerque the reception committee and other loyal citizens have cast aside for the day the thought of party differences and united to make a wide-awake show for Albuquerque. Sheriff Romero was busy yesterday afternoon notifying his deputies in the outlying precincts to come mounted to the Alvarado hotel at 8 o'clock this morning and to pass the word along to ranchmen and others who could help swell the parade of mounted men.

Mr. Barber, chairman of the reception committee, and Mr. Benson gave the cameramen assistance and devoted the day to perfecting arrangements for a worthy spectacle.

Besides the motion picture snapshots will be made for the International film service and the photographs will be syndicated to newspapers and magazines throughout the United States.

H. P. Brown of the Hearst company and L. J. Barrard of Pathe arrived in Albuquerque yesterday morning and immediately called the Journal office to learn what arrangements had been made for the reception. They were referred to Mr. Barber, who has appealed to all loyal citizens to help put Albuquerque on the motion picture map today.

WIFE SLAYER WILL GO ON TRIAL TODAY
IN DISTRICT COURT

Thomas Romero, of Santa Barbara, will go to trial today in the district court, charged with murdering his wife last summer.

Romero shot his wife in the breast at the home of Mrs. Kate Armijo, Second street and New York avenue. He gave himself up to a passerby, who turned him over to the police. Romero admitted killing his wife to the police, saying that he first intended to commit suicide after shooting her but decided to live to tell relations why he had slain her.

He was released under $10,000 bond, the amount fixed by the committing magistrate. Several men provided the bond. When the grand jury indicted Romero under Sheriff Lewis did not have to go far to find him. He was at the court house, presumably awaiting the action of the grand jury.

BOY ACCUSED OF
SENDING IN FREQUENT
FAKE FIRE ALARMS

Police believe that small boys have been responsible for the series of false alarms which have sent fire engines rolling to the south part of the highlands probably eight times this month. Eight boys have been cited to appear before Police Judge W. W. McCall today either as witnesses or on the charge of sending in fake alarms.

False alarms were coming into the fire department so frequently that the council was called upon to take action. This it did a week ago by offering a reward of $10 for the arrest and conviction of any one calling out the fire engines without cause. False alarms continued to be sounded, however. Three were sent in the last three nights of last week.

Former President Theodore Roosevelt, advocating the election of Charles E. Hughes, will speak here this morning.

Mr. Roosevelt will come from Phoenix, Ariz., where he spoke Saturday night, reaching Albuquerque at 7:35 o'clock this morning. After breakfast he will ride in an automobile parade. The parade will start at 9 o'clock. He will begin speaking at 10 o'clock. Mr. Roosevelt will stand on the northern veranda of the Alvarado hotel, from which William Jennings Bryan spoke a short time ago.

A luncheon for the Rough Rider colonel will take place at 12:30 o'clock in the Taft room of the Alvarado. The former president will leave at 2:40 o'clock this afternoon for Las Vegas. Colonel Roosevelt will be welcomed with the presidential salute of twenty-one "guns." Bombs will be used in this instance. Although the hour of his arrival is early the Hughes-Fairbanks club hopes that a great crowd will be at the Santa Fe station. A big reception committee has been appointed.

Stars in Filmdom

This is Charlie Chaplin, the funniest man today in the long list of fun-makers before the eyes of the people patronizing picture shows. Charlie dropped into Albuquerque yesterday, and he kept everybody at the Pastime theater, in the afternoon and evening, in a continual laugh from the time he appeared on the screen until Jimmy Provoy took him off. For a minute or two Charlie was as mad as a wet hen, but he promised Provoy that he would fill his contract, so if you want to see Charlie in his best funnet, see him this afternoon and evening at the Pastime. His latest is "The Pawn Shop," and it is a two-roler fun-maker clean through. Also see Orin Hawley and Rocklife Fellows in "Where Love Leads." Remember, this today, at the Pastime.

It comes high to secure such attractions as Charlie, together with a five-roler drama, but the Pastime management is out to get the best and they are doing it. For such attractions, anywhere else in the world, the admission is 25 cents, but the Albuquerque theater-goers can see Charlie Chaplin, Orin Hawley, Rocklife Fellows and other stars this afternoon and night at the Pastime for 15 cents for adults and 10 cents for children.

WEALTH OF STUNNING
WARDROBE IN SHOWS

William Wamsher, the producer of "The Girl From the U. S. A." which will be seen here shortly, is responsible for the show being the best dressed in the amusement business. Mr. Wamsher has long been famed for his lavish expenditure of money in compensating his various musical comedy productions with the best wardrobes to be had at any price. In "The Girl From the U. S. A." he has outdone himself; more than $10,000 has been expended for the hundreds of gowns and dresses worn by the beauties of the chorus. Add several thousands of dollars for the sartorial creations displayed by the leading members of the organization and the total outlay for embellishment is near the twenty thousand dollar mark. "The Girl From the U. S. A." New York's latest and greatest musical comedy sensation, comes to the Crystal theater for a special engagement of one night, October 26.

WANT RECRUITS
FOR NEW MEXICO
INFANTRY BAND

Ten Members Needed to Bring Organization Up to Footing at Which Government Will Accept It.

New Mexico having kept its infantry regiments as a unit in federal service is asked to recruit the first regiment band up to full strength. The state is called upon to supply ten musicians. If it fails there will be no first regiment band, according to Major R. Ruppe, who arrived here yesterday from Columbus, N. M., on a month's leave of absence.

Major Ruppe began recruiting for the band immediately after his arrival here. He had obtained three of last night, reducing the number yet to be supplied to seven. Major Ruppe believes he can get the remainder in New Mexico. If he can not he will ask El Paso to furnish them. The major prefers, however, that the organization be thoroughly and entirely New Mexican.

Only eight members of the regimental band remain. Eleven guardsmen were detailed from various companies of the First New Mexico to the band, bringing the number up to nineteen. The eleven men detailed to the band were accepted in federal service before the assignment was made.

The original members of the band, however, have not taken the oath and it will not be administered until the band reaches full strength. Applicants who wish to enlist for service in the band should go to Ruppe's drug store. Either Major Ruppe or James Devine will be there.
