FIREMEN DO HEROIC WORK

Members of New York Department Rescue Three Hundred Men and Girls From Flames.

BUILDING DESTROYED

Was a Five-Story Structure and Occupied By Numerous Manufacturing Concerns.

New York, Nov. 16.—Three hundred men and girls, employed in several manufacturing concerns in a five story building on the Bowery, were thrown into a panic by a fire today and the prompt work of the firemen and volunteer rescuers carried all to safety. The building was practically destroyed. The fire was started probably from a defective electrical insulation and in a few minutes the flames were sweeping through the halls to the floors above. The flames poured through the windows of the second story and cut off all escape of those above. They finally were rescued by long ladders. Many women on the third floor, out of reach of the ladders, were taken across a narrow alleyway to an adjoining building on a living chain formed by firemen.

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS RESIGNS

Eugene F. Ware Tires of Duties of Position and Will Return to His Law Practice.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—Commissioner of Pensions Ware today tendered his resignation to the President and it was accepted to take effect January 1.

Commissioner Ware refused to discuss his action in any way except to state that the newspapers of the country had been "resigning" him for the past two years. For at least one year, however, it has been definitely known that Mr. Ware would retire from his office soon after the fall elections and return to his home in Kansas to resume his law practice.

It is believed here that Commissioner Ware's action was not due to any suggestion that the severance of his relations with the pension office would be agreeable to the President. On the contrary, it has been no secret that Commissioner Ware soon after assuming his duties found the duties of the office distasteful to him and that this distaste steadily increased. There is no intimation as to who his successor will be.

PARKER WILL PRACTICE LAW

At the same time he announced that he had become a resident of this city, that Mrs. Parker would join him here today, and that they would at once secure a home in the city. Judge Parker said he had not entered into a partnership with any one and would practice law alone.

BLOWN-UP AFTER RUNNING BLOCKADE

Russians Sacrifice Torpedo - Boat Destroyer to Prevent Capture By Japanese --- Stoessel Wounded --- Portuguese King on Commission.

Che Foo, Nov. 16.—The Russians have blown up the torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny to prevent it falling into the hands of the Japanese.

Bearer of Important Dispatch.

Che Foo, Nov. 16.—The Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny put into this harbor this morning. It is reported that Japanese warships are watching the harbor. The captain of the Russian vessel later informed the Chinese authorities that he will disarm. It is rumored that the captain brought an important dispatch from General Stoessel, asking St. Petersburg for instructions as to whether he should hold out awaiting relief, or make immediate surrender to the Japanese upon the best terms possible. This rumor cannot be confirmed, but it is obvious that only dispatches of the highest importance would impel Stoessel to risk the loss of a warship, by sending her upon such a mission in the face of the close blockade maintained off Port Arthur by the Japanese fleet.

The commander of the Rastoropny in an interview on his adventurous voyage, said: "I left Port Arthur at midnight in a blinding snowstorm. The boat was navigated through all the dangers of floating mines without a mishap. On reaching the open sea we saw a Japanese cruiser and some torpedo boats in the distance but we steamed rapidly through the storm with lights extinguished and passed unnoticed. We reached Che Foo without a mishap of any kind." The captain was optimistic with reference to Port Arthur. He declared that all the forts remained in the hands of the Russians, that garrison was confident and in good spirits.

The Russians, with the exception of one man, left the destroyer during the afternoon. This man lit the fuse and blew up the vessel. There were three dull explosions and almost immediately the vessel sank and settled on the bottom. A single spar marks its grave. It is impossible tonight to explain the Russian action, but it is believed they were determined not to allow a repetition of the Rysthiteini affair. Prior to the destruction of the destroyer Taotal officially informed the Japanese consul that the disarmament had been completed, the breech locks and ammunition having been removed and the machinery disabled. During the afternoon the Russian consul officially notified Taotal that the destroyer had been driven towards Che Foo by a heavy sea and that it was decided to disarm the vessel because the machinery was injured. This is looked upon in some quarters here as throwing a transparent veil over the purpose of the vessel's visit.

Crew Acted Too Hastily.

Che Foo, Nov. 16.—A correspondent of the Associated Press learns authoritatively tonight that the Rastoropny carried sealed orders providing that unless there was a highly favorable opportunity to escape, the vessel should be blown up. The Japanese consul here says the Russians wasted their vessel as the Rysthiteini incident would not have been repeated.

Czar Receives Important Messages.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—Advices from General Stoessel and Admiral Wiren brought by a Russian torpedo boat destroyer, to Che Foo from Port Arthur, have reached the Emperor, but have not yet been made public. The great importance of the information is apparent from the fact that the torpedo boat destroyer was deliberately sacrificed in order to get communication from the beleaguered garrison to St. Petersburg. The only word which has reached the admiralty is a telegram from the captain of the Rastoropny, announcing his arrival with official dispatches. The captain reports the Rastoropny will disarm and he hauled out on the shore to prevent any possibility of the Japanese entering the harbor and forcibly towing her out.

General Stoessel Wounded.

London, Nov. 16.—According to a dispatch received here from Che Foo by the News Agency, Commander Plen, of the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropny, which reached that port today from Port Arthur, confirmed the report that General Stoessel is wounded, but says that General Fock is quite well. The commander added that there were sufficient supplies, food, ammunition and coal at Port Arthur to last a year.

Foreigners Being Well Treated.

Che Foo, Nov. 16.—A private letter received this afternoon from Port Arthur requests the Associated Press to publish a statement to the effect that all foreigners there are well and that none of them have received wounds in the recent fighting.

Second Squadron Sails.

Liben, Russia, Nov. 16.—The second division of the Russian second Pacific squadron sailed today. It consists of seven cruisers and five torpedo boat destroyers. This division expects to overtake Admiral Voelkersam's division, which is going by way of the Suez Canal.

Will Begin Work at Once.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—Three hundred engineers have already been dispatched by Prince Hilko, minister of railroads, in connection with the preliminary work of double-tracking the Siberian Railroad.

King of Portugal Fifth Member.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 16.—The King of Portugal, it is believed here, will be selected as the fifth member of the international commission which is to inquire into the North Sea incident in the event that four admirals fail to agree upon the fifth member.

More Trouble For Russia.

London, Nov. 16.—A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Moscow says a telegram received there from Baku announces that trouble has occurred between the Russians and Afghanists at Kushk. The Afghanists, it is added, exploded a Russian magazine and many soldiers were killed. As Kushk is situated a dozen miles inside the Afghanistan frontier it is hardly conceivable that there was a Russian magazine there.

SECOND DAY OF CONGRESS

Irrigationists Meet In Sectional Sessions Today in El Paso.

ADDRESS BY NEWELL

Chief Engineer of Reclamation Service Delivers Excellent Discourse... General Session Tomorrow.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 16.—The National Irrigation Congress is today divided into five sections, meeting in different halls. They will come together again in a general session tomorrow.

L. Bradford Prince, of Santa Fe, delivered an address, taking for his subject, "But or And"; Charles E. Linney, of Santa Fe, on "Seasonal Precipitation as Related to Plant Life and the Yield of Crops"; Professor William L. Bray, of the University of Texas, on "Distribution of Timber Growth in Texas in Relation to Stream Flow" B. S. Rodey, of Albuquerque, on "Forest Preservation and Irrigation in New Mexico"; Herbert J. Hagerman, of Roswell, on "Floods in the Pecos and Hondo Rivers the Result of Deforested Watersheds"; W. M. Reed, district engineer for New Mexico of the U. S. Reclamation Service, on "Hondo Project of New Mexico."

Among the most interesting addresses made was the one delivered by Frederick H. Newell, chief engineer of the Reclamation Service, United States Geological Survey, who spoke in part as follows:

"Two and one-half years have elapsed since the passage of the national irrigation act, setting aside the proceeds of the sale of the public lands for the construction of irrigation works in the thirteen states and territories. During that time work has been energetically pushed forward in all parts of the arid west, in the survey, examination and construction of large works. An engineering corps has been created consisting of well trained and experienced engineers, and the great problems of organization and of method have been largely determined upon.

"The available funds, upwards of $27,000,000, have been allotted to the various projects, and while many details are yet to be worked out the larger features of the undertaking are all settled. Actual construction has been begun and is well advanced in Arizona and Nevada, and work is being taken up under contracts in Colorado, Idaho and New Mexico. In other states plans and specifications have been made or are completed; delays being caused largely by legal difficulties, or by the necessity of securing certain needed concessions, or co-operation on the part of local land owners.

"Although this gigantic undertaking has been pushed forward with energy and zeal, yet care has been exercised to guard against excesses or extravagance. The thoroughness of the investigations have commended themselves to persons familiar with such work; in particular, one large financier who has constructed an irrigation system, has stated that if he had employed the same methods and the same men as those of the Reclamation Service he would have saved at least a million dollars to himself and his associates.

"When the works are completed which are now planned or under construction, upwards of a million acres of land will be legally subdivided and put into the possession of actual settlers and land owners. The works are built without profit or interest to the Government, and are to be paid for by the land owners in ten annual installments. The limit of farm area is rigidly prescribed, and no man can have more than 160 acres irrigated by the Government works; and he must live upon the land, cultivate it, and make his payments promptly.

"The benefit to the arid West and to the country in general in building up centers for agricultural population is believed to be sufficient to justify the continuation and extension of this great undertaking."

CHANGES IN ALASKA JUDICIARY

President Roosevelt Requests Resignation of Several Judges and Marshals.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 16.—President Roosevelt has removed from office Frank H. Richards, United States Marshal for the Nome District of Alaska and has requested the resignation of Judges Alfred S. Moore, of the Nome District and Meville C. Brown of the Juneau District. This action is the result of an investigation of the Alaskan judiciary made by Assistant Attorney General Day.

THE SOLID SOUTH AND THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

That the Solid South must sooner or later become less solid and that the voters there must take political sides on economic questions and on other political principles than the "negro bugaboo" is becoming very apparent and was strongly emphasized by the result of the recent Presidential election. The southern people's best friends north of the Potomac River and in the great west, recognize this fully. Among these is the Washington Post, published at the Nation's Capital, which concerning the situation, editorially says that our Southern friends can very well afford to look on while the Democratic leaders at the North squabble over the reorganization which every one now seems to agree is inevitable. The recent elections have left the Democrats enough this side of the Potomac to form a nucleus which will at least be visible to the naked eye, but as the remnant consists chiefly of leaders, the process of reorganization will naturally be attended by a certain amount of controversy, in which the South will be wise to take no part. Much better wait till the leaders in question emerge from the wreck they themselves have made. It will be high time then to consider the propriety of reviving the old arrangement.

For more than ten years the Post has urged upon the Southern Democrats the absurdity of submitting to Northern, especially New York, dictation in party matters. It has always seemed to us a preposterous proposition that the real body of the Democratic army should remain subject to an unimportant branch—that the South, which furnishes practically three-fourths of the party's representation in Congress and in the electoral college, and nine-tenths of the strength which can be safely counted on under all circumstances, should permanently occupy the position of a subordinate and retainer. For nearly forty years this great grotesque adjustment has been in force. There may have been some reason for it in 1868; there is none whatever now. It has survived all changes, however, proved superior to logic and common sense. The South does most of the effective fighting, makes all the victories possible, supplies the bulk of the force that is exerted in national affairs, yet the South tamely defers to the leadership of the North, sinks its own individuality, and repudiates its own judgment.

Of course, there is a question of still higher character and of infinitely more importance to the South—that of dissolving the solidarity which brings neither honor nor profit, and selecting its leaders and its policies for the future with a view to economic rather than sentimental victories. Nobody doubts that the section would be far better off in all considerable respects if it were to make a definite departure from the course it has pursued with dogged persistence ever since the Civil War. It is not good for any people or any section in a country like this to have it understood that they can be counted on to support platforms and candidates no matter how irrational or unsafe. It lowers them in public estimation, reduces them to a species of servitude, robs them of dignity and influence. The arrangement is injurious, even to the Democracy itself, for the absolute security of Southern support too often prompts the leaders to ill-considered ventures and to calamities that might have been avoided. But the matter of chief concern with us is the South's predicament—its welfare and its reputation.

What the South needs is a set of leaders who can lead—not a mere medium for the communication of orders from Wall Street and Tammany Hall. Surely the stock that produced Toombs, Yancey, Stephens, Clay, Ben Hill, Lamar and Hampton has not wholly vanished from the earth.

Chairman Frank Hubbell of the Republican county committee of Bernalillo County and good political judgment are evidently not acquainted.

A BOOMERANG IN OTERO COUNTY.

The Alamogordo News gives one good reason for the very gratifying Republican majorities, for the greater part of the legislative and county Republican tickets and for the good run made by Senator W. H. Andrews in Otero County in the following:

"Those Democratic dodgers of 'Campaign Lies,' which were copiously distributed on election day, worked most beautifully. The more they were read the greater the Republican majority went. Not a single Republican dodger was seen on the streets or about the polls—the Democratic dodgers met all the requirements as to 'Campaign Lies.' And to show the 'Campaign Lie' that the people of Otero County are not dampfools we have only to point to the election returns. And this paper is glad to make note of the fact that many good Democrats condemned that 'dodger business' in words too strong to appear in print."

The Independent Republicans of Taos County did well by Senator Andrews. They voted for him for delegate to Congress and he carried the county by a very gratifying majority. Rather a noteworthy incident in the Taos County election is that Mariano Larragolte, Independent Republican candidate for superintendent of public schools, was defeated by his Republican opponent, Daniel Sisneros, while the rest of the Independent Republican county fusion ticket for county offices received a majority. There is a lesson in this which should be heeded in other counties in the Territory. The regular Republicans of the County stood loyally by the regular Republican nominee for delegate and made a strenuous fight against strong odds. Had it not been for local friction, the entire regular Republican ticket would have been elected by a handsome majority.

Douglas, Democratic candidate for governor of the state of Massachusetts, and who manufactures shoes, which he sells at $3.50 per pair, was elected, and Judge Parker, who is a gentleman farmer, was defeated for the Presidency. It seems that making shoes and selling them at $3.50 per pair is more profitable in business and in politics than the keeping of fancy cows and doing scientific farming.

The proposed Pajarito Cliff Dwellers' Reserve, about 30 miles northwest of this city should be created and the public lands necessary to be included therein for the purpose for which it will be made, should be set apart from the public domain and that promptly. The creation of the reserve will be a move in the right direction, for the benefit of science and archaeological research. No one can possibly be hurt by it and only good can come from it.

The Raton Range rejoices in the fact that Colfax County has had an honest and competent county government during the past four years under a Republican administration and is assured of a similar beneficial management of affairs during the coming two years, because of the great Republican victory there on Tuesday the 8th instant. This is indeed good cause for rejoicing and the New Mexican congratulates the Range for having done much to bring this glorious result about.

The Territory seems to have gained, judging by the increase in the vote on Tuesday, November 8th, since the election of two years ago, between 20,000 and 25,000 people. This is a gratifying increase and if kept up until the next census year 1910, New Mexico will show an increase of more than 100 per cent in population over that in 1900. New Mexico is getting along nicely and is certainly entitled to single statehood under the present conditions.

A Washington dispatch says that it is understood in the National Capital that there will be several changes in cabinet positions after March fourth next. Among those to retire are mentioned Mr. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury; Mr. Hitchcock, the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Moody, the Attorney General, and Mr. Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture. The report seems well substantiated and in the very nature of things is likely to prove true.

Smallpox is greater than even the governor-elect of the Hoosier State. Governor-elect Hanly has been quarantined because the health authorities suspected that he had been exposed to a case of smallpox. They are evidently enforcing the health laws in Indiana a good deal better and more efficiently than they are in the cities and towns of this Territory. That is a good thing for Indiana, but a bad thing for New Mexico.

The opposing armies, south of Mukden, are preparing to do up each other in great shape and the Japanese are hopeful of obtaining a victory over the Russians in the coming battle. The Japanese in this case want a good deal and may be able to obtain it.

Judge Alton Brooks Parker is consoling himself by saying that "The Democratic party has a great future before it." No doubt! But that future seems to be afar off.

"J. Leahy, Republican candidate for member of the Territorial council, carried the First District, embracing the counties of Colfax, Union and Mora by a majority of fully 1,700."—Raton Range.

Mr. Leahy deserved such a gratifying complimentary vote. He will prove a valuable and efficient member of the Council of the Thirty-sixth legislative assembly.

A short while ago, riots occurred in Gomel, Russia, in which several Jews were killed. The Czar's officials who investigated the matter, have reported that the riots were fomented by the Jews and what is more, that they believe that some of those murdered committed suicide. They have an easy way of white-washing official crimes and murders in Russia.

Your Uncle Henry Gassaway Davis says that he had lots of fun during the recent campaign and does not begrudge the money he spent. He says that they may beat him in politics, but when it comes to handling stocks and bonds and making financial combinations, he can give them cards and spades and then come out successful.

A Paris scientist says that he has investigated the habit of lying in mankind for twenty-four years and asserts positively that it is a disease. If he is right, quite a number of politicians in New Mexico, especially in Albuquerque, should be immediately placed under the doctor's care. Their cases are quite desperate.

The Republican majority in the United States Senate will be increased by the result of the recent elections. Republicans will be chosen this winter by the legislatures of Missouri and Montana. The Senate will be safely Republican for four years more and very likely for six years. That is long enough to look ahead.

"Democratic Otero County. Well, I'll be switched! There is only one trouble with the Democrats of Otero County; too many of them voted the Republican ticket."—Alamogordo Journal.

An honest confession is good for the soul.

This thing of paying road overseers in counties of the Territory fifty dollars per annum for letting the roads severely alone is a humbug, a delusion and a fraud. A good, modern and comprehensive road law should be enacted by the Thirty-sixth legislative assembly.

Congressman W. R. Hearst says that he will insist that "Wall Street must leave the Democratic party." If Wall Street does not care to carry out this order of Mr. Hearst's, what is he going to do about it?

The official or politician in New Mexico who underrates the power of the newspapers, but takes the irresponsible advice of ward heelers and four by nine statesmen instead, makes a grievous mistake.

"Now for statehood, we are with the administration."—Alamogordo Journal.

For single statehood, you mean. If so, you are welcome.

The Democratic machine in New Mexico is twenty-five years behind the times. The recent election showed that it is rather useless.

COMFORTS OF TRAVEL.

The porter on the California Limited this winter will be prepared to press a gentleman's trousers while he waits. This is a new wrinkle, introduced for the benefit of fastidious dressers. It isn't absolutely necessary to carry along an extra pair of trousers, either; the porter works while you sleep.

On this luxurious train daily market reports are received by wire; there are the latest morning and evening newspapers issued en route, fine stationery, a library of western books and current magazines. A Whittely exerciser for those who wish to keep up their athletics, and electric curling irons for the ladies are other traveling comforts. The Santa Fe intends to keep its fast flyer to the front.

GOLD IN THE BLACK HILLS.

The Burlington Route has recently issued a 48-page booklet bearing the title "Mines and Mining in the Black Hills."

The book is one which should be read by every mining man in Colorado. It gives more information about the mines of the Black Hills than has ever before been placed between two covers. A copy will be mailed free on application to the undersigned.

The Black Hills need Colorado men and money. Several of the shrewdest men in this state have already invested heavily in the Hills. The results so far have been more than satisfactory. The completion of the Burlington's new line to the Northwest brings the Black Hills within a night's ride of Denver. You can leave Denver tonight and be in Deadwood or Lead City tomorrow afternoon.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is Pleasant to Take.

The finest quality of granulated loaf sugar is used in the manufacture of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and the roots used in its preparation give it a flavor similar to maple syrup, making it quite pleasant to take. Mr. W. L. Roderick, of Poolesville, Md., in speaking of this remedy, says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with my children for several years and can truthfully say it is the best preparation of the kind I know of. The children like to take it and it has no injurious after effect. For sale by all druggists."

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are becoming a favorite for stomach troubles and constipation. For sale by all druggists.

Mrs. Laura S. Webb,

Vice-President of Women's Democratic Clubs of Northern Ohio.

THERE ARE MANY sickly women between the ages of 45 and 55, but there are very few invalids over 55 and 60 years of age. The change of life coming to a woman near her forty-fourth year, either makes her an invalid or gives her a new lease on life. Those who meet this change in ill health seldom live ten years afterward, while a woman who lays aside the active duties of womanhood in health seldom fails to live on in happiness, years after she has passed 60. This is truly a critical time.

Mrs. Laura S. Webb, of Toledo, Ohio, recognizes the change of life as a dangerous period and she also has faith in Wine of Cardui. She writes:

"As I had always been troubled more or less at the menstrual period, I dreaded

Mrs. Laura S. Webb.

the change of life which was fast approaching. While visiting with a friend I noticed that she was taking your Wine of Cardui, and she was so enthusiastic about it that I decided to try a bottle. I experienced some relief the first month, so I kept on taking it for three months and now I menstruate with no pain and I shall take it off and on now until I have passed the climax. I do not dread it now, as I am sure that your Wine of Cardui will be of great benefit at this time."

Wine of Cardui is the remedy to re-inforce a woman against the shock that comes with the change of life. It re-establishes healthy functions after years of suffering. In doing this it has saved thousands of sufferers just in time. Do not wait until suffering is upon you. Thorough preparations should be made in advance. Begin the Wine of Cardui treatment today.

WINE of CARDUI

A million suffering women have found relief in Wine of Cardui.

EXPERT PAPER ON RAINFALL

Read by Charles E. Linney, of the U. S. Weather Bureau at National Irrigation Congress.

FOR "DRY FARMERS"

Interesting and Instructive Notes For the Irrigationists—Facts and Figures.

Charles E. Linney, section director of the Climate and Crop Service of the U. S. Weather Bureau of this city, read the following paper before the National Irrigation Congress at El Paso, today:

Large areas of our arid west have come under the beneficent influence of the irrigation ditch and are thus no longer dependent upon nature's supply of precipitation, but much larger areas are still barren because of scant rainfall, and on still other large areas settlers are having a severe struggle in an effort to cultivate with naught save nature's gift. As there is a steadily increasing demand upon the source of supply, over much of the irrigated area, if nature can be depended upon to furnish a part of the required moisture, the draft upon the over-burdened mains and ditches will be correspondingly lightened, and indeed the number of acres irrigated may be correspondingly increased. That you may understand approximately what the seasonal precipitation is over the arid region, I beg your indulgence in quoting a few figures, for the seasonal precipitation is the life of the "dry farmer," and should be a material aid to the irrigator throughout much of the arid west, and one too that he should have reason to anticipate.

In the report of the Chief of the Weather Bureau for 1896-7, normal precipitation data are given for the entire country, and from these figures it appears that for the season from April 1st to September 30th, about 15 inches of rainfall may be expected along the 100th meridian, with a minimum amount of eight inches; decreasing thence to the 105th meridian, the amount falling to nine inches, with a minimum amount (in southeast Wyoming and in the vicinity of our Convention City) of less than four inches, while from the middle plateau and the adjacent mountain country westward to the 115th meridian the fall rarely ever exceeds ten inches, usually five to eight inches, with minimum values of one, two and three inches. It will thus be seen that all eastern slope irrigators may reasonably expect nature to carry a third to a half of the moisture burden, and that occasional seasons of bountiful and well distributed rainfall may be expected when the amount of irrigation water required can be reduced to a minimum. This will more clearly appear presently, after a brief study of water duty, and the minimum amount of water that is required for profitable crop production.

Professor Henry, in this same report, summarizes the annual rainfall as follows: "There is a narrow belt of very heavy rainfall on the northwest coast, extending from Cape Flattery on the north, to midway of the Oregon coast on the south, and inland as far as the summit of the Coast Range, including in that designation the main and collateral ranges of mountains extending from southern Oregon to the Straits of Fuca. Eastward and southward the annual fall diminishes, reaching the minimum on the lowlands and valleys included between the Coast Range on the west and the Sierra Nevada and Cascade Ranges on the east. The precipitation increases from the valleys to the mountain tops, thence falls away rapidly with descent on the eastern slope until the great plain is reached. Here the fall ranges from five to 15 inches, with isolated areas where it rises to 20 inches and over. There is but little increase as the western slope of the Rocky Mountains is reached, except in central and northern Idaho. The precipitation on the mountain slopes and summits is known to be large, but a qualitative statement of the annual depth cannot yet be made. The rainfall of the foothills region east of the Rocky Mountains ranges from 10 to 18 inches, and increases slowly toward the 100th meridian. Eastward of that meridian the annual precipitation varies from a little under 20 inches to about 60 inches on the Florida and Gulf coast.

In the humid portions of the United States it is shown by a number of writers that about 20 inches of precipitation are used by plants, or evaporated directly from the soil, and since the methods of cultivation in those parts were not originated for the careful conservation of soil moisture, it is probable that the amount actually transpired by plants is much less, probably not as much as ten inches, yet this region is known as the humid part of the country.

The exact amount of rainfall required for the successful cultivation of crops has not been definitely fixed, nor can it be in terms of rainfall only, according to Professor Henry, who states that "on the Pacific coast and over comparatively small areas in the arid regions wheat and other cereals are

OFFENSIVE CATARRH

I suffered for a long time with a bad case of Catarrh, and took a great deal of medicine without any benefit. I had a continual headache, my cheeks had grown purple, my nose was always stopped up, my breath had a sickening and disgusting odor, and I coughed incessantly. I heard of your S. S. S. and wrote you. I commenced to use it, and after taking several bottles I was cured and have never since had the slightest symptom of the disease. MISS MARY L. STORM, Cor. 7th & Felix Sts., St. Joseph, Mo.

Wheeling, W. Va., May 29, 1903. I had Nasal Catarrh for years for which I used S. S. S. with very gratifying results. I tried local applications for some time, and getting no permanent relief I came to the conclusion that the seat of the trouble was in the blood. Knowing S. S. S. to be a good blood medicine I began its use, and after using it for some little while it did away entirely with the offensive mucus in the nostrils, and I did not have to hawk and spit, especially in the morning, to dislodge the catarrhal matter. 1627 South St. FRED H. PRESS.

The filthy secretions and foul mucus that are continually dropping back into the throat, find their way into the stomach and are absorbed into the blood. Catarrh then becomes constitutional, and the only way to get rid of it is through the blood. Write us if you have Catarrh, and our physicians will advise you without charge.

Manuel B. Delgado, county clerk, says: "During the four or five years I was subject to attacks of backache I knew the cause came from some disturbed action of the kidneys but I did not know how to stop it although I tried more than one highly recommended medicine guaranteed to cure such symptoms. An attack was annoying me just before I went to Ireland's Pharmacy for Doan's Kidney Pills. It was perhaps not as aggravated as some in the past for I had been laid up unable to work for a week at a time but that as it may the treatment with Doan's Kidney Pills radically disposed of the said attack."

"I was taken severely sick with kidney trouble. I tried all sorts of medicines, none of which relieved me. One day I saw an ad. of your Electric Bitters and determined to try that. After taking a few doses I felt relieved, and soon thereafter was entirely cured, and have not seen a sick day since. It looks as if on the eve of Thanksgiving that Santa Fe is facing a turkey famine. Most of the dealers in this city, when asked about the situation today, admitted that the outlook was not encouraging. Santa Fe people who want a turkey for Thanksgiving had better be getting their orders in as prices are already beginning to climb and there will be very few of the fowls for sale, as it is almost impossible to secure any.

Bankers, merchants and business men generally should bear in mind

The largest shipment of sheep that the Santa Fe Central Railway has yet handled arrived here this afternoon in two trains of 20 cars each. They were loaded at Estancia and are billed to Wood River, Nebraska. The animals were unloaded at the stock yards late this afternoon and will be loaded into Denver & Rio Grande stock cars to leave here tomorrow for Denver, from which point they will be sent to their destination over the Union Pacific.

The New Mexico delegates to the National Irrigation Congress at El Paso upon their arrival in the Pass City organized as follows: R. E. Twitchell, of Las Vegas, chairman; W. T. McCreight, of Albuquerque, secretary; B. S. Rodey, of Albuquerque, as member of committee on resolutions; L. Bradford Prince, of Santa Fe, as member of executive committee; G. W. Prichard, of White Oaks, as member of committee on permanent organization; F. G. Tracy, of Carlsbad, for vice president; C. H. McLennan, of Carlsbad, as a member of committee on credentials; Martin Lohman, of Las Cruces, as a member of the committee to select next place of meeting.

The hunting party under the leadership of Game Warden Page B. Otero, which visited the country between the Truchas and Baldy Peaks, and which was out for four days, was quite lucky. Two deer were killed, one mountain lion was shot and killed and several turkeys and grouse were bagged. Mr. Otero informed a representative of the New Mexican that game in the Pecos, Santa Fe and Truchas ranges is on the increase owing to the beneficial effect of the game laws enacted by recent Republican assemblies. It is lawful to kill large game during the months of November and December. The closed season commences January first and the laws will be strictly enforced by Mr. Otero and his deputies. Bear tracks were found, but it is evidently too late to hunt these animals for this season as they have taken to the caves, owing to the extreme cold weather in the mountains.

The Guild of the Church of Holy Faith will meet Friday afternoon with Mrs. Hall. A full attendance is desired. S. Mrs. John Koury is selling out her entire stock of dry goods and gent's furnishings at cost. A new line of underwear and shoes has just been received which has been on the road. Read the advertisement in another column.

Post Offices in Torrance County.

The following official notice was sent to every postmaster in the United States this week: "A new county, named Torrance, has been created in New Mexico, out of portions of the counties of Santa Fe, San Miguel, Lincoln, Socorro, Valencia and Bernalillo. The following postoffices formerly in the above counties, are now in Torrance County: Duran, Eastview, Encino, Estancia, Gran Quivira, Manzana, Moriarty, Mountainair, Palma, Pinos Wells, Punta, Red Cloud, Tajique, Torrance, the county seat, and Willard.

Postmaster Walter today called the attention of the Post Office Department to the fact that the new county will not be established until January 1, 1905, and that the county seat is Progresso, not Torrance.

Holds Fire 36 Hours

WILSON HEATERS!

Does it with ordinary soft coal or hard coal. This stove is the ideal heater, because the fire is never out, the rooms are heated evenly, and, best of all, it uses less coal than other stoves. In fact, we warrant it to save one-third in fuel over any lower draft stove same size. WILSON HEATER will burn briskly in the morning, with coal put in evening before, simply open draft.

DON'T PUT UP WITH YOUR OLD STOVE ANOTHER YEAR

It's false economy. WILSON HEATER saves its cost in fuel every year and gives most satisfactory heat. It is clean and sold under positive guarantee.

If you enjoy the luxury of dressing in warm rooms without the necessity of kindling new fires, try the WILSON HEATER!

New goods are being received in all Departments and are being offered at prices that will move them.

grown with a seasonal rainfall considerably less than 15 inches, but it should be remembered that the climatic conditions, as regards temperature and humidity, are quite different from those which obtain in the wheat region of the northwest. The character of the soil, especially as regards its ability to retain moisture, is a very important consideration. It is said that wheat is grown in eastern Washington where the yearly fall is generally under 18 inches, and the rainfall of winter and early spring is conserved in the soil and is supplied to the plant by capillary action during the early part of the growing season.

Plants themselves need a certain minimum supply, but a far larger quantity is required to moisten the surrounding soil to such a degree that the vitalizing process can continue. The soil is constantly losing water by evaporation and percolation, so that the amount used by the plant is relatively small. Professor King, in experiments carried on at the University of Wisconsin, found that 300 to 500 pounds of water were required for each pound of dry matter produced. In other words, for each ton of hay raised upon an acre of ground 300 to 500 tons of water must be provided either by irrigation or natural rainfall. Expressed in inches of precipitation (since about 100 tons of water represents an inch of rainfall to an acre of land), three to five inches of precipitation are required for each ton of hay per acre. Five inches of water were actually required to produce a ton of barley hay.

As our western lands have had deficient rainfall and have been under clear skies for ages, the first season of irrigation often requires an enormous quantity of water. It is said that the amount in many instances has been sufficient to cover the soil to a depth of ten to twelve feet, and that even after several years of irrigation five feet of water have been used, an amount so far beyond natural precipitation that several years of the latter would be required to approach it, clearly indicating that vastly more water is used than is required. Experienced irrigators often use far more water than is necessary, under the impression that the more water used the larger the crop yield, and that having paid for it, they should use it. In the arid region, where sunshine is almost continuous and evaporation large, authorities agree that for ordinary crops at least enough water should be provided to cover the soil four to six inches a month (in our humid states the rainfall averages three to five inches), and yet carefully tilled orchards have been maintained on much less, also, no doubt, many fine gardens. Successive years of deficient rainfall in California (1897 to 1900) have served to prove that with careful cultivation, crops, orchards and vineyards can be maintained by using very small quantities of water; in some cases an amount not exceeding six inches in depth was applied during a year, this being conducted to the plant direct, and the ground kept carefully tilled and free from weeds. Yet for good farming in most parts of the arid region a depth of 24 to 30 inches of water during the crop season should be counted upon, while larger amounts will be required for alfalfa and the higher forage crops, which are cut several times a year. These figures are borne out by Professor King, who increased the seasonal rainfall (5.72 inches) of the dry summer of 1895 to more than 31 inches, by the addition of 26 inches of water, and thereby raised the crop yield more than 200 per cent. His experiments also show conclusively that for the central valleys maximum crop yields may be had with 25 to 30 inches of rainfall during the crop season.

Growing plants evaporate as high as 300 times their own weight of water during the growing season, and it behooves the successful farmer to pay especial attention to careful cultivation, and to the destruction of weeds and worthless plants, for these use water rapidly and eat up the profits of an otherwise profitable field, the weeds and worthless plants often taking as much or more water than the profitable ones. Careful cultivation, to keep the top soil well pulverized, is especially to be urged, for this lessens the waste, and, by providing air spaces, breaks up capillarity and prevents the escape of water, a less amount being required accordingly. When the farmer realizes that nearly one-third of the water applied evaporates from the soil and plant during the first three days after a rain, or the application of water, he will also realize how important is early and continuous cultivation.

Professor King has also shown that not only is the seasonal precipitation of great importance, but its regular distribution throughout the crop season is of marked importance, so that the plant will receive sufficient moisture and receive it regularly, not losing by a drouth of a month or six weeks the gain made by one or two months of well distributed rainfall. He has also found that it is possible to grow crops with so small a seasonal rainfall as 9.72 inches, thus leading to the hope of successful cultivation of a vast area of our western land now considered without the farming belt and impossible of irrigation. To our western eye irrigation is first and foremost the prerequisite for successful farming, at least on the intense plan which pays enormous returns for the acreage under cultivation, but may it not be possible, nay is it not imperative that we devise some scheme or plan of cultivation and conservation of moisture so that the many thousand broad acres just without the irrigation area may be made to produce profitably. True, it will not be on the intense plan of the irrigation farmer, but if the so-called desert can be reclaimed and made to yield even on a par with the many thousand like acres in foreign lands (alike in the lack of rainfall), then indeed shall a blessing have been conferred upon the people, quite as great as will be conferred by the conservation of our storm and flood waters by impounding reservoirs.

Along the marginal lines between our humid and arid territory it is many times not a question of reclaiming the desert, but rather a question of increasing the productiveness of lands already under cultivation, and this may also be said to be true of that vast area at the foot-hills of the Rocky Mountains, for something is raised every year, and in certain years bountiful yields are obtained. How to make the best use of their moderate rainfall (which fortunately largely comes during the crop season) is the question. It is undoubtedly one of soil culture, as well as the growth of those drouth resisting plants and cereals that may from time to time be brought to the western farmer by the Department of Agriculture. Secretary Wilson says: "Experiments are under way to determine more fully the amount of soil moisture which will produce the largest yield; the proper time and manner of applying it; the effect of winter irrigation; the amount of water evaporated from soil surfaces of different kinds and under different conditions; how best to conserve moisture on the irrigated, as well as the dry farms, and farm drainage." May he speed the day when these problems are solved, that the desert may be reclaimed and homes be made for millions.

HAD BEEN DEAD TWICE.

Russian Peasant Had Peculiar Claim to Distinction.

It is commonly supposed that man can die only once, but an old Russian peasant, named Samsonoff, who expired recently in the village of Lotoschka, at the age of 95, held a different opinion, boasting that he had been dead twice and had come to life again.

His first demise took place during the siege of Sebastopol, when he was 45. He was struck by a fragment of shell, picked up for dead, and thrown on a heap of corpses awaiting burial. After three days he regained his senses, managed to free himself from the bodies which had meantime accumulated on top of him, crawled to the hospital, and was ultimately cured.

In 1879, having reached the allotted span, he died once more, this time suddenly in his bed. Arrangements were made for the funeral, but four days after his decease he sat up in bed and clamored for a pipe. His death certificates were proudly treasured, and served to convince him that he had actually expired on two occasions. He fell into a rage at the least suggestion of a trance or lethargy. When informed that he was about to die for the third time, he received the news with unconcern, hoping, in spite of his great age, to revive once more. This hope, however, was baseless, although every possible test was applied before burial.

Doesn't Respect Old Age.

It's a shame when youth fails to show proper respect for old age, but just the contrary in the case of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cut off maladies no matter how severe and irrespective of old age. Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Fever, Constipation all yield to this perfect Pill. 25c, at the Fischer Drug Co.'s Drug Store.

CURED CONSUMPTION.

Mrs. B. W. Evans, Clearwater, Kan., writes: "My husband lay sick for three months. The doctors said that he had quick consumption. We procured a bottle of Ballard's Horehound Syrup, and it cured him. That was six years ago. Since then we have always kept a bottle in the house. We cannot do without it. For coughs and colds it has no equal." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Fischer Drug Co.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman, writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says: "As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: 'A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby.' This remedy is for sale by all druggists."

Disastrous Wrecks.

Carelessness is responsible for many a railway wreck and the same causes are making human wrecks of sufferers from Throat and Lung troubles. But since the advent of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, even the worst cases can be cured, and hopeless resignation is no longer necessary. Mrs. Lois Cragg, of Dorchester, Mass., is one of the many whose life was saved by Dr. King's New Discovery. HOLDS THE FIRE

It is a great satisfaction to own a heating stove that will hold the fire all night with any kind of fuel. The genuine Round Oak will do it and keep on doing it as long as you run it. There are no seams or joints to open after a winter's use. It is tight and no amount of use can effect its fire-holding qualities. It will pay you to see it. The genuine has the name on the leg and door.

SANTA FE, N. M.

HEARD IN THE HOTEL LOBBIES

In all probability, there is no traveling man better known in Santa Fe than Henry Essinger, of Las Vegas, who comes to the Capital City just so often, rain or shine. "I have been coming to this city," he said last night at the Palace, "about 27 years, and I have figured it out that 23 of those years were spent in waiting for trains at Lamy."

What will happen to the Bryan-Parker-Hill happy family now? said a traveling man at the Claire last night. "Here is a bunch of natural enemies that have been doing the happy family act for the past four months; will it stick together with the same pretense of harmony or will each individual member of the family go back to its natural element? Each probably blames the other for Parker's defeat and the western element has the advantage of being able to say that Parker was a worse failure than Willie, from Lincoln. It is a sure thing that the defeated party will look to Bryan to revise the party creed and that presidential aspirant, whom two defeats failed to discourage, will probably be in the ring again in 1908, with his rotten money adherents, to receive the last blow that will put him into the shade of oblivion, no matter who runs against him, that will make people in the future cease to remember that there is such a city as Lincoln and that the free silver issue like the waters that have passed the falls, will never return to cause long be-whiskered Populists and radical Democrats to lose their farms on election bets."

Dr. J. K. Mitchell, of New York, who was in the city yesterday on his way to Los Angeles, is quite an extensive traveler and has made several trips across the Atlantic. He has been to Santa Fe several times and says he is very much in love with the city, and especially does he like it for its excellent climate. "If people in the east," he said last evening at the Claire, "knew what a splendid health-giving climate you have here, the city would be filled with health-seekers at all seasons of the year. Fresh air is a great cure and the greatest of all Mother Nature's remedies. In the museum at Edinburgh University, in Scotland, which I had the pleasure to visit last year, there is an exhibit that is a striking object lesson of the value of fresh air. A professor has secured the lungs of an Eskimo, a Londoner and a coal miner. He had them preserved by chemical process and they are now side by side in a class case. The Eskimo's lungs are pure white, the Londoner's a dirty brown and the miner's lungs are jet black. The Eskimo has kept his lungs clean, not because he knew more about breathing than the Londoner, or coal miner, but because he lived in a land of snow fields and spent his time in the open air."

Jose A. Garcia, sheriff of Conejos County, Colorado, who is in the city on legal business, was re-elected at the recent election by a majority over his opponent of 1,670 and if he serves the next two years, he will be able to celebrate his twentieth anniversary as sheriff, a record which speaks well for his ability to keep the peace in Conejos County. "Our county," he said last evening at the Palace, "gave Peabody a majority of over 100 and also elected to represent us in the state legislature a brother of his Democratic opponent, William H. Adams, who is a staunch Republican. While I fought a hard battle for Peabody, now that he is beaten, I do not think that Adams is going to let Colorado go to the dogs as some of the radical papers claimed before election. I know the governor-elect personally and have known him for many years and I have a high opinion of his executive powers. Of course, the legislature is Republican as is the supreme bench, which would effectually tie his hands if he desired to go to extremes; but I have too much faith in his ability to smooth over troublesome affairs to believe that he will venture to allow anyone to rule him or dictate to him. Peabody, while a good man in every sense of the word, was too abrupt, he could not conciliate his enemies, and naturally this caused many of them to feel bitter toward him. Adams is a good business man as well as a shrewd politician and it is now up to him to show the people of Colorado, whether they made a mistake in electing him."
