All these things were extremely difficult and during the German occupation the paper was in the shadow of the knife as so many different times. A large number of the people and the work in the paper have not been interrupted and the idea of liberation, which was the economic system, has been made possible a great deal.

ENORMOUS LOSS HAS BEEN CAUSED TO NORWEGIANS

With Third Largest Merchant
Marine in World Shipping of Nation, Has Been Damaged Irreparably by War

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Oslo, Nov. 26.—The third largest merchant marine in the world, has suffered an enormous loss. Up to date the loss of Norwegian ships has amounted to 1,200,000 tons, and the loss of life to 1,200 men. The loss of the "Lofoten" steamer, for example, was a disaster. She was carrying 1,200 tons of goods, and 1,200 men. She was lost in the North Atlantic, and the loss was a disaster. MARKETING OF FARM PRODUCTS THEME OF MEET

Battery of Speakers of International Reputation Will Have Place on Program of National Conference.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—A battery of eight speakers of national and international reputation and two to three working simultaneously are expected in the program of the National Conference on Marketing of Farm Products made public today.

The meeting will be held in Chicago, December 4-9, at the Hotel Sheraton, and delegates from all the states, the union and from Canada are expected. They will represent 2,000,000 farmers, according to reports received by officers of the conference, who will have the common opportunity to send representatives to Washington in connection with the proposed bill for the livestock industry in the federal trade commission, a proposal to create a land settlement and immigration commission to determine national and state aid machinery, laws to improve grades and inspection standards for farm products, the question of car shortages, the proposed embargo on food products, and other matters.

Organizations Co-operate.
Taking an active part in the conference this year are the three largest farmers' organizations of their kind in America. The market committee of the American Livestock association, representing over thirty-eight federated livestock associations and thousands of livestock farmers, are pressing for a federated trade commission investigation of their own industry "from calf to plate" as a means of reorganizing it, will ask support of the conference delegates. The National Council of Farmers' Co-operative associations representing nine state farmers' grain dealers' associations and totaling 300,000 grain farmers, are calling their people together to start a new move for co-operation and marketing of grain as a means of leading off the seven-cent, half-bred to the consumer. The milk producers' association of the Chicago dairy district, representing 12,000 milk farmers, who earlier in the year saw their strike, are now calling a national meeting of milk producers from other territories where milk troubles have arisen as a basis of working out a common method of solving this important question. Reorganization of the milk industry lies at the root of this plan, according to leaders.

The conference has heard from organizations such as the Equity Co-operative Exchange of St. Paul, representing 70,000 grain farmers; the Farmers of Michigan, representing 80,000 farmers banded together for common insurance; the Sheboygan County State Farmers' Association, the National Farmers' Association of the United States, the Farmers' Union of the South, and the Farmers' Union of Maine, an independent organization, and from many smaller organizations throughout the country, indicating that a keen interest is being taken this year in the delegates that have been selected. Notable among the brotherhoods to be represented are the Wisconsin Society of Equity through its state organizations and local prominent officers of the range and many managers and directors of marketing associations. In addition, leaders interested in immigration questions, educators representing nearly one hundred institutions of higher education, state and national departments of agriculture, bankers, industrial and agricultural representatives of railroads and special delegates appointed by governors of states, will meet together.

The conference will open Monday night. Governor-elect Frank O. Lowden, gentleman farmer of Oregon, Illinois, has been invited to deliver the address of welcome. Then will follow an address on the work of the 1916 conference by Chairman Frank L. McVey, president of the University of North Dakota.

To Discuss Farm Loan Act.
A representative of the federal farm loan board will lead a discussion of the working of the federal farm loan act.

This will be participated in by William R. Camp, chief of the division of markets and rural organization, West Raleigh, South Carolina; C. W. Thompson, specialist in charge of rural organization, United States department of agriculture, H. C. Gray, professor of agricultural economics in the Knapp School of Agriculture, Pennsylvania college, Nashville, Tennessee, and the delegates who attend.

The conference on land settlement will be opened by Elwood Mead, former director of irrigation and settlement work for the British government in Australia, now professor of rural institutions in the University of California, Berkeley, California.

Max Loeb, member of the Chicago board of education and a prominent real estate man of Chicago, will discuss supervision of commercial colonization.

Leonard G. Robinson, manager of the Jewish Agricultural and Industrial Aid society of New York, will speak on a land settlement policy for the insolvent farmer. The organization represented by Mr. Robinson has done the pioneer work in land and personal credit in the United States.

Robert B. Kent, president of the Merchants Bank of Passaic, New Jersey, will show how to make farm credits work for land settlement.

Hector Matheson of the Oregon Agricultural college of Corvallis, Oregon, will present an agricultural policy for the Pacific northwest.

E. Dana Ford, former director of the United States census, now professor of economics in the University of Minnesota, will offer a settlement policy for the cut-over lands of the northern states.

Protecting the Immigrant.
The special conference on colonization and immigration questions will be opened by Frederick C. Howe, United States commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, New York, who will lay down a national policy for distribution of the immigrant in relation to the farming lands of America. The discussion will be participated in by the delegates.

H. C. Poe, president of the Temple State bank, Temple, Texas, will give a paper on dairy cattle and hog power for the small farmer.

Marketing problems of the grain growers will be discussed by Lynn J. Frazier, governor-elect of North Dakota, Hooper, North Dakota; Fred D. Stout of Ashton, Illinois; and O. D. Anderson, president of the Farmers' Co-operative Association of South Dakota, Yankton, South Dakota.

Farmers Will Bring Terminal Issue to Chicago.
The opening of the most terminal market question has been referred to Joseph E. Griffin, president of the Chicago Board of Trade. His views will be discussed by the farmer delegates and Canadian aspects of terminal costs will be presented by representatives of the Grain Growers Grain company of Winnipeg, Canada, an organization representing over 50,000 grain farmers organized for co-operative marketing of their own grain.

A discussion of export problems will be led by Julius S. Barnes, a prominent grain exporter of Duluth, Minnesota.

The action working on perishable fruit and farm products will be opened by Frederick M. Mutchler, director of co-operative extension work at Lexington, Kentucky, with an address on how Kentucky is solving her marketing problems.

The southern apple growers' problems will be outlined by Louis B. Morgan, president of the Apple Association of the United States, Louisville, Kentucky.

Victor K. McHenry, president of the National Association of Auctioneers, New York City, will explain the merits and advantages of the auction method of selling perishable products.

James N. McBride, state market director, East Lansing, Michigan, will read a paper on state encouragement of standardization. This will be followed by an explanation of how Michigan certified grapes are sold by G. E. Prater, Jr., sales manager of the Wolverine Co-operative company, Paw Paw, Michigan.

Marketing of Livestock.
An interesting aggregation of speakers have been secured to explain the livestock situation in America. Some are announced and some will be put on the program as a surprise. Among the names of those selected are the following: A. E. de Lucio, secretary market committee, American National Livestock association, Denver, Colorado; Ed. Laster, owner of the Laster ranch in Texas; the National Livestock Exchange, Kansas City, Missouri; T. W. Tompkins, secretary American National Livestock association, Denver, Colorado; George K. Andrews, representing a special committee appointed to investigate the marketing of livestock by the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; a commissioner of agriculture of the Missouri Pacific railway, St. Louis, Missouri.

HOWE WILL NOT GO TO TRIAL IN TORRANCE COURT

Judge E. L. Medler Accepts Plea of Guilty to Manslaughter From Him; Sentence Not Yet Passed.

Robert E. Howe pleaded guilty before Judge Edward L. Medler of the district court at Torrance Saturday to manslaughter, according to J. Benson Newell, court reporter, who was here yesterday. Judge Medler accepted the plea, but did not pass sentence. He will sentence Howe later.

The charge against Howe is the result of the killing of J. A. McGuire, a special officer of the Santa Fe railway, in Abasco canyon five years ago. The case was not taken up earlier because Howe was sentenced to prison in Texas after his capture at Harlingen, Texas. He was brought to New Mexico upon being released from the Texas penitentiary.

McGuire was looking for car robbers when he met death. His body, bearing several bullet wounds, was found two days later in a road on the Howe homestead. Howe's father, Frank Howe, and brother Guy had disappeared. Their horses were gone. A posse followed them but failed to overtake them. The Howes, traveling by horse and train, reached Texas.

A Texas posse met the Howes near Hancock, a short distance from the Mexican line. A battle followed in which the father and brother were killed. Bob Howe was wounded and captured. He was sent to prison for a short term because a Texas officer had been killed by one of the Howe family when he sought to arrest them just before the battle.

Howe was said to have made a confession in which he said he did not have a hand in the killing of McGuire.

TRAFFIC ORDINANCE WILL BE ENFORCED BY POLICE AFTER DEC. 1

The police will begin the enforcement of the new traffic ordinance December 1, Chief J. R. Galusha said yesterday. The ordinance was officially published in the Journal last week.

The police, however, will not require all automobiles to have dimmers by December 1. Car owners will have until December 10 to get dimmers. The police wish to give them sufficient time for equipping their headlights with dimming devices. After December 10, however, the dimmer section will be enforced as rigidly as the other sections of the ordinance.

JAIL PRISONERS WILL BE GIVEN BIG DINNER

Prisoners in the city jail will have a big dinner Thanksgiving day, Chief J. R. Galusha will provide part of the Thanksgiving dinner at his own expense. He will add mince pie, apple dressing, celery and peas to Jailor Green Watson's bill of fare. Jailor Watson will give the prisoners chicken, potatoes and other things.

TREASURY OFFERING OF THE UNITED JEROME COPPER COMPANY

The United Jerome Copper company has received its permit to sell treasury stock and the books are open to the public, Monday morning, offering the first block of 200,000 shares at 50 cents a share. The issue is almost half subscribed already from brokers and private investors from every section of the United States. The success is due to many reasons, among them are the facts that the biggest business men and capitalists in the state of Arizona are interested in the company; the stock will be listed on the New York and Boston exchanges before the first of January, 1917, and the prices will soar to many times the present price; our property is considered by the most eminent mining men to be one of the most valuable properties in the Verde district.

FINDS MAN HE WANTS IN BED WITH HATCHET IN HAND; NABS HIM

When Sergeant N. M. Miller went to the home of George Smith, 214 West Tularos avenue, late Saturday night to arrest him on a complaint made by Mrs. Matilda Lucero he found Smith in bed with a hatchet clamped in one hand. Smith was asleep. Miller took the hatchet and arrested the man. The sergeant took him to jail.

Mrs. Lucero, who lives at the same house that Smith and his family occupy, charged him with drunkenness and disorderly conduct in her complaint. She said that Smith came to the house and knocked a door panel out. He went away but returned later. Miller found him then.

POPULAR BLUEBIRD PLAY NOW AT LYRIC

When two American heiresses flattered into Paris the broken-down notions of nobility added more baneful to the ends of their whiskers and scented them odoriferously. For the impoverished nobleman who made one of these girls his bride was sure to be in funds for many moons of Parisian night life. When the choice narrowed down to the younger girl of the couple (because the other was already married) Bettina had all sorts of Parisian pressure brought to bear upon her. But "Bettina Loved a Soldier" and when the Bluebird photograph of that title is exhibited at the Lyric theater today you will be immensely pleased with the simplicity and honesty of its characters, the sweetness of its sentiment and the convincingness of its plot. And when you behold the beautiful and blonde Louise Lovely working in the same scenes with brilliantly brunette Francis Fullington you will understand why, in the long run, Rupert Julian, as the modest French cavalryman, had to leave the decision to Bettina herself.

Y. M. C. A. WILL BE HEADQUARTERS OF LEAGUE DRIVE

All Persons Who Can Take Part in Canvass Asked to Report There Tomorrow Morning.

The Y. M. C. A. has been chosen as headquarters for the Civic Betterment league drive tomorrow. Every man and woman who can help is asked to be there promptly at 9 o'clock. The task of covering the entire city in one day is a big one but it can be done. Plenty of workers and hard driving for seven hours will do it. In order that workers may put in as much time as possible a lunch will be served at headquarters. It will not be possible to take much time to tell how it is going to be done or has been done but enough time will be taken at noon to put every one in trim for the afternoon's work.

A good sized company has agreed to be on hand but there is still need for many more. Volunteers can telephone to A. B. Stroup or the office of the league. If you cannot give notice that you will work just come to headquarters in the morning and your work will be waiting. Both men and women are asked to help.

The league wishes the name of every one who gives to its work, so if you give cash tomorrow see that a card is filled out and a receipt given. Every pledge card will have a receipt attached. Last year many paid cash but their names were not turned in. Of course their names could not be included in the list of donors to the work. It is strongly desired that all small donors be paid in cash. Pledges may be made payable any time during the year.

ELLIOTT, HELD ON FUGITIVE WARRANT, TO FIGHT REQUISITION

Jack Elliott, held by the police on a fugitive warrant, will fight extradition. He has retained Heacock & Cornell, attorneys. An Arizona officer was expected to arrive here yesterday with Governor Hunt's requisition for Elliott, but did not come.

Elliott was arrested here by Patrolman Pablo Lujan at the request of the sheriff at Phoenix, Ariz. Elliott said, according to the police, that he left Arizona while he was under bond. He was charged with violation of the Arizona prohibitory law.
