M'DONALD, HAGERMAN AND FLOOD
ARE GIVEN TREMENDOUS OVATION

Mr. McDonald Doesn't Mince Words. — McDonald says no claim to be a braggart, but he held the closest attention of his auditors while he spoke. Among the many terse and impressive statements made by him were:

"They say I am unknown and unfired. The more the bosses try the better they will know me."

"The issue in this campaign is honest government, not machine rule. The boss is the one great issue."

"I am going to make the fight now through to election day and if elections this year are not free and honest in the past the fight will be on November 7th, whether I am elected or not. I am in politics to stay until the machine is broken and the government is reformed."

He then introduced EX-Governor Hagerman.

Emphatic Greeting With Cheers. — Hagerman, in the extreme west of the democratic bloc, greeted Mr. Hagerman. The cheering and handclapping continued for a full three minutes and Mr. Hagerman was deeply touched by the cordial greeting which he thanked the audience for assuring them that he appreciated it. He opened his remarks, which were brief, by the statement that he would try and explain the cause of our progressive government. He has been elected by the first one in New Mexico to advocate the enactment of progressive legislation, which he did by recommending in his message to the legislature soon after his inaugu-

The question of the election of delegates to the judicial and state senatorial conventions being brought up this morning, twenty-five gentlemen who composed the delegation that was recently subjected to the steam roller at the convention of state-patrons at Las Vegas, constitute the delegation from Bernalillo county to other district conventions.

The Central Committee, which was selected at the close of the convention is constituted as follows: Precinct No. 1—Cronquist, Lopez, J. F. Amador. Precinct No. 2—Antonio Garcia. Precinct No. 3—Maximiliano Perez, Bernard Falkenrich. Precinct No. 4—Haford Soto. Precinct No. 5—James M. Sanchez, Melton Conroy. Precinct No. 6—Hanson Padilla. Precinct No. 7—Venecio Grigo. Precinct No. 8—Justiniano Gutierrez. Precinct No. 9—Policarpo Arriola. Precinct No. 10—Frank Mora. Precinct No. 11—Dolores Muniz. Precinct No. 12—Jesus Romero, M. C. Ortiz, M. R. Precinct No. 18—Antonio Jose Garcia. The members of the committee for the 12 and 26 precincts in the city of Albuquerque were not announced. The committee was called to meet in the Progressive Republican headquarters at 112 West field avenue, on Monday morning for the purpose of electing officers. The convention then adjourned.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION NAMES ITS CANDIDATES

The Bernalillo county democratic convention which was called to order in the Elks theater yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, was well attended and harmonious, the delegates all being actuated by a desire to nominate the best possible men for the positions on the county ticket. Through the various questions were discussed and decided on at times the debate grew animated the voters in every case accepted their defeat gracefully and the best of feeling prevailed when the convention finally adjourned at 7:30 in the evening.

The candidates endorsed by the democrats for places on the county and legislative ticket follows: For the state senate—Isaac Barth. For the legislative house—Isaac Garcia. For Treasurer—Mike Mandell. For Probate Judge—Manuel U. Villan. For County Surveyor—Pitt Ross.

Through a misunderstanding the nomination of Mr. Barth for the state senate was not endorsed by the republicans, but it is likely that this matter will be amicably adjusted by the committee appointed for the purpose which is to meet on Monday. The misunderstanding was as to whether Mr. Barth was to be the candidate for the senate from Bernalillo county or from the district composed of Bernalillo, Sandoval and San Juan. It is understood that the progressive republicans intend to run P. Hanley for the senate and the committee appointed will decide as to the district which each gentleman is to represent.

The democratic convention organized by the election of Manuel F. Vigil as temporary chairman and Robert H. Crews as temporary secretary. Permanent organization was effected by the election of J. G. Albright as chairman and Ramon C. Archuleta as secretary. In assuming the chair Colonel Albright made a rousing democratic speech in which he urged the necessity of harmony and unity of purpose in the interest of the state ticket. The chairman told the convention that the politics of the men on the county ticket was a matter of small moment, so long as they were men who enjoyed the confidence of the people, but that the real issue confronting the convention was to do everything possible for the success of the state ticket at the polls on November 7 to the end that the new state might be started out with a government that would be free from graft and oppression.

FUSION TICKET IN MCKINLEY

Democrats and Progressive Republicans Declare Against Gang Rule and Machine Politics.

(Special Telegram to the Morning Journal) Gallup, N. M., Oct. 14.—At one of the most enthusiastic and important conventions ever held in McKinley county, the democrats and progressive republicans united here yesterday and nominated a fusion ticket to be voted on at the election November 7. The ticket was nominated on a platform of opposing the rule of party bosses and machine politics. The ticket which is practically assured of election because it is representative and composed of strong men, follows: For Senator—S. E. Adair. For Representative—Marion J. Hill and T. H. Tall. For County Commissioner—J. L. Pitt. For District Judge—V. H. Vial, second district, W. H. Morris, third district. For Sheriff—Lewis Myers. For Assessor—R. H. Johnson. For Treasurer—P. M. Sledge. For Probate Judge—M. H. Hain. For School Superintendent—T. A. Waring. For Surveyor—J. H. Newman.

ROCKY MOUNTAIN FUEL COMPANY BUYS MINES

Denver, Colo., Oct. 14.—All property of the Northern Coal and Coke company, including ten of the largest coal mines in northern Colorado, seven company stores, in as many towns and approximately seven hundred acres of coal lands, today became the property of the Rocky Mountain Fuel company. The price paid is approximately $1,500,000. The new owners will take charge tomorrow night and will begin operating Monday. David W. Brown of the Rocky Mountain company, said that the new owners will not recognize the coal miners union and that the fight for unionism will continue in the northern fields.

HURRICANE SWEEPS M'NAMARA TRIAL WEST COAST OF MEXICO MAY LAST NINE MONTHS

Belated Vessel Reaches San Diego With Story of Death and Destruction Along Shores of Pacific.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) San Diego, Cal., Oct. 14.—Six days late and bringing news of the terrible storm last week on the west coast of Mexico, the steamer Benito Juarez, Captain Francisco Miranda, arrived in San Diego today from Manzanillo. Enroute from Manzanillo he sighted a derelict schooner ashore at San Jose de Cabo, another three miles off shore, the derelict upon the sea, the Pacific mail steamer San Jose, with her decks swept clean and distress signals flying, and the big American-Hawaiian steamer Nevada disabled.

The steamer had scarcely left Manzanillo when the first signs of the storm were apparent. Captain Miranda ran the vessel into Banderas bay, sixty miles south of San Blas, he remained there for two days and then started back to Manzanillo. After leaving he met the steamer San Jose, too far distant to speak, but still close enough to see that the big vessel had been badly battered, her mast had been carrying a distress signal.

Slightly later he arrived at Manzanillo when the American-Hawaiian steamer Nevada, Captain Wright, put into port, her steering gear out of commission and a portion of her upper deck damaged. When Captain Miranda was in longitude 116-11 west, latitude 22-15 north, he sighted a derelict three miles west with no sign of life on board. He is of the opinion that it was an American lumber schooner out of Guaymas.

At San Jose de Cabo the entire sugar cane crop was destroyed by the terrible wind and great suffering will follow. The residents of that section for the most part depend entirely on the cane crop for subsistence. Magdalena also suffered. Three large stone warehouses on the shores of the bay were wrecked and their contents swept broadcast. Captain Miranda could not learn whether or not any lives had been lost.

DISMAYED SCHOONER ABANDONED BY CREW

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 14.—A wireless message received here late today says the schooner William Nottingham, Captain A. W. Severson of the Globe Navigation company's fleet, was dismantled in the storm that swept the Oregon and Washington coast yesterday. The schooner became water-logged and was abandoned by her crew of eleven men. The schooner David Evans picked up the castaways and will land them at Astoria, Ore.

PRISON DOORS OPEN FOR BANKER WALSH

Parole Proves Joyful Surprise For Aged Chicago Financier Who at Once Departs For Home Accompanied By Son.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 14.—John R. Walsh, the former Chicago banker, is speeding homeward tonight. After spending the past eight months and twenty-six days in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for misappropriation of the funds of the Chicago National bank, he was paroled today. The former banker came here and at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon he left for Chicago.

Owing to Richard Walsh failing to understand when he started here, he told his father that he had been paroled, the former banker was forced to leave the institution in prison-made garb. He wore a gray suit, overcoat, made by prisoners and a soft felt hat of such ordinary quality that it was said in several places before Walsh reached here.

Arrangements were made, however, to have one of Walsh's own suits sent in Chicago, Mo., for him. He will exchange his prison clothes for others there tomorrow.

The parole came most unexpected. Late last night came a code message from the attorney general of the United States, saying the parole had been granted. Warden E. McLaughlin, who had been in the prison since immediately broke the news to him. Walsh was overjoyed, but Walsh was the only person the warden told of the parole for he is prohibited from telling and was not until today that the story leaked out. "Come here immediately," the warden telegraphed Richard Walsh, and thinking his father was ill, rushed to the Leavenworth prison from Chicago. With him he brought all principal books of the Walsh business, hoping his father would at least be able to go over the accounts once more. At noon today Walsh entered the warden's office. "Have you a rag ready?" inquired the warden. "Ready for what?" asked Walsh, puzzled. "When your father is paroled," responded the warden. "How glad I am," exclaimed Walsh, dropping his bundles, and embracing a deputy marshal who stood near. Shortly after 2 o'clock at the main gate of the prison an automobile met Walsh and his son and they started on their homeward journey.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE DURING FIRST WEEK

Seventy-Two Prospective Jurors Summoned But None Are Chosen; 800 May Be Examined to Secure 12.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—A scurry for country clubs and beaches marked today the end of the first week of the McNamara murder trial. When Judge Walter Bordwell adjourned the case at noon until Monday, the Hall of Records in which the trial is being conducted, was despatched quickly, and few officials could be found in the course of the afternoon.

District Attorney John D. Fredericks managed a trip out of town, as did some of his associates. The seventy-two jurors summoned in the relaxation, being taken for a ride in a sightseeing automobile set apart for their use. They returned late in the day, sun burned and singing, and were locked up in the vacant court room reserved for their use.

James H. McNamara, on trial for the murder of Charles J. Hagerty, the victim of the Los Angeles Times explosion, was taken back to his cell, where during the afternoon he discussed the situation with his brother, John J. McNamara, also under indictment for murder. The brothers occupy cells across a little corridor from each other.

Attorney Clarence S. Barrow, chief of counsel for the defense, and Leconte Davis, an assistant, were in conference together throughout the afternoon, planning in the work of the next week. The brief week, interrupted by two holidays, was sufficient to outline the tremendous struggle now beginning. Those who at the beginning predicted a three months' trial, lengthened this to six months, and that nine months or more may have elapsed before the trials of the brothers are completed, seemed the general opinion. A month in which to obtain a jury is held as a moderate estimate.

Whether the eight hundred or so gentlemen remaining from the drawing made the first of this year sufficient to supply the jury was discussed with the point in view that the trial eventually might be pushed out of Los Angeles county for lack of jurors and begin all over again, but this idea was not largely considered. The contention of the defense, however, was a vigorous struggle over every man in the jury box is expected and decrease is likely to find the selective process still going on.

External proceedings, however, were held of minor importance. Over the selection of the jury was a court from the defense that the case would be regarded not alone as the trial of a single man, but as a struggle in which "organized labor," its actions and the opinion in which labor organizations were held by the jury would play a leading part. That, and the defense that the Times was blown up, not by dynamite, but by gas, seemed to comprise the position of the defense, although the burden upon the state of showing that John J. McNamara was in Los Angeles or at any place where he could have been responsible for Hagerty's death, will be strongly insisted upon.

Perhaps eight hundred witnesses, all told, are being held in readiness. Over the selection of John J. McNamara, a leading witness for the state, now in the county jail, none are in Los Angeles, so far as is known. Today was expected to see the first of arguments over the admissibility of showing that John J. McNamara was in Los Angeles or at any place where he could have been responsible for Hagerty's death, will be strongly insisted upon.

We will hear Mr. Scott, Monday morning," said Judge Bordwell, cheerfully. "I don't expect to talk long," said Mr. Scott after court adjourned, "but I might get warmed up tonight." Attorney Barrow said tonight he knew nothing of Caplan's reporter drawing. "A few days ago, in talking over witnesses, some one connected with the prosecution said, 'I suppose we'll have to pick up Caplan with a shovel,' he said. The story probably started from that."

Maxwell C. McLean of the Burns Detective agency, said he had no such report and believed it "just another rumor." It was reported tonight that the prosecution had given up hope of producing David Caplan, indicted with the McNamara because he is believed to have been drawn in the plot. Some information to this effect also is said to have reached Clarence S. Barrow, chief of counsel for the defense, but aside from the declaration that Caplan would never appear in court, further verification from either side was not forthcoming.

MCNAMARA GRIEVED AT DESCRIPTION OF HIS WIFE

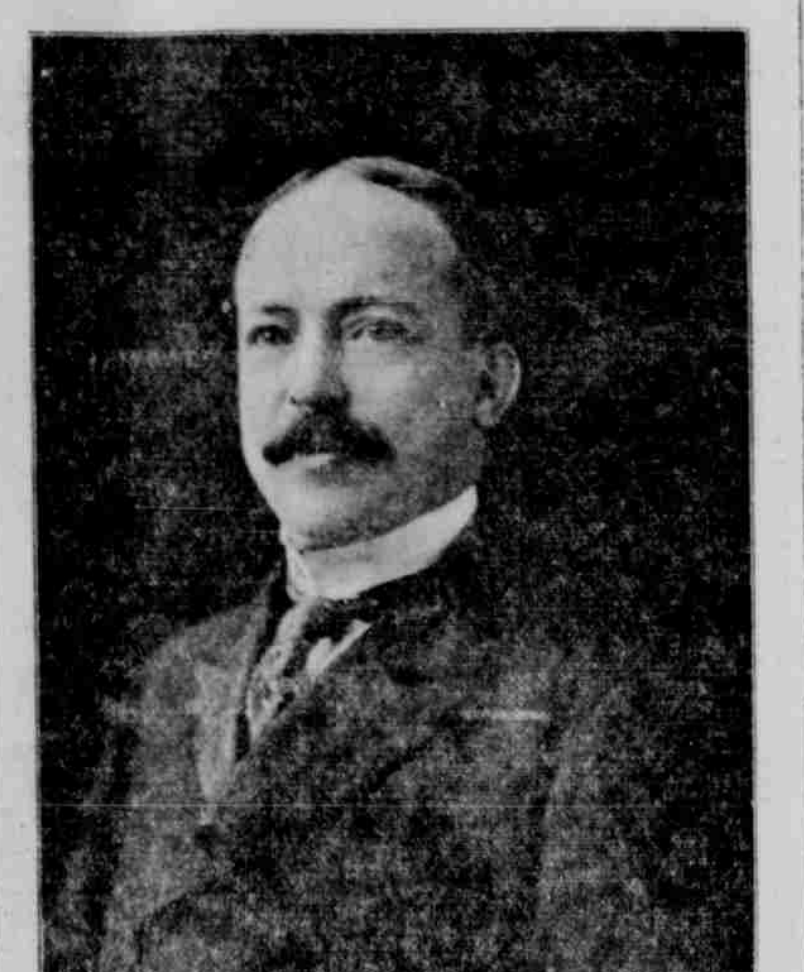

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 14.—"I never injured her in my life," said John J. McNamara today when told of a suit for divorce on an allegation of cruelty brought by his wife in Chicago. "I always loved my wife. I gave her all my money and took the best care of her I could." "Will you contest the suit?" he was asked. "I do not know what I will do, or can do," he replied. "I can't go back to Chicago to fight it. I am utterly taken back by it, and I don't know what to do to be done." To McNamara the affair appeared to be one more evidence that his wife had "turned against him." "She's for the defense now," he said. "She's willing to sacrifice me."

UNDERWOOD ATTACKS WOOLEN SCHEDULE

Chicago, Oct. 14.—The people of the United States may a subsidiary to the wool industry of at least $104,000,000 a year, according to calculations of the Hon. Oscar Underwood of Alabama, chairman of the Ways and Means committee of the house of representatives, who discussed Schedule K, before the Industrial club of Chicago here tonight.

Miguel Otero Resigns Treasurership to Fight Against Bursum Gang

Former Governor and Popular New Mexican Progressive Candidate For Senatorship and Will Make Aggressive and Determined Campaign Against Republican Ring Between Now and Election Day; One of Strongest Men in the State.

MIGUEL A. OTERO
Former Governor of New Mexico, Progressive Republican Candidate For United States Senator From New Mexico.

Enthusiastic cheers last night at the democratic assembly room meeting greeted the announcement that Miguel A. Otero, former governor of New Mexico, yesterday resigned his position as territorial treasurer to make the stump in New Mexico against the old stalwart republican ring, and in advocacy of his candidacy for United States senator from New Mexico.

Governor Otero's resignation and the announcement that he would enter the race for the senate on the progressive republican platform was no surprise to the friends of the gentleman and will not prove surprising to the general public. Mr. Otero has long been opposed to the men and the methods which controlled the Las Vegas convention and the action of that convention finally determined him to sever all affiliations with the un-republican wing of the republican party and vigorously and the progressive good government movement.

With his splendid record of honesty and ability in the executive chair, as the treasurership and other official positions, Mr. Otero's entry into the field will greatly strengthen the progressive movement and his will be a winning combination from the start. He is highly popular with all classes of citizens, one of the ablest citizens of New Mexico and an ideal candidate for the senate. Mr. Otero is a man of broad grasp of affairs, with high ideals of government borne out by his own activities in public life, a man of unquestioned integrity and a man who has the interests of every citizen of New Mexico at heart. The principle in the senate deal with the same been predominant in his personal platform and his personal character and high attainments will make him a United States senator who will raise

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE HARLAN DIES SUDDENLY

Death Once More Invades the Ranks of United States Supreme Court and Claims Famous Jurist.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Washington, D. C., Oct. 14.—(Good Bye, I am sorry I kept you all waiting so long.) With those words Associate Justice John M. Harlan of the Supreme Court of the United States, with a second stroke of the greatest legal authority of the day, once a comprehensive figure in national and Kentucky politics and law, died early today, aged 78 years. He had been ill less than a week.

The famous jurist will be buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington on Black Creek Cemetery here, following a service next Tuesday at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, of which he was an active member. The supreme court will take formal action on his death Monday, and adjourn immediately as a mark of respect.

With Justice Harlan's death the opportunity has fallen to President Taft to select during his short term in office a majority of the members of the supreme court, including the chief justice, a duty that has devolved upon no other president since Washington named the court in 1789.

Given as to the probable success of Justice Harlan has begun. Some persons believe his successor will come from the cabinet. Attorney General Wickersham, Secretary of State Knox and Secretary of Commerce Nagel have been mentioned. Of these Secretary Nagel is almost certain, most prominent has been mentioned. He has reported to have been in

AUTOMOBILE ROAD RECORDS BROKEN AT LOS ANGELES

Heavy Car Race Won By Merz at Average Speed of 74.4 Miles Per Hour Light Car Event Won By National.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Santa Monica, Cal., Oct. 14.—All American road race records were broken in the Santa Monica automobile races here today. Charles Merz, in a National forty won the heavy car race with the high average of 74.4 miles an hour. Harvey Herrick, in another National forty, followed this victory by winning the free-for-all, averaging 74.9 miles an hour.

The victory of Herrick was greeted with wild enthusiasm by one hundred thousand spectators as the winner is a Los Angeles driver. This was the third time in succession that the Pacific classic has been won by a local man, and each time the American road record was lowered. Pateke, in a Marmon, was second, and Dawson, in another Marmon, third in the free-for-all. The race was run over a perfect course and under ideal weather conditions. There were no serious accidents.

The grand stands were packed and fully four thousand cars formed a solid line around the track and a quarter mile course.

The only accident of the day occurred at the sharp Nevada avenue turn. Endicott, in an Interstate, was going to the curve when Yotaki, in a Fiat, overtook him. The axle from the Fiat exhaust killed Endicott and he failed to make the turn and crashed into the fence. The car was badly damaged and was withdrawn from the race.

Endicott escaped with a sprained arm and bruises.

The record made by Merz will stand as the new record for cars of less than 45 cubic inch piston displacement. Herrick's time stands as the free for all record.

BATCH OF CONVICTS SENT UP FROM LAS CRUCES

Numerous Prisoners Sentenced
By Judge Parker; Grand Jury
Fails to Indict Woman For Poisoning.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 13.—The territorial grand jury finished its labors Thursday afternoon. It reported thirty-six cases investigated; twenty-six "true bills," ten "no bills" and two witnesses examined. They reported the sheriff's assistant, who lectured and probed clerk's offices in excellent condition. They recommended that a small steel vault be erected in the court house yard for the purpose of preventing the county records from being destroyed by fire. Judge Frank W. Parker thanked the grand jurors for their efficient work and reminded them that they were the last territorial grand jury to be held in this county; that statehood would be in full glory by the next term of court. He stated that it was not in his power to order the erection of a new fire-proof vault for the public records, but that the county commissioners should attend to this matter without further delay. If the public records should be destroyed, the value to millions of dollars' worth of property would be unsettled and litigation exist for fifty years to come.

Friday afternoon the prisoners who had been convicted during the past term of court were sentenced by the judge. The jail has been emptied and the court adjourned to convene again the fourth day of December. The bailed criminal cases will then be completed, also the civil docket.

The most serious case to come before the grand jury was that of Mrs. Sarah Talley charged with the murder of her husband. The Talley family were arrested last spring, charged with poisoning the father and husband. Mrs. Talley and one son and a daughter were brought to Las Cruces and placed in jail. The body had been examined and the viscera removed and analyzed for strychnine. Witnesses were called, but the prosecution failed to furnish evidence enough to hold the son and daughter. The chemist reported no strychnine in his tests. Mrs. Talley gave $3,000 bail and the case awaited the action of the grand jury. Poison found in the house, the doctor's testimony of the deceased's death, the evidence of the witnesses, etc., failed to indict the woman, as it was deemed the evidence was not conclusive.

A. Carrillo pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny, and was sentenced to one year in prison at hard labor. Francisco Romero, was indicted on the same charge, but fought the case and was found guilty. His sentence was two to four years in the territorial prison at hard labor.

C. Santana was tried and convicted for uttering a forged check. Santana maintained to the last that he did not utter the checks, but the evidence was conclusive. He is the author of six $5 checks cashed at Organ, Las Cruces, Rincon, Berino, Santa Rita and Phoenix. His sentence was two to four years with a free ride to Santa Fe.

Pablo Grante plead guilty to the charge of obtaining a young man with a deadly weapon. His sentence was six months and one day in prison, plus a free ride.

J. W. Egan and Luc Camacho were indicted and tried for stealing a harness. Egan was dismissed on the testimony of Camacho who owned his guilt. His sentence was two to three years in prison at hard labor.

Agustín Collil and T. Seins were convicted for violating the deadly weapon act. These men beat an old man nearly to death. They will undergo from one to two years at the county jail.

T. Viscosa plead guilty to obtaining money under false pretenses and was sentenced to one year in prison at hard labor.

W. R. Moses, indicted for assaulting a young lady, obtained a change of venue. His case will come up in Deming in November.

Just a Little Diapiesin Will Make Your Out-of-Order
Stomach Feel Fine in About Five Minutes.

Nothing will remain undigested or sour on your stomach if you will take a little Diapiesin occasionally. This powerful digestive and anti-acid though as harmless and pleasant as candy, will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you can eat.

Eat what your stomach craves, without the slightest fear of indigestion or that you will be bothered with sour risings, belching, gas on stomach, heartburn, headaches from stomach, nausea, bad breath, water brash or a feeling like you had swallowed a lump of lead, or other disagreeable miseries. Should you be suffering now from any stomach disorder, you can get relief within five minutes.

If you will get from your pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin you could always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and your meals would taste good, because you would know there would be no indigestion or sleepless nights or headaches or stomach misery all the next day, and, besides, you would not need laxatives or liver pills to keep your stomach and bowels clean and fresh.

Pape's Diapiesin can be obtained from your druggist, and contains more than sufficient to thoroughly cure the worst case of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. There is nothing better for Gas on the stomach or sour odors from the stomach or to cure a Stomach Headache.

You couldn't keep a handier or more useful article in the house.

BIG DELEGATION TO ATTEND MEET

New Mexico Educational Association Convention to Be Held
Next Month; Geodetic Survey
For New Mexico.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 13.—Rupert F. Asplund, secretary of the New Mexico Educational Association, is receiving encouraging letters from various cities about the delegation that will come here to attend the convention the association will hold next month. Tucumcari writes that it will send a car with from thirty to twenty-five and Clovis asks for accommodations for twenty persons.

One of the questions asked by the visitors is the cost of living in Santa Fe. Mr. Asplund is making arrangements with the leading hotel proprietors and people who will rent rooms and he expects to get satisfactory rates for all who attend the convention. Mr. Asplund stated that during the convention there will be an evening called "New Mexico Night," and it will be given over to lectures by former Governor L. Bradford Prince, A. M. Read, Edgar L. Hewett and Colonel Ralph E. Twitchell, who will discuss archaeology and the resources of New Mexico.

A 12-page program is now the object of much work and when finished it is probable that the convention will find its sessions have proved most interesting.

Mr. Asplund is getting up a schedule of railroad rates from the various towns and these he will mail out to the educators for their guidance.

Geodetic Survey for New Mexico.

For the purpose of establishing the longitude of certain stations in New Mexico and western Texas, Edwin Smith and C. V. Hodgson, of the United States coast and geodetic survey, are in El Paso and are at present taking observations in that city. A permanent longitudinal base of cement has been built in Cleveland square, which at present is covered by a frame shanty and from which the observations are made. A longitudinal base was established when that city was a military reservation. Another was established in 1892, but of late years, no base for government use has existed there. Longitudes from one established base are established by telegraphic communications between the stations dealing with differences in local time and observations of the stars. Tuesday night communication and an exchange of signals was held between Mr. Hodgson at the local base and Mr. Smith of Grogrande, Otero county, 40 miles distant, by which the longitude of that point was established. The men will be engaged in the work in El Paso for about ten days. The cement base built in Cleveland square is in the shape of a monument standing about three feet high and will remain permanent after their departure. A direct Western Union wire runs from the little shanty in Cleveland square to a similar shanty near Grogrande.

For the Treasury.
Territorial Treasurer M. A. Otero

has received the sum of $15.75 from Game and Fish Warden Thomas P. Gable for game protection.

Insurance Matters.

The insurance department has been informed that the Retailers Fire Insurance company of Oklahoma City, Okla., contemplate entering New Mexico.

The department has approved the policy form of the London and Lancashire Fire Insurance company of Great Britain that are to be issued through the English-American Underwriters Agency.

Land Entries.

The following were the land entries at the local land office yesterday: Atienza Gurela, Lumberton, Rio Arriba county; George M. Vandines, Cuervo, Guadalupe county; Pablo Lucero, Encino, Torrance county; John N. Jackson, Cuervo, Guadalupe county; E. F. Elliott, Colmar, Colfax county; A. M. Nye, McIntosh, Torrance county; Benito M. Vigil, Wagon Mound, Mora county; Frank J. Jennings, Willard, Torrance county; Juan Sedillo, Colmar, Colfax county.

Not For the Secretary.

The office of the secretary of the territory is receiving many letters from probate clerks throughout the territory asking for information on the printing of the blue ballots which are to be used on November 7. However, the secretary of the territory wishes the probate clerks and the public at large to know that he has nothing to do with the printing of these ballots. It is hoped, however, that the republican and the democratic central committees will attend to this matter at an early date.

Marshal.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)

Roswell, N. M., Oct. 14.—Jim Lynch was tonight found guilty by the jury in the district court at Carlsbad of murder in the first degree for the killing of Roy Woolter, city marshal of Roswell some months ago. The jury was out one hour.

Lynch shot and fatally injured Woolter when the latter was leading a raid on Lynch's house to capture some liquor illegally concealed there. Judge C. J. Roberts sat in the case, a change of venue also being taken to El Paso county on account of the high state of popular feeling about the killing in Roswell. Judge Pope voluntarily suggested that Judge Roberts sit in the case.

LOST GOLD MINE OF CONQUISTADORES BEING WORKED

ABSORBING TALE OF A SEARCH FOR TREASURE

Torrance County Man Who Came From Old Mexico Exhibits Ore Samples From Site of Ancient Workings.

Manuel M. Rivas, of Torrance county, who is spending fair week in Albuquerque, is showing some very fine specimens of ore taken from a mine located about twenty miles south of Willard, N. M.

Mr. Rivas, who is a native of Mexico, has been engaged in mining on the Willard mesa for several years and seems to have supreme faith in the mineral resources of that particular section of New Mexico. The mine in which he is interested is located in what is popularly known as the San Quivira country. It has long been known that there are vast beds of coal, iron and copper in that section. Indeed, the Denver & Rio Grande railroad has surveyed a road from Willard to these fields, which when built will open up one of the richest diversified mineral sections of the state.

But Mr. Rivas did not come to New Mexico for the purpose of developing said and useful coal, copper and iron mines. He was lured here by tales he heard in Old Mexico of a mine, rich in gold, which was hidden by the Spanish when they and the Pueblo Indians were driven by the Apaches from the Grau Quivira several hundred years ago.

The story told by Mr. Rivas of his efforts to find the lost mine has many romantic and some pathetic tinges to it. When the homesteader began to appear in the Estancia Valdey he was frequently told of lost mines which were indifferently located on mesa, prairie and mountain in the country lying on the east side of the Manzanos, but in his usual hard-headed manner the former gave little attention to such rumors as he could not be made to believe that anyone would be so careless as to lose a gold mine.

Hence, when Mr. Rivas appeared with his tale of a wonderfully rich gold mine which had been successfully worked by the Spanish conquistadores he was given but small credence by the former. However, he finally succeeded in interesting Eduardo Vigil, who was then in business in Willard, in his story and one of the pathetic sidelights in the long search made by Mr. Rivas for the lost mine is the fact that it was finally discovered by Mr. Vigil.

Interesting men in the discovery, Meers, Rivas and Vigil began excavation of the old mine but soon came to the conclusion that it would be cheaper and more profitable to sink a new shaft. This was done about one hundred yards from the entrance to the old mine. It is from the new shaft that the ore comes which Mr. Rivas is at present exhibiting here.

Major H. Ruppe, when shown the specimens, pronounced them as samples of lime, porphyry and decomposed quartz with iron. The major, who is considered one of the best posted metallurgists in New Mexico, said that the lime can rock with iron was an evidence of gold. A more extensive examination will be made shortly as to the actual amount of gold contained in the samples brought here by Mr. Rivas.

HOW THE SANTA FE AIDS THE FARMER

Employment of High Salaried
Experts to Assist Him Successful
Policy Established
By "Jerry" Black.

William J. Black, passenger train manager of the Santa Fe railroad, responsible for the adoption of a new policy by the railroad which materially further the interests of those owning farming or ranch land anywhere along the lines of the system. The new policy consists of employing high salaried experts to assist the farmers farm, and taken in connection with the numerous other methods employed by the railroad to benefit tillers of the soil along the lines, will in time, make farming land on the Santa Fe the most valuable in the country.

Mr. Black has one chief hobby and that is farms and farming. He is continually on the lookout for ways and means whereby he can assist the latter on the theory that the mother lode of prosperity is in the soil, and his latest move, originated but a few weeks ago, has already begun to show results. The statistics of the department of agriculture show that farming land increases in value at the rate of $5 per acre when it is placed on or near a railroad. This is the average increase the country over and this average is kept up to a great extent, by such action as the part of the railroads as spoken of. Mr. Black's new method of assisting the farmers to farm is simple itself. The new officials of the company, bearing the title of demonstrators of agriculture, visit the different farming sections on the Santa Fe, making suggestions for and giving instruction in intensive cultivation of the soil.

What a Phoenix Man Thinks of Tuberclecid

THE TUBERCLECID COMPANY OF ARIZONA,
407-8 National Bank of Arizona Bldg., Phoenix, Arizona.

Gentlemen:—

I take pleasure in handing you herewith a statement of my case for public use in the hope it may be instrumental in bringing to the attention of those suffering from Tuberculosis your Tuberclecid treatment, which has proven so successful in the treatment of consumption.

My parents were both afflicted with this disease and at the age of sixteen a Tubercular sore appeared on the shin bone of my leg; this was in the Fall of 1898, and for ten years it was treated by numerous physicians. Many operations were performed on the bone of the leg and as much as a double handful of bones removed; I also used more than 120 quarts of peroxide of hydrogen in treating this trouble, but without permanent beneficial results.

In May, 1908, Tuberculosis developed in both my lungs and throat and I lost my voice entirely; Dr. Benyon, of Saybrook, Illinois, treated me, and upon medical advice I came to Phoenix, Arizona. Here apparently commenced to regain my health and my weight increased to about normal; in fact I gained eighteen or twenty pounds the first year I was in Phoenix, but like so many other sufferers from this disease, the benefit derived from the climatic change did not prove to be permanent, and in 1909-1910, I lost all that I had gained, and in fact became a wreck of my former self and there appeared to be absolutely no hope for me.

In August, 1910, I left Phoenix and went to the Pacific Coast, after a thorough examination by Dr. Monical of Phoenix, who pronounced me in an advanced stage of Tuberculosis; in Los Angeles, California, I underwent a thorough examination by Dr. C. L. McClish, 1760 West Adams Street. His report shows consolidation in the apices of both lungs, and that the disease was in an advanced stage. I was unable to attend to any work and had been for several months.

It was about this time that my attention was called to the TUBERCLECID treatment, which I commenced using on August 22, 1910. At that time my cough was very severe and a report by R. B. Durfee, City Bacteriologist, of Los Angeles, showed "many Tubercle Bacilli" present in my sputum; my first three reports made about thirty days apart by the same authority showed "many Tubercle Bacilli," though during the second month's treatment I began to feel stronger and my cough had decreased somewhat in intensity. After five months' use of the treatment, or in January, 1911, I had regained my normal voice and had increased my weight about fourteen pounds. In the latter part of the month of January, I commenced to do light work after a period of more than seven months, in which I had been unable to do anything. By the first of May, I was able to resume hard manual labor as construction worker in the building of houses and from that time to this day, I have not lost an hour and have remained well and strong and now weigh 173 pounds.

I am entirely free from cough and have been for nearly three months and my last bacteriological test made by Dr. Durfee, of the Los Angeles Board of Health, on May 5, 1911, shows "No Tubercle Bacilli." I have recommended and do not now hesitate to recommend the TUBERCLECID treatment to all sufferers of the dreadful white plague, and sincerely hope that in making public the result of the use of it in my case, it will be the means of saving many lives. If I could be cured in my dreadful condition, as I have been, then there is certainly hope for any case of Tuberculosis where the patient has the vitality to live the required three or four months for the treatment to become effective, and who will use the treatment with patience and perseverance and according to instructions.

Tuberculosis is a lingering disease and the patient suffering from it who expects to be cured in the course of two or three months' treatment is doomed to disappointment. Some cases appear to yield more readily than others, but I am certainly more than satisfied to find myself a well man one year after commencing the use of the treatment, although I only used it for a period of seven consecutive months. I have tested the permanency of the cure with five months of hard manual labor and feel as well today as at any time in my life, and have no hesitation whatever in recommending TUBERCLECID in any known case of Tuberculosis.

Very faithfully yours,

LEROY M. TAYLOR,

5th St., Bet. Jackson and Madison.

RUTH F. BURKE, Notary Public.

(Notarial Seal.) Subscribed and sworn to before me this 26th day of August, 1911.

My commission expires December 30, 1914.

THE COLD GRAY DAWN OF THE MORNING AFTER.

A good cup of coffee and a happy sigh of relief goes pretty good this morning, doesn't it? The fair is over—well over. Some there are who whisper devoutly "thank goodness," others who seem to regret it enough of a good thing. The first state fair was "something like,"—as some modern has put it, "sure some fair."

It was jolly good fun—fair always are—but a trifle strenuous. But there is, as you know, a certain monotony even in pageantry and revelry. Fair after, one from another, only in the color of the decorations and the tone of the music.

Racing is the same, ball games, too; the visitors are replicas and parades virtually the same, and the crowds just as uncomfortable. The same number of good round, hard-earned dollars flow into the coffers, mostly those of the carnival company who are tradesmen par excellence—they well know what they are about.

But who cares for money or the crowd? The fair is over, and the bright lights are the biggest part of the show and only the veriest show head can refuse the lure of the game. Inadvertently, unintentionally one just trips into the fair, and there, gay, random, thoughtless and gleeful, mixing with the motley mob, smiling indiscriminately, throwing confetti, getting pelted with unconcerned good nature, going to the shows and getting stung—certainly it's part of the show and the fun of the fair. Kept within the bounds of good breeding, these things point to a wholesome reaction from the extreme of ostentatious stiffness that crushes much of the spontaneity and wit and verve out of social intercourse. It is quite evident that human nature—even though when hardened to it, can assimilate and digest a considerable amount of conventional and artificial grandeur—one just stands the show and gets stung—certainly it's part of the show and the fun of the fair. Speaking of bright lights, why the good old town glowed its glowiest, didn't it? The great white way was there in all its electrical glory and did you ever see any other path so broad as the Alvarado? A million lights more or less—mild of a mathematical turn of mind—glittered on the somber exterior of the famous hostelry which was truly a palace of light and color. The fair was over, and the bright lights are the biggest part of the show and only the veriest show head can refuse the lure of the game. Inadvertently, unintentionally one just trips into the fair, and there, gay, random, thoughtless and gleeful, mixing with the motley mob, smiling indiscriminately, throwing confetti, getting pelted with unconcerned good nature, going to the shows and getting stung—certainly it's part of the show and the fun of the fair. ## SOCIETY UNIVERSAL RATHER THAN PERSONAL THE WEEK GONE.

Yes, the fair was a huge success, thank you. From the opening day to the rowdy close in the late hours last night, things were stirring in the good old town. The early worm was edging the late bird all week, as the fun commenced early and lasted late. Athletics, of course, and more of the superbly satisfied in the diversity of entertainment. There was amusement for every inclination and the town for one week has been a resort of the gay and the fair.

Something doing every minute and something to see the fun.

Society, in whom we love to participate, put aside social obligations, deserted the sanctum of swifdrom for the week and went in for the common fund of fun. Had a corking good time with the poor social innumerate. With so many sights to see, balls, motor trips to the fair grounds, box parties there; scant time was left for more private entertainment. A few dinner parties, small and select, interspersed the gay activities but "dinner out" was for the most part de rigueur. It was easier than planning dinners and besides meals wanted time off as a fair is the most universal of festivities.

Such was Carnival night! Indians struggling with Pierrots, cowboys and tramps for the smiles of the Indian maidens and the Dominoes.

One Woolly westerner, following a maid in Oriental costume remarked "I love my broncho, but O you Turkey."

There was a swell privateer that caused many a privateer.

Pardon the pun but that Yama girl was certainly Foxie.

When the fun was at its highest, all-for-fun, king of the hour, who was tripping along throwing confetti and chaff to the good natured crowd happened to meet Mr. Grouch.

"O, hello," he called gaily, then remarked jauntily, "Well, I see the carnival spirit is abroad."

"Yes, traveling in Europe," returned Grouch sarcastically.

"Come, come, my boy, lose the grouch," and all-for-fun hit him fairly in the mouth with a handful of confetti.

"I have no grouch," sputtering the confetti out in a sour tone that gave the lie with certainty to his words.

"What do you call it then?"

"Sanity! Sanity! That's all. Just simply because I don't go off my noodle about this carnival racket you call me a grouch."

"Because my sense of propriety doesn't melt down into mush and reforms itself into the adamantine column of all the days of the same year, I am accused of the meanest crime in the calendar. Usually you laud me for my soundness of mind but now you are carried away with this mad spirit of revelry stalking around and think I ought to act like a fool for the amusement of myself and the rest of these idiots."

A domino hearing his last words pelted him with confetti and laughing merrily chased after a tramp.

Grouch said—but I can't tell you just what he did say.

All-for-fun heard him and thought

ed gowns and stunning hats were here, there and everywhere. Really, Albuquerque women are good dressers and make an excellent sartorial showing either in street garb, dinner dress or more elaborate ball room get-up. This fact was especially well exemplified during this fair week, either because the season's modes are unusually good or because everybody was exceedingly flush else possessed of good credit.

For a man blind in one eye and not all interested could not help but notice how smart the gowns were. Since the fair was artistically and sartorially such a success, incidentally aeryally, and sporty in sports and racy in racing, we might pause to conjecture on the financial outcome.

Leaves that to Mr. Barth whose shoulders are broad and the efficient secretary, Mr. McManus. By the way the fair management are to be heartily congratulated upon the best fair ever. Three good long cheers for their tireless and fruitful efforts won't be amiss all together now.

AERIAL DOINGS AND "AERONUTTY" CONSEQUENCES.

Crowds and confetti notwithstanding, brilliant balls and dignitary dinners, the aviation meet was the nicest thing about the fair, now wasn't it? We had a chance to be aeronauts from actual experience, rather actual eyesight. We had all the thrills and none of the spills you read about in the newspapers. It was great and Mr. Walsh has the distinction of being the first birdman to hover over the Rio Grande valley. Incidentally his were the first aeroplane flights many of us had ever seen.

Being in nowise in the habit of "going up in the air," the inhabitants of this "going-to-be-a-big-city," now round aviation, coolly exciting. On the three days that Mr. Walsh made his flights the exposition grounds were full—especially of enthusiasm for the intrepid aviator who braved the high altitude unconcernedly.

The weather throughout the fair, indeed fair weather and of the famous New Mexico brand, was ideal for aviation.

Cool as you please, and just as easy as falling off a log, to use a back-slash expression, Mr. Walsh skinned along the ground and took the air and space lightly as a bird on the wing. Hither and thither he flew, now gliding, now ascending until his biplane was but a speck against the feathery clouds and cerulean blue.

It was a relief to the crowd, for him and attended by all the thrills that come of watching a man dare death and the elements. Interest was the undertaking by the presence of his wife and children, two wee tots on the aviation field. One, a boy, who is evidently a chip of the old block, hung about the aeroplane until the moment of flight and was first to greet his father at descent. One felt involuntary pity at sight of the aviator's family. For the winds are treacherous and the aeroplane not yet entirely perfected. We have not a doubt, many of us, that within the next ten or twenty years we will be riding aeroplanes thoughtlessly as we move now on terra firma. But the time is not yet and life is the bill which is to pay for thorough knowledge of aviation.

So the aviator's way is not along a path of roses. No path in fact, just infinite space and a fall into eternity. Here's hoping Mr. Walsh stays in the air long enough to win fame as his earth soon enough to miss falling.

MR. GROUCH DIDN'T LIKE IT A BIT.

Riotous Fun chased Dull Care last night, and from his hiding place he dared not peep out at the wild revel.

Central avenue was a glad pleasure way and the swaying colored lights looked down on the maddest, merriest crowd ever seen, who moved and jostled to the music of irresponsible laughter and chaff.

Imagine to yourself a little corner of the carnival of Nice. A still, starry night with a pale silver moon. The broad street ablaze with light and strangely garbed figures the more and more in the semi-darkness wandering along the gay and glad, mostly in couples but it was understood. And back of it all brightly lighted buildings.

Imagine to yourself a little corner of the carnival of Nice. A still, starry night with a pale silver moon. The broad street ablaze with light and strangely garbed figures the more and more in the semi-darkness wandering along the gay and glad, mostly in couples but it was understood. And back of it all brightly lighted buildings.

Such was Carnival night! Indians struggling with Pierrots, cowboys and tramps for the smiles of the Indian maidens and the Dominoes.

One Woolly westerner, following a maid in Oriental costume remarked "I love my broncho, but O you Turkey."

There was a swell privateer that caused many a privateer.

Pardon the pun but that Yama girl was certainly Foxie.

When the fun was at its highest, all-for-fun, king of the hour, who was tripping along throwing confetti and chaff to the good natured crowd happened to meet Mr. Grouch.

"O, hello," he called gaily, then remarked jauntily, "Well, I see the carnival spirit is abroad."

"Yes, traveling in Europe," returned Grouch sarcastically.

"Come, come, my boy, lose the grouch," and all-for-fun hit him fairly in the mouth with a handful of confetti.

"I have no grouch," sputtering the confetti out in a sour tone that gave the lie with certainty to his words.

"What do you call it then?"

"Sanity! Sanity! That's all. Just simply because I don't go off my noodle about this carnival racket you call me a grouch."

"Because my sense of propriety doesn't melt down into mush and reforms itself into the adamantine column of all the days of the same year, I am accused of the meanest crime in the calendar. Usually you laud me for my soundness of mind but now you are carried away with this mad spirit of revelry stalking around and think I ought to act like a fool for the amusement of myself and the rest of these idiots."

A domino hearing his last words pelted him with confetti and laughing merrily chased after a tramp.

Grouch said—but I can't tell you just what he did say.

All-for-fun heard him and thought

ed gowns and stunning hats were here, there and everywhere. Really, Albuquerque women are good dressers and make an excellent sartorial showing either in street garb, dinner dress or more elaborate ball room get-up. This fact was especially well exemplified during this fair week, either because the season's modes are unusually good or because everybody was exceedingly flush else possessed of good credit.

For a man blind in one eye and not all interested could not help but notice how smart the gowns were. Since the fair was artistically and sartorially such a success, incidentally aeryally, and sporty in sports and racy in racing, we might pause to conjecture on the financial outcome.

Leaves that to Mr. Barth whose shoulders are broad and the efficient secretary, Mr. McManus. By the way the fair management are to be heartily congratulated upon the best fair ever. Three good long cheers for their tireless and fruitful efforts won't be amiss all together now.

AERIAL DOINGS AND "AERONUTTY" CONSEQUENCES.

Crowds and confetti notwithstanding, brilliant balls and dignitary dinners, the aviation meet was the nicest thing about the fair, now wasn't it? We had a chance to be aeronauts from actual experience, rather actual eyesight. We had all the thrills and none of the spills you read about in the newspapers. It was great and Mr. Walsh has the distinction of being the first birdman to hover over the Rio Grande valley. Incidentally his were the first aeroplane flights many of us had ever seen.

Being in nowise in the habit of "going up in the air," the inhabitants of this "going-to-be-a-big-city," now round aviation, coolly exciting. On the three days that Mr. Walsh made his flights the exposition grounds were full—especially of enthusiasm for the intrepid aviator who braved the high altitude unconcernedly.

The weather throughout the fair, indeed fair weather and of the famous New Mexico brand, was ideal for aviation.

Cool as you please, and just as easy as falling off a log, to use a back-slash expression, Mr. Walsh skinned along the ground and took the air and space lightly as a bird on the wing. Hither and thither he flew, now gliding, now ascending until his biplane was but a speck against the feathery clouds and cerulean blue.

It was a relief to the crowd, for him and attended by all the thrills that come of watching a man dare death and the elements. Interest was the undertaking by the presence of his wife and children, two wee tots on the aviation field. One, a boy, who is evidently a chip of the old block, hung about the aeroplane until the moment of flight and was first to greet his father at descent. One felt involuntary pity at sight of the aviator's family. For the winds are treacherous and the aeroplane not yet entirely perfected. We have not a doubt, many of us, that within the next ten or twenty years we will be riding aeroplanes thoughtlessly as we move now on terra firma. But the time is not yet and life is the bill which is to pay for thorough knowledge of aviation.

So the aviator's way is not along a path of roses. No path in fact, just infinite space and a fall into eternity. Here's hoping Mr. Walsh stays in the air long enough to win fame as his earth soon enough to miss falling.

MR. GROUCH DIDN'T LIKE IT A BIT.

Riotous Fun chased Dull Care last night, and from his hiding place he dared not peep out at the wild revel.

Central avenue was a glad pleasure way and the swaying colored lights looked down on the maddest, merriest crowd ever seen, who moved and jostled to the music of irresponsible laughter and chaff.

by the Davis Rapid Egg-Tester company, which is incorporated at $40,000, consisting of 4,000 shares at $10 each.

The place of business is Las Vegas and the agent is Robert L. M. Ross. The object of the company is to manufacture and sell an egg testing device patented by Isaac Davis of Las Vegas. The stockholders are Isaac Davis, 2,500 shares; William E. Gortner, 25 shares; William H. Springer, 25 shares; William P. Southard, 25 shares; Robert L. Ross, 25 shares.

Articles of incorporation were also filed by the Santa Fe Electric Laundry company, which will do business in Santa Fe and which names H. S. Clancy as its agent. The company is capitalized at $5,000, consisting of 50 shares at $100 each. The incorporators are: William G. Sargent, 10 shares; Fred Fernoff, 10 shares; J. W. Fairfield, 9 shares; Frank Owen, 5 shares; Thomas Doran, 5 shares; Arthur Griffin, 5 shares; A. C. Pollock, 5 shares; Charles W. Fairfield, 1 share. It is said the laundry will be of the most modern type and will be run entirely by electricity.

At present Santa Fe, although it is the capital of a vast territory, has no large laundry, though there are many private laundries where the work is done by hand.

The erection of an electric laundry is assumed, will mean doing a large amount of work which is now done in Albuquerque.

Dr. J. P. Harrington, the eminent linguist of the School of American Archaeology, has returned from Arizona where he has been studying Indian languages. Dr. Harrington expects to remain in Santa Fe until Christmas.

Of the plans of other scientists connected with the school the following may be of interest to the public:
Dr. Edgar L. Hewitt, director of the school, is expected back here the end of the week from California.

Sylvanus Griswold Morley is in New Hampshire, but will come out here in June to continue his studies.

A. V. Kidder, the authority who spent part of last winter here pondering over Papirian pottery in which he is well versed, will likely return here in March.

Miss Freire-Marcos, the Oxford girl who came to the southwest a year ago to study the Indian, is coming back to Santa Fe in the spring as

WAS FOUNDER OF MEDICAL SYSTEM ON SANTA FE

Dr. Hogeboom, Veteran Kansas Practitioner, Formerly Chief Surgeon of Railway, Passes Away.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Topeka, Kas., Oct. 11.—Dr. G. W. Hogeboom, one of the oldest and best known physicians of Kansas, died early this morning at his home at 801 West Sixth street, from the combined effects of pleurisy and age. He was 75 years of age and until a short time ago was remarkably active for his years. He had been sick for about a month and within the last few days his condition became so serious that the members of his family living outside of Topeka were summoned.

That Topeka has the principal hospital of the Santa Fe system is largely due to Dr. Hogeboom, who was for fifteen years chief surgeon of that road, and who established the Topeka hospital. He retired from the Santa Fe in 1897, after fifteen years of service, when he gave up active practice, retiring at the age of 62.

Dr. Hogeboom has been a resident of Kansas since 1884, when he came to the state for his health. He located at Leavenworth at that time and practiced there until the outbreak of the civil war when he enlisted as surgeon of the Eleventh Kansas infantry. He was mustered out with the rank of major and planned to return to the practice of medicine. He located on a ranch in Jefferson county, near Oskaloosa, but was gradually drawn back into the active practice of medicine through the calls made upon him by residents of the community. He lived in Jefferson county until 1879, during which time he served a number of terms in the legislature as representative and senator from Jefferson county.

In 1879 he moved to Topeka, and went into partnership with the late Dr. Stormont, and later became head of the medical department of the Santa Fe system, which he organized and directed for fifteen years.

He leaves six children: Dr. H. B. Hogeboom, Miss Helen Hogeboom and Mrs. P. E. Joseph of Topeka; Dr. E. W. Hogeboom, of Springfield, Mo.; Mrs. W. H. Newton, of Fort Madison, Ia., and Duncan Hogeboom, of Pittsburg, Kan. All of his children were with him at the time of his death. Dr. Hogeboom's wife died five years ago.

Dr. Hogeboom was born in Fulton county, New York, December 8, 1832, and graduated from the Berkshire Medical college of Massachusetts at the age of 21. He practiced medicine at Glenside, New York, until he came to Kansas in 1842.

Death was due to pleurisy, together with his advanced years.

NEW HARVEY DAIRY IS COMPLETED

Twelve Large Concrete and Frame Buildings On New Farm at Del Rio to Supply Harvey System.

Prescott, Ariz., Oct. 9.—All buildings of the new Harvey dairy at Del Rio have been completed, was the announcement made yesterday by Geo. W. Sines, who has been superintending construction. Some of the structures are of immense proportions, and a total of twelve concrete and frame buildings are ready for use. Among those that deserve special mention are the feeding sheds, which are 600 feet in length and are square shaped. The milking barn is 116 feet long by 35 feet wide, while the horse barn, machinery shed, and other accommodations are 50 feet square. A two-story dwelling has been finished for the use of the superintendent, while with other accommodations a splendid system has been provided for conducting this large enterprise. Over 200 head of milk cows are to be transferred from Peach Springs immediately, while other feeding pens will also be abolished along the line of the Santa Fe railway. Del Rio is to be made the supply point for the Harvey interests in Arizona and southern California in dairy supplies. A large area has been reclaimed for growing alfalfa and other crops making one of the largest dairy centers in the country. The improvements are estimated at over $50,000 and with other outlays to be made the total is expected to aggregate over $100,000.

NEW REGULATIONS BY COMMISSION GOVERNING ISSUANCE OF PASSES

The latest set of rules and regulations issued by the interstate commerce commission governing the issuance, use and recording of passes have been received at local railroad offices. The new regulations become effective January 1 and supersede all rules that have been issued heretofore. This is in reality the first set of regulations on the subject, as previous issues were compilations of rulings made by the commission.
The new regulations are in the form of an order and provide not only for four classes of passes, but prescribe the keeping of records by conductors who honor what was once considered written evidence of the friendship of railroad officials. The four kinds of passes that can be issued are annuals, trip, suburban and telegraph passes.

Each carrier is required to file with the commission once a year a list of the officials who are empowered to issue passes and a list of the names and titles of officers having the authority to request passes from other roads.

There must be a written request for every pass issued unless the case is exceptional, and in that event the carrier must set forth the facts that made it exceptional and include it in the record sent to the commission. All users of passes must sign their names and the conductors must record the time and the train upon which it was issued.

The only persons who can be carried free or without passes are train crews, sleeping car, dining car, cigar employees, newsmen and baggage agents.

A complete record of passes must be kept either in books or by the card system so that the record will be accessible to inspectors of the commission at any time. The use of passes must be restricted to a minimum. Railroad men say the keeping of the pass records will require a lot of time and an extra expense, says the "Railway Record."

All passes must be printed on regular pass stock and numbered without duplication or omissions and in series of not less than a year.

TOO MUCH BOOZE ENDS DISASTROUSLY FOR ASH FORK MAN

Prescott, Ariz., Oct. 9.—At Ash Fork Thursday morning one of the most unusual of criminal transactions occupied the attention of Judge Shreveley, when John Honey was arrested and tried for disturbing the peace and destroying considerable property. He started to whip a bunch of Mexicans and when there was nothing else in sight he lamed his fist through valuable glass windows of three stores in his rage for vengeance on something imaginary.

When he started on his crusade he pulled off his coat and laid it down on a box which attracted the attention of two hoboes named Ed Marshall and Robert Linden. After Honey was in full swing the two roadsters picked up the garment and went through the pockets, finding the sum of $125, which they appropriated and made quick connection with the first passenger train going west. After Honey stated what the coat contained, and was unable to pay the sum of $25, which was imposed on him, communication was established along the line, and later Marshall and Linden were arrested at Needles with the greater part of this sum on their persons, both admitting their guilt. They will be brought to Ash Fork later and tried.

Honey is a miner of this section and owns placer ground in Graham county working in mines and was returning to Prescott when he met friends at Ash Fork and indulged too frequently in the flowing bowl. He was brought to the county jail yesterday by Deputy Sheriff F. E. Bartlett of Ash Fork, to serve his sentence.

IMPROVEMENT IN THE DEMAND FOR WOOL STEADY AT BOSTON

The improvement in the demand for wool has been maintained, and while few large purchases are being made a steady movement in small lots is going on, says Bradstreet's of the Boston market. Among the best features is the manner in which prices are sustained. Manufacturers are buying to cover immediate needs only but the demand covers practically all grades, and the mills making dress goods come into the market occasionally, though the bulk of the current volume of business is being done by those making goods for men's wear. Territory wools are most active, the total sales of this kind of wool during the past week being estimated at fully 2,000,000 pounds. Fleeces are firm without change in prices, but the market is rather quiet. The firmer tone in the London market putting prices far out of the reach of American buyers, is surprising in view of the disturbance of monetary and contrary to the predictions made prior to the opening of the sales. At the same time comparatively low prices are prevailing in Australian markets. The latter is being used in the United States as an argument to force lower prices on both domestic and foreign wools, but, owing to the belief that lower prices in primary markets are due largely to poor offerings, the attempt is without effect.

ROSWELL HIGH SCHOOL BOYS PLAYED JOKE ON THE FAIR MAIDENS

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Roswell, N. M., Oct. 11.—Following the report of a petition of 75 High school girls in Roswell that they were excused from taking domestic science because it is degrading to cook and wash dishes, comes the official statement that the petition was gotten up by the High school boys as a joke on their fair companions, and published to make the High school paper, "The Cactus," sell. The fact is that out of the 325 pupils in the Roswell High school, 90 of the girls are taking domestic science and are delighted with it. Some of the graduates of the school are taking a post graduate course in this line of work, which was added to the curriculum this fall, with Miss Gladys Liggett, of Stanberry, Mo., as teacher. There are even some young married women of Roswell seeking to attend the classes and a move is being made to permit them to do so upon payment of monthly dues.

While filing some of the parts of a moving gasoline engine at the LFD farm today, Rufe Dunnahoo dropped his file into the spinning fly-wheel and the instrument was thrown and driven into his wrist to a depth of 2 1/2 inches, the point wedging itself between the two bones. With his left hand Dunnahoo could not remove the file and another man had to pull out the imbedded steel.

With a broken rib punctured into his lung, Jose Garcia can hardly recover. He fell from his wagon yesterday and the rear wheel passed over his body, breaking three ribs and driving one of the jagged ends into the lung cavity. The wagon was heavily loaded.

Five Carloads of Honey.
Five carloads of money is the 1911 output of the Crawford family of Roswell, all the members of which are apiarists. George W. Crawford left today for Texas and Oklahoma cities to sell the crop of honey and its by-products. Following are the amounts of honey produced at the apiaries of the Crawford brothers this summer: Howard, 23,000 pounds; Robert, 25,000; Sam, 18,000; Jackson, 900, and enough to run his hotel a year; Bascom, 18,000. Total at least 100,000 pounds.

STRANGE NEW GRASS ATTRACTS ATTENTION IN MELROSE COUNTY

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Melrose, N. M., Oct. 10.—A great deal of attention is being attracted by the new grass recently discovered here. It is now seen to be "taking the country." It appears only in cultivated fields and strangely enough, does not come up till August. Then it quickly forms a turf that completely holds the land. A field that has the seed in it can be worked with a cultivator up to the usual "laying-by" time and then will quickly become carpeted with the grass. One man has already worked up a considerable trade in the seed. Applications are coming in from agricultural stations for specimens of the plant and for some of the seed. One order was for twelve pounds, enough to inoculate a hundred acres or to sow twelve or fifteen.

There have been several small showers lately and fall sown wheat is coming on in fine shape. A great deal of it has been sown. All the wise farmers have used Curry county seed wheat exclusively as they have found by experience that the home grown seed is the most profitable.

CATARRH OF THE KIDNEYS NOT ALWAYS RECOGNIZED

A Cold Settled in Kidneys.
Causing Serious Trouble.
Pe-ru-na Restores Health.

CATARRH of the kidneys is a very much neglected disease. It is not until the disease has a firm hold upon the kidneys that the patient begins to realize that there is some derangement of these organs.

The slight backaches, the feelings of lassitude, and other warning symptoms of kidney disease are overlooked. They are not serious enough to detain the patient from his regular work.

Even when he discovers that the kidneys are affected, he does not recognize the difficulty as being caused by catarrh.

Catarrh is sometimes so very gradual in its approach, and its earlier symptoms cause such slight discomfort that it is not noticed.

However, when it is once firmly seated in the kidneys it becomes a difficult disease to exterminate. Indeed, catarrh of the kidneys is more serious than catarrh affecting some of the other organs of the body.

In the kidneys it is liable to terminate in Bright's Disease or Diabetes, each of which are recognized as very serious ailments, if not fatal.

The thing to be done, when a cold or catarrh of the kidneys is discovered, is to take some internal, systemic remedy, one that relieves the catarrhal disturbances and thus removes the cause of the difficulty.

Such a remedy has been found in Peru-na. It relieves catarrh, no matter where it may be located in the body—whether in the more exposed membranes of the nose and throat, or whether in the remotest part of the kidneys.

That Peru-na is at once the safest and most reliable remedy for catarrh of the kidneys is proven by the many testimonials given by those who have experienced its benefits.

The testimonials given here are only specimens of the many testimonials on our records, pertaining to the relief afforded by Peru-na in severe cases of kidney trouble.

Catarrh of Kidneys.
Judge C. J. Park, R. F. D. 4, Greensboro, Ga., writes: "For a long time I was troubled with catarrh of the kidneys, and after taking Peru-na I feel like a new man. I think it is the greatest medicine of the age, and believe it will cure any case of catarrh on record."

Local Office, U. S. Weather Bureau, Santa Fe, N. M.—September, 1911—
New Mexico Settled.

September, 1911, was a warm and fairly wet month, notable for the lack of marked variations in temperature, and for the general absence of damaging frosts. Temperatures remained comparatively even from day to day, and most of the stations had a comparatively small range in temperature for the month. A slight cold period, which was, however, not general, occurred on the ninth, a second one from the eighteenth to the twentieth, and the month ended with cooler weather, but in no case was the coolness marked, nor the period prolonged. There was an excess of temperature generally, with the exception of a narrow strip along the continental divide from northern Rio Arriba county southwestward to northern Valencia, where a slight deficiency occurred. The excess in the central

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE
Saves Worry, Saves Money, Saves the Hair.

If you want to free your head of dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration, and you save hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. S. A. Lee, of 110 South 4th St., Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years' residence in India ruined my hair until it was but two inches long, and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to use Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair trouble. After everything else fails, Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair. It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

MR. JOHN N. WATKINS.
Mr. John N. Watkins, 5431 A Crittenden St., St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Among all the greatly advertised medicines for kidney and bladder trouble there is nothing which equals Peru-na. I suffered for several years with this trouble, spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicine and all to no purpose, until I took Peru-na."

"One bottle did me more good than all the others put together, as they only poisoned my system. Peru-na cured me. I used it for four months before a complete cure was accomplished, but am truly grateful to you. The least I can do in return is to acknowledge the merits of Peru-na."

Kidney Trouble, Weak Back.
Mr. M. Broderick, 708 East 46th St., Chicago, Ill., writes: "I have been suffering from a weak back and kidney trouble for some time and have been able to find relief only through the use of Peru-na. During the winter season I usually keep a bottle of your medicine in the house, and by taking a dose at night I am feeling fine the next morning."

"Some of my friends assure me that Peru-na is equally as good for their various ailments, but I do know that for kidney trouble and suffering from a weak back it has no equal."

The southern and the eastern counties amounted to a degree or more a day, reaching a maximum of three to five degrees a day in the lower Pecos and the lower Rio Grande valleys, and in the eastern portion of Colfax county and in northern Union. The eleventh was probably the warmest day of the month, although the highest recorded occurred variously from the fourth to the eighth, eleventh to sixteenth, and twenty-second to the twenty-fourth, and even on other dates in parts of the territory. On the other hand, the lowest temperature most commonly occurred on the twenty-first, although a few localities recorded the lowest locally on the first, eleventh, eighteenth to the twentieth, twenty-third and twenty-ninth.

The rainfall of the month averaged slightly above normal. Four rather distinct shower periods occurred, the first from the third to the fifth; the second from the eighth to the tenth; the third from the fourteenth to the twentieth, and the last from the twenty-fifth to the close of the month. The central and the northwestern counties quite generally had an excess in precipitation, while the extreme southern, the northeastern and the southwestern showed a slight deficiency, greatest in the lower Rio Grande valley, and in localities in Colfax and northern Union, Quay, Gadsden, Roosevelt and Chaves counties. The greatest excess occurred in San Juan and Rio Arriba counties, where the rainfall is usually comparatively dry. Nearby stations in all parts of the territory showed marked variation in precipitation, indicating the local character of the showers.

The sunshine of the month was below the normal, although generally large in the southern and the eastern counties. Roswell had 75 per cent of the total possible amount, while Santa Fe had but 70 per cent. For the territory as a whole, the average number of clear days was but 14, partly cloudy 12, and cloudy 1. The winds of the month were light and prevailing southwesterly. The humidity was comparatively high, especially in central and northern counties. The rivers of the territory were generally low, but there was little need of irrigation water by the close of the month, as the season was far advanced.

Temperature.
The mean temperature for the territory, determined from the records of seventy-two stations, having a mean altitude of about 5,000 feet, was 67.2 degrees, or 2.2 degrees above the normal, and 0.6 degrees above September, 1910. Only twice during the last sixteen years has the mean for September exceeded the month just closed. The highest local monthly mean was 77.7 degrees at Carlsbad, and the lowest, 52.2 degrees at Elizabethtown. The highest temperature recorded was 100 degrees at Carlsbad on the fourteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth, and at Deming on the eighth and tenth; the lowest recorded was 24 degrees at Elizabethtown on the twenty-first. The greatest local monthly range in temperature was 55 degrees at Springer, and the least 33 degrees at Rosedale, while the greatest local daily range was 52 degrees at Elizabethtown on the twenty-seventh. Light frosts occurred at a few of the higher stations on the seventeenth to the twenty-first, twenty-sixth to twenty-ninth.

The district averages were as follows: No. 7 (Canadian and Northwest), 67.8; No. 8 (Pecos and Rio Grande), 66.7; No. 9 (Western), 67.4 degrees.

After exposure, and when you feel a cold coming on, take Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. It checks and relieves. Use no substitute. The genuine is in a yellow package always.

First Step Toward Commemoration of What is Regarded as Greatest Engineering Feat in History of Civilization.

By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 14.—Under conditions that were almost ideal, ground was broken for the Panama-Pacific exposition of 1915, which is to commemorate the opening of the Panama canal. President Taft lifted the first spadeful of black earth in the ground on which a few years from now the exposition building will rise.

Mrs. Lillian Nordica sang her greetings and more than 100,000 persons filled the stadium in Golden Gate park to witness the first ceremony in memory of what Mr. Taft and other speakers called the "greatest engineering feat the world has ever seen, the Panama canal."

The president spoke from a platform erected in front of the grand stand in the stadium, facing south, standing on the edge of a giant green cup that was filled almost to the brim with interested crowds.

Around the race course of the stadium were banked thousands of spectators and on the track itself thousands of soldiers from the Presidio and hundreds of jockeys and milkenmen stood "at rest," their guns flashing in the sunlight. Every few feet around the course were flagpoles, from the tops of which floated the star spangled banner and the blue and gold flag of California.

In the cup beneath the president were more than fifty thousand people. Most of them were women.

HUNDRED THOUSAND WITNESS CEREMONY

First Step Toward Commemoration of What is Regarded as Greatest Engineering Feat in History of Civilization.

By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.
San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 14.—Under conditions that were almost ideal, ground was broken for the Panama-Pacific exposition of 1915, which is to commemorate the opening of the Panama canal. President Taft lifted the first spadeful of black earth in the ground on which a few years from now the exposition building will rise.

Mrs. Lillian Nordica sang her greetings and more than 100,000 persons filled the stadium in Golden Gate park to witness the first ceremony in memory of what Mr. Taft and other speakers called the "greatest engineering feat the world has ever seen, the Panama canal."

The president spoke from a platform erected in front of the grand stand in the stadium, facing south, standing on the edge of a giant green cup that was filled almost to the brim with interested crowds.

Around the race course of the stadium were banked thousands of spectators and on the track itself thousands of soldiers from the Presidio and hundreds of jockeys and milkenmen stood "at rest," their guns flashing in the sunlight. Every few feet around the course were flagpoles, from the tops of which floated the star spangled banner and the blue and gold flag of California.

In the cup beneath the president were more than fifty thousand people. Most of them were women.

Only a hundred feet away was a long, rough wooden stand thirty feet high on which a dozen members of the camera battery clicked their time away and at other corners of this photographic platform were moving picture machines that whirled and snapped as the president and Mrs. Nordica played their parts.

There was hardly an unpleasant incident. Thousands of persons had come to the stadium, before the president, under the warm sun, a dozen women fainted before he left, but most of them were treated successfully by an emergency hospital corps on the ground. Mrs. Nordica was unfortunate both times—she fainted for what she called the "first time" when she stepped onto the platform with an aria a hand attached to one of the regiments was just entering the opposite side of the enclosure, and when she stood out on the green hillside to sing the "Star Spangled Banner," the thousands of firecrackers the ceremony committee had ordered, exploded in salutes that drowned her voice.

The exercises marking the ground breaking lasted two hours. Charles C. Moore, president of the exposition, Mayor McCarthy of San Francisco, and Governor Johnson, spoke before President Taft, and Mrs. Nordica sang an air.

Mr. Taft confined himself to an explanation of what the Panama canal means to the United States, how it will double the value of the nation's commerce, and how it will open up the volume of its commerce.

"I congratulate San Francisco and California," said the president, "on their patriotic energy and generosity in seizing the opportunity to commemorate such a great event in the world's history and one which reflects so much credit on the spirit of our American people."

Governor Johnson, who yesterday welcomed Mr. Taft to the state in brief fashion, was warmer in his introduction of the chief executive today.

When the president finished speaking he shouldered the silver spade and marched down the steps from the platform to the grass. He struck the spade into the earth, gave it a powerful shove with his boot and while the camera battery and moving picture men clicked in chorus, brought up the first spadeful of dirt, which Charles H. DeYoung, of the exposition committee, received in a mahogany and silver bound box.

"Is that enough?" asked the president.

"I think that'll do, Mr. Taft," Mr. DeYoung replied.

Then the president unfurled the official flag of the exposition. The halyards were tangled and he made the committee disentangle them before he would hoist the flag.

"I don't want to make a fluke of this," he said, smiling.

As the breeze caught the official emblem of the fair, guns at the Presidio concealed behind the trees far away across the stadium, broke out in thunder; strings of Chinese fire crackers suspended from poles in the well of the stadium were set off and over Mr. Taft's head, three hundred pigeons, two hundred of them milk white, the rest black, were released, to fly over the cheering thousands.

Mrs. Nordica lifted her voice in the first bars of the "Star Spangled Banner," the moving picture men caught their last chance and the ceremony was over.

Following the ground-breaking the president had paid him a brief call by members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West at his hotel. To the daughters the president said that the east may be east and west may be west, but women in the United States were just about the same everywhere.

"Perhaps," he said, "the right to vote may make a difference, but I doubt it."

DAVE LEWIS FOR 7 YEARS WITH AL FIELDS

Comedian Starred in "Don't Lie to Your Wife" Here October 20 Old Timer in the Fun Making Business.

Dave Lewis, the comedian starred in "Don't Lie To Your Wife," under the management of Rowland and Clifford, which will be offered at the Elks' theater on October 20, began his stage career in "The Dangers of a Great City," with Dore Davidson in the role of an Irish comedian. He next went into vaudeville for a time, and then joined Al Fields, with whom he remained for seven years. These two became the best known talking and singing comedians on the variety stage. When "The Telephone Girl" was produced Mr. Lewis was sent on tour and for two years was seen as the very laughable center figure in that amusing musical comedy. Later Mr. Lewis was the principal comedian with Marie Dressler in several Broadway attractions, and then went to Europe for George W. Lederer in "The Belle of Bohemia." Returning to America he toured again in "The Telephone Girl."

When the LaSalle Theater was opened in Chicago Mr. Lewis was engaged as principal comedian, and remained there to create several important roles and soon became the rage of Chicago. In "The Royal Chef" his success was so pronounced that the Messrs. Shubert pronounced him to be the best comedian in the city.

He was next seen in his own musical comedy, "The Geer of Geck." After this he went into vaudeville alone for a time, and then joined again with Al Fields in a very successful return to vaudeville. More recently he was seen in "Lower Berth 12" at the Whitney opera house in Chicago. In his present vehicle Mr. Lewis has one of the best roles of his long and successful career. He is seen as a henpecked husband who gets into much trouble while his wife is away, but who eventually turns the tables on his arrogant spouse. Mr. Lewis is supported by a splendid company of expert farceurs, and also with the same stage mounting that featured this play during the long run at the Whitney opera house in Chicago.

When the president finished speaking he shouldered the silver spade and marched down the steps from the platform to the grass. He struck the spade into the earth, gave it a powerful shove with his boot and while the camera battery and moving picture men clicked in chorus, brought up the first spadeful of dirt, which Charles H. DeYoung, of the exposition committee, received in a mahogany and silver bound box.

As the breeze caught the official emblem of the fair, guns at the Presidio concealed behind the trees far away across the stadium, broke out in thunder; strings of Chinese fire crackers suspended from poles in the well of the stadium were set off and over Mr. Taft's head, three hundred pigeons, two hundred of them milk white, the rest black, were released, to fly over the cheering thousands.

Mrs. Nordica lifted her voice in the first bars of the "Star Spangled Banner," the moving picture men caught their last chance and the ceremony was over.

Following the ground-breaking the president had paid him a brief call by members of the Native Daughters of the Golden West at his hotel. To the daughters the president said that the east may be east and west may be west, but women in the United States were just about the same everywhere.

"Perhaps," he said, "the right to vote may make a difference, but I doubt it."

A Really Great Opportunity For the Investing Public!

Read our Experts' reports and see.
When the Sunset Mining Company took over the properties of the Bank of Commerce at Los Cerros, New Mexico, it did so for the reason that it was figured that the company was buying a mining proposition that was not so much of a speculation as the ordinary commercial undertakings.

Mr. B. A. Stutz, the well known mining expert of this city, who examined this property recently, makes his report under date of October 10, 1911. Following are a few excerpts from the report:

"The total net cash to be recovered on ore now blocked out in the Tom Payne mine averages $26.22 per ton. Net profit on ore $18.22 per ton. A total profit of $114,806.50 in ore blocked out above 100 drift between working shaft and air shaft. In addition to the foregoing you now have at the plant ore valued at $10,975. Total net profits actually blocked out in the mine, on dump and at smelter, $125,782.50."

Mr. Stutz further estimates that the machinery necessary to convert the smelter into a concentrating mill of 100 tons capacity per day will not cost to exceed $4,000.

We also have the report of an expert from El Paso who figures profits even higher than Mr. Stutz.

We are now rushing development work at the mines and expect to have our mill in full operation by November 15, 1911.

We will leave open a very limited amount of capital stock for public subscription at our present selling price, until Tuesday evening, October 17, 1911. After which time the price will be greatly advanced.

To all who desire to make an investment where great profits are certain to be realized we extend an invitation to visit the Morning Journal office.

See engineers' reports, samples of our ore and plats of the mines, mills, etc. Mr. J. B. Good, secretary and treasurer, will be pleased to show you everything and take your subscription.

SUNSET STOCK will advance in price as sure as Tuesday evening comes. All stock when issued becomes fully paid and non-assessable.

day there are shows that claim to be of western origin to whom the west is an entire stranger. Unscrupulous showmen have become possessed of the idea that any show with pistol shots and Indian whoops is a wild west portrayal. One show in particular with a title containing many words has had the audacity to bid for patronage by advertising a wild west show in connection with a circus performance and this same show has not the moral courage to advertise the circus. It has neither and seeks to hide its deception under a conglomeration of meaningless titles and in no way offers anything.

The 101 Ranch Wild West Show has but one title and that is the one to which it is justly and honorably entitled. It is not a circus. It does not offer the old time circus acts. It is not the vaudeville show that circuses have degenerated into. It is a Simon pure wild west show and comes direct from the largest ranch in the world, the 101 Ranch at Bliss, Oklahoma. The performance gives us one of truthfulness and realism. It is western depictions that are historical and the participants in these reproductions are in many instances those who have made them historical. There is no wild west show in this world that could equip itself as has the 101 Ranch, because the equipment could not be procured from any other source than the home of this colossal aggregation. The many hundreds of Indians, cowboys, cowgirls, cattlemen, plainsmen, pioneers and general western people are western people to whom the east is a new country and which they are seeing for the first time. It is the genuineness of the exhibition given by the 101 Ranch show that recommends it. It is the truthfulness of its depictions that has made its reputation and the honesty of its advertising that has made it worthy of patronage. The reputation of this show is universal, and when compared with the others who have so unsuccessfully tried to imitate it, it is then that it appears to the very best advantage.
