WELL - WHAT DO YOU

Chicago, Nov. 22.—Authoritative announcement that legislation for an embargo on foodstuffs would have substantial backing in congress did a good deal to rally the market. The Seal today to notify a sharp new advance in the price of wheat. After a decline in some cases as much as 4% (wheat) the market turned weak and closed unsettled at net gains of 1/4 to 1/2 with December at $1.85 1/4 @ 1/4.

EDNA GOODRICH IN BEAUTIFUL PLAY AT LYRIC THEATRE

In the story of "The Making of Maddalena," the Moroso-Paramount photoplay coming to the Lyric theatre today and tomorrow, George Hale is influenced to start an art career in Rome.

He does this to win the admiration of the girl he loves.
Being of a care-free, happy disposition, he dabbles with his work. Yet he feels wronged when he receives his letter confessing her love for and acceptance of another.

That policy which always finds some mischief for an idea to do starts the trouble. George Hale's now reckless fancy attracts and awakens the emotions of the beautiful Italian model.

Miss Goodrich, as "Maddalena," the model, portrays the part with wonderful comprehension. She acts this, not as an actress possessing great emotional powers, but as would act a humble-born Italian girl of ready sympathies and ambitious desires.

The evident fascination of doing that which ought not to be done leads George Hale into an indiscreet marriage. This marriage works a great and almost fatal havoc in many lives.
This is well told by the acting of the strong cast, including besides Edna Goodrich, Forrest Stanley, Juan de la Cruz, Howard Hayes John Burton, Mary Mersck and Colin Chase.

MORA SAYS HE'S NOT GUILTY OF ROBBERY OF WRIGHT'S STORE

Jesus Mora, who gave the police the names of two Mexicans, saying they had robbed Wright's trading post, yesterday pleaded not guilty to the charge of burglary. Justice Mc-Callister committed him to the county jail to await examination.

Mora was arrested in El Paso by Special Agent George H. Thomas of the Santa Fe railway and brought to Albuquerque by him. Mora made a statement to the police shortly after his arrival, saying that two Mexicans had robbed the trading post. The police are making an effort to catch them.

Mora said, according to the police, that the other two sold the stuff at a second hand store in El Paso and at a curio store in Juarez. The El Paso police were asked to recover it.
The police here had received no word last night that the El Paso police were successful. Charles A. Wright went to El Paso to make an effort to find the jewelry.

Jose Hernandez, who was arrested at 721 East street, said on two stolen blankets, said Mora was the man who sold him the blankets. Mora said the others had given him part of the "loot." Hernandez was held as a witness.

TRAIN IS HELD FOR SENATOR W. A. CLARK'S SPECIAL FROM ARIZONA

Santa Fe train No. 2 was held here two hours and forty-five minutes yesterday afternoon for a special train, hurrying former Senator W. A. Clark of Montana, eastward from his clinic in southern Arizona.

The special train reached Albuquerque at 5 o'clock. Senator Clark's special car was quickly placed on No. 2 and the train left at 5:05 o'clock.
While No. 2 has a fast schedule, it was said that the train would reach Chicago on time, providing there were no further delays.

No. 2 was held an hour at Ash Park, Ariz., waiting for Senator Clark's special. At the end of the hour No. 2 continued on its way to Albuquerque. The train made up the lost hour and arrived here on time, at 2:15 o'clock.

Senator Clark was said to be anxious to reach New York quickly, possibly because of a pending business deal.

RICHARD MORRIS BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY

Richard Morris, charged with taking a "workman's clothes from a bank car, pleaded guilty yesterday, before Justice McCallister, to the charge of larceny. He was held to await the action of the grand jury.

Morris was arrested at La Junta, Colo., at the direction of Station Master J. E. Sinclair. He was brought to Albuquerque yesterday morning. Sinclair said he sent the clothes to Kansas City. He said they would be returned. Morris had been employed by the Santa Fe.

WILSON DISCHARGED AT HIS PRELIMINARY HEARING BY JUSTICE

The charge of assault with intent to kill against Robert Wilson was dismissed yesterday by Justice W. W.
McCallister at the close of his preliminary hearing. The hearing was begun Tuesday afternoon and finished yesterday.

The charge was based on the wounding of Dewey Matlock while he was struggling with Wilson for the possession of a revolver. The wound was superficial.

MAE MARSH IS STAR IN "THE LITTLE LIAR" NOW AT THE PASTIME

That psychology is playing a large part in the modern moving picture is well illustrated in the new Triangle-Fine Arts play, "The Little Liar," starring Mae Marsh and Robert Herron.

Miss Marsh as Maggie, the little dreamer of dreams, who in the meanest environment is able to imagine herself a different person, in luxurious surroundings, vividly typifies a versal character—the romantic child.
The camera, coming to be recognized as the visualizer of emotions, transforms the girl from the ragged, poorly dressed slum dweller to a gayly-gowned creature in a charmingly appointed boudoir surrounded by her hand-maiden intent on supplying her every desire—and this is done to convey the thoughts of Maggie, "The Little Liar."

How parents sometimes misunderstand their children is pathetically emplified in the picture, when Maggie is considered thoroughly bad because she insists on telling her dreams aloud to her friends and companions.

It is doubtful if Mae Marsh has ever had a picture in which there is more chance for her to display her peculiar gift for conveying her thoughts to the audience than in "The Little Liar." Miss Marsh's facial expression has contributed largely to her success on the screen, and in her portrayal of "The Little Liar" the young screen star is able to characterize Margaret particularly well because her own imagination is unusually keen.

The story of the new play is an exceptionally clever one and from a psychological standpoint is one of the strongest ever produced at the Fine Arts studio.

From beginning to end the incidents are subordinate to the thoughts underlying them, and, while the picture has many high lights and artistic effects, yet it is peculiarly a mental study of the soul and heart of a young girl.

To be seen at the Pastime theater today and tomorrow.
