TEUTONS UNDER MACKENSEN HAVE CAPTURED CITY OF BUCHAREST

Rumanian Capital Falls After Marvelously Rapid Marches
By Advancing Army Are Brought to Conclusion.

IMPORTANT RAILROAD JUNCTION ALSO TAKEN

Victory of Central Powers Is Complete; Natural Fortifications of Mountains and Rivers Are Overcome.

Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.
Bucharest is in the hands of the central powers.
Exactly 100 days after the declaration of war by Rumania against them
the Teutonic allies in control of the territory—virtually one-half of the kingdom—running from the Transylvanian Alps, northwest of the capital, to the Danube, south of it, and large part of Dobruja.
Simultaneously with the announcement of the fall of Bucharest comes
the news of the capture of Ploesti,
north of the capital, the conquest of which places in the hands of the invaders the last railroad in the west,
and gives to them the head of the line
running northward to Jassy, where the capital of Rumania is now situated.

No Details Received.

No details have yet come through concerning the climax to the great drive of the armies of Generals von Falkenhayn and Field Marshal von Mackensen, or whether the Rumanians and Russians escaped successfully behind the Bucharest line. Unofficial advice had indicated that four divisions of the defenders were in a dangerous position west of Bucharest,
and in danger of being enveloped.
With the fall of Bucharest, the central powers are now in possession of the capital of an entire allied state,
and others being Brussels, Belgrade
and Cetinje.

Slav Offensive Unsuccessful.

In the Carpathian region, near the Rumanian frontier and along the Mo-lavia front, the Russian offensive apparently is meeting with little success. A heavy bombardment of the Jablonina, where the Rumanians
occupied a height but were later driven off the position by the Germans. To the south they penetrated
the second line of the German defenses in the Trotus valley, but here
they were held from further advance,
and of the Oltuz pass, and southwest of Kedi Varsheh, the Austro-Hungarians took positions from the Russians.

Additional Fortified Heights North- west of Budimisti, in Serbia, Have been Captured by the Serbs from the Bulgarians and Germans according to reports by Berlin to have expelled the Serbs from positions near Gar- belnitz. A heavy bombardment is in progress north of Monastir.

Germans Gain at Verdun.

The Germans have again essayed a somewhat intense attack in the Verdun sector, east of the famous Hill 14, near Avocourt. According to Paris, the attack was partly successful, the Germans gaining a footing in some of the advanced French trenches.

In the Austro-Italian and Russian Fronts, the big guns are still doing the greater portion of the work. The Russians have shelled the Narayuvka region in Galicia.

MILIN ANNOUNCES CAPTURE OF BUCHAREST

Berlin, Dec. 6.—(Via wireless to Brussels)—Bucharest, capital of Rumania, was captured, it was officially announced today. Ploesti, the important railway junction town, 26

miles northwest of Bucharest, also has been taken.
The capture of Ploesti on the main railway line running north from Bucharest, cuts the main railway line
of retreat for the Rumanian armies
operating in the Bucharest region.
The official statement does not indicate whether the entry of the Teutonic forces into Bucharest and Ploesti was simultaneous. The capture of Ploesti before that of the capital would be far more serious for the Rumanians. Military observers looked for the Rumanians not to attempt a defense of the capital at the last expecting an evacuation in time to save the forces defending it by a withdrawal of the railway route remaining to them. The taking of Bucharest virtually completes the conquest by the Teutonic forces of the southern section of the Rumanian kingdom,
embracing territory of more than 50,000 square miles.

RUMANIANS MUST FALL BACK TO SLAV ARMY

London, Dec. 6.—The fall of Bucharest and Ploesti, announced in the German official communication tonight, has been confirmed, but the position revealed by the previous German and Russian communiques left little hope that the Rumanian capital could be saved.

The rapidity of the advance of the central powers seems to show that no attempt was made to defend the cap- ital and the actions fought have prob- ably been only of a delaying nature.

The fall of Ploesti, perhaps, is of even greater importance than that of Bucharest. Ploesti is a railway junction and the center of the great oil district of the Prahova valley. Unless the Rumanians have been able to destroy or disable the oil wells, machinery and stores of oil the Germans will get a much-needed prize. Moreover, in the Prahova valley they are on the line of retreat of a portion of the Rumanian second army.

It is believed that the Rumanian
army will be compelled to retire until they can secure a shorter line between the Carpathians and the lower Danube,
which will be within easier reach of Russian reinforcements.

ANTI-AMERICANISM LOSES IN CANANEA

By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.
Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 6.—Francisco
Ortiz, former city judge of Cananea, Sonora, who ran for mayor of the municipality on a platform of anti-Americanism, which he published in the form of handbills and caused to be distributed, was overwhelmingly defeated in the election of Sunday, according to official returns brought to Agua Prieta by Gen. P. Elias Calles, military commander of the state. The returns show Ortiz did not receive a single vote, while approximately 2,000
were divided among his three opponents.

A report current in Agua Prieta official circles Monday that Ortiz was leading in the vote was believed to have been started as a joke.

Mariano Uribe, candidate of the labor party, was elected by 200 hundred plurality.

STRIKERS HAVE RIGHT TO PICKET, SAYS U. S. COURT

Federal Circuit Court of Appeals Reverses Decision of District Judge; Modification
of Decree Is Ordered.

By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.
Chicago, Dec. 6.—The right of the members of the Tri-City Central Trades Council of East St. Louis to picket the plant of the American Steel foundries was upheld today by the United States circuit court of appeals,
in a decision reversing the United States district court. The lower court was ordered to modify its decree enjoining picketing and to enter in accordance with the ruling of the upper court.

"The right to strike for higher wages and improved conditions of labor is too firmly established to require further elucidation," the decision said. "In the pursuit of a lawful purpose to secure a raise in wages, picketing may be employed as the late employer has persuaded or attempted to persuade to accept employment, and persuasion may be used to induce them to refuse of quit
employment."

"Undoubtedly picketing and persuasion would interfere with the plain-tiff's conduct of its business in making it more difficult for them to retain old employees and hire new ones. Indeed, the very act of striking often seriously interferes with that free and unrestrained control of the employer's business. But the lawfulness of the strike is not to be tested by such incidental effect of it."

"The order in the present case fails to recognize this difference between the lawful means of interfering with another's business as an incident to the party's own right and unlawful means adopted by the same party."
"Methods may be considered lawful
even though the employers' business
is interfered with because such methods are incidental to the right of the employee, which right should be and is recognized as equal to the right of the employer."

The decision was handed down by Justices Muck, Alschuler and Evans.

COLD WEATHER CHECKS BATTLES IN FRANCE, BUT GUNS STILL ROAR

Associated Press Correspondent Tells Graphic Story of Things Seen With Army of Sir Douglas Haig.

SOLDIERS INDIFFERENT TO ARTILLERY FIRE

Men Jest as Babel of Sounds
Pass Over Their Heads;
Foreign Ground Likely to Bring on Offensive.

(Copyright 1916 by the Associated Press.)

With the British Army in France,
Dec. 3, via London, Dec. 6 (From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press).—Winter, cold, gray and bleak, has held the western battle front in its icy grasp for more than a week now, and has temporarily checked any attempt on either side at operations on a large scale. There has been the usual daily "strafing," or exchange of artillery fire, but the shelling has been largely done by batteries who call "dead reckoning."

Low hanging, damp, leaden skies
have shrouded the land in gloomy darkness, and observation has been almost wholly impossible. For the past seven days there has been a thick
mist, while on two occasions the war zone has been completely cut in by a mantle of heavy fog. But through this gray murk the guns kept hammering away—firing at the unseen
enemy—harrassing post roads and rail heads or any other "registered"
place where he was likely to be busy
with the multitudinous affairs of war
behind the lines.

Battles in the Fog.

A battle in the fog—and nearly every detached engagement in this struggle on the Somme could be classed as a battle by ordinary standards—
is a weirdly mysterious and unmanly affair. A roar, a flash of red flame,
and out into the leaden mist shrieks
a shell on its well-intended mission of death and destruction.

"This is where it should fall," remarks the gunners, as he points to a map with a pair of compasses. "We will put another just over here," and bang goes the gun. In the deepness of the fog the battle seems to shoot
into a little drab world all its own.

The Germans, however, have been bombarding one of their recently lost positions. It is a favorite occupation of the German gunners—this shelling a position they know so well, after they had been driven from it. And such "strafing" calls for a reply, even if the enveloping fog permits one to see scarcely beyond the grim muzzle
of the giant gun itself.

Fighting Is Impersonal.

Such fighting as this makes war seem intensely impersonal and in the colorless language of the official communique, may appear something like this:

"There was considerable hostile
shelling today against our front on both sides of the Ancre. Our retaliation was prompt and effective."

One knew that if the British shells were truly searching their way through the opaque mist to their charted destination, the reply must be all that the communique claimed.
Under the protecting canopy of fog,
the Associated Press correspondent
sought to explore the pulverized ruins
of what was once the thriving little French village of Beaumont-Hamel.
Officers and tommyes coming from
that direction gave every assurance that all was quiet within; so, the motor car proceeding blithely along, suddenly a ghostly whine in the impenetrable gloom overhead told its own story.
The daily shelling had begun.

Bewildering at First.

To one only casually acquainted with the noises of a battlefield there is always bewilderment at first, as to which are the "friendly" shells, going out toward the enemy, and which are the unfriendly visitors coming over to burst in a wild destroying fury. In the mystic grayness of the dripping
fog the bewilderment was accentuated,
and the ordinary whistle and
"crump" of the vari-colored shells
translated into a veritable witches' chorus. So intense was the bombardment at one time, with the shells rushing in opposite directions overhead,
that the mingled sounds became like
the singing of storm winds.

Each caliber shell has its own particular plaint, sometimes sadly melancholy in the distance, and again spitefully fierce in its nearness. It is a great source of satisfaction when, under the tutelage of an experienced officer one comes to distinguish for one's self the difference between the outgoing scream of the friendly shells
and the incoming "whang" of what the "Tommyes" call "another present
from the Boches."

"Visitors to the British front are always impressed by the absolute indifference of the English, Canadian and Australian soldiers to the individual shelling. Unperturbed, they "carry on" as if there were no such thing in all the world.

A striking picture in the fog was

INVESTIGATION OF HIGH PRICES IS COMMENCED BY GOVERNMENT

Department of Justice Is Active and Many Resolutions
for Inquiries Appear in Congress.

GRAND JURY PROBES IN SEVERAL CITIES

Sudden Advance in Coal Is to Be Gone Into Thoroughly
With View of Finding Law
Violators.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Washington, Dec. 6.—The federal investigation of the high cost of living
began today to take definite form,
with indications that it would extend to every section of the United States.
Not only is a sweeping inquiry into the soaring cost of foodstuffs contemplated, but the recent pinch in the coal supply and its resultant price advances also will be made, in all probability, the subject of broad investigation.

Officials began to cope in earnest
with the problems presented by the situation. The president took under consideration preliminary reports which, with others yet to come, will form the basis for recommendations
he may make to congress.

Congressmen Would Investigate.

A dozen speeches on the subject were made in the house and several resolutions, proposing inquiries, were introduced. These were referred to committees without discussion, most of them going to the interstate and foreign commerce committee, of which Representative Adamson, who is opposed to embargoes, is the chairman.

Department of Justice officials held conferences today with members of the federal trade commission, and District Attorney Anderson of Boston,
in charge of the department's investigation, and were to formulate a definite plan of conducting the nationwide inquiry. About fifty investigators of the department's bureau of investigation were reported to be gathering data which will determine the attorney general's course of action.

Grand Jury Probes Also.

The interstate commerce commission probably will be called on to aid
by furnishing data relative to shipments of foodstuffs, and Mr. Anderson will confer with commission officials
before his departure.

Grand jury investigation at New York or Chicago, or both, of the reasons
for rising prices are still under consideration.

With the program still in process of formation, there were increasing indications that officials were considering the situation from three angles,
namely:

1.—Determination of the actual cause of the rapid rise in foodstuffs
and coal, whether it was due to natural economic laws, to the unwarranted
action of individual dealers, and producers in advancing prices, or whether there exist agreements among groups of dealers or producers to boost prices.

2.—Vigorous prosecution of persons or firms, if any, who, by violation of existing laws in making agreements
to raise prices or otherwise, have contributed to the upward trend of prices.

3.—Enactment of legislation to remedy the present situation and to prevent its recurrence.

Department of Justice Active.

The situation is in the first of these stages, so far as the department of justice is concerned. With its investigators already at work, department officials called upon the federal trade commission for co-operation and were promised all data which the commission already may have bearing on the situation, and further aid in obtaining information which can be acquired without adding materially to the burden imposed on the commission by other pending inquiries.

In addition, department officials are understood to be considering the advantages of investigating such organizations as the Chicago Board of Trade, the Chicago Butter and Egg Exchange, the Elgin Board of Trade, and the New York Produce
Sugar, and Coffee exchanges, with a view to ascertaining by what practices
the market values of certain foodstuffs dealt in by the bodies are determined. An inquiry into the amount of foodstuffs held in all the cold storage establishments of the country and possibly as to the volume of grain stored in elevators also is said to be under consideration.

Coal Corner Alleged.

Complaints have reached the department that coal prices were advanced recently because of the activities of certain independent dealers
who are reported to have contracted with the chief coal companies for virtually their entire unsold output for the winter. It was charged that these dealers, securing fat profits, had tried to corner the available supply.

These and other complaints under investigation will be considered with a view to prosecution, if warranted,
under federal laws which require that supplies in question must have been in or for interstate commerce.

Proposals in congress looking to a remedy for the problems ranged from a discussion of the omnibus hatch-eries bill, which would provide for fish hatcheries in twenty states, to a declaration by Chairman Henry of the rules committee after a conference with the president, that he thought congress would conduct an investigation of the high cost of living. They embraced resolutions by Representatives Borland and Dill, providing for general investigations; a resolution by Representative Campbell of Kansas,
which would provide for an embargo
on boots, shoes and manufactured
leather goods, and a bill by Representative Sabath of Illinois, designed to aid federal employees to meet the situation by increasing from 10 to 20 per cent the salaries of those earning up to $1,500 annually.

DOZEN MEN CONTROL NEW YORK FOOD MARKET

New York, Dec. 6.—It appears that twelve men in this city are so manipulating the food market that they establish prices for the entire country, Joseph Hartigan, commissioner of weights and measures, said today in a statement recommending the calling
of a federal grand jury to investigate
the situation with a view to indicting
men who might be guilty of maintaining an excessively high cost of living.

J. J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods and markets, announced that certain dealers were defying his order
that cold storage eggs be so marked
and that he would submit evidence to city or state authorities and urge prosecution. He said he had written President Wilson suggesting national legislation regulating cold storage and fixing standards in packing and shipping rates.

An egg boycott movement was launched in more than a score of upstate cities today in response to proclamations issued by their mayors.

dition of Foxhall P. Keene, the widely

Little Welshman Rises From the Direst Poverty to the Premiership

David Lloyd-George is an idol of British democracy. His extreme radicalism has made him at times "one of the most hated men in England,"
particularly among the aristocracy,
but on more numerous occasions he has loomed up as "the man of the hour," and his personality sometimes overshadowed the whole Asquith ministry, with which he was identified.
He is pre-eminently the British government's man of "push and go,"
energetic, determined and fearless.
Though a little man, almost frail in physique, he is such a successful fighter that he scarcely knows the meaning of defeat.

Work as Chancellor.

As chancellor of the exchequer he was the author of budget reforms
which opened a new era in the fiscal history of the United Kingdom, and which, by putting new levies of taxation on the property classes, led to the great constitutional conflict between the commons and the lords, and the curbing of the legislative veto power of the peers. This political revolution, and other great causes in which he figured as the popular leader, notably his successful fight for the insurance act for protecting the working classes against illness and unemployment, and his old age pension scheme, made him a dominant figure in the liberal government.

When, with the sudden outbreak of the European war in 1914, internal politics were eclipsed by England's entrance into the war, Chancellor Lloyd-George was shouldered with the chief responsibility of financing the empire's part in the great conflict.
Though he had been one of the chief opponents to great military expenditures on the part of Great Britain, in peace times, face to face
with the war he tackled the problem
of raising money with his usual strength, and set in motion the first of the great loans which were floated
to meet Britain's war cost—estimated at ten billion dollars a year.

Minister of Munitions.

In the midst of these financial problems, Lloyd-George was called to assume a new role, as minister of munitions, when in May, 1915, a coalition cabinet was formed and when it was charged that Lord Kitchener, the secretary of state for war, had failed to supply the army with sufficient guns and ammunition. It was agreed that the occasion called for one of the strongest men in England to awaken
the country to the paramount necessity of providing war materials on a huge scale. "The battle of Neuve Chapelle," as Lloyd-George said, "had consumed more ammunition than was used in the whole Boer war."

The manner in which Lloyd-George tackled this new problem was typical of his energetic career. He hurried the passage through parliament of a special munitions bill which gave the government broad powers of control over all factories that were making or capable of making war munitions. The bill made strikes and lockouts illegal,
gave power to fire "sneakers," limited
the number of employees, and provided for a volunteer army of workers who should pledge themselves to go where-ever the government required them to work in the factories.

Ultimatum to Laborites.

DAVID LLOYD-GEORGE IS NOW PRIME MINISTER OF BRITISH EMPIRE; WILL FORM COALITION CABINET

NEGOTIATIONS INSTITUTED IN HOPE OF SMOOTHING OVER THE ADMINISTRATION DIFFERENCES

Government Crisis in London Continues Acute; Conferences
of Weighty Import Are Held Between Government Officials; Earl of Derby Hopes for Agreement That Will Bring Coalition Back to Power; Asquith Takes Majority of Liberal Ministers With Him in Retirement; No Dismay Caused by Resignation of Prime Minister, According to Statement of Westminster Gazette.

LLOYD-GEORGE ACCEPTS KING'S COMMISSION

London, Dec. 6.—The court circular tonight announcing the political audience and conferences at the palace today, added:
"The king gave a further audience this evening to Mr. Bonar Law, who intimated that he was unable to form an administration. Thereupon, the king summoned Mr. Lloyd-George,
who, at his majesty's request, undertook to endeavor to form an administration."

LABORITES HOSTILE TO LLOYD-GEORGE

London, Dec. 6.—That the laborites are not likely to support
a Lloyd-George administration
was further indicated at a meeting of the parliamentary committee of the trades unions today, which adopted a resolution
manipulating expressing profound regret that "certain statements,
influenced by the press campaign, have in the hour of the nation's crisis entirely failed to observe loyalty and self-sacrifice
which they repeatedly urged upon the workmen during the war."

The resolution continues:

"Further, we earnestly hope that the present unseemly quarrel among those entrusted with great responsibility shall immediately cease, and to set a better
example to the workers."

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

London, Dec. 6.—David Lloyd-George has overthrown the Asquith cabinet and will become prime minister himself. The new government will be coalition, like the old one, but probably without the same measure of harmonious support which attended
the formation of the first coalition
government, because its birth has created additional factional differences.
This result has emerged from an other day of active and hurried party
conferences and a day of intense suspense and interest throughout the country.

There was a prospect this afternoon
that the personal offices of the king
might solve the situation, and many thought that the Asquith regime might be continued. The king called the party leaders to Buckingham palace
and conferred with them for more than an hour. Mr. Asquith and Mr.
Lloyd-George of the liberals, Mr.
Bonar Law and Mr. Balfour of the unionists, and Mr. Henderson of the labor party, were with the sovereign.

Most Serious Crisis.

It is many years since a British ruler assembled the representatives of the different factions face to face
when they had showed themselves unable to settle their differences. But no such serious crisis has before arisen to require such action by the king.

Whatever passed in council is held secret, but the inference that the king tried to arrange a reconciliation appears a most natural one. The five statesmen departed separately, four in their motor cars, and the workmen's spokesman afoot.

Bonar Law Declines.

Afterwards, the king gave an audience to Mr. Bonar Law, who declined to undertake the formation of a new ministry, and then to Mr. Lloyd-George, who accepted the responsibility, as every one anticipated he would, if the opportunity came to him.

The official announcement tonight that Mr. Lloyd-George had undertaken
the task, with the co-operation of Mr.
Bonar Law, was a notification that the new government would be coalition.
Any party government would be impossible because neither the unionists
nor the liberals have a majority in the house of commons; either one must attach the Irish-nationalists, or the laborites to itself to command a majority. The nationalists have refused to participate in the government until home rule becomes established. The laborites are sworn enemies of Mr.
Lloyd-George, because they resent his accusations that the working men
have put their personal interests

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a Cloth Through Your Hair and Double Its Beauty.

Spend 25 Cents! Dandruff
Vanishes and Hairs Stop
Coming Out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair, soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely a matter of using a little Danderine. It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now! All drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Mother-Made, Quick Acting Cough Syrup

Should be Kept Handy in Every Home—Easily Prepared and Costs Little.

Mothers, you'll never know what you are missing until you make up this inexpensive, quick-acting cough syrup and try it. Children love its pleasant taste and nothing else will loosen a cough or chest cold and heal the inflamed or swollen throat membranes with such ease and promptness. It's equally as good for grown-ups as for children.

This splendid cough syrup is made by pouring 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a pint bottle and filling the bottle with plain, unsaturated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50—a clear saving of $2.

The moment it touches the inflamed, cold-congested membranes that line the throat and air passages, the healing begins, the phlegm loosens, soreness leaves, cough spasms lessen and soon disappear altogether, thus ending the cough, spasmodic croup, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with menthol and other famous ingredients for their quick healing effect on the membranes.

Beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). Always dependable.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy Cheeks—Sparkling Eyes
—Most Women Can Have

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known
Ohio Physician

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, which you will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women as well as men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep in the pink of condition. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Nervous Women.
When the nervousness is caused by constipation, as is often the case, you will get quick relief by taking Chamberlain's Tablets. These tablets also improve the digestion. Obtainable everywhere.

OFFICIAL VOTE OF NEW MEXICO IS ANNOUNCED

State Canvassing Board Completes Its Labors; Squabble
Arises Over Right to Consider
Other Races.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE
Santa Fe, Dec. 6.—The meeting of the state canvassing board today developed a number of matters of unexpected interest.

Chief Justice Roberts, a member of the board, filed a written protest against the board canvassing the returns for legislators, saying that such a canvass would be illegal and is directly prohibited and penalized by statute, and furthermore would result in legislators presenting two certificates, one from the county authorities and one from the canvassing board, or else in two different men each presenting a certificate to the legislature. Assistant Attorney General Harry S. Bowman, on behalf of the republican state central committee and on behalf of every republican candidate on the state ticket in the legislative districts and every district attorney district, protested against the counting and canvassing of the absent railroad vote being without warrant of law and against the constitution of the state of New Mexico. Protests were made a matter of record and the railroad vote was then canvassed, with the following results:

Railroad Men's Vote.

Democratic electors, 164; republican electors, 9; socialist electors, 3.
Senator: Jones (Dem.), 160; Hubbell (Rep.), 13; Metcalf (Rep.), 5.
Representative: Walton (Dem.), 158; Hernandez (Rep.), 14; Eggsum (Rep.), 2.
Governor: De Baca (Dem.), 142; Bursum (Rep.), 28; Wells (Rep.), 1.

Elks' Carnival at Clovis.

Clovis, Dec. 6.—The Clovis Elks are preparing to put on their annual carnival and fair, December 7-9. The Elks promise to exceed the excellence of last year's carnival and are advertising such things as snake charmers, a clown circus, wild animal shows, fortune tellers, fish ponds and night booths. The merchants of Clovis will make their usual displays. The big event of the fair will be the awarding on the last night of a Dodge touring car.

Murder Trial at St. Johns.

St. Johns, Ariz., Dec. 6.—The court term of the Superior court will be held beginning on the 12th of December. The principal case for trial will be the case of Fay Sheek on a charge of murder for the killing of Leonard Olsen, near Houck.

LIVESTOCK MEN URGED TO BEWARE OF SALES AGENTS

Producers Shown How to Do
Their Share in Stimulating Competition Among Buyers
at Conference on Marketing

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Livestock producers were urged today to do their share in stimulating competition among buyers for the packing houses and to discourage the growing practice of selling to agents not directed to the farms, in an address here by M. L. McClure, of Kansas City, Mo., president of the national livestock exchange.

Mr. McClure's remarks, which exhibited some concern over "the hold the packers have on the producer," were made to delegates to the fourth annual conference on marketing and farm credits, at the session devoted to "marketing and livestock."

"If the present system of marketing on central competitive markets is the best it should be supported and the efforts of certain packers in trying to break down the price-making system by going to the country to buy their supplies should be discouraged," said Mr. McClure.

Supply and Demand.

He urged producers to refuse to sell to agents sent to their farms and ranches. He said that central competitive markets are a natural growth where prices are fixed by the law of supply and demand, unless the market is manipulated. He said it was obvious that no packer would send to the farms unless he could buy cheaper there than in a competitive market.

Mr. McClure in noting the decrease in competition among big buyers of fat stock observed that the federal government in 1915 had inspectors at forty-four fewer packing plants than in 1912.

"Every one knows of this lack of competition," said the speaker. "The free working of the law of supply and demand is all that can be asked. We see the supply: what is asked is that the roof be taken off so that we can see the demand."

Mr. McClure added that the least the conference could do would be to adopt a resolution endorsing competitive buying. He suggested co-operative packing plants as a stimulant to this end.

Hearings Are Held.

A series of informal hearings were held here today in connection with the fourth national conference on marketing and farm credits to collect evidence concerning the condition of the livestock industry in the United States. Speakers asserted that great changes are under way in the industry and that the producers and feeders of cattle have failed to organize themselves effectively to meet the changed conditions at purchasing centers and an economic waste has resulted. Much of the discussion centered on possible solutions of the problem offered by the decline in the nation's meat supply. Dwight H. Heard of Phoenix, Ariz., president of the American National Livestock association, assured the delegates of the co-operation of his organization in their investigations.

On the program were Ed C. Lagater, of California, Texas, said to be the owner of the largest dairy herd in the world; M. L. McClure, president of the American National Livestock Exchange, Kansas City, Mo.; R. Stubb, Lawrence, Kan., former governor of Kansas; T. W. Tomlinson, secretary of the American National Livestock association, Denver, Colo.; George K. Andrews, St. Louis; H. C. Poe, Temple, Texas; F. A. Bingham, Rockford, Ill., and S. Beach, Hutchinson, Minn.

Milo D. Campbell, Coldwater, Mich., president of the National Federation of Milk Producers of America, organized last night, said today that state and local organizations will be started at once and a national headquarters will be established for handling the work of the new organization, which plans co-operative marketing of milk throughout the United States.

If you have good, healthy hens that do not lay, feed them Seneca Egg Producer. It stimulates the egg-producing organs and forces them to lay. Healthy hens, well-housed, well-fed, will lay in spite of themselves if fed Seneca Egg Producer. It will do the work for you.

Some owners of hens are inclined to sell them owing to the high price of feed. Don't do it. The coming year you will see feed prices higher than they ever were. At present prices it costs less than half-cent a day to feed a hen. Where you have table scraps to make one feed per day, it will only cost one-third of a cent a day to feed a hen. Give your fowls care that they should have, and you will be surprised at the profit there is in them. Wish I had space here to tell you of the success that has been made with hens right here in the city. If you want to know how this has been done, call at the store and we will gladly tell you. No charge. E. W. FEE.

Bond Call, Bernalillo County, New Mexico.

The holders of the following designated bonds of Bernalillo County, New Mexico, dated August 2, 1897, known as funding bonds, maturing July 1, 1917, and optional after ten years from the date thereof, viz: Bonds numbered 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84 and 85 of the denomination of five hundred dollars each are hereby notified that the above designated bonds will now be paid on presentation by the legal holders thereof at the office of the treasurer of said Bernalillo County and that on and after the 31st day of December, 1916, each and all of said above mentioned bonds will cease to bear interest.

Don't Wear a Truss Any Longer

After Thirty Years' Experience I Have Produced a Rupture Appliance for Men, Women and Children That Does Away With Truss Torture.

Sent on Trial to Prove It

Ten Reasons Why

You Should Send for Brooks Rupture Appliance

1. It is the only appliance of the kind on the market today and in it are embodied the improvements that experience has brought about for years.

2. The Appliance has received the endorsement of the highest medical authorities and is the only one of its kind in the world.

3. Having an air cushion of soft rubber, it causes no irritation of the skin, and it is so constructed that it can be worn under any clothing.

4. Unlike the ordinary so-called pads, which are made of heavy, stiff material, the Brooks Appliance is made of soft, pliable, and comfortable material.

5. It is small, soft and pliable, and positively cannot be detected through the clothing.

6. The only, pliable band holding the Appliance in place gives the most complete support of the organs without any pressure.

7. There is nothing about it to get stuck and when it becomes wet it can be washed without injuring it in the least.

8. There are no special agents in the Appliance to irritate the skin by rubbing and heating the flesh.

9. All of the material of which the Appliance is made is of the very best that money can buy, making it a durable and safe Appliance to wear.

10. My experience for thirty years and the endorsement of the highest medical authorities, and the fact that the Appliance has been used by thousands of men, women and children, and that there is no other appliance of the kind on the market today.

Rupture Healed in Four Months

Mr. J. J. Jones, 11 Duquesne, Toledo, Ohio, writes: "I have used your Appliance for four months and my rupture is completely healed. I can now do all the work I want to do without any pain or inconvenience. I am very grateful to you for the good you are doing for suffering humanity."

Yours sincerely,
J. J. JONES.

Yours very truly,
ANDREW BENTON-BROWN.

Others Failed But the Appliance Saves

Mr. C. E. Brooks,
Marshall, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Your Appliance did all you claim for the little boy and now, for the first time, he is well. We feel him well for the first time in all his life. It cured him in a month after he had been to wear it. We had tried several other remedies and all failed and I shall certainly recommend it to friends, for we surely owe it to you.

DEMOCRATS MUST STAND FOR WHOLE BRYAN PROGRAM

Nebraskan Intends to Force
National Prohibition and Federal Suffrage Amendment on Party.

Washington, Dec. 6.—(Reforms to which he hopes to commit the democratic party and to see accomplished within the next four years, were outlined tonight by William J. Bryan at a dinner given in his honor by admirers among democratic officials and members of congress.)

Mr. Bryan gave a prominent place to two things he proposes to fight: The effort to give the federal government exclusive control over railroad regulation, and "the menace of militarization," presented by proposals for universal military service.

Speeches lauding Mr. Bryan and his work during the campaign just won were made by many of the dinner guests, and a letter was read from President Wilson, with whom the former secretary and Mrs. Bryan had lunched during the day. The president wrote:

"Will you not be kind enough to convey my very cordial greetings to Mr. Bryan and to those who are assembled to do him honor at the dinner on Wednesday evening? In the recent campaign no one rendered more unselfish service than Mr. Bryan and I am happy to know that this dinner expressed the genuine admiration of all democrats for him. May I not, by this means, convey to him my warmest congratulations and best wishes for his continued health and happiness?"

In reviewing at length the accomplishments of the democratic administration, Mr. Bryan said the work had been done in one short term, "under the leadership of a great democratic president, loyally supported by a congress equally democratic."

Praise by President.

GOVERNOR HUNT ALLEGES DEFEAT THROUGH FRAUD

Starts Contest Against Thomas
E. Campbell, Republican,
Declared Winner by Thirty Votes.

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 6.—On the declaration of the secretary of state that in the late election Thomas E. Campbell, republican, received 21,975 votes for governor, that Governor Hunt had received 22,006, and that Mr. Campbell was elected, Governor Hunt instituted a contest in the superior court of Maricopa county today.

The petition alleges that "illegal votes were cast and counted for Mr. Campbell in each and every precinct of each and every county," and that votes were cast and not counted for the governor in each and every precinct of every county in the state.

It is asked that inspectors be appointed, one to be named by the contestant, one by the respondent, and the third by the court. The contestant has designated Homer R. Wood of Prescott as inspector for him. The petitioner will appear in court tomorrow morning and ask that the other two inspectors be named. This brings the entire contest to this county, where all the ballots cast at the late election will be brought.

Charge of Murder.
Seattle, Wash., Dec. 6.—A charge of murder in the first degree was filed today against Percival V. Allen, who escaped from the county jail last Monday while serving a year's sentence for unlawfully living with Miss Anna Danielson, who died in convulsions in Allen's apartments in this city last July. No trace of Allen has been found, but it is believed he is hiding in Seattle.

The murder charge is filed because of evidence of poisoning discovered through the efforts of relatives of Miss Danielson in Iowa and Minnesota. The complaint names the woman as Mrs. Anna Danielson Allen, by virtue of a wedding ceremony performed in Tacoma July 25. Allen, who is alleged to have been a professional seducer of women, did not miss Danielson on a steamer voyage from San Francisco to Seattle.

POLICEMAN IS SUSPENDED TO AWAIT HEARINGS

Chief Galusha Says Charges Are to Be Made Against Tom A. Summers; Policeman Wants Investigation.

Charges are to be filed against Tom A. Summers, traffic policeman, said Chief J. R. Galusha last night. Summers was suspended to await his hearing before the council. The policeman turned in his star when he went off duty last night.

The nature of the charges which Chief Galusha said were to be filed was not made public. The chief said he did not wish to make them known until they had been formally prepared. Summers said he had not been informed as to what the charges were. A city ordinance requires only that he be served with a copy of them two days before his hearing.

Summers said he would demand a full investigation. Summers was appointed as policeman by Mayor Henry Westfield when he took office last April. Previously, he was a conductor in the employ of the trolley company for years. He has been on duty as traffic policeman at Second street and Central avenue during all of his police service.

ANN PENNINGTON MAKES SCREEN DEBUT AT THE LYRIC TODAY

Many are the romances which are enacted upon the stage and screen, but few are more fascinating than the real story of a real star—Ann Pennington, who danced her way from the amateur entertainment platform to Broadway stardom in an incredibly short time and who is now making her debut on the screen as a Famous Players star. Little Miss Pennington, who is so tiny that all her friends affectionately call her "Pennie," has won her way to the top of the professional ladder by sheer force of personality and of artistic endowment. A natural comedienne, an immeasurably clever dancer and a delightful personality, Miss Pennington has brought Broadway to her almost imperceptible feet in a remarkably brief time.

Her appearance in the title role of "Susie Snowflake" marks the climax of a truly spectacular career. For Miss Pennington has only been a member of the theatrical world for four years, making her first musical comedy appearance in "The Red Widow," in which she toured the country. "Susie Snowflake," which the Paramount picture at the Lyric today and tomorrow, is a happy choice on the part of the Famous Players, for it is in itself a story of the musical comedy world. During the course of this tale Miss Pennington does all the clever little things on the screen which have won her a country-wide reputation on the stage. For the screening of this delightful subject a perfect replica of a typical musical comedy theater, with stage and orchestra complete, was erected in the producer's studio, and an entire play was enacted before the camera.

Miss Pennington's diminutive stature, her tremendously black eyes, her undeniably appealing personality and her genuine histrionic ability—which have already won her the foremost rank among musical comedy stage stars—will unquestionably assure her an equal success on the screen. "There is something irresistibly appealing about 'Susie,' and Miss Pennington has caught the charm of this little dancer who scandalizes her maidenly aunts and sets a whole town agog when she brings her Broadway ideals into the community. But there is a lot of real character and unswerving loyalty in 'Susie,' as she proves when she is put to the test.

In addition to the drama Maurice Costello and Ethel Grandin will be seen in the "Crimson Stain Mystery," a two-reel episode of society life.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

FEDERAL FARM LOAN BOARD TO DECIDE SHORTLY

Secretary Willia G. AcMdoe Says Location of Twelve Regional Banks Will Be Determined This Month.

The federal farm loan board will make its decision shortly, determining the location of the twelve regional banks provided for by the rural credits act. This was learned here last night from William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury. Secretary McAdoo said the board would reach the decision before the first of the year.

Secretary McAdoo and Mrs. McAdoo, daughter of President Wilson, were here for only a short time, on their way from California to Washington, D. C. Mr. McAdoo, who is ex officio chairman of the farm loan board, left the other members after the hearing held at Phoenix, Ariz., going to California, while the other members came to Albuquerque. He and Mrs. McAdoo have been on the Pacific coast since then.

The secretary gave no intimation as to the location of the regional banks. That will not be known until the board makes its official announcement. The announcement, however, will not be long in coming, according to Mr. McAdoo. He asked about the Albuquerque hearing and expressed regret that he was not here for the dinner given by business men to the board.

The democratic victory in New Mexico was commented upon by Secretary McAdoo, who said the state had done itself proud.

PRETTY LILLIAN GISH TO BE SEEN AT PASTIME TODAY-TOMORROW

In "Diane of the Follies," new Triangle-Fine Arts feature to be seen at the Pastime theater today and tomorrow, the story concerns principally Diane, a chorus girl, and Phillips Christy, a millionaire aristocrat, a man of delightful theories, one of which is that environment is the sum and substance of life. He is writing a book promulgating this theory, which his ambitious sister urges him to finish. His chum, Don Livingston, coaxes him to join a theater party. At a supper after the performance he meets Diane, the gayest, most charming and artificial of the girls of the Follies. To Diane, Phillips Christy falls captive. He tells his sister he will lift Diane of the Follies to their level—to the heights.

After a few brief years of married life, Diane wearies of the pose of living on the heights. Her husband, engrossed with his studies, does not realize this. She becomes dizzy upon this elevation; she pines for her own people of the theater. Her husband's quiet dignity and even her child's exquisite charm fail to interest her. Hungry for applause, Diane invites some of her former chums to visit her, to parade before them her wealth and position.

Poor Phillips Christy realizes that his theory has proved false—his wife, after the most careful training toward the uplift has sought her level in the chorus and filled his house with cigarette-smoking, cocktail-drinking women of the theater. Resentful at her husband's attitude regarding her friends, and his intolerance of them, Diane determines to leave and seek happiness in the freedom of her early environment. She deserts her husband and child and is installed as the star of the Follies. Later, in the midst of her triumph, a message comes to her from her husband requesting her presence at the sick bed of their child. Before she arrives little Bijon, the child, has passed away.

After the sad rites over the little child are performed, Christy, never forgetting his breeding, asks Diane if she desires to remain in this home under the protection of his name. She answers him truthfully from the depths of her soul:

"I am going back to my own life, to the people who understand me. You and I walk different paths and talk different languages. Our paths need never cross, and we have nothing to say to each other. The one interest that bound us together, our little girl, is no more. Neither of us has anything to forgive nor to remember. I wish you success and happiness. I am going now to seek them for myself."

The husband and wife separate, and each knows the separation is as final as if the world had ceased being.

BEST KIND OF GIFTS AT THE WRIGHT STORE

A few days ago the Journal announced the return of W. R. Wright, president of the Wright Clothing company, from a flying business trip to Chicago, where he purchased a line of the very newest Christmas and New Year novelties for his store. These goods are arriving daily—some had to be wired for to New York, and are being unpacked and placed on display. They are just the articles for the right kind of gifts from wife to husband, from mother to son, from sweetheart to sweetheart, and are substantial, not made only to wear during the holidays, but long after the happy days have passed. Step in and let the boys show you what they have got in the gift line. They will not disappoint you, and the prices are right.

FIVE RED CROSS SEALS FOR EVERY PERSON IN CITY

Woman's Club Decides That a Nickle for Every Inhabitant of Albuquerque Is Necessary in Tuberculosis Fight.

Members of the Women's club are not satisfied with the one seal per inhabitant which the National Red Cross society has set as its aim, and they have given out to the school children and members of the club for sale in Albuquerque 50,000 of the little Red Cross stickers.

"That is about five seals per inhabitant," Mrs. G. J. G. Knowles said last night. "Any city as closely interested in the control of the white plague as this city should contribute more than one penny apiece for the work. By the way, have you bought your five?"

Reports from the school children are encouraging, all the schools having sent in to headquarters requests for from 500 to 4,000 additional stickers in the last 60 days, and checks from different parts of the state indicate that the sales are beginning early and well everywhere.

Eight thousand seals, totalling but $80, was the Albuquerque record last year, unwillingly admitted by the members of the Women's club, who are working to obliterate that low mark so completely this year that it will not again be quoted to them.

Over $3,250,000 has been raised by Red Cross Christmas Seals in the last eight years, and yet many people who will buy these holiday stickers at this ninth annual sale do not know how this idea originated.

While Red Cross seals really date back to the Civil war, when "Charity Stamps" were first used, the first campaign to sell holiday stickers for the tuberculosis fight was only nine years ago, in Delaware. Miss Emily E. Russell, of Wilmington, read an article by Jacob Riis describing stamps used for tuberculosis work in Norway, and she conceived the idea of a similar plan here. Single-handed, she launched a sale which resulted in $3,000 clear money. When Miss Russell tried to convince the American Red Cross that this idea should be made national as a peace activity of that society, she met with opposition, but finally persuaded the authorities, with the result that on an investment of a

PRESENT SYSTEM OF APPOINTING CADETS SHOULD BE ABOLISHED

Secretary of War Advises Creation of Preparatory Schools by Federal Government as Feeders to West Point.

GUARD MOBILIZATION ON BORDER SUCCESSFUL

Recruiting for Regular Army Lags; Transportation Service Generally Good; Service of Militia Most Trying.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Efficient military organization of the nation demands abandonment of the present system of selecting candidates for admission to the military academy, Secretary Baker declares in his annual report made public today. Instead of having the president and members of congress designate students to take the entrance examinations, the secretary urges that preparatory schools be established by the government and graduates of these institutions who show the greatest fitness be further trained at West Point or Annapolis.

"It seems likely," Mr. Baker says, "that schools of this sort would spread the field of selection ideally over the country and make the cadets at West Point and midshipmen at Annapolis bodies of young men selected by a demonstration of their special aptitude for the pursuit of military service."

Amplifying his suggestion, he adds:

Present System Bad.

"The method of selection of cadets for West Point has for years consisted of designation by the president and members of congress, with examination as a prerequisite to acceptance; but we are learning daily that a nation efficiently organized from a military point of view must of necessity be efficiently organized industrially. We are learning also that the ideal military preparation of any country is one which is readily expanded in an emergency so as to include great numbers of men in the industrial and commercial life of the nation who have had enough preliminary training to make them competent to take up military training in the event of a national emergency. Should the United States ever be called upon to meet a great military emergency a large army would have to be sustained and supported by a highly co-ordinated industrial system. There should therefore be in the country at all times a great body of men trained as mechanics, whose places in such an emergency would be not in the ranks of the fighting forces but at the lathes and forges from which the armament supply of the army must be drawn.

Preparatory Schools.

"I venture to believe that if the federal government were to establish in a number of places throughout the country schools preparatory to the military academy at West Point and the naval academy at Annapolis, in which the rudiments of a sound education, the elements of mechanical skill, the principles of business coordination, and the beginnings of military science were taught, these schools would develop the natural aptitudes of the students in such a way as to supply those fittest by temperament and talent to pursue in the military academy and the naval academy the study of military science; and incidentally these schools would furnish a great body of men returning to civil life fitted by training either to respond in an emergency to a call to the colors or to take their places as civil soldiers in the service of the government in those industries and undertakings fundamental to the successful conduct of military operations.

"The suggestion here made ought not perhaps to be further elaborated in this report, but I think it will be apparent on reflection that no expenditure in contemplation of a great military emergency would be more apt or helpful than one which gave to 25,000 or 30,000 young men the inspiration of industrial education at the hands of the government indoctrinated them with the spirit of service to their country, and tabulated them so that they would be always available for either the military or industrial service which their academic experience indicated most in accordance with their aptitudes."

Reviews Mobilization.

Mr. Baker calls attention to the fact that he did not take office until March 9, 1916, succeeding General Scott who was secretary ad interim after the resignation of Secretary Garrison. He reviews briefly the history of affairs on the Mexican border beginning with the raid on Columbus, New Mexico, and carrying it forward to November 20th, the date of the report. On that day, he says, there are still 110,000 officers and men of the national guard on the border in addition to approximately 48,000 members of the regular army.

Under the sub-heading, "The Present Situation," the report continues: "The mere presence of this enlarged force has served to preserve peace and protect life and property. Disturbances by outlaws and bandits in northern Mexico have continued and roving bands of various numbers have moved through the territory, harassing Mexican forces and raiding Mexican communities, but they have not ventured an attack upon the people of the United States. In the meantime the militia forces on the border have been drilled, their organizations perfected, and their personnel accustomed to life in camp in the performance of this defensive duty."

The report goes at some length into the odd situation which was presented when the national guard was summoned for border duty. Reorganization of the force under the national defense act was in progress but not completed at the time, Mr. Baker says and many complex problems had to be solved.

"The confusions and difficulties attending the mobilization," he continues, "will seem insignificant in comparison with its success and with the splendid spirit with which men and officers of the national guard responded."

Test for State Troops.

The secretary points out that the duty to which the state troops were called was the most trying a soldier could be required to perform, lacking the movement and enthusiasm of active military operations yet presenting all the privations of a soldier's life.

"It is not strange that some restlessness and complaint have been heard both from an occasional member of one of the guard forces and from their friends at home," he said. "These complaints, however, have been minor and infrequent. The spirit of the residents has been high, their service cheerful and their appreciation both of their opportunity for public service and of the value of the training received by them has been evidenced from all quarters."

The report discusses at length what was accomplished by the war department through co-operation with the American Railway association in the rapid transportation of troops and supplies to the Mexican border. Declaring the movement was carried out without any serious confusion or delay, Secretary Baker said:

"It seems to me just to claim for the war department and for the co-operating railroads that they managed the task, although of unusual difficulty and size, with great skill and most commendable success."

Recruiting Not Satisfactory.

Some disappointment is expressed over the slow progress in recruiting for the army. While the number of men accepted every month for army service has increased since last year, "it has not been as marked an increase as desired," the secretary says. High wages and scarcity of labor are cited as responsible.

"Thus the recruiting service, which is any one of many employers, has been unable to secure the recruits needed," the report continues. "However, during June, July and August, 1916, the number of enlistments increased practically 175 per cent over the corresponding months of 1915. The report shows that on June 30, 1916, the authorized total strength of the regular army was 5,018 officers and 122,693 enlisted men, an increase of 184 officers and 25,445 men over the preceding year. The actual strength on that date was 4,842 officers and 87,618 enlisted men or a net gain during the year of 227 officers and 1,248 men."

Analyzing the national defense act the report finds that the maximum enlisted peace strength authorized is 233,580, while the war strength would reach a total of 298,000. The strength of the national guard contemplated by the bill is fixed at 17,600 officers and 440,000 men, but the report says nothing as to the prospect of enlisting enough men to fill up either service.

To Probe Fraud Charges.

Columbus, Ohio, Dec. 6.—Charles Q. Hildebrand, secretary of state, today ordered statewide investigations of charges of fraud and error in the recent Ohio election. The charges were filed with him by the republican state committee. All ballots which would have been destroyed tomorrow, were ordered preserved.

To Repeal Guard Act.

Washington, Dec. 6.—Senator Borah's avowed intention to seek repeal of the provisions of the national defense act, which federalized the national guard, took definite form today when he introduced a bill for that purpose. It was referred to the military committee.

WANT PACKERS TO AID THEM IN SOLVING PROBLEM

Delegates to National Conference on Marketing and Farm Credits See Waste in Animal Industry.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Delegates to the annual session of the National Conference of Marketing and Farm Credits devoted their time today to consideration of the packing industry as it related to the stock man.

Debate followed the presentation of papers treating with the raising and marketing of livestock.

Many speakers insisted that the whole industry, as proposed in the Borland bill, should be investigated, not as an attack on the packing industry, but to discover where lies the waste which some economists assert account for the absence of substantial profit.

W. H. Parry, of the federal trade commission, was an attentive listener. It is this commissioner which the cattle men asserted should make the investigation.

D. E. Heard of Phoenix, Ariz., president of the American National Livestock association, and A. E. de Riegles of Denver, secretary of the association's market committee, advocated inviting the aid of the packers in solving the problem of the cattle men.

Mr. de Riegles suggested that possibly a packing monopoly properly controlled would be a good thing, and that it even might be for the good of all concerned if the packers, who are also the biggest wholesalers, should go into the retail meat business.

Speakers today included also M. L. McClure, president of the American National Livestock exchange of Kansas City; T. W. Tomlinson, secretary of the American National Livestock association, Denver; George K. Andrews, commissioner of agriculture for the Missouri Pacific railroad, St. Louis; E. L. Burke, a ranchman of Omaha, and E. C. Lusater of Texas, said to own the largest dairy herd in the world. Another speaker was Henry Krumery of Wisconsin, who said that the packers last summer purchased 60 per cent of the cheese made in his state. He said that the packers bought cheese at 11 and 13 cents which reached the consumer at from 25 to 30 cents.

Address by de Riegles.

The address by Mr. de Riegles was the principal one devoted to livestock. In the course of his remarks he said: "A continued study of the special market question leads on in the direction of monopoly. The more you dig into it the more you are convinced that it is a monopoly, and perhaps you also believe that instead of destroying this monopoly and experimenting with something else, we had better take charge of it so as to eliminate its bad features and continue the good ones."

"I think the principals in this packing house business are convinced that they should ease up a bit on the old time market pressure. I am satisfied that a great many things have been done at market of which they were not informed and, even if they did know it, I believe that they have come to the conclusion that it is not good policy to continue to put too much pressure on either side of the business; that is, reduce too much the price of cattle that are bought at market, or to hold the dressed beef at too high a value. In fact, I do not think they have as much to say about the price of dressed beef as we think they have, because I noticed a butcher in New York city who was bidding for several carcasses considerably less than the salesman wanted. When his bids were not accepted he went shopping at another packer's. That was a revelation to me, as I always thought that the retailer had little to say about what he paid, but it looked as if he had it pretty much his own way."

In New York city, the speaker said, the retailers cart their wholesale purchases in their own wagons, which he said often were unsanitary.

"It has occurred to me," he said, "that as an economic move, we may finally ask the big packers to add the retailing feature of the business to their undertakings. We would then be dealing with responsible parties whom we could hold to account for unsatisfactory prices or unsanitary conditions."

Mr. de Riegles said that his committee had arranged a conference with the packers, and that the packers would be asked to join in a petition for an investigation by the federal trade commission. Their previous refusal to do so, he said, had placed them in a questionable position.

Arthur Meeker, general manager of Armour & Co., and many others connected with the packing industry here, were among those present. None of them, however, was on the program of speakers.

Mr. Tomlinson said that the packing business was so profitable, more people did not go into it. He said the reason was that the independents feared the big packers would go into their territory with cut prices just long enough to drive them out of business.

Mr. Heard quoted a statement that Europe could live on the products wasted in the United States, and said "we want the help of packers in remedying this condition."

Milk producers present drew up a tentative set of by-laws for a national organization, which it was voted yesterday to form.

GREGORY FINDS VITAL DEFECTS IN PRESENT LAWS

Attorney General Has Complete Divorcement of Transportation From Production; White Slave Act Enforced.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Washington, Dec. 6.—Complete divorce of transportation from production by amending the commodities clause of the interstate commerce law; authority to sue corporations wherever they transact business; perfection of the right of search warrant in criminal cases, are among the recommendations of Attorney General Gregory in his annual report to congress, made public today.

The attorney general says that despite the government's victory in the supreme court in the Lackawanna Coal company case, the railroads are still able to claim that the commodities clause does not prohibit them from engaging in production along their lines, provided only that they sell the articles produced before transporting them. He urges an amendment, introduced at the last session of congress to prohibit a railroad from transporting articles manufactured or produced by it or by any corporation it controls or it is affiliated with by having the same controlling stockholders, irrespective of interest in the articles at the time of transportation. He says it is also necessary that congress prohibit any railroad owned or controlled by a producing or trading corporation, and not merely a plant from transporting the articles produced or owned.

Employment for federal prisoners and an amendment to the criminal code to prohibit the false labeling of packages which contain arms and ammunition are among other recommendations. The last is to meet evasions of the embargo on arms to Mexico.

The present administration, the attorney general says, has insisted upon more effective dissolutions of monopolies and combinations in restraint of trade and at the same time "has been solicitous to avoid prosecutions for which there is no adequate ground."

During the last ten of these cases have been finally determined and of 26 cases now pending 15, including the Reading, Lehigh Valley, Harvester, Steel, Kodak and Shoe machinery cases, have reached the supreme court. Of those disposed of, one was the case of the National Register company, whose conviction was set aside by the court of appeals annulling two counts of the indictment and construing the third so as to make a successful retrial impossible, and the attorney general says "the criminal proceedings will not be further prosecuted."

The report says considerable progress has been made in the government suits against the Southern Pacific railroad affecting title to oil lands. The lands involved in the litigation, Mr. Gregory says, aggregate over 150,000 acres said to be worth $500,000,000.

White Slave Traffic Law.

Enforcement of the white slave traffic law led to 494 indictments, 234 convictions, 54 cases nolle prossed, 45 acquittals and 400 cases still pending. Since the law was passed there have been 1,537 convictions, sentences aggregating 2,456 years and fines totaling $172,060. Legislation is urged to enable wives to testify against their husbands.

Despite country-wide investigation of reported breaches of neutrality and other criminal acts arising from war, many of the cases were found to have violated state rather than federal laws. Most of the plots involved difficulty in obtaining evidence. The Mexican situation has led to thirteen indictments affecting sixty persons, of whom twenty-five have been convicted.

"Mere plotting alone," says the report, "is not criminal. Planning or preparation in this country of a military expedition designed to start

BROTHERHOODS AWAIT SUPREME COURT ACTION.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Denver, Dec. 6.—Harry R. Tabor, United States attorney, and a number of officials of the railroad men's brotherhoods, defendants in suits brought in equity to prevent the enforcement of the Adamson act, this morning entered motions to dismiss the actions.

The defendants stipulated with attorneys representing the plaintiffs—the Colorado and Southern, Santa Fe, Burlington and Union Pacific railroads—that no action should be taken further in the cases until a decision had been reached by the supreme court on a test case.

Take one or two Cascarabs tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up feeling grand, your bowels will be clear, your tongue clean, your liver sweet, stomach regulated and your life and thirty feet of bowels free. Get straightened up by morning. Stop the headache, biliousness, colds and bad days. Feel fit and ready for work or play. Cascarabs do not grip, sicken or inconvenience you the next day like salts, pills or calomel. They're fine!

Mothers should give a whole Cascarab any time to cross, sick, bilious or fretful children because it will act thoroughly and can not injure.

STOCK EXCHANGE TAKES UPWARD TURN; MONEY EASY

Flowing of Rates Is Ascribed to Inflow of $17,000,000 Gold From Canada; Russia Sends Yellow Coin.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Relaxation of money rates prompted fresh speculation today, although the movement of stocks was hardly regular or uniform, some shares reflecting steady pressure. The minimum rate on call money was 7 per cent, with an abundance of offerings later at 5 and 6 and a rate of 3 per cent.

The easing off of money was ascribed to another heavy inflow from Canada, a total of $17,000,000 being received here and in Philadelphia from that source.

Further stabilization was afforded by the large amount of Russian gold recently consigned to local bankers and the induced demands from the interior, insuring a favorable bank balance at the close of the current month.

Price movements were often conflicting, cheap rails moving to higher levels, while standard shares of that group were either hesitant or lower.

Petroleum as a class were responsive to a substantial measure to the recovery of crude oil prices and sugar was better with further strength in American Woolen. Corn Products, gas, and Western Union and numerous others.

United States Steel repeated its uncertain course of the pending session, closed at a fractional advance, gains of one to three points in iron industries. Equipments and others backed and filled, but most were strong.

Total sales amounted to 1,975,000 shares. Further heaviness in international contributed to the irregularity of the bond market. Total sales, $5,575,000.

United States bonds were unchanged in call.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Huge export sales carried the wheat market sharply upward today. Prices, although unsettled, at the close were 2 1/2 to 4 1/2 net higher, with May at $1.80 @ $1.81 1/2, and July at $1.50 1/2. Corn gained 2 1/2 to 2 3/4, oats 1 1/4 to 1 1/2, and provisions 2 1/2 to 3 1/2.

Purchases of wheat for Europe today were on such a big scale that the total amount taken this week to go as soon as possible across the Atlantic was swollen to 6,000,000 bushels. The rush to the buying side of the market began as soon as trade opened and notwithstanding that Dutch, Greek and Belgian requirements were said to have been about filled, the bulls continued in control as a result of references to food shortage in Great Britain and allied countries, and to difficulty of imports from Australia and India.

Increased marine war risk insurance and an erroneous report that an American steamer had been sunk, led at one time to a selling drive in the wheat pit.

In corn the scantiness of rural offerings tended to bring about an advance, which was given further impetus by a forecast of rough weather.

Oats responded to the gains in other cereals.

Higher quotations on hogs and grain lifted the provisions market.

Closing prices:
Wheat—May, $1.80 1/2; July, $1.50 1/2.
Corn—May, 95 1/2; July, 95.
Oats—May, 58 1/2; July, 55 1/2.
Pork—Jan., $27.65; May, $28.55.
Lard—Jan., $16.45; May, $16.27.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This dissolves it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use smoothly to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces in all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

Here's Speedy Relief from Kidney Troubles

"Foley Kidney Pills have done me a heap of good." A. T. Bartlett, Brooklyn, Mass.

Some days it seems as if you can no longer bear the pain and misery you suffer from kidney and bladder trouble. The ache across your back grows worse with every move you make, and with every step you take. It not only robs you of all your strength and energy, but it affects the other important organs of the body as well. Nervousness, headache, disordered stomach, liver trouble, bad sight, are only some of the conditions that follow kidney trouble. Foley Kidney Pills help the sick weak kidneys to regain their normal healthy state and activity. When they are again able to do their work effectively, your system is no longer choked and blocked with poisonous waste matter. Your uric acid is cleared up, your uric acid pain, misery and weakness go away. Foley Kidney Pills can do you also a heap of good.

RELATIONS WITH UNITED STATES INTEREST JAPS

Press of Country Comment on Subject in Different Ways; Some Amicable and Others Are Jingoistic.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)

Tokio, Oct. 31.—That the relations between Japan and the United States occupy the minds of the Japanese people has been especially evidenced during the last six weeks when a large number of articles concerning that subject have appeared in newspapers and magazines. The authors have addressed themselves with considerable freedom and frankness to the question. Most of them have been prudent and amicable, seeking to find a solution of matters at issue; others "jingoistic" in tone, have voiced pessimism as to the future. The discussion has hinged largely on China. It is to be noted, however, that more eminent and representative writers have placed themselves in the first class while the lesser known and more sensational Japanese commentators belong to the second.

Japan's present unprecedented prosperity which is chiefly due to the European war has swept through the empire a wave of satisfaction that the nation should be attaining such great material progress and it has awakened all minds to the vast possibilities of continued and constantly augmenting advance in finance, industry and commerce. Developments are to be noted in all directions and if the war continues for a long period Japan's position will be greatly enhanced. She will reduce her national debt, she will expand her already immense shipping, she will strengthen her industries and above all she will extend her commerce. It is the great nation of China to which Japan looks with eager eye for commercial growth and China is the crux of the relations between Japan and the United States in the immediate future.

Influence in China.

At Tokyo the belief prevails that Japan will continue her endeavor to increase her political influence in China. But Japanese business men are constantly clamoring for a political ascendancy that will not be so imprudent as to endanger a peaceful economic conquest of the neighboring republic. Put differently, conservative Japanese want to break down the barrier of distrust existing in China against things Japanese and replace it with a feeling of confidence which will establish free trade relations based on business factors.

The readiness with which the Chinese recently granted American capitalists a concession to build a long railroad and their hesitation in making contracts with the Japanese has awakened Japanese to the fact that ascendancy in China to be successful must be accompanied by some measure of trust and confidence.

At this particular moment the Japanese idea is the desirability of co-operation with the United States in the development of China. The idea was suggested by Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, during his recent visit to Tokyo, and it is understood that some plan of co-operation along broad lines is now being tentatively elaborated by representative Japanese commercial leaders. Although the Russo-Japanese alliance which calls for mutual co-operation in the defense of their special interests in China is actively in operation there is no present proof of prevailing tone that Japan will permit the alliance seriously to prove inimical to the economic interests of America.

Co-operation Favored.

The new idea of co-operation finds favor both in governmental and non-official circles. It is especially emphasized by Viscount Kentaro Kaneko, member of the privy council, in the October number of Chuo Koron or Central Review. Viscount Kaneko, who knows the United States very well and knows a good deal about the temperament of the American people, comes out flatly in favor of an economic alliance with the United States in respect to China. His reason is that a program of harmony and understanding would avoid needless competition and work to the best interests of Japan, the United States and China. He said: "Japan might make temporary profits by dumping her commodities in China and driving away American goods from that market, but such an act would hardly improve the relations between Japan and America." As he may the situation here had much better define their respective spheres of economic activity. As an instance, he suggested, that Japan might monopolize the small hardware trade in China and leave to Americans the market for nails, iron pipes, etc. In cotton spinning the Japanese might sell coarse threads and the Americans might sell fine threads. It is by such means that a conflict of interests could be avoided. And he added: "If such an effective economic alliance be concluded, agitators may do what they like—there will be no fear of a conflict between the two countries."

Turning to the question of immigration Viscount Kaneko expressed the opinion that if the Japanese immigrants in the United States are misunderstood there it is largely their own fault. They are not inferior to European immigrants—they are thrifty and humane—but they should adopt American customs and manners and strive to harmonize with their white neighbors instead of living a life apart. If their cost of living is increased they could overcome that by selling their products at the same prices as the American farmers and traders, instead of underselling them. Thus they would root out another cause of ill-feeling.

To accomplish these reforms Viscount Kaneko suggests the formation of a Japanese association at San Francisco to oversee the immigrants. If they persist in their ways they should be transported back to Japan. With true assimilation, the writer believed, the Japanese immigrants could reasonably look forward to the right of citizenship and the right to vote. "In short," he said, "they will be treated by the white men as their equals."

Dr. Kazutami Ukita, the historian and well known editor of the Taiyo Magazine, discusses American questions in a leading article on the effect of the effect of the Russo-Japanese alliance in the control or domination of the Pacific. He believes that by that alliance Japan has strengthened her position in the Asiatic continent. Pointing out that during the war the Pacific ocean will be exclusively dominated by Japan, Great Britain and the United States, Dr. Ukita says that the United States with its steady naval expansion will become the greatest naval power in the Pacific in the future. He added: "If Japan, Great Britain and the United States co-operate peacefully in the Pacific, and derive the common benefits accruing therefrom, tranquility will reign in the Pacific ocean; but if a peaceful co-operation among these three powers should be found difficult, the Pacific may be torn into a hostile area and the world may witness another great war. At any rate the relations among these three powers in the Pacific are worthy of special study, and we have no doubt that the new Russo-Japanese agreement will have a very important effect thereon."

But Dr. Ukita thinks it is either impossible or unnecessary for any of these three powers to monopolize the sea power in the Pacific. It will be sufficient for Japan, in his opinion, to maintain such a navy as will be competent to protect her from foreign aggression and insure the peace of the Far East.

Contributors to Forum.

Other writers participating in the forum include Professor Shigeo Suyehiro, of the Imperial University of Kyoto; Shintaro Inagaki and Eijiro Hirano. Professor Suyehiro is rather prominent from a trip he made to Mexico when he interviewed President Madero and was heartily welcomed. The other contributors are little known.

Writing in the Central Review Dr. Suyehiro expresses gloomy forebodings for the future of the so-called American problems. He fears that after the war America with her wealth will prove a keen competitor for Japan in the markets of China which may lead to political friction.

Also, he believes that the immigration question is a vital problem for the Japanese people whose future expansion depends upon the manner in which it is solved. He insists that America's treatment of Japanese injures Japan's prestige with the Chinese, who will never regard Japan as an equal of the European powers. "To solve our Chinese questions completely," he concluded, "we must solve the American question."

To give an idea of the viewpoint of the sensational writers, there are the words of Mr. Inagaki who says: "The chief motive of the new American militarism is first to defend the United States against a possible attack from Germany and Japan, and second to contend for supremacy in the Orient. In short, America has an uneasy conscience over the stopping of Japanese immigrants and is conjuring up fearful bogaboos of all sorts from her own troubled conscience. Witness the ridiculous Magdalena bay incident."

GANG OF OPIUM SMUGGLERS FOUND IN AGUA PRIETA

Eight Americans and Fourteen Chinese Are Caught in Raid by Mexican Authorities Across From Douglas.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 6.—As the result of the arrest of eight Americans and fourteen Chinese in a raid on an alleged opium den in Agua Prieta, on Tuesday afternoon, the civil officials of the Mexican town, which is across the international boundary from Douglas, believe they have uncovered an opium ring ramifying to Los Angeles, San Francisco, El Paso, Denver, and many other points in the United States. The prisoners are being held incommunicado while the investigation is in progress.

A report that the gang had opium valued at $50,000 stored in Agua Prieta, awaiting opportunity to smuggle it across the border here for distribution through agents in several large cities, was being investigated today, Ives G. Leveier, Mexican consul here, said.

Underground passages connecting the opium den with other Chinese houses in Agua Prieta were discovered at the time the raid was made, the consul stated. The Mexican officials are proceeding on the theory that opium is buried or hidden in some other manner in this labyrinth, and are making a thorough search.

The officials refuse to make known the identity of the prisoners, but the consul said one of them was a Los Angeles man, believed to be one of the agents of the smuggling gang, while the other seven Americans are residents of Douglas.

Mexican Plotters Executed. New Orleans, Dec. 6.—Newspaper and mail editors received here today from Merida, Yucatan, give accounts of the execution there a week ago of five Mexicans, including Captain Victor Mora of the Carranza army, who were convicted of plotting to assassinate Governor Alvarado and planning to seize the funds of the Yucatan Henequen Growers' commission. About a dozen others, including several soldiers, were sentenced to penitentiary terms of from five to eight years on similar charges.

WAX IS FULLY IDENTIFIED BY MANY PEOPLE

James W. Osborne and Wife, Several Women to Whom He Made Love, Recognize Impersonator.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

New York, Dec. 6.—Positive identification of Charles H. Wax as "Oliver Osborne," elusive swain of a score of young women in this city, was made today by eight persons. He has yet, however, to face Miss Rae Tanzer, the factory worker, whose $250,000 breach of promise suit against James W. Osborne, a prominent attorney, whom she accused of courting her as "Oliver Osborne," led to a succession of legal proceedings and revelations of a long chapter of sentimental adventures, in which "Oliver" played the dual role of hero and villain. Wax has admitted it was he who made love to Miss Tanzer.

Osborne Vindicated. The federal authorities probably will not invite Miss Tanzer to call upon Wax. They maintain that James W. Osborne already has been vindicated of the charge of having wooed and won Miss Tanzer under the alias of "Oliver."

Assistant United States District Attorney Roger B. Wood announced the charges of perjury and extortion against Miss Tanzer and several of her witnesses in the breach of promise case will be reopened and the case rushed to trial. Wax's identification began as a legal proceeding, but developed into a welcome home reception. He was greeted with all the warmth of a returned prodigal. Among the visitors were some of the young women he had courted. Instead of condemning him, they wished him good luck.

Victim Is Sympathetic. Miss Rose Helen Kaiser, who is said to have succeeded Miss Tanzer in his affections, took both Wax's hands in hers and said, with tears in her eyes: "I'm so sorry for you."

Another young woman, Miss Blanche Younger, when asked by one of the government representatives why she didn't shake hands with him, said that she would if Wax would permit her to. She, too, told him how sorry she felt for him.

The persons who established the identity of Wax as the elusive "Oliver" to the satisfaction of the federal authorities, however, were James W. Osborne, mistaken for Wax, either willingly or unwittingly, by Miss Tanzer, according to the prosecution, and Mrs. Osborne. They were corroborated by Edwin Wilcox, Mr. Osborne's assistant; Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Denham, at whose home Wax roomed, and W. S. Kitchen, manager of the Plainfield hotel, where Miss Tanzer alleged she spent an afternoon with "Oliver."

Wax had admitted his identity to the Osbornes many months ago, and then disappeared.

Readily Recognized.

In every instance, Wax was almost instantly recognized, although he stood in line with newspaper reporters, photographers and federal officers. Invariably Wax smiled when greeted and shook hands warmly. Wax did not recognize Kitchen until the latter related a conversation they had before Wax engaged a room. Then Wax related in detail the circumstances of his visit to the hostelry and described to the minutest detail the hotel's interior. He also identified as his signature on the register, and wrote duplicates of the signature for purposes of comparison. The signature was one of the chief points in the many actions that have grown out of the case.

Wax detailed his military record in the Philippines, where he said he served for three years as interpreter to Major General Leonard Wood during the Mindanao campaign. He received a jagged "bolo" wound on the left forearm and proudly showed the scar. He was honorably discharged with the rank of sergeant, he said, and this was borne out by the government officers who had him in charge. He boasted of his ability to speak six languages and gave an exhibition of his linguistic attainments. He refused to discuss his romantic entanglements other than to say that he had "loved many women."

SANTA FE EXTENSION PUTS CLOVIS ON MAP

(Special Dispatch to Morning Journal)

Clovis, N. M., Dec. 6.—Indications are pointing out to Clovis citizens the fact that this city is in line to become one of the really important railway division points of the southwest. The proposed extension of the Santa Fe railroad in Texas will give to the system a line joining Fort Worth with the main line at Clovis.

Aside from the results of increased traffic—additional train crews and office force, as well as a greater force in the local shops—will come a decided advantage to the large stock raising interests of this section. While the Fort Worth market is now drawing considerable shipment of stock from this vicinity, the unsatisfactory routing now necessary is holding back much development along that line. Stock shipments are now routed to leave the Santa Fe at Amarillo and are forwarded to Fort Worth over a road which, according to shippers, does not give great satisfaction. Stock raisers in this part of the country look with satisfaction upon the prospect of a direct route from Clovis to Fort Worth and predict an increased activity in their line of industry.

MAIL STAGE IS HELD UP; DRIVER SHOT TO DEATH

Twin Falls, Idaho, Dec. 6.—The United States mail stage running from Rogerson, Idaho, to Jarbidge, Nev., was held up and robbed and its driver, F. Seary, was shot and killed today by bandits.

The first class mail sacks were rifled and an amount reported to be between $3,100 and $7,000 taken by the robbers. The sheriff of Elko county, Nev., and a posse of Jarbidge men are searching for the bandits. The stage was driven into Jarbidge by a passenger, who had placed the dead body of Seary in the stage.

STATE BANK ROBBED OF ABOUT $4,000

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 6.—Three armed men today held up the State Bank of Bothell, fifteen miles north of Seattle, securing about $4,000, and escaped in an automobile. C. C. Hubbell, the cashier, his wife, and a customer, were in the bank when the three men appeared and covered them with revolvers. The abandoned machine, with its Japanese driver, was found later in the woods several miles distant. The Japanese said his machine was hired in Seattle by the three men.

After the holdup, the Japanese said, he deliberately ran the car into a stump and the men fled.

THE NEW METHOD

(By L. W. Bower, M. D.)

Backache of any kind is often caused by kidney disorder, which means that the kidneys are not working properly. Poisonous matter and uric acid accumulate within the body in great abundance, over-working the sick kidneys, hence the copiousness of blood clots, backache in the same manner as a similar congestion in the head causes headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish, irritable, have spots appearing before the eyes, bags under the lids, and lack ambition to do things.

The latest and most effective means of overcoming this trouble, is to eat sparingly of meat, drink plenty of water between meals and take a single Anuric tablet before each meal for a while.

Simply ask your favorite druggist for Anuric if you are suffering up to the standard. If you have lumbago, rheumatism, dropsy, begin immediately this treatment with Anuric. Most scientists and medical men believe that because of an over abundance of uric acid in the system, uric salts are deposited in the tissues and cause rheumatism and gout.

The physicians and specialists at Dr. Pierce's Institution in Buffalo, N. Y., have thoroughly tested Anuric and have been with one accord successful in eradicating and throwing off from the system the uric acid which accumulates and poisons.

Patients having once used Anuric at the institution have repeatedly sent back for more. Such a demand has been created that Doctor Pierce decided to put Anuric in the drug stores of this country in a ready-to-use form. It will be their own fault if they suffering from uric acid troubles do not take advantage of this wonderful remedy.
