THE INQUIRY ADJOURNS

Washington, Feb. 4.-In order to permit the arrival in this city of counsel for Secretary Ballinger and to allow the counsel to become familiar with the case, the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee adjourned its hearings today until next Friday, February 11th.

John J. Vertrees, of Nashville, Tenn., and Carl Rasch, formerly United States district attorney for Montana, have been selected to represent Secretary Ballinger, Land Commiss-ioner Dennett and Field Agent Schwartz in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

There was a pretty lively discussion in the executive session of the committee this morning over the question of the postponement, some of the members strenuously opposing any delay at this time. The majority prevailed, however, and Louis R. Glavis, the star witness for the "prosecution" will be held here until Secretary Ballinger's attorney shall have had an opportunity to crossamine him.

To the water while it was still hot, enough bright alfalfa leaves were stirred in to about absorb the water. The mixture should be kept hot for thirty minutes and stirred frequently so as to insure thorough impregnation of the leaves by the poison. Let the mixture set for three or four hours after which it will be ready to put out in the field. It will not be necessary to dry the leaves before putting out the poison. A small wooden paddle or large spoon may be used to dish out the mixture, which should be placed about over the field in small piles where the rabbits are accustimed to run and feed. Where the rabbits come into the field from the outside, the poison should be dis tributed along the edge of the field. The best time to do this is late in the afternoon, because the rabbits most of their feeding at night; the poison will also be in a fresher con dition when they come across it.

In regard to efficiency of the poisoned alfalfa leaves, the results ob tained on the planted plats already mentioned, were very satisfactory On the evening of December 9th a was scattered around the edge of the plat in little piles about twenty feet apart. The next morning ten dead rabbits were found on the plat near the piles of poison. The next evening one-half gailon more of the poison was put out. The following morning another batch of dead rabbits were found. No more poison was put out at this time, but from the two applications made, thirty-three dead rabbits were found in less than a week. This shows that one application of days after it is put out,

As a result of the above experiment the depredations by the rabbits on the grass plats were greatly lessened, and there is hardly any doubt that if the poison is properly prepared and distributed, the rabbit plague can be cept in check.

The best season of the year to put out the poison is during the winter months or in early spring while the

In preparing and using the above oison, it will be well to keep in mind a few points. Use the sulphate of strychnine as it is the most soluable and will readily dissolve in warm water. It is very essential to add the sugar to the mixture to sweeten it. The strychnine is very bitter and the rabbits might not eat the poisoned alfalfa unless the sugar is used. Only the bright green leaves of the alfalfa should be used as they most resemble the fresh and growing plant. The best time of day to put out the poison is in the late afternoon to it will be in a fresh condition as possible when found by the rabbits. Care should be taken to keep the poison out of the reach of the stock; also the dead rabbits should be buried as soon as found to prevent them being eaten by any pet dog, as the poisoned rabbits have been known to kill a dog when eaten by them. Putting the poison ont every week or the days during the season when the rabbits are the worst will be sufficient to protect the

CROUP

THERE IS NOTHING that strikes terror to the hearts of parents more than to be awakened in the night by the ringing cough which accompanies an attack of croup. The child may retire with nothing but a slight cold and a few hours later the family be aroused by the ominous symptoms. Every home where there are small children should be prepared for these sudden attacks, as prompt treatment is necessary. Do not experiment with remedies of doubtful value, but get that has been in use for nearly forty years and never known to fail.

Mr. Homer Krohn, of Lisbon, Iowa, in a letter to the manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy praises this medicine for what it has done for his children. He says: "It has not only saved them once but many a time. Only two weeks ago my boy had the croup so bad in the night that had it not been for having a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house he would have choked before a doctor could have gotten to the house. It is a medicine that no one should be without at any time." It is pleasant to take and many children like it.

"We guarantee every bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, says W. M. Parish, Palmerston, Ontario. "Out of the many bottles sold last winter not one was re-turned. We recommend it espe-cially for children with croup." Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its prompt cures of coughs, colds and croup. When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse an attack of croup may be averted. This medicine is entirely free from narcotics or injurious substances of any kind and may be given to the little ones with abso-lute safety.

Attacks of croup are most likely to occur during the early winter months, and every family with young children should be prepared for it. Keep a bottle of CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY in your home. It only costs a quarter, large size 50 cents. Your druggist sells it.

SULLIVAN SAYS THE WORK IS PERMANENT

Vernon L. Sullivan, Territorial engineer, spent yesterday in Roswell and left this morning for his home in Santa Fe. While here he was looking into the work that has been done or the Roswell-Carrizozo road, and re ports that good progress has been made, considering the limited funds at hand for the project. "Tae only bad feature of the road," said Mr. Sullivan this morning "is the Picacho bill, and that has been put in fairly good condition. The road up the hil has been guttered and cross-guttered in a manner that makes the washing of the road almost impossible. With the macadamized surface on road, the work is permanent. That is the good feature of this proposition-it is a permanent improvement." Mr. Sullivan has just returned from Washington where he was looking after irrigation matters in the territory, largely in relation to the three pro jects in New Mexico that are being andled through the provisions of the Carey act. He states that if the peo ple of eastern New Mexico want to save the Urton Lake project from Government abandon have to work unitedly and get busy

An interesting experiment in tree planting is now under way on the estate of Senator Elihu Root at Clinton. N. Y., under the direct supervision of representative, of the government at home. forestry service. Approximately 58,200 young trees, varying in height from seven to fourteen inches, are being set out in rows six feet apart. The trees include 16,400 white pine.

15,200 Norway spruce, which were shipped from Germany; 5,200 red pine 6,000 red oak, 5,200 black locust, 5,000 chestnut and 5,200 basswood. The spruce will be mixed with alternate rows and in four and a half to five acre plots with locust, red oak, pine and basswood. The white pine will be mixed with locust, red oak and red pine. Chestnut and spruce will also be planted together, using two rows of chestnut to each row of spruce.

TO PICTURE SHIPS IN ACTION.

United States Navy to Use Cinematograph on One of Its Tugs.

At the Brooklyn navy yard a moving picture camera placed on a tug will be used to photograph speed trials, gunnery practice and maneuvers for the naval board at Washington.

The machine will be in a nonoscillating room suspended on an axle, so as to remain stationary no matter how badly the tug rolls. The camera will be high enough just abaft the bridge to have an unobstructed view of naval vessels in action. The pictures will enable the board to study the relative merits of the various ships and correct errors in reports of the efficiency of gun crews. Navy men said it would volutionize the methods of handling ships while attacking under fire.

SOUTHERN METHODIST

The men of the Southern Methodist congregation were entertained at a luncheon under the auspices of the men's congregation of that church iast night. Considering the cold night which prevented the members from the country districts attending, there was a big crowd present. Covers for fifty were spread. From 7:30 until 8:15 the time was spent in the exchange of greetings and in getting acquainted, after which the entire tody was seated at a large table in the Sunday School room, where the ladies of the Home Mission Society served a delicate lunch in banquet style. The affair was a joyful one and when the repast was over, several speakers addressed the meeting.

C. J. Wagner gave the business nan's view of the church. He said that there were a great many business men out of the church as good as those in the church, and this class of men should be cultivated and brought in touch with church life. He stated that such men could be prought into the church by the proper procedure on the part of the church.

M. H. Brasher spoke on the relation of the church to the public schools. He emphasized the value and importance of the study of the Bible year were discussed, with the result for school children and said that this branch of study was highly important for every child, along with his other studies. He said that since home life, as it formerly was, is now broken down to some extent, the churches Micaael Angelo was the subject of and schools should cooperate in giv Mrs. Baker's paper and her work was ing the children the religious traina comprehensive study of that great ing the old fashioned homes used to give them and as much as possible

John T. McClure gave the profess ional man's view of the church, in which ae pointed out the principal reason for the professional man's negleet of church work as being that he allowed himself to get too busy in his professional work. He significantly made the statement that the professional men would be the first to list their property for sale in case 'we should do by the churches as we expect to do by the saloons." He said that the pasters might interest the more frequently the relation of the Gospel to the more practical things of life. He said they would do more good telling them what to do on the six days of the week than what not to do on the seventh.

Judge Win. H. Pope was the last speaker of the evening, the relation of the church to civic matters being assigned as his field of observation. He gave an interesting and apropos story or two and then gave a brief history of the great movements of men's organizations, such as this one in recent years, especially as related to church matters, and showed the importance and strength of such men's movements. He emphasized the
