CARRANZA MAN LEFT FOR DEAD, IN LAREDO

THE MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL, LAREDO, MEX.,

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 20.—Major Villard of the Seventeenth cavalry of the first army, after being late for duty in the vicinity of Chihuahua, arrived at Monterrey yesterday. His name had been commuted, and the man had been cut in strips from the feed, the report said. Villard said he and several others were taken prisoners on October 22 at Santa Ysabel and later all were badly mutilated upon orders of a Villista leader, whom the report said was in command at Villa.

Each man's setting time was registered on the president at the table he would get. Eating of the table he placed quarters of the table at every. Everywhere the looked the president appeared with a large though in most instances made the almost fabulous amount paid by the republicans. The men and men held out for odds but mainly parts of the country, when it failed in got them, placed the money.

Ask for Herald's Opinion

To the Herald, from a thousand places in the country, came to give asking what its final opinion of the situation was. Telephone messages were received from persons in ordinary years never have to any one what is about to happen. In the average campaigns they the men who know—but this is they like the tens of thousands others are "up in the air."

Resinol

For over twenty years, physicians have relied on Resinol Ointment in the treatment of many skin and scalp troubles. They prefer it because it so quickly stops itching and burning, and cleans away redness, rawness, crusts or scales. They know, too, that it contains only the gentlest of healing materials, which could not injure or irritate the tenderest skin. Why not try it for your skin?

Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. For samples, write Dept. 134, Resinol, Baltimore. Use Resinol Soap for your hair.

stems which have come from the middle west have started both the democrats and the republicans, the former because of the unexpected strength alleged to have been shown for the president, and the latter because of the threatened inroads into their old strongholds—despite their respective claims of overwhelming popularity. The campaign directors on both sides of the street arrived at pretty much the same conclusion.

Illinois Pivotal State

As Illinois goes so will the election go.

That is precisely what the Herald staff wrote tonight in the Sunday Herald. The twenty-nine electoral votes from this state would be enough, it was estimated in many quarters yesterday, to change the result in a contest as evenly balanced as the present appears to be. Illinois is in the hands of the women. They vote there for the first time. They vote only for president. More than a half million of them are registered. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of 600,000 will vote. Trying to tell how they will line up is like guessing on the toss of a coin. The democrats assert they are the ones for the president because the country has not come to war, while the republicans declare that they will vote as their husbands and brothers do, assuring a victory for the republicans.

leaves by a hundred thousand or more.

No change of importance was reported at the eleventh hour regarding Ohio. The democrats fully expect to have the twenty-four electoral votes from the Buckeye state. The republicans are pretty well reconciled to their loss. New York state unquestionably leans toward the republicans. But the empire state is not the "pivot" of the campaign. It was a generation ago. Confidential republican canvassers show that Hughes and Fairbanks will have considerably more than 100,000 plurality in the state.

Confidential Taftman estimates indicate that the democratic plurality in the five boroughs of New York will be in the neighborhood of 25,000.

The president will journey to Princeton today to cast his ballot. He will receive the returns in the evening at Shadow Lawn surrounded by members of his family. Mr. Hughes will cast his vote in this city, and in the evening will listen to the returns in his room at the Astor Hotel.

MANIFESTO OF CENTRAL POWERS GIVES FREEDOM TO THE POLES

The importance of the establishment of the kingdom of Poland, according to the Overseas News agency which quotes the Berliner Tageblatt as follows:

"From Switzerland, cordial greetings resound to the new state," and follows this with expressions of opinion from various Swiss papers.

"The Zurich Post" says the Overseas agency, "doubts whether the solution will satisfy all the Polish wishes for an undivided Poland."

"The Neue Zürcher Nachrichten" says:

"We send heartfelt congratulations for her resurrection to the Polish nation and the Polish states. May they again rule in all their grand old historic mission and be a bulwark for western Europe. May they also learn from history and avoid the mistakes made by their fathers."

"The Basler National Zeitung" discusses the influence of the new Polish kingdom upon internal questions of Germany and Austria-Hungary."

The Overseas agency also quotes from Dutch newspapers. The Nieuwe Rotterdamse Courant says:

"The far-reaching decision taken by the two emperors contributes more towards the solution of the Polish question and guarantees for a lasting peace than would have been the case if a third partition of Poland had been carried out. The emperors' program does not provide for the re-establishment of Poland, but Russia is rather inclined to give the Poles a certain degree of independence. Let us wait in order to see how this state, which until now has been the fruit of war, will work for peace and let us hope that Poland, from a buffer state, will evolve into a really independent and prosperous state."

Continuing, the Overseas agency quotes the Koelnische Volks Zeitung as follows:

"We welcome the solution as sincere, since it is the best possible, and the only possible under the present circumstances. We hope that by this decision, Poland will forever be redeemed to western civilization."

Whoever in Europe really loves liberty, whoever recognizes the rights of small nations, must welcome the action of the two emperors. Fortunately we are in a position not to care what the English, French and Russians say about the manifesto."

According to the Vienna correspondent of the Berliner Tageblatt, the Polish decision was taken because the Poles, after the consolidation of the eastern front, asked permission to collaborate in the reconstruction of the other countries. The present solution, says the Overseas agency, was endorsed by leading Poles, such as Herbert Hradnicki of Warsaw university, and Prince Habsburg, president of the Warsaw militia.

VARYING VIEWS TAKEN OF POLISH INDEPENDENCE

Berlin, Nov. 6 (1 p. m. via London, Nov. 7).—The newspapers discuss the Polish proclamation broadly, but with some reservation. The liberal, Catholic and socialist organs favor it, while the conservatives are more disposed to see objections. The latter, affected by the Bismarckian tradition, that Germany must have a firm friend in Russia, express doubt whether the present solution will prove wise in the long run.

The Tageblatt also hails the restoration of the Polish kingdom with the proviso that Germany succeeded in preventing Russia from permanently indulging in dreams of vengeance. The difficulties of the Polish problem, however, are apparent in all the editorial minds.

The papers generally assume that the kingdom necessarily will lean upon Germany and Austria-Hungary, not only for protection against Russia, but because its cultural sympathies have swung toward, not outward, toward Russia. Some of the papers express the expectation that Germany's military power will be strengthened through a close alliance with Poland, and also expect that Polish troops forthwith will be organized and assist in establishing Polish freedom.

The liberal, socialist and Catholic papers take special pleasure in pointing out that Poland receives her independence from the central powers, whereas the empires allies claim a monopoly in protecting the liberties of small states. One paper, in this connection, asserts that all true friends of liberty in London and Paris should hang out flags.

John Venn's Forces.

Paris, Nov. 6.—A Havas dispatch from Athens says: "Colonel Calamitopoulos, commanding the Forty-third regiment at Volos, with numerous officers and virtually all the soldiers, has joined the nationalist movement. He will report to General Sarrikis, the French commander of the allied forces, and make an effort to regain the Greek forts which were turned over to the Bulgarians."

NEW YORK STATE CLAIMED BY BIG VOTE BOTH WAYS

Republican and Democratic Managers Certain of Hundred Thousand Plurality for Respective Tickets.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)

New York, Nov. 6.—With Governor Whitman and Samuel Seabury, republican and democratic candidates for governor, respectively, making final appeals to the voters of this city, the New York state campaign closed tonight only a few hours before the polls opened. The head of each state ticket joined his campaign managers in predicting serene confidence in the outcome of the election.

Because New York is regarded as a pivotal state in the presidential election, popular interest in tomorrow's voting centered in the contest between President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes. Voters will be called on, however, to elect a complete state ticket in addition to governor and senator. There also will be chosen a new congressional delegation.

Both sides agreed that the tide would be turned for the national ticket by those who voted as progressives four years ago. The combined Taft-Roosevelt vote in 1912 was 545,580, as compared with 655,573 for Wilson. In Greater New York, which the republicans concede will return a democratic plurality this year, the Taft-Roosevelt vote together exceeded by 3,092 that cast for President Wilson.

While the republicans contend the greater part of those who supported Roosevelt four years ago will swing to Hughes this year, the democrats assert that the "redoubt" of Old Town has been both closed and open under Sheriff Romero. The sheriff's interference in city politics also has been subject to some censure. Republicans answered this with the statement that he is a taxpayer in the city. Nothing has been said of the conduct of the sheriff's office. The books have been under charge of Under Sheriff Dick Lewis, whose record not only passed the inspection of the traveling auditor but drew high praise from him.

The outcome of the race for treasurer is doubtful. Two congressional nominees were nominated for this office—O. A. Matson by the republicans and Frank A. Harris by the democrats. This is Mr. Harris' first campaign. Both rank high in favor with voters in Albuquerque. The rural precincts normal republican vote might be expected to give Mr. Matson an edge over his opponent. Mr. Harris, however, speaks Spanish fluently and is understood to have carried on a vigorous campaign in the county outside Albuquerque.

At least one city voter was unable to make up his mind which of the two candidates for treasurer to support. He finally decided upon tossing a coin and letting it decide for him, he said.

TREMENDOUS VOTE IN CALIFORNIA EXPECTED

San Francisco, Nov. 6.—Indications were apparent today of a tremendous vote throughout California tomorrow, according to political leaders. Issues which seemed to outline themselves most sharply on the eve of the battle of ballots were Hughes or Wilson, wet or dry, and Governor Hiram W. Johnson, republican, or George F. Patton, democrat, for the United States senate.

The headquarters of the prohibition forces here predicted a landslide for amendment No. 2, restricting the "sale of liquor in public drinking places and retail stores," and a winning vote of 50,000 for complete prohibition, in a statement given out today.

Both republicans and democrats claimed the state for Wilson and Hughes, while Governor Johnson's supporters predicted a heavy majority for him over Patton.

REPUBLICANS SEE VICTORY IN DELAWARE

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 6.—Both republican and democratic leaders tonight are predicting victory in Delaware tomorrow. Republican State Chairman A. H. Benson declares the state will be carried by that party by a large majority, while Harry T. Grann, democratic state chairman, predicts that Wilson will have a 4,500 plurality and that the state ticket will be elected by approximately the same vote.

IN MAINE BATTLE IS ONLY FOR PRESIDENT

Portland, Me., Nov. 6.—The battle for Maine political honors having been fought out at the biennial state election in September, the voting tomorrow will be only for candidates for presidential electors. President Wilson four years ago received a plurality of 2,613 over Colonel Roosevelt in a total of 126,000 votes. Tomorrow's vote is expected to exceed 120,000.

HARD FIGHT CAMPAIGN CLOSED IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 6.—The campaign just closed was the hardest fought in this state in a decade and tonight both parties claimed victory here as assured. The republican state committee claims the state by a narrow margin and victory for Henry W. Kever, republican candidate for governor, and two candidates for congress.

BIGGEST DEMONSTRATION FOR 20 YEARS IN S. DAKOTA

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 6.—To the music of bands and in the light of flaring torches, street shoulders and their caravans of both the republican and democratic faith are tonight exhibiting the voters. It is the largest demonstration in twenty years. Republican headquarters tonight claim the state by 10,000 for Hughes. The democrats assert Wilson will carry South Dakota by 8,000.

CONNECTICUT SAFE FOR BOTH PARTIES

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—Both democratic and republican campaign managers tonight predicted their victory tomorrow by wide margins. The attitude of 20,000 new voters, and the trend of the progressive vote are factors which are expected to figure largely in the outcome. Many of the new voters came from other states to work in munitions factories.

BOTH PARTIES SEE VICTORY IN COUNTY CONTEST

Democrats Say Their Entire Ticket Will Sweep Into Office; Republicans Also Assert Confidence.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)

Democratic leaders last night forecast a victory for their party in Bernalillo county without oral reservation, of course. While they expect the entire democratic ticket to be placed in office, they said, they thought several of their candidates would make a better showing than others.

Rafael Garcia, candidate for sheriff, Manuel H. Vigil, candidate for coroner, and J. J. Vigil, candidate for justice, independent republican, continued by the democrats for private judges, leaders thought would be the party's star performers in any setting.

These men, while they are admittedly popular, have the opposition of strong men of the republican ticket. Sheriff Jesus Romero's strength is evident in his record in Bernalillo county politics. Mr. Garcia has repeatedly invaded the rural precincts. Sheriff Romero's strength, his standing with voters of those precincts was shown two years ago in the vote he received as a candidate for the legislature. However, Mr. Garcia has not the same opponent now that he had then.

Eight on Sheriff Romero.

Sheriff Romero has been accused because of his policy in keeping the morals of Old Town. That, however, should satisfy both the "open town" advocates and those opposed to the "redoubt." Old Town has been both closed and open under Sheriff Romero. The sheriff's interference in city politics also has been subject to some censure. Republicans answered this with the statement that he is a taxpayer in the city. Nothing has been said of the conduct of the sheriff's office. The books have been under charge of Under Sheriff Dick Lewis, whose record not only passed the inspection of the traveling auditor but drew high praise from him.

At least one city voter was unable to make up his mind which of the two candidates for treasurer to support. He finally decided upon tossing a coin and letting it decide for him, he said.

ENTIRE REPUBLICAN TICKET WILL WALK, HUGHES STATES

That the entire republican ticket would be elected in Bernalillo county, was the declaration made last night by Thomas Hughes, republican county chairman. The party, he said, would win not only in the rural precincts but also in Albuquerque.

The republicans, said Mr. Hughes, also expect to win the contest for district attorney. Judge Craigh, their candidate, has made big gains in the last two days, according to Mr. Hughes. He has reports from McKinley county saying that Judge Craigh will carry that county. Mr. Hughes asserted.

Mr. Hughes gave out the following telegram which was sent by Theodore Roosevelt to the republican state committee in reply to the democratic advertisement saying that Mr. Roosevelt had not mentioned the republican electoral and gubernatorial candidates in his speech here.

"The statement by the democratic committee is, of course, wholly malicious and misleading. In my speeches everywhere, I have not spoken of the local candidates and I mentioned Judge Kibbey's name in Arizona only in connection with John Stanford. I am everywhere supporting the entire republican ticket and at Albuquerque I explicitly said that no man who valued the honor and the safety of the United States would vote for Mr. Wilson or any of his supporters."

COLORADO SKELETON CONSIDERABLY ANCIENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)

New York, Nov. 6.—The skeleton of the prehistoric animal about the size of a black bear and described as resembling a rodent, which, according to scientists, was in its heyday during the years 2,958,000 and 2,458,000 B. C., has been added to the collection of the American Museum of Natural History. It was announced tonight. The skeleton is the only complete one of its kind in the world, it was said. It was found in Colorado by an expedition of scientists headed by Walter Granger, associate curator of the department of vertebrate paleontology, after a twenty years' hunt. Fragmentary pieces of the prehistoric animal have been unearthed before and are in the Yale collection.

W. D. Mathew, curator of the department, said that Albert Thompson, in charge of the museum's expedition in Nebraska, had secured two specimens of the prehistoric animal. The animal has one toe on each foot.

FIRST SHOTS IN I.W.W. BATTLE FIRED FROM BOAT

Coroner's Jury Finds That Man Who Defied Sheriff Was Responsible for Beginning of Fight.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE)

Everett, Wash., Nov. 6.—Responsibility for the pitched battle between 250 members of the Industrial Workers of the World and a posse of 150 Everett citizens at the city dock yesterday, in which seven men lost their lives and fifty were wounded, was placed upon the man in the boat by the coroner's jury, which investigated the death of the two Everett citizens slain in the riot.

The jury, after brief deliberation, returned a verdict that Charles O. Curran, a seaman, who was instantly killed, and Deputy Sheriff Jefferson Beard, who died of his wounds early today, met death from gunshot wounds inflicted by a riotous mob on the steamer Verona at the city dock.

All but two of the witnesses called, testified that the first shots were fired from the steamer Verona, on which the invading industrial workers came from Seattle.

William H. Bridges, a deputy sheriff, testified concerning the conversation that passed between Sheriff McLean and the men on the boat before the shooting began. According to Bridges, the conversation between the sheriff and industrial workers was as follows:

All Are Leaders.

"Boys, I'd like to speak to the leader of the bunch. Who is your leader?" asked Sheriff McLean.

"We're all leaders," shouted the men on the Verona, in chorus.

"I want to tell you," McLean replied, "that you can't land in this town. You must stay on the boat and go back to Seattle. You must land here."

"The boys we can't," shouted the men standing in the bow of the boat of the boat.

"Then, according to Bridges, the man who uttered the last retort opened fire on the posse and the shooting became general."

Adolf Gerrell of Spokane, University of Washington student, who was visiting here, Harry B. Blackburn, a night watchman, and Elmer Buchner, all of whom were members of the citizens committee, were in a critical condition from the wounds they received during the fighting.

All of the other injured here will recover.

MAKE EFFORTS TO SECURE FRANK P. WALSH FOR DEFENSE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Efforts to induce Frank P. Walsh, former chairman of the federal industrial relations committee, to take charge of the defense of the Industrial Workers of the World in jail here in connection with the riot at Everett are being made by William D. Haywood, general secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, according to a telegram received today from Mr. Haywood, who is in Chicago.

The telegram, sent by Mr. Haywood to Herbert Mahler, local secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, follows:

"My heartfelt sympathy goes out to the members of the Seattle local in this tragic hour, and to the families of the men who have given up their lives in the cause of free speech. Our judgment must govern the action of the members. Have a good watch and loose Arthur Lewis, president of the People's college. Will issue appeal at once."

CHARGE OF MURDER FOR I. W. W. SAYS ATTORNEY

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Announcement by Prosecuting Attorney O. T. Webb of Snohomish county that charges of murder would be filed against all members of the Industrial Workers of the World who could be identified as having participated in the gun fight at Everett, Wash., marked today's developments in Seattle in the aftermath of the riot at Everett yesterday in which seven men were killed and fifty wounded.

The refusal of Judge King yesterday in the superior court here to release on writ of habeas corpus three women held in jail in connection with the riot, and the statement of Herbert Mahler, secretary-treasurer of the Industrial Workers, that his organization would seek to prosecute members of the Everett citizen committee on murder charges, were other incidents of the shooting aftermath that focused public attention.

Prosecuting Attorney Webb of Snohomish county tonight sought legal aid to Seattle today for attempted identification of the men who actually fired upon the Everett posse, but none of the witnesses were able to make positive identification. Other witnesses will be brought here for that purpose.

Adjutant General Maurice Thompson of the Washington national guard tonight dismissed from duty ten national guardsmen who had been held ready for emergency at the armories in Seattle, Everett and Snohomish. General Thompson said the Everett authorities had full control of the situation there, and no further need of keeping the guardsmen under arms.

Money from various I. W. W. locals is being received here for the defense of the men under arrest, several hundred dollars having been telegraphed from Portland, Spokane, Los Angeles and other cities today.

Arrangements are being made by the local Industrial Workers to con-

MARK YOUR BALLOTS RIGHT WHEN VOTING FOR COMMISSIONERS

There is a misunderstanding abroad as to the manner in which county commissioners can be voted for. Some voters, for instance, have an idea that they can pick out one man on the republican ticket and vote for them. This can be done if the men are not from the same district, but if they are, a ballot so cast would be thrown out. In other words a voter is entitled to vote for one man from each of the three districts but he cannot vote for two men from the same district.

For instance, if a voter wants to vote for both John S. Heaven and Alfred Grunfeld, both from the Third district, and a ballot was placed over the names of one of the other candidates, the vote would not be counted. Commissioners are nominated from the First, Second and Third districts, and should be voted for from the districts so named.

Voters should bear this in mind today and see that their ballots are properly marked.

SEE ALICE BRADY IN A GREAT PLAY AT LYRIC TODAY ONLY

The Broadway success "Bought and Paid For" has been converted into a mammoth motion picture feature by the World pictures. Brady made. The popular little actress Alice Brady, has been entrusted with the star part and has built up a character which will not easily be forgotten. Although the main plot of the story is a very serious one, the comedy vein which runs throughout is a big and exceedingly humorous one. The situations which arise are all true to life and might occur in your own family. For instance:

Robert Stafford, a self-made millionaire, spends many evenings with the "boys," a good fellow as in his bachelor days, returning home debauched from drink and carousing. On these occasions, Virginia's sensitive nature rises in revolt and she takes the British, passionate man whom she can scarcely recognize as the husband of these first happy days.

Would you like to be in this young girl's position? It is very doubtful if any girl would be willing to "bunge" places with her if they first witnessed what she had to go through. This latest first-class World picture will be at the Lyric theater today only and should play to a capacity audience.

ELECTION RETURNS WILL BE ANNOUNCED AT SEVERAL PLACES

Election returns will be received tonight at several places—the Y. M. C. A., White Elephant bar, Wright clothing company's store, the Commercial club and the republican headquarters. The Postal Telegraph company has run a wire to the republican headquarters, 219-225 West Gold avenue. Over this the club will receive national and state returns. The club also has made arrangements for obtaining complete returns on the Bernalillo county election, having made provision for the telephoning of results from the rural precincts.

Persons may hear how the county, state or county is going at those places with the same comfort that they would receive them at their homes. Chairs will be provided for them.

WILSON NEEDS NEW MEXICO'S VOTE; NEW MEXICO NEEDS WILSON

This, the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, is the crucial day in American politics. A new government for the United States is to be selected by the votes of the people who are sovereign in this nation.

Nationally, the contest is between Woodrow Wilson and Charles Evans Hughes. Personally no charge can be made against the honesty or the ability of either man. Each is an exponent of clean methods in politics, each is patriotic, each is an able man. Wilson was raised a democrat and Hughes was brought up in the republican faith. The first public experience of Wilson was as governor of New Jersey and the first public experience of Hughes was as governor of New York.

From the governorship of New Jersey Wilson went to the White House as president of the United States. From the governorship of New York Hughes went upon the bench of the greatest judicial tribunal in the world.

The work of Wilson, for the past three and a half years has had to do with domestic government and the relations of this nation to other governments. In this he has made a notable, a glittering success. He has had three years of intense experience.

During the six years preceding the Chicago convention, Hughes had been devoting his time to hearing and reading briefs and to investigating law books and reading opinions of courts in a search for precedents. This work, while vitally important to the country, had in it little of training for the duties of chief executive of the nation. His work as associate justice of the supreme court was more detrimental than preparatory for the duties of a president. This fact was shown by the manner in which Mr. Hughes floundered in his speech of acceptance and misread and floundered during the first month of his tour of the country. It is only during the last two weeks that he has actually been "hitting the ball" with any degree of success.

Not so with Woodrow Wilson. He knew his subject from the beginning and discussed every phase of the campaign with a precision and clarity that confused his critics and strengthened the confidence of his friends. There was no floundering with him. He spoke at all times with the confidence of one having authority. He never faltered to make a blunder with every shot.

It is difficult to see how any person other than a hidebound partisan can do other than vote for Woodrow Wilson. His election means safety and sanity and assured prosperity for the whole country. No one knows what will result should Hughes win. If all of the stealing that ever has been done in the history of the government should be done now, it would not interfere with the continued prosperity of the nation. But the vicious law placed upon the statute books might plunge the country into financial disaster or into war with all of its horrors of bloodshed and material waste and its burden of future debt.

Safety lies in the election of Woodrow Wilson, not because Woodrow Wilson is a democrat, but because Woodrow Wilson is a far-sighted statesman of experience who knows the problems which confront us and has the ability to meet them as they should be met. He may need New Mexico's vote, and should have it, whether he needs it or not, because New Mexico needs Woodrow Wilson.

Let it be noted that no one has charged that President Wilson was responsible for the assassination of the Austrian premier.

THE CUBAN ELECTION.

Cuba has just had a presidential election in which there was practically no disorder. Since Cuba became a republic under the overlordship of the United States, the people have made rapid strides in the art of self-government.

It is not that the Cubans are less excitable than other Latin-Americans; but they have no revolutions because they know their revolutionists will not be permitted to succeed. Written in their constitution is an agreement that the United States has the right to land forces on the island at any time for the preservation of order. Many of them do not like it but they have no way of helping themselves except by preserving an orderly government.

Cuba today is one of the richest countries in the world and one of the most prosperous. Within the past few years millions have been spent for the construction of public roads, for the deepening of harbors and for the maintenance of public schools. The people are getting a new thought, a better idea of the relations of the individual to the government, and men are to the fore as public things to be honestly and efficiently administered. The man on a sugar or tobacco plantation is no longer a peon. He doesn't take orders from the man who employs him and he doesn't attach him to a local leadership, as in Mexico.

Bull fighting has been abolished and cock fighting is strictly prohibited. Gambling is under the ban of a rigidly enforced law, and the big tracks of land are being cut up for the benefit of the small farmers who cultivate them under the superintendency of a progressive agricultural department. Taxes are largely paid by import duties and license fees and excise taxes.

Cuba, like Argentina, is an exemplification of what the Latin-American can do in the way of self-government when they know they can not be allowed to have government by revolution. Haiti, Santo Domingo and Nicaragua are now undergoing something of the same sort of training that Uncle Sam imposed upon Cuba more than a dozen years ago.

Can any republican scratch put a sticker on his ballot to better advantage than over the name of Gregory Page?

GIVE IT A SOCKDOLIGER.

Vincent Jones loves the memory of his mother. He stands by his father and deeply resents the political piracy which would drag forth an incident of long ago and parade it before the public for the purpose of influencing votes.

The publication of the filthy circular was not in the interest of public decency. Its purpose was to place in power an unscrupulous machine which hesitates at nothing, however despicable, to accomplish its ends.

The voters of New Mexico can not do other than resent deeply this method of conducting a campaign, and the only way they have of expressing their resentment is by voting for A. A. Jones for United States senator. In that way alone they can register the disapproval they must feel. Let this election teach a lesson which will be heeded in all future campaigns. Should Frank A. Hubbell win we may expect campaigns of the future to be conducted by scavenger methods, and the fouler the charges, whether true or false, the better chances for success at the polls. Let us have an end of such things, once for all.

It is predicted that the women of Illinois will show themselves better qualified for the ballot than the men.

This is one campaign in which the columnist refrained from saying he was having a "perfectly corking time."

None of us has much confidence in a straw vote, but all of us like to see the straw blowing our way.

If La Follette can swing Wisconsin for Wilson this year he is a "bigger man than Grant."

Excuse the bromidium, but we shall be wiser tomorrow morning than we are this morning.

The "silent vote" will do some pretty loud talking today.

Do you know what Hughes would have done?

Now is your chance to swat the machine.

AMERICAN VOICES ARE BAD.

(Youth's Companion.)

We must admit, although with shame, that foreign observers who observe our bursters in Europe, are right in declaring the American voice to be the worst in the world. Hearing it all the time, we Americans do not know how bad it is. The chief offenders are not the newsboys and street criers who shout in our ears, but the common run of people—men and women, boys and girls of education and social advantages, as well as those who lack both.

We offend, not in our loud talking only, but in ordinary conversation. Our voices are harsh, our tones nasal. It is enough to state the fact. Anyone can verify it whose ears can distinguish between sounds that are pleasant and musical and those that are harsh and discordant.

It is easy to understand why an English girl's voice is melodious and rich, whereas that of an American girl is usually not so. Each American in childhood the quality of voice that she hears every day. Our voices are

WILL IT BE THE ELEPHANT OR THE DONKEY?

I've had my say. It's up to you voters to do the rest. I worked hard for months on the New York Herald's political poll from one end of the country to the other to give you a correct idea of whom the average voter intended to support, and I stand upon my record. It's up to you to say whether it shall be the elephant or the donkey. I thank you.

What they are because they are like those of our fathers, our mothers and our neighbors.

The facts point the way to the remedy. If we wish to improve the voices of Americans of the next generation we must first train the teachers, for some of the most offensive sharp and penetrating voices are those of "schoolmarm." The work should be undertaken at once. It would be a good rule, if it were practicable, for school boards to refuse positions to all candidates whose voices are disagreeably harsh and nasal. Probably reason that the ears of the members of school boards are not sensitive enough to apply the test, and the number of candidates who can meet the requirements.

OLDEST TRAVELING SALESMAN

(American Magazine.)

James Fulton of Des Moines, Iowa, has held down his job for seventy years, and today the 83 year old veteran continues to "look after his trade" with all of the energy and all of the success that has characterized his work to his younger days.

Mr. Fulton gained his title several years ago in a contest conducted by an eastern publication designed of locating the country's oldest traveling man. For a time it seemed as though some of the seventy year veterans would carry off the honor, but the aged traveler finally was convinced that he ought to throw his hat in the ring.

When he started on the road, seventy-two years ago, there was no such individual as a "traveling salesman." "People just rode on horseback and sold goods."

He has been on the road since 1845, has served three wars and sold 67,000 windmills.

HOW THE ARGENTINES REGARD US

(Boston Transcript.)

Frederick J. Stimson, United States ambassador to Argentina, in an address before the Doolittle Business Men's association, gave his views as to the radical changes which Americans must make in their attitude toward the Argentine.

"The first great fact of equal or greater consequence is one which is also not sufficiently realized to North Americans—that is to say, the Argentine people are entirely white, of what we call Caucasian or European race, and speaking the Spanish language."

"The third great fact is that it is almost entirely an agricultural or grazing country as yet. They produce the necessities of life—what we call their prime materials, meat, hides, wool, lumber, wheat and other foodstuffs. They have already far outstripped the United States in the exportation of meat. On the other hand, they have no coal and are like all new countries, short of labor. They are to say, industrial or skilled labor."

"Fourth, and the fourth cardinal point I beg you to learn, Argentina is to be really realized with us that they come of the old civilization, of a very old culture. They value learning and manners even more than we do here. Their oldest university, Cordova, is 20 years older than our oldest, Harvard, and their government is made up in the main of highly educated men, nearly always learned in constitutional law, international law, political and social history, if not industrial science."

"Find that their governing classes, their leading people in the great cities, are rather fond to look upon us as a rude people, efficient in some ways, but not yet wholly civilized. When with us a 'molestation' of great wealth has led to the ruin of his home, he is more likely to put it into personal pleasure, steam yacht or sport of one kind or another, than Argentina, who perhaps build a beautiful home, but in it he will have the finest library in the city, and he is quite as likely to devote his time to the honors of learning, to becoming a member of learned societies, to writing or to making himself a name throughout the world, as we are to gambling or horse racing, although horse racing is a national sport. For Latin civilization is more than 2,000 years old. Anglo-Saxon can not boast the half so much, and in these things, as in the customs and refinements of life, in social manners, it tells. The lack of manners, despite our courtesy to women and general kindness, is certainly what impresses the foreigners of Latin race as the most noticeable thing among our people, a lack of manners denoting not refinement, but indifference, hurry and a false notion of the proper bearing of a democrat."

"The first thing to be remembered by the American business man going down there is this: If you desire some concession, some license, some charter, or some business contract, you should first treat your correspondent or the functionary with whom you have to deal, as a human being, as a gentleman, not a trader putting pretty much everything in life above the mere material things. You should be interested in his family. You should ask after his children when you meet. You should go home with him, to the river, or to see his estancia. In short, you should behave for a few days as if you were having a pleasant time with a friend. If at the end of that time you come to the point of your time, you will find it is already done. If not conceded, it never will be. You have done your best. The decision will have been made largely on your own personality, on the confidence reposed in you. Instantly, your business will have been done without your knowing it, but if you can not spare the time to do this, then do not try to do business in South America."

PRECAUTIONS AGAINST MEXICAN U-BOAT BASE

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Washington, Nov. 6.—The American government has informed the defense government that precautions should be taken to prevent any violation of Mexico's neutrality by operation of intelligent submarines within its territorial waters or the establishment of a submarine base on the Mexican coast. The information was conveyed, a state department official said today, in a wholly friendly spirit and not at the suggestion of any of the entente powers.

State department officials realized that if Germany began a widespread campaign of commerce raiding, as was believed possible at the time the submarine U-23 attacked allied shipping off the New England coast it might be extended to Mexico.

The great oil fields there, the principal source of fuel oil for British war vessels, it was thought, might attract German submarines for the purpose of destroying tank steamers carrying oil to enemy warships.

COMPLETE DETAILS FOR GUARDSMEN VOTE

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

El Paso, Nov. 6.—All details have been completed in national guard camps in this division for taking the vote of the guardsmen tomorrow. In the Pennsylvania division camp, election commissioners have arranged for the soldiers to vote under their supervision. Each company has selected its own election officers and ballots will be distributed tomorrow morning by the commissioners. The ballots have been collected after the soldiers have voted and will be taken back to Harrisburg.

A similar arrangement has been made in the Massachusetts and Connecticut camps here and at the Delaware camp at Deming, N. M.

LIVING'S HIGH COST TO BE INVESTIGATED

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Nov. 6.—An order for an immediate and thorough investigation of the high cost of living was received here today by H. G. Clabaugh, head of the local bureau of investigation of the department of justice, from United States Attorney General Thomas W. Gregory.

Similar orders, Mr. Clabaugh said, have been sent to other bureaus throughout the country. They mention specifically the cost of milk, wheat, canned goods, foodstuffs and coal. Twenty investigators will be sent to work here next Wednesday.

OVER 8,000 MEN QUALIFIED FOR ARMY OFFICERS

Hundreds of Local Militia and Plattsburg Graduates in Greater New York Already Have Commissions.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

New York, Nov. 6.—That over two thousand men in Greater New York are now qualified to act as army officers in case of a call to arms, was announced here today by military experts who have just measured the results of the professional program of the last two years. Hundreds of local militia and Plattsburg graduates are already commissioned in the officers reserve corps of the regular army, while hundreds more are ready to take commissions as volunteers in the volunteer army is ever asked for warfare. Before two more years are passed, the military authorities hope to have in this city alone fully five thousand trained men, who may be placed in important positions in army or navy mobilization.

Amateurs Active. Thousands of professional, business and social workers who never before entered active political work have this fall been flung into the thick of campaigning, according to the records of the party headquarters that are just being closed up here this week. Professional spellbinders and experienced orators have been set aside by both parties for blunt business men who talked plain facts and figures, doctors, lawyers and engineers, who had become ardently interested in one cause or another, and teachers or philanthropic workers, to whom different doctrines of the various parties appealed. Veteran political observers declare that no national campaign ever brought out the varieties of active support that this has shown, and that it is probable that no future fight will ever elicit as widespread and diversified an interest.

Crowding Churches. Claiming to have increased the Protestant church attendance in this city by fully twenty-five per cent last Sunday, the organizers of the Go-to-Church-Sunday movement here are now hopeful of eventually raising the new-filing agencies of local congregation membership to nearly their normal percentage in the last generation. Although golf clubs, gunnages and game trails were not altogether depopulated by this record church-going performance, the Sunday sports, that have begun to monopolize the time of the average man hereabouts, were a bit slow up to noon of this Sabbath. If the vigorous engineers of this back-to-the-church drive can restore the congregations that used to crowd the churches here almost every Sunday, New Yorkers believe they will be working wonders.

Timepiece Thieving.

That four millions of dollars worth of watches and clocks within this year be shipped abroad by Americans, was calculated here today by experts in the timepiece trade, who declare that war conditions have helped rather than hindered their business. Since foreign hostilities started and cut off all German chronometric exports from Canada and the country of the allies, some three millions have been added to the value of the American exports in this line heretofore sent to the out-

An Old Savin' of Mother's

John D. Wells

The older that a body gets
The better, seems 't me.
He recolects the folks an' jokes
An' things that used 't be.
Like other night, whilst settin' there
An' rumple through the years.
As drifts on the back'ards way,
I was, I heard my mother say:
"Go wash yer neck an' ears!"

It took me back fer forty years,
An' 't's a boy again.
With same dislike fer water that
Was natural to me then.
I seemed 't feel my spirit rise,
An' feel my boyish tears.
A-rollin' down in same of way,
Like when my mother used 't say:
"Go wash yer neck an' ears!"

Clean neck an' ears, you recolect,
Was part of high disgrace—
Tears an' wash an' wash 'cept
Perhaps a body's face!
We used 't think that mas was made
To add to boyish keers.
An' stand around in bossin' way,
When boys was tired, an' say:
"Go wash yer neck an' ears!"

An' yit I'll warrant that tonight
You'd like 't go to bed
In same of room, with locust bloom
A-droppin' overhead
On shingle roof, an' hold yer breath
With all yer boyish fears.
An' hear yer mother softly creep
Upstairs an' ask 't "Gone to Sleep?"
Did 't wash yer neck an' ears?"

"Farmers from ten villages were present. I guess they know a real poet!—you can't fool 'em with fellows like Le Gallienne, who sing of Spring—and have Fall crops a-bloom in June.

"The Ladies' Auxiliary gave a supper in his honor.

"Cy Rosen introduced the guest of the evening with some attempted humor. Said: 'John D. Rockefeller has a Billion and lives on soft-boiled eggs and soup an' John D. Wells is a Democrat who can't vote for Wilson.'"

"Then John D. read aloud to the 'Go Ask Your Maw—O' Doe Fallin'—The Man Who Used To Know You When You Didn't Have a Cent—Go Wash Your Neck and Ears—Shadders—Fiddin' Rault—and so on for two hours to plain folks who understood every word, who just wanted more—and more. When twas over they climbed up to him and loved him.

"John D. Wells has a tremendous following now, a larger following probably than had Riley when he contributed to the Indianapolis paper. And among real Americans—those who work for a living! I have no doubt that within a year or so Wells will be discovered by the Literati, when it won't really matter and when he won't care a whooperup!

"Yes, I think Wells will take 'Jim' Riley's place in the Hearts of American People. He writes that kind of Poetry we all agree is 'rotten!'—but like we would Riley's stuff was 'rotten!'—and then we go and read it and cry over it!"

Paderewski Asks President to Include in Proclamation Appeal for Relief for War Sufferers.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL STAFF WRITER)
Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 6.—President Wilson was asked today to include in his Thanksgiving day proclamation an appeal to the people of the United States to give aid to European war sufferers. The appeal was made by Ignace Paderewski, the pianist, and a delegation representing organizations interested in relief work in Russia, Armenia, Syria and other countries.

The committee gave to the president a petition in which it was stated that "the gifts of the American people, while generous and constant, are still incommensurate to meet the demands of our brethren in distress, which are constantly increasing, and it should be frankly admitted, are as yet by no means proportionate to our resources and are not an adequate expression of national unselfishness."

Probably Will Be Granted.

The committee left Shadow Lawn under the impression that their request would be granted and that the president already had something of the kind in mind.

Charles S. McFarland, general secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, and Mr. Paderewski also presented to Mr. Wilson a memorial urging the president to continue his efforts to relieve suffering in Poland. The memorial was signed by Cardinal Farley and Rabbi Joseph Silverman of New York, and other men representing the Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish faiths. Mention was made of the failure of efforts of the president to bring about an engagement among European powers to get food into Poland.

For Polish Relief.

Mr. Paderewski also suggested to the president that a day be set aside on which American may give money for Polish relief. One such day already has been designated.

Commenting on the action of the central powers in proclaiming a new and independent kingdom in Poland, Mr. Paderewski said:

"It will only add to the suffering of my people."

president for urging and signing the child labor law.

"If we shall fall in this fight, the light and the spirit of freedom goes out from over our entire country for not less than two decades, what shall we expect, into which quarter shall we look, if we fall to stand behind the man who has done so much? Where? Who? I know of no place and no one the opportunity for progressive, constructive, forward looking legislation will be blocked and the reaction set in."

"I'm not a member of the democratic party. I never belonged as a member to the democratic party. I once was a republican, but I haven't worked at it regularly. My vote has been a protesting vote, until the democratic party adopted the platform of principles that the American Federation of Labor presented, and carried out that platform to the fullest extent, except that there is some legislation unfinished. Very little of it, but it is coming."

Not Politically Financed.

"Our work is neither financial nor bought by any political party. The expenses of coming from Washington to New York are borne by the American Federation of Labor. There isn't anybody who comes to our aid. We work to stand by our friends and give a stinging rebuke to our enemies. That is all."

"All the attacks and the abuse are not going to harm us. We are going to stand true to the faith that is in us."

"I have been charged with declaring that I will deliver the labor vote. No one has come forth to prove it. No one can. I can deliver no man's vote. I have neither promised nor declared to any one or to any group that I would or could. I have but one vote to give and that is my own vote, and on the coming Tuesday I shall record it as my duty and as my obligation as a man and a citizen dictate."

Her Son Subject to Croup.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mother, never fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them, 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

H. O. BURSUM INNOCENT,
SAYS NOTED ATTORNEY

Letter From the Late Harry M. Dougherty to Dr. J. M. Cunningham, of Las Vegas, Exculpates Candidates.

The falsity of the charges made against H. O. Bursum with reference to his suit against the territory of New Mexico is clearly shown in a letter written five years ago by Hon. H. M. Dougherty, at that time the most prominent democratic attorney in New Mexico, to Dr. J. M. Cunningham. As the letter mentioned is a portion of private correspondence Dr. Cunningham has never given it publicity until the present time, and does so now in response to a request made to do by the widow of the late H. M. Dougherty above mentioned.

The letter is as follows:

Socorro, N. M., Oct. 12, 1911.
Dr. J. M. Cunningham,
Las Vegas, N. M.

My Dear Doctor:—I am in receipt of your recent letter in which you suggest that as I am acquainted with all the facts in the case which was prosecuted by Mr. H. O. Bursum against the territory in the matter of the adjustment of his accounts growing out of his wardenship of the penitentiary, that as a matter of common fairness I should, either in a public speech or an open letter, answer the unfair and unfounded charges which are being circulated. You are correct in assuming that I am familiar with the facts as I acted as his attorney in the prosecution of the suit and I personally know that the charges which have been brought against him are not only unfair and unfounded, but are absolutely false.

My natural impulse is to comply with your request and had this matter arisen at any other time than in the midst of a political campaign, I would feel it not only my right but my duty to do so. However, for me to attempt to do so now would be misinterpreted and misunderstood. As you know, I am a democrat, not because of the personnel of either the democratic or republican tickets, but because I believe in democratic principles, and being a democrat, an open letter from me would be interpreted as an announcement of my support of the republican ticket and place me in a false position. If the political aspects of this case were severed I would court the opportunity to openly meet in a free discussion any party or parties who are sponsors for the charges and show their absolute falsity.

I cannot use language sufficiently strong to express my contempt of the methods used by these parties to seek to blacken the character of Mr. Bursum, when they know, or should know, that the charges which they are bringing are without any foundation whatsoever. Of course they probably can impose on persons who do not know the facts, but should they succeed it is not only unfair, but it is absolutely dishonest. I do not know if you are familiar with the exact history of the transaction and for your own information I will briefly recount the facts, the part of which are within my personal knowledge.

Statements were made in the newspapers showing that Mr. Bursum was a defaulter to the amount of something like $50,000, growing out of his conducting the penitentiary. These figures seem to have been given out from information which had been obtained by ex-Governor Hagerman, an accountant whom he had brought into the territory from Colorado Springs. A demand was made on Mr. Bursum for the repayment of certain sums of money alleged to be due the territory and the demands were couched in language which would indicate that if the payments were not at once met, that suit would be brought against Mr. Bursum and his bondsmen.

Mr. Bursum was then chairman of the republican central committee and in the midst of conducting a campaign. When he consulted me about the matter, and after having gone over his affairs and not arriving at the conclusion that he did not owe this money, but on the contrary, that upon settlement with the territory, that an amount would be shown to be due, I advised him not to comply with the demand. However, Mr. Bursum said that if it was a matter which affected him alone, he would follow my advice, but if he failed to meet any demand, that Hagerman would cause suit to be instituted and it would be circulated over the territory that the chairman of the republican central committee and his bondsmen were being sued for a shortage.

The suit could not be determined before the election and that the result would or might be disastrous to the welfare of the republican party, so he took the broader ground that although he knew the demand was absolutely unjust, that he would meet and pay into the treasury, under protest, any and all amounts which might be demanded of him, and to that end he requested that I go to Santa Fe, consult with the attorney general, and find out from him the exact amount he insisted should be paid in. This I did, and it resulted in the attorney general finally determining that there was something like between two and three thousand dollars on which he would insist upon payment.

I paid this in, on behalf of Mr. Bursum, took a receipt that the same was paid under protest, with the statement and with the idea in view of finally determining and adjusting the accounts through the courts of the territory, of course, as you know, a great deal of talk was made throughout the territory that Mr. Bursum was short in his accounts, and the payment which he had made under protest. The territory could not be sued, nor could an accounting be had without its consent. A general bill was passed by the legislature, which was a good measure, that where there was any dispute between public officers and the territory, that either the territory or the officer concerned could bring suit in the courts of the territory and have the same adjusted. The bill was a general bill which would have been a continuous one, but objection, as I have been informed, was raised by the attorney general, and the bill was confined to one year after its passage. This limitation was not at the solicitation of Mr. Bursum. The bill was passed and permitted to become a law by Governor Hagerman by limitation.

Immediately upon the passage of the measure, Mr. Bursum filed suit to have his accounts adjusted for the last term of his administration of the penitentiary, as it was understood that the charges were growing out of that term. However, the territory came in and requested that the two preceding terms be also adjusted in the same suit. Of course the statute of limitations had long since run upon the prior terms, but Mr. Bursum did not desire to stand upon any technicality whatsoever, and we immediately joined in the request that Mr. Bursum's accounts be adjusted from the first day he entered office until the day that he left. Suit was filed in the then Third judicial district, Judge Frank W. Parker being the presiding judge, and without any suggestion whatsoever on my part, Judge Parker determined that the proper person to audit the accounts would be the traveling auditor, Mr. Safford, who was also an appointee of Governor Hagerman; thereupon, he was duly appointed referee.

Mr. Safford proceeded to examine and audit the accounts of Mr. Bursum from the beginning to the end. He had before him all of the books and all of the papers of the original entry. The charge has been made that books were missing. This is not true, as will be shown by the report of Mr. Safford, and as will be further shown by the finding of the court which is entered into and made a part of the judgment. The only book which was missing was a ledger known as the petty ledger, which was not a book of original entry, and the contents of which had been transferred into another book. However, all of the entries from which this book was made was before the referee, and as I have stated, not a book of original entry was missing. Mr. Safford went very exhaustively into the matter, not only auditing the books, but he caused to appear before him witnesses from all over the territory, growing out of any alleged shortage, to determine the exact condition.

During the course of his investigation the party from Colorado Springs who had made the original report happened to be in Santa Fe. Mr. Safford called his attention to the fact that there were grave discrepancies between the report that he had made and the facts as he (Safford) had found them, and requested the party to appear before him for the purpose of reconciling, if possible, these discrepancies; however, this party from Colorado Springs refused to do so. Mr. Safford then subpoenaed him as a witness before him, and he refused to testify.

After complete auditing of the books and taking of testimony, the report of the referee was filed with the court and a day fixed for hearing and an open hearing was had with counsel representing the territory representing the United States, and Mr. Bursum, at Silver City, and upon the hearing it was found by the court that instead of Mr. Bursum being indebted to the territory, that the territory was indebted to Mr. Bursum. The report of the referee, the books, papers and entries, are all a matter of public record, open for the inspection of anyone, and if any person will take the trouble they will find that the charge that Mr. Bursum destroyed any books is false; that any books of original entry were missing is false, and that all of the charges brought against Mr. Bursum have been fully and completely met and disproven by the records which are now filed in the courts.

It also appeared that the district attorney, appointed by Governor Hagerman to succeed Mr. Abbott, also examined the report of Mr. Safford and came out in an open letter in which he, the district attorney so appointed by Governor Hagerman, said that "after an examination of the accounts, the items which he thought showed a shortage of Mr. Bursum had been fully accounted for and explained by the report of Mr. Safford." There was but one place where Mr. Bursum could have these charges publicly and fully determined, where both parties could be represented and an adjudication had thereon, and that was in the courts of this territory. This he has done and this is all that any man can do.

The above facts have been hastily given by me, but you will find upon the slightest investigation that they are all borne out with record evidence, and I can see no reason why the record should not be examined and a proper statement made to some one showing the exact facts. However, this letter is for your own information and not for publication. I am, very sincerely,

H. M. DOUGHERTY.

Gompers Discusses Hughes' Record Regarding Legislation and Judicial Decisions.

GOMPERS FOR WILSON.
President of Western Federation of Labor says:
"I record it the duty of every liberty loving citizen to do like-wise. Each should exercise his own judgment and make his own choice, but not vote on Tuesday morning will be cast for Woods and Wilson."

New York Nov. 6.—In speech before a large labor gathering at the Hippodrome this afternoon, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared that the bill creating the federal department of labor, with a secretary in the president's cabinet, was almost unanimously passed in the closing hours of his administration to three republican senators. "If we lose them, now you will be out of office, but unless you vote that bill, we shall be subjected to the hands of every man, politician and democrat."

Continuing, Mr. Gompers told of pulling a monkey as submitted to him.
