GRAVE PROBLEMS MUST BE FACED WHEN WAR ENDS, SAYS VANDERLIP

American Democracy May Be

BANKERS BLAMED FOR GOVERNMENT IN BUSINESS

If Financial Interests Had Been Fair With Farmers No
Farm Loan Board Would Have Been Created.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 16.—Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank of New York, addressing the Chicago Bankers' club tonight, warned his auditors that the United States would have to meet economic and social problems as a result of the war that would tax the ingenuity and resourcefulness of the nation, and called upon bankers to prepare to aid in the solution of these problems.

The belief that the United States could proceed along its own way unaffected by the war and seeking only to keep out of it, he declared, seemed a lack of imagination, blindness of vision, and a complete failure to understand the unity of the industrial, commercial and financial world.

Mr. Vanderlip reviewed the results of the war in the United States up to the present, the increase in food supplies, the development of credits.

He discussed the national legislation with praise for the federal reserve act, the federal trade commission, mentioning the federal farm loan board, he said:

"Does not the objection to the principle involved, when governmental relations are injected into business, lie quite as much with bankers as with the legislators? Will we not always find the people groping to get through governmental agencies things that are left undone or are badly done by individual initiative? Must we not safeguard the future from an unwise participation of government in business by seeing that business is so well conducted, so fairly administered, so completely responsive to legitimate needs that there will be no sound reason for government participation?"

"Within a week I heard the representative of four great railway unions state his views before a New York club. To my mind, they were views that contained the essence of anarchy. We were told that we must not pass certain laws because they would not be obeyed; we were given clear intimations regarding the power of these organizations, but there was not one hint of their duty or responsibility to society."

Country Needs Awakening.
"I am hopeful that such utterances do not voice truly the attitude of the people of America, nor of any great part of organized labor, but they certainly emphasize the need for a national awakening to the need for sound thinking on economic problems. It is easy to see that the unsound, unwise, the wrong solution of these problems that are pressing upon us will cost an immeasurable sum of potential wealth, of individual happiness and national progress."

Mr. Vanderlip declared he believed the federal reserve board had ruled unwisely in advising against investment by member banks in short term

THE WEATHER

WEATHER FORECAST.

Denver, Dec. 16.—Forecast—New Mexico: Sunday and Monday generally fair, not much change in temperature.

LOCAL WEATHER REPORT.

For twenty-four hours, ending at 6 p. m., yesterday:
Maximum temperature, 42 degrees; minimum, 21; range, 21; temperature at 6 p. m., 29; north wind; clear.

obligations of the belligerent governments.

"I believe such action by the banks would be wise from a strictly banking viewpoint," he said. "Such an investment would tend to restrict further gold importations, which may lead to dangerous domestic inflation and would provide credits which would be better than gold when eventually these exchanges turned against us."

M'LEAN WILL CASE IS SETTLED OUT OF COURT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—Edward B. McLean, son of the late John B. McLean, Washington and Cincinnati publisher, and the executor of the McLean estate, today asked the local supreme court to ratify an agreement which would end the suit brought by young McLean to break the terms of his father's will.

The agreement proposes that Mr. McLean shall have complete control of the income from the McLean fortune and be recognized as the head of the Cincinnati Enquirer and the Washington Post.

Under the terms of the will, McLean was to have received a minimum of $25,000 a year from his father's estate and the management of the properties was left almost entirely to the trustees.

Under the agreement which the court was asked to ratify today McLean would receive an income estimated as ranging from $700,000 to $1,000,000 a year, and stipulated that the executor and trustees will at all times consult with him on the management of the estate and afford him access to its books.

JOSEPH LEITER MAY LOSE SIGHT OF EYE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 16.—A special to the Daily News from Orleans says that Joseph Leiter, a Chicago banker, is threatened with the loss of one eye. Leiter, according to a hunting party which brought the news to New Orleans from Leiter's new hunting lodge, was hit in the eye by a red as he sat in a dugout waiting for game.

Mr. Leiter is a brother of the late Lady Curzon, and his attempt to corner the wheat market nearly twenty years ago, forms an interesting chapter of the annals of the Chicago board of trade.

REJECTION OF GERMAN PEACE TALK EMPHATIC

Russian Foreign Office Gives Statement to Associated Press for Transmission to American People.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Petrograd, Dec. 16.—(Via London.)—A further exposition of the Russian government's attitude toward the German peace proposal is contained in the following statement, obtained from the Russian foreign office by the Associated Press:

"A complete and emphatic rejection by Russia of Germany's offer can hardly have been necessary to convince America and other neutrals of the attitude which the allies will take toward Germany's insincere and theatrical peace proposal. Germany's wish to impress the neutral nations must have failed through the very nature of the proposal and the transparency of the motives which inspired it. The nation honestly desirous of commencing peace negotiations uses more dignified and direct methods. She does not advertise her intentions through-out the world before her proposals have even been transmitted to the powers concerned."

Merely Sensational Move.
"The German declaration has the character of a sensational act of publicity, calculated to prepossess the neutral powers. Beyond this it does not merit serious consideration. What the enemy suggests is a peace dictated by her and in accordance with the very ideas which the allies are fighting to destroy: ideas of German hegemony of the Prussian type."

"Russia cannot speak of peace with an opponent who has proclaimed himself the victor. The rejection of Germany's proposal in no sense places Russia in the position of a nation not desirous of a durable peace or inaccessible to the urgent necessity of rescuing Europe from the calamity which has cast its shadow over the entire world. But Russia will continue to suffer this calamity and add infinitely to the sacrifices which she already has made, rather than submit to the great catastrophe threatened by German imperial ambitions."

"What Russia, in common with her allies, desires, is not a destroyed Germany, but the final defeat of these ambitions of German domination. When Germany desires a fair and lasting peace, Russia will be disposed to consider the time ripe for peace negotiations."

CENTER OF PEACE INTEREST NOW REGARDED AS IN BRITISH CAPITAL

Summing Up of Allies' Purpose Likely to Be Expressed
When Lloyd-George Delivers
Speech as Premier.

EXPRESSION OF DUMA HIGHLY SIGNIFICANT

Indicates Entire Overthrow of Teutonic Influence at Petrograd and Dominance of Slavic Sentiment.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—The forwarding today of the central powers' proposals for peace removed the center of interest in the peace move to the allied capitals, particularly London, where the final attitude of the entente is expected to find expression.

With the announcement that the proposals had gone forward to the allied countries, without any accompanying comment by this government, speculation here turned for the time being from what President Wilson may do in initiating neutral mediation to what Premier Lloyd-George will declare to be the attitude of the allied nations when he speaks on the subject, probably next week, in parliament.

Text of Note Harmonized.

The three versions of the proposal, differing slightly because of the translations made in Berlin, Vienna and Constantinople, were harmonized into one official American translation, a single copy of which was sent to each of the American ambassadors and ministers in the seven belligerent countries where the United States represents German, Austrian or Turkish diplomatic interests. The actual official text probably will be forwarded later in order to preclude any chance of error or misinterpretation.

Whether any suggestion or offer to mediate will be made by this government, until it is understood unmistakably that such action will be welcomed by both sides, remains undetermined, but President Wilson is known to be anxious that the United States shall not impair its usefulness as a mediator by premature action.

Delay May Prove Wise.

The two-day delay while a uniform translation of the peace notes was being prepared here may, in the belief of some diplomats, constitute itself a hint to the belligerents of the weight that is attached by American officials to any peace proposal. In the same quarters, it is pointed out that the delay may have had the effect of preventing a hasty or premature expression by the allied nations. There has been no suggestion, however, that either of these considerations was a factor in delaying transmission of the communications.

Russia's Action Definite.

The unanimous declaration of the Russian duma against the peace proposal aroused great interest here, particularly in view of the many rumors during the last few months hinting at a possible separate peace for Russia. The Russian empire has been regarded in some quarters as the keystone in the peace situation, and information as to the diplomatic struggle in progress there is meager. It is known, however, that a semi-revolution has occurred against the German elements in the court and the bureaucracy and the action of the council and the duma recently in acting together for the first time in history, is taken as an indication of the great strengthening of the anti-German party.

FRENCH VICTORY AT VERDUN ANSWERS KAISER

London, Dec. 16.—The foreign office announced before closing today that it had not yet received the peace note, and the prominent officials disclaimed knowledge of its contents beyond what the newspapers had published.

The French victory at Verdun is acclaimed by all the London papers as the French reply to the German emperor's speech to his troops in Alsace and Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's claim of the invincibility of German arms.

The opinions in the British press, as reflected in the latest editorials, are almost unanimous that the least the government can do is to make a statement on the allied aims and objects, or ask for the presentation of the German terms.

The weekly reviews, including the financial organs, take the same line, as do also the provincial papers. The only notable exception has been the Northcliffe group which immediately urged that Great Britain should ignore the overtures.

There appears to be a consensus of opinion that the allies should not consider entering into a conference until they know approximately the central powers' policy, and unless they consider that that policy contains the seeds for agreement. The Russian rejection of the overtures was published too late for comment by the morning papers. All the afternoon papers refrain from expressing their opinion thereon.

Premier Lloyd-George's first appearance in the house of commons in his new capacity as prime minister may be delayed until the government is in a position to pronounce a definite statement of its policy toward the negotiations.

Sir Hedley Le Sueur, who is a retired soldier, writes to the papers urging that the men in the trenches have the highest right to speak on the question and that their view should be obtained before any measures are decided upon. Dispatches from Switzerland say that Count Thun, the Hungarian premier, has gone to Berlin to use his influence for peace.

DE LA HUERTA DENIES QUITTING GOVERNORSHIP

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 16.—Adolfo de la Huerta, who left here tonight for Mexico City, declared he had not resigned his office and that the report reaching the border probably emanated from his political enemies. Gilberto Valenzuela, secretary of state, is acting governor during his absence, which he expects to be for about twenty days.

He was summoned by Felix Char Carranza, he said, and did not know the reason.

The governor said he was planning to issue a decree in the near future, providing for the formation of societies dealing in various commodities. These would exchange their wares or products without necessity of handling money. This idea, he said, was a basic one in socialism and would serve to relieve the monetary situation in Mexico if generally adopted.

GERMAN GAINS IN RUMANIA ARE STILL UNCHECKED

Berlin Admits Retirement in Verdun Region Before Attacks of French; Pursue Russians in Dobruja.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Berlin, Dec. 16.—The official statement given out today follows:

"Western front in the Ypres and Westschelde salients the artillery duel temporarily increased to considerable violence. Our attacking troops south-east of Zillebeke advanced into the second British line, of which the garrison had fled."

"The French, on December 15, succeeded on the northern front of Verdun in pushing us back from the most advanced position into the prepared second line of Talou ridge, the heights north of Louvemont-Chambreville and south of Houxvaux."

"The statement also records the forcing of the Buzze river sector at two points by the Teutonic troops under Field Marshal von Mackensen. The statement reads:

"South of the Ural valley Russian attacks twice repeated, were halted by our artillery fire."

"The left wing of the Ninth army in indefatigable engagements has reached the road from Buzze to Rimol-soul."

"An additional 2,000 prisoners has been brought in. The Danube army is irresistibly advancing northeast."

"In Dobruja the Russians gave up most of their southern positions. Bulgarian, Turkish and German troops, in rapid pursuit, have crossed the line of Copelach-Lartai-Hirzova."

LLOYD-GEORGE TO MAKE IT CLEAR TO THE KAISER

Premier's Speech Next Tuesday to Leave No Doubt in Any German's Mind of Great Britain's Purpose.

MINIMIZE IMPORTANCE OF BORDER MOVEMENT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Nogales, Ariz., Dec. 16.—Mexicans in authority at Nogales, Sonora, tonight were disposed to minimize the importance of the movement of alleged Villa sympathizers across the border to Sonora, Sonora, last night. United States army officers are watching developments with interest, however.

NO AGREEMENT ON FLOOD CONTROL BILL

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—The senate committee on commerce today failed to reach an agreement on the flood control bill to appropriate $2,000,000 for the Mississippi and Sacramento rivers. The bill passed the house last May.

Advocates want the bill passed unamended, but opposition developed from senators who propose general flood control measures instead. The committee will resume consideration of the bill Wednesday.

Bonus for Homestead Company.

Lead, S. D., Dec. 16.—A 7 per cent bonus on all wages earned by employees of the Homestead Mining company during the past year will be paid, it was announced here today. About $145,000 will be distributed among the workers. The payments will be made in January.

HEAVY FIGHTING ON MEUSE GOES ON; FRENCH GAIN 9,000 PRISONERS

Germans Move Forward in Rumania With Apparently
Little Opposition; Buzze
River Is Forced.

BRITISH FIRST LINE AT YPRES PENETRATED

Peace Notes of Central Powers Are Forwarded to Allies'
Governments, From Washington, Without Comment.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Infantry fighting was resumed today on the east bank of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector. Which of the combatants assumed the offensive is not known. During the previous night the German troops had undertaken no counter-attack to regain the ground they lost as the result of the stroke inflicted by the French on Friday. Details concerning the French drive indicate the capture of 9,000 Germans and about eighty guns. Four French divisions participated in the attack and the French war office intimates that they were opposed by five German divisions.

German Gains in Rumania.
The Teutonic armies in Rumania continue to gain. A statement by the German war office that the Buzze river sector has been forced may mean that the Teutons actually have crossed that river, along which it had been expected the Rumanians would make their next stand.

In the vicinity of Ypres and Westschelde, German troops delivered an assault southeast of Zillebeke, penetrating the second British line.

A further advance of the British army on the Tiers front in Mesopotamia, within three-quarters of a mile of that river opposite Kuli-el-Amara, is recorded.

Revolutionary outbreaks in Portugal, accompanied by mutiny of some troops, have been quelled.

Peace Notes Forwarded.
The notes of the German, Austrian and Turkish governments proposing peace negotiations are expected to reach the capitals of the entente powers before Monday night. They were forwarded from Washington late Saturday afternoon by cable and were not accompanied by any expression from the United States government, but it is stated that President Wilson has reserved opportunity to add a word for peace in some way in the future.

The transmission of the notes was preceded by a visit by Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, to Secretary of State Lansing, at the conclusion of which the ambassador said they did not discuss peace terms and that the sending of the proposal without comment on the part of the United States government was a matter for this country to decide.

The note to the British government probably will be received in London in time to be ready before next Tuesday, when the premier, Lloyd-George, was to appear before the house of commons, but it now appears unlikely that his physicians will allow him to speak on that day.

RUSSIANS REPULSE AUSTRO-GERMAN FORCE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Petrograd, Dec. 16.—(Via London.)—Russian troops have repulsed an Austro-German force which was attempting to advance in the Gutor valley, on the Moldavian front of Rumania, the war office announced today.

A successful bombardment of the Russian Black sea coast by Russian warships also is reported. The statement reads:

"Rumanian front, on the Moldavian frontier the enemy's advance in the Gutor valley was repulsed."

"With a view to the destruction of mills supplying the Bulgarian army with flour, our vessels successfully bombarded the port of Zlatibrik (Belchik) on the Bulgarian Black sea coast" Wednesday. We were bombarded by three batteries and attacked by airplanes and a submarine without result for the enemy."

Big Strike in Havana.

Havana, Dec. 16.—At the expiration of the men's ultimatum at 8 o'clock this morning a general strike on the Havana Central railway was begun. Traffic has been paralyzed. The electric plant being out of operation, the current in many towns in Havana province was off. At Bada and at Guanabacoa the street car service was interrupted. The ferry service from Havana to Casa Blanca and Regla was stopped. Police are guarding the railroad and ferry terminals.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Pepper Hill, Verdun Front, Friday, Dec. 15 (via Chantilly, Dec. 16, From a Staff Correspondent of the Associated Press).—A short, sharp battle brought to the French today their third smashing victory within two months in the vicinity of Verdun. Every objective of the French was obtained.

Although the Germans offered a desperate defense, the attack was so powerful that there was no withstanding it, with the result that the Germans were pushed back along the line by the French, who only ceased on orders when the objectives had been gained.

Thousands of German prisoners poured into the French lines during the day, including 200 officers, and are still arriving. The total count already is 7,500. One division alone captured more than 1,200 Germans within an hour. More than eighty cannons were captured or destroyed.

The villages of Vacheriauville, Louvemont and Reservoirs, and Hardaumont wood now are in French hands.

The front was ten kilometers long. When the fighting ceased, owing to the darkness, the French advance had exceeded an average of three kilometers along the whole front, at various points rushing further out.

The battle began at 10 o'clock in the morning, with the left flank of the French opposite Vacheriauville, and the right flank at Fort Vaux.

As the clock struck the hour, every French gun opened a storm of steel, placing every shot immediately behind the German line. Meanwhile French infantry made one of its characteristic dashes, and reached Vacheriauville, where they fought house to house until the village was entirely in their hands.

Advancing beyond the village, the French attacked a German trench known as "Bethmann's Bowl," which was pierced after a hard fight and its occupants made prisoners. Then, up the slopes of Pepper Hill, the infantrymen could be seen making methodical progress, until at exactly an hour from the start, the twin crests of this height had been swept clear of Germans and the rockets announced the French were established there. In the meantime, the Germans on the opposing slopes had been taken in the rear by an extemporized French flank movement. The surprise was so great that both the infantrymen and the gunners attempted to flee, and French aviators turned the flight into ## Sentiment Undergoes Complete Change Overnight Owing to Prompt Rejection by Russia of Peace Proposals.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Chicago, Dec. 16.—Boursesaulting of prices took place today on a giant scale in the wheat market here. An upward jump of 10-12 cents a bushel came as a violent contrast to yesterday's setback of 12-15 cents during the rise, the rapidity of trading and the accompanying excitement were at a pitch not surpassed since the beginning of the European war.

The fact was apparent that sentiment in the wheat pit had undergone a complete reversal from the day before. Wild rushes to buy started the instant the opening gong struck and were wholly unchecked until the rise had reached the maximum of the day, 16 1/2 cents, generally about the result of the Russian duma's rejection of the German peace proposal.

Final quotations were greatly unsettled. May, the leading option, finishing at $1.62 5/8 to $1.63, the latter an advance of 50 cents.

Some of the men gathered at Sonora are known to have carried arms while crossing the boundary line, federal officials here said. Many of the men are miners who recently went on strike at Ajo, Ariz., near here.

One of the leaders of the new organization is reported to be Francisco Reyna, generally credited with having been a leader in the Santa Ysabel massacre.

A message which reached Albuquerque late yesterday afternoon said that Judge Pollock had not confirmed the sale of the mills to Oils & Company, managers for the bondholders' committee. Whether the stockholders' committee had made the showing required by Judge Pollock as a condition to his ordering the re-sale of the plant, was not known.

HAROLD LOCKWOOD AND MAY ALLISON AT LYRIC TODAY

Harold Lockwood and May Allison, the popular and talented stars now appearing together in Metro wonder-plays, will be seen on the screen here at the Lyric today only in "Mister 44," a five-part feature filled with romance and beauty. This production is said to be the best that this brilliant couple has ever appeared in and it carries a wide appeal. Mr. Lockwood and Miss Allison are surrounded by an unusually strong supporting cast headed by Lester Cuno, the well known leading man, Franklin Hall, Yonda Landowsky, Henry Otto, Allen Allen, Belle Hutchison, Lee Ames and other well known artists. The story of "Mister 44" is an unusual one, as the name implies. There are many interesting glimpses of life in the open, and contrasting pictures of life in the factories, a cheap restaurant in a city, in fashionable society, at a country club, and among the picturesque lakes, rivers and mountains of Canada. From a scenic standpoint, and in point of beauty and color "Mister 44" has not been surpassed upon the screen. It has been produced under the masterly direction of Henry Otto, who made "The River of Romance," "Cordelia," and other features that proved artistic sensations.

CONWAY SLATED FOR ASSISTANT SUPERINTENDENT

J. H. Wagner Said to Have Decided Upon Head of Santa Fe County School System for Important Office.

Rumor at present current in Albuquerque is to the effect that J. H. Wagner, recently elected state superintendent of public instruction, has decided to recommend the appointment of John V. Conway, school superintendent of Santa Fe county, as his assistant upon his accession to the office on January 1 next.

Under the law the superintendent of public instruction can not name his assistant, but can only recommend to the governor the appointment of the one whom he desires to fill the office. In view of the close relations between the superintendent and his assistant, however, and the fact that the superintendent is personally responsible for the affairs of the office, the recommendation is invariably followed as a matter of course, and it is taken for granted that if Mr. Conway is recommended by Mr. Wagner his appointment to the office by Governor-elect de Irujo will follow as a matter of course. Especially is this true in the present case in view of the growing tendency to take the schools out of politics and in view of the eminent fitness of Mr. Conway for the position for which he is said to be slated.

"Johnnie" Conway's work. "Johnnie" Conway, as he is familiarly known by his friends all over the state, has made a record of achievement as an educator of which any man might well be proud, and his appointment to the office of assistant state superintendent would be hailed with delight by school men in every county in New Mexico. A human dynamo for energy, he combines high ideals of education with a sympathetic appreciation of the needs and difficulties of the mass of the people to an extent that gives him rare value as a practical leader in educational work in New Mexico.

When he came to the office of superintendent of the schools of Santa Fe county Mr. Conway found a condition that was nothing less than appalling. Not only was there dense ignorance on the part of the rural population of the county as to the need of education, but the poverty of the people was such that it seemed a hopeless task to undertake to interest them in anything which took the children away from the work of assisting to maintain the family. Such schoolhouses as there were outside the towns were the most hovels, poorly lighted, unsanitary and wholly lacking in the first elements of modern school construction.

Arousing Interest. The first work that lay before Mr. Conway was to arouse the interest of the people of the county in the subject of education. With that tireless energy and enthusiasm he devoted himself to this task, how he went among them, argued with them and finally brought them to see that their own salvation and that of their children lay in the growth of schools among them, is one of the stories that educators love to tell in recounting the educational development of New Mexico.

Then came the matter of building new and better schoolhouses—by no means an easy one, but presenting no obstacles that could not be removed by zeal and enthusiasm, and this Mr. Conway not only had in abundance but was able to inspire in others. The poor people were too poor to stand a tax levy and a bond issue was equally out of the question. It was necessary to get them to go to work and give of what they had to provide new buildings in which to give their children an education.

How much of Mr. Conway's official salary has gone in heading up subscription lists to build new schools in his county only he knows, and he will not tell. But his example inspired others to give, and those who had no money gave what they had—labor, materials, anything that could be of use in erecting new buildings.

To Extend Influence. The result is that the schools of Santa Fe county, from being among the worst in New Mexico, are today among the best, not only as to attendance and buildings but also as to the standard of teachers, which has been raised to all other standards in the county have been raised. And those who have seen the change brought about declare that there is only one answer—"Johnnie" Conway.

It is with the belief that there are other communities in New Mexico which can be similarly improved by the influence of Mr. Conway that school men generally receive with delight the announcement that he will be made assistant state superintendent. They feel that what he has done in Santa Fe county he can do in the state at large, and they welcome the opportunity afforded him to extend and enlarge his influence, which has been exerted to such good purpose among his own people and in his own home.

Wood Alcohol Proves Fatal. Joliet, Ill., Dec. 16.—Three prisoners in the penitentiary here are dead, three more are expected to die and three others are ill as the result of drinking wood alcohol which they extracted from shellac in an effort to satisfy their craving for liquor. The deaths occurred last night and early today but the facts were not revealed until an inquest this afternoon.

Hughes to Head Lawyers. Albany, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Charles E. Hughes has been named for the presidency of the New York State Bar association by the nominating committee of that organization. It was announced today by the secretary, Frederick E. Wadhams, of this city.

SALES OF SEALS THROUGH MAILS PLEASE SHORTLE

Method Successful, Says Secretary of Society for Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis.

Speaking of the mail sale put on throughout the state by the New Mexico Society for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in an effort to bring the Red Cross seal campaign more universally before citizens, Dr. A. G. Shortle, secretary of the society, said last night:

"It has been the most successful method we have ever tried. We have up to today sold more seals by that method alone than were sold last year by all our local agents. Women's clubs and other organizations combined and the letters, excepting a very few sent to addresses in towns where we have agents, were all sent to the smaller towns throughout the state."

Dr. Leroy S. Peters, the retiring secretary of the society, and who probably has had more Red Cross Seal experience than anyone in New Mexico, said:

"The work done this year on the Red Cross Seal campaign is excellent. Both from an educational and financial standpoint. For instance, under the direction of Miss Bertha Becker, a combined educational and sales campaign has been conducted by means of which the children have been reached through the school teachers. Even the rural schools, both English and Spanish have been included. A Christmas story called 'Danny's Christmas Seal' was procured in sufficient quantities to distribute to every teacher, and that the message might be denied to none, it was translated into Spanish, and 'El Sello de Navidad de Danny' is being read this week in many schoolhouses in the state."

The New Mexico Anti-Tuberculosis society, of which Dr. Oliver T. Hyde is president, draws its members from all over the state, and its directorate elected from that membership is particularly gratified with the way in which Women's clubs, Parent-Teacher associations, Red Cross chapters, and other organizations alike have come forward and offered their services as sales agents in their respective localities.

A concrete example of this spirit was evidenced when the 1916 campaign was being organized, by Dr. Evelyn F. Frisbie, president of the Y. W. C. A., in offering the office of the latter institution as a repository for the seals and supplies to be used in the state campaign.

IMPROVEMENT OF LOS CANDELARIAS ROAD WOULD GIVE A LOOP

Property owners and residents along the Los Candelarias road want the county road board to grade and surface the way from the North Fourth street road to the Boulevard. This would make a loop drive for automobiles and other vehicles, going north on Fourth street, turning west to the Boulevard and returning by way of Old Albuquerque. The North Fourth street road and Boulevard are in good condition.

BURGLAR SEARCHES HOUSE THOROUGHLY; GETS LITTLE LOOT

A thorough-going burglar visited the home of George D. Stetson, 391 South Walter, while the family was away last night. He searched the first and second floors of the house thoroughly. The disordered contents of drawers and trunks gave evidence of his painstaking. The reward of all this work was 50 cents in money and a bowl of candy. The family missed nothing else.

Sergeant N. M. Miller was called when the family returned home and found the lights turned on. Miller searched the house but found no one. Entrance was gained by the breaking of a basement window. The burglar left through the back door, which he left open.

He was for several years chaplain at St. Catherine's Indian school.

SAN JUAN COUNTY MAN IS SELECTED TO ASSIST HALL

Treasurer-elect Names R. W. Heflin as Second in Command; Is County Treasurer and Formerly in Legislature

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—R. W. Heflin, who served in the territorial legislature, and is at present treasurer of San Juan county, is to be deputy state treasurer under Treasurer J. L. Hall. Miss Lelia Gallaher, who served as recorder in democratic headquarters and prior to that in the office of Attorney L. O. Moore, will be stenographer in the treasurer's office. Treasurer Hall and family have leased the former residence of Judge and Mrs. John B. McFie on Manhattan avenue, adjoining the residence of State Auditor and Mrs. William A. Sargent. Hall and Sargent being close friends and associates for years in the Arriba county even though on different sides of the political fence.

The Santa Fe Game Protective association has recommended F. Z. Winter of Santa Fe for the position of state game warden. Formal presentations will be made to Governor-elect E. C. de Baca on the plea that the appointment should be non-political and should go to a practical business man and one who understands the problems connected with game protection. Mr. Winter was in business for many years in Santa Fe and was a republican, having been at one time mentioned for appointment as postmaster and also having been urged for the republican nomination for county treasurer at various times. Miss W. Burford of Silver City as well as George Sena of Santa Rosa are candidates for the place.

No Limit on Legislators.
Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Attorney General Frank W. Clancy held today that there is no limitation on the expenses for campaign purposes by legislative candidates. He sets forth that legislators are paid like day laborers, by the day, and that a special session may be called and there are other reasons why it could not be definitely determined during a campaign what ten per cent of a legislator's salary might be. Mr. Clancy says: "It is not reasonable to believe that the legislature intended to apply this limit of expenditures to such candidates. We can agree that there ought to be such limitation of their expenditures but the legislature has failed to provide one."

Notes of Interest From State Museum

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—The Museum library has received a copy of the new edition of Bandelier's "Delightmakers," the remarkable novel, a classic of its kind, which against the background of the Rito de los Frijoles, describes the culture of the cliff dwellers and the ancient Pueblos, with all the care of a trained archaeologist and all the zest of an enthusiast. Interwoven in the strands of a thrilling story. Both E. W. Hodges and Charles F. Lummis write an introduction to the second edition in which great praise is bestowed upon the school of American Archaeology for its work in the Rito de los Frijoles and in being instrumental in having it created a national monument. The beautiful half tone pictures are from photographs taken by Lummis under the direction of Bandelier himself twenty-seven years ago, as well as from photographs by the School of American Archaeology and Congressmen Frederick C. Hicks. The volume comes out quite appropriately at Christmas time for it makes an ideal Christmas gift.

Madame Vera von Blumenthal expects to leave for Pasadena tomorrow to undertake the rebuilding of her bungalow which burned to the ground before last and which was the center of the Russian handicraft movement in the United States, of which the countess has charge.

William H. Hamby, the author, who spent part of the summer and fall in Santa Fe, has a story, "If a Man Feels Seven Times" in this week's Saturday Evening Post.

The Museum library today supplied two public schools in New Mexico with a set of the school's bulletins and publications for the libraries. The county has agreed to give of course to all New Mexico school libraries, such publications as it has in stock.

The museum today shipped fifty lantern slides illustrative of Santa Fe and surroundings to E. L. Page, the big seed man of Greene, N. Y., who desires them to illustrate talks on Santa Fe, which he gives to his playgoers as well as to his wealthy friends in various parts of New York state.

Mrs. H. M. Freeman and Miss H. E. Freeman, members of the Boston Society of the Archaeological Institute, are spending a few days in Santa Fe on their way home from the Pacific coast. Today they motored to the Pecos mission and pueblo ruins. They were accompanied by the librarian.

E. M. Nushbaum of Greeley, Colo., today became a member of the Archaeological society.

Films of the dances at Taos, Tesuque and of the Santa Barbara and Lumbia cantamayo's operations in Taos country, 3,000 feet in all, were shipped today by the museum through the courtesy of Col. R. E. Twitchell to Rev. Lansing Bloom, who will show them at the Presbyterian church at Magdalena, which has just installed a motion picture machine. The films will later go on a circuit of southwestern churches that give motion picture exhibits on Sundays.

A million dollar motion picture museum is to be erected in Central park, New York, in which will be preserved "such films of contemporary scenes, monuments of thought and development of human experiences as will prove of greatest historical value to generations to come." Here, too, the Museum of New Mexico is in advance of the times, for it has its motion picture films of New Mexico development, taken by Colonel Twitchell for the San Diego exposition and now stored in the museum as a depository and historical archive.

F. C. Mungrave, the British painter, arrived yesterday to join the Santa Fe art colony. He came from London without stopping en route, direct to this little old town because its fame as an artist center has gone abroad. He has been invalided from the British war service. Before going to England he painted in Australia and later joined the Cornwall artist colony.

Miss Adelaide Chamberlain, of Toledo, Ohio, the painter of miniature, who has been in Santa Fe with her mother the past few months, left for Los Angeles yesterday.

Miss Clara Lisette-Lane, the magazine writer and historian, is at the museum gathering material for the story of the Maxwell grant and the story of Governor Bent and his family.

Father Francis of Penn. Blanca, who is taking much interest in the St. Francis mural paintings, yesterday while viewing the pictures told of extraordinary burials he found in the cliff ruins north of Cochiti and the specimens of fabrics which were quite unique. He has deposited them in the museum at Cincinnati.

The first copy of the special number of Art and Archaeology, devoted entirely to the work of the School of American Archaeology, has reached here. Its hundred pages make easily the most artistic Christmas magazine issued in America this year. The frontispiece is a superb duo tint of the Old Palace and among the color illustrations is one of the Puye cliff dwellings and several of the Maya monuments at Quirigua. The article by K. M. Chapman has over a hundred illustrations of bird designs and the other contributions, all from those connected with the School of American Archaeology, are superbly illustrated with color duo tint and half tone pictures. Twenty thousand extra copies of this magnificent magazine number have been printed and will be sent to selected lists of well-to-do people interested in art and science, who will be invited to attend the new museum dedication in June.

The following registered at the museum:

Seam: C. F. Musgrave, London, England; Father Francis, Penn. Blanca, N. M.; C. E. Hapley, Mamie Francis, Streator, Ill.; Clay Fowler, Stanley, N. M.; Paul McClelland, Nell Hill Silverton, Tex.; E. N. ## PROMINENT NEW MEXICAN OF FORMER GENERATION IS CLAIMED BY DEATH

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

East Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 16.—Word has been received here of the death of Andrew H. Souter at his home in Puerto de Luna on December 11. Burial occurred at that place on December 13. Mr. Souter's name with the sheep raising industry in New Mexico.

He came to the then territory in 1871, having been brought here from Scotland by the late Wilson Waddingham to take charge of his large flock of sheep on the Pablo Montoya grant, forty miles southeast of Las Vegas. Mr. Souter continued in the employ of Mr. Waddingham and the well ranch until 1898. Mr. Souter built the first sheep dip ever used in New Mexico. On the Bell ranch he was a contemporary of the late Michael Slattery, Judge S. E. Booth, James Ewing and James Fenner, now of Trout Springs.

In 1899 Souter became manager of the sheep company organized by the late Governor William J. Mills, State Senator John S. Clark, former Governor M. A. Otero and the late Wallace Reynolds, then secretary of the territory. He managed this company until it was merged with the Salado Land and Livestock company about five years ago. Since that time Mr. Souter had been residing on a ranch at Puerto de Luna. He never married, and is said to have left his estate valued at $12,000 to Peter Amos Turnbull, a lifelong friend. Mr. Souter died at the age of 77 years.

DIED FIGHTING, IS REPORT OF HOWARD WEEKS

French Refugee Who Buried American's Body Says Man Known as Grey Fought When Led to Execution.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 16.—Howard Gray, or Howard Weeks, died fighting at Parral when Villa followers led him out to his execution, according to a reliable French refugee who reached here last night from Parral by way of Torreon, Coahuila, and Eagle Pass, Tex.

This foreigner said he had buried the American's body after he was executed. He said there was but one shot fired at Gray and that one passed through his head, causing instant death, the foreigner said. Beside Gray's body he said he found the body of a Villa soldier with a bullet wound through the neck. From the appearance of the ground surrounding the place where Gray was killed, the Frenchman said, it was apparent that Gray fought with his captors and, after killing one of them, was killed by a shot through the head instead of the customary volley from a firing squad. The foreigner made a complete report of the circumstances of Gray's death to his sister, Mrs. Paris Bowman, of this city.

The Frenchman said Alexander Ricard, a French citizen reported to have been killed, was missing when he left Parral on December 9, but he said he did not know whether he had been killed or was in hiding. Ricard's death was reported by a foreign consul in Torreon from reports given him by Parral refugees.

The refugee said Villa used the American consulate in Parral as military headquarters while he was in that town.

Tax Collections Break Record.

The entente powers recoiled from their refusal to do so on representations by the American government.

Possible Defeat for Entente Allies Is Reflected in Attitude of Speculators and Investors Alike.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—The possibility that the Germans will win the present war, which in the minds of an increasing number of people in the middle west has become a probability, must be taken into account more closely than heretofore in all business calculations. Opinion on this subject is less likely to be biased in favor of the entente powers the greater the distance from the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co. Hence western ideas on that subject are perhaps worth noting.

It is no longer a matter of the manufacture of opinion and sentiment by agents of Germany. That industry was in active operation for many months in the earlier part of the war, and doubtless it is still operative, but by no means on any such scale as formerly. Convictions on the subject now grow mainly from a study of the news as reported to this country from Europe. In view of the fact that our reports come through a British strain, it is not likely that the entente powers are exaggerated, and American opinion has been based largely on the numerical preponderance of the forces of the entente powers and assurances from London that everything will come out right in the long run. To western people such assurances have had a worn and faded appearance for some time past.

Revising Opinions.
Accordingly, many who had formed a habit of mind in regard to this subject are now breaking that habit. They are revising their opinions, and some of them, sympathizing with the entente powers, are showing great dejection. One thoughtful man holding a position in which much private information comes to him on these subjects, threw up the sponge this morning, declaring that while the war might last many months, the victory is already substantially with the Teutonic forces. This man said several months ago: "I should hate to see the Germans win. There would be no living with them."

"Living with them" is perhaps the most important element to Americans in the whole subject. Many of us are wondering how close the Germans would come to us, with no friendly intent, if they had the plain of victory on their helmets and an open sea. Well-seasoned business men consider it none too early to look upon this aspect of the affair. It is of course none too early for our government to take note of it. Faith has been put to such a test that the selection of Lloyd George as a leader has little effect on opinion. Many are wondering whether he will prove only one more plaster rather than a new vital element infused into the system. Nearly everything the British have done thus far, except the huge financiering has gone wrong.

Stock Speculators.
One sees much on these subjects working in the minds of stock speculators and today constricting the trade, though still there is such consciousness of the large earnings of the properties as to give strong support to many industrial stocks by the bank and file. Along with this is a sense of the nearness of the entente.

Medical Association Wins Protracted Suit

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—A suit which for six years has attracted the attention of medical men throughout the country, was decided in favor of the American Medical association by Judge Heard in the circuit court of Cook county today.

The organization is a non-profit-making corporation under the laws of Illinois. Dr. G. Frank Lindston of Chicago, a non-number, held that under the Illinois law the organization must hold its conventions in the city, and that its officers must be citizens of Illinois. Judge Heard decided that the state law applies only to profit-making corporations, and that it was plainly in the public interests that such organizations as the American Medical association should have the widest privileges as to the choice of officers, place of meeting and otherwise. Counsel for Dr. Lindston prayed an appeal to the appellate court of Illinois.

The thing business men have to deal with now is the growing fear of a Teutonic victory, and not the victory itself, for the entente powers are not yet whipped. Unless there is a sharp turn in favor of Great Britain and its allies, one may soon expect to hear predictions of Russia dropping out of the fight of the Balkans cleared of entente forces, of Italy weary of the long drudgery and of Great Britain weeping because nobody came to save her.

For present purposes only the relation of American business to such a possibility is under consideration, but it is time for Americans to think hard and independently.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Guy E. Manoel, the Y. M. C. A. evangelist, will come to Santa Fe for two weeks in January. He is particularly effective in his appeal to men and comes upon recommendation of Secretary Day of the El Paso Young Men's Christian association. He will hold forth at the First Presbyterian church.

In order to clear the way for the rendition of the Christmas Cantata, "The First Christmas Day," which resembles Los Pasteros at the Church of the Holy Faith, the Presbyterian Sunday school today announced its celebration for Saturday afternoon, December 24.

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Adjutant General Harry T. Herring in his annual report to Governor McDonald reports that when the call came to the guard to mobilize at Columbus, there were enlisted 727 men; there were examined 1,546 men, 485 were rejected and 1,065 were accepted, but only 990 were mustered in, not including the First Regimental band and the hospital detachment. The strength of the guard today is 969 enlisted men and 64 officers.

UNIVERSITY AND HIGHS NOW TURN TO BASKETBALL

Varsity May Play Crescents of Chicago Here on Star Quint's Westward Trip; Negotiations Are Pending.

With the last "rush" of the football season so dead that not even an echo is left, the University of New Mexico and the Albuquerque High school have turned to basketball. Both are now in the midst of the season, and the University of New Mexico is expected to put strong teams in their classes on the court.

The university has not yet definitely scheduled any games. Manager Floyd Lee, however, is negotiating with the Crescents of Chicago. The Crescents wish to play here on their way to California. Neither has the high school scheduled any games. Manager Floyd Barton, however, hopes to arrange for at least one out-of-town game for both the quintet and sextet.

Albuquerque teams will not have to go outside of the city for good games. The Indian school, Business college and the Y. M. C. A. will have teams as well as the university and high school. The Y. M. C. A.'s team, despite indications, will be a formidable contender for the open city championship this winter. The association league, which opened early, has developed some classy basketballers and Physical Director Robertson will be able to pick a strong association team from the leaguers.

The high school will have a team made up largely of veterans. Nearly all of last year's first team boys are practicing now under the tutelage of Coach Kraemer. Claude Mann was last week elected captain of the Highs.

WINSLOW HIGHS DEDICATE NEW COURT WITH VICTORY

Winslow, Ariz., Dec. 16.—The first game of basketball this year was played Friday night on the Santa Fe's indoor court between the Winslow High school and the Williams High school.

Winslow started the game with a rush and two minutes after the whistle blew the home team had made two baskets. It was not until the last two minutes of the first half that the visitors made two baskets. The remainder of the game was made on free throws. The score: Winslow, 28; Williams, 17.

SANTA FE HIGH BASKETBALLERS TO MEET LAS VEGAS TEAMS

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Both the girls' and the boys' basketball teams of the high school will go to Las Vegas on Saturday, December 23, where they will play both the Las Vegas High school and the Normal university. A return game is to be played by each at Santa Fe on January 3. Arrangements are under way for a game at Albuquerque on or about January 15.

RAISE QUESTION AS TO WHERE ALASKAN DUCKS SPEND WINTER

SEWARD, Alaska, Dec. 16.—Game wardens along Cook Inlet again have raised the question whether the ducks, which summer in Alaska, winter in China and the Philippines. The question was first raised when the ducks with rice in their crops were killed on Seward peninsula.

This winter the ducks summering on Cook Inlet had not migrated south on November 1, although zero weather already prevailed. Early in October reports were received that ducks were migrating from Canadian lakes and from California came word that ducks were arriving in the Sacramento valley a month ahead of time. It was then evident the migration of Alaskan birds had nothing to do with the arrival of the southern ones.

Anchorage hunters, hearing that ducks in large numbers were still to be found on the flats, braved the cold late in October to tag them. Several hunting parties went to grief. One party of seven left Anchorage late in October for a duck hunting at Fire Island and returned nearly dead from cold and hunger ten days later. Most of this time was spent in an open dory bucking the ice. It was too cold for the duck hunters then, but not for the ducks. On November 8 came a break in the weather and a sharp rise in the temperature.

With the warm spell and rain the ducks decided it was time to move and the last gasoline boats coming down the inlet noted the first of the migration. These ducks were flying, not southeast toward the coast states, but down Shelikof strait to the southwest. This way leads to Asia, by way of the Aleutian islands and Japanese archipelago.

SECOND TEXAS LAYS CLAIM TO FOOTBALL TITLE FOR BORDER

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 16.—The Mexican border service football championship was claimed tonight by the Second Texas infantry after outplaying the Virginia artillery here, 32 to 14. In games with troops on border duty, the Texans have scored 139 points, while holding their own goal line inviolate.

The Virginians were both out-weighted and out-classed. Most of the time using a punt formation, the Texans speed enabled them to run away from their opponents. The teams were made up of former collegiate stars of the two states.

Six-day Bicycle Rider Rides From Iowa to Condition Self

WORTH MITTEN

New York, Dec. 16.—Worth Mitten, the six-day bicycle rider, is conditioning himself for the coming grid at the Madison Square Garden by riding from his home at Davenport, Ia., to New York City. In the first stage of his journey from Davenport to Lima, O., Mitten suffered six punctures.

WASHINGTON VARSITY FINISHES ITS NINTH YEAR WITHOUT DEFEAT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
San Francisco, Dec. 16.—With its 14 to 7 victory against the University of California at Seattle, the University of Washington closed its ninth consecutive season undefeated. This is believed to be a record without parallel in the history of a major football team.

The combined points scored by Washington during the nine years amounts to the impressive total of 1,269, while opponents have scored only 107 points. Forty-five games were played and in only seventeen were opponents able to score.

These games are as follows:

Team	Points
University of California	17
Whitworth	4
Washington State	12
University of Oregon	30
Whitman	28
Oregon Agricultural College	3
Aberdeen high school	6
Gonzaga	7
Total	107

Coach Gilmore Doble has been in charge of the team during the entire time. Doble, however, has to his credit three additional years of unbroken victory achieved before he took the reins at the University of Washington. In 1908 and 1907 he was in charge of the North Dakota Aggies, who scored a total of 332 points while their opponents were unable to make a single tally. In 1905 Doble coached a Minnesota high school eleven which went through the season undefeated.

This Doble has gone through twelve successive seasons without once seeing his charges on the short side of the score, another coaching record which is believed to be unapproached by any part of the country.

U. S. MARSHAL OUGHT TO STOP WAR, THINKS AN ALASKAN CHIEF

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 16.—Chief Goodlatow of the Copper River Indians is highly incensed that Uncle Sam does not put an end to the war in Europe. Goodlatow is a learned man among his tribesmen. He knows Alaska well, and is a lover of salmon and owner of faxes. He gained considerable reputation during the building of the Copper River and Northwestern railroad by bringing to court offenders who sold liquor to members of his tribe and his profound respect for the officers of the court, who are to him the highest representatives of the law.

Ever since the war began in Europe Goodlatow has been hearing about it from time to time, but his only comment has been: "Those fellows better look out over there."

Recently the chief listened with increasing eagerness to talk about the battle of the Somme, with details of the number of killed, wounded and captured, his guns and miles of trenches. Finally he broke out with: "What's the matter over that place, a United States marshal? Why, they don't write a letter to the judges? He fix 'em."

NORTHWESTERN LEAGUE RAISES PLAYER LIMIT

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Seattle, Wash., Dec. 16.—After heated discussion during the day, directors of the Pacific Northwestern baseball league reached an agreement tonight on the following basis:

Player limit raised from thirteen to fourteen.

Monday baseball abolished.

Pinking fund created to take the place of assessments.

Schedule meeting set for Spokane in February.

It was definitely decided that Butte and Great Falls, Mont., will be members of the league next year and that Billings and Anaconda, which applied for admission, will not be given franchises.

To Try for New Record.

New York, Dec. 16.—Miss Ruth Law, who established a new American non-stop flying record during her recent flight from Chicago to New York, with try to break the world's record early next year, she announced here today. She will make the flight in a specially designed airplane that now is being built for her. The machine will make more than 100 miles an hour and will carry a ten-hour fuel supply, she said.

COAST LEAGUE FANS ARE DIGGING UP HOT STOVE LEAGUE STUFF

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 15.—Baseball statisticians continue industriously to delve into the Pacific Coast league records for material with which to regale the winter months of the enthusiasts.

Los Angeles, 1916 Coast league champions, did not drop below the first division during the year. Portland and Salt Lake did not stop over night in second place, although both teams stayed a few days in first place at various times during the year. With these three exceptions every club in the league finished at least one playing day in every position from top to the cellar in the pennant race ranking.

Counting two Mondays when games were played, there were 182 playing days in the 1916 season. Of these Oakland spent 143 days in last place and was in first place 7 days. Portland club spent 23 days in last place and 3 in first place, the fourth place San Francisco club was on top for 7 days and the bottom 1 day; the third place Salt Lake club was on top 4 days, in third place 21 days and spent 9 days in last place of the 151 days that Salt Lake was rated as a second division outfit. The second place Vernon club was in last place 1 day and only spent 6 other days in the second division; for 60 days Vernon was in first place and for 55 days in second place. The league champion Angels were in first place 113 days, in second place 49 days, and only dropped as low as third place for 20 days.

The following table shows total playing days that each club finished in each position in the pennant ranking:

Club	1st	2nd	3rd	4th	5th	6th
Los Angeles	113	49	20	0	0	0
Vernon	60	55	20	4	2	1
Salt Lake	4	0	21	68	80	9
San Francisco	7	20	163	41	10	1
Portland	3	0	20	62	65	28
Oakland	7	13	1	4	14	143

PERCENTAGES WILL DECIDE BASKETBALL TITLE ON WEST COAST

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Prospects for a Michigan rugby game in the west during the Christmas vacation are brighter than ever, according to Graduate Manager E. C. Rehner of Stanford university, who returned recently. Rehner says that the Michigan game probably will be played in Los Angeles on Christmas day, and that both the Vancouver and Victoria athletic clubs in the north want rugby games with the Michigan team. It is probable that a third northern game will be played with the Multnomah club at Portland. This club also will put a rugby team in the field to meet the Canadians annually, according to Rehner.

At the Pacific coast conference Rehner arranged names for the Cardinals in basketball, a track meet, and a crew regatta. Washington, California and Stanford probably will meet in the regatta at Oakland early next April. The date of the California-Stanford track meet at Berkeley, unless the Washington faculty refuses to let the seamen come away at that time.

The conference track meet will be held at Seattle May 19, at which time the new Washington track will be dedicated. Meets will be held first in Washington, then California, and Oregon members of the conference will play off the championship of the state by January 27, and the Washington members will do the same. The Oregon winner will come south for two games with California, February 23 and 24, and two with Stanford February 21 and 22. The Washington champion meets Stanford February 2 and 3 and California January 30 and 31. Stanford and California meet February 17 and March 3. The winner of the conference championship will be figured on a percentage basis of games won. Thus the championship will be determined without any game on Washington or Oregon soil.

Chance to Pilot Angels.

Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—Frank Chance, manager of the Los Angeles baseball team of the Pacific Coast league, announced today he would manage the team next year.

PACIFIC COAST TEAMS SHOW STRONG OFFENSE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—The student body of the University of California is well pleased with the showing made last season by their football squad. While the University of Oregon defeated the Californians in mid-season by a one-sided score, the close games against the University of Washington which brought the season to an end are particularly encouraging to adherents of the Blue and Gold.

Much satisfaction is derived from the fact that the Californians scored against both of these northwestern universities, while neither of the latter was able to gain any points against the other. This is taken to indicate that the Bears are achieving a well defined offensive which, with additional experience, will prove a stumbling block to other teams on the Pacific coast.

The majority of the Pacific coast teams have shown an offensive superior to their defensive, and in this California was no exception. With a hot backfield and a particularly fast end in the person of Capt. "Bud" Montgomery, the Californians leaned to the open and aerial form of play which was best suited to them and in which they met with a fair measure of success.

They showed weakness against the straight football tactics of their opponents, largely because the Californians still are new to all the niceties of a perfected interference, many of the intricacies of which they are still learning.

An early season weakness in the tackling department was responsible in a large measure for some of their indifferent showings, but this fault rapidly showed improvement and toward the end of the season the players brought down the opposing runners sharply and hard.

One of the principal features of the Californians' game has been its diversity, which included both the open and close formations. Adherence to no particular set style has kept its opponents constantly on edge because of the uncertainty of what to expect, and for this reason the Bears, while defeated in their principal contests, always were dangerous.

BOWLING TOURNAMENT FOR PACIFIC COAST SET FOR FEBRUARY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Many bowlers of the Pacific coast and as far east as Salt Lake City are expected to enter the annual Pacific Coast Bowling tournament, which will be held at San Jose, February 26-27, simultaneously with the annual convention of the Pacific Coast Bowling association.

F. R. Bush of San Francisco, secretary of the association, recently completed arrangements for the tournament and announced that in all probability there will be one or more teams here from Salt Lake, Los Angeles, he predicted, will send several teams and Portland, Seattle, Tacoma and other northwestern cities, including Butte, Mont., also will send representatives.

Twenty graduates from a Class B tournament have their entry fees paid in the coast tournament and there probably will be twenty teams from San Francisco and a representation from Sacramento, including the Cascades, one of the best known of the northern California teams.

King City and Gonzales, Monterey county, have written for entry blanks. Hollister will have a team, and Santa Cruz also will be represented by at least five men.

According to O. J. Forman, who will have charge of the tournament, San Jose will make a strong bid for the five-man team championship. A team probably composed of Forman, D. D. Dooley, Frank Arnerich, H. Stettin, and Dr. F. Schumacher has been carrying everything before it in fall and winter match games.

SINGLE TRANSCONTINENTAL—Across America, San Francisco to New York in 5 days, 2 hours, 31 minutes, in a 7-passenger HUDSON SUPER-SIX, the fastest time ever made across the continent by an automobile.

DOUBLE TRANSCONTINENTAL—6952 miles—twice across America—over mountains, deserts, bridgeless streams, mud, heat, cold, snow. Every known road condition conquered by a 7-passenger HUDSON SUPER-SIX in 10 days 21 hours, lowering the best previous records each way. The only double transcontinental attempt ever made against time. America's greatest motor car achievement. Your HUDSON SUPER-SIX can do likewise.

Substantiated At Santa Monica

Of the 18 starters in the Vanderbilt, but six finished, of the six THREE WERE HUDSON SUPER-SIXES. Of the starters there were several teams of three or more cars. The HUDSONS were the only cars of any make of which more than one was running at the finish. EVERY HUDSON THAT STARTED ALSO FINISHED.

In the Grand Prix both HUDSONS not only finished, but finished in the money. The only cars making faster time being two sixteen valve special racing cars built exclusively for speed.

These facts form an invincible chain of HUDSON SUPER-SIX records never approached by any competing car. They conclusively prove the HUDSON SUPER-SIX the master of any car in America, not have beauty of line and finish, luxury of upholstery and comfortable riding qualities been sacrificed for motor performance. Instead they have been worked out with equal care. A ride in a HUDSON SUPER-SIX will quickly convince you.

PLAYING FOR JESSOP POLO TROPHY TO BEGIN SOON AT CORONADO

San Francisco, Dec. 16.—Unless weather conditions interfere to make the field unsuitable for play, the mid-winter polo tournament at Coronado will begin on January 1, with competition for the Jessop trophy. The players will include well known riders who have been identified with the most noteworthy colors in the country—Meadowbrook, Bryn Mawr, Belmont, Miami Valley, Point Judith, Midwick, Denver and Coronado.

Many polo men well known here will participate in the matches. Players like Lawrence C. Phillips, Jr., Malcolm, Stevenson, Perry Readleston, Thomas Le Boulle and many others of conspicuous daring will be seen in the tournament. Probably the most discussed of them is Alexander Smith Cochran of New York, who to an estate said to be appraised at several millions, and a first rank contender for polo distinction.

Cochran arrived at San Francisco recently on his magnificent steam yacht Warrior. Some index to Cochran's efforts to equip himself as a polo player of high rank is furnished by his purchase of the beautiful Mrs. C. H. P. Belmont estate, adjoining the Meadowbrook Hunt club at Westbury, L. I. This he improved, developing a private turf for his own practice and later making a present of the regal estate to the Meadowbrook club.

E. W. Hopping, G. M. Heckscher, Benjamin Galtin, Steve Velle, Cliff M. Weatherwax, Col. Max C. Fleischman and Carleton Burke are some of the other leading players who will appear on the Coronado field during the season.

MURDERED BY MAN HE FORMERLY EMPLOYED

Lewiston, Idaho, Dec. 16.—Jewell Frong, aged 17, tonight shot and killed Lester Gifford, a wealthy farmer, in a drug store here, after having made an unsuccessful attempt to make Gifford pay him $150, which Frong claimed as personal damages because of an accident he had suffered while in Gifford's employ. Frong forced Gifford to enter a drug store and write a check when Gifford pleaded that he had not that much money with him. A patrolman, called by Gifford's brother, entered and Frong killed Gifford with one shot, firing three times more before he was disarmed and arrested. Gifford is survived by a widow and one child.

SCOTT WILL APPEAL FOR UNIVERSAL SERVICE

Washington, Dec. 16.—Maj. Gen. Hugh L. Scott, chief of staff, and an advocate of universal military service, will appear before a senate subcommittee Monday, when it begins hearings on Senator Chamberlain's universal training bill. Both sides of the question will be heard before the hearings close.

General Scott made a plea for universal service in his annual report, published recently, and is known to have spoken on the subject for the entire general staff. His report was issued with the approval of Secretary Baker, although the latter reserved his own opinion.

The Chamberlain bill provides for an extensive system under which all physically fit youths between 12 and 22 receive military instruction, those between 18 and 22 constituting the active forces. Officers of the general staff, at the request of Senator Chamberlain, have prepared a substitute, providing a simpler form, however, which probably will be offered as a substitute.

HOMEWARD MOVEMENT OF GUARDS CONTINUES

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 16.—With the exception of four organizations, all of the state troops recently designated by Maj. Gen. Frederick Funston to go home, have left the border stations at which they were on duty. The remaining units will move on the following dates:

New York battalion of engineers, McAllen, December 18; Idaho infantry, Nogales, December 19; First Iowa infantry, Brownsville, December 18, and Eighteenth Pennsylvania infantry, El Paso, December 17.

O'Leary to Manage San Antonio, Chicago, Dec. 16.—Charles O'Leary, formerly with the Detroit Americans, signed here today to manage the San Antonio club of the Texas league next season. O'Leary played with St. Paul in the American association last season.

NEW CORNELIA WEST

$5.00 PAR VALUE

On the Strike of the Ore, at Ajo, the Camp of 500 Million Tons

SUBSCRIPTION AGREEMENT BEFORE ORGANIZATION

To reserve so much as may remain, of 150,000 fully paid and non-assessable shares of the capital stock of a company to be organized.

Submitted to intelligent copper investors, who are asked to subscribe under this agreement, at the rate of Twenty-Five (25c) Cents per share.

This is not a ten cent pre-organization offering. The project does not contemplate a ten cent property.

Supposing that you had an opportunity to buy fully paid, non-assessable stock in a mine that was actually tied onto China, Utah Copper, Miami or any other great porphyry, and that had ore exactly resembling the big neighbor, would you place a bet? Assuming, of course, that you are a competent judge of class and value.

Well, New Cornelia West is actually an immediate neighbor, on the strike of the ore, to New Cornelia, with its 43,000,000 proven tons, the greatest copper deposit known in mining history. On the twelve claims comprising New Cornelia West, ore, exactly similar in appearance to ore of New Cornelia, crops in hundreds upon hundreds of places, convincing mining men of experience, that development will almost certainly disclose one monster mass of commercially valuable copper content.

The picture explains why smart copper buyers of Douglas, Bisbee, El Paso, Butte and other active centers are taking this offering by wire. You could have bought New Cornelia a little over a year ago for around $1.00, but you can't buy it today for $18.00.

You'll never again get this close to New Cornelia for Twenty-Five Cents. Read the reason in the picture.

Foreground, 4,000 ton leaching plant of New Cornelia—largest in the world. Arrows (1-2) approximate north and south line of strike of ore on New Cornelia. Arrow (3) Ajo Consolidated holdings, said to have many million tons drill proven. Arrows (4-5-6) approximating ground of New Cornelia West, on the strike of the ore.

The big leaching plant of New Cornelia will soon be ready for the ore. Ajo Consolidated announces plans for a great concentrator. The most eminent mining engineers of the world have unequivocally stamped Ajo as one of the greatest copper countries ever discovered.

You'll never again get this close to New Cornelia for Twenty-Five Cents.

The right to pre-rate or return subscriptions reserved. Remittances of less than $10.00 and in excess of $1,000 not accepted.

RUSSIAN NOBLES IN HARMONY WITH DUMA

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Petrograd, Dec. 15 (via London, Dec. 15).—A resolution adopted by the congress of nobles, containing like the earlier formulae of the duma and the council of the empire, a vigorous denunciation of the influences which have become known as "dark forces," and cannot at present be more specifically defined, in one of the most important political developments of the week.

This pronouncement by one of the oldest and most conservative elements of the empire, it is pointed out, has definitely brought the whole country into complete unanimity. The German peace proposal, which has given Russia the opportunity for emphatic repudiation of rumors which had been spread abroad, without the slightest support in the sentiment of the nation itself, and the appointment of a new foreign minister who is now regarded as the duma, have combined to relieve the political tension, and have led to the belief that the government has acquired new stability.

JOSE QUEVEDO ELUDES SECRET SERVICE MEN

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Boulogne, Arls, Dec. 16.—Jose Quevedo, alleged to hold the rank of major in the VIII corps, who was known to be on the side of the border and was under surveillance by secret service men, eluded his trailers Thursday night by jumping the train on which he was traveling from El Paso, Tex., to Douglas, Ariz., by the simple expedient of dropping off at a small town near the New Mexico-Arizona border. He then made his way southward to the Chihuahua line and joined an escort of Villistas under his brother, Col. Silvestre Quevedo, leaving with them for the south to report to Villa. This rumor, apparently borne out by fact, was the sensation of today here.

With Colonel Quevedo, according to Mexican reports, were 200 men who remained concealed in the mountains near San Luis pass, a few miles west of the American expeditionary force for several days while Villa's emissary completed his mission in El Paso. It is stated.

'NO TICKET NO WASHEE' CAUSES CHINK'S DEATH

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Tosarkana, Ariz., Dec. 16.—Jim Kee, a Chinese laundryman, always refused to surrender his patrons' apparel before they reciprocated with the queerly marked ticket by which he identified their bundles. His habit of thirty years is said by the police to have been the indirect cause of his death tonight. Grover Barkman, a lawyer, and his brother, Clifford Barkman, were arrested charged with his murder.

The two Barkmans said Jim Kee's refusal to break a rule because they did not have a laundry ticket, started a quarrel and that when the Chinaman attacked Grover with a knife, Clifford Barkman shot his brother's assailant.

ENGLISH WOMAN TEACHES ITALIAN ROYAL CHILDREN

Miss Margaret Brown Little Known but One of the Most Influential Women in Italy; Is Modernizing Education.

(Associated Press Correspondence.)
Rome, Nov. 16.—The least known and yet one of the most influential women in Italy at present is Miss Margaret Brown, the English governess of three of the girls of the royal family.

Since the publication of the arrangement of a marriage between Edward Albert, Prince of Wales, her apparent to the English throne, and Princess Yolanda, eldest daughter of the king and queen of Italy, the position of this humble governess as the domestic power behind the throne is said to have been greatly strengthened. Should the marriage between young Edward and the wealthiest royal heiress of Europe take place, as is expected, Miss Brown will receive due credit as the matchmaker.

Mysterious Personality.

The mystery that has grown up around the personality of Miss Brown is one of the sources of her influence. Also, it is of the kind that pleases the king, who has a horror of the publicity which his position forces upon him. Those persons of the court life who dislike Miss Brown because of her confidential position, because of her power to hold her tongue, and her custom of standing beside the queen's chair during receptions, have tried in vain to discover exactly who she is. To date all they have learned is that she is a strong-minded person of some 45 years who appeared on the scene at the birth of Yolanda, the first child, and who has been in charge of the children ever since. It appears that the king and queen wanted their children brought up after the English fashion and that Miss Brown was recommended by some member of the English royalty.

The influence of Miss Brown in modernizing the education of Italian children of the noble families has been remarkable and far wider than that of the more popular known system of Dr. Maria Montessori. Miss Brown has introduced into Italy the English custom with the respect to the education of girls, in particular. Her example with the royal children, who have been taught to lead an outdoor life, to swim and ride and play vigorous games, has been followed by the noble and wealthy families, who formerly brought up girls in the strictest indoor non-life seclusion.

Quite a stir was caused some time ago by the way Miss Brown let the girls run in athletic clothes about the lawn and woods of Villa Pergina, the summer home of the royal family. The objection, court ladies, when they attempted to discuss the matter with the king, were asked if strong bodies were not to be preferred to shabby clothing. The women of the royal nursery have also on several occasions discovered that this English woman will was law. Once, it was about the question of dolls. These playthings were ruled out and have stayed ruled out of the nursery.

Like the girls of the family, young Prince Humbert, the heir to the throne, is very fond of Miss Brown, whose influence has been extended to his education in some measure. She exerted her influence in securing the introduction of the Boy Scout movement into Italy, the prince being its commander-in-chief and king contributing a million dollars a year to its support.

During the war, though with her usual unobtrusiveness, Miss Brown has taught the girls the English methods of helping in charities. While the Italians are charitable as a people, their charities have not before been organized on the large scale made necessary by the war.

With the marriage of Yolanda, the work of the English governess will not be finished by any means, since there still remain Princess Mafalda, who was 14 years of age November 19, and Princess Giovanna, who was 9 years of age November 15.

DEDICATED TO MEMORY OF SUSAN B. ANTHONY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Washington, Dec. 16.—A room in the new home here of the National Suffrage association will be dedicated tomorrow to the memory of Susan B. Anthony at exercises in which Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt and other leaders of the suffrage cause will participate. The Congressional Union for Women's Suffrage tonight announced a national memorial service for Inez Milholland Boissevain in New York on Christmas day.

NO CRIMINAL CHARGE AGAINST EGG KING

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—After three weeks investigation of the operations of James E. Weir, self-styled egg king, who is said to have 72,000,000 eggs in Chicago, cold storage houses and to be one of four men who are said to control the egg market of the middle west, Chief Clinton Clabough of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice has reported that he had been unable to obtain evidence of conspiracy upon which to base a prosecution.

According to the report, Weir operates largely alone and his actions do not come within the scope of the federal laws.

SMITHSONIAN SENDS EXPEDITION TO CONGO

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

New York, Dec. 16.—Plans were made public here tonight for what experts representing the Smithsonian institution declare will be the most important scientific expedition ever launched from this country to the French Congo. Prof. R. L. Garner of this city and F. A. Schmeier of Washington, who form the advance guard of the expedition, will sail from this city on the return voyage of the French line steamship Chico, which arrived today. They will carry several tons of supplies, preparatory to an eighteen months sojourn in the Congo.

They will be followed in March by Alfred H. Collins of Philadelphia and Prof. Charles Wellington Furlong of Boston. The object of the expedition is to obtain zoological specimens for the Smithsonian institution, and to make ethnological collections.

Dense Fog Enshrouds London.

London, Dec. 16.—A fog which settled over London yesterday is described as being the most dense in fifty years. From early morning until a late hour London was a city of perpetual night. The inconvenience was greater in the evening, owing to the light restrictions. Omnibuses stopped running and taxicabs disappeared from the streets. People on the streets carried torches.

FUEL SUPPLY SCARCE THROUGHOUT EUROPE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Geneva, Dec. 16 (via Paris).—The question of a fuel supply is becoming more serious throughout all Europe each month, according to Swiss newspapers. The output of German mines is said to be normal, but the principal towns and factories, especially at Berlin, are said to be short of fuel because of a lack of transportation facilities.

The Germans have cut down shipments of coal to Switzerland by 30 per cent, and it was announced today in the federal council that if the situation were not relieved, train service on Swiss railroads must be reduced one-half. It is believed here that the situation in Italy is worse.

STRANDED TRANSPORT ABANDONED BY CREW

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

New York, Dec. 16.—The United States army transport Sumner, which rounded off Battenberg, N. J., Sunday night on the way to this port, from Colon, was abandoned by her crew early today. Heavy seas, driven by a northwesterly wind, caused the transport to pound heavily on the shoal. Shortly after midnight the vessel leaked so rapidly that the pumps and wireless were put out of commission. Captain Webber and a small portion of the crew left on the boat were taken off by boats from the coast guard cutter Seneca and the Barnegat coast guard station. The remainder of the crew had been transferred to the army transport Kilpatrick and brought here last night.

SWITZERLAND DECLINES TO EXPRESS OPINION

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)

Geneva, Dec. 16 (via Paris).—The Swiss federal council, says the Neue Zürcher Zeitung, has decided not to take up the question of intervention on behalf of peace during the present session. The council, it adds, intends to maintain the same attitude of non-intervention as expressed in the note of September 23, in reply to numerous petitions from home and abroad. The newspaper also says that in spite of the German proposition, the situation is considered too delicate to justify action by Switzerland.

Other Swiss newspapers express the opinion that if America led the way in behalf of an early peace, the Swiss government would cordially collaborate.

STOCKS RECOVER SHARPLY FROM RECENT SLUMP

Bethlehem Steel Advances Twenty-five Points; General Rise in Shares Characterizes Exchange.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
New York, Dec. 16.—Additional recovery today of two to five points in stocks recently under pressure, with a rally of twenty-five points in Bethlehem Steel, were mainly due to a hasty covering movement by the shorts and no little buying, particularly of rails, by investors and operators who seemed to feel that the hysteria of the last few days had run its course.
Today's rallies included United States and Lackawanna Steels, the former making an extreme gain of 14 points, and two to three points in copper and other metals. Far more convincing, however, was the sustained movement in rails, low grade issues being the foremost features.
Standard shares were relatively less active, but strong. Total sales of stocks, $50,000,000.
The bank statement was in keeping with general estimates.
The markets for foreign exchange were nominal, but mainly lower. Bonds were irregular on limited dealings. Total sales, par value, $1,975,000.

CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE.
Chicago, Dec. 16.—Wheat prices shot skyward today, impelled by the Russian duma's rejection of peace and by announcements that the United States would not at present offer to mediate. After excited bulletins they carried the market up 10 1/2¢, quotations fluctuating widely and closed unsettled, 4 1/2¢ to 5¢ net higher, with May at $1.62 1/2¢ and July at $1.27 1/2¢. Corn gained 2 1/2¢ to 3¢ and oats 2 1/2¢ to 3 1/2¢. There was a setback of 10¢ to 15¢ in provisions.
One of the most turbulent openings since the war began was witnessed in the wheat pit. It seemed as if the crowd almost to a man was rushing to buy. The French victory in the Verdun district added to the upheaval of caution began to be manifested after the time was approaching 11 cents. Reactions proved brief and the bulls were in a strong drive again during the last hour.
It was said that 1,500,000 bushels of wheat had been taken for Europe within twenty-four hours, and that important relief was at hand in the matter of trans-Atlantic shipping facilities.
Corn strengthened with wheat, but moved much more slowly and kept within nearly normal limits. Business was restricted by scantiness of the movement from first hands.
Oats showed little or no independence from corn.
Lessening chances of peace made the provision market sag.

FEDERAL RESERVE STATEMENT.
Washington, Dec. 16.—Gains of nearly $25,000,000 in net bank deposits, and of more than $10,000,000 in reserves by federal reserve banks during the past week, are indicated by the board's weekly statement made public today. The statement shows the banks' condition on December 15 as follows:

Resources.
Gold coin and certificates in vault, $256,418,000.
Gold settlement fund, $177,241,000.

WALSH STARS IN PICTURES AS WESTERNER NOW AT THE PASTIME

At last a western drama that is different!

That is what William Fox now presents to the public under the title of "The Mediator." George Walsh has the big role, a character who loves peace so much that he continually fights for it.

Walsh takes the part of Lish Henley, who starts his adventures by seeking and wounding Bill Higgins (Lee Willard), the village bully. Then he sends flowers to Bill in the hospital and the sick man, grateful, tells Lish that he expects to start a new life when he is well. He is going to rejoin his wife, Martha (Pearl Elmore), in Peaceful Hill, Calif.

Lish likes the name of the place, so he kills his mine in Arizona, and starts for Peaceful Hill. On the way, he stops at Keewick, and finds the town in a turmoil as the result of a mining strike. In his efforts to keep everything peaceful, Lish beats the leader of the strike (James Maroon), and continues his journey. His deed has ended the labor trouble.

Arrived at Peaceful Hill, Lish seeks Martha Higgins, and finds her. He also finds Maggie (Juanita Hansen), a waitress, who helps the mediator in his fight against the men of Keewick. These men have followed Lish to the place, in an effort to get revenge for the insult to their leader.

Many adventures follow. In the end, Lish is victorious, and all the enemies of peace have been put to rout. There is only one left, and that is Maggie. Lish captures her, by an attack on her heart.

GARRISON TELLS LAWYERS WHAT NATIONALISM IS

Former Secretary of War Declares Failure to Make Preparation for Defense Is Little Short of Treason.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
New York, Dec. 16.—To question the power and imperative necessity of the national government to make preparation for defense "is little short of treason," it was declared here today by former Secretary of War Lindley M. Garrison, in an address on "Nationalism," before the Lawyers' club. After reviewing the passing of many powers and duties from the state governments to the national government, he said that, in the matter of preparation, the central government "flinched and faltered and sought to pass its neglected duty to the states," the result being a "lamentable failure."

What Nationalism Means.
"From the viewpoint of the national entity," Mr. Garrison said, "nationalism is the possession of, and the exercise by the government of, every power and function necessary to perform properly the collective duties and fulfill completely the collective obligations of the nation. From the viewpoints of the citizens, nationalism is the yielding, not in theory, but in practice, of his mind, his heart, and his spirit to the welfare of the nation, the contribution of his material means and his physical force to its preservation and defense. It means service and sacrifice, devotion and loyalty."

One of the most dangerous sentiments threatening the integrity of the nation, he said, is that which "utilizes the natural and universal abhorrence of war as a reason for not preparing for its possibilities."

Duty of Self-Defense.
"Self-defense is the cardinal duty of a nation," he said. "The national government is the only agency that can make proper preparation. To deny its power or to question the imperative necessity of its exerting that power, is little short of treason."

"This is a duty which the national government has neglected. In this particular, the modern tendency has been reversed. The national government flinched and faltered and sought to pass its neglected duty to the states. The result was, and was bound to be, a lamentable failure."

Opposes Foreign Alliance.
Mr. Garrison went on to speak for the avoidance by the United States of European entanglements, saying that any proposition which requires this country to enter an alliance with the other nations of the world "and to engage to join with those who side with the belligerent found to be righteous against the belligerent found to be wrongful, should be tested in the furnace of fierce debate and discussed before it should be acted upon."

If the United States, he said, engaged as has been suggested, in an universal alliance, "she is perforce a party to every quarrel the wide world over. No acceptable reason occurs to me which warrants or justifies the United States in becoming by its own voluntary act a party to all the quarrels of all the nations of the earth."

HAY LAW IS YET IN EXPERIMENTAL STAGE

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—At the final session of the governor's conference today, Brigadier General Mann, chief of the militia division of the war department, discussed effects of the mobilization of the national guard on the Texas border. Whether the Hay law will prove an attraction or a deterrent to national guard enlistments, said General Mann, has not been determined.

"Future developments of state military forces depends on co-operation between the states and the national government," said the speaker. "If they act in mutual confidence they will secure efficiency and the evils that have marked the guard must disappear."

ALL CONCERNED SEEK TO SOLVE PAPER PROBLEM

Publishers Meet With Federal Trade Commissioners in Effort to Work Out Plan for Distribution of News Print.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—Newspaper publishers, news print manufacturers and paper jobbers met here today with the federal trade commission to work out a plan of equitable distribution of the American and Canadian news print supply and, if possible, to arrive at an agreement concerning prices and an increase in production. The meeting was called by the trade commission at the suggestion of manufacturers.

The trade commission is in position already to fix responsibility for the shortage, said Commissioner Davis, in announcing that the news print investigation would continue whatever arrangement is reached at the present conference to relieve the situation.

This declaration was called forth by requests presented by representatives of both the larger and smaller publishers asking that the conference settle questions of price and production as well as of distribution. The statement of the larger publisher declares the opinion of paper consumers generally to be that there exists some manner of control by manufacturers of paper prices and distribution.

"Many publishers," said the statement, "feel that the publicity of complaints on their part will jeopardize their supply of paper and it is earnestly desired that the investigation to fix the responsibility for this condition be hastened. We fail to understand in what manner normal economic forces have been the sole cause of bringing about the present apparent shortage and we feel constrained to ask the federal trade commission to induce news print manufacturers to confine their efforts to supplying the legitimate needs of newspaper publishers—their normal consumers—rather than to diverting abnormal tonnage into temporary channels."

Smaller publishers asked the commission to fix a flat price for news print in addition to planning equitable distribution. They desired the commission to prevent discrimination in prices except when covered by difference in freight hauls. Paper under this plan would be distributed to be sold for season delivery. A basis for determining apportionment would be the amount of paper used by each paper in 1915.

The 1915 basis proposal is aimed at the larger publishers, who, the smaller publishers say, will benefit in any distribution plan because they have increased the size of their papers and demand supplies on that basis. Jobbers denied any responsibility for consideration and declared publishers were panic-stricken. They said there was no shortage as reported, that jobbers were not making any greater profit than in the last fifteen years and they were willing to co-operate in any way possible.

CAMPBELL LEADS BY 27 VOTES OVER HUNT
(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 16.—The inspection of the ballots of Maricopa county, which has been in progress one week in the Hunt-Campbell contest is about one-third completed, has resulted in changes of twenty-six in favor of Governor Hunt and thirteen in favor of Mr. Campbell, reducing the majority of the latter in the state to twenty-seven. The inspection of the ballots in this county alone will take more than two weeks.

Judge Stanford, of the superior court, announced today that on Monday morning he would render a decision on the motion of the contesters to dismiss the proceedings on the ground that inasmuch as there has been no official declaration of the election of Mr. Campbell, there is no issue, nothing to be contested.

BIG PUBLISHERS OBJECT TO ANY CUT IN SUPPLIES

Resent Idea of Relinquishing Part of Their Contracts for Print Paper to Benefit Little Fellows.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—A conflict of interest between large and small newspaper publishers developed at conference today between the federal trade commission, the publishers, and news print paper manufacturers and jobbers, held to consider a proposal that the problem of an apparent news print shortage be solved by distribution of the available supply under supervision of the commission and to work out some arrangement if possible, concerning prices and increased production.

Big Publishers Oppose.
A plan proposed and apparently favored by the trade commission, the manufacturers and the small publishers, under which large publishers would relinquish 5 per cent of their 1917 quota to the smaller publishers, met with immediate opposition. The large publishers declared they were being made the victims of manufacturers, who by diverting machines now on wall paper and wrapping paper, back to news print, could solve the shortage problem within a few days. Both large and small publishers insisted that the plan called for no concession by the manufacturers.

The plan proposed would provide that 5 per cent turned back by the large establishments would be apportioned among the small publishers at the average contract price charged the large publishers. This would be between 2 and 4 cents a pound. The jobber would receive in addition about 1 per cent for handling.

Will Seek Information.
Committees of the publishers, manufacturers and jobbers, were named to continue conferences with the trade commission next week in an effort either to perfect the plan proposed, or to work out some other acceptable plan. The publishers' committee will begin Monday to send out questionnaires to the newspapers, ascertaining the needs of the small publications and learning if the large publishers will agree to give up a part of their paper.

In today's meeting the large publishers argued that an increase in production would be a simple matter if the manufacturers displayed a willingness to co-operate. In this way they were supported by the small publishers. Both classes of publishers, too, insisted that prices were beyond reason, and assurance was given by the trade commission that perfecting of any distribution plan would not stop the commission's investigation of that subject. Commissioner Davis declared the commission was of the opinion that print paper was a public necessity and that prices now charged for it were extortionate.

Publishers' Committee Named.
On the committee of publishers to meet next week with the trade commission, P. B. Glass and L. B. Palmer were named to represent the large publishers, and A. W. Dunn and J. R. Hoover to represent the small publishers. Manufacturers will be represented by J. E. Potter and A. T. Houck. The jobbers will name a committee later.

It was brought out today that although the cost of production—as disclosed by the trade commission's investigation—has remained about stationary, prices to the large publishers have advanced from 2.15 cents a pound on 1915 contracts, to an average of 2.14 for 1917 contracts, with an added item in that mills next year quote prices at the factories instead of at the place of delivery. A prospectus issued by one manufacturing concern was presented to show that the manufacturer endeavoring to sell stock in his mill claims a profit of $15 a ton on paper manufactured this year, in addition to a surplus accumulated.

Manufacturers opposed every suggestion today that production be increased by putting on news print machines that now are turning out other classes of paper.

The committee representing the smaller publishers issued a statement tonight saying its members were hopeful that the trade commission and those concerned were about to find a solution of the situation.

HENRY IS OPPOSED TO LAYING FOOD EMBARGO

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Washington, Dec. 16.—Despite many telegrams, letters and petitions asking the house committee on rules to provide for legislation placing an embargo on foodstuffs, Chairman Henry, of that committee, announced today that he was "squarely against any kind of an embargo on food and shall do everything in my power to prevent such legislation."

Mr. Henry explained that he favored embargo on shipments of arms and ammunition "for the purpose of destroying millions of people in Europe." He said he believed, however, that congress should on account of humanity allow the producers of foodstuffs "to ship to every part of the earth and to receive fair prices."

LABOR CONGRESSMEN TO BE ELECTED TODAY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Douglas, Ariz., Dec. 16.—Members of the Congress of Workmen, recently established by decree of Adolfo de la Huerta, governor of Sonora, will be chosen at an election to be held in all parts of the state tomorrow. Twelve are to be chosen. The congress will deal with all labor problems in the state, recommending laws to the governor for passage by the state congress.

COAL MINERS OF WALES THREATEN ANOTHER STRIKE

Union Labor Is Demanding Immediate Increase of Fifteen per Cent in Wages; Owners Demand Decrease.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
Cardiff, Wales, Dec. 1.—After a year of comparative peace, labor and capital are again at loggerheads in the south Wales coal fields. For nearly a generation the colliery owners and the miners have maintained an attitude of mutual ill-feeling and suspicion, and war has not been allowed to displace their traditional quarrel. A year ago a five-day stoppage of the mines, on which the British navy largely depends for fuel, actually took place and a prolonged deadlock was only averted by the intervention of Lloyd-George, who summarily granted most of the miners' demands over the protests of the owners.

Demands by Miners.
The demands now made by the miners may be summarized as follows: Immediate concession of a 15 per cent advance in wages to cover the increased cost of living.

An independent audit of the coal owners' books to show exactly what are the profits on all classes of coal over a long period of years.

That the financial relation of wages to profits be ultimately arranged so that the percentage shall be the same as before the war.

Payment to be made for "small coal" henceforth on a tonnage rate to be established by later negotiations.

That the selling price of coal be henceforth established by a competent independent authority on a basis of the standard wage paid.

It is evident from this complicated and elaborate series of demands, that a settlement must necessarily involve protracted negotiations. The miners contend that the 15 per cent wage increase is urgent and should be granted at once; the other demands may be taken up more leisurely before any suitable tribunal.

New Phase Presented.
One of the most puzzling of the demands is that which seeks payment for the so-called "small coal." This is a new demand, and meets with determined opposition from the owners. Hitherto the workers who received payment on a tonnage basis—so much for every ton of coal mined—have been paid only for the large or first quality coal. Every ton of coal which a miner sent to the surface was first passed over the screens and only the residue after the small coal had been screened out, was weighed and paid for. Ordinarily, a miner who sent twenty tons of coal to the surface would receive payment for mining only about seventeen tons, three tons having passed through the screens and been discarded as "small coal." The men now point to the large increase in price which the owners are obtaining for this small coal today as compared with the price before the war. This price shows an increase from about nine shillings ($2.25) to nearly 18 shillings ($4.50) per ton.

Owners Have Demands.
In reply to the men's demand for an immediate increase of 15 per cent in wages, the owners have made a demand for a 10 per cent decrease. The last dispute was patched up by Lloyd-George a year ago with an award of a 15 per cent increase, while the owners in return were permitted to add half a crown (67 cents) per ton to their wholesale price. The miners now declare that the owners are making a handsome additional profit out of this half-crown, and also out of the sale of the "small coal" and they claim their share, on the ground that the basis of their wages has always been the selling price of coal. To this the owners reply that all the expenses of mining, other than wages, have gone up, and that some of their mines are of the largest coal companies in the district, which show great increase of profit during the war, figure prominently in the evidence submitted by the miners.

Fail to See Situation.
While the feeling in the coal regions is at high pitch, the attitude of the country at large is one of undisguised impatience with any quarrel between capital and labor at a time when the energies of the country are so largely concentrated on war. Wide publicity has been given in the coal districts to an editorial in the London Times, which says:

"The argument of the owners reveals a total incapacity to see the situation as everyone else sees it. They are quarreling with the men and haggling over the division of the excessive profits which both are extracting from the public."

"It is the business of the owners to carry on an industry vital to the country without bringing it to a standstill by internal strife. They are trustees of it to the nation. If they cannot conduct it, then the sooner it is transferred to someone who can the better."

One More Article Adopted.
Queretaro, Mex., Dec. 16.—The constitutional convention today adopted the articles of the constitution dealing with the right of free speech and the right of petition. Articles prohibiting gambling and the sale of intoxicating liquors were then taken under consideration.

Motor Ship in Distress.
Halifax, N. S., Dec. 15.—A vessel believed to be the motor ship Daylight, bound from Toledo, O., for New York, sent out a distress call by radio today, saying she was ashore at Hahobay bay, in the straits of Canso, and pounding heavily. The crew, it was added, was in no immediate danger.

SMALL REVOLT IN PORTUGAL IS QUICKLY QUELLED

Rebels Are Put Down and Leader Is Captured, According to Reports From Republic's Capital.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Paris, Dec. 16.—There have been revolutionary outbreaks in various parts of Portugal, according to a Havana agency dispatch from Lisbon, filed yesterday, but an official note declares that the uprising has been everywhere entirely quelled and that Lisbon is tranquil.

The Lisbon dispatch reads: "Machado Santos, at the head of a small troop of rebels, tried to enter Abrantes (on the Tagus, eighty miles northeast of Lisbon, a town of about 8,000 population) yesterday morning, but the militia was quickly repressed, Santos was arrested."

"On the 13th troubles broke out at different points of the country and part of the garrison of Castelo Branco (in Beira district) also mutinied, while at Thomar (near Abrantes) the outbreak took on a more serious character."

"An official note declares the uprising everywhere was entirely quelled and that tranquility reigns in Lisbon."

BERLIN BLAMES ALLIES FOR ALL ATHENS TROUBLE

Says Admiral Du Fournet's Forces Needlessly Attacked King's Troops and Warships Shelled Palace.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE)
Berlin, Dec. 13 (via wireless to Sayville to the Associated Press, Dec. 16.)—Advice received here from Athens give the following account of the recent clash there between Greek and entente troops:

"The collision was provoked and started by the forces of Vice Admiral Du Fournet, then commander of the entente squadron in Greek waters. This force was landed at night and began a surprise march to Athens at dawn. This march was continued notwithstanding efforts of leaders on both sides to have it stopped."

"The bombardment of the royal palace was opened without warning. The queen and the royal children were forced hastily in the cellars of the palace during the firing, which continued three hours."

"Fighting between loyal troops and partisans of former Premier Venizelos, which began on the first day, developed on the second day into a street battle. Well armed Venizelists fired from houses upon the troops and even upon civilians, but the loyal forces eventually were able to suppress the uprising. Before the expiration of the ultimatum the loyal troops were reinforced by several thousand volunteers, as it had been expected the entente would resort to forcible means to obtain compliance with its demands."

BUSINESS COLLEGE ITEMS

Announcement of the opening of the midwinter term on Tuesday, January 2, has brought a number of inquiries, and with the already large attendance the capacity of the school will be reached early in January. In point of enrollment, attendance and calls for graduates, the school is now enjoying the most successful year it has ever had.

The basketball teams are now organizing and will start practice next week.

Claude Miller, who left recently to accept a position with the Arizona Lumber and Timber company, at Flagstaff, reports that he likes the place and is getting along nicely with his work. Robt. Koch and J. M. McCleary, both former A. B. C. students, are with the same firm.

Miss Alma Friede has accepted a temporary position with Attorney H. B. Jamison.

L. L. Shields has recently been added to State Engineer French's office force at Santa Fe.

The Literary society has prepared a special Christmas program to be rendered Wednesday afternoon, and friends of the school are invited to attend. Much interest is being shown in these meetings and a fine program is assured for this week.

Frank Armstrong passed through Albuquerque a few evenings ago en route to Alamogordo, N. M., where he has accepted a fine position with the Sacramento Lumber company. Frank finished school last summer and is making a good start in the business world.

Miss Elsie Kempenich and Miss Gertrude Brodell, both former A. B. C. students, have been selected by County Clerk-elect, Nestor Montoya for positions in the county clerk's office after January 1.

Walter Kowalski in the latest addition to the office force of the Becker-McManis company, Bismarck, N. D., former A. B. C. student, is also with this firm.

Glen Dearne, 15, was an office clerk the first of this week. Glen is now with the Hunsing-Connell Co., Los Lunas, and recently received a handsome increase in salary. Although only nineteen, Glen is holding a very responsible position and is drawing a very handsome salary.

The employment bureau has been receiving calls for office help nearly every day, and sometimes two or three calls a day, but owing to lack of a sufficient number of graduates to fill these places has had to allow many places to go unfilled. In a few cases some of the school's best patrons could not readily be supplied, but special efforts are exerted to help these.

Scene in "Hit-the-Trail-Holida-y," at the Crystal Theater, Saturday, December 23.

The employment bureau is conducting for the benefit of business firms, professional men, and schools, and for the A. B. C. students, and for others who are found competent; it is free to both employer and employee, absolutely no compensation being accepted in any case.

WOULD ADJUST RAILROAD ROW BY NEW YEAR'S

Executives Who Conferred With Wilson Meet Informally With Brotherhood Representatives.

THE MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Chicago, Dec. 16.—Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, who was the chairman of the committee of railroad executives which met President Wilson in Washington last summer when a railroad strike was threatened, confirmed today that informal conferences have been held by railroad representatives with brotherhood officials concerning a settlement out of court of the controversy between the railroads and their employees.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, also announced at Knoxville, Ind., last night, that negotiations are under way between leaders of the four brotherhoods and operating officials of several railroads looking to a settlement of the entire controversy before January 1, when the Adamson law is to go into effect. Both Mr. Lee and Mr. Holden said, however, that the discussions had not progressed far enough even to suggest a basis for a permanent settlement.

WRIGHT WILL BUILD AN INDIAN PUEBLO FOR TRADING POST

The Wright Trading Post will have the most unique store in Albuquerque. Pueblo architecture will be followed closely in the building. Features of the Aztec and Taos pueblos will be copied and an estufa, a circular room used by Indians for religious observances, will stand in one corner of the main building.

C. A. Wright, proprietor of the trading post, yesterday bought the land for the building. The land consists of two lots at Fourth street and Gold avenue, with a frontage of fifty feet on Gold avenue and 142 feet on Fourth street, facing the Commercial club. The purchase was made from the First National bank. The consideration was not stated.

Mr. Wright said that construction would begin at once if moderately warm weather prevailed. The walls are to be built of concrete. Hence the builder must choose favorable weather.

The outside wall will be given a finish similar to that of the postoffice building. The building will be three stories high.

Mr. Wright has made a model of the store. He has placed it in the window of his trading post on Gold avenue.

BERNSTORFF ASKS INFORMATION AS TO U. S. ATTITUDE

German Ambassador Pays Visit to Secretary Lansing and Has Informal Talk Regarding Peace Proposals.

THE MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Washington, Dec. 16.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, conferred with Secretary Lansing today, seeking information of the attitude of the United States toward the peace proposals of the central powers, to discuss the general subject of peace from this government's viewpoint and to give any information Mr. Lansing might desire on the attitude of the German government. Ambassador Bernstorff said after a ten-minute visit with Secretary Lansing:

"We did not discuss peace terms in any way. I have not received any formal terms and the American government knows officially that no formal terms have been proposed. All Germany has suggested is that the belligerents get together and talk. If that proposal is accepted definite terms naturally will be discussed but till then it will not be proper to mention them. My visit to the secretary was purely for general discussion."

The ambassador indicated that the actual place for the holding of a conference and the question of whether it should be by direct negotiation or through intermediaries, were questions entirely dependent on the willingness of the entente allies to discuss the situation at all. He indicated also that he had not discussed the American action in sending on the Toulon notes without comment, as that was purely a matter for this country to decide for itself.

Secretary Lansing said early today the peace notes probably would go forward before night. One uniform American translation will be sent to all the governments where the United States represents the central allies and the original text will be forwarded later, probably by mail.

The notes were transmitted in a uniform American translation and the original texts will be sent forward later, probably by mail. The notes were unaccompanied by any expression from the United States, although as has previously been explained, President Wilson has reserved the opportunity to add a word for peace in some way in the future.

The notes went forward by cable and are expected to reach the entente capitals within the next forty-eight hours.

The note to Great Britain will be in London before Tuesday, the time Lloyd-George is expected to speak before the house of commons.

MODERN WAR NEW THING OF WHICH U. S. KNOWS LITTLE

Secretary Baker Declares Country Is Unprepared for Defense; Military Training Absolutely Necessary.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Philadelphia, Dec. 16.—Newton D. Baker, secretary of war, addressing the American Academy of Political and Social Science here tonight, declared that war is a new thing and that this country, by experience, has learned that it may get into it. He spoke on "The Real Significance of Preparedness."

Mr. Baker said that this country has grown more ideal in its attitude toward other nations.

Country Is Unprepared.
"If the great test and sacrifice should come to us we should find ourselves inadequately prepared," he said. "Although America is for peace, there are some prices that are too high."

A part of the program of real preparedness, he said, must be the elimination of huge war profits, which tempt the manufacturers of munitions to want war rather than peace.

"Preparedness comes to us as the result of what is going on in Europe," continued Mr. Baker. "Our standing army is in the nature of a small police force and is inconsistent with the steady growth of population in the United States."

"We have realized by the European war that modern war is different from any former kind of war, is different from any kind of war which we have ever thought about or participated in."

Military Training Necessary.
"We've learned the necessity of military training; that modern war involves enormously larger forces in proportion to the population; that it means a complete abstraction of men and of all classes from occupations and business.

"We've learned that much depends on the success with which the population can be mobilized industrially to support the life of the nation and its armies."

"Business men, in case of war, should be ready and willing to manufacture national securities."

Mr. Baker expressed the hope that some day the world would put aside "the domination of war."

KING OF BAVARIA IS ALSO READY FOR PEACE

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Amsterdam, Dec. 16 (via London).—The king of Bavaria, according to a Munich dispatch to the Lokai Anzeiger of Berlin, in an address to his troops on the peace proposal, said:

"Although I don't know yet whether the peace proposal will be accepted, I hope it will bring about an honorable peace, corresponding to the sacrifices of two and a half years of war, a peace of which we can be proud, and which will safeguard us for many years."

"If our enemies do not accept the magnanimous proposal, then we must convince them through the still greater might and greater successes, that they cannot conquer us."

FUNSTON TO SETTLE TRANSPORT QUESTION

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 16.—Maj. Gen. Funston has ordered a test of pontoon transportation to decide whether the best method is mules, motor trucks or caterpillar tractors.

The test will be made first at Fort Sam Houston and vicinity, and later further west, where the roads through the unsettled districts are almost impassable.

Hitherto, the only method of the United States army for pontoon transportation was by mule and it requires usually fourteen wagons, drawn by eighty-six mules to carry a division unit.

CHRISTMAS SHIP SAILS FOR SYRIA WITH SUPPLIES

Former American Ambassadors to Turkey Oscar S. Straus and Henry Morgenthau Make Addresses.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE.

New York, Dec. 16.—Former American Ambassadors to Turkey Oscar S. Straus and Henry Morgenthau took part today in ceremonies preliminary to the sailing of America's Christmas ship, the United States naval collier Caesar, for Beirut with $250,000 worth of food, clothing and medical supplies for the destitute people of Syria and Armenia.

The food and clothing were purchased with funds collected by the American committee for Armenian and Syrian relief, and the medical supplies were contributed by the Red Cross. The sailing of the ship was postponed until tomorrow morning because the loading of the cargo was not completed until late today.

The relief committee announced that, besides the shipment it had loaded $419,000 for distribution at inland centers which cannot receive supplies from the Caesar's cargo, besides pledging $500,000 to be sent to Syria and Armenia in January, although its treasury is declared to be virtually empty.

Mr. Straus and Mr. Morgenthau, in short speeches at the pier where the Caesar lay, emphasized the significance of the work of relief. Mr. Straus described it as the "finest possible expression of international friendship conducive to peace and good will throughout the world."

It will be impossible for the American people to appreciate what this cargo will mean to the refugees who had been cut off from communication with the outside world for more than two years, Mr. Morgenthau said.

Cleveland H. Dodge, a member of the relief committee who presided, said the Caesar would be joyfully welcomed by American missionaries and consuls in Syria, who had not seen the American flag in that harbor for many months.

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR SAID TO FAVOR PEACE

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Paris, Dec. 16.—Emperor Charles of Austria-Hungary is credited with having taken the initiative in the peace move by the coalition of the central powers, according to the Bernese correspondent of La Liberté, on the strength of information obtained from political circles in touch with officials of the central powers. The new emperor, it is said, desired to inaugurate his reign by an effort in favor of peace. This worried the Berlin government, which feared that the young monarch might prove an uncertain ally.

The visit of Emperor William of Germany, it is declared, was not to attend the funeral of the late emperor, but was for the purpose of having a personal interview with Emperor Charles. The interview could not be held on the day of the funeral, but at the second conference, at which King Ferdinand of Bulgaria also was present, Emperor Charles is supposed to have consented to a postponement of the offer of peace until after the capture of Bucharest.

SOUNDING OUT NEUTRALS ON PEACE PROPOSALS

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Berlin, Dec. 13 (via Wireless to the Associated Press, via Sayville, Dec. 16, Delayed in Transmission).—A military official who is frankly and keenly hopeful that some way may be found to end the war, though he is none too optimistic at present, today called together representatives of the neutral press to inquire as to the probable effect of the German peace note in neutral countries. He laid great stress on this point and particularly whether there would be any tendency to construe the German note as a sign of weakness.

Discussing the possibility that all peace propositions may be rejected at present, this officer declared Germany was aware the French and British would make another herculean effort in the west next spring—an effort for which Germany would be fully prepared. He expressed the opinion that it could not have any result other than continued slaughter, and that it would have no more prospect of success than the Somme offensive.

FURTHER ATTACKS ON GOVERNMENT BY POLITICIANS

Men Who Voted to Extend Powers of French Premier Now Charge He Has Near Dictatorship.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. Paris, Dec. 16.—The opposition to the government in the chamber of deputies, notwithstanding the majority for Premier Briand on the recent vote of confidence, renewed their attacks today on the occasion of the discussion of the government's demand for authorization to regulate by decree urgent questions affecting national defense, among them the prohibition of the sale of alcoholic beverages.

There has been so much politics in the air since the war began. Interpellations by Senators Clemenceau and Henri Berenger on Tuesday are awaited with much interest in the expectation that the issue of the conflict in the senate will finally clear the situation.

Answering the charges of "dictatorship" from the radical parliamentarians, and some of the newspapers, the Temps says:

"The country is tired of these passionate debates, which are scarcely to be tolerated in time of peace. Prompt action is what is wanted."

The Journal des Debats says: "To say to the government 'govern' and then to cry 'dictatorship,' so soon as it asks to be allowed to urgent cases to issue decrees instead of soliciting legislation, is to push contradiction too far."

Jack London's Own Story

(Early Letter to M. L. Osborne of National Magazine.)

Please do not be led away by the error in one of them relating to my birthplace. I was born in San Francisco and am a Californian by birth as well as residence. I was 24 years old last January. I lived on California ranches until my 10th year, when my family removed to Oakland, a city, I believe, now boasting 80,000 inhabitants. By fits and starts I acquired a grammar school education, but rough life always called to me, my whole ancestry was nomadic (its destiny being apparently to multiply and spread over the earth), so at 15 I did not run away. My people knew the strain in the blood, so I went with an old first mate of a whaler, and the sea marine population of San Francisco bay, where I got down close to the naked facts of life. It was a most adventurous experience, and one (like all the rest) which I have never regretted. I there learned the rudiments of seamanship, handling small craft in the storm of weather, all the month I was 17, I was fitted to ship before the mast as an able seaman. Went to Japan, seal hunting on the Russian side of Behring sea, etc. It was the longest voyage I ever took (seven months) life was too short to admit of more. But I have taken many short cuts and have covered in divers for-escapes, stockholes, etc., and am at home anywhere.

When I turned 18, having taken an interest in economics and sociology, I went tramping (in the manner born) throughout the United States and Canada. Since then have continued those studies, but in a more conventional and theoretical way.

I dabbled at high school, took a brief fling at the state university, but failed to complete my freshman year (not failed from a scholarly standpoint), and hurried away with the first rush into the Klondike. Have mined and camped through the Sierras and other places, etc. Never having been unwise enough to learn a trade, I have worked at all sorts of hard labor.

When in the Klondike my father died, and I returned to take charge of the family. Have never been rich enough to put out a sheet anchor in the form of a wife. But when I returned from the Klondike I resolved to make the fight of my life by making my living with my pen. This was precarious, for my assets were nil, and my liabilities legion. I was also a beginner, knew nothing of markets, methods of editors, needs, or how to furnish those needs. My literary life is thus about fourteen months old, during which time I have striven to find myself, from the writing of triola to blank verse, and from feature articles for yellow journals to really ambitious short stories. Consequently I have turned out a vast deal of hack work. And little ambitious work. Nor have I yet been so financially situated that I could try anything long.

"The Son of the Wolf," as you will discover, is a collection of short stories. These were written to supply a pressing need for cash, and were published principally in the Overland Monthly of San Francisco, also in Atlantic Monthly. Then they were collected (nine of them), and submitted successfully to Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

BRITISH LABOR MEN OPPOSE PEACE TALK

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE. London, Dec. 16.—Lloyd's Weekly News publishes specially written statements on the subject of the German peace offer by four representative labor leaders—Stephen Walsh, M. P., representative of the Lancashire miners; James O'Grady, chairman of the General Federation of Trades Unions; C. B. Stanton, M. P., for Merthyr Tydfil, and Lieut. Col. John Ward, commander of the navies battalion.

All declare that the war must continue until the conditions laid down by Premiers Asquith and Lloyd George are achieved, but Walsh, in addition, contends that the entente allies should take the opportunity to make their position clear before the world.

DEPORTATIONS OF BELGIANS MAY BE QUIETLY STOPPED

Washington Believes Germany Is Likely to Yield to Diplomatic Pressure, but Without Formal Announcement.

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
Washington, Dec. 16.—While the diplomatic controversy with Germany over Belgian deportations temporarily is in abeyance, officials are watching carefully for any indication of a softening of German attitude as a result of the protests at the United States, Spain, Holland, Belgium, and elsewhere. It is expected that the government's declaration that the measures taken were necessary and in accordance with international law.

It has been indicated that this government's course would be determined by public opinion as it crystallizes, but there are indications that should the practices complained of be discontinued, the American protest would not be pressed further. Officials think that if a discontinuation were decided upon the decision would be put into effect quietly, and probably would not be accompanied by a public announcement or any diplomatic assurances that might seem to represent a recession from the stand Germany already has taken.

Should the state department's information during the next few weeks indicate, however, that the deportations are continuing unchecked, it is not unlikely that some further step might be decided upon to emphasize the American protest.

VILLA COULD SETTLE IT ALL WITH SCOTT

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
El Paso, Tex., Dec. 16.—If a conference could be arranged between Villa and Gen. Hugh L. Scott of the United States army, an agreement could be reached which would settle all differences between the United States and Mexico, according to a statement made to the military authorities here by a Mexican who claimed to have direct authority from Villa to make such a proposal.

"General Scott is a good man," Villa is quoted as telling his representative, "and we almost settled the Mexican question at one time." The envoy said he had been authorized to make clear that Villa holds no enmity toward the people of the United States, but only toward those officials who accomplished the recognition of Carranza and permitted Carranza troops to pass through American territory to Anna Caliente, causing Villa to lose a decisive battle there for the mastery of the republic.

SANTA FE RETIRES TWO ENGINE DRIVERS IN STATE ON PENSION

Announcement was made yesterday of the retirement on pension of J. J. Young, engine driver on the New Mexico division of the Santa Fe railway, and Henry J. Mitchell, engine driver on the Pecos division. ### NO TUBERCULOSIS IN DAIRY HERDS SUPPLYING CITY Animals, Shown by Test to Have Disease, Have Been Killed, Says Prof. J. D. Clark, City Chemist.

Dairy herds, which furnish Albuquerque's milk supply, are free from tuberculosis. That is straight from Prof. John D. Clark, city chemist. The council's regulation, requiring that all dairy cows be tested for tuberculosis, has brought about this result.

A few months ago the board of health was told that a few cows in and about the city were afflicted with tuberculosis. The board recommended to the council that the health regulation requiring a tubercular test of cows at the discretion of the board, be made into an ordinance. This council acted upon the recommendation, and passed an ordinance requiring that all cows, the products of whose milk are sold in the city, be tested for tuberculosis.

Dairymen promptly ordered local veterinarians to begin testing, and as fast as time has permitted this work has progressed.

Climate Here Favorable. This work of inspection has been completed and the milk consumers may now feel assured that all cows of the licensed dealers are free from tuberculosis, said Professor Clark.

The tests made revealed the fact that a very few cows did have tuberculosis. Such cows were immediately killed and their owners were, in part, given indemnity by the state.

The climate of Albuquerque is so favorable that cattle in herds once found to be free from tuberculosis are apt to remain healthy, yet an occasional case of tuberculosis is found. In such cases it appears probable that contact with cows which have been shipped in has spread the malady.

Because of favorable climatic conditions here an afflicted cow, more often than not, manifests no visible signs of the disease, and that such cows have tuberculosis can be told only by the tuberculin infection test, according to Professor Clark.

CITY ELECTRIC PLACES AN ORDER FOR NEW CARS

Trolley Company Plans Twelve-minute Service for Second Street Line and Same for Varsity Extension.

The City Electric company yesterday placed an order for three additional street cars, similar to those now in operation, with minor improvements, including air brakes. Delivery at the earliest possible date was asked.

The company also has purchased a large number of additional poles and about three miles of copper wire, and purposes rebuilding the entire overhead line work just as it has done the track.

The company has also purchased a solid manganese crossing, to be placed at Second street and Central avenue. Cars will go over it without jar, and also a new solid manganese switch, to be installed somewhere on New York avenue. The second street switch will be moved to some point south of Second street and Central avenue. Other material has been purchased for the complete rebuilding of the line in the proposed paving district, to be done whenever paving is begun.

With the arrival of the new cars the sawmill line will have a twelve-minute service instead of a twenty-minute service, and the university line will have a twelve-minute service instead of an eighteen-minute service, as at present. The twelve-minute service will be continued on the Old Town-South Highlands lines. This will be made a ten-minute service as soon as the paving is put in and the Fourteenth street switch can be moved.

More Than $100,000 Spent.

George Rosington, president of the company, stated that with these additional improvements, the company will have spent in cash more than $100,000 since it acquired the property, eighteen months ago, and that it intends to continue the same policy of development, and the operation of a modern street car line to the fullest extent that the patronage will warrant. Mr. Rosington believes that what the public demands is clean, comfortable, slightly cars, and plenty of them, with few waits.

Mr. Rosington further stated that it was doubtful whether or not the proposed extension along North Fourth street would be consummated at this time, but that the company was prepared to build the line at any time the people who would be benefited showed the same spirit that residents of the university district did.

GERMAN INHABITANTS OF GREEK ISLAND ARRESTED

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
Berlin, Dec. 16 (by Wireless to Sayville).—The German, Austro-Hungarian and Turkish residents of the Greek island of Syra, were arrested by an entente detachment that landed there, according to official reports that have reached Berlin, says an Overseas News agency statement today.

"The German consul" adds the statement, "died twenty-four hours later from the effects of the abominable treatment he received. He was 70 years of age. He was a Greek citizen named Dalesio, who had been for thirty-three years in the German service."

"Entente detachments on a previous occasion had inflicted similar treatment upon Consul Ornstein, on the island of Chios, who is 72 years of age."

Irish Railway Strike Averted.

London, Dec. 16.—The threatened railway strike in Ireland has been averted, according to a Central News dispatch from Dublin, and trains are running as usual.

GREAT SIGNIFICANCE IN HENDERSON'S SPEECH

BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADERS WIRE
London, Dec. 16.—The speech delivered last night by Arthur Henderson is being commented upon as more specific in regard to the peace proposal of the central powers than any other utterance from a responsible government source.

Mr. Henderson is one of the five members of the war cabinet which just has been formed and has supreme authority in regard to the general conduct of the war. He defined the position which Andrew Bonar-Law declared was still the policy of the government as being "preparation for all that Belgium, France, Serbia and Poland have suffered."

Mr. Henderson's statement that Great Britain entered the war "in defense of small nationalities," was taken as an indication that the defense of small nationalities would be one of the essentials of security for the future to which Mr. Bonar-Law referred in general.

EXTRA CARS ADDED TO MAIL TRAINS ON ACCOUNT OF MAILS

That many senders of Christmas parcels have paid attention to the postoffice department's warning to go their mailing early, is apparent in the heavy increase in railway mails. Mail trains run through Albuquerque by the Santa Fe railway have extra baggage cars for the transportation of mail matter in their "consists." Trains Nos. 7, 9, 10 and 2 all had extra baggage cars yesterday. These extra cars will be run until the mails lighten.

INSTITUTE GETS RECOGNITION AS RESERVE SCHOOL

New Mexico Institution Designated by War Department as Unit of Training Corps for Officers.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 16.—That the New Mexico Military Institute has been designated as one of the units of the reserve officers' training corps under the terms of the national defense act, sometimes called the Hay act, one of the preparedness measures passed at the last session of congress was the gratifying news received by the authorities of the institute today, but the information, though pleasing, was not at all surprising in view of the high standing of the institute as a military school and the recognition extended it by the war department in the past in repeatedly designating it as one of the ten "distinguished" military schools of the country.

The national defense act, which was approved June 3, 1916, provides for a reserve officers' training corps to consist of standard military schools and universities, only those universities and degree-conferring schools maintaining departments of sufficient size, being eligible to rating as units of the corps. Schools below the grade of university are rated in the corps only upon condition that they meet the conditions laid down in the act, among which are that they must have been designated as "honorary" or "distinguished" for the last two years, that they must maintain a corps of cadets of more than 150, of whom 100 must be more than 16 years of age, and that they must be schools thoroughly equipped and thoroughly military.

What It Means.
This designation means that hereafter the cadets of the New Mexico Military Institute will be furnished their uniforms, including shoes, free of cost and that a number of the cadets, after two years service and under certain conditions, will be furnished their subsistence by the federal government.

eral government. It also means that the school will be supplied with the latest equipment used in the regular army and that the graduates of the institute will be accepted as reserve officers and given six months training in the regular army at a salary of $100 a month and at the end of this service be commissioned as reserve officers and permitted to return to their homes. No obligation is placed upon them, the government being willing to assist efficient schools in doing better work along military lines and to bear a part of the expense in enabling young men to obtain military training.

In view of the designation of the New Mexico Military Institute as a unit of the officers' training corps, it is considered probable that an additional army officer will be detailed to act as quartermaster, as the national defense act provides that at each institution so designated an officer of the army shall be appointed as acting quartermaster and shall receive, disburse and account for all government funds allotted to the institution in connection with the maintenance of the training corps and assist the authorities of the institution in the preparation of all requisitions, reports and returns required by the war department.

Will Broaden Work.
The fact that the New Mexico Military Institute is now a member of the reserve officers' training corps will necessarily result in enlarging and broadening the work of the institution and enable it to serve the young men of New Mexico in a manner not heretofore possible. In order to meet the demands that will fall on the school under the new order of things it will be absolutely necessary that the facilities of the institution be enlarged, that new buildings be erected and that other improvements be inaugurated to keep pace with the work. The New Mexico legislature, at its coming session, will be asked to make an appropriation for the institute in keeping with its increased needs, in order that it may fulfill the mission that it has for the young men of the state.

The institute is at present doing a bigger and more effective work than it has ever done in its history. Its enrollment is larger, its faculty more efficient, its activities more in keeping with the march of modern educational methods than ever before. It is felt that never has the institution had a better right to call upon the state for liberal aid than at this time.

National Defense Act.
Some of the provisions of the national defense act which are deemed of interest at this time, in view of the designation of the New Mexico Military Institute as a unit of the training corps are as follows:

"Eligibility to membership in the reserve officers' training corps shall be limited to students of institutions in which units of such corps may be established who are citizens of the United States, who are not less than fourteen years of age, and whose bodily condition indicates that they are physically fit to perform military duty, or will be so upon arrival at military age."

"When any member of the senior division of the reserve officers' training corps has completed two academic years of service in that division, and has been selected for further training by the president of the institution and by its professor of military science and tactics, and has agreed in writing to continue in the reserve officers' training corps for the remainder of his course in the institution, devoting five hours per week to the military training prescribed by the secretary of war and has agreed in writing to pursue the courses in camp training prescribed by the secretary of war, he may be furnished, at the expense of the United States, with commutation of subsistence at such rate, not exceeding the cost of the garrison ration prescribed for the army, as may be fixed by the secretary of war, during the remainder of his service in the reserve officers' training corps."

"The secretary of war, under such regulations as he may prescribe, is hereby authorized to issue to institutions at which one or more units of the reserve officers' training corps are maintained such public animals, arms, uniforms, equipment and means of transportation as he may deem necessary, and to forage at the expense of the United States public animals so issued. He shall require from each institution to which property of the United States is issued a bond in the value of the property issued for the care and safekeeping thereof, and for its return when required."

"Units of the reserve officers' training corps of both divisions are permitted to adopt at their own expense a full dress and fatigue uniform."

"When a unit of the reserve officers' training corps has been established at an educational institution there will be issued to such institution the following uniform:

"For each member of the unit:

"1 breeches, woollen, olive drab, pair.
"1 cap, olive drab.
"1 coat, woollen, olive drab.
"1 leggings, canvas, pair.
"1 cap and collar ornament, set.
"1 shoes, russet, pair."

"When the individual members of the unit have agreed in writing to participate in such camps of instruction as the secretary of war shall prescribe, there will be issued to such institution the following additional uniform:

"For each member who so agrees:

"1 hat, service.
"1 cord, bat.
"2 breeches, cotton, olive drab, pair.
"2 shirts, flannel, olive drab.
"No article of government uniform issued to an institution under Section 47, national defense act, shall be used except to uniform members of the units of the reserve officers' training corps at the institution to which said uniforms were issued."

"It is the policy of the war department to issue to institutions maintaining units of the reserve officers' training corps the latest model arms and equipment in so far as the supply and the appropriations of congress permit, and in quantities sufficient to insure the proper instruction of the units organized. ## ELECTION CONTESTS IN NAVAJO COUNTY

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
St. Johns, Ariz., Dec. 16.—A contest has been started in Navajo county, in which Joseph F. Woods, the defeated candidate for sheriff of Navajo county, figures as the contestant, and J. L. Newman, the successful candidate, is the contestee. The suit has been placed in the hands of Frank E. Curley, a prominent attorney of Tucson, Arizona.

Woods, the democratic candidate for sheriff, is claiming that he was cheated out of a number of votes in the Snowflake precinct, and that if a recount was taken he would come out winner, as several people in the town of Snowflake were instructed and even helped to mark their ballots for Woods' opponent by a certain citizen of Snowflake who had no right to enter the election booth and who refused to leave when so requested by the clerks and judges of election.

J. C. Paulsell, democratic candidate for supervisor, is also entering a suit of contest against C. E. Owens, his successful opponent, and claiming fraud in Snowflake and asking for a recount.

Drainage Problem Pressing.
Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Guy P. Harrington, deputy United States surveyor, has returned from Sierra and Dona Ana counties where he has been in charge of a survey of the lands under the Elephant Butte dam. It is his opinion that while the Elephant Butte dam is the best constructed reclamation work he has ever seen, it will not serve the maximum of its utility until the drainage problem is solved and until high line canals are constructed to reach the upper lands as had been planned at first. A. E. Devendorf was left in charge of the surveys while Mr. Harrington is in Santa Fe.

Santa Fean Back From Germany.

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Charles Haspelmath, for many years a resident at Lamy and then in Santa Fe, where he was in the shoe business, returned today from Hanover, Germany, after several years of absence. He had considerable difficulty in getting out of England but being an American citizen he was permitted to pass. From here he goes to San Luis Obispo, Cal., to take the springs before returning to Santa Fe, where he still has extensive property interests. It is interesting stories he tells of Germany in war time.

Roy Minister Resigns.

Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—Rev. M. Price has resigned as Baptist minister at Roy, Mora county, to accept a call to Columbus, Luna county. He will retain his homestead near Roy. Rev. M. Allman of Solano, Union county, will take charge of the Methodist church at Roy, which has been without a pastor for some time.

Employees to Get Bonus.

Houston, Tex., Dec. 16.—Employees of the Southern Pacific lines in Texas and Louisiana, whose compensation is not determined by agreements, will be given a 10 per cent bonus in 1917, according to an official announcement from the general office here today. The bonus will be given to those who have been in the service two years and whose salary is $2,500 or less, including the bonus. The bonus will be paid in half-yearly installments.

BANK INCREASE SHOWS STATE TO BE PROSPEROUS

New Institutions Being Organized Almost Daily; Growth of Capital for Development Reflected by Condition.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—New banks are being organized in New Mexico almost daily, an indication of an influx of capital and of prosperity. A new bank has just been organized at Mountainair and will incorporate shortly. Another bank in Torrance county is incorporated today. It is the Encino State bank, of Encino, with $25,000 capital, and L. C. Crichon as statutory agent. The incorporators are C. L. Crichon and W. A. Muskhall, of Negra, 100 shares; Robert Crichon, of Agua Negra, 20 shares.

The Carlsbad Cattle Loan company, granted a charter today by the State Corporation commission, is also in the nature of a banking corporation. Its capitalization is $50,000, of which $25,000 has been subscribed. E. Hendricks, of Carlsbad, is the statutory agent. The incorporators and directors are: E. Hendricks, Morgan Livingston, J. A. Lusk, J. N. Livingston and Carl B. Livingston, Carlsbad, each subscribing to fifty shares at $100 each.

Abstract Company.

The E. G. Twitty Abstract company, of Raton, also filed incorporation papers, the capitalization being $25,000, of which $2,000 is paid up. The incorporators and directors are: Former County Clerk Eugene G. Twitty, of Raton, but at one time of Santa Fe, 198 shares; Mrs. Thelma Ida Twitty, one share; Ora L. Phillips, who was candidate for district attorney at the recent election, one share, statutory agent, with residence at Raton.

The Tyrone, New Mexico, Copperfields, is the odd name of a new mining company which filed its papers with the State Corporation commission today. Its headquarters are at the mining camp of Tyrone, Grant county. The capitalization is $600,000, of which $300,000 is paid up. Roy Beal, of Tyrone, statutory agent, is one of the incorporators and directors with 74,500 shares, the others being Charles C. Dunn, El Paso, 37,250 shares; C. H. Brown, Frank X. Townes, William B. Bird and S. H. Casey, Tyrone, and I. Marmuth, of Silver City, 1,000 shares.

Catching Cold.

Colds are due to a neglected skin and lack of ventilation in the sleeping room. People who take a cool sponge bath every morning before breakfast seldom take cold. When you do take cold get rid of it as quickly as possible. This is best accomplished by taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This is an old time tried remedy that can be relied upon with implicit confidence. Obtainable everywhere.

MUNSTERBERG IS DEAD; AUTHORITY ON PSYCHOLOGY

Harvard Professor Succumbs While Delivering Lecture to Sixty Young Women; Well Known as Educator.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEADER WIRE)
Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 16.—Hugo Munsterberg, distinguished psychologist, author and professor of psychology and director of the psychological laboratory of Harvard university, died suddenly in a class room at Radcliffe college today.

Professor Munsterberg had begun a lecture on elementary psychology before sixty young women. He had talked for about a half-hour when he stretched his hand toward the desk as though to steady himself.

Before any one could reach him he had fallen and was unconscious when Dr. Harold B. Hunt, an instructor, sprang to his side. Death came in twenty minutes.

Professor Munsterberg had appeared to be in his usual health, and on last Monday night delivered an address on "The Psychology of Business."

Well Known Educator.

Well known in educational circles for many years, Professor Munsterberg became prominent publicly soon after the great war began. A German by birth, he presented in addresses and in written articles the attitude of the Teutonic allies as he understood it. Gradually he came to be regarded as a spokesman in New England for many Germans and others who favored Germany. As a result he was brought into controversies with other members of the Harvard faculty who were outspoken in the defense of the allies.

Professor Munsterberg leaves a widow and a daughter.

Prof. Robert Yerkes, an assistant in the department of psychology at Harvard, of which Professor Munsterberg was the head, said death probably was due to cerebral hemorrhage.

Sketch of Life.

Born in Danzig, Germany, in 1863, after distinguished work as an educator in his native land, Professor Munsterberg came to Harvard in 1891 as professor of psychology. In 1910 he returned to Germany as a Harvard exchange professor at the University of Berlin. In the following year he organized and became the head of the American Institute of the German government. At the expiration of his term as exchange professor in 1912, he resumed his work at Harvard. He was made president of the American Psychological association in 1898. At the time of his death he was president of the Boston German association.

Mrs. Munsterberg was formerly Miss Selma Oppler of Strassburg, Germany. They were married in 1887.

For twenty years Professor Munsterberg had written extensively on philosophical, psychological and scientific subjects. One of his best known works was "The American."

He twice was decorated by the German emperor.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL)
Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—The department of education was notified today that the $9,000 public school building at Berino, including all the furniture, books and other contents, valued at $3,000 additional, were destroyed by an early morning fire. The building had just been completed. Insurance to the amount of $7,500 was carried and the structure is to be rebuilt at once with state aid.

THE UNMILITANT CHURCH.

A question prominent in the minds of churchmen, because it so vitally concerns the effectiveness of the church, is: Why does the church reach so few people not born and brought up within it? Why are not more non-churchgoers drawn within the church and spiritualized by it?

This is the same test of efficiency that is applied to industry and commerce. A business just holding its own is open to the attack of the germs of dissolution. The church that is merely keeping what it inherits, has cause for alarm and introspection. By the fundamental rules of business it is on an unsafe basis, and according to the standard set by the Founder of the church, it is committing the offense of the man who rolled the talent committed to his care in a napkin and hid it in order to hold what he had, whereas, the master expected that the talent would be returned with interest. Such a man was called "a wicked and slothful servant."

The church is essentially a fighting organization. It is not primarily an institution to be enjoyed by its members. It is not a social club. Not only must it set a high standard of living, but it must be a constant, insistent, challenge to those who are not living up to its standard.

There must be demonstration to the non-churchgoer that there is something in it worth while that he is missing. There is no good in abusive preaching, nor in preaching who have no message for humanity that it is worth humanity's while to heed. If the church sets an example of selfishness from the world, the world will let the church alone. That is really what is the matter with the church today. Fifty weeks in the year it is indifferent, and expects to make up for that indifference by conducting a revival during the other two weeks.

Business houses conduct bargain-counter sales at far more frequent intervals.

Grandpa went to bed by the light of a tallow candle. Grandson pays electric light bills every month. It didn't cost grandpa so much, but grandson has a much easier and more comfortable way of living.

HISTORY REPEATS ITSELF.

History repeats itself, because the people do not know history. If each generation studied the history of past generations, mankind would make wonderful progress. Instead of repeating itself, history would record a steady development of human institutions.

"Know thyself," said the Greek philosophers. It is just as wise counsel for mankind in the mass, as for the individual. The study of history reveals that in human affairs there are laws just as immutable, just as unescapable, just as inevitable, as those that rule the processes of nature.

Yet each age each nation, each race has to learn by sad experience what might easily be deduced by a study of other ages, other nations, other races.

If the chancelleries and peoples of Europe had known history there would be no world war raging now. If the American people knew thoroughly their own history, to say nothing of that of other nations, they would not now be almost defenseless against attack, almost powerless to back up their government's assertions of national honor and international law. If they knew history, they would not tolerate the half-way measures of their inept and demagogue-ridden congress. They would insist upon an immediate end of the visionary scheme of a federalized state militia as a second line of defense behind a meager regular army.

The peace people stand in their own light and defeat their own ends. No nation ever will attack a unified and prepared America. The only right principle is to prepare right, or not at all. The talk by national guard officers of making a federalized national guard useful in time of real danger, except as a means of providing salaries for politicians, is absurd, and deserves the contempt with which the American people will treat it as soon as they understand the hoax that was perpetrated upon them last session of congress by the national guard officers' lobby.

But preparedness is not merely, nor even primarily, an adequate navy and a sufficient army. It goes deeper than that. What of our railroads—are they ready for quick and concerted action? What of our public roads—will they serve in case of sudden need? What about the munitions supply—will it meet any emergency that may come? What of our finances—are they ready unitedly and wholeheartedly to safeguard their country and its cherished institutions?

Before the country can hope for efficiency, it must spew out the men who have "axes to grind." The munitions makers' wishes must have no weight, however, much weight may be given to their opinions based upon experience; the wishes of national guard officers must have no weight, and their opinions—generally are worthless, because they have had no experience worth while; the wishes of the pacifists must have no weight, because their judgment is warped, and the lessons of history have no meaning for them. They are exactly in line with the man who opposes maintaining an efficient fire department in a city, because he believes there will be no more fires, and if there should be a fire someone is likely to be killed fighting it, and that would be far worse, in their view, than if the whole city burned.

What must be considered is the best interest of the whole country.

Charlie Chaplin is on the verge of marriage, but he first provided himself with an income of $500,000 a year. Charlie is cautious, as well as funny, in these times of high cost of living.

PEACE TALK HOPELESS NOW.

The Russian duma, the legislative branch of the government, has declared unanimously for rejection of the peace proposed by Germany. This rejection, without knowing anything officially of Germany's terms, has the sanction of the czar. Let it be said here that the Russian parliament is no longer a legislative body with no real power. The new prime minister, Trepoff, told the duma, on his assumption of office, that for the first time the will of the legislative body had forced the resignation of a premier and the appointment of a successor of another politics. The duma members are elected by the people and heretofore the prime minister has represented the czar. The people and czar have decided unanimously that no consideration will be given to any suggestion of peace from the Teutonic powers so long as there are Teutonic soldiers on the czar's soil.

Premier Briand has voiced similar sentiment for France. Bonar-Law, speaking for the British government, has declared that no peace conference can be thought of that is not based on ample indemnity for Belgium and guarantees that the peace of Europe shall not again be disturbed by German aggression.

But England has expressed, through her newspapers, a desire for specific statement of the terms upon which Germany proposes to end the war. This is good politics. It would satisfy the neutrals for the war to continue, should the peace terms be unfair, as undoubtedly they would be, and would further solidify sentiment in England for prosecution of the war to a "knockout," as Lloyd-George has declared for.

The offer of the central powers to enter into negotiations for peace comes at a dramatic moment when, by the conquest of half of Rumania, they have demonstrated that they still have great offensive power. It comes too, just when the war seems to have reached a deadlock on every front, when Britain, France and Russia are all reorganizing their governments with the purpose of concentrating their resources for victory.

The war is a draw up to this time. Germany has the advantage in territory occupied, but the allies have command of the sea and control of world commerce. How to construct peace out of the situation is the problem of the present, and in the absence of its solution the war must go on.

The Austrian diplomats at Washington have intimated that the Teutonic powers would favor a peace with limitation of armament. This is the most concrete and appealing suggestion that has so far been made. But how far Germany endorses the suggestion is not disclosed.

It is not believed that Germany will agree to pay an indemnity, or, at this time, give up her scheme of establishing a buffer kingdom or two between herself and Russia, such kingdom to be composed of Russian territory. Also she will attempt to satisfy Bulgaria with slices of Serbia and Rumania.

Until Germany win far more decisively than at present, no peace can come upon such terms, and the best guess is that at this time next year the war will be on with preparation for a bigger struggle to open in the spring, unless, meantime, Russia has her grip on Constantinople and Austria has agreed to relinquish "unredeemed Italy" and Germany has agreed to indemnity for Belgium and a limitation on armament.

HOLMES ON EMERSON.

When Edward Everett Hale had in hand a paper on Emerson, he went to visit Oliver Wendell Holmes, and recorded the following conversation:

"Hale—I remember where Emerson stopped me on State street, once, to cross question me about some details of Irish immigration."

"Holmes—Yes, he was eager for all practical information. I used to meet him very often on Saturday evenings at the Saturday club; and I can see him now, as he bent forward eagerly at the table, if any one were making an interesting observation, with his face like a hawk as he took in what was said. You felt how the hawk would be flying over your head and flying down on your thought the next minute. I remember that I once spoke of the 'three great prefaces' and quick as light Emerson said, 'What are the three great prefaces?'"

"Hale—I had to tell him, 'Hale—I am sure I do not know what they are. What are they?'"

"Holmes—They are Calvin's to his 'Institutes,' Thuanus to his history, and Polybius to his."

"Hale—And I have never read one of them."

"Holmes—And I had then never read but one of them. It was a mere piece of encyclopaedia learning of mine."

"Hale—Was it you or Lowell who called him the Yankee Plato?"

"Holmes—Not I. It was probably Lowell, in the 'Fable for Critics.' I called him a 'wined Franklin,' and I stand by that. Matthew Arnold quoted that afterwards, and I was glad I had said it."

"Hale—I do not remember where you said it. How was it?"

"Dr. Holmes at once arose, went to the turning bookstand, and took down volume III of his own poems and read me with great spirit the passage—I do not know how I had forgotten it—"

Where in the realm of thought, whose air is song,
Does he the Buddha of the west, be-long?
He seemed a winged Franklin, sweet-ly wise,
Born to unlock the secrets of the skies.

"Here," comments Dr. Hale, "he said with great fun, 'One great good of writing poetry is to furnish you with your own quotations.' And afterwards, when I had made him read to me some other verses from his own poems, he said, 'Oh, yes, as a reservoir of the best quotations in the language there is nothing like a book of your own poems.'"

A MESSENGER BOY WINS OUT.

(New York World.)

A Petal Pan messenger boy, only 14 years old, fagged into the office of Bamberger, Loeb & Co., No. 25 Broad street, yesterday morning and collected $2,400 for himself.

It was an election bet. When Hushes was prime favorite this messenger "boy" asked Oscar Bamberger, head of the firm of brokers, what he would charge as commission on an election bet.

Mr. Bamberger, looking at the not too neatly uniform of the messenger, said, "It is for yourself, no commission."

"I expected," the broker told a World reporter, "possibly a $10 bet. But from every section of the boy's cloth came bills—ones, twos, fives and tens. The boy told me: 'I have saved this thousand dollars eight years. I want to bet it on Wilson. What are the odds?'"

"Fourteen hundred dollars to a thousand," I answered, "but are you prepared to lose these savings?"

"Yes," he said, "if Hughes wins."

"I didn't hear anything of the boy until a few days ago. Then he called me by phone to know if the man betting against him was 'all right.' That gave me the best laugh of the year because the man is a member of the New York Stock Exchange, worth millions."

"The boy came yesterday and collected his $2,400. 'Now I am going to get married,' he said. 'There is a little Irish girl with whom I have been in love many a year. This money will furnish our home. Hurrah for Wilson.'"

"His name?" I cannot give it. He is afraid if it became known he would lose his job. But the members of my office have contributed a nice wedding present."

THE SIMILE IN DAILY LIFE.

(New Republic.)

A new and startling way of using a recently published dictionary of similes is suggested.

It is possible, of course, to use this book in such a way that the results will not be trite at all, but somewhat surprising. If you are going abroad and consult it at the passport office, and describe your eyes as "fair as starbuds among the twilight trees," you will achieve an effect of novelty.

So will the elevator boy who stops saying "going down," nakedly, and who shouts instead: "Descending!" Like the spring whose breath is blending all blasts of fragrance into one, the weather man, predicting a day "fair as the fabulous asphodels," the restaurateur, inviting us to come to his place and feast "like fiends upon the infidel dead," Aunt Mary, newly arrived and telling little Harold that he has grown "like weeds on a neglected tomb," the congressman, saying he rises "as ocean at the enchantment of the moon" to a point of order, the traffic cop, accusing the speeder of going "like some swift clouds that wings the wide air's wilderness," the tailor, boasting his ability to fit customers "fat as a distillery big" as perfectly as those who are as thin as "Frank"—all these persons might get out of the rut, and even well off the beaten road, by consulting Mr. Wilsbach.

THE MEN HIGHER UP.

(American Magazine.)

Here's a tip your boss is handing you the orders instead of you giving them to him. In the majority of cases it is because he knows more than you.

I had often wondered why it was that some men were better off than others. I had not been a water boy long before my association with men broadened observation, and these childish thoughts came back with renewed force. "Why is it?" I wondered. "That Mr. Mullon is a boss, instead of working in the gang?" My solution was: He knows more than they do, and when the contractor gives orders to the boss it is because he knows still more, and so I found it to be all the way up the line. "I will some day be a boss," I assured myself.

We were paid twice a month. The evening of the day that I received my first pay I went to a little town two miles away and bought a pair of shoes, the first new pair I had ever had. I told the shoemaker that I wanted some books for a beginner. He questioned me, and selected an elementary arithmetic, a spelling book, a geography and a copy book. When I asked if I ought not to have a reader, he said, "No. Let your reader be the newspapers! Here, I will give you something better to start with," and he gave me a dozen illustrated books. He also gave me a small dictionary and showed me how to use it. From that time every spare moment at my command was given over to mastering the contents of these my first books.

THE LORDS OWN DAY.

The Lord's own day is here! Alone I kneel on this broad plain; A matin bell just sounds; again 'Tis silence, far and near.

Here kneel I on the sod; O deep amazement strangely felt! As though, unseen, vast numbers knelt And prayed with me to God.

You heav'n afar and near— So bright, so glorious seems its scope— As though e'en now its gate would open.

TO MY DAUGHTER BETTY.

(These are the last verses written in the field before Guillemont, Somme, on September 1, 1916, by the late Lieutenant T. M. Kettle a few days before his death in action at Ghinchy.)

In wiser days, my darling rosebud, blown To beauty proud as was your mother's prime— In that desired, delayed, incredible time You'll ask why I abandoned you, my own.

And the dear breast that was your baby throne, To die with death, and oh, they'll give you rhyme And reason; one will call the thing sublime.

And one deary it in a knowing tone, So here, while the mad guns curse overhead, And tired men sigh, with mud for couch and floor, Know that we fools, now with the foolish dead, Did not for flag, nor king, nor emperor, But for a dream, born in a herdman's shed And not the secret Scripture of the poor.

BURDETTE SET HIS TIME.

(Satirist.)

Nothing else that the "genial philosopher" (the late Robert J. Burdette) has ever written, and has come to my notice, has so pleased me as that which he penned on his 70th anniversary. The two sermons he heard—one when he had grown to manhood—"burned," he said, "into the very soul of me." Both sermons were from the same text: "The days of our years are three-score and ten."

because of the boy's unquestioning belief in the book, and because psychologically, he had given himself the suggestion that he would reach the 70th milestone on his life pilgrimage. He considered 70 years the minimum, not as is almost universally believed, the maximum. Nor did he consider, as so many do, that living beyond 70 years was on "borrowed time," but merely "the beginning of eternity."

"After 70," said he, "I shall have no more birthdays." And he did not. Here is another psychological fact in the auto suggestion that the ending of time—to him—at the age of 70 would be to him—the beginning of eternity. The thought held objectively may, as in his case, become a verity subjectively. Here is a lesson for all of us.

THE "SIMPLIFIED" LIST.

"With charming ease the quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog." This sentence is played off by typewriter men on the typewriter because it is by legend supposed to contain every letter in the alphabet. Those who have ample leisure may figure out whether the supposition is correct. The New York Sun aims to supplement this with a paragraph containing all the "short forms" contained in the famous "12 words" which are the first standardized step in the adoption of simplified spelling. This is all in use in our columns. The Sun's attempt, which incidentally contains news of the spread of the new spelling, reads: "Then the news we learn that the Colorado Teachers' association has adopted the twelve words recommended through the land, by those who thoroughly approve the program of the simplified spellers. Hereafter, when composing a prolog, a catalog or a decalog the pedagogue, although, will stick to the twelve even though those of the thorefore reject the reform."

THE NEW LIBRARIAN.

"Oh, no," said Mr. Winkus head of the great Doodleville public library. "I never get any time at all for reading. Just professional literature—"

TOM HUGHES WILL BECOME OFFICIAL OF MORTGAGE CO.

City Clerk Accepts Important Executive Position With Growing Concern; Deputy Authorized for Municipality.

That Thomas Hughes, city clerk of Albuquerque since 1914, does not intend to permit a political career to be thrust upon him, was indicated by the announcement yesterday that after January 1, Mr. Hughes would occupy an important post with the Western Mortgage company. Mr. Hughes will assume the duties of manager of the first insurance department.

He will not resign as city clerk. A satisfactory arrangement has been acquiesced in by the mayor and councilmen, whereby Mr. Hughes will employ a deputy clerk to do the routine work connected with the city clerk's office. Mr. Hughes is to attend all council meetings and personally look after the more important details of the official duties. It is understood that Miss Gertrude Brodell, city hall stenographer, is to become the deputy city clerk. Miss Brodell is already familiar with the duties of the office.

From January 1, Mr. Hughes will no longer be actively identified with politics. Looked upon by the younger members of the republican party as a leader in this section of the state, Mr. Hughes' retirement from the political arena will leave a gap in the organization which will be difficult to fill.

That Mr. Hughes will be a valuable addition to the Western Mortgage company force goes without saying. His popularity is attested by the sweeping victories he gained during the two political campaigns in which he was elected city clerk. It is safe to say that Tom Hughes knows more people in Albuquerque by their first names than does anybody else in town.

Born and reared here, Mr. Hughes has been actively identified with the business side of Albuquerque for a good many years, although but little more than thirty years of age. First with the newspapers and later politically, Mr. Hughes gained a wide experience in the business world which will be a valuable asset to him in connection with his new work with the mortgage company.

Hereafter "Tom" will be telling his friends to look out for a "total loss, no insurance."

WASHINGTON LIKELY TO BE DECLARED 'DRY'

Washington, Dec. 16.—By a margin of one vote, the Sheppard bill to prohibit manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in the District of Columbia, was put into first place on the senate calendar today, to be taken up next week and debated until it is disposed of.

Senator Martine of New Jersey, opposing the bill, said the nation should not be abolished until some other form of club for the poor man could be established. He declared residents of prohibition states are the heaviest consumers of patent medicines composed chiefly of cheap alcoholic liquors, and insisted that prohibition does not prohibit. The prohibition state of Maine, he said, with a population of less than 2,000,000, has more drunkenness than the whole of Italy, with a population of 50,000,000 and no prohibition laws.

STRIKE OF MINERS BEEN CALLED OFF AND WORK PROGRESSES

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL) Ajo, Ariz., Dec. 16.—The strike at New Cornelia has been called off and the 1,000 or more men working on construction of the great leaching plant, and in knocking down the huge hill of carbonate ore lying alongside the town, are busy again on the job.

The strike was the result of a misunderstanding upon the part of local labor officials, and now that the atmosphere is clarified and all friendly once more, the work of completing preparations for treatment of the ore will go ahead with a furious rush. There are 12,000,000 tons of ore in sight on New Cornelia ground, proven by drill and test pit, and this monster heap of copper content will keep the leaching plant running to full capacity, day and night, for twenty-five years.

The lead alone, used in sealing the leaching tanks, cost nearly $200,000, which will give some idea as to the enormous scale upon which things are being conducted in this camp.

A model town of concrete tile blocks is half built for the accommodation of the men, and a great bank-end store building will soon be ready for occupancy. A two-story hotel with 100 rooms is planned, and construction on it will begin very soon.

Although New Cornelia has produced no ore yet, excepting a few carloads of high grade, just to cheer the eastern stockholder, the stock is held at better than $18.00, and even the peace scare of the past week failed to shake its solidity as a favorite with the wise copper investor.

Ajo Consolidated, joining New Cornelia on the south, has many million tons blocked out also, and is controlled by James Phillips, Jr., of New York, several times millionaire copper man. It is reported that $5,000,000 was refused for this property about two months ago.

A number of new companies are coming into the camp that was an old camp in the early days of high-grade copper and silver. Among the latest and biggest is that headed by J. S. Amundsen, of Kingman, this state.

Amundsen's associates are mostly northern Arizona professional, mining and commercial men whose standing in the state reaches the highest in business life. Among them are George Babbitt, of Babbitt Bros., millionaire merchantmen with a string of stores throughout the state; Anson H. Smith, newspaper man for thirty years, owner of the Mohave Daily Miner at Kingman, and interested in a number of good mines in several sections of the country; J. E. Perry, merchant and mine owner for many years; Judge Sapp, of Graham county, present superior judge; E. T. Elliot, representative man from outside the state, among them J. C. Cotton, of Gallup.

The presence of these men as interested parties does not indicate that they guarantee a developed mine. That they will be called upon to establish a proper business regime for the conduct of the mine's affairs is a warrant that the investor will get an honest run for his money, and that is all that any investor is entitled to in a mine venture.

The property to be developed lies immediately west of the New Cornelia, on the strike of the ore, and is composed of twelve claims approximately 230 acres of the best ground in the district.

That it will become one of the really big things in this really big camp is predicted by every one familiar with the ground.

Bisbee, Douglas, Butte and El Paso are taking the first offering of stock pretty fast, so the management announces, and it is understood that a treasury offering at a very considerable advance will follow the subscription issue under pre-organization plan, now submitted to the public.

READJUSTMENT OF PRICES HAD TO COME SOON

Bull Movement Stale and German Peace Proposals Merely Afforded Excuse for Heavy Slump in Stocks.

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) New York, Dec. 16.—The radical downward revision of market transactions which accompanied this week's enormous movements derived its chief impetus from Germany's unexpected peace proposals, but seemed inevitable, apart from foreign or domestic political developments. In the judgment of disinterested observers the bull market had grown "stale" and required drastic readjustment.

Prices rebounded to ten points and even more the latter part of the week, when advices from abroad threw a damper on the prospects of an early settlement or truce. There was much conjecture and speculation dealing with this country's economic conditions after the war, but the consensus of opinion in high financial circles was that the demands of peace would fully offset those occasioned by the titanic struggle still raging.

The strength of railway issues, even when the balance of the list was tottering, indicated steady accumulation of those shares from investment quarters. The roads hitherto neglected rose three to five points, southern and southwestern lines being most favored. Monetary conditions were relatively easy, at no time approaching the high rates of the previous fortnight. Industrial and mercantile conditions were unaffected by the change wrought in prices of securities.

HIGHER FREIGHTS FROM CALIFORNIA ARE SUSPENDED

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Washington, Dec. 16.—Decision of the trans-continental railroad companies to suspend for sixty days proposed increased rates of 10 cents per 100 pounds on the 1916 output of canned goods, dried fruits, wine, beans, barley, canned salmon and asphalt from Pacific coast states to eastern cities, was formally approved late today by the Interstate Commerce commission.

Under tariffs filed with the commission, the new rates would have become effective December 30. They are suspended until March 1 by voluntary action of the railroads, who are understood to have been influenced in their decision by congestion of traffic which interrupted the movement of these commodities eastward, now at its height.

Officials estimate the loss in revenue to the railroads through suspension of the increased rates will be considerable, as hundreds of trainloads of these commodities are moving eastward and the flood of this traffic will continue for two months. It is pointed out, however, that the general car shortage has delayed transportation of the crops east, and that much of the traffic yet to be handled would otherwise have been delivered before now.

Suspension of increased transcontinental rates on eastbound traffic will not affect tariffs on westbound traffic. Increases of from 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds on iron, steel, and other commodities shipped in large quantities to the Pacific coast will become effective December 30, unless suspended by the commission, a contingency regarded as improbable.

(SPECIAL DISPATCH TO MORNING JOURNAL) Copenhagen, Dec. 16 (via London).—The Danes Nyheder says the decision of the entente allies to discontinue the supply of oil, paraffin, petrol and fishing tackle for Danish fisheries has paralyzed the industry.

'HIT THE TRAIL' ABOUNDS IN EVERY DAY HUMOR

"Billy Sunday" having become a national institution like Burnum, Bryan, Roosevelt and Henry Ford, it only remained to put him on the stage.

And Mr. Cohan has done it. In "Hit-the-Trail-Holiday" George M. Cohan has turned out the sure-fire comedy of the past season. The play abounds in the every day humor that permeates American life. It is filled with the fun of the street, and the office, and the repeated instances of the good and bad of the average folk.

Suggested by George Middleton and Guy Bolton, "Hit-the-Trail-Holiday" is nevertheless a half-brother of "Broadway Jones," a full cousin of "Get-Rich-Quick-Wallinford," and he knows the value of "It Pays to Advertise."

HUDSON SUPER-SIX HAS RADIATOR SHUTTER AND BOYCE METER

B. B. Elkins, New Mexico distributor for the Hudson Super-Sixes, states that every car now has as regular equipment a radiator shutter and Boyce motor-meter. The radiator shutter is operated from the dash, controlling the amount of air passing through the radiator, and will be warmly welcomed by motorists, as it is positive in its action and easily operated. The Boyce is the only automobile on which this valuable motor-meter-controlling device can be found. The Boyce motor-meter accurately records the temperature of the motor at all times. Mr. Elkins will take pleasure in explaining this new and exclusive combination.

This week Mr. Elkins received a carload of the Hudson Super-Sixes, one of which is a wire-wheel job.

On another page of today's Journal there appears an extensive ad of the Hudson Super-Sixes, which those contemplating purchasing a machine should read over before deciding which car to buy. The Hudson has a long record of achievements made in endurance, acceleration and mountain climbing races, and Mr. Elkins claims can beat any car made in any kind of a race.

THINK ORIGIN OF IRON WORKS FIRE NOT INCENDIARY

(BY MORNING JOURNAL SPECIAL LEASED WIRE) Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—After a day of investigation of an early morning fire which destroyed plants of the Llewellyn Iron Works, covering two city squares, Reese Llewellyn, president of the company, and district attorney's officers stated today that there was no reasonable indication that the fire was other than accidental.

Two explosions were heard about the time the fire was discovered, but it was considered possible they were due to gas. The police and private detectives reported that evidence of incendiarism had been found, but officials of the iron works placed no credence in this from their reports on hand.

The loss is estimated at $250,000, with possibly a much greater damage to blue prints and records in the office vault in the ruins.

MCMANARA SERVING SENTENCE FOR DYNAMITING PLANT

John J. McManara, former secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, is now serving a sentence in San Quentin, Calif., for the dynamiting of this plant in 1910, to which he confessed.

Fifty men were in the plant. The fire started apparently in the office building but spread with such rapidity that the men had difficulty in escaping. When the fire department equipment arrived the entire plant, occupying two full squares, was in flames.

The roof of the office quarters fell in a few minutes after the fire equipment was in action and Redondo street, on which the plant fronts, was half filled and in places blocked by wreckage.

The flames reached across the street to the Llewellyn Manufacturing company plant, but damage there was not great.

NOTES ON ART From Santa Fe

Faith. There will be the usual Christmas festivals of the Sunday schools in the afternoon. In fact, celebrations will begin on Saturday and continue to Monday, making it a triple holiday. Quite a number of Santa Feans away to school, college and university are home for the holidays or about to return. Among the young men, Alfred Rolfs is coming home from the university; DeForest Lord from Culver Military academy, and John K. S. Walter from college in Los Angeles. The boys have been making good while away, having been elected to honorary fraternities and to various offices in connection with college organizations and activities. Lord will go to West Point from Culver and Walter enters the junior year at Leland Stanford next year.

The Woman's Aid society of the First Presbyterian church, at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Doran on Friday afternoon, made a preliminary contribution of $100 toward the proposed William H. Ponce memorial church, to be built in 1917, in memory of the departed jurist and to celebrate the jubilee year of the congregation, which was organized fifty years ago. The Christmas sale by the society on Tuesday afternoon at the library was a decided success, socially and financially. The Ladies' Aid society of St. John's Methodist Episcopal church held a ten-cent sale at the home of Mrs. Charles Ballard on Friday afternoon. The Guild of the Church of the Holy Faith met with Mrs. W. S. Harwood on Friday afternoon. A sale of the goods remaining over from the Christmas sale was held. Reports showed that over $200 was taken in at the sale.

Miss Clara Linscott-Lane, the well known writer, is spending the winter months in Santa Fe, gathering material for two historical romances, one telling the real history of the Maxwell grant, and the other dealing with the period of Governor Bent. She is making a very thorough study of the events and her stories will be very accurate as to the historic details embodied in them.

The large number of writers, artists and scientists who now make Santa Fe their home, give the Santa Fe Society of the Archaeological Institute and its meetings an attractive and delightful atmosphere that blends well with the social and even political activities of the building with its reception room, lobby, library, art galleries, women's headquarters and auditorium is completed it will become the center of a southwestern salon that will be as famous in its way as the weekly gatherings gathered by Prof. Graham Bell at his palatial residence in Washington, D. C.

The councillors of the Santa Fe Society of the Archaeological Institute who expect to attend the annual meeting of the institute at the Washington University, St. Louis, the last week of the year, yesterday received invitations to a dinner to be given at the Buckingham hotel, St. Louis, December 28, by the board of trustees of the Missouri Botanical Garden.

Funeral of Mrs. Satterwhite. Santa Fe, Dec. 16.—The funeral of Mrs. Raymond H. Satterwhite, aged 34 years, formerly of Santa Fe, took place at Los Angeles from the home of Mrs. Gratz W. Helm at Los Angeles. Mrs. Satterwhite died at El Centro in the Imperial valley a few days ago. Mr. Satterwhite was connected with the field division of the general land office here a few years ago, having come originally from Wilmington, Delaware.

It acts without assistance, tastes nice, and causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

Santa Fe Society Notes

The change in state officers, which henceforth will occur every two years instead of every four years, will mean many additions to local society circles and also some regrettable losses. Several of the present officials and families will remain in Santa Fe.

Mrs. McDonald is planning a big reception before she leaves the executive mansion. She is still somewhat uncertain as to the date. At first, she planned to leave the mansion on December 28, and give the reception on December 22, but the uncertainty about Governor-elect E. C. de Baca being able to take the oath on New Year's day, may move the dates to the more distant future. Incidentally, it prevents big plans for inauguration festivities, which during the past few administrations have been of the most brilliant character.

The high school basketball team will go to Las Vegas on Saturday morning to play the Las Vegas high school, as well as the Normal university. The return games are to be on January 4, 5, and 6. An effort is also being made to arrange a game at Albuquerque some-where around January 15.

Albert Roberts, son of Chief Justice Clarence J. Roberts, and a leader in high school activities, is planning a dance at his home during the next few days. Mrs. Florence L. Bartlett also expects to be hostess at a dance to the high school pupils whom she teaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Gortner, formerly of Santa Fe, now of Los Angeles, passed Lamy the other day on their way to Goshen, Ind. Mr. Gortner's early home. They will visit New Orleans, Chicago and New York before returning and may stop over in Santa Fe early in the spring.

New Year's eve falls on Sunday this year, and that blue-pencil the festivities at clubs and homes that usually mark the going out of the old year, Christmas eve is on Sunday too, but that will not prevent the municipal Christmas tree from blazing forth at the capitol grounds, or the burning of the customary bonfires in streets, on lawns and foothills. Los Pastores will be given in the picturesque splendor and the cantata "The First Christmas" will be rendered by the choir of all the Protestant churches in the Church of the Holy

FROCKS FOR THE YOUNGER PEOPLE GET ATTENTION

The One-Piece Dress Is Especially Becoming to Youth; Sport Clothes Are Gay and Popular.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.
New York, Dec. 16.—The time has long since passed when fashioning for women was of secondary importance in the scheme of things. The fashioning of clothes for young people now receives as much attention as those of their elders, and certain French designers have of late been especially concentrating their efforts on producing modes for young girls and small children.

Whether for school, college or the various social and outdoor activities which enter into the lives of all young people, we find an unlimited variety of styles.

At present there is a distinct relation between the styles for grown-ups and those reaching the grown-up stage. The slim silhouette, to which women have taken with so much eagerness is reflected in women's styles and certainly there is nothing more feminine the slender grace of youthful figures than the modes which now prevail.

The One-Piece Dress Peculiarly Adapted to Youth.

In one-piece style are the majority of dresses, whether they are to be slipped on over the head or closed at the center-front or back. Especially becoming are those that hang from a deep, square yoke, and of these there are many varieties. For below the yoke the material may be side-pleated, box-pleated with groups of large or small pleats, or just simply gathered. To define the waistline, a leather belt, a regulation cloth belt or a long, narrow sash is considered correct with this type of frock. The belt being such an important factor, then, it is not surprising to find many novelties in that line. One of the latest is a belt which starts out by being wide in front, but finally becomes divided into two narrow strips at the sides and back. The upper halves are knotted loosely and hang down the back. Exceedingly attractive, also, are the pockets which give added charm to these dresses. Pointed, square, draped, gathered or plain, they appear in every conceivable form.

Her Practical and Formal Dresses.
For practical wear, the young girl wears dresses of the popular wools, such as serge, gabardine, velours, broadcloth, checks and plaids. There is little trimming on these frocks, perhaps a touch of bead or wool embroidery, a cord of contrasting color, a tulle braid or flat braid applied in rows. The large assortment of fashionable colors, including burgundy, plum, taupe, brown and green has not ousted navy blue, which is still a favorite.

For her social activities, sweet sixteen may have her choice of soft chiffon, velvet, velveteen, taffeta, satin, charmeuse, silk poplin or Georgette crepe, depending on the occasion for which her dress is intended. For dance frocks, tulle, silk net, chiffon and Georgette are particularly alluring, while for a very elaborate dress nothing is more charming than the silver tissue cloths. Her slippers are of satin, to match the color of her dress, or else of silver or gold tissue.

Pale or bright pink, maize, apricot and white are the colors sweetly adapted to the youthful evening dress. Some delightful frocks are composed of layers of tulle in different harmonizing colors placed one above the other, and the merging of these colors produces a wonderfully artistic effect.

If the selection of her evening frock gives a girl many thrills of pleasure—and every one knows it does—she also derives a great deal of enjoyment from her sports clothes. Sports clothes today are wholly charming. Such bright, gay colors as are used for them can only reflect the spirit of joy and exuberance which they embody. The enjoyment of sports is really doubled by the lovely clothes that are worn for them.

The skirts of sports dresses and suits are worn very short, and the middie-length pleated or pleated. With bright-colored skirts are worn slip-on middie-length of wool or silk jersey in a contrasting color. Hip-length coats of angora and fancy wools are also frequently seen. The accepted trimming for winter sports suits is either fur or leather.

Secondly, plaids and checks in bright colors are very much in evidence. Some of the latest suits are dark green with fine yellow lines forming the checks. Others are in solid black effects in golden brown and black, and other pretty color combinations.

CANDIDATES FOR CHIEF OF D. A. R. ARE BUSY

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE TO MORNING JOURNAL.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Affairs of the national society of Daughters of the American Revolution promise to keep the capital city's social life bubbling this winter, owing to the contest for election next April of a president general, the chief official nationally of the D. A. R.

Mrs. John Miller Horton of Buffalo, candidate for the president generalship, has been in Washington for the past two weeks preparing for her campaign, and during her stay entertained the officers of the district societies of the D. A. R. and the regents of chapters in and near Washington.

Competing candidates also have been busy but Mrs. Horton in opening headquarters at Washington and entertaining there, executed what daughters versed in the political affairs of their society consider a master stroke. She came to Washington from an extensive southern tour on which she was the guest of prominent members of the society in Birmingham, Montgomery, Atlanta and other southern cities in the society is strong.

Mrs. Horton is a prominent New York state woman who for fifteen years has been regent of the Buffalo chapter, which now is the second largest in the country.

About Books

Samuel Merwin is to Greenwich Village what Arnold Bennett is to the Five Towns, his loving but unprejudiced biographer.

In "The Trufflers," the modern, liberty-loving woman has been seceded, praised and preached at, glorified and lectured, hailed as the savior and denounced as the destroyer of the race, according to the preconceived ideas and prejudices of the writer. But seldom indeed has any author had insight and fair-mindedness enough to show her for what she really is—a human being, faulty, liable to make mistakes, possessed of a conscience as well as a brain, trying to fulfill contradictory duties, struggling with two great opposing forces which threaten to tear her to pieces between them, doing her best to adjust her own personal life with the special problems which so often fall to her lot in this unorthodox world of the universe, either conservative or radical.

Here is one of the oldest difficulties in a new guise. "It's Puritan against Cavalier—both right and both wrong; it's the Greeks against the greatest Jews—both right and both wrong; it's the clear-sighted, lovable person known to Greenwich Village as 'The Worm'."

In Sue White, the heroine of "The Trufflers," Mr. Merwin has presented with sympathy and with understanding a fine type of modern girl who revolts and seeks freedom, she is both a type and an individual, a vivid, ardent, plucky creature; enthusiastic, spirited, honest with that most difficult kind of honesty—the refusal to deceive one's self.

Closely in touch with Sue's life and its problems stand four different men—Jacob Zapp, the Russian Jew, an idealist who sincerely believed that "the individual must be freed from conformity and can be set free by the freedom of the individual by breaking the yoke of home." Again himself had never had a home.

Then there were the three "Seventh-story men," so called because they lived together on the seventh floor of an old apartment house on Washington Square; Hy Laws, the philanthropist; Henry Bates, who wrote book reviews, knew Gorki personally and was called "The Worm"; and Peter Ericson Mann, known as Eric Mann, a playwright, and a bit of a genius—"The Bookworm."

What a fine wide employer? or the better grade of servants? Make use of the vast columns of the Journal.
