VERY FEW ELECTORAL VOTES MAY SECURE WHO WILL BE NEXT PRESIDENT

OLD LETTERS TO Safford REVEAL INNER WORKINGS OF THE MACHINE

Politicians of High and Low Degree Went to Secretary of Central Committee for Advice.

KIND REGARDS SENT TO THE 'PLUNDERBUND'

"Nice Letter" Is Sent to Be Read to Woman Home-steader While Another Reveals Facts in Hearing.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Santa Fe, Oct. 28.—(Dear Charlie, I wrote a well known republican politician to Charles V. Safford in July, 1917, "we are all proud of your report in the Bursum matter here, and a whole lot prouder of the native accountants. You shall be president some day. It reads right, and we know it is right."
"Thank has returned from his wedding tower," the letter concludes, "and joins me in regards to yourself and the plunderbund."
The name signed to this letter is that of a former member of the house of representatives of New Mexico and an active republican politician who has since moved outside the state.
This letter is only one of a large number found in an old file by a democrat in Santa Fe the other day which furnish an illuminating example of how things were done in New Mexico in former days when the old republican ring was in complete control in New Mexico and governed the state according to the humors of the men who governed it.
Important of these letters, relating to matters in which certain republican candidates for office at the next election were involved, have been banded up and sent to Denver to be photographed and put in place for publication before election—for no chances are being taken on their disclosure. Those that remain in Santa Fe, however, abound in human interest and bristle with that sort of humor that helps to make politics the fascinating game that it is.
All went to Safford.
Many of the original letters discovered in the file were written to Charles V. Safford during the period that he was secretary of the republican state central committee, and without exception they are either from politicians regarding the conduct of party matters or from citizens not actively in politics but desiring aid and comfort from the organization. As an official who was part and parcel of the machine at that time Mr. Safford was much in demand. Nearly all of his correspondents addressed him as "Dear Charlie," and discussed political matters of a most intimate nature with him with engaging frankness.
For example, pinned together in one of the flaps of the file were found three letters. One of them was from Land Commissioner Fred Dennett to the then delegate in congress from New Mexico, and related to a contest over an entry on government land by a woman in this state. Attached to this is a letter from the delegate to "Dear Mr. Safford," in which the delegate declares: "I have had the matter up with the department and feel quite hopeful of favorable action." Attached to these two is still another letter from the delegate to "Dear Charlie," which reads as follows:
"The enclosure from the commissioner of the general land office will explain itself. You will note it is a very bad letter and would hurt if it fell to the party. The hearing, however, is to be called after election and I enclose you a nice letter you can read to Mrs. R." This letter bears the same date as the "nice letter" to which it refers.
Trouble in San Miguel.
From the copy of a letter written by Safford to Governor Curry, found in the letter-impression book, it appears that trouble had been brewing in San Miguel county, but Mr. Safford was hopeful that everything would come out right in the end.
"Spies," he wrote, as doing and can continue to do effective work. He is still his friends that in case of statehood he will be a candidate for congress from the northern district, and is asking all those that helped him in his candidacy for delegate to help him now by staying with the ticket."

Can the Leopard Change Its Spots?

If there were any indication that the old republican ring would return to power in New Mexico chastened and penitent, there might be some excuse for voting for its candidates in this election; but there is not.

If any sign could be discerned that the men who for so many years misgoverned New Mexico have learned a lesson and are now in a frame of mind to exert themselves in the direction of clean, honest and efficient government, there would be some basis for their appeal to be restored to power; but no such sign is to be detected.

The leopard never has and never will change its spots. Men of the type of those who composed the republican ring in New Mexico will never learn a lesson. They have no conception of government for the people, and can not acquire it. Selfishness—the theory that public office is a private snap—forms their fundamental idea of government.

These assertions are not mere dicta—they are proved by the experience of other states and other communities. New Mexico is not the only state that has had saddled upon it men of the type now asking for office on the republican ticket. Whenever such men have been voted out of office and have been returned to power they have taken with them approval of their methods and have given even worse government on their second trial than at any time before.

That is why it is not safe to vote for a single man on the republican ticket in this election. It is a ring ticket—dictated and controlled by the ring. Nothing but subservience to the wishes of the ring can be expected of its candidates if they are elected.

This is no time to experiment in reform. The voters of New Mexico know that the McDonald administration, the policies of which E. C. de Baca is pledged to continue, has given them good government. They know that the old republican ring, whose candidates are asking to be restored to office, gave the state the worst government that was possible. The only safe thing to do is to vote the democratic ticket.

MR. HUGHES AND THE COLONEL ARE CONTRADICTORY

While Roosevelt Wants to Seize Empire's Ships, the Nominee Indorses Pro-Germans.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
New York, Oct. 28.—The "New Republic" in an editorial headed "Mr. Hughes and Mr. O'Leary," says today:
"At this precise moment, after Mr. Roosevelt's speech in Maine and while he was talking in Michigan about seizing German ships and other warlike acts, Mr. Hughes had his conference with Mr. O'Leary and his friends. We are altogether ready to believe that Mr. Hughes said nothing to them that he has not said in public. But what did he say in public on Monday night, October 8, at Philadelphia, the day on which the American people read about the U-53, Mr. Hughes took a firm stand against the German government and denounced the blockade and the blacklist with great emphasis. That very evening when all American newspapers would break his pledge, Mr. Hughes endorsed the chief plank in the platform of the pro-Germans, he could not have selected a more sensational occasion to solidify wavering the hyphenate voters."

"What it was that forced him to change his mind we do not know." The democratic national committee points to the secret meeting with Mr. O'Leary which was followed by Mr. Hughes' adoption of the main principle of the pro-German propaganda. The indisputable fact is that the views which Mr. Hughes honestly believes on a crucial point, the views of that propaganda. The fact is that he did not express these views until after Mr. Roosevelt had frightened the pro-German vote. The fact is that Mr. Hughes has never unambiguously repudiated the activity of the German-American alliance. The fact is that the hyphenate vote is organized for his election.

REPLY TO BLACK LIST NOTE IS CONSIDERED

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL.)
Washington, Oct. 28.—The next move of the United States in the controversy over the blacklisting of American firms will not be determined until officials have had ample time to examine Great Britain's reply to the American note of July 28, protesting against it. The reply reached the state department today from the London embassy. Secretary Lansing said tonight that he had not decided when it would be made public.

The note refuses the American contention, which termed the blacklisting an arbitrary interference with free trade, but it is said to offer methods of relief which may be available in some instances to lessen the rigors of interference.

An American reply is certain to be made, based on the contention that the blacklist violates the commercial treaty of 1815, that in singling out certain American firms, undue discrimination is shown and that an illegal action is taken, designed to prevent trade with Germany, and to end which should be accomplished through blockade and contraband restrictions. It may be urged that the blacklist is designed to cripple firms trading with Germany in order to destroy German trade more than for the immediate purpose of war.

No Milk in Greater Berlin.
New London, Oct. 28.—A Reuters dispatch from Amsterdam today says: "According to the Berliner Tageblatt there is no longer any milk in Greater Berlin or other large towns except for invalids."

Greek Railway Men Strike.
London, Oct. 28.—The employees of the Greek railways declared a general strike Friday evening, their request for an increase in pay having been refused by the government, says a Reuters dispatch from Athens to the Wireless Press.

FIVE MORE VESSELS ARE REPORTED SUNK

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
London, Oct. 28.—The sinking of four more steamships and one sailing vessel is announced by Lloyd's. Three of the vessels were Norwegian, the fourth was Swedish, and the fifth was a British. The Norwegian vessels sunk were the Norasagan, the sailing vessel Kathinka, and the Swedish steamer Jonkoping. The sinking of the British steamer Sparta was attended with the loss of four members of her crew.

The safe arrival of the Norwegian steamer Gerhardt, previously sunk, and the sailing vessel, also announced by the shipping agency.

SERBIANS CAPTURE BULGARIAN TRENCHES

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
Saloniki, Oct. 28 (1:50 p. m.).—Serbian troops yesterday made an advance at the head of the Cerna river in Serbian Macedonia, says a Serb official announcement issued here today.

On Thursday several Bulgarian trenches were captured by the Serbs.

ROMANIANS ARE HURLING BACK AUSTRIO-GERMANS - ALONG FRONTIER

Invaders Are Repulsed on Transylvania Line, and Considerable Number of Prisoners Are Taken.

MACKENSEN CONTINUES TRIUMPHANT IN DOBRUJA

French Forces Capture Quarry Near Fort Douaumont; British Are Balked on the Somme.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
Austro-German forces along the Transylvanian frontier are meeting with stubborn opposition. Rumanian troops have repulsed the invaders and have taken more than 1,800 prisoners, Bucharest announces. The Rumanians recaptured Pucul and Tulghe, and Biaz and in the Ural valley, and took 1,100 men. The attack in the Ural valley also resulted in the repulse of General von Falkenhayn's men.

Bucharest Announces Gain.
North of Cambrin, Bucharest says, a counter-attack in the region of the Brasov line netted 200 prisoners. Further west in Wallachia, in the Jiu valley, the Rumanian offensive continues successfully with the capture of 450 prisoners. Berlin announces the taking of a height south of Kronstadt and declares that "otherwise the situation is not essentially changed."

The retreat of the Russo-Rumanian forces in Dobruja continues, and Berlin records that Field Marshal von Mackensen is meeting with little opposition. Five thousand more prisoners have been taken by the Teutons.

Russo-Rumanians Retreat.

In the region of Derna Watra, several heights have been occupied by Austrian troops. Petrograd says the Russo-Rumanian troops were forced to fall back in that region, abandoning two heights.

French troops have captured a quarry northeast of Port Douaumont. The reports of French attacks there, as well as Franco-British efforts on the Somme front, is announced by Berlin.

In Volhynia, the Austro-Germans repulsed a Russian attack. Otherwise there has been little activity on the Austro-Italian front.

FRENCH TROOPS TAKE QUARRY NEAR VERDUN

Paris, Oct. 28.—French forces in the region of Verdun last night captured by the use of hand grenades the quarry held by the Germans to the northeast of Fort Douaumont. It was officially announced by a dispatch from the French army headquarters in the region of Verdun last night, the statement adds, there was an intermittent artillery bombardment.

RUSSIAN OFFENSIVE TO RELIEVE RUMANIA

London, Oct. 28.—A telegram received in Rome from a German source reports that there are indications of the beginning of a tremendous new Russian offensive in Galicia and Poland, says a dispatch from the Italian capital received by the Wireless Press.

MACKENSEN PURSUES FLEEING ROMANIANS

Berlin, Oct. 28 (Via Wireless to Special).—Today's statement concerning conditions in the Balkans says:
"Field Marshal von Mackensen's front. In northern Dobruja our pursuing detachments so far have found but little resistance. Every-thing indicates that the enemy is retreating in haste. Five hundred isolated soldiers were taken prisoner, and several munition columns and baggage were captured."

"Macedonian front. Serbian fighting against the German and Bulgarian positions in the Cerina bend failed, as did partial advances of the enemy on the east slopes of the Moenkopf mountains, and southwest of Dobruja lake."

ROMANIAN TROOPS REPORT SUCCESSES

Bucharest, Oct. 28 (via London).—Rumanian troops on the Moldavian front have won another success over the Austro-German forces, the war office announced today. In the Trotus they recaptured Pucul. The Teutonic troops are fleeing in disorder.

In the Ural valley a Rumanian attack was successful, ten officers and 500 men, together with five machine guns and a large quantity of war material being captured by the Rumanian forces.

East of the Alt valley hostile attacks were repulsed. The Austro-German forces which had advanced to the west were completely defeated, while the statement, leaving 1,000 dead in the battle field, besides losing 450 men in prisoners and sixteen machine guns.

SHARP ATTACK BY PRESIDENT ON METHODS OF HIS OPPONENTS

Departs From Text of Address Prepared for "Woodrow Wilson Day;" Almost Entirely New Speech.

UNSCRUPULOUS POLICIES OF CAMPAIGN ASSAILED

Says Men Who Are Fighting Him Prefer a Peace Maintained by Brag and Ungentlemanly Means.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 28.—That the opposition to this election is "scrapping at nothing," in an statement, act or policy, was the charge made by President Wilson in a speech at Shadow Lawn this afternoon to a throng that assembled for a joint celebration of "New York day" and "Woodrow Wilson day."

"What are we to say," he asked, "of the patriotism of men who take advantage of a crisis of the world when the fortunes of men hang in uncertain balance, when the peace of this great nation can be maintained only by the most thoughtful and considerate means, to settle a question of power among themselves?"

Renewing his discussion of the foreign policies of the United States and speaking of the vocal element of the republican party, the president declared:

Scores Opposition.

"They prefer a peace that is produced by the methods of those who defy, of those who brag, of those who threaten in order to establish their power. They have forgotten their manners. They want a peace, indeed, but they do not want a peace obtained as gentlemen obtain it, but only as braggarts obtain it."

In the course of his address the president reviewed in detail the record of the democratic party toward the public questions, declared that most of the issues of the campaign proposed at the outset by the republicans have disappeared; upheld the eight-hour day for "everybody for whom it is possible," and of the "interesting gradations of the republicans toward the tariff, and replied to assertions of his opponents and to what will happen after the war."

Refers to New York Campaign.

Direct reference to the New York campaign was made by Mr. Wilson for the first time. He mentioned Samuel Seabury, candidate for governor, by name, and urged that "a democratic governor and United States senator should be elected."

The president did not read a speech prepared by him in advance. Although he used some of the thoughts contained in the prepared speech, he departed entirely from the words and injected many ideas of his own. His speech was one of the most interesting and most original in many years and towns in celebration of "Wilson day."

Headed by bands and carrying flags and banners bearing inscriptions praising the president, the largest crowd that has ever gathered here for any of Mr. Wilson's speeches came on special trains and marched to Shadow Lawn. The delegations included one composed of Tammy democrats, led by John B. Voorhis, grand sachem.

CURRENCY ACT ALONE SHOULD ELECT WILSON

H. A. Jastro Believes That by Itself Justifies Keeping the President at the White House.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE.)
H. A. Jastro, largely interested in livestock and other enterprises in this state, arrived in Albuquerque yesterday, Mr. Jastro when seen by a Journal reporter expressed himself that there is only time to the credit of President Wilson the passage of the currency act would alone justify him to re-election.

Mr. Jastro, who is well informed on financial affairs, states that the passage of this act has done more for the country than any other single act ever passed by congress of the United States. It has turned the tide of inflation throughout the country, he says, practically eliminating the possibility of a financial panic. He quoted the tremendous increase of deposits in San Francisco banks, one institution there jumping from thirty millions to fifty millions.

STRAW VOTE HAS WILSON STILL GAINING OVER THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE IN MOST DOUBTFUL STATES

WOMEN MAY THROW ILLINOIS PLURALITY TO DEMOCRATIC PARTY'S STANDARD BEARER

New York City Shows Increased Percentage for President, but Upstate Sentiment Is Drifting Toward G. O. P. Chief-tain; Next Sunday's Poll Is Expected to Indicate to Country With Considerable Accuracy What Following Tuesday Will Decide Regarding Government of United States for Coming Four Years; New Mexico Is Placed in Hughes Column; Missouri and Nebraska Seem to Lean Toward Republicans, but Change May Occur in Showing of Next Straw Vote Poll; Closest Contest Since 1888.

(The New York Herald's political canvass, published today, shows a neck and neck race as the poll is neared in the presidential race. The Herald's summary of the results of its work follows:)

(Copyright 1916 by the New York Herald Company; all rights reserved.)

New York, Oct. 28.—Entered upon its final lap the race for the presidency is still a neck and neck contest.

The president has been making gains in the Herald national straw vote, but the republicans assert that the Wilson tide reached its highest point several days ago and now is falling off.

In the total vote today, President Wilson shows a gain of 1 per cent and Mr. Hughes shows a loss of 1.1-10 per cent.

During the week the president made gains, large and small in eighteen states. Mr. Hughes made gains in eight. There were no important changes in the totals from nine states.

In New York City the president gained; upstate Mr. Hughes made advances.

The drift during the week was unquestionably in the president's direction. In the opinion of both republicans and democrats, the campaign hung on a dead centre several days ago. The republicans declare that since that time the swing has been in their direction. The democrats do not contend that there has been a continuation of the marked drift of two weeks ago but feel confident that the strong current driving in their direction up to the time there came a lull was sufficient to overcome any back drift which may be started by the republicans.

Change May Not Appear.
Whatever change in the situation may have followed the turning point in the campaign—and all the leaders agree that the battle reached its climax a few days ago—might not be apparent in the straw vote tabulation of this date. It will, however, be caught in the canvass that is being made at this time and which will be continued until the spectacular contest draws to a close.

If the tide continues to run in the president's direction at the same speed that has marked it during the last three weeks, Mr. Wilson will be in a fair way to sweep away the big normal pluralities upon which the republicans have relied.

By the Sunday before election, the Herald will have taken upward of a quarter of a million straw votes, and it is expected that they will represent as accurately as best efforts can do so, the actual sentiment prevailing in the nation at that time.

The Herald's straw vote campaign first drew the attention of the country to the fact that the struggle for the presidency was of the 1888 variety, or possibly more uncertain, and the developments out what the straw vote first disclosed that it is anyone's battle, that the Wilson men have the advantage of popular sentiment which loudly voiced its preference and the republicans being fortified by the ponderous strength of their party and safeguarded by the so-called "silent" vote which is the deciding factor in many contests.

Hughes Has Slight Lead.
In the total of 204,000 straw votes tabulated by today's issue, Mr. Hughes leads by 122. Last week he led by 3,127.

If but one-third of the top-heavy California vote of 21,414 is used for the computation—and it is hardly a fair basis to use the whole vote from that strongly republican state—the president has a majority of 6,795.

Last week, figuring California on the reduced basis, the president had a lead of 375.

In the shifts from party to party and in the dilation of the Roosevelt vote of 1912, Mr. Hughes has suffered losses which appear possibly more formidable in the aggregate than they do when considered individually. In the straw vote cast during the current week, Mr. Hughes received 74.6 per cent of the Wisconsin vote and Mr. Wilson 24.4 per cent.

The first straw vote tabulated, Mr. Hughes received nearly 81 per cent and the president only 17 per cent of the Massachusetts vote.

REASONS

Why You Should Vote for W. B. WALTON FOR CONGRESS

- PRESIDENT WILSON will be re-elected and he must have a Democratic Congress with him.
- WALTON FOR WILSON—Walton will work with Wilson and Walton is a willing worker.
- WALTON FOR EDUCATION—Walton advocated free school text books in New Mexico. His four years' fight makes them a future certainty.
- WALTON FOR CLEAN ELECTIONS—Walton got a corrupt practices act through a hostile legislature, while his workable referendum law was defeated.
- WALTON FOR EFFECTIVE LEGISLATION—Walton is the author of a number of laws in force in New Mexico and all are good ones.
- WALTON FOR WORKINGMEN'S RIGHTS—Walton introduced a Workingmen's Compensation Act in the first state legislature and he is in favor of the Adamson Eight-hour Law.
- WALTON MEASURES UP TO THE STANDARD—Walton is of congressional caliber and he will be heard from in Washington.
- WALTON WILL DO MORE THAN VOTE—Walton knows the needs of New Mexico and New Mexico needs a man like Walton in congress.
- VOTE FOR W. B. WALTON—Walton will make an able and efficient congressman; one who knows what to go after, and when he goes after anything, gets it.
- GIVE WOODROW WILSON A CHANCE BY GIVING HIM A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS TO WORK WITH. GIVE WALTON A CHANCE TO SHOW WHAT A REAL CONGRESSMAN CAN DO FOR NEW MEXICO.

DEMOCRATS ARE HITTING BALL IN STATE AND COUNTY

Headquarters in Albuquerque Running in High Gear; Boss Romero Fighting Losing Game in Outside Precincts.

That the democrats of Bernalillo county are determined to win in the coming election is shown by the fact that they are showing a surprising amount of speed in the campaign and causing no little worry to their opponents, the republicans, because of the aggressive attack they are making in every precinct in the county.

mero, for years a power in outside precincts, lacks the punch in the present campaign, and that he is losing ground day after day. This loss of strength, it is claimed, is partly due to the fact that Romero is up in the air without the guiding hand of W. H. Gillenwater, who has hitherto furnished the program for Romero's use and guidance.

At Pie Counter Too Long.
Another factor, it is contended, is that there is bitter opposition to Romero in many of the outside precincts because of the fact he has been in office for so many years. There is a feeling among the native voters especially that Romero has been at the pie counter long enough, and that some other man should have a whack at things. They seem to think that Rafael Garcia, democratic candidate for sheriff, is the man who is entitled to their votes this year. Republican leaders themselves, reluctantly admit that Garcia is making terrific inroads on Romero, and that Don Jesus is fighting for his political life, waging a battle at once desperate and alarming.

Vigil Is Popular.
Coupled with Romero's waning power, as a reason for the gloomy republican situation, is the fact that Manuel L. Vail, district attorney nominee on the democratic party, is extremely popular, not only in the city but in outside precincts. Vail has been making a systematic campaign in every precinct and has been promised active, intelligent support by hundreds of republicans, who have hitherto been loyal to Boss Romero, regardless of the candidate he was backing.

River Precincts Revolt.
Romero is also being troubled in Old Albuquerque, in Bernalillo and across the Rio Grande, north and south, by the presence of the democratic ticket of J. A. Garcia, Y Sanchez, candidates for probate judge, and Severo Sanchez, candidate for county commissioner. Republican leaders despair of defeating either of these men, and are free to admit that both candidates add greatly to the factors contributing to democratic success in the county.

Harris a Good Bet.
Even the most optimistic members of the opposition party are glum when mention is made of the prospects of Harris, their candidate for lieutenant governor, who is pointed out by those who have studied the situation that Harris is popular in the city, having been born and reared here, and that his chances for election are greatly increased by the fact that his father, H. V. Harris, was for many years probate clerk in this county, and that many of the men who know H. V. Harris in his life time are still living and will vote for Frank Harris because of that. Frank Harris, who is cashier of the First National bank, has been abandoned by Jack London's ruff and donned a white collared shirt with turtleneck collar and a "reaching it" outfit, and is out among the boys making a hand-shaking tour of the county. Frank speaks Spanish fluently and is making a hit because of his ability to talk to a hit because of his ability to talk to the voters in outside precincts in their mother tongue.

Betting Indication.
The fact that the tide has turned in betting in the east, with Wilson backers betting even money on him against Hughes in New York and other large centers, has had its effect in Albuquerque. It was authoritatively announced here last night that Wilson and Hughes betting all day yesterday was on an even money basis. Several clubs, with boards, informed inquirers that but little Hughes money was available while many wished to place bets on Wilson.

Reports Encouraging.
A prominent independent republican, who did not care to be quoted for publication, returned yesterday from a trip to Sandoval and Rio Arriba counties. He declared that in his opinion, after a careful investigation, the democrats would carry both Sandoval and Rio Arriba with the combination ticket.

CLAY TALLMAN IS RECEIVED WELL BY LARGE ROY AUDIENCE

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL
Roy, Oct. 28.—Hon. Clay Tallman, commissioner of public lands, of Washington, D. C., addressed a large audience of intensely interested voters Wednesday night. Mr. Tallman reviewed the work of the democratic administration, under the master mind of Woodrow Wilson, from the beginning to the measures now on the road to enactment, mentioned in particular that some of the good legislation passed by the republican administration, under the control of the republican administration, by the "old guard," who represent special interests, failed to be enacted.

He said the enactment of these good laws was brought about in spite of the bitter opposition of the old guard, and that the administration had put up a hard but winning fight, from beginning to end, for just and fair-reaching laws to result in the greatest good for the greatest number.
He criticized Roosevelt as a more than fair opponent of the republican party when he organized the progressives, and as a traitor to the latter when he organized the progressive organization, and failed of nomination this because he failed of nomination by the republican party again in 1912.
He said that the republicans had been for the past three and a half years casting about for an issue in this campaign, and that the only one they could make a howl about was the "free" question. "This," he said, "after eliminating the tummy problem, resulted still into a question of whether we wanted war or peace."
"The most blundering blunder for war is usually the last to go to the front,"

He paid a high tribute to the Hon. A. A. Jones, "a big, brave, outstanding man, with a heart for the western people."
The talk was restricted to cold, irrefutable facts, and the close attention accorded the speaker throughout the address was expressive of the intense interest the voters are showing in the present campaign.

MAKE YOUR OWN LIQUORS AT HOME

Anyone Can Now Make Their Own Liquors at Home and Save Money.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 29, 1916.—A well-known distiller of this city has just produced a Concentrated Extract, with which anyone can now make right at home any Whiskies, Liquor or Cordials, at a saving of over fifty per cent of the liquor dealers' prices. It's very simple and easy. A few minutes does the work, requiring no apparatus, no boiling, no experience whatsoever. It is said that the liquor made is far superior to those that can be purchased at most liquor stores, and as a result of this discovery, thousands of people all over the country are already making their own liquors at home. The legality of this method has been carefully investigated by the highest authorities and found to comply with the law in every respect. No one now need be without their favorite liquor, as it can be made right at home or anywhere in a jiffy, just when wanted. The news of this amazing discovery has started the country and he has already received thousands of letters of praise. Any one can try a quart of his favorite liquor free by writing to M. W. Prickett, 1125 Third street, Cincinnati, O., and ask for his interesting booklet, "Secrets of Making Liquors at Home," which he will send free to any one sending their name and address.

WORK PROGRESSING ON PROPERTY MIAMI CONSOLIDATED MINES

Miami, Ark., Oct. 28.—Commercial ore was encountered at the great depth when H. V. Snell, general manager of the Miami Consolidated Mines company, started work on a double compartment shaft. The ore has been revealed in considerable quantities and shipments will begin at an early date.
The appointment of Mr. Snell to the general manager's position, with the Miami Consolidated is regarded here as adding strength to a corporation already headed by exceptionally strong men. With Mr. Snell, John S. Cook, the Lehighville brothers and Major J. H. Dockweiler associated in the company, it is regarded most favorably here. Mr. Snell is superintendent and general manager of the Warrior Copper company, which is now shipping zinc ore of commercial ore daily, is a graduate of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, is a graduate of the Michigan School of Mines, and is one of the most successful business and mining men in the district.

Two large star drills have been shipped for the Miami Consolidated and will be on the ground by the first of the month, according to news received here by wire today. The drills will be the biggest that have ever been seen in this district and with them development work on the property will go ahead at greater speed.
While awaiting the arrival of the drills the principal attention of the management is being paid to the sinking of the shaft and the preparation of former workings for the production of commercial ore which has been opened up in the last few weeks.

Under the direction of Manager E. R. Rice, operations are progressing favorably at the Inspiration No. 1 shaft, and as a result of good ore that has been developed a brisk demand exists here for shares in that company.
Mr. Rice is greatly encouraged by the steady improvement in the character

COL. ROOSEVELT DENUNCIATORY OF PRESIDENT IN BITTER SPEECH

Rough Rider Uses Such Words as "Insincerity" and "Hypocrisy" Relative to Policies of Woodrow Wilson.

DIRECTS ATTACK UPON CINCINNATI ADDRESS

Charges Chief Executive With Cold and Selfish Neutrality and Abject Cowardice in Foreign Affairs.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Oct. 28.—Theodore Roosevelt, in an address at the Brooklyn Academy of Music tonight, declared that if today is what "our democratic friends" call "Wilson day," it should be appointed a day of fasting and humiliation.
For during the past three years, he went on, "the people of the United States have eaten the bitter bread of shame and trod the path of dishonor under the leadership of Mr. Wilson."
The colonel directed most of his attack against the recent declaration of Mr. Wilson that the present was the last great world war that the United States could keep out of.
"We never have had any candidate for so high an office who was so utterly indifferent to the reversal of all his professed convictions or principles, and above all, so indifferent to the flat contradiction between his words and his acts on almost every issue of real importance before the people," he said.

Charges Insincerity.
After quoting the president's words in regard to this country and the next war, Mr. Roosevelt said that "never have we had a greater degree of insincerity and hypocrisy than is contained in such a plea for reelection by the president, who has himself, practiced the coldest and most selfish neutrality, when all these things that he in the abstract condemns were in the concrete committed at the expense of Belgium and of the Armenians and the Syrian Christians."
Taking up the president's appeal for support on the ground that he has kept us out of war, Mr. Roosevelt declared that if it was just to keep out of the present war, it will be just in the future to keep out of all similar wars, and "if the president, on the other hand, is right in saying that we never shall keep out of any such wars in the future, then he is condemning himself for keeping out of this war."

Should Be Done Now.
"You say, Mr. Wilson, that hereafter America must exert her whole force, moral and physical, throughout the round globe if the fundamental rights of humanity are invaded," Colonel Roosevelt said. "Do you not know that it is almost impossible to say that this must be done hereafter when you do not dare do it now?"
If you mean what you say as to the future, then you must mean precisely and exactly that this is your duty in the present. Do it now, Mr. President. It is sheer hypocrisy to chatter ten days before election as to what ought to be done in the future, when throughout your whole term of office, you have failed in the present to do what you now say is your duty."

Again Attacks Wilson.
Colonel Roosevelt, campaigning in Brooklyn tonight, criticized the Wilson administration for what he characterized as its policy of "wobbling between feeble peace, feeble war, and feeble peace again."

The Mexican members of the Mexican-American joint commission—Luis Cabrera, Albert J. Paul, and Ignacio Bonilla—accompanied by their wives and Dr. John R. Mott, one of the American commissioners, occupied a box at the meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt dwelt on the administration's Mexican policy and declared that it would have been infinitely better to have kept General Pershing and the American troops out of Mexico than to have "put them in," in the manner in which the administration did.

President Wilson, Roosevelt asserted, should have said after the troops were in Mexico: "Mr. Carranza, you say we cannot use the railroads. Well, guess again."

The Mexican commissioners apparently were only interested in hearing Colonel Roosevelt express his opinion in the Mexican situation, for they neither applauded nor made any comment.

Colonel Roosevelt was interrupted by friendly and approving cheers from his hearers. After he had criticized President Wilson's speech, referring particularly to the fact that the United States could not keep out of the next world war, someone said: "Hughes will take care of the future."

"That's right," replied the colonel, "and we'll know that any word Mr. Hughes utters, he'll make good."

The former president referred to Secretary of War Baker as "a nice man," who would fit better at a "pink tea" than as a cabinet officer.

Mr. Wilson's delay and "wobbling about preparedness," he said, "have cost us seven years in time and need billions of dollars in money. Nineteen-twenty is being won."

We Do More Than Study Merchandise—We Study People

Growing up here through the years and keeping steady pace with the developments of Albuquerque, this store has come to be a Public Institution—to have what people want when they want it.

"What the people want" is not alone new styles, but sound, reliable qualities; not so much of odd lots at special prices, but the certainty of finding the right size and style and color.

And even now when the markets are demoralized and great difficulty is experienced in gathering the goods we want, we succeed splendidly in measuring up to the things required of us as a Public Institution.

Besides, we choose not for our selves, but for YOU. And we have chosen well—the proof of it is seen in our stocks, which include, we are pleased to say, merchandise that America has made for us, much that was never made before in the United States.

For this coming week we offer the following "Specials" of Quality Merchandise:

HUGHES APPEALS TO FARMERS OF NEW YORK STATE

Candidate Is Nearly Run Down by Own Train Owing to Nervousness of Man Driving Automobile.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Ondesburg, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Charles R. Hughes told an audience here tonight if he were elected he would protect American rights on land and sea. "There must be with us as with our fathers," he added, "a willingness to sacrifice for the country that we love."

Earlier in the day he had asserted that he did not believe you can buy the labor vote in that way, in his discussion of the enactment of the Adamson law. In his speech here tonight Mr. Hughes, after declaring that "the love of country, not love of dollars, that will make American great," he said:

"We want material advancement. We want to have the greatest prosperity we can achieve, but it is a mistake to suppose that with nations as with men, great development and success can be attained if there are low and unworthy ideals which dominate action. It is the lofty, patriotic ideal which must inspire us on, and to which we must be faithful. We must have a driving power in this country, a power which engenders a dominant sense of unity and a respect for the privileges of American citizenship.

"If I am elected, we shall have an American administration with no deflection for the purpose of bending to the policy of any foreign power, for the purpose of meeting any foreign machinations of any sort whatsoever. What we hope is to have an American administration four-square to the world, maintaining American rights on land and sea with respect to life, property and commerce. There must be with us as with our fathers, a willingness to sacrifice for the country that we love."

"There is no hope for a decadent people. You may pass laws as you please. You may have what party in power you please, but unless you have that love of country which preserved us in the awful struggle fifty years ago, unless you have that patriotism which will make you have some of the ideals of our institutions, of the liberties which we have gained, it is idle to talk about the future of the United States."

"I do not want to be president of a people that are not ready to give their all for their liberties, their land, their country that they love."

Devoted to Ideals of Peace.
After asserting that he "was a man of peace," Mr. Hughes declared: "We are devoted to the ideals of peace. We have no aggressive policies. We do not covet anything. We do not want to exploit anybody. We are here fortunately situated. We have the blessing of free institutions, anyone to have what peace alone can bring. We want peace."

"There is no basis for the suggestion that we should be drawn into complications. All we need is to assert, in a manner that will be convincing, what our rights are and those just rights, properly asserted, according to correct standards, will be recognized. With it all, however, must be the recognition of courageous spirit which will make our flag the symbol of justice, of power that is not misused, but of security to American citizens, lawfully prosecuting their business wherever they may be."

Hughes campaigned today among the farmers of New York. He spoke chiefly on republican policies affecting agriculture, subordinating other campaign issues. The protective tariff, the need for preparation to meet the competition of Europe after the war, and the Adamson law, were the nominee's chief topics. Maintenance of American rights on land and sea, he declared, was essential to all prosperity and progress.

Must Have Patriotism.

"We shall accomplish nothing in this country unless we have the driving power of patriotism," he declared. "There is no future for a decadent people. We do not want war. I am amazed at the audacity of the assertion that a vote for me is a vote for war. I am a man devoted to peace. As I look forward to the future, I am thinking that I most keenly desire that the international organization that will tend to promote the peace of the world, when the awful conflict is at an end. You can not hope to maintain your peace if you present to the world the spectacle of a timid people that has forgotten the courage and indomitable spirit of the founders and preservers of this nation; a people that backs and talks and talks and talks, and never stands. There is no peace for the United States with such a policy."

Nearly Fatal Accident.

Mr. Hughes was nearly run down by his own special train at Oswego. A nervous chauffeur drove the automobile containing the nominee past the landing at the railway station directly across the tracks in front of the slowly approaching train.

The car came into view at less than thirty feet from the nominee's automobile. The chauffeur backed into the car behind and the engineer jammed on the emergency brakes.

The combination prevented an accident. There was a scramble for safety by the crowd, which were moved about the car, and no one was injured.

Meets Many Old Friends.

In his tour today, Mr. Hughes recognized many old friends and was frequently greeted as "Charley" by the crowds.

"Let not labor deceive itself with the delusion that we can maintain the property we now enjoy, based on the exceptional demands of the war," he told his audience at Oswego, in discussing the tariff. "We are cherishing the notion of a prosperity suddenly created and destined to cease when the war ends. This is coming and you can't dispose of it by phrases. It is there; it is going to come."

SUGAR BOWL HURLED BY SERGEANT STROUP
SPLITS MAN'S EAR

Sergeant Henry Stroup, formerly of the United States army, has the control that made "Matty" famous. At least, he had it last night. Exhibit, Louis Armentrout's right ear, neatly cut in two.

Armentrout, a painter, angered Stroup last night in the Union Club on North First street. Stroup sent a sugar bowl whirling in the direction of Armentrout with the result noted before. The painter received not only a split ear but also a scalp wound. Dr. R. L. Hunt took eight stitches to close the gash.

Afterward Stroup and F. Proctor, another painter, "mixed" in the street. A revolver fell from Stroup's pocket. A bartender gave the policeman the gun. Yerka arrested Stroup and Proctor. Proctor provided a $20 bond to appear on the charge of disturbing the peace.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Washburn and daughter, Miss Arleen, after a visit of a few days here, left yesterday morning for their home at Hollywood, Cal. The small daughter of a A. Michael was injured last night when an automobile, driven by Juan Gallegos, struck her. The child's right leg was crushed, according to the police. They said Gallegos would be brought into police court.

Air As a "Hair Tonic"

There is no better hair tonic, or germicide, than fresh air full of life giving sunshine. The absence of it together with wilful neglect, tight fitting hats, etc., is responsible for a large share of hair ugliness and hair loss.

But fresh air and sunshine alone are not enough to correct all these evils. Nature frequently requires the aid of a preparation like NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

HERPICIDE is an absolute necessity to the majority of folks. It prevents dandruff contagion, keeps the hair light and fluffy—the scalp sweet and clean.

Ugly and unattractive hair is quite unnecessary. Begin with Herpicide today. It is guaranteed by the Herpicide Company, Detroit, Michigan, and sold everywhere. Applications at the better barber shops.

The One Stove That Heats The Whole House!

Moore's Air Tight Heater is the ONLY heater which will heat your ENTIRE HOUSE—upstairs and down.

It heats LIKE A FURNACE—by circulation instead of radiation. It sets all the air in circulation throughout the entire space you wish to heat, and heats the air in the farthest room to the same temperature as the air in the same room as the stove. It keeps the floors as warm as a furnace could keep them.

Moore's Air-Tight Heater

The Egg Shaped Dome and Hot Air Firepot consume all the gas and all the carbon there is in the coal, thus overcoming the smoke and soot nuisance and at the same time saving fuel.

The Air Tight Draft Control gives you perfect control of the stove and enables you to hold a fire from 24 to 48 hours.

Moore's Air Tight Heater burns hard coal or the cheapest kind of slack, and can be run at even less than half the cost of any other heater. One of these heaters will replace two or even three others and give better results than all combined.

All parts are surface

Dust and dirt are prevented from collecting on the furniture and carpets by a Dust Flue through which they are forced up through the chimney. No other heater on the market has a dust flue.

The Ashpan Apron prevents any ashes from falling on the floor when pan is removed. Clinkers and cinders are tirelessly done away with.

Moore's One polished keeps it like new for a whole year. Stop in at our store and let us explain the advantages of the Open Range Casing and many other features we haven't room here to tell you about. Remember it costs nothing to investigate.

UNCLE SAM GETS HARD CALL DOWN FROM CARRANZA'S COMMISSIONER

Cabrera, Who Heads Mexican Delegation in Conference at Atlantic City, Issues Statement.

AMERICAN OFFICERS BITTERLY ATTACKED

Washington's View Is That Unfriendly Outbreak Is for Consumption in Southern Republic.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—New communications with the Mexican delegation in Atlantic City today as a result of a statement issued here through the information bureau and the Mexican minister of foreign affairs,
Luis Cabrera, it is asserted that the administration of immigration in Mexico is not to be interfered with by the United States.
Mr. Cabrera, who heads the Mexican delegation in Atlantic City, issued a statement in which he said that the Mexican government was not to be interfered with by the United States.
He said that the Mexican government was not to be interfered with by the United States.

While refusing to enter into any discussion of the statement at this time, administration officials characterized it as extraordinary. Secretary Lodge would make no comment. It is known, however, that steps to establish the authenticity of the document were taken under consideration immediately.

Arredondo Is Silent.
Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador-designate, denied himself to all inquiries. Although the Mexican information bureau has been understood to be at least semi-official relations with the embassy, its status has never been clearly defined. Embassy officials asserted emphatically that Mr.
Arredondo had not been consulted before the statement was issued, and that he had no knowledge that it was in circulation. His first knowledge of it came after the bureau had distributed it in the newspapers.

The statement, which bears the signature of the bureau and the word "official" in addition to the introduction attributing it to Mr. Cabrera, is as follows:

Text of Statement.
"A broad interpretation of the federal laws of the United States dealing with neutrality and regulating immigration, with a strict, consistent and efficient administration of these laws by the executive to whom their administration is delegated, would go far toward correcting the disturbances and allay much of the anxiety which at present prevails in that region.

"In the United States are many groups and groups of Mexicans influenced by the Carranza government, and scheming without end to engage in, not alone by the extreme conservatives who are striving for intervention with the hope that the constitutional government will be destroyed, with the aid of American armies, but also there are groups of extremely radical malconistas, whose hope is the destruction of the Carranza government in order to license banditry and rapine may bring and multiply until human rights and property rights are all destroyed.

Blames American Officers.
The conservatives, reactionaries, are taking advantage of the situation created by the ultra radicals. The imposition of arms and munitions for the use of Villa, Zapata and the other brigands is conducted under the very eyes of supreme officials whose business it would be to hinder the transmission across the border.
The propaganda of revolt against the Carranza government is being promoted by scores of consular agents both in Mexico and the American official who by even the most strictly literal interpretation of America's immigration laws should be deported from the United States."

"That the American government is dependent to restrict and restrict the possession of arms and munitions is undoubtedly the fact that during the early days of the Carranza revolt, these were enforced with an almost rigidly against Carranza.
That the law governing the conduct of undesirable aliens can be enforced is proved at Ellis Island and throughout the United States every day in the year.
Activity, energy, vigilance and perseverence can correct the situation.
Indifference, carelessness and hardship, can only make a bad case worse."

Proposed by Cabrera.
It was said at the bureau that the statement had been obtained from Mr. Cabrera directly and was made public with his approval. Mr. Cab-rera's status with relation to the government is not the same as that of an accredited diplomatic or consular official. Whether the names of the commissioners nominated by each government were submitted for approval, has never been divulged, but it was the procedure that the commissioners probably would have defined the diplomatic status on which action could be based.

The fact that investigation of the authenticity of the statement was in progress was taken to mean that its publication is displeasing to administration officials. A question to be determined was whether the attention of the de facto government should be called to it as a violation of diplomatic etiquette.

LODGE QUOTES ALLEGED PROOF IN SUPPORT OF CHARGES MADE

Produces Letter Which Gives Former Assistant Secretary of War Breckenridge as Authority for Statement.

GARRISON PREVENTED LUSITANIA NOTE CHANGE

President Had Added Postscript, Known Only to Himself and Bryan, Asserts Dr.
Charles H. Bailey.

SOMERSET, Mass., Oct. 28.—The assertion that President Wilson, at the time the second Lusitania note was sent to Germany, wrote and afterward withdrew a postscript informing the German government that the contents of his previous note were not to be interpreted too seriously, was repeated by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in a political address here tonight.
The senator added to his statement the announcement that information on the subject had come to him in a letter from Dr. Charles H. Bailey, of the Tufts Medical school, in which Henry Breckenridge, formerly assistant secretary of war, was quoted as authorizing for the story of the alleged postscript.

Senator Lodge reviewed the sending of the Lusitania notes and the resignation of Secretary of State Bryan. He continued:

Mystery Regarding Resignation.
"There was one feature about which there was much speculation at the time, and that was why Mr. Bryan allowed his name to be appended to a very strong note, couched in the most extreme language possible to diplomacy, and yet resigned so that he need not affix his signature to the very mild note of June 9, a note which even a man of very strong pacifist tendencies could not have objected to.
It was currently reported at the time that the reason for the apparently inexplicable action on Mr. Bryan's part was the fact that the first note, as finally sent, was not the note to which he had appended his signature. Within a few days, there has come into my possession direct information upon this subject, contained in the following letter, which was addressed to Grafton Cushing, who forwarded it to me. This writer, Dr. Charles H. Bailey, professor in the Tufts Medical school, is a gentleman of high standing and undoubted veracity."

Reads Dr. Bailey's Letter.
"Dear Sir: As you requested, I am submitting to you herewith in writing a report of a conversation between ex-Assistant Secretary Breckenridge and myself. Leaving San Francisco on July 15, 1916, I rode from that city as far as Omaha, Neb., with Mr. Breckenridge. During the trip I asked him if he would be willing to answer certain questions with regard to the conduct of our national affairs during his connection with the present administration. Receiving an affirmative reply, I asked him, among other things, as to the truth of the published report that, following the so-called 'strict accountability' note, Secretary Bryan had informed Ambassador Dumba that the central powers need not take the note too seriously, as it was written for information only. He said that in all essential details, which led him, of his own accord, to tell me the following—this is not,
of course, a verbatim report, but simply a brief outline of the story as told me by Mr. Breckenridge:

Wilson Wrote Postscript.
"He stated that following the completion of the 'omit no word or no act' note to the satisfaction of the cabinet, Mr. Wilson, without the knowledge of any member of the cabinet, except Secretary Bryan himself, wrote a postscript which he sent with the note to the state department for codification. Mr. Breckenridge stated that both Mr. Garrison and he had seen this postscript and he told me what he claimed were its exact words, which, however, I can not repeat exactly, but the substance was that the imperial German government was not to put too serious an interpretation on the words 'omit no word or act.'
On the contrary, he would be inclined, provided the German government did not see fit to yield to the demands of the United States, to use his efforts toward submitting the entire matter to an impartial international tribunal, the decision to be made only after the war. Both note and postscript was submitted to and signed by Secretary Bryan."

Bryan Couldn't Keep It.
This, according to Mr. Breckenridge, was too good for Mr. Bryan, who kept to himself, with the result that Secretary Garrison's ear, if do not remember which other members of the cabinet called upon Mr. Wilson and demanded that he withdraw the postscript under the threat that otherwise they would make the matter public. Mr.
Wilson immediately yielded and Secretary Garrison and the others left.
Immediately after this, President Wilson summoned Secretary Bryan to the White House and when the latter left, President Wilson had the assurance of his resignation; whereupon Mr. Wilson's request, because Secretary Bryan had been responsible for the matter, reaching Secretary Garrison's ears, or whether presented by Secretary Bryan because there had been a previous understanding between Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bryan that the latter would sign the note proper only with the understanding that such a nullifying postscript should be sent, and the president was now unable to fulfill the agreement,
Mr. Breckenridge was unable to state.

What Breckenridge Said.
"I asked Mr. Breckenridge if he would be willing to bring such knowledge as he possessed to the active support of Mr. Hughes. He said that he was still at heart a democrat, but that neither he nor any other patriotic American could support Wilson.

Whether, however, he would be willing actively to support Hughes, he said, he could not say at that early date.
"With best wishes for the success of your campaign, I am,
Sincerely yours,
(Signed)
"CHARLES HARVEY BAILEY."
"This," continued Senator Lodge,
"simply throws an additional light on the shifty character of this administration in its foreign policy. It is also of interest in another way, for it apparently shows that Mr. Bryan's reason for resigning was the highly credible one of objecting to having his signature go out appended to a document differing in an essential point from the one which he had signed."

CONNECTICUT WARMLY GREET'S 'DRY' SPEAKERS

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In thirty states the prohibition national campaigners have visited, none has furnished more enthusiastic "wet," nor outspoken "drys," than they encountered in Connecticut today on their way here from Boston. Crowds of drys at every stop greeted them with fire and drum corps, bands or songs, and virtually every meeting had its "wet" advocates who insisted on voicing their sentiments.
Police forcibly ejected vociferous persons from the New London and Bridgeport meetings. Other interruptions were of a minor character, such as the shouted advice by three young men who rode past the meeting place on a beer truck at South Manchester.

CARRANZA MONEY VALUE IS NOT AT ALL STABLE

Even the Bankers Are Not Able to Give Its Worth on a Given Day; the Result Is Enormous Prices.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
EL PASO, TEX., Oct. 28.—While nationally Mexico is on a gold basis, the market value of the so-called Carranza currency fluctuates so rapidly and so much that few persons, even the bankers themselves, sometimes, are unable to tell what its value is on a given day. The result is that merchants' advertisements of various commodities give such enormous prices for comparatively cheap articles that strangers are amazed when they start at the high prices asked.
It is reported that the Carranza government is no longer trying to force the acceptance of its money at a fixed valuation as it formerly did with heavy penalties for refusal. In El Paso, Carranza paper money recently was bought by brokers at $2.45 for $1.00, Carranza currency.
Newspapers from the interior, carrying the advertisement of merchants, shows how the Carranza currency is valued and fluctuates. A newspaper from Saltillo, Coahuila, carries an advertisement of a bargain sale of shoes at $4.00 a pair. It also contains an official notice that the city wishes to employ policemen at $8 a day.

Another paper from a small town in northern Mexico carries an advertisement of a book-seller who desires to dispose of sets of Herbert Spencer, translated into Spanish, at $2.00 to $3.00
the volume, according to the binding.
The three-volume work of a celebrated writer on political economy is offered at the cheap price of $2.50.
All of these prices are in Carranza money. Prices like these are very frequent and appear in advertisements in many newspapers.
Some merchants, however, realize that the price of Carranza money today may not be the same tomorrow or a week hence, and refrain from stating prices in their published announcements, often the price is stated to be in "oro nacional," "national gold," which means that the price is figured on the gold basis.

The Mexican dollar, or peso, gold, has the intrinsic value of half the American gold dollar, or fifty cents.
By advertising his wares in "oro nacional" the merchant saves himself vexatious explanations and very frequently some money.

Teofilo Lujan, 40, Dies.
Santa Fe, October 28.—Teofilo Lujan, aged forty years, was found dead this forenoon in the garden of F. E.
Nuding, on Lincoln avenue. It seems that Teofilo tried to sit on a fence last evening separating the premises of Leo Hersch and Nuding and lost his balance, breaking his neck by the fall. He had been employed as a troubadour by Hersch and leaves no family.

H. O. BURSUM TO MARK BEGINNING OF FINAL STAGE

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Will Speak Here Tuesday Night, Week Before Election.

The final phase of the campaign in New Mexico will open Tuesday night, as far as republican or democratic organizations here knew last night.
H. O. Bursum, republican candidate for governor, will mark the beginning of the last stage of the political drive, speaking at the Hughes-Fairbanks club's headquarters, 213-215 West Gold avenue, Tuesday night—less than a week before the close of the campaign.
Bursum will be the first of the leading candidates of either the republican or democratic parties to speak here, excepting A. A. Jones, democratic candidate for United States senator, and Congressman E. C.
Hernandez, republican candidate for congress. Mr. Jones spoke here near the opening of the campaign—at the state fair—and Congressman Hernandez, at the republican county convention.

Albuquerque has yet to hear E. C. de Barea, democratic candidate for governor; W. H. Walton, democratic candidate for congress, and Frank A.
Hutbell, republican candidate for United States senator. That any of these three candidates would speak here has not yet been announced.
However, it is to be expected that the parties should reserve the closing game for Albuquerque.
City Clerk Thomas Hughes, president of the Hughes-Fairbanks club, learned yesterday of the date set for
Mr. Bursum, coming to Albuquerque.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS FORMED BY NEGROES OF TWO COUNTIES

Negroes of Bernalillo and McKinley counties have organized republican clubs. K. R. Conners is president and E. Nat Reynolds, secretary of the Bernalillo county organization. Henry Outley is president and Tom Weaver, secretary, of the McKinley county club.

Two Worthy Properties That Afford Unusual Opportunities For Investment

Your local broker know all about the standing of the men at the head of these companies and he will tell you that he regards the personnel of the management as a strong recommendation for both the Inspiration Needles Copper Company and the Miami Consolidated Mines Company

HERE ARE THE MEN

John S. Cook Globe banker and financier, who as secretary-treasurer of the Goldfield Consolidated paid the stockholders more than $30,000,000, is secretary-treasurer of Inspiration Needles and is president of Miami Consolidated.

Maj. J. H. Dockweiler noted consulting engineer at San Francisco, and one of the best known mining engineers in the country, formerly city engineer of San Francisco, is consulting engineer for both companies.

H. V. Snell superintendent and general manager of the Black Warrior Copper company, which is shipping 250 tons of high grade ore daily, and a man who has made a complete success in mining and finance in the Globe-Miami district, a graduate of the Michigan School of Mines and a practical miner, has been elected general manager of the Miami Consolidated.

E. R. Rice for four years efficiency engineer of the Copper Queen mine, a graduate of the Michigan School of Mines, a member of the Am. Inst. of M. E., the man who had charge of drilling operations on the Miami Southwestern and, consequently, has thorough knowledge of local conditions, has taken charge of operations at Inspiration Needles.

Facts About the Property

The management of both the Inspiration Needles, which has risen as high as $1.55 since listing on the New York and Boston curb markets, and the Miami Consolidated, which is being offered at 50 cents the share prior to listing on the curb market, are working in conjunction with each other in order to develop their ground with the least possible delay. Although drilling operations will be conducted under the supervision of two men, Mr. Snell and Mr. Rice will co-operate in their efforts to get a maximum amount of work accomplished in a minimum time.

INSPIRATION NEEDLES owns approximately 740 acres of highly mineralized ground in the heart of the Miami Copper Belt.

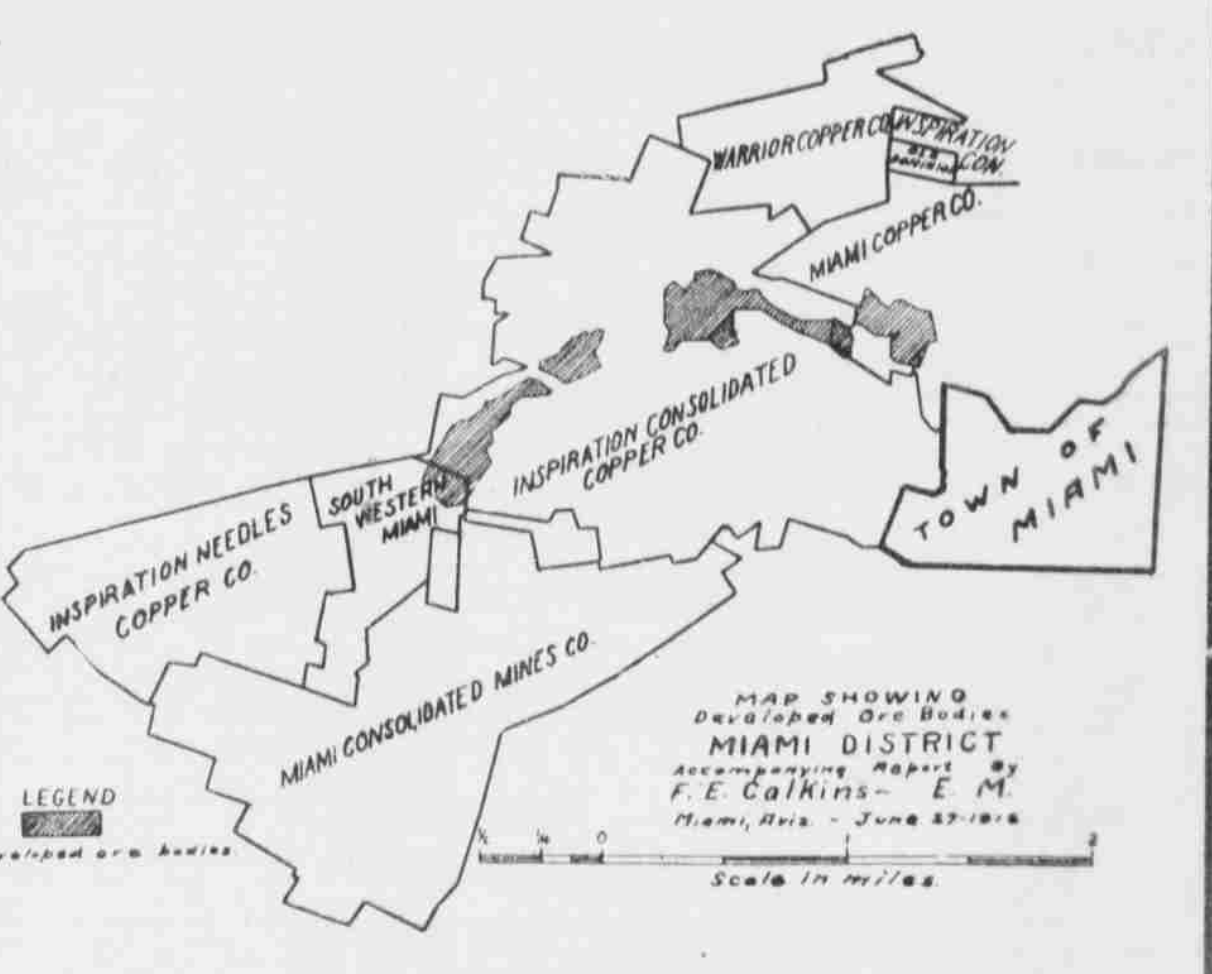

MIAMI CONSOLIDATED owns approximately 1200 acres of highly mineralized ground in the heart of the Miami Copper Belt.

BOTH PROPERTIES adjoin the Live Oak mines, richest ground of the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company's holdings, and the Miami Southwestern. Both properties are regarded by conservative mining men as being most likely to become important porphyry copper producers.

Needles. WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND THE PURCHASE is afforded investors for an approximate duplication of the profits made by those who purchased Inspiration Needles. WE STRONGLY RECOMMEND THE PURCHASE OF INSPIRATION NEEDLES AT THE MARKET PRICE BECAUSE OF ITS MARKET POSSIBILITIES.

WILLIAM FARNUM AT THE PASTIME TODAY-TOMORROW

Supported by the same excellent company that has made his former pictures so popular, William Farnum, famous hero of William Fox photoplays, will appear at the Pastime theater today and tomorrow in the new drama, "Pirates of Conscience." The picture will run for two days only.

In this picture Farnum plays the part of George Baxter, a southerner who has fled to the west because of having killed a man. A girl with whom he is in love persuades him to go back to his home and face justice. She knows that he must be freed.

Baxter returns east and gives himself up to his father, who is chief of police in the city. The judge who presides over his trial is father of the man Baxter had killed, but he realizes that his son had been killed justly and instructs the jury to find a verdict of "Not guilty."

When Baxter goes back to his mining camp, he finds a new terror there. An outlaw has been killing people in the neighborhood. The intrepid man captures the criminal and jails him, but in turn is caught by the outlaw's friends and locked in the jail. The building is then set afire.

With his powerful strength, Baxter succeeds in breaking his way out, and rescuing the girl he loves from danger. Then he marries her.

GREAT ENTERTAINERS WILL APPEAR AT THE CRYSTAL MONDAY NIGHT

At the Crystal theater, tomorrow night, Rounds Ladies' Orchestra and Specialty company will appear. They come to Albuquerque heralded as "America's Greatest Entertainers." The Brooklyn N. Y. Enterprise says: "The Rounds Orchestra company which were the opening number on the K. of P. lecture course last Monday evening were greeted by a very large and appreciative audience. Every member of the company proved to be a star performer and every number on the program made a hit. It is perfectly safe to say that in all of the fifteen years that the K. of P. lodge here have never had a concert company which gave as general satisfaction as did this one and they will no doubt be returned for another concert on the next year's course."

WOODROW WILSON DAY CELEBRATED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Miss Ida Sganzi Reads the President's Message and Dr. Randolph Cook Makes Address.

The celebration of Woodrow Wilson day, which took place at the corner of Second street and Central avenue, yesterday evening, was featured by the reading of Mr. Wilson's address by Miss Ida Sganzi. Miss Sganzi, who is a pupil of Mrs. N. J. Stranquist, was costumed as Columbia in a flowing robe of stars and stripes. She delivered the president's expressively phrased message in a clear and pleasing voice.

Following which, Dr. Randolph Cook, pastor of the Christian church, who by the way, denies any relationship to Dr. Frederick Cook, compared the administration to a board of directors who if they have done their duty should be re-appointed, and if not should be discharged. Declaring that this was not a party campaign, Dr. Cook stated that if Mr. Hughes is elected November 7 it will not be because he is the leader of the republican party, but because the people of the United States believe him to be a better man for the position than Woodrow Wilson.

And so with the president, "By his deeds shall ye judge him," said Dr. Cook. "By the child labor law, the eight-hour law, the federal reserve act, the income tax."

The meeting was opened by a cornet solo by Miss May Laule. A crowd that packed the street witnessed the celebration.

JUDGE RAYNOLDS SUSTAINS POLICE COURT RULINGS

In the district court yesterday Judge Reynolds announced his decision in the appeal case of the city of Albuquerque vs. J. T. Jenkins, charged with reckless driving, sustaining the police court. Mr. Jenkins was found guilty by Judge McCallan, June 27, of this year. He took an appeal to the district court and the case was tried last Friday. It was decided by the court that Mr. Jenkins had crossed the Central avenue Santa Fe crossing despite the warning bell, and collided with a hand car traveling on the railway track. Mr. Jenkins' defense was based on the theory that he had started across the tracks before he heard the warning bell. The court, in announcing the decision, sustaining the police court, suspended the fine of $5 and costs affixed in the court below.

In the case of the City vs. Lawrence Michaelbach, also accused of reckless driving, the decision of the police court was sustained. Five cents the dance, ladies free. Hall will be decorated in real Halloween style.

GOD'S HALF ACRE WITH MABEL TALIAFERRO AT THE LYRIC TODAY

Mabel Taliaferro, the gifted and charming little stage star who is now appearing exclusively in Metro wonderplays, will be seen at the Lyric theater today only in "God's Half Acre," a five-part feature produced by Metro-Rolfe. The story is one of great charm, teeming with unusual situations of both comedy and pathos. There are many thrilling moments also, and a delightful love story is unfolded in a decidedly interesting manner.

"God's Half Acre" possesses every requisite for a screen masterpiece. The star is one of the foremost of either the stage or screen. The story is unusual and high in quality; the supporting cast is exceptionally strong; the settings are wonderful, and Edwin Carew, who ranks with the three best directors in the country, produced it.

The story of "God's Half Acre" is laid around "Rainbow's End," a home for aged persons. Miss Taliaferro, in the role of Blossom, a young servant, is called by the old folks, who fairly worship her, "The Angel of Rainbow's End." She endears herself to these old people in many ways, including the rambling of strays of food and fruit to them, despite the careful vigilance of the matron, who is known as "The Dragon."

How Blossom becomes the principal character in a novelist's book, when the winter comes in the home in search of local color, wins his love after several wonderful experiences, equalling those of Cinderella, and marries him when certain obstacles are removed, forms a story of power and fascination.

Miss Taliaferro is supported by a cast that includes J. W. Johnston, Helen Dahl, Lorraine Frost, Miriam Hutchins, Daniel Jarrett, Richard Nell, John Smiley and other well-known stage and screen artists.

DINNER FOR MISS BENNETT.

Mr. J. T. Hammock was a dinner host Thursday evening at the Alvarado, complimentary to Miss Vivian Bennett of Jonesboro, Ark.

The table was artistically decorated with chrysanthemums, with tall bows, dainty place cards and favors in shades of yellow and white. The guests beside the honoree were Miss Maybelle Lovelace, Miss Lora Lovelace, Miss Adeline Pyle of Kaufman, Texas, Mr. Emory Davis and Mr. Grover Devine.

Miss Bennett, who has made Albuquerque her home for the past two years, announced her engagement to Lieutenant Robert Thornton of Jonesboro, Ark., now stationed at Deming, N. M. Miss Bennett leaves for Deming tomorrow to remain with friends until November 15, when the marriage will take place at St. Luke's Episcopal church. The young people will make their home in Deming.

FOR MISS WASHBURN.

Mrs. C. E. Lowher of 119 South High street gave a tea on Thursday afternoon for Miss Arleen Washburn of Hollywood, Cal. Mrs. Washburn received with the hostess and honoree between 4 and 6 o'clock.

The rooms were decorated with fall flowers and trailing vines. Assisting about was a bevy of young girls, mostly Phi Mu. The guests, including the assistants, were as follows: Miss Katherine Chavez, Miss Elizabeth Arnold, Miss Lela Ferguson, Miss Meri Hope, Miss Rebecca Horner, Miss Ethel Keike, Miss Katherine McMillen, Miss Annie Crisp, Miss Evangeline Perry, Miss Betty Simma, Miss Mary Breinin, Miss Ruth Stutson, Miss Suzanne Stutson, Miss Adelaide Shields, Miss Martha Henderson, Miss Lillian Henderson, Miss Lillian Gustafson, Miss Kathleen Long, Miss Bernice Hamilton, Miss Julie Hubbard, Miss Mildred Cady, Miss Evangeline Howden, Miss Shirley Von Wachenhausen, Miss Helen Vincent, Miss Margaret Cook, Miss Lela Davis, Miss Erna Ferguson, Miss Pauline Sewell, Miss Annette Weinman, Miss Bernice Rogers, Mrs. Sheerer, Miss Maybelle Williams and Miss Alice Boyd.

HALLOWEEN BALL.

The ladies of the Woman's club are greatly encouraged over the promising outlook for their Halloween ball being a success socially and financially. This ball is not given for pleasure to themselves, but to raise funds to lessen the debt on their club building, and while they have always been helpful in every public movement for the good of Albuquerque, this is the first time they have asked anything for themselves, and now it is only in the way of patronage for their ball where everyone will receive full value, in pleasure, for his money.

Mrs. LaBelle with her courtesy committee will be ready to chaperon any young ladies desiring her services and the floor committee of young matrons will endeavor to make every one feel at home and have a good time. The music will be by the booster orchestra and refreshments will be served.

This happy event will be in the Armory October 21, beginning at 9 o'clock.

BIRTHDAY TEA.

The ladies of the Baptist church gave Mrs. Fannie A. Fornby, president of the Woman's Missionary and Aid society, a birthday tea at the home of Mrs. W. H. Long on Copper avenue from 2 to 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. Some fifty ladies called. As a token of esteem and appreciation of faithful services, a little refreshment was presented. Mrs. W. M. Thayer, former president, acted as hostess of the occasion and made the presentation speech. Mrs. Fornby made an appropriate response with deep feeling.

Coffee, tea and wafers were served. Mesdames Horne Strong and C. T. Taylor presided at the coffee and tea. Mesdames Burton, Curd, W. H. Long and McGriff assisted in serving.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE.

Domestic science at the Woman's club Friday was made very enjoyable, not only by the delicious refreshments served but also by a piano solo rendered by Miss Burton of Hutchinson, Kansas, and a paper by Miss Lathrop of the university, which was most instructive and was enthusiastically received.

MINSTREL SHOW.

A delightful evening of entertainment was afforded the members of the immaculate Conception parish in St. Mary's hall Thursday evening. The program was in the nature of a Halloween affair, but the principal feature of the evening was the minstrel show by a number of young men of the parish composing the Dramatic club of the immaculate Conception church. The program was interlarded with Mr. Hurley at the piano. Bill McDonald and Louis Hensolden proved themselves as end men and kept the audience in a constant uproar with their jokes and winks.

Among the end men were Joseph Swallow, Chester Decker, Dennis Walsh, Ralph J. Keleher, P. J. McCaffery and Joseph McCanna. The young men sang a number of songs, solos and in chorus, and displayed musical talent of a surprising quality. Following the minstrel, the boys of St. Anthony's orphanage put on a program, after which the junior choir had an outing. Miss Hartness Switzer sang a solo in splendid voice and with pleasing effect.

Although the evening's entertainment was very pleasing, the program being enjoyed by a large crowd, many of whom had come to endure rather than to enjoy. Father Mandatari, S. J., pastor of the church, expressed himself as greatly gratified with the success of the program.

MISS KIMBALL ENGAGED.

Yesterday Col. John Bradford received a letter from Col. A. W. Kimball in which was enclosed the following clipping from a paper published at Corralito, Philippine Islands, and which will be read with a great deal of interest here as "Ruth" Kimball and Mrs. Kimball (nee Miss Arnold), the parents of the young lady, were married in this city, and in these early days Mr. Kimball, before he had risen to his present high rank in the army, was one of the popular young men hereabouts. Miss Florence Kimball, the prospective bride, is therefore an Albuquerque lady. The article is as follows:

"A delightfully arranged dinner party held Saturday night at the Nipa club, Corralito, was the occasion for the announcement of the engagement of Miss Florence Kimball, the charming daughter of Col. and Mrs. Anna W. Kimball, of the quartermaster corps, to Lieut. R. C. Brady of the Ninth cavalry, stationed at St. Pauline. Sixty persons were present at the guests of Colonel and Mrs. Kimball.

"The romance which culminated in the engagement of the young couple started over a year ago at Texas City,

Texas, where Colonel Kimball was stationed as chief quartermaster of the second division, and depot quartermaster of the port of embarkation at Galveston, Texas, and Lieutenant Brady was an officer of the Sixth cavalry.

"Following the dinner, about eighty dinner and after dinner guests enjoyed dancing until after midnight. During the evening Miss Amy Kimball, 19 years old, the colonel's youngest daughter, gave an exhibition of fancy dancing in a manner creditable to a professional. Her performance was considered remarkably by those present, as she has never taken a lesson in this work. Games from Manila, Camp Stotsenberg, Fort McKinley and Corralito were present and passed a delightful evening.

"The exact date for the wedding of Miss Kimball and Lieutenant Brady has not been announced, but rumor has it that it will take place in December."

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE.

A reception and birthday surprise was tendered Roy C. T. Taylor and wife at their home on South Walter street. During the afternoon and evening nearly every member of the church called and a delightful social hour was enjoyed by all. A quilt, on which were embroidered the names of many friends, was presented by Mrs. Fornby in behalf of the Ladies Aid. A beautiful book was presented with names of the church members in which gifts were presented from other organizations of the church by Mrs. Long, Rev. Taylor and wife have a host of friends in Albuquerque who also sent their birthday congratulations.

MISS MALOY ENTERTAINS.

Miss Hazel Maloy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Maloy, was a charming hostess Wednesday evening when she entertained between sixty and eighty friends at one of the most enjoyable dancing parties of the season.

This event, which was given for Miss Adele Dunkerley, took place in the beautiful Masonic hall. The dining room where a buffet luncheon was served during the evening was in green and white, by twined pillars were about the Y-shaped table, while the main hall was comfortably arranged with easy chairs, Navajo blankets, palms and ferns. The lights were subdued and rose colored.

MRS. BRADFORD'S RECITAL.

Mrs. E. L. Bradford, vocal teacher, gave a recital and informal public recital at her home on Wednesday evening. There were no guests outside Mrs. Bradford's class and after the program a delightful social evening was enjoyed. Miss Hazel Keike sang "Who Knows," by Ball, and "From the Land of the Sky," by "Cadenza." Miss Evangeline Perry sang "I Dream of a Garden of Sunshine," by Lohr, and "I Love You Truly," by C. J. Bond. Clifford Wolking, "King of the Winds," by David, and "The Salt of the Sea," by Arthur Penn. Miss Harriet Harris, "Song of Spring," by Neiderhiser, and "Sweet is the Springtime," by W. A. Fisher. Miss Mary Leaning, "A Dream," and "The Day is Ended," by J. C. Bartlett. Miss Alberta Hawthorne, "Goodbye Sweet Day," by K. Vaux, and "Miserere," by Klein. Miss Bernice Strong, "Good-bye," by Toole, and "Because I Love You Dear," by Hawley. George Hoelst, "An Irish Love Song," by M. R. Lane, and "I Hear You Calling Me," by Marshall. Miss Horton, "The Flower Song," from Faust, by Gounod. Fenton J. Spaulding, "Sweet Evening Star," from Tannhauser, Gounod, and "Tutor's Song," from Carmen, by Bizet.

Other pupils not performing were Miss Sylvia Rosenberg, Miss Florence Weiler, Miss Mildred Peiker, Fred Sewell and Lyman Puntney. Violin numbers of a high standard by Miss Lela Leaning added much to the pleasure of the evening.

Mrs. Bradford announced that she will give a public recital later in the year and gave the class its choice of a concert program or an operetta. They enthusiastically and unanimously chose the latter, and work will be begun upon it about the first of December. Mrs. Bradford will select an operetta at once.

SOCIETY NOTES.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Barth entertained Judge and Mrs. Frank W. Parker of Santa Fe during last week. For the week end Mrs. Leo Hersch and daughter, Miss Josephine, will visit the Barths.

Mrs. Ivan Grunfeld and daughter, Miss Florence Grunfeld, will leave tomorrow for Chicago. Miss Grunfeld will visit relatives until spring. Mrs. Grunfeld will return after the holidays.

Mrs. E. A. Vaughn entertained Mr. Will Vaughn on Friday. Mr. Vaughn was on his way from New York to his home in Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Louis Ifford and Miss Beatrice Ifford will return home tomorrow from Cincinnati, O.

Mrs. James D. Davidson, 512 North Fourth street, entertained at bridge on Thursday afternoon. The room was decorated in honor of the approaching Halloween. Thirty-five of Mrs. Davidson's friends were asked. Yesterday afternoon an equal number of the younger set were entertained for Miss Pauline of Chicago, a sister, and the guest of Mrs. Davidson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baldrige of Hollywood, Cal., were entertained at dinner by Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Hodgson on University Hill Friday evening. Saturday afternoon Mrs. J. E. Cox gave a bridge party for Mrs. Baldrige. Last evening Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Walker entertained and today the numerous branches of the family expect to entertain. Mr. and Mrs. Baldrige will leave tonight.

Mrs. Rosina Strong and her mother, Mrs. John Neville, of Denver, spent the past week with Mrs. W. W. Strong. Mrs. Strong and her mother, who are returning from California, motored with the Charley Whites and Mrs. W. W. Strong to Santa Fe Friday afternoon and after a two days' visit will continue their trip to Denver. Mrs. C. J. Hildebrand of Los Angeles, Cal., who is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Rosenwald, will remain here for another week. Mrs. Hildebrand, who formerly was Miss Alma Rosenwald, has been the recipient of many informal affairs during her visit of the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Phelps of Oakland, Cal., spent the week with friends, leaving Friday morning for their home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Baldrige arrived from the east Wednesday evening, where they spent the past two months with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Baldrige will remain with Mr. and Mrs. Keene at midnight for their home in Hollywood, Cal.

The ladies of the Eastern Star gave a very enjoyable Halloween party at the temple Friday evening. Some jolly stunts were not out of the fortune teller. This party was most creditably taken by Mr. Keith, who told many funny and scandalous fortunes. Straw vote for president was taken and showed conclusively that Wilson will be re-elected president. A pleasing program was given, solos being sung by Misses Kieck, Strong, Leaning and Mr. Spaulding. A cornet solo by May Lamb and a reading by Winifred Doole. Refreshments were served and everybody had a good time.

THE GRASS WIDOW.

As I was saying, I was hoping something would happen—any old something—the stupidest kind of a something, and would have helped.

And then the Journal came—the Sunday edition.

Of course, you know Pandora, one is apt at times to hope earnestly and sincerely—even desperately, for something to happen. But not always wisely, and—well, I simply was not so apt for the announcement that the innocent little Thirties had taken themselves to that horrid Colorado hall. Oh, yes, to be sure, I knew they could be devilish, but never did I think they would throw dull caution to the winds to that extent.

Well, you never can tell. I believed that Joe Goodell when he said he wouldn't do such. Now I'd believe anything of him—even that he'd smoke Peruna.

And Arthur Sisk was one of the crowd also. Someone was telling me that a little Ag girl was wearing a classy little fraternity pin belonging to Arthur. You know what that means. I expect he'd even teach her to drive his car. The mental picture I draw of Arthur's heart reminds me of a piece of Salsburg ware—full of infinitesimal breaks.

I have often thought to myself in connection with society journalism—and this is getting slightly off the track—that if a citizen of the dark ages could be awakened from his centuries of sleep, he would marvel somewhat at the progress of our civilization—at our tall skyscrapers—at our methods of transportation—at our wonderful advancement in nearly everything; but he would wonder more at our enormous improvements in the machinery of gossip.

Therefore, if it please the court, I'll shut up.

BELEN SOCIETY NOTES

John Becker, sr., has returned from a week's visit in El Paso.

Mrs. W. C. Frazer spent Friday in Albuquerque shopping.

Mrs. J. B. Becker, Jr., C. C. Lyons, Hugh Wetmore and Miss Bertha Rutz spent Tuesday in Albuquerque.

Miss Ruth Tompkins spent the week end in Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Becker have returned from an overland trip to Los Angeles and San Diego.

Mrs. R. M. Martin of El Paso was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Eaker.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Wilson entertained at dinner Saturday evening complimentary to Mrs. C. C. Lyons of Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Pina McDowney of Chicago, Ill., Misses Bertha Rutz and Lucy Becker.

Hon. A. A. Jones and wife and W. R. Walton were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hoffman Monday.

One of the most elaborate affairs of the season was the reception and auction bridge party given Saturday afternoon and evening by Miss Bertha Rutz complimentary to her guest, Mrs. C. C. Lyons, of Columbus, Ohio. The guests were received in the large parlor at the Belen hotel.

Miss Rutz wore a dainty embroidered voile and Mrs. Lyons a cream lace and taffeta.

The parlor and reception hall were artistically decorated with autumn foliage and flowers. Delicious refreshments were served during the afternoon and evening by Miss Helen Hoffman, Marguerita and Anita Rutz.

The guests for the afternoon were Mesdames John Becker, sr., John Becker, Paul Dulles, S. K. Cotton, C. L. Eaker, L. C. Becker, Frank Fischer, John Finney, P. P. Simmons, C. N. Wilson, Frazer Abell, Schutz, Moss, Harro, Witzel, Fathergall, Hoffman, Hayerford, Le Brun, Jefferson, Creggie, Sloan, Wilkinson, Radcliffe Moore, Wetmore, Ernst, Mack, Swift, Henry Davidson, Oscar Liffing of Sabinal, Misses Lucy Becker, Edna McDowney.

The first prize, a dainty Irish lace handkerchief, went to Mrs. S. K. Cotton and a deck of cards to Mrs. Ernst.

The guests of the evening were Mesdames Virginia Simmons, Dora Finney, Frieda Becker, Elsie Becker, Metzie Enderstein, Esther Lindberg, Louise Fiel, Lucy Becker, Edna McDowney, Ruth Ziegler, Edith Ziegler, Ruth Tomkins, Schreiber, Severns, Edna Le Brun, Helen Hoffman, Mary Seery, Mrs. Tishhauser.

The prizes, a box of dainty stationery and a bouquet of shrubvillanums were won by Miss Frieda Becker and Miss Hoffman.

Misses Elsie and Frieda Becker had a sewing bee at their home Monday evening. The guests were Mesdames C. L. Eaker, Creggie, Abel, E. Brad-son, Lyons, Lee, Wetmore, H. Davidson, J. Becker, Jr., Dulles, Jennings, Misses Louise Fiel, Enderstein, Ruth Ziegler, Edith Ziegler, Virginia Simmons, Esther Lindberg, Ruth Tomkins, E. Davidson, Lucy Becker, Schreiber, Bertha Rutz and Edna McDowney.

Lodging refreshments, consisting of an ice cream and hot chocolate were served during the evening.

Miss Lucy Becker entertained informally Thursday evening complimentary to her house guest, Miss Edna McDowney. Miss Becker is one of the most graceful hostesses of the younger set in Belen and a delightful evening was spent.

The guests were Mesdames Edith Ziegler, Esther Lindberg, Dora Finney, Ruth Tomkins, Virginia Simmons, Frieda Becker, Elsie Becker, Metzie Enderstein and Mrs. J. B. Becker, Jr.

The Ladies Aid of the Lutheran church met with Mrs. John Becker, sr., on Thursday afternoon. The guests were Mesdames Colton, Dulles, Creggie, Thomas, Lee, Frazer, Sloan, Radcliffe, Veblich, J. B. Becker, Jr., Dismukes, Ernst, Fred Becker, Eaker, Wilson, Ziegler, and Misses Edna McDowney, Dora Finney, Metzie Enderstein, Lucy Becker and Edith Ziegler. Hot coffee and cocoa were served.

The Episcopal guild held a social and business meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Fischer on Friday afternoon. Those present were Mesdames Lee, Sloan, Creggie, Le Brun, Parker, Wetmore, Moffatt, Sammons, Chapman, Cotton, Fischer and John Becker, Jr. The hostess served salad, wafers, olives and chocolate.

The ladies of the Eastern Star gave a very enjoyable Halloween party at the temple Friday evening. Some jolly stunts were not out of the fortune teller. This party was most creditably taken by Mr. Keith, who told many funny and scandalous fortunes. Straw vote for president was taken and showed conclusively that Wilson will be re-elected president. What does the Future Hold?

Is it strength or weakness? A comfortable life, or one filled with aches and pains? The secret of comfortable old age is the right use of healthful youth and strong middle age. You cannot abuse or neglect your body now and avoid the penalty later.

Catarrh, indigestion and constipation are the three great American evils that lead to serious diseases. None of them is itself dangerous, but they are the forerunners of worse. The right way to do is to check them at the beginning, overcome them quickly, and keep them off.

The Work of Peruna

This is the work Peruna has done for forty-five years. While it has accomplished remarkable results in the relief of chronic diseases, it is as a quick treatment for incipient disorders and as a tonic for weak conditions that its best record lies. Thousands have been relieved of chronic catarrh; tens of thousands have been piloted past the danger of contracting it. Tablet or liquid form—both good.

Every-Year

As HOLIDAY time approaches, the aim of the wise jeweler is to stimulate early buying, or at least early selection of Xmas presents. Last year we met with much success in this line, and this year we hope to be still more successful.

Owing to the tendency on the part of manufacturers to advance prices we placed our orders early and we now have nearly everything on our shelves and cases that we intend to have, as stock as ample and as beautiful as you will find anywhere.

Our policy is to mark every article in plain figures and we invite you to call and make your Xmas selections during the month of November. You need only pay a small deposit and we will credit you with a substantial DISCOUNT from our regular prices.

Fascinating Neckwear for Women

50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50 and Upwards

The Economist shows the new styles just as quickly as they are introduced in the eastern centers of fashion.

Lovely georgette crepes, satins, nets, organdies and broadcloth have been cleverly used in producing these becoming neckpieces.

In the collection are Neckwear Pieces both large and small, some in simple styles, others in styles more elaborate.

We show many of the novel hand embroidered cape and sailor back effects which are being so extensively worn this season.

THE GODS REMEMBER.

The gods remember always. WE FORGET, but they forget not; every debt, however we putter and evade, Maturing, must be paid.

They pity us, the gods, but naught forgive,
Lest we, who slowly learn to live—
Children scarce wiser in our age than youth—
Should come to doubt their truth!

Loving the brave who strive and will not yield
Though hurt and fallen on the field,
They teach us not from death to fly,
Lest we, indeed, should die!

For 'tis their will their soul shall rise above its earthly agonies; Triumphantly rise, as from the pyre A phoenix, winged by fire!

FIFTEEN CLUB.

The Moors were the topic at the fifteen club meeting at the home of Mrs. Wetmore on Friday afternoon. Mrs. Wetmore presiding. The session opened with quotations from the Koran. Mrs. Moore presented a paper on "The Moors and Their Civilization," tracing, in conclusion, the Moorish influence even to Latin America and into the warp and woof of life and art in Santa Fe itself. Mrs. Frank W. Parker read from "The City of the Future" which she reported on the federation meeting at East Las Vegas.

The program of the fifteen club, in this, its silver anniversary year, is proving of such great interest, profit and enjoyment to those clubs that desire to spend a year studying the Spanish Renaissance, Latin America and leading up to the Spanish culture in New Mexico. Here it is:

1. Quotations, History of Spain to the Moslem Domination, Mrs. Wetmore.
2. Quotations from the Koran, The Moors and Their Civilization, Mrs. Parker.
3. Quotations, The Moors, The Conquest of Granada, Mrs. Thomas. From "Lalla," Mrs. McDonald.
4. Quotations from Irving's Columbus, The Era of Discovery and Exploration, Mrs. Rapp. Reading, Caplas de Manrique, Mrs. Boyle.
5. Quotations from Lew Wallace's "Fair God," Spaniards in Mexico and Central America, by Mrs. Asplund. "Cautabito," Mrs. Walter.
6. Quotations from South American Authors. Spaniards in South America, Miss Masie. "The Lost City of the Andes," Mrs. Marsh.
7. Guest Day. A Spanish Day.
8. Quotations from Early Explorers, Northern Provinces of New Spain by Miss Arkison. From "Benavides," by Mrs. Pallen.
9. Quotations from Spanish Authors. Spanish Literature, by Mrs. Laughlin. "Cervantes," Mrs. Prince.
10. Quotations from authors of Mexico and Central America. Spanish Art and Handicrafts by Mrs. Parker. From "Caldron," by Mrs. Rapp.
11. Quotations from the Writers of the Southwest. Spanish Colonial Architecture, by Mrs. Hewett. From Charles F. Lumsden by Miss Arkison.
12. Quotations from the Missionary Fathers. Spanish Missions of the Southwest by Mrs. Pallen. From the "House of Dawn," by Mrs. Boyle.
13. Spanish Proverbs, Spanish Folklore, by Mrs. Harrison. Spanish Folklore, by Miss Masie.
14. Quotations of New Mexico, by Mrs. Prince. From a New Mexico Writer, by Mrs. Thomas.
15. Quotations from Cuban Literature. What Everybody in New Mexico Should Know. Short Readings from New Mexico Authors. Spanish Music. Guest Day.

The "quotations" at each meeting are in response to roll call. At such meeting, also, each member gives some current event from Latin America that is self evident that after a year thus pleasantly spent in going over the lore of Spain and Latin America that the club members will have a vital and realistic understanding of New Mexico and its problems.

TWO ART EVENTS.

Next week Warren E. Rollins will hang his paintings, part of them the result of his summer's work at Zuni.

Several of the canvases are quite large and ambitious. It is certain that the entire exhibit will delight Santa Fe art lovers. Following the Rollins exhibit will be an exhibit of two dozen water colors by Carl Oscar Borgh of California. Beyond that, several exhibits are already assured during the legislative session.

AUTUMN.

Now when the time of fruit and grain is come,
When apples hang over the orchard wall,
And from a tangle by the roadside stream
A scent of wild grapes fills the racy air,
Comest autumn with her sunburnt ear,
Like a long gypsy train with trappings gay
And tattered colors of the Orient,
Moving slow-footed through the dreary hills,
The words of Wilton, at her coming
Wear hints of Bokhara and of Samarcand;
The maples grow with their Pompeian red,
The hickories with burnt Etruscan gold,
And while the crickets life along her march,
Behind her banners burns the crimson sun.
—Edgar Carman in Atlantic.

THE COMING OF DR. SAYCE.

The coming to Santa Fe of Dr. A. H. Sayce, Great Britain's famous orientalist and archaeologist, next week will be an occurrence of much importance. It will be marked by a noteworthy meeting and reception at the Palace by the Santa Fe society of the Archaeological Institute at which Dr. Sayce will speak of "Discoveries in the Orient," and at which the woman's museum committee will give a reception to the distinguished visitor, who will also visit the cliff dwellings. The Santa Fe society having reached a membership of more than 112, is now so large that events of this kind, necessarily, can include only members and their families. In addition to the reception, Dr. Sayce will be the guest of honor at several dinners given by compatriots of his in Santa Fe.

NEW MEXICO PICTURES.

At Los Angeles, this week, Doris Rosenthal, who was a member of the Santa Fe-Taos art colony this summer, and showed her pictures in the Palace of the Governors, is exhibiting several of her canvases. Says the art critic of the Los Angeles Times: "Doris Rosenthal gives us two interesting poster effects, 'Taos Pueblo,' and 'In the Arroyo,' but the one is not a picture and the other is not a portrait, for this makes denial of values and that remains a vivid sketch. I grant, of course, that a vital sketch is worth a hundred dead pictures—but why not

Keep the thing alive through several sittings? The masters in painting do it right along. Our younger painters should not be afraid of spilling their canvases, of piling paint and scrap- ing it out again, for art, as well as nature, attains the perfect thing only by endless experimentation, perpetual

RAY "COPPERS"

The Copper Securities of Arizona, and particularly of the RAY CAMP, are now attracting widespread attention and are very active.

Ray Consolidated Bid $24.50, Asked $25.00

Ray Hercules Bid $3.50, Asked $3.75

Arizona Ray Bid 26 1-2c, Asked 27 1-2c

RAY CONSOLIDATED is one of the greatest copper producing properties in the world—a Jacklin corporation—it has eighty miles of tunnels all in ore; and has paid $7,000,000 in dividends—with the increasing of the dividend rate from $2 to $1 per share. Chas. A. Stoneham & Co., of New York—the largest authority on copper stocks—predicts $25.00 for RAY CONSOLIDATED.

Ray Hercules

This stock is listed in Stoneham's office under the head of "Junior Coppers." The RAY HERCULES has four churn drills working—has ten million tons of ore blocked out, and is building a million-dollar concentrator. Last week while we were on the RAY HERCULES ground—the Company made a strike of native copper—a wonderful sight—believed to be the most important strike ever made in the RAY CAMP. We predict higher prices for RAY HERCULES.

Arizona Ray

The opportunity in the RAY CAMP, we believe, is the shares of the ARIZONA RAY—at 27 1/2c. The East and West—right in Arizona—right in the RAY CAMP—orders have poured into brokers all over the country for ARIZONA RAY.

A Los Angeles broker—J. E. Meyer & Co., No. 227 Byrnes Building, Los Angeles, who sold over 1,000,000 shares of Jerome Verde at 10c to 11.00c—says: "I consider that ARIZONA RAY has greater possibilities than Jerome Verde, and should be to the great RAY CONSOLIDATED what the United Verde Extension is to the United Verde.—If you want to make more money than you ever made in any stock before, and remember, I sold Jerome Verde at 15c—now $2.00. Buy ARIZONA RAY."

LISTED TODAY ON THE LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE

The ARIZONA RAY COPPER COMPANY owns free and clear of debt—twelve (12) claims adjoining RAY CONSOLIDATED COPPER COMPANY and the RAY HERCULES COPPER COMPANY at Ray, Arizona.

These claims were formerly owned by officials of the RAY CONSOLIDATED COPPER COMPANY, and are in the same proven ore zone as the RAY CONSOLIDATED and RAY HERCULES—and development will prove them to be equally as rich.

Edmund L. Hatt, for six years Chief Engineer of the RAY CONSOLIDATED, has accepted the Mine Management of the ARIZONA RAY.

Work has already started in the property. One churn drill has already been purchased and will start at work as soon as delivered. Another churn drill has been ordered.

Chief Engineer Hatt believes he will strike the ore body by churn drilling at 150 feet—THIS MEANS, WE BELIEVE, 15 days' drilling.

When one main ore body is struck by churn drilling—we predict ONE DOLLAR A SHARE FOR ARIZONA RAY.

ARIZONA RAY property was also reported upon by Fred E. Young, M. E., and F. M. Dorsey, a well known mining man. In summing up his report, Mr. Dorsey says:

"ARIZONA RAY properties should prove up to contain between 20,000,000 and 40,000,000 tons of ore. I expect that on account of the secondary enrichment along the Calumet vein we will find some extremely rich ore that will carry the total tonnage to the high point. If we do, the property is worth 40 per cent of as much as RAY CONSOLIDATED.

"This is, unquestionably, Mr. Wilson, the best proposition you have ever been connected with, and will make every man who goes into it not a few hundred dollars, but all the money he will ever need."

The ARIZONA RAY COPPER COMPANY's office is at Phoenix, Arizona, but its executive office is at Ray, Arizona, where its Assistant Treasurer and Mine Manager—Mr. Edmund L. Hatt, will be glad to meet anyone.

EVENING GOWNS NOW IMPORTANT ITEMS OF WEAR

Season's Offering Is Most Elaborate; Many Novelties in Accessories Are Shown; Materials Are Rich.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL
New York, Oct. 28.—Evening gowns and wraps are once more the center of attraction for the social season in at hand and all who take part in the gaieties of dances and theater parties that brighten the autumn and winter, are starting their preparations for these social events.

The materials and trimmings for evening wear are very rich this season, and the gowns are accordingly most elaborate and luxurious; seemingly, there is no limit to the extravagance of many of them. In materials, the preference seems to be given to chiffon velvet, and the soft richness of this material is especially adapted to developing the sumptuous gowns that women of fashion demand. Next in importance come the broad-silk and satins and the gold and silver laces and nets. Quantities of these gold, silver and other metallic laces are used and they are combined with tulle and net or with soft silks, satins and velvets. Black chiffon velvet combined with gold or silver lace is especially high in favor, but the colored velvets are also favored, some of them being very brilliant while others are in the softer shades of pink and blue make very charming gowns. Tulle is another of the girlish materials for youthful dance frocks. It makes the daintiest of frocks, and the tulle used at present is not of the perishable kind that was used formerly.

In the way of trimming, everything that glitters and sparkles is in demand for decorating evening frocks. Quantities of paillettes, sequins and rhinestone trimmings are employed, so that there is a great deal of glitter and glamour about the evening frocks of this season.

The use of chiffon velvet combined with lace is shown in the charming model illustrated. Fine lace flouncing forms the side sections of the skirt and this may be of white or silver lace, or black lace, which is also very effective. Bands of pearl or rhinestone trimming over the shoulders hold up the little bodice of black velvet, and at the same time they serve as a finish to the frills of lace which take the place of sleeves. Another type of sleeve which appears on over so many evening frocks is the long, trailing sleeve of tulle, known as the wing sleeve. It always gives added grace to a gown and is often outlined with translucent beads.

Another interesting feature of evening gowns is the return of the train. Many trains are in the form of separate panels, some of which are quite long while others are only long enough to merit the name of train. One of the latest models was a train half of net and half of satin. It started from the shoulder, and the upper part to about the normal waistline was of net, the remainder being of satin.

Skirts are still short, even when they carry trains, but even the shortest skirts are longer than those of last season.

Fully as elaborate and luxurious as the gown itself is the evening wrap to go with it. The wraps are very ample and are fashioned chiefly of velvet or broadcloth, trimmed with fur. The fur is applied in bands around the edges, as in the accompanying illustration, or it appears only in collars.

All sorts of rich, brilliant colors, among them ruby, rose, geranium and different shades of blues, are used for wraps and their linings. The lining is often the same color as the wrap or contrasting. Sometimes, bright figured silks are used. Beautiful wraps also come in darker shades. An especially handsome one was of dark red velvet trimmed with dull-gold braid and enriched with cone fur at the neck and sleeves.

In the Line of Accessories.
Of the accessories for evening there are countless dainty novelties in the form of bags, artificial flowers to match dresses, and fans. The bags are of gold and silver tissue or of delicate silks. The large ostrich feather fans are favored above all others, and very beautiful they are, coming in all colors to match the gowns they are to accompany.

Evening slippers are of satin, brocades and silver and gold tissues, the latter being particularly favored. Many are ornamented with buckles of rhinestone and crystal, while there are those entirely devoid of ornament. Some striking fancy slippers are half of gold or silver tissue and half of gray-colored satin. They were made with rings of the colored satin and the feet and toes of silver or silver. Silk hose to match are worn with the slippers, for they are to be had in all the desired colors.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1916
 CANADA AND OUR FUTURE.

Returning recently from a trip through Canada, a Chicago banker gives it as his opinion that the people of the Dominion after the war, will be in a mood to consider annexation to the United States. He believes that capable statesmanship at Washington can accomplish the merger.

It was a great pity that the Canadians defeated the trade reciprocity proposed by the Taft administration. Industrial union would mean much to both peoples. A North American "block" would constitute the greatest and wealthiest integer in the world. And such a "block" would constitute a natural division. What is unnatural is the division of North America as it exists.

The line which runs from Puget Sound to Lake Superior is mathematical. What is wonderful about it is that it is virtually unguarded and actually unfortified, and yet inviolate and will remain so indefinitely. The separation by the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence and the northern boundary of New York and the New England states is likewise expressive of no real cleavage. The length of the line from the Atlantic to the Pacific is so much political tape.

War between these sections is unthinkable, and conquest would be a crime for which the sensitive American conscience never would forgive itself. A voluntary merger would solve all possible problems and avert all possible danger to this country. It would double the area of the freest and most fortunate experiment in government and industry. It would express a natural union in terms of completion and destroy at one stroke all those unnecessary and unnatural frictions. Imagine virtually a whole continent one nation, one language, one authority, one culture, one industrial organism!

Canada will require American capital in vast amounts. She will have to come to New York and Chicago to get what before the war London supplied. One of the consequences of the war will be Canada's decreased dependence upon England, even if Canadian representatives should sit in parliament.

But the Canadians have fought on the fields of France and Belgium for the cause of the British empire. They have poured out their treasures and their blood like water. Sentiment is stronger than financial considerations, and the union predicted by the Chicago financier may occur, so far as commerce is concerned, but the present generation, and the next, will have been gathered to their fathers before a political union will be possible.

Heckling public speakers is an English custom which should not take root in America. Besides, the heckler always gets the worst of it. Note the incident at the Alvarado when Roosevelt spoke.

STRONG WORK AHEAD.

With only a little more than a week before the election, the trend in New Mexico is distinctly toward the democratic ticket. In every section of the state, there is revolt. In some counties, it is merely groups of influential men who are fighting the republican ticket, but in many other sections there is organized revolution of the most formidable proportions and in strong republican counties old-time republicans are running for office on the democratic ticket.

That the republicans have all the money they can spend on the election, we may assume to be true. They have gathered funds in the state, and there can be no doubt that the republican national committee has come across handsomely; for one of the United States senatorships necessary to the party if it is to have control of the upper house is at stake. The republicans, if they had a working majority in the senate assured would care nothing about putting Frank A. Hubbell across; but they feel that the election of Hughes would count for little if the senate should not be with him. Therefore, there is no reason to doubt that New Mexico is one of the specially favored states in the way of national campaign funds. But with all the money they can get together, the chances today are against the election of Hubbell, and if the republicans elect any one on their ticket it will be due to lavish expenditure of money in those sections of the state where money counts, as it counts nowhere else in the United States.

This is a time for every democrat to work. In the few remaining days, the election will be won or lost. Not a man on any ticket is elected now. Strong as the sentiment in the state is for A. A. Jones, he is not elected, and will not be elected until the votes are in the ballot boxes. Then, even, the election may not be safe. There must be the strictest watch while the votes are being counted to see to it that victory won is not stolen.

Such things as fraudulent returns have occurred in New Mexico in the past and there is no reason to believe that the leopard has changed his spots in one iota.

It is said that John D. Rockefeller's income now is a million dollars a week. With that income Mr. Rockefeller should be able to get at least one square meal a day, notwithstanding the high cost of living, and a little aside for a rainy day.

PESSIMISM NOT WARRANTED.

The "pastoral letter" issued by the great convention of the Protestant Episcopal church, which closed its session at St. Louis, last Friday evening, is eloquently pessimistic. The tone of it may be judged from the following excerpt which characterizes the whole.

"Whatever apology may be made or local explanation, at home or abroad, for the world-confusion, it is none the less an outcome and a revelation of un-Christian principles that have dominated the life of western Christendom, and of which both the church and the nations have need to repent."

"Greed of possessions, of honor or pleasure, have literally dethroned God from his supreme place among men."

The fact that the great nations of Christian Europe are at war, seems to be the basis for the gloomy conclusions drawn by the churchmen.

Christianity at no stage of its development has ever sufficed to keep Christendom out of war. We might ask if it has been Christianity's business or mission to keep nations out of war.

What Christianity actually has done is to have introduced some humanity into the conduct of war and some chivalry into the fighters. Certainly Christianity is not a failure because wars have not been eliminated from life on the planet.

We talk of the war proving the failure of Christianity, whereas in truth this war illustrates to every student of history the success of Christianity. The psychic nature that Christianity developed in the race, is exactly what revolts us against the horrors inflicted upon Belgium.

But had the conquerors of Belgium been Romans, of the time of the Caesars, the population of Louvain would have been crucified. Hundreds of thousands of Belgians would have been sold into slavery, as Caesar sold whole Gallic tribes. These things the Romans considered natural and usual. Mercy to a woman captive was thought of.

If the sponsors of Christianity today doubt its success, the most advanced thought of the time does not. The very thinkers today who do not accept its authority testify to the radical part Christianity played in the evolution of civilization during the last two millenniums.

Those opponents of Christianity who were disposed to deny it any salutary influence at all, men like Gibbon and Voltaire in the eighteenth century and Huxley and Haeckel in the nineteenth, are displaced today by critics, who, however little Christian themselves, give full credit to the enormous psychological transformation which Christianity has wrought upon Europe—upon the civilization of the Mediterranean world, known as the Roman empire, and upon the descendants (ourselves) of the barbarian tribes who extinguished it.

Dr. Jung, of Zurich, who is an agnostic, said recently that the only way to account for the sudden conversion of the whole Roman world was that the people realized that they had to be delivered from their own brutal violence, and Christianity, which he says invented personal values, was their actual savior.

Christianity has not failed, even if the churchmen despair because the spirit of Christianity has not yet ejected the savages from civilized man.

THE WOMAN'S CLUB.

The Woman's club of Albuquerque is to have a Halloween dance for the benefit of the club, and the people of Albuquerque should respond generously to one of the most worthy organizations of the city.

The Woman's club has become one of Albuquerque's most valuable assets. When things are to be done, the club is one of the best workers for every good cause. When conventions come here, the women of the club make of themselves an entertainment committee for visiting ladies. They form a vital part of the entertainment for the state teachers' association when it comes to this city, for the state fair, for conventions of all sorts.

But more to the point, the Woman's club is directly associated with

A Strip of Blue

I do not own an inch of land,
 But all I see is mine—
 The orchard, and the mowing fields,
 The lawns and gardens fine.
 The winds my taxcollectors are,
 They bring me tithes divine,
 Wild scents and subtle essences,
 A tribute, rare and free;
 And, more magnificent than all,
 My window keeps for me
 A glimpse of blue immensity—
 A little strip of sea.

Sometimes they seem like living shapes—
 The people of the sky—
 Guests in white raiment coming down
 From heaven, which is close by;
 I call them by familiar names
 As one by one draws nigh.
 So white, so light, so spirit-like,
 From violet mists they bloom
 The aching wastes of the unknown
 Are half reclaimed from gloom,
 Since on life's hospitable sea
 All souls find sailing room.

The sails, like flakes of roseate pearl,
 Float in upon the mist;
 The waves are broken, precious stones—
 Sapphire and amethyst
 Washed from celestial basement walls,
 By suns unsetting kissed,
 Out through the utmost gates of space,
 Past where the gray stars drift,
 To the widening infinite, my soul
 Glides on, a vessel swift,
 Yet loses not her anchorage
 In yonder azure rift.

Here sit I, as a little child;
 The threshold of God's door
 Is that clear band of chrysopease;
 Now the vast temple floor,
 The blinding glory of the dome
 I bow my head before,
 The universe, O God! is home,
 In height or depth to me;
 Yet here upon thy footstool green Content am I to be;
 Glad when is opened to my need
 Some sea-like glimpse of Thee!

It seems that the Rumanians, who have been at peace for nearly half a century, are too "soft" to fight trained soldiers. So were the English until they were hardened in camp life for about two years. So would United States volunteers be, if called upon to face a real enemy.

With Scissors and Paste

A CATERPILLAR TRACTOR REGIMENT.

Washington.—Plans have been perfected by the United States army for the formation of a horseless regiment of heavy field artillery—the first of its kind in the world. To be more accurate, it will be a "caterpillar tractor" regiment, because all twenty-four guns will be hauled from point to point and then put upon the firing line by means of Holt "caterpillar tractors" similar to those which have been converted into what have been described as land dreadnoughts on the Somme front.

With this comes the further disclosure that the army is to have field guns of 2.5 caliber and is experimenting with 16-inch field guns. These great increases in the caliber of field guns have been made possible through the development of the caterpillar tractor.

The new regiment has been designated the Ninth heavy field artillery and is to be stationed permanently in the Hawaiian islands. The regiment has been formed, but its colonel has not been assigned. It is one of three new regiments of field artillery authorized by the defense act of July 3, 1916, all of which are now being organized. The distinctive features of the Ninth heavy field artillery which will single it out as the first of its kind in the world are as follows:

There will be no horses whatever connected with the regiment. It will be thoroughly an exclusively motor regiment, motor tractors of varying types taking the place of about 1,000 horses.

Its colonel and other regiment officers will ride in a military automobile instead of on horseback. Its heavy field guns and their ammunition caissons will be hauled by the novel machines variously described as "tank cars," "land dreadnoughts," and "willy wagons," now being used by the British in the battle of the Somme. The American tractors will not be armed and will be used only for protection of their machinery.

The battery and store wagons of the regiments will also be hauled by tractors, so as to be able to follow the tractor drawn field howitzers into action over rough country.

The artillerymen who heretofore have ridden horses will hereafter ride on motorcycles with "bathtub" attachments, each cycle carrying three men.

The regiment will be provided with its own truck company of twenty-seven motor trucks, which will carry ammunition to the firing line.

The reserve ammunition for the regiment also will be conveyed to the front by motor truck companies.

Two of the six batteries of the regiment will be equipped with the new model of 6-inch heavy field howitzer which has just been adopted by the army after successful experimental tests at Fort Sill.

All the plans have been thoroughly perfected and the regiment will be ready for tactical maneuvers with its motor traction facilities within a year.

THE PRESSURE IS UPWARD.

The bosses who handle the corrupt politics of our cities, the aristocrats of the old regime, the unsmiling child of the streets, whose warped mind holds only fear and distrust, will lie down quietly some time and make room for happier men, Hatred, feuds, unworthy ambitions die out with the people obsessed by them, as the mistletoe does when the tree falls.

Death is the natural enemy of the old guard and the friend of reformers. The full stop wrecks old institutions, fathers new expedients, compels a reshuffle of the cards. There is hope in new blood. The millionaire who built this crowded and gloomy city has just been adopted by the army after successful experimental tests at Fort Sill.

wealth, and the chicanery of courts often place gluttonous men in power, perpetuate ancient wrongs, educate the masses of mankind in blind fears and superstitions. But the pressure is always upward, and whenever there is a break in the line or a crevice in the wall the systems smash, and men rise. While there's death there's hope.

FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN ANIMALS.

I have been driving a little pacing mare, called the Elf, of my own breeding, on alternate days of the week past the remount depot in one of the London parks. The Elf, in some way struck up a friendship with one of the horses, and they neighed to each other each time we passed. If the horse was in the stable and could not be seen, I could hear his neigh, and she answered him. He seemed to know the sound of her pacing footsteps. Pacers are not common in England.

The horse must have been transferred elsewhere recently, for now when the mare neighs there is no answer, and she seems quite depressed about it. The horses have never been near each other. It seems to me a sort of platonic love at first sight. A friend told me yesterday that he had two Blenheim spaniels, brother and sister of different litters. The other day, when the little bitch could not break a hard dog biscuit, the big dog came over, took it away and broke it with his teeth into small pieces. He then went up to her, patted her paw and brought her up to the broken pieces of biscuit, which she ate with a relish, but he refused to eat a single piece himself.

THE WAR ON DREISER.

The Authors' League of America has sent out for signature to its members and other professional writers the following protest:

"We, the undersigned American writers, observe with deep regret the efforts now being made to destroy the work of Theodore Dreiser. Some of us may differ from Mr. Dreiser in our aims and methods, and some of us may be out of sympathy with his point of view, but we believe that an attack by irresponsible and arbitrary persons upon the writings of an author of such manifest sincerity and such high accomplishments must inevitably do great damage to the freedom of letters in the United States and bring down upon the American people the ridicule and contempt of other nations. The method of the attack, with its attempt to ferret out blasphemy and indecency where they are not and to condemn a serious artist under a law aimed at common rogues, is unjust and absurd. We join in this public protest against the proceeding in the belief that the art of letters, as carried on by men of serious purpose and with the co-operation of reputable publishers, should be free from interference by persons who, by their own statement, judge all books by narrow and impossible standards, and we advocate such amendments of the existing laws as will prevent such persecutions in future."

Appeal for Support of Red Cross Society

Editor Morning Journal:
 The annual meeting of the Albuquerque chapter of the Red Cross society which will convene October 30 at the Commercial club affords an occasion for all patriotic citizens to acquaint themselves with the work and purpose of this society; an organization conceived on broad humanitarian principles; based on the teachings of the Lowly One of Nazareth, and endeavoring to carry out his precepts in alleviating the sufferings of humanity. In time of war or peace, in calamity of any description. Wherever there is destruction, famine or suffering, the Red Cross society is the first organization to come to the rescue of the stricken ones.

Always Ready to Aid.
 Its emblem, signifying succor, is at hand, standing out as a beacon light of hope to the unfortunate. This society was established by Miss Clara Barton, being primarily an American institution but has gradually spread throughout the civilized world and in some countries even far outdistancing us. In Japan, the membership of the society exceeds one million, the goal the American society has set out to reach. We appeal to your patriotic pride and altruistic sense to reach this mark.

Merits Support.
 This cause merits your support both morally and financially and now is the time to exhibit and exercise the duties of a true patriot and citizen by lending a hand and joining this altruistic work, remembering the words of the apostle: Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Window Shades

But that is not all the name stands for; it also means the VERY BEST in Window Shades. Made on a heavier and more closely woven grade of muslin and without any filling of chalk or clay to fall out and leave unsightly pin-holes and streaks. They will not fade nor wrinkle, but are always bright, straight and attractive. They cost a trifle more but will wear twice as long. We are showing BRENLINS in Ivory, Mauve, Van Dyke Brown, Green and the Duplexes.

STOCK EXCHANGE SHOWS DECIDED IRREGULARITIES

Standard Issues Are Moderately Lower, While Coppers and War Specialties Are Much Higher.

New York, Oct. 28.—Stocks were irregular almost from the outset of the session, but after a brief but active session, standard issues were moderately lower, while coppers and war specialties were much higher.

The copper was the foremost feature of the day's trading, with its "wide" opening of $4.00, an advance of about three cents over the previous day's closing. It was followed by the tin, which opened at $24.00, an advance of one cent.

The bank statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, showing a decrease in the circulation of $1,000,000, was a factor in the market's movement.

The market closed with a net gain of 1 1/2 points, the highest since the 15th of the month. The volume of trading was moderate.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.
Chicago, Oct. 28.—Unabated demand for wheat and foreign grain added sharply to wheat prices today, that already were well above the record for the last twenty-eight years. The market closed unsettled 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents higher, with December at $1.85 1/2 to $1.88 1/2 and May at $1.86 1/2 to $1.89 1/2.

Topmost prices of the day for wheat were reached in the last fifteen minutes of the session. In the corn market signs of an increased movement from the country acted as more than an offset for an early advance in sympathy with wheat. No. 2 yellow corn sold here today at $1.12 a bushel, the highest price since 1907. Demand for oats was stimulated by gossip as to the relative cheapness of oats as compared with other cereals. Export call for oats was good.

Big shipments of hogs, much of it supposed to be for Europe, gave strength to the provision list as a whole. Lower prices on hogs were ignored.

Closing prices:
Wheat—Dec., $1.85 1/2; May, $1.86 1/2.
Corn—Dec., $1.12; May, $1.13.
Oats—Dec., $1.05; May, $1.06.
Pork—Dec., $26.50; Jan., $26.60.
Lard—Dec., $16.45; Jan., $16.50.
Ribs—Oct., $14.50; Jan., $14.75.

"spelling." Further on he says: "A simple bit of impressionism, a la Robert Henri to Meta Cressey's study of a Mexican woman and child outside an adobe shack, and much in the same manner is Bert Cressey's small picture of a group of Spanish men and women sitting in a public garden." However, the critic takes a fall-out with Robert Henri, whose picture, "The Drummer of the Eagle Dance," was sent this week by the School of American Archaeology to New York, for exhibit there next week. He says: "Henrietta M. Shore's 'Portrait' (it appears to be a self-portrait) is also careless of value and has a porcelain smoothness of effect, though painted with this talented young artist would forget the teachings of Henri, take herself in hand and really paint what she sees and feels."

A PORTRAIT.
In tee white sweetness of her dimpled chin
The pink points of her perfumed fingers press.
And round her tremulous mouth's loveliness
The tears and smiles a sudden strife begin;

First one and then the other seems to win;
And o'er her drooping eyes a golden tress
Falls down to hide what else they might confess.
Their blue-veined lids are striving to shut in.
The yellow pearls that bind her throat about
With her pale bosom's throbbing rise or fall;

The color of her thoughts like carrier doves have fled
To that far land where armies clash and shout.
And where, beyond love's reach, a soldier tall
With staring eyes and broken sword Lies dead.

PARTIES OF YOUNG FOLKS.
Saturday evening, Mrs. Martin, teacher of art in the high school, gave a dance to the high school pupils at her home.
Mrs. Frank McBride on Saturday evening entertained the members of the Christian Endeavor class.
Friday evening Miss Kathleen Rolfs of East Palace avenue was hostess to the Philicia class. Next Tuesday evening Miss Constance Walter entertained the Polyanna class at her home on East Palace avenue. On Saturday evening Miss Edna Earnest entertained her young friends.

HALLOWEEN PARTIES.
Monday evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Trade, a Halloween masque will be given in the library assembly hall. The following evening the Masons give the first of the concerts of this year's lyceum course at the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Novel and poetic imitations evoked poetic replies to the Halloween party to be given by Miss Matilda Vanderbeck on next Tuesday evening.

COMING AND GOING.
Mrs. William Pope and sister, Miss Callie Hull, left on Friday afternoon on a visit to their brother in Guthrie, Okla. From there they will go to their old home in Georgia, and may spend the winter with their aunt, Mrs. Hoke Smith, at Washington, D. C., after a congress convenes on December 1.

Dr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Hewitt left Friday for the Chaco canyon and from there go to San Diego for the rest of November. December they will spend at Washington, D. C.
Miss Flo Lamar of Las Vegas and Robert S. Conroy, who is in the Indian service at San Juan pueblo, were married on Tuesday at the Presbyterian manse by Rev. B. Z. McCollough. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart of Las Vegas and will reside at Chamita.
Mrs. R. P. Evelyn, Miss Flora Conrad and Miss Clara Olson returned on Thursday from a two weeks' motor outing to the Grand Canyon.
Miss Pollock of Kansas City is the guest for three weeks of Mrs. Harry F. Lee.

A JOYOUS AFFAIR.
When youth and beauty and talent combine to entertain, then the effect is irresistible. Mrs. Ramona Rollins Wythe and Miss Ruth Rollins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Rollins, on Saturday evening danced and sang themselves into the hearts of the Santa Feans who attended the society event given at the Elks' opera house under the auspices of the Woman's Board of Trade. It was a concert and recital that captivated every one. Characterizations from operas, dances of various nations, with music selected with artistic discernment, well merited the abundant applause generously bestowed.

About Books

It is indeed a daringly sensational story that Robert W. Chambers tells in "The Girl Philippa," a romance of the European war. Actual personalities of considerable prominence are brought into the narrative and he would be indeed a cautious reader who could escape the illusion of reality in many of the dramatic scenes. That confession as to the murder in the royal family of Bulgaria would make a great speech for a first class actor. The reviewer may not say what it is about, but suffice to say it is truly remarkable.
In this story Chambers has returned to his very best manner, and the tale is a thrilling sketch of military and diplomatic life in Europe. For the time he seems to have forgotten all the tedious prettiness and wearisome sentimental gentility of recent novels. The probabilities may be strained in these pages, but there is certainly plenty of action, and action is one thing fitted to a romance of the war.
Philippa, the heroine, has a most eventful career, which one follows to the end with keen interest. The friendship between the American painter and the Englishman, Hackett, is most interesting to follow. And the incident of the supposed killing of Gray by his enemies is thrilling to a degree.

A year after his death comes another volume of stories written by one of America's brightest and breeziest humorists, George Fitch. "Petey Simmons at Swash," is the last message of good cheer to those who have come under the spell of that genial spirit. Petey loved college life and he describes it in glowing colors. He makes the reader feel young again—youth and full of youthful devilment. We have not all gone through the same experiences, but they are sufficiently similar to make us feel that we might have been Petey. He tells us "of all the things that have happened to me about the easiest thing to remember is my first day in Swash college. I can recall quite readily the night I was graduated from the high school in a black suit and a murderous high collar and recited an essay on the 'Conquest of the Future,' falling off the universe at the end of the third page and remaining in space while I tried to remember the next paragraph."

And I remember with scarcely an effort, the evening when I was married, against a large tickly fern, with my two hands in white gloves and Allie Black exhorting me—when all was growing black before my eyes to brace up and prepare for the worst, which the boys were then preparing, but whenever I get dull red behind the ears and begin to perspire with high tension embarrassment, I know I am about to remember the day when my shrim, George Wilbur, and I climbed on the afternoon local train amid the cheers of our admiring friends and started for Swash college to absorb knowledge and do great deeds. New congressmen are not so green as new freshmen. There is nothing to help the young man who goes to college, because he has no means of suspecting what is going to happen to him. The college itself does not suspect it half the time. If ever a good, high grade prophet were to be put on the job of mapping out the first week's happening in a frisky little college, he would quit with an imagination full of stripped gears in less than an hour."

Edmund Vance Cook writes a fine and appreciative introduction. He says: "It is a big thing to have effected as much good cheer as is in the writings of George Fitch. Not humor only, not sentiment clearly, but the best side of human nature, but that levity in laughter which lurks in all he does and is. Yes, I still insist upon the present tense. I will not say George Fitch was, George Fitch is."

A sale of pretty and dainty Christmas goods will be held at Miss Julia Lee's corner of Copper avenue and eighth street, on the afternoon of December 1. The object of this sale is to secure funds to be applied on the municipal tree expenses.

Santa Fe Court Notes.
Santa Fe, Oct. 28.—On Monday two damage suits against the A. T. & S. F. will be tried in federal court. One is by J. I. Bates and M. E. Bates, parents of the late J. I. Bates, against the Santa Fe for $25,000. In the suit for damages by Alberca de Leon, administrator of the estate of Petronilo de Leon against the Santa Fe for $25,000 damages, the federal jury this afternoon returned a verdict of not guilty. The court instructed for the defendant. The damage suit of M. A. Wright vs. the Rocky Mountain and Santa Fe for $5,000 damages for failure to keep the depot at Des Moines warm, goes on trial tomorrow. Plaintiff alleges that her husband died from a cold caught in the depot. This afternoon the case of the United States vs. Claude Delson, for having his position a mold for counterfeiting silver dollars, went to trial.

Mora County Crimeloss.
East Las Vegas, N. M., Oct. 28.—No grand or petit juries were called for the fall term of court at Mora county. The county has been remarkably free from crime. The court was in session only a half day.

ALASKA NORTHERN EXPERIENCING A REJUVENATION

Engineering Commission, Having Purchased Railway From the Government Is Now Employing 589 Men.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Seward, Alaska, Oct. 28.—The Alaska engineering commission is now employing a force of five hundred twenty-five men and sixty-four station men in the rejuvenation of the Alaska Northern railway, which was purchased by the government when the selection of the route was announced by the president.

The work consists of rebuilding bridges, elimination of high trestles with fill, improvement in the alignment and some slight reduction in grades. There will be a slight reduction in the maximum grades on the twelve-mile and forty-five-mile summits. Many of the fills have been widened, and much ballasting has been done. Across Glacier river, in front of Spencer glacier, temporary trestles and fills have been made for a distance of over 3,000 feet, which will be replaced next year by a permanent trestle raised ten feet above the present level of the track. New shear and diversion dams are being constructed so as to control the waters of the river and to prevent washouts which have been an annual occurrence since the road was constructed.

Seventy-five thousand new ties have been laid, and it is contemplated that before the work of rejuvenation is finally completed to mile 71 over two hundred thousand ties will have been laid.

A machine shop has been built at Seward to replace the one which was burned early last year, and all repairs are now being made in that shop.

The road is now in operation to mile 64 from Seward, and a freight train is operated over the line every Sunday and a passenger train on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays. It is expected that the line will be opened in operation to Kern creek (mile 71) the end of the track, this month. Kern creek will be a distributing point for that part of the work on Turnagain Arm, which will be done from the Seward end, as well as for points along the Arm, and considerable increase in traffic is expected as soon as the line is completed to that point.

The work is being prosecuted under the immediate supervision of R. J. Weir, engineer in charge. Mr. Weir has also charge of the new construction work along Turnagain Arm between Kern creek and Glacier creek a distance of four miles. This is all expensive rock work, and it is estimated that it will cost approximately $250,000. There are now several station tanks at work on this portion of the line. It is expected that it will be completed by spring, when the work along Turnagain Arm will be prosecuted as fast as funds and material will permit.

Altogether contracts have been let at Seward to station men aggregating $150,000 on work between Seward and Glacier creek, and in addition to that the monthly payroll of the Alaska engineering commission at Seward now amounts to between $40,000 and $50,000.
