TERRIBLE FIRE.
Twelve Lives Lost in a New York Fire.
Panicky Scenes at the New York Stock Exchange.
Additional List of Killed and Wounded at Manila.
STARVATION IN PORTO RICO.

New York, April 7.—Twelve lives were lost by fire which destroyed the home of Wallace C. Andrews, aged sixty-seven, street, and Albert J. Adams, aged thirty-nine, street, this morning. The injured number seven; the following are dead: Wallace C. Andrews, president of the New York Steamheating company, and Margaret Andrews, his wife; Mrs. George B. St. John, sister-in-law of Mr. Andrews, and wife of G. C. St. John; Austin B. St. John, 7 years old; Wallace St. John, 3 years; Frederick St. John, 13 months; Jennie Burns, servant; Mary Langhin, servant; Mary Boland, kitchen maid; Mary Flanagan, parlor maid; Ann Nery, servant; Eva Peterson, servant.
Injured—Mrs. Elizabeth Adams, shock; Kevyn Adams, knee dislocated, servant; slight burns; Maria Roth, slight burns; Alice White, cook, contusion and slight burns; Mamie Bogues, servant, shock; Nellie Quinn, servant, internal injuries, serious.
A policeman heard an explosion, and saw a great flash of light on Sixty-seventh street. When he arrived the flames were shooting out of the upper floors of the Andrews house and leaped half way across the street. The policeman tried to arouse the occupants, and was driven back by the flames. He turned on an alarm, and returning, got the people out of V. H. Rothchild's house, close by. While some firemen fought the flames with hose and chemicals, others rushed into the Rothchild house, and from there into the Andrews home by rear windows. But they were too late. In the middle room of the Andrews house the firemen stumbled over the bodies of Mrs. St. John and Wallace, her 3 year old child. The child was dead, and Mrs. St. John was still gasping for breath. Firemen staggered with her to the Rothchild's house, where she died. Mrs. St. John, her three children and two servants and Kate Downing and Maria Roth were all on the third floor. Mr. St. John, who is treasurer of the New York Steam Heating company, and brother of Mr. Andrews, was not at home during the fire. Mr. Andrews and wife occupied the middle room on the second floor. There were two hours later their bodies were found almost beyond recognition. The servants of Andrews were on the top floor. Alice White, cook, leaped from a window to an extension which rose to the third floor. She was found there unconscious by the firemen. Jennie Burns jumped from the same window to the extension. She crawled up the extension and four hours later, Mary Holland, kitchen maid, Mary Flanagan, parlor maid, and Ann McNary and Eva Peterson, the four remaining servants, were found dead on the fourth floor this morning. A strong wind blowing from the south swept the flames north.
On the north side of Sixty-ninth street was the handsome home of Alfred J. Adams, a millionaire sporting man, better known as "Al" Adams. His family had been aroused by the tumult, and a servant opened the front window. A gust of wind swept the fire in through the open window and the Adams house began to blaze fiercely. The inmates were panic-stricken. Nellie Quinn and Maria Vogel, servants, tried to rush down the stairway, but that avenue was already cut off, and the two jumped to the roof of a bow window a story below. A policeman and several citizens ran into an adjoining house and up to the third floor, on a level with the women. While the citizens held the policeman he leaped far out of the window and lifting the women up one at a time swung them up into the room. They were carried down to the street. In an hour the fire in the Adams house was out. Firemen found the body of Mary Langhin, 60 years old, at the bottom of the stairs.

SHELLING SAMOA.
American and British Ships Stirring up the Islanders.
Chinese and Japanese Laborers Have Pitched Battle.
Mob From Alton, Illinois, Trying to Lynch a Negro.
NEW YORK FIRM FAILS.

Apia, Samoa, March 25, via San Francisco, April 7.—There has been lively times in Samoa during the past few days. The United States and British warships have shelled Matafua's forces repeatedly, and sailors have been landed at Apia to protect property. Numerous casualties have resulted. Admiral Kautz and the commanders of the British ships are anxiously awaiting advice from the Samoan government. Meanwhile the shelling proceeds daily. When Kautz arrived he spent two days in making inquiries and then called a meeting of all the chiefs and the senior officers of all the warships in the harbor. Then a proclamation was issued by the American admiral declaring that the so-called provisional government under Matafua can have no legal status under the Berlin treaty and therefore cannot be recognized by the consular and naval representatives, and ordering Matafua and his supporters to go to their homes and respect the laws and the hereditary chiefs. It was further ordered that people ejected from their homes should be returned. The power of the naval force, it was stated, would be used against all who disregarded the rights of peaceably disposed people. The authority of the chief justice was upheld by proclamation. The admiral closed by saying that he trusts there may be no occasion to use the military powers. This proclamation was read to Matafua by Flag Lieutenant Miller. Matafua and his chiefs quietly went to the western portion of the municipality. It seemed as if they were about to obey the command to return to their homes. The German consul, however, issued a counter proclamation in the Samoan language, declaring that Kautz's proclamation was of no effect. Then the rebels began the war.
Admiral Kautz considers that he has been grossly insulted by the German consul general issuing a counter proclamation. The admiral takes the stand that the Berlin treaty, which he is instructed by his government to uphold, does not make any provision whatever for a provisional government. His instructions are to carry out the treaty in accordance with views of the majority of the consular representatives. Admiral Kautz blames the German consul entirely for the present attitude of the rebels.
On March 23, Tanama Fili Malietoa was crowned king of Samoa at Mollu. A procession marched all through Apia, headed by the band of the Philadelphia. The German officials were conspicuous by their absence.
Want to Lynch a Negro.
St. Louis, April 7.—A telephone message just received states that a mob from Alton, Ill., started for Edwardsville, Ill., for the purpose of hanging a negro caught for robbing and attempting an assault upon Mrs. William Brown.
Race Riot.
San Francisco, April 7.—The Associated Press representative at Honolulu sends an account of a racial battle between Japanese and Chinese laborers on the Kahuku plantation, March 25. The Japanese whipped spiked clubs, knives and axes. Three Chinese were killed and a dozen seriously wounded. About forty were slightly injured. Martial law was declared.
Failure of Firm.
New York, April 7.—The failure of Dimick & Co., stock brokers, was announced today. One of the reasons for the failure was not due to the present market, but to old complications. It is announced that the liabilities are about $100,000, and the assets about enough to meet them.
UNIVERSAL BROTHERHOOD.
Delegates to Congress at San Diego. Passing through the city.
Mrs. Katherine A. Tingler, leader and official head of the Universal Brotherhood organization, and K. Augustine Nereheim, chairman of the cabinet of the organization, with thirteen delegates, passed through the city on the limited to-day for Point Loma, San Diego, Cal., where a congress will be held on Thursday, April 13 and continue for seven days.
The delegates on to-day's limited, beside Mrs. Tingler and Mr. Nereheim, are F. M. Pierce and Henry Turner, Peterson, and Mrs. Elizabeth Whitman, of New York; A. P. Munn, Dr. F. M. Cook, Col. McFerrin, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs.

POLITICAL SCIENCE.
Annual Meeting of the American Academy of Political Science.
Aguinaldo Said to be Reorganizing His Insurgent Army.
Reported Death of One of Leading Philippine Insurgent Generals.
NAMES OF NEW BATTLESHIPS.

Philadelphia, April 7.—The third annual meeting of the American Academy of political and social science began in this city this afternoon. Many distinguished men from all over the country are in attendance. The general topic of discussion is the foreign policy of the United States. The committee on the subject was "Government of Dependencies." There were formal addresses today by Theodore S. Woodson, professor of international law, Yale University; Prof. A. Lawrence Lowell, Harvard University; W. Allen Huffer, of Cornell University.
Philippine General Killed.
New York, April 7.—The Journal's correspondent at Manila cables to-day that peaceful men returned within the American lines report the death of Gen. Montenegro, who was regarded as next to Aguinaldo the most influential and aggressive of the Filipino leaders. It is believed that he was killed in the battle of Malolos.
Names of Battleships.
Washington, April 7.—A president has authorized the new battleships to be named Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, West Virginia, Nebraska and California. The cruiser Denver, the battleship Chattanooga, Galveston, Tacoma and Cleveland.
Aguinaldo's Army.
Washington, April 7.—At a cabinet meeting a telegram was read to the effect that Aguinaldo was reorganizing his army north of his late capital. The confidence of the government in the ability of this force to successfully meet the situation is not in the least disturbed.
In Police Circles.
As the result of a lively row among the demonstrators last night, Dolt's Monks were arrested on the complaint of Nellie Driscoll, who charged her with assault with a deadly weapon. A fit of jealous rage, Dolt's went to the house of the complaining witness last night with a revolver in her hand and the intent to kill. She was arrested by police officers who succeeded in accomplishing her purpose.
Justice Crawford will hear the case at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.
Notice to Merchants.
My wife, Mrs. Christina Trull, having left me without just provocation, I take this method of informing the merchants that I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by her from this date, April 5, 1899. W. M. TRULL.

ing which time he met with and successfully treated thousands of patients suffering with all forms of chronic diseases, a good many of which had baffled the skill of a good many physicians and surgeons who had pronounced them incurable and beyond the power of medical aid. If you are afflicted in any way call and see the doctor before he leaves Albuquerque. Consultation and advice free to day and to-morrow.

W. M. Teal, a well-known plumber of this city, has filed suit for absolute divorce against his wife, Christina Teal. Teal has suspected his wife of infidelity for a long time, and when he returned to the city the other evening from the south his suspicions were well founded, for he discovered at his home on his arrival "another man," and he is and has been so Teal states, the outside lover of his wife for a long time.

There is considerable talk of reorganizing Company G, Albuquerque guards, in accordance with the law passed by the last legislature, the territory will pay for the rest of Army hall if the guards are reorganized, and also the expense necessary to furnish them with new uniforms and arms. The First Regiment band is also to be supplied with new uniforms by the territory.
