HUERTA IS IN HIDING; AMERICAN ULTIMATUM IS UNANSWERED

MEXICAN PROVISIONAL PRESIDENT DISAPPEARS RATHER THAN REVOKE ORDER TO CONGRESS TO CONVEY

CONSTITUTIONAL PARTY TO BE STRAINED

WILSON DECLARES THE OUTLOOK FAVORABLE

THE PRESIDENT IS BELIEVED TO ACCOMPLISH DESIRED AIM

The Mexican Provisional President, General Victoriano Huerta, has disappeared rather than revoke the order to Congress to convene the Constitutional party. This action indicates his determination to maintain his position and resist any attempts to overthrow him. The United States considers the latest policy of Huerta to be the elimination of previous efforts to strike at the nation's government, and it is anticipated that the Mexican government will be restored to its former status. The president's position has been strengthened by recent developments, and it is believed that his actions will lead to a successful outcome. The American government, however, remains concerned about the potential for conflict and instability in Mexico. The situation will continue to be closely monitored.
FINANCIAL REPORTS CROOKED, A RUSSIAN MILITARY ENCORE

It's for his own reasons a somewhat pleasant and even interesting subject for the reader to consider at this time. In many books on prisoners, as well as in many of the pamphlets issued by the American Red Cross, the reader is met with a great deal of information about the treatment of prisoners of war in various countries. In the case of the prisoners of war in Russia, for example, the statements are often exaggerated. The idea that prisoners of war in Russia are not given proper care is often repeated in various publications.

Perhaps the most interesting part of the story is the way in which the prisoner is treated after being released from captivity. The news of the liberation of the prisoners from Russia has been a matter of great interest to the people of the world. It has been the subject of numerous reports and articles in the press. The news of the liberation of the prisoners has been received with great joy and enthusiasm by the people of all countries. The news has been welcomed as a symbol of hope and freedom. It has been received as a sign of the beginning of a new era.

The story of the prisoners of war in Russia is a story of courage and sacrifice. The prisoners have fought bravely and with great determination. They have shown that they are not afraid of hardship and suffering. They have shown that they are willing to make the ultimate sacrifice for their country.

HER LOST HUSBAND

BY FRANK P. JOHNSON.

John Michael, United States consul at Brussels, looked up from the book he was reading and said, "I hate to tell you, Mr. Johnson, but I have something I want to say.

"I know what you are going to say," John Michael said, "but I have to tell you this. I have a story to tell you about a man who had a family, a wife, and children, but he never had a chance to be happy."

"What's the story?" Mr. Johnson asked.

"It's about a man named John Doe, who lived in a small town in the United States. He was a simple man, with a loving family, but he never had a chance to be happy because he was always poor."

"What happened to him?" Mr. Johnson asked.

"One day, John Doe was walking down the street when he saw a sign that said, "Job Wanted." He went to the job agency and found out that he could work for the government as a messenger."

"That sounds like a good job," Mr. Johnson said.

"Yes, but the catch was that he had to work in the consular office. He didn't want to work there, but he had no choice."

"What happened next?" Mr. Johnson asked.

"John Doe started working at the consular office, but he didn't like it. The work was hard, and the people were mean. He was constantly being blamed for things he didn't do."

"That sounds like a terrible job," Mr. Johnson said.

"Yes, but John Doe never gave up. He kept working hard, and eventually he was promoted to the position of assistant consul."

"That's amazing," Mr. Johnson said. "How did he do it?"

"John Doe never gave up. He worked hard every day, and he never complained. He was always polite to everyone, and he always tried to do his best. In the end, he was promoted to the position of assistant consul."

"That's a great story," Mr. Johnson said. "I'll tell it to everyone I know."
