SCORES ROOSEVELT AS AMBITIOUS ADVOCATE OF ABSOLUTISM

Caesars, Czars and Spartan Rulers Never Got Within Hailing Distance of Former President Declares Henry.

MAKES HAMILTON LOOK LIKE NOVICE SAYS TEXAN

First Citizen of Oyster Bay Roundly Denounced For His Effort to Justify Merger of Great Steel Companies.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Washington, Nov. 18.—Declaring that Theodore Roosevelt makes Alexander Hamilton look like a novice as an advocate of absolutism, Representative Henry of Texas, chairman of the house committee on rules, issued a formal statement today in answer to the former president's views on the trust question in his recent editorial in The Outlook.

Mr. Henry asserts that Mr. Roosevelt, through his "message" is feeling the pulse of the American people for the third term, that he is "trying to discredit Mr. Taft and Mr. Wickersham," and predicts that he will "find the road to the presidency rocky" while he is running for a third term with the steel trust smugly and congenially sitting astride his shoulders.

The democratic chairman who recently made public proposed amendments to the Sherman law providing that trust criminals be forced to wear "felon's stripes" assails Mr. Roosevelt chiefly for "his terms" his advocacy of "legislative courts" and "legislative executives." He quotes from the former president's editorial the following reference to the Standard Oil and Tobacco trust decisions of the supreme court: "It is contended that in these recent decisions the supreme court legislated; so it did; and it had to; because congress had signally failed to do its duty by legislating. But where the executive body persistently leaves open a field which it is absolutely imperative, from the public standpoint to fill, then no possible blame attaches to the official or officials who step in because they have to and who then do the hard work in the interest of the people."

"This is absolutism run mad," Mr. Henry declared. "Never in the history of America did any man, living or dead, advocate such a rank, miserable and rotten doctrine. The advocates of Alexander Hamilton should tenderly take up his ashes, make due apology for his being a novice in the doctrine of absolutism and remove his sacred urn to some quiet and sequestered spot and give way to the real thing, to one who has vision."

"The czar of Russia never dreamed of such power; the Caesars were strangers to it and the Spartans never got in hailing distance of it. Our constitution was not made for a power-hungry man. The amendments herein granted in the congress of the United States: Away with Mr. Roosevelt's doctrine; away with 'legislative courts' and 'legislative executives.' There is no place for them in our republic except by usurpers pure and simple."

Mr. Henry attacks the proposed trust commission, asserting that it robs the states of their power to deal with corporations. "This proposal is vicious beyond description," he says. "Corporations would immediately raise 100,000 issues more questions and points and run to the bottom of the commission for settlement. They would pile up their controversies there and the commission would not be able to settle them in a hundred years."

Mr. Roosevelt's attack on the Tobacco trust, Mr. Henry describes as a "terrible indictment of the president, the department of justice and the courts of New York."

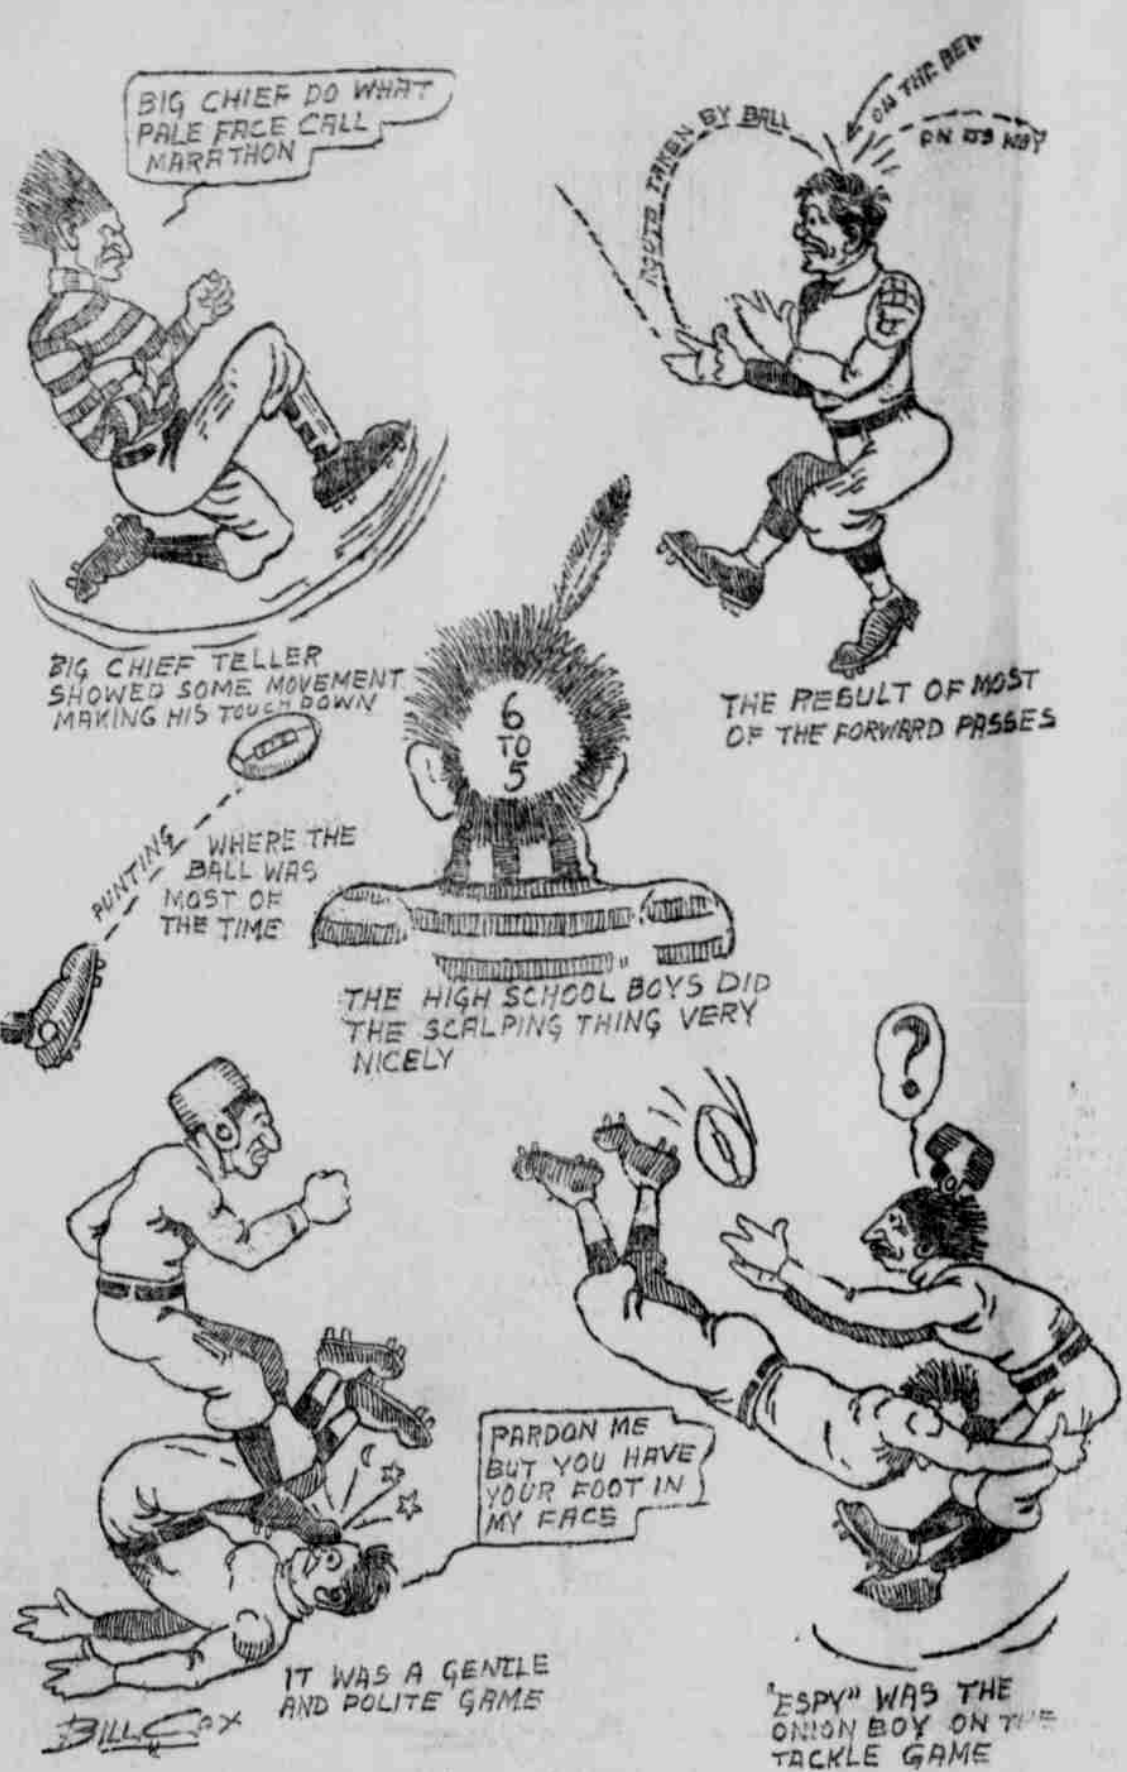

Charging that the trust commission is Mr. Roosevelt's issue the statement says in conclusion: "This will make him the candidate of the steel trust, which he defends, and the advance agent of the reactionaries not the progressives. In my opinion he is harnessing himself up with the wrong crowd and on a mighty bad issue and even Mr. Taft and Mr. Wickersham can whip him in his party."

By Bryan Picked Flaws in Outlook Editor's Reasoning

New York, Nov. 18.—Colonel Roosevelt's plan of regulating large business enterprises where they become of such magnitude that they are termed trusts has been tried and failed, said William J. Bryan today before he sailed with Mrs. Bryan today for a vacation trip to Panama and the West Indies.

Mr. Bryan was discussing the editorial of the ex-president in The Outlook, dealing with the trust question.

"Roosevelt was president for seven years," he continued, "and he did not succeed in regulating these so-called trusts. It is natural that he should seek to defend himself from the charge that during his occupation of the presidency he was betrayed by the steel trust and deceived by that corporation, but Mr. Roosevelt in his editorial fails to make the dividing line between an ordinary corporation and a trust. He does not practically point out where we can be benefited by his suggestion of a commission of control. The commission he suggests is a dangerous experiment, not only because it is doomed to failure, but because it rests on a false theory—a theory not only false but dangerous. The theory that competition is impossible in large business enterprises is the socialist theory and cannot be admitted without bringing us face to face with the issue presented by socialism."

CHICAGO PACKERS GALE AND FLOODS' WIFE INTERCEPTS DELAY TRIAL CAUSE DAMAGE IN NORTHWEST BULLET MEANT FOR HUSBAND

Failing to Secure Writ of Habeas Corpus, Counsel For Indicted Men Persuades Judge to Withhold Entry of Decision

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Chicago, Nov. 18.—Counsel for the nine Chicago packers indicted under the Sherman anti-trust act, succeeded late today in getting a further delay in the criminal trial which was scheduled to begin next Monday in the United States district court. The delay until next Wednesday was granted by Judge C. C. Kohlman in the United States circuit court where, earlier in the day, the defendants had been defeated in efforts to make effective a writ of habeas corpus. An appeal to the United States supreme court was allowed by Judge Kohlman on his decision. After deciding to quash the writ of habeas corpus and after ordering the defendants remanded to their jail, Judge Kohlman agreed to delay formal entry of his decision until Wednesday morning.

This is expected will delay the opening of the trial long enough to permit the indicted men to get before the United States supreme court before they automatically have accepted jurisdiction in the district court by appearing at the trial there.

Officers Search for "Hair Snipper." San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 18.—Urged on by scores of angry Arizona women whose locks were short, officers are searching for J. P. Schellton, an alleged "hair snipper," who escaped from officers by jumping off a train near Needles.

Schellton was arrested near Flagstaff. According to officers he mistook a "rat" for real hair and his shears became caught in the wavy meshes. Through the delay he was captured by the victim's escort, who turned him over to an officer. He leaped off the train while being taken to jail.

Ten Hurt in Wreck. Amarillo, Texas, Nov. 18.—Ten persons were injured in a head-on collision between a freight and passenger train on the Rock Island road early today near Tucuman. No one was killed.

Seattle, Tacoma and Bellingham Practically Isolated By High Water Which Interrupts Rail Traffic; Slides Occur.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Seattle, Wash., Nov. 18.—During the twenty-four hours ending at noon today the wind blew seventy-three miles, the greatest previous velocity having been forty-four miles. In the afternoon the wind abated somewhat but only to prepare for another onslaught. A strong southeaster is due tonight, which will rage probably for forty-eight hours before blowing itself eastward. The weather is warm and rainy and favorable for floods in western Washington.

In Whatcom and Skagit counties, the Nookachuck, Skagit and other railroad bridges are endangered. Some bridges in King and Pierce counties have been washed away. Slides and soft roadbed are delaying all trains in western Washington.

No report of weather conditions at Cape Flattery has been received for two days; the telegraph line being out of order. No serious damage to shipping on Puget Sound, main British Columbia or Alaska has been reported since the series of storms began nearly two weeks ago.

RAILROAD TRAFFIC IS PARALYZED BY FLOODS

Tacoma, Wash., Nov. 18.—Owing to high water in all the mountain streams of the Cascades, many trains are unable to move. The Northern Pacific has a west-bound passenger train stalled east of the Green river. The Milwaukee has four freight trains overdue from the east on account of trouble near Snoqualmie pass. The Oregon-Washington Railway and Navigation company has a land slide on the Gray's Harbor branch and more trouble is feared with the continuance of the chinook and rains. The Northern Pacific is still sending its trains east from here.

When Her Father Raised Gun to Shoot, Woman Stepped Between Men; Intended Victim Mortally Wounded.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Moab, Utah, Nov. 18.—As she stepped between her father and her husband to prevent trouble, Mrs. A. J. Dubois was shot and killed early this morning by her father, John E. Brown, county commissioner of Grand county, and a wealthy cattleman.

In the midst of a family quarrel, Brown secured two rifles, offered one of them to Dubois and demanded that they "shoot it out."

Dubois laughingly refused. Brown raised his rifle and fired just as his daughter stepped between the two men. The bullet passed through her body and wounded Dubois in the chest. Dubois is not expected to live.

Brown then barricaded himself in his house and announced he would shoot anyone who approached. Brown, who is one of the wealthiest farmers in Grand county, barricaded in his house, is defying the officers of the law tonight.

Over the telephone Brown declares that he will shoot the first man who approaches the house and that he will take his own life when he has provided for the future of his surviving daughter.

The dead woman was Mrs. A. J. Dubois. Her husband, in a dying statement, said that the shooting was the result of a trivial quarrel because he did not ride home with Brown from a dance. Brown met him in the road on his way home, he said, shot him with a rifle and then turned the weapon on his wife.

Dubois died tonight. Mrs. Dubois was killed instantly.

Brown's story is that his daughter stepped in front of her husband and was shot by accident.

GENERAL BERNARDO REYES ARRESTED FOR INCITING REVOLUTION

Taken Into Custody at San Antonio Following Indictment By United States Grand Jury at Laredo, Texas.

HELD FOR APPEARANCE UNDER BOND OF $5,000

Others Besides Sworn Foe of President Madero Fall Into Law's Clutches For Violating Neutrality Acts.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 18.—General Bernardo Reyes, commander-in-chief of the Mexican army during the regime of former President Diaz, temporarily residing in San Antonio, because he declared he considered his life was not secure in the southern republic, was arrested late today on an indictment returned by the federal grand jury at Laredo, charged with conspiring against a friendly government.

General Reyes waived examination and made a bond of $5,000 to insure his presence Monday morning before United States Commissioner Edwards, when it is expected a certified copy of the indictment will have reached San Antonio. A new bond will then be arranged. His trial will be held at Laredo at a date to be fixed later.

The arrest of General Reyes, who was named with several others as involved in an alleged plot against the Mexican government, comes as a climax to rumors of an impending revolution which have been heard for several weeks. Several days ago prominent followers of President Madero of Mexico, who are in San Antonio, flatly charged that General Reyes was arranging an uprising from this side of the border.

The general describes his arrest as "ridiculous."

"I consider it persecution," he said, "and the animus is not hard to find. As I have always done, I again deny that I have in any manner led, aided, abetted or considered a revolution in Mexico, nor have I joined in any conspiracy to do so."

He placed the blame on the Maderistas.

Sanchez, Magoon and Villareal were taken into custody at Laredo, instructions were telegraphed to San Antonio for the arrest of the others.

Today's indictments came as a climax to an investigation by the federal government, proceeding for several weeks into reports that revolutionary movements were having. General Reyes as the leader, were being arranged on this side of the border.

Tonight search is being made for arms and ammunition said to be secreted in this city.

ARREST OF GENERAL REYES CAUSED NO SURPRISE

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 18.—The arrest today of General Reyes at San Antonio has caused little surprise here among Mexicans familiar with the political conditions. While the public has been given nothing certain regarding a counter-plotted revolution in Mexico, current rumor has held it to since shortly after the succession of Madero to political power.

STATE DEPARTMENT FULLY ADVISED OF PLOT

Washington, Nov. 18.—Evidence of a well defined revolutionary plot which appears to have its base in the northern part of Mexico, has come to the state department. Agents of the department of justice and the American troops along the border have been ordered to watch closely for and prevent any violation of the neutrality laws. General Duncan, commanding the department of Texas, has informed the department of various rumors of revolutionary activity.

Should the department of justice agents discover that any plots are being hatched on this side of the line, they will immediately make efforts to discourage them. In this work they will have the help of the American soldiers along the border.

It was stated at the war department that there would be no necessity for reinforcing the American troops now in the border states, although it is not deemed prudent to diminish the force there. The Sixth cavalry will be retained at Fort Huachuca until the situation clears up.

El Paso and San Antonio appear to be the centers of trouble just now, according to the information of the department. Mexicans in both places showing great unrest and signs of political activity.

The war department has undertaken through General Duncan to take care of any Mexicans found bearing arms, but is obliged to rely upon the department of justice to unearth plots for smuggling weapons across the border.

GOVERNMENT OF MEXICO ALIVE TO SITUATION

Mexico City, Nov. 18.—The arrest of Bernardo Reyes in San Antonio, for an alleged violation of the neutrality laws, has not caused the Mexican government to relax its vigilance. President Madero and his advisors believe the odds are all against the success of an other rebellion, but they realize that they may yet have to fight. The number of minor insurrections is increasing daily and in government circles there is evident considerable anxiety. None of these uprisings are of great importance, but there is no attempt to conceal the fact that they could succeed in getting under way a general movement against the central government.

One of the points on which the government declares the work of Reyes was most clearly shown was at Vera Cruz where the arrest of a policeman resulted in the discovery of evidence showing that it had been planned to start a revolution in his behalf with the city of Vera Cruz as a base.

ATTORNEY DARROW HOPES FOR JURY BY JANUARY

However, at Rate Men Are Being Secured to Fill McNamara Panel, His Prediction Seems Optimistic.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Los Angeles, Nov. 18.—The sixth court week of the McNamara trial closed today with five sworn jurors and one provisionally accepted. The prediction of Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for James R. McNamara, that January 1, 1912, would see a jury to try his client for the alleged murder of Charles J. Haggerty, one of twenty-one victims of the Los Angeles Times explosion and fire, a year ago, seemed to be optimistic, in view of the fact that fourteen jurors finally will be sworn, two acting as supply jurors in case members of the original panel should become incapacitated. Nevertheless, it is hoped that the early weeks in January will see a complete jury.

Today's arrival in the jury box is J. H. Marshall, a hardware salesman. As he is nearly assured of a peremptory challenge by the defense, his acquisition was not held to be any great step in the process of jury getting. Fred J. Meyer, the only other salesman examined, was on the stand when court adjourned. Indications were that he would not be on the final jury.

Opposing counsel this afternoon escaped from their offices for automobile rides or for trips to the country.

The examination of Marshall and Meyer used up a whole venire, except for six who were under instructions to appear Monday and another venire, the ninth, was drawn. The number of names was increased from forty to fifty and the veniremen were instructed to appear in court Monday.

JURY SELECTED TO TRY DR. HYDE SECOND TIME

Men Who Will Decide Kansas City Man's Fate Are All Married or Widowers Except Two.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Kansas City, Nov. 18.—Ten men who are either married or widowers, and two bachelors, will try Dr. H. Clarke Hyde for the second time on a charge of murdering Colonel Thomas H. Swope. The jury was chosen tonight, after the defense and state's attorneys had worked almost unceasingly during the last twenty-four hours, preparing their peremptory challenges.

The jury follows: FRED MAUSLER, 24, pressman, Kansas City; GEORGE W. PALMER, 49, cooper, Kansas City; JAMES W. McREYNOLDS, 49, clerk, Kansas City; S. A. EMBREY, 36, farmer, Grain Valley, Mo.; E. J. TRACEY, 35, laborer, Kansas City; HARRY WALDRON, 42, dairyman, Kansas City; G. FORT GAUGH, 36, laborer, Kansas City; SYLVESTER J. VAUGHAN, 63, stone mason, Kansas City; SAMUEL H. BROWN, 28, carpenter, Kansas City; CHARLES E. ERICKSON, 40, salesman, Kansas City; JOHN H. TAYLOR, 24, laborer, Kansas City; LORING W. CRAIG, 25, wire chief, Kansas City.

Gaugh and Taylor are the two bachelors. Five of the men are under 30 years of age.

Mrs. Hyde helped select the jury. Throughout the trial she kept notes on each venireman's examination and when the time came for exercising peremptory challenges, she went into the conference with her husband's attorneys.

TORREON HOT-BED OF REBEL SYMPATHIZERS

Torreón, Mex., Nov. 18.—Commenting upon the strike situation, the municipal president, Manuel Orozco, today made the following statement: "I have refrained from using extreme measures against the strikers only to save Torreón from anti-revolutionists. There are thousands of these who await only the first armed conflict between the strikers and the military to take possession and sack the town. My procedure will be justified by the facts when they become fully known. At least one of the agitators has been paid by the counter-revolutionists."

INTERVENTION IN CHINA CERTAIN IF MONARCHY COLLAPSES

Premier Yuan Shi Kai Does Not Believe Republic Can Be Established in Time to Prevent Interference.

DECISIVE BATTLE IS IMMINENT AT NANKING

Revolutionists Massing Great Army Around Besieged City For Purpose of Taking It At Any Cost.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Peking, Nov. 18.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai believes China cannot establish a republic with sufficient dispatch to prevent foreign interference. Therefore he is endeavoring to re-establish the monarchy. This is his present attitude, he expressed and implied to members of the cabinet assembly, foreign ministers and others whom he has seen.

The premier believes, or pretends to believe that the provinces of Chi Lo and Ho Nan are safe, although it is well known that only force retains them to the government. He says the masses in most of the provinces are not rebellious, but that the provinces seceded without giving the matter much thought, and very little pressure would bring them back to the fold, particularly if Wu Chang is re-captured.

Some members of the legation think Yuan Shi Kai has the capture of Wu Chang in view and that the fighting around Hankow yesterday and today is preliminary to an attack upon Han Yang. Additional troops are being sent south, but the explanation given by the premier is that they are intended to reinforce loyal troops in Ho Nan. Yuan declared today that the fighting at Hankow is the result of a rebel attack.

If the imperial troops are taking the offensive by order of Yuan Shi Kai, the premier is deceiving the National assembly to which theoretically he is responsible.

It is reported that the premier has persuaded the assembly that it must permit the foreign loan to which it is opposed. The government intends to pay to members of the assembly a half session advance salary, probably for the purpose of inducing those members who have left Peking to return.

Yuan Shi Kai is supporting the peace society promoted by Wang Chao Ming who was recently released from prison where he was serving a term for an attempt to blow up the regent's palace with a bomb. The society's object is to re-unite the country quickly by sending emissaries to the provinces to point out the dangers of foreign interference. There is a plan also to submit the question of a constitutional monarchy or a republic to a referendum, all the provinces agreeing to abide by the result.

Many provinces report marauding by robber bands and there are persistent rumors that several foreigners have been killed in Shen Si.

Several edicts were issued today dealing with the members of the new cabinet. One resignation was accepted while the other members were denied permission to resign owing to the country's needs.

IMPERIAL TROOPS ARE MASSED WITHIN NANKING

Chin Kiang, Nov. 18.—(6 p. m.)—The expected great struggle for the possession of Nanking will not be long delayed. Rumors returning here report that the imperial outposts have withdrawn and General Chang's army is now within Nanking. The revolutionists will advance tomorrow and concentrate 8,000 of their best troops and several rapid fire guns at Ling Tan, twenty miles from Nanking. At the same time the rebel fleet will move up the Yangtze river. The attempt to storm Nanking will follow at once.

Nanking is cut off from communication with the outside except by wireless and river boats. Sensational rumors are current to the effect that the imperial forces are being weakened by desertions, but this is not verified.

General Chang, who is strongly entrenched on Purple Mountain, is said to be provisioning against a long siege.

Wireless reports from Hankow state that the fighting continues there.

Today there was a sharp engagement during which both sides lost a total of 300 killed. Several shells dropped into the foreign concessions but no one there was injured.

It is reliably reported that Admiral Sah Chan Ping, commander of the Chinese navy, is a prisoner at Wu Chang.

NEW PREMIER MARKED FOR ASSASSINATION

Tokio, Nov. 18.—Private and reliable intelligence from Peking is that there is a strong conspiracy among the Chinese to assassinate Yuan Shi Kai.

Press comment upon Yuan Shi Kai however, is generally favorable though there is doubt of his success in view of the formidable difficulties confronting him. A feeling prevails that he is the only person who can cope with the situation.

SIX COMPANIES ASKED TO FURNISH $2,000,000

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Chinese in the United States have been called upon by the republican leaders in China to raise $2,000,000 to help defray the initial expense of establishing a republican government.

The Chinese Benevolent association which is in the Six Companies, and the more influential Chinese organization in the United States, announced today that it had received a cable from Wu Han Min, the revolutionary governor of Wang Tung province, emphasizing the need for money, which was to be covered as a loan to be repaid within two years at the rate of $1.50 for each dollar sent.

The revolutionary bureau here has sent nearly $2,000,000 to China since the revolution began.

CHINESE SITUATION

Washington, Nov. 18.—Attitude in China apparently have reached such a point that neither the rebels nor imperialists are able to check acts of lawlessness. Advice to the state department today report that the situation is on the increase in various parts of the empire. Business is reported in a critical condition and finances in very bad shape.

Rear Admiral McDock, commandant of the American naval forces in China, reports that Nanking is cut off from communication with the outside world by railroad and telegraph and that the natives are leading in disorder. All the missionaries except three, are reported to have left. Nanking for Wu Han. There are no disorders in Che Fuo, but many robberies are being committed in the vicinity.

Later advice from Nanking, where the decisive battle of the revolution is thought to be impending, are to the effect that all American are now outside the walled town with the exception of six members of the Red Cross.

The naval officers report that it will be extremely difficult to protect foreign property inside the walls because it is so widely scattered.

The revolutionary forces are still concentrating. They now hold all of the territory in the vicinity of Nanking from the direction of Chin Kiang. The advance guard is made up of trained troops, who are well equipped.

The imperial warships which were captured by the revolutionists or surrendered voluntarily after the fighting at Hankow are reported to be lying at Chin Kiang.

The American collier Abnerdella has arrived at Shanghai with supplies for the American warships in the Yangtze river.

Minister Cuthoun has grave doubts as to the stability of the new cabinet formed by Yuan Shi Kai. The arrival of Yuan Shi Kai in Peking has done much to steady the situation but the government is in need of financial help.

There has been no more made as yet to start the American expedition from Manila to China although the war department says the troops are awaiting orders. There seems to be no doubt in either the war or state department that the expedition will be sent sooner or later. All of the officers are extremely desirous that there should be no misunderstanding of the object of the expedition, which is simply to fulfill a treaty obligation of the United States to keep the railroad open from Peking to Yunnan. There is not the slightest intention of seizing any Chinese territory or invading the country. In fact it was said at the state department that probably it will not be necessary for the American troops to go inland beyond the point of embarkation in China, as the moral effect of their presence doubtless would be sufficient to insure the railroad against interference and obstruction.

There is a possibility that the American force to be sent to China will be composite, representing all branches of the military service, and it has been suggested that General Frederick Funston or some other general officer be placed in command of the expedition.

DECEMBER GOOD MONTH FOR SHOWS

Attractions Billed For Next Thirty Days Promise Some Treats For Albuquerque Theater-Goers.

Dramatic pessimists, who have looked through the hole, that November has put in the theatrical doughnut, may grow optimistic. For December is to fill in the gap with verdant plays enough to "break" the ticket-buying public.

As the year of 1911 takes into itself the whimsical and things theatrical will dot the calendar regularly, and with coming events known to Albuquerque playgoers by either metropolitan reputation or actual acquaintance.

Starting December 2, with "The Traveling Salesman," the month is to be a record-breaking one as regards theatricals. Grace Van Studdiford, the famous prima donna, and an original cast, are booked for December 2 in "The Paradise of Mahomet," and on the December 9, another musical comedy, "The House of the Rising Sun," will be presented in the Elks theater by John C. Fisher, with a big company and special scenery, will hold the boards at the Elks theater.

Still another musical extravaganza, "Bright Eyes," due December 18, and "The Lion and the Mouse," and "Paid in Full," will be presented in the Elks theater the 25th and 30th of the month.

"The Traveling Salesman," full of laughs, to appear in the Elks theater December 2, and playing this week at the Tabor in Denver, is by James Forbes, author of the slang classic "The Chorus Lady." The locale of the play is Grand Crossing, a middle western village. The story opens on Christmas day, and in the first act is shown the interior of the railway station, where Bob Blake, the traveling salesman, and Beth Elliott, the pretty ticket agent, meet and are speedily attracted to each other. The plot is well known.

The story is related by widely contrasting types of villagers and drummers. Without question, "The Traveling Salesman" provides many hearty laughs.

Included in the company which will appear here are many well-known names. The leading comedy role, Bob Blake, will be interpreted by Don MacMillan, an actor of ability, and the leading lady is Dorothy Grey, a capable actress.

Sau Francisco Pays Glowing Tribute to Grace Van Studdiford.

Everybody is on the tip of the tongue as to the appearance of Grace Van Studdiford in the Paradise of Mahomet. Ralph E. Renaud, the competent dramatic critic of the San Francisco Chronicle, gives the following resume of the musical comedy, which will prove interesting to those who anticipate the coming of Miss Van Studdiford.

"The Paradise of Mahomet," now in course of rehearsal at the Cort theater gives every indication of doing an excellent business in San Francisco, through the patronage of the Italian colony will doubtless be withheld. The scenes are laid in Turkey and the people on the stage are all Turks and turkies, or rather Turkesses—with the exception of several chickens in the chorus.

The show will be well because it is a good show and would retain so even in the most critical audience. Grace Van Studdiford, who walks gracefully away with all the honors that a light opera prima donna could accumulate. After the Tired Business Men's Delights we have been having it is with a sense of satisfied relief that we run across a comic opera that in many ways deserves the name.

When you emerge from "The Paradise of Mahomet," which seems a very agreeable bit of a place, even though it is not ordered strictly according to the Koran, you make the surprising discovery that you really remember enough of what has happened to tell your friends about it. Yet, the show has that almost extinct quality—a consistent plot. Nothing happens that hasn't something to do with the plot, and the plot has something to do with everything that happens. The American adapters appear to have followed the French original in a spirit of unadorned accuracy, which helps considerably, though they have exercised their independent thought, though they have exercised their independence and integrity on the bright lyrics and some of the most brilliant comedy.

Robert Plaque, composer of the music, died seven or eight years ago, so the present work must be a posthumous effort raked up somewhere and set to words. The tunes all have a pretty throb, with some harmonic pretensions, and they all exude that excellent, indispensable aroma of the seventies, when nothing of this type that amounts to much was written in a spirit of consistent plot. The present music distinctly returns to former models, and while it is not exactly imitative, unconsciously suggests old favorites of a generation ago. There is not a bit of ragtime in it, for which Mahomet be praised, and George Co. has been refused to recognize any of it as music, for which we may append another paragraph of thanks. All the airs are mellifluous, some of them, which explain that.

"It may be your beautiful curving throat,

Or it may be your eyes which have got my goat."

was called for a dozen times. It is a sentimental little thing that proves as Sam Bernard says, where "the heart is, the lungs are near by." At the end of the first act, even though the Koran forbids spirituous liquors, the company falls asleep from the effects of the wedding punch. But as a friend of mine in the lobby remarked, it is better to have the company fall asleep than the audience. The latter isn't likely to happen in connection with "The Paradise of Mahomet."

In addition to the qualifications I have mentioned, the show has a company that can sing, as it were, two first rate funny men that can frolic, a prima donna who understands both the arts of priming and donning, and does one as well as the other, and six fine little kicking mustangs in harem skirts, who decorate the front rank of a chorus that is picked for looks. This all adds in dispelling the fatigue of those more mortals who haven't acquired the distinction of being business men. Even the scenery is all there, with the sensuous abandon of a Turkish chandelier.

When Grace Van Studdiford lifts that trusty upper lip of hers and goes to it on those long, warm notes, you can sit back and be sure you are listening to something real. The technique of vocalization isn't a mystery, but it like nice sounds and enjoys the local output last night.

It was very uplifting to find that there is still a comic opera prima donna who can deliver that good, old echo work with the flute obligato and not get her key rings jingly-jangled. Miss Van Studdiford in her acting, also has that quality known as a prima donna, which means that there is nothing shilly about her.

Edward Mera approaches the ideal leading man in this style of entertainment. He has good looks, sings with fact, every one in the company apparently possesses this last accomplishment, and both the comedians rush into the vocal breach without stepping on anybody's feelings. John C. Fisher, who has been in the company for some time, is a direct sort of way and hammers out the laughter by sheer energy and earnestness. Florence Kolb (Florence Kolb is no worse than Clarence Kolb, if you are comparing names) has a queer sort of mechanical mimicry which likewise proves effective in its degree.

Laura Burt did very well with her humorous role, and better than she would have done had she made it too grotesque. Arthur Hoot and speaking of names, what a fatal one for a comedian! Indulged in Turkish Anglicisms, and Florence Hoot played a brown-haired gypsy girl who did the heavy stunts—hypnotism, revenge and such like—in a good-natured, casual way.

"The Red Rose," Delicate of Theme and Melodious.

Not since the days of "Florodora" has there been a musical comedy with a score so popular as that of "The Red Rose," which comes to the Elks theater on December 9.

There are twenty-two numbers in it and every one appears to appeal to the individual taste of some portion of the audience. The composer, Robert Hood Flowers, has made a fortune in royalties from his work. He seems to have grasped the secret of writing musically and at the same time, popular airs. Mr. Flowers is a stickler for the proper interpretation of his work, and for that reason, his play-goers will hear many instruments rarely seen in the orchestra pit of the theater.

"Come Along, Me Cherie," is just the sort of thing a young, innocent school girl would like to sing. The theme of score and songs is a delicate, and fragrant as the breath of the south wind over a bank of violets. It appeals to the gentle and delicate in us.

In contradistinction to it is the rollicking "Go As Far As You Like With Me," which was obviously written to meet and supply the demand for a number which would approach the tourist's idea of that portion of Paris which is an exhibition to satisfy the desire and expectations of the stranger, just as Chinatown, with its "joints" is made for the occupants of a "suburban."

"Spanish Love" is not a lover's lament, rather a promise, and its melodious, dreamy setting is bound to catch the sensibilities of those whose sentiments incline towards a certain path, to the exclusion of the rest of mankind.

The score contains a wonderful variety of numbers, calculated to please all tastes, and through the theme of it all is that dainty French frothiness so marked in the works of all modern French composers. This is not to be wondered at, since Mr. Flowers completed his musical education in Paris.

Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook in "Bright Eyes."

A musical comedy with a real plot was almost unknown to the stage until Joseph M. Gaites discovered and produced "Three Twins," which is one of the most popular entertainments of its kind in the world. Made bold by this success Mr. Gaites this season offers another new play of the same character, the popularity of "Three Twins" having convinced him that the theater-going public has become tired of the frothy style of musical comedy and wish something more substantial than the usual style offered them. "Bright Eyes," the new offering, is by the same authors as "Three Twins," Charles Dickinson having written the book, Otto Harbach the lyrics and Karl Hirsch the music. The book is based upon the popular farce "Mistakes will happen," the original story being carried into the musical play almost in its entirety. Mr. Gaites has supplied a number of beautiful choruses composed of the pick of the Broadway chorus girls, each one having been selected for her ability to sing

HIGH SCHOOL WINS
EXCITING GAME
FROM INDIANS

By Close Score of 6 to 5, Albuquerque Boys Capture Inter-Scholastic Championship; A Brilliant Game.

The High School won by the score of 6 to 5, the football game with the Indians yesterday afternoon, in one of the hardest and fastest games played on the field in years. The score just represents the difference in the two teams.

From the standpoint of the new game, the High School, knowing a little more about the game, and having had the better coaching, had the better of the argument. Grimmer, left half for the High School, was the star of the game, his kicking being the line plunging being good for substantial gains. His defensive play was quick and sure at all times. Unfortunately Heeselden, right half, for the High School, was hurt during the first quarter and was forced to resign from the game, his place being taken by Hopeno, and Wiering being in at end.

The Indians lost the services of Hardy, the heady Indian quarter, during the third quarter. He was, however, able to go back into the game before the last quarter finished.

The game was close and fierce throughout. Both teams played for touchdowns and oftentimes the tackling and the kicking was so fierce and so well handled that the teams would seem to meet, that after the impact there was much penalizing for off-side play on both sides during the game. Once when Chiquita tripped an opponent, the Indians lost the ball for yards besides, for the misplay in handling the forward pass the Indian had the best of the argument, although a forward pass netted the High School sufficient distance in the second quarter to allow Wiering to kick into a Minnesota field, which resulted in the High School's touchdown.

The game started shortly after 3 o'clock, Balcomb for the High School kicking the toss and selecting to defend the west goal. Spencer for the Indians kicked off to Shuffelbarger as the High School 25-yard line and the ball was in play. The first play used by the High School was a forward pass which was broken up in the swiftest of the Indians' attack. Grimmer was then tried in a mass of kicks, but little gain resulted, and for the third down Grimmer punted out to Hardy on the Indian 25-yard line, the ball being caught by Hardy and brought back fifteen yards before he was stopped.

The Indians then tried a series of the forward pass, but could get no advantage, the ball going over. Again after two downs, the High School was forced to kick out. Hardy got the ball on the Indian 40-yard line and was downed by little Epperson.

The Indians then worked one of the punt forward passes seen on the field. Hardy, quarterback for the Redskins, made his way back after the ball was snapped directly behind the High School center and caught. Holy Two's effort in great shape. The punt was tried, however, and at Chiquita fumbled and Balcomb got the ball.

So far the game had been nearly all-tied in High School territory, the High School being tackled for losses several times, and Balcomb being tried for a punt kicked outside the lines, the Indian recovering the ball. A series of

PRINCETON DOWNS
YALE IN GREAT
FOOTBALL GAME

Samuel B. White, Tiger's Left End, Hero of Struggle, Scoring Only Touchdown On 65-Yard Sprint.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire.]

Yale Field, New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18.—Samuel B. White of Fall River, won the game between Princeton and Yale today by picking up a poor Yale pass and running sixty-five yards for the first Tiger touchdown against the first Yale touchdown. The final score stood 6 to 3.

Princeton won the toss for position and chose to defend the north goal, giving Yale the kick off.

Princeton kicked off to Hart on Princeton's 25-yard line and there was no gain in the run back. DeWitt tried Yale's end for no gain. DeWitt punted to Howe in mid-field; the Yale carrier was thrown for no gain. Camp punted to the 15-yard line. There was no gain in the run back. DeWitt punted to Spaulding on Yale's 50-yard line. There was a fumble, but Yale kept the ball. Yale started rushing and on a wing shift Howe was thrown without gain.

Camp kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 54-yard line. DeWitt kicked at once to Howe on Yale's 15-yard line. Princeton's ends were so fast that Howe was thrown at once. On a fake kick Camp made ten yards for a first down. It was Yale's ball on the 25-yard line.

Camp punted to mid-field and the ball went to Yale on Pendleton's fumble.

On a criss-cross Dunn made five yards.

Camp kicked to Pendleton on Princeton's 16-yard line. It was a fair catch and no gain.

DeWitt kicked at once to Howe on Princeton's 50-yard line. Howe made a fair catch and Yale chose to try a goal from placement.

It was merely a punt by Camp and Pendleton caught it squarely and ran it back ten yards to Princeton's 20-yard line. DeWitt kicked at once. Camp caught the ball and ran it back five yards to Princeton's 45-yard line. On a wing shift Spaulding made three yards around Princeton's right end. Time was called while Spaulding and Hart had their faces washed.

On the famous Shevlin shift Spaulding made ten yards on Princeton's 35-yard line. There was an on-side kick to Pendleton on Princeton's ten-yard line. There was no gain in the run back. DeWitt kicked to Camp on Princeton's 50-yard line. The ball was run back five yards. At this point Yale seemed to be driving Princeton gradually back. Dunn made five yards through center. A poor pass to Yale's back field went completely clear of the Yale players.

White of Fall River, repeated his performance of two weeks ago and this time ran sixty-five yards for a touchdown. Baker kicked the goal. Score: Princeton, 6; Yale, 3.

Howe chased and grabbed him just before reaching the goal line. White, however, slid the rest of the distance in the mud.

The play was resumed by Francis kicking over the goal line. The ball was brought out to the 25-yard line and Princeton started rushing. Baker made a yard through left tackle. DeWitt kicked to Howe in mid-field and the Yale captain ran it back to Princeton's 25-yard line. Camp jammed through to left tackle for a yard. Howe tried for a yard pass, but it struck the ground and Yale still had the ball.

Howe tried a goal from the field, standing on Princeton's 28-yard line, but the ball was slightly blocked and missed the goal.

The ball was brought out to the 25-yard line and given to Princeton. On a fake kick Hart made two yards. DeWitt kicked to Howe on Yale's 45-yard line. The Yale captain could not gain a yard in the run back.

Camp kicked at once to Pendleton on Princeton's 20-yard line. The ball was run back five yards.

Vaughan made four yards on a fake kick plunging through center. The period ended with the ball in Princeton's possession on their 25-yard line.

Score: Princeton, 6; Yale, 3.

Gallagher took Paul's place at right tackle.

Princeton kicked out of bounds to the center at the 25-yard line. Yale kicked on the first down to Princeton's 17-yard line. On the second down DeWitt kicked to Howe in the center of the field. The Yale captain ran back fifteen yards.

On the wing shift Camp made ten yards around Princeton's left end. Dunn made a first down through center on Princeton's 23-yard line. Three rushes carried the ball to Princeton's 22-yard line. Dunn tried the center for a short gain and the ball went to Princeton on the 24-yard line.

Vaughan tried Yale's right end. There was no gain.

DeWitt kicked to Howe on Princeton's 17-yard line.

Camp kicked at once to Pendleton on Princeton's 27-yard line. It was a fair kick and no gain.

Philbin took Dunn's place at full back for Yale. Hammond took Dunn's place at right end for Princeton.

Princeton found it impossible to rush. DeWitt kicked to Howe on Princeton's 27-yard line. On the third down DeWitt's kick was blocked and Ketcham got the ball. He was thrown on Princeton's 27-yard line. Spaulding was thrown back for a loss of five yards. Philbin made a yard on the wing shift. Philbin found a wide hole through center and ran to Princeton's 13-yard line.

Philbin was smothered on the rush for a loss of two yards.

Spaulding, on a double pass, lost an yard yard Spaulding tried a goal from the field, but the ball went straight into Princeton's hands on the ten-yard line. DeWitt kicked to Princeton's 50-yard line. Howe ran it back to Princeton's 24-yard line. Spaulding made seven yards around Princeton's right end. Philbin tried the center for no gain. Howe tried a goal from the field but it failed. There was an off-side play by Princeton. Standing on Princeton's 25-yard line, Howe in his fourth attempt sent the ball through the goal posts.

Score: Princeton, 6; Yale, 3.

When Princeton kicked off all the players were of the same color. Howe caught the kick off and ran the ball back to Yale's 45-yard line. Princeton and Pendleton ran the ball back ten yards.

Princeton started rushing, but could not gain a yard against the Yale defense.

Camp kicked to Howe on Yale's 45-yard line and the game half ended.

Score: Princeton, 6; Yale, 3.

In the third period on a fake kick, Camp ran the ball to Princeton's 30-yard line. After an ineffectual attempt to gain through the line, The kick was blocked and Princeton got it on her 40-yard line, kicking to Yale's 50-yard line.

There was an exchange of punts. Yale again made ineffectual attempts to get through the line and Camp kicked to Princeton's 20-yard line. The ball was returned. All were called back through holding by Princeton and the ball went to Yale on the forty-yard line. Howe missed a try for goal and the period ended.

Yale returned the ball to Princeton's 25-yard line. DeWitt kicked to Howe, who muffed on the 45-yard line and it was Princeton's ball. On the second down DeWitt kicked to Howe on the 45-yard line. Yale returned the ball to Princeton's 20-yard line and after a two-yard gain through center by Vaughn, DeWitt kicked to Camp on Princeton's 50-yard line. Camp returned the kick, the ball going over the goal line, and it was Princeton's ball on her 55-yard line.

After this time neither goal was in danger.

CONLEY-RIVERS BATTLE RESULTS IN DRAW

Los Angeles, Nov. 18.—Francis Conley of Kenosha, and Joe Rivers of Los Angeles, fought twenty-five rounds to a draw at Vernon today.

Referee Kyton's decision was cheered and hissed intermittently for several minutes but in the end it was accepted as the only possible one by a majority of the crowd of spectators.

Conley matched his wiles and ability to assimilate punishment against the cleverness and strength of Rivers and from the outset tried to rush the local boy of his fight.

Conley landed a knockout blow in the latter's corner at the opening of every round. Then ensued a series of rallies in which the pair traded punishment.

DISPUTE OVER MONTE GAME ENDS FATALLY

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]

Mountain, N. M., Nov. 18.—A dispute over a luncheon stake in a game of three-card monte, together with a fight, resulted in the murder of Desiderio Garcia, an Old Mexico Mexican employed on one of the extra gangs working out of here on the Santa Fe. Death was caused by a knife wound in the left temple.

The fight was a bloody one and the evening and Garcia lived until Friday noon. His companions did not call a physician until Friday morning.

The man was then beyond recovery.

A coroner's jury called by Justice of the Peace Maurice Fuller found that Garcia died as a result of wounds made by a knife in the hands of Remundo Hernandez, another employee of the Santa Fe. Hernandez disappeared immediately after the fight. Sheriff M. M. was notified. As far as is known here, no effort has been made to capture the slayer.

What West Needs in Coal Land Legislation

(By George Oils Smith, Director of U. S. Geological Survey.)

West of the one hundredth meridian lies the nation's greatest coal reserve estimated at more than a million million tons of anthracite, bituminous, and sub-bituminous coal, and from 40 to 50 per cent of this tonnage is owned by the United States. This fuel reserve is the key to the present and future development of the Rocky Mountain region. Utilization of the water-power resources will be an important factor locally, and for several decades fuel oil may be expected to affect the industrial situation, but so far as we can now foresee coal must be regarded as the principal future source of power.

The west needs and has a right to demand full opportunity for development, but that does not include the right to inherit an unearned speculative tax on the future consumer. The coal operator may justly ask two things—first, the right to develop an area sufficiently large for economic operation, and second, freedom from too great investment risks. Both of these factors are in reality of local or less interest to the public than to the operator, for upon them depends in the last analysis much of the future price of coal, and hence of the future of the west. The public should not be deceived that no right to the coal land itself shall be granted except for present use. Actual development must be made the first condition of occupancy of any part of coal land reserved to the public domain.

Is Coal Law Adequate?
The coal law of 1902, passed in the west, has been a failure through railroad greed, by coal companies through mining settlements, and by purchase of coal lands by the states and non-owned lands, resulting in a practically met the demand. Up to the present time the acquisition of the coal land in the public domain has been largely accomplished without recourse to the coal-land law, so that the question becomes opportune, is the present coal-land law adequate to meet present and future needs?

This law, by its provision for the valuation of coal lands at an adequate price, makes possible a selling price that may promote development and at the same time prevent non-pecuniary and discourage speculative holding. The purchase, instead of paying a flat rate per acre actually buys the coal by the ton at prices graded according to the quality of the coal. In four years following the adoption of the policy of leasing and valuing the coal lands the sales have increased 12 1/2 per cent in acreage and 36 per cent in value, as compared with the four years preceding, and this in spite of the fact that the four years since July 1, 1907, have included a period of industrial depression and slow recovery as contrasted with the preceding period of boom conditions. So far as its provision for pricing is concerned the present law appears to be as satisfactory as a sale law can be.

In one serious respect, however, the present law is absolutely out of accord with good mining practice, in that it restricts legal purchases to a maximum of 160 acres for an individual and of 640 acres for an association. The fixed charges of a modern coal mine so equipped as to safeguard life and property and to secure maximum recovery are too high to be assessed against the tonnage of so small a tract. The homestead law expresses the spirit of American institutions in that it has encouraged every citizen to own a home, but there is neither incentive nor scheme in a proposition to sell at a low price 160 acres of coal land to an individual—every citizen need not need to own a coal mine.

The Leasing Alternative.
The difficulties involved in the administration of the present law suggest the wisdom of considering the other method of disposition, namely, a leasing system. As Secretary Fisher has stated, "It may be well that a liberal but wisely protected leasing law would be found to promote development more vigorously than any system of outright purchase."

The greatest advantage of the leasing system, both to the operator and to the public, is relief from the capital outlay now required in the acquisition of the large acreage absolutely necessary for a modern mine. This argument advanced against the present policy of valuing the public coal lands at even conservative prices thus becomes an argument for a leasehold law.

The objections made to a leasing system are, first, that the eastern coal lands were disposed of in fee and that the west deserves the same treatment; and, further, that the natural resources of the west should not be made a source of profit to relieve the eastern taxpayer. The large tonnage of coal now mined under lease meets the objection to direct government leasing and as regards the argument of relieving the western resources for the west, it should be noted that under the present system of sale the proceeds from the coal lands go directly into western development through the reclamation fund, and it is proper to expect that any leasing law would make similar disposition of the proceeds.

Other objections express a fear that the cost of coal to the consumer would be increased, but the royalty paid into the United States treasury can be no greater a tax upon the consumer than the royalty paid to the state or Colorado or to a railroad land company. The average price of bituminous coal at the mine in the United States last year was $1.72, which usually includes a royalty to state owners or an equivalent in form of charge, either of which would probably be greater than any government royalty.

If we consider the lease as contrasted with sale outright to the coal operator, the reduction in capital necessary for original investment and the elimination of many of the risks in such investment must result in reduction of cost of operation to the mine owner and thus make possible a correspondingly lower price of coal to the consumer.

Experience of New Zealand.
The other objection to the lease system is that based upon fears of inefficient management and of inefficient administration or even misadministration. If we look out across the Pacific, we discover that a governmental leasing system for coal lands is not a theory but an actual working fact. The Anglo-Saxon peoples of the Australian states have found the leasing system not only practicable, but indeed preferable to the sale of coal lands. In New Zealand, where for 30 years the laws have permitted to the operator a choice of either sale or lease of public mineral lands, a conclusive argument for the leasing system is given in the latest statistics of mineral production, which show that approximately 90 per cent of the total mineral product of that country was mined under leasehold. If our trans-Pacific neighbors can administer a lease law so satisfactorily and if the mine operators in New Zealand prefer operation under leasehold, will a similar system be fraught with either danger or failure in the United States?

All the west needs is first, opportunity for the coal industry to develop as fast as the market justifies expansion, and with the least possible risks; and second, opportunity for the public to procure its coal at prices based on a minimum cost of production, without any addition of unearned and undue tribute to private landlords who desire to speculate on the future needs of the consumer. These ends can be best attained by legislation establishing a federal leasing system for the coal lands of the public domain.

SHERIFF M'GRATH STILL AFTER BANDITS

Posse in Black Range Country Trail Men Who Held Up Manager Sully of Chino Copper Company.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Silver City, N. M., Nov. 18.—Nothing has been heard from Sheriff McGrath who with a posse is in the Black Range country endeavoring to round up a gang of desperadoes, two of whom, it is believed, released prisoners from the Denton jail a short time ago. It is also believed that the men who held up and robbed Superintendent John Sully of the Chino Copper company, a few months ago, are with the bunch. The last heard from McGrath he was hot on the trail of the gang and if he runs up on them a fight is sure to follow.

Sunny, delightful weather prevails here and the city is full of strangers here to escape the rigors of the eastern states.

Cattle on the ranges in Grant county have not been in as fine condition for years as they are now and they will go through the winter without loss, as a rule they are rolling fat and grass is good.

FORMER GOVERNOR FOLK ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Noted Missourian Delivers Lecture at College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Mesilla Park.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Las Cruces, N. M., Nov. 17.—Joseph W. Folk, ex-governor of Missouri, paid Las Cruces a visit Thursday. He spoke to the students at the Agricultural College in the morning and delivered a lecture in Hadley hall at night. The business men of Las Cruces, assisted by the professors of the college, tendered ex-Governor Folk an informal reception at the Chamber of Commerce during the afternoon.

"Better Citizenship" was the subject discussed and Governor Folk held his audience until the last word was spoken. He stated that there are only two kinds of citizens in the world: not good and bad, for good people have some bad qualities and bad people have some good in them. Not rich and poor people, for perfect health and a clear conscience make riches, while a mind and live in 2 palaces and be poor in other respects. The division is not proud and humble, because proud people are humble in some respects or vice versa. But the two real divisions of the people in the world are "lifters" and the "leaners." One group of every twenty is a lifter and the balance are leaners. The lifters must fight the battles of life, while the leaners lay their burdens onto the lifters.

"If you want to be good citizens," Governor Folk said, "if you want to be a leader and helper of the human race, if you want to really accomplish anything, you must be a 'lifter.' Lifters are the people who stand for the right. They are the people who stand alone when the crucial test comes. They are originators and not imitators. All the balance are leaners."

Governor Folk spoke of the political condition of the whole country and stated that he is of the opinion that things are becoming better. He stated that the United States is coming into a new era of political reform. While in Las Cruces many prominent people were introduced to Governor Folk and several expressed their hope of being able to vote for him for president in 1912. There are many Missourians here who remember when Joseph W. Folk cleaned up St. Louis and made the grafters take to the woods in haste.

SCRIPTURE.
Daniel 6: 16-23.

Then the king commanded, and they brought Daniel and cast him into the den of lions. Now the king spake and said unto Daniel, Thy God whom thou servest continually, he will deliver thee.
And a stone was was brought, and laid upon the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords; that the purpose might not be changed concerning Daniel.

Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting; neither were instruments of music brought before him; and his sleep went from him.

Then the king arose very early in the morning and went in haste unto the den of lions.

And when he came to the den, he cried with a lamentable voice unto Daniel; and the king spake and said to Daniel, O Daniel, servant of the living God, is thy God, whom thou servest continually, able to deliver thee from the lions?

Then said Daniel unto the king, O king, live for ever.

My God hath sent his angel, and hath shut the lions' mouths, that they have not hurt me: forasmuch as before him innocency was found in me; and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den, and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel up out of the den, and also before thee, O king, have I done no hurt.

SHIPPERS JOIN IN RATE DECISION APPEAL

Spokane, Wash., Nov. 18.—Spokane shippers joined today with the department of justice and the interstate commerce commission in an appeal to the supreme court of the United States, against the recent decision of the commerce court in the Spokane rate case.

The department of justice requested that this action in a telegram to counsel for the local commercial organization as follows:

"The government intends to appeal forthwith to the supreme court of the United States from the interlocutory order granting an injunction and will make motions to advance in the two intermountain cases, and desires that your clients join. If you approve please wire quickly authorizing to the attorney general in accordance with your clients."

Pre Nuptial Parties Keep Smart Set On the Go

Mrs. Ivan Grunfeld has a dinner party at the Alvarado for tomorrow night and Mrs. Rex Hild has a party on for the same night, following the dinner hour.

Mrs. Alfred Grunfeld, mother of Miss Reima Grunfeld, will entertain at dinner at the Alvarado Tuesday evening, which is the main feature and the final entertainment of a long and brilliant series, complimentary to Miss Grunfeld. Each of the last two dinner parties, Mrs. Ivan Grunfeld's on Monday night and Mrs. Alfred Grunfeld's on Tuesday, will have covers for twenty-five, so both are to be rather more than family affairs, though probably, including only the out-of-town guests, besides immediate relatives of Mr. Rothgerber and his fiancée.

CLANCY RECEPTION BRILLIANTLY BEAUTIFUL.
Everybody in Society Was There All Dressed Up and Having the Time of Their Lives.

It really seemed as if the whole town had turned out yesterday for Mrs. Clancy's "At-Home" held at the Woman's club.

Automobiles and carriages lined the surrounding streets and everybody you met was in the "best bib and tucker" for the event. The day was portentous for the display of finery and the gala spirit was abroad.

As for the Woman's club, the scene of the social drama, or musical comedy, as it were, since since since music and gay laughter predominated in the scheme of things, the Woman's club, I say, was wonderfully and gorgeously decorated, with loads of huge chrysanthemums and graceful smilax, profusely used. The colors, white and yellow, were carried out in the refreshments, as well as in the magnificent decorations.

Brilliantly big and beautifully gay, the Clancy reception and its hospitable charm will linger long in the mind of the society folk when memory of lesser affairs is dead.

It would be quite impossible to delve into the nicety of arrangements and delightfulness of the whole. A concealed orchestra, Dr. M. S. Jones, played quaint melodies, the long afternoon through, and the handsomely gowned crowd wandered to and fro, exchanging greetings and having the time of their lives.

And what's the use, since those most interested were there and saw what the word painting will never do justice. Just imagine the biggest and most elaborate party of the season with all the frills and flowers and then some, and you will know all about Mrs. Clancy's "At Home."

Receiving with Mrs. Clancy, who is one of the most popular society women in town and a mighty charming hostess, were her cousins, Elizabeth and Betty Willey, Mrs. W. R. Hilders and Mrs. James T. Newhall, Pouring coffee were Mrs. Alfred Grunfeld, Mrs. Summers Burkhardt, Mrs. Bernard Hild and Mrs. John Borradaile.

WHAT WOULD A HOME BE WITHOUT A CLUB.
Home Without Mother Does Not Approximate in Desolation Woman Without a Club.

Essentially a club week, was the one, just passed.

All the clubs met, from the elaborately intellectual and vastly important Woman's club, to the Thirty club, which makes no assumption of being other than frivolous reasons of being, and volunteers no excuse for its existence.

The various societies, auxiliary to churches, lodges and some to themselves and pleasure, met to transact business relative to each individual organization.

Question: What would a town be without clubs? Home without a mother cannot approximate in desolation, women without a club, they are, some women. Many I might say, delight in them as social intercourse, ideally personified.

And why not? The most indifferent, insofar as clubs and auxiliaries are concerned, must concede that each and every one contributes its lot of good to the general quota.

The Woman's club, for instance, broadening and distinctly educational in its aims, with progressiveness and aggressiveness for right and against wrong; the general get-there-ness of this organization go to make it a factor in civic and social life, to which we all take off our hats. Yes, all; not only we women, but every mother's son of them.

And the Tuesday club, for which I confess, a decided partiality. Not so universal as the Woman's club, distinctly more personal, and almost exclusive. But, organized and long enduring for reading and the quest of knowledge, the Tuesday club, too, commands notice and respect in its lofty aims. As for church societies and lodge auxiliaries, surely they need no excuse for being, even non-social organizations. Sewing clubs are handy things to scatter about the town and even when sewing is only the secondary consideration and gossip the first, that doesn't hurt the public at all. The subject of gossip, for that matter.

As for dancing clubs and others organized for worldly pleasures, we just live once and might as well have a good time, you know. Truth to tell, its more fun writing about the pleasures of clubs and their gyrations and makes reading more spicy than drab. And the great big, bored public wants amusement from the press as in all things else, outside of business hours. You paraded a merryway was not my intention. Am afraid I overlooked it, yet and "scabbed" on the ministers, this morning.

MUSICAL SEVEN.
Another music club had invaded the ranks, one especially interesting, owing to the extreme youth and surprising talent of the members.

This organization was perfected a week ago yesterday at the Hahn home when Adelaide Hahn was hostess. The youngsters, with musical inclinations and in musical training, decided to call themselves "The Musical Seven."

Marjorie Steen was elected president. After the business relative to organization and an informal musical program, Mrs. Hahn had a delicious luncheon for them.

The Musical Seven met yesterday with the newly elected president, Marjorie Steen, and had an exceptionally good time. The members of the youngest musical club in town are Marjorie Steen, Adelaide Hahn, Juliette Pleisher, Mildred Harris, Charles Horner, Katherine Warren and Connelo Chavez. Bertha Weinmann is an honorary member.

CLUB DANCE.
Another of their gay dances, which met the social calendar pretty regularly, was given by the Thirty club Wednesday evening in Odd Fellows hall.

Very near the original thirty were out and eleven one plus thirty more, the crowd quite large and exceedingly merry.

Musical was by the Fuhrmeyer-Cavanaugh orchestra and of the usual excellent variety. The guests of the Thirty club and their escorts were as follows:

ry, and the girls all came, garbed in the attire of their ancestors. There was a merry musical program, rendered by the talented and later, a dance, in which all participated.

Then a delicious lunch when ended a thoroughly delightful evening of mirth and frolic. Those present were: Goldie Spring, president of the Loyola Literary Society, Julia Kleber, vice president; Lauren Aschell, treasurer; Grace McDermott, secretary; Bertha Turner and Beatrice Armijo, librarians; the members of the entertainment committee as follows: Loretta McNally, Charlotte Brinson, Eleanor Vaughn, Bernice Hesselton, Virginia Carr, Mary Kelly, Barbara Harris, Florence Thelin, Marie Higgins, Frances Murphy, Rosalina Espinosa, and other members who were Alice Brachvogel, Ruth Simpler, Anna Blake, Rosalie With, Florence Dunn, Hazel Hicks, Esther Otero, Rosalina Brachvogel, Cecilia Murphy, Theresa Johnson, Monica Cervantes, Gladys Kelly, Flora Springer, Marie Halling, Daisy Schiffrank, Sara McCrady, Rebecca Horner, Carrie Schmidt and Lillian Yrisarri.

HIGH BROWS AND HISTORY.
It was at the home of Mrs. Al Frost that the Tuesday club held its regular assembly the week past, and deeper they delved into historical research.

The bi-weekly meetings, of which one, somehow, loses track, so quietly and unobtrusively are they conducted, are proving unusually interesting this season and doubly instructive to the members, most of whom are society folk, none of whom allow social duties to interfere with their literary inclinations.

The talk on current events, always a feature of each assembly, was by Mrs. E. B. Crisly last Tuesday and the class study on "Modern Europe" was led by Mrs. Mattoon.

"Europe's Debt to America Educationally" was an able paper by Mrs. M. E. Hickey and read in her absence by Mrs. A. E. Walker. Mrs. Walker, also, had an interesting travel talk on "Lisbon." Then refreshments, as customary as the conversation was intellectual.

INITIAL CONCERT.
The initial concert of the series of entertainments for benefit of the Anthony Cottage sanitarium will occur this week, next Friday evening, in Odd Fellows hall.

Mrs. Himee is in charge of these entertainments and the enterprise is being backed by prominent patronage.

Season tickets are being sold now, and the ticket committee is meeting with gratifying success. Other than the worthy cause which it benefits, the concert, this week, can well stand on its own merits. Mrs. Himee, the leading pianist of the city, will have selections and Bruno Diekmann, a talented and well-known violinist, who has received part of his training abroad, will play solo numbers and in duets with Mrs. Himee.

The soloists will be Mrs. Winchester, recently returned from California, and Mr. Andrews, the popular lyric tenor singer. Other song numbers will be by the Woman's Chorus, which is being trained by Mrs. Ray Boruff and which includes the best singing voices in Albuquerque.

SMALL BUT O' ME!
The Ten Dons met last week without due notice from the society page. They survived; so did the social sheet.

Tea Table Gossip That Leaked Out

Trying to Decide Who's the Best Dressed Woman in Town

WHO'S the best dressed woman in town?

Answer, answer, who's got the answer?

Fingers crossed, I declare. So are mine. That's a question too deep for me. For, when you go talking of smart toggers, the names of a hundred in our good old town, "boob-up" solemnly. Not many of us would presume to express an opinion, unless very privately.

But, hear, hear!

Four women, all "arrived," received as honest-to-goodness society folk and properly labeled with better-than-the-rest, were playing bridge in a cozy bungalow living room.

When the game had run its course and they were sipping tea, or chocolate, whatever the refreshment was, before the cheery wood fire, Gossip came in and took a hand. And this, you know, is a game far better than bridge.

Now, since you don't know who the "big four" are and I will not tell, it won't do a bit of harm, to spring their conversation on the unsuspecting public.

How it started, I don't know, but it ran something like this:

"To my mind," said one, "Mrs. Elder, wife of the mayor, wears as fetching frocks and looks as dear in them as any woman in town."

"Yes, she does dress prettily," agreed one of the listening trio. "But, talking of swell clothes, none of them have anything on Mrs. Chadbourne."

"No indeed," chimed in one of the quartette "her tailored suits are the classiest in town and she looks dear in evening gown."

"Mrs. Sydney Rosenwald is wearing some stunning suits this season—and her hats are especially chic," volunteered and then there they proceeded to pick to pieces the sartorial smartness of Albuquerque society women, trying to decide who the best gowned, really were.

THE HONOR OF THE FLAG.

A woman who claims a special commission from a patriotic society to act as policeman against "desecration of the flag" has formally complained and protested to the secretary of a station near Washington in burying a dog with "full military honors."

As such a burial implies the use of the national flag as a covering for the coffin, and in special cases as a shroud for the dead, the unseemly patriotism of the woman referred to is alarmed, and she sends up an indignant demand for the condign punishment of the offending soldiers.

Whether they have really offended or not we have no information warranting a conclusion. It may be that the dog had been so devoted and courageous a comrade that their desire to honor its memory was natural though hardly commendable. Or it may be that they were guilty of the very bad taste of a burlesque burial service. But in any case, this is a poor subject to force an issue on.

Kipling has a story about certain schoolboys who had voluntarily organized for military training. That was a good thing, for it kept their play hours usefully employed and the boys out of a certain amount of mischief. But the school authorities were not content to let well enough alone, and to leave the boys to their self-discipline under the ministrations of the old soldier whom they had made their drill master.

They must needs bring down a mouthy stump orator to present the little company a flag with a flamboyant speech. They forgot that these boys were of families some of whom men for generations back had died for the upholding of England's far-flung empire, and that the honor of their country's flag was an instinct no more needing rhetorical nurture than their belief in the virtue of their mothers.

And so when the flag was thrust upon them with flustered exhortations to uphold it from a fellow whom they instinctively knew would never shed a drop of his own blood in its defense, they were simply disgusted, and their little company broke up because of this invasion of the privacy of their most sacred thoughts and memories.

We shall best honor our country's flag not by making it a fetish to be slavishly worshipped without regard to time, place, or circumstances, but by showing in our conduct as citizens that we realize how dear-bought was the freedom for which it stands, and how recent we should be to the faith our fathers handed down to us by frittering that freedom away under any pretense whatever.

TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS.

It is admitted even by railroad officials that the number of persons killed and injured on our railroads is greater than in any other country and larger than it should be. The annual reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission on this subject read like the roll call of an epoch-deciding battle. The number of persons killed and injured is especially great among employees. The various safety appliances which have been required by law have reduced the number of accidents as compared with the traffic, but the total number of persons killed and hurt has steadily advanced each year.

Because of these conditions an experiment by the Baltimore & Ohio for the reduction of accidents on its road will be watched with interest. A "Safety Committee" composed of officials from various departments of the company will endeavor to promote greater safety for patrons of the road in travel and give more protection for employees on duty.

The work of this committee began on the first of the present month, although as early as several months ago the company placed in its repair shops a number of appliances which will, it is thought, afford additional safeguards for the men employed there. Beside the "Safety Committee" mentioned, divisional committees have been appointed to cover every portion of the system. These latter bodies are expected to make a study of accidents, together with the conditions governing them, and bring to the attention of the central committee any proposed improvements which they may think would prove of benefit. In addition each employee has been instructed to make suggestions, which will be carefully considered. The amount of practical benefit which will result from this innovation will depend largely on the spirit in which it is carried out. There is no question that employees, if encouraged, could often suggest improvements and changes which would avert accidents. At any rate the action of the Baltimore & Ohio is a step in advance.

BEGIN NOW.

Christmas is just six weeks away. In those six weeks must be done an immense amount of shopping, the buying of ready-made presents and of materials for the home manufacture of gifts. Those who go to the stores now for their purchases will find the aisles clear, the clerks free to wait upon them, the stocks of goods fresh and undepleted; in fact, all conditions favorable to the most satisfactory results. This, in short, is the best possible time for Christmas shopping, best for the merchants and best for the employees of the stores, whose welfare should be considered equally with those of others. These six weeks will ally by with amazing rapidity. Good resolutions made now to "shop next week" are so easily broken.

"Next week" is the Christmas shoppers' pitfall. Every "next week" the conditions in the stores are less and less favorable, for, unfortunately, many others are making the same procrastinatory promises to themselves. Only by shopping now, this week, today, is it possible to do this yearly holiday buying properly. Naturally, the merchants want everybody to begin buying early, for they would prefer to have a rush six weeks ahead of Christmas rather than six hours. They can please more people on the early shopping basis than though nine-tenths of their patrons postpone their buying until the last week of the holiday. So start today to plan a series of systematic purchases, getting from day to day whatever can be obtained to fill out the list of requirements. There is no wastefulness in early buying. The Christmas shoppers should know just as well today what is to be given as on the 30th of December, and there is no risk of extravagance in being a little beforehand and getting the pick of the big stocks and obtaining the services of an unwearied, helpful corps of clerks.

The Springfield Republican laments that not one of the Christian powers can perform its duty under the Hague convention by interposing to repress the massacre perpetrated by Italians because each of them could be confronted by records equally bad. How is that for an admission by a New England Journal—one of the representatives of the section that has controlled the politics of this Christian nation for a generation?

do not reason and have slight respect for the moral force of written law? It reveals a purpose to weigh and balance the evidence, and was it not said centuries ago that the woman who hesitates—who departs from intuitions—is lost?

And perhaps Miss Justice Hawthorne is lost. We shall see. But for the moment she is making us believe in the existence of the new woman.

It is said the president is considering the names of Justices Noyes, Hook and Rudkin, of the federal circuit courts, and Sawyer, of the supreme court of New Jersey, for the seat left vacant by the death of Justice Harlan. If it is only a toss-up, why delay?

The postmaster general having approved the use of Red Cross Stamps this year, it is in order to urge the free use of these little stickers, which represent a most useful endeavor in aid of suffering humanity. Presently they will be in evidence everywhere. Every penny helps.

Senator Smart expects that congress in its wisdom will revise the wool tariff during the coming session. Senator Smart was also Senator Aldrich's chief lieutenant in defending the Payne-Aldrich wool duties as the keystone of the protective arch.

The Boston Transcript admits that Mr. Taft's election is by no means sure. But we must remember that Mr. Taft said he would not accept a renomination unless he got reciprocity—show he got not only a half-gift is he not still in doubt?

Edward Kipling cannot understand why women want their rights when he would like so well to have their privileges. Perhaps women have sense enough to know that privileges are never safe while rights are denied.

Justice is no longer moving with leaden feet before the United States Supreme Court. By the simple device of compelling the lawyers to be brief in the hearings the pace is being quickened one hundred per cent.

Perhaps the Bullans in Tripoli have already realized that the war is a long one and they prepare for ultimate victory by killing the women and children that there may be no next generation.

Just as Woodrow Wilson was beginning to realize that his own state had turned him down, Senator Vardaman endorsed his presidential candidacy. Which certainly is rubbing it in.

AGAIN THE NEW WOMAN.

That women should come to preside in courts of justice is apparently a logical consequence of woman suffrage. The full-suffrage state of Washington may be hurrying the matter a little, but no reason for surprise exists in the substitution of Miss Mildred Hawthorne at Vancouver for an absent justice of the peace in the trial of a civil suit involving debt.

The surprising fact is that Miss Justice Hawthorne, after hearing the evidence and arguments, "took as men judges often do."

Here is at once flat contradiction of ages of hypothesis and observation regarding the feminine mentality. "Taking the matter under advisement" shows a disposition to reason and to regard the settled principles of law applicable to the case, and have we not been told that women in 1909 forty-one legislatures passed 684 laws regulating railways?

In 1910 when forty legislatures were in session only 274 such statutes were enacted. The Wall Street Journal adduces this comparison as a proof of returning sanity but it may only show a lack of inventive powers.

What the Editors Are Saying.

Wonder He Did So Well.
Mr. Bursum is the victim of a malicious and venomous warfare as was ever waged against any man on earth. The only wonder is that he did so well. The plain, unvarnished truth about political conditions in New Mexico is bad enough. As it is about the political conditions of any state in the union, but it has done this new state of ours no good to present those conditions as infinitely worse than they really are merely for the purpose of gratifying somebody's political ambition or something worse. We will take a long time to clear New Mexico's good name of the stain put upon it by such methods of political warfare.—Secorro Chiefman.

Democratic Strategy.
They do say that a few democrats of precinct number one executed a fine bit of strategy Monday night. When the saloons closed, about twenty republicans, intoxicated with republican enthusiasm and democratic whisky, were dumped into autos, taken out into the country fifteen miles, and left on the prairie dead drunk with a bottle of pure cane snake bites at each one's head. It is doubtful if even one of those safe and sane republicans found his way back to Socorro in time to vote. It is evident that the democrats are learning the game. It would never have entered into the noodle of a republican to conceive a move just like that. Oh, no. A republican would have taken a drunken bunch of democrats like that across the line into Arizona and put up the bars after them.

Fresh Guys Caught.
Two fresh guys were caught cutting the wire fence of Gus Schneider last Sunday. If it hadn't been for the roughness of the country, we might have had something else to comment about, as Gus is a pretty good shot. We are informed that the fence cutters came to Roy very recently and are professing a certain disturbing element of this community.

This character, it appears, has taken on the air of a work of her predecessor, which was left unfinished. Land is now being coming up that show truth of our accusations in the past. Roy tolerated the unrepentant conduct of those parties for almost two years, and we do not think that it is very likely to be enacted again.—Roy Spanish-American.

Editor Baca Dissatisfied Republican Candidate Explains His Defeat and Proposes Remedy For Evils He Believes Caused It.

Hon. Eliezer Baca, defeated candidate for congress on the republican ticket, and editor of La Opinion Publica of this city, is far from satisfied with the manner in which he believes his defeat at the hands of the voters was brought about. In this week's issue of his paper Editor Baca devotes almost the entire front page to an article voicing his dissatisfaction which he challenges the Morning Journal to reproduce. The article follows:

"The Albuquerque Morning Journal likes to translate articles from 'La Opinion Publica', for which reason we feel very proud. Now we shall see if it reproduces this one."

"We congratulate the natives, or the so-called Mexicans, for their good judgment in the last election which was held on the 7th of November, for not having considered in the least, the race question, especially the Spanish-Americans, who ran on the different tickets. The result of the last election shows that there exists in New Mexico at least thirty per cent of the so-called Americans who do not vote under any circumstances for the so-called Mexican candidates, notwithstanding his qualifications as to honesty and capacity to discharge his duties in the office to which he aspires."

"In the last election the poor natives of New Mexico received a slap in the face and it is clearly seen that there is nothing else to do in the future but to consider how they can protect themselves in the most decent manner without resorting to debates regarding the race question. We are Americans and are proud of it, but we do not want to see the so-called Americans have no use for us and we cannot in any way blame directly or indirectly, the seventy per cent of the so-called Americans who recognize our rights in every way."

"The remedy that we suggest is the following: We will stand this for the next five years; what was done is done; but in the next conventions the two parties should agree that when a ticket is placed upon the republican ticket, the democrats do likewise so that a native may run against a native. If this method is used the thirty per cent of the so-called Americans who will not under any circumstances vote for the so-called Mexican candidates, will vote for both tickets and no one will be hurt in the final result of the election, and it will be for their consolation."

"At the last election in the city of Albuquerque it was seen upon the republican ticket, the name of Eliezer Baca appeared on the democratic ticket, the name of H. B. Ferguson was placed over it, and on the democratic ticket where appeared the name of Paz Valverde, the name of George Curry was placed over it. It seems that there was an explicit understanding among these persons to vote against the so-called Mexicans. It can be seen that there was race prejudice, especially in voting for George Curry in preference to Eliezer Baca, who is a resident of this city and raises a large family and has considerable property, and it can be said that there is no person in Albuquerque who can claim that he does not pay his bills."

"Let us take up the rest of the state ticket to demonstrate conclusively that we are stating the truth. According to the last returns there is shown the following: For state auditor we find W. G. Sargent on the republican ticket and Francisco Delgado, on the democratic ticket. Up to the present time Mr. Sargent has 25,560 votes, and Delgado 28,282; majority for Sargent, 278. Down Mexican! For state treasurer on the republican ticket we find Silvestre Mirabel and on the democratic ticket, O. S. Marrero. According to last accounts Mirabel has 28,148, and Marrero, 28,908; majority, 760. Down Mexican! For corporation commissioners on the republican ticket, George W. Armijo, Hugh H. Williams and M. S. Groves, and on the democratic ticket, O. H. Owen, Seforin Martinez and G. H. Van Stone. The returns up to date show the following: Williams, 29,102; Groves, 29,048; Armijo, 28,952; Van Stone, 28,750; Owen, 28,455, and Martinez, 28,025. Down Mexican! For members to congress on the republican ticket, George Curry and Eliezer Baca, and on the democratic ticket, H. B. Ferguson and Paz Valverde. The vote to date shows that Curry, republican, had 22,350; Ferguson, democrat, 23,881; Eliezer Baca, republican, 23,831, and Paz Valverde, democrat, Mexican, 23,358. Down Mexican! With Mr. Paz Valverde they tried to revive the battle of Valverde. The native voters were told that Eliezer Baca was republican against Paz Valverde, and we believe that this was done with the sole object of getting Mr. Baca, Mr. Valverde and the friends of both to fight like cats and dogs among themselves. That Mr. Curry and Mr. Ferguson could get congress without much difficulty."

"Undoubtedly the legislature will be composed of a republican majority, and it is said that the two senators to the United States who will be elected by the legislature, will be of the so-called Americans, and that although there will be a majority of the so-called Mexicans, no native will have the opportunity of representing us in congress."

"We are not and do not wish to introduce the race question, but what we want to say is that we are Americans and that we feel proud of it, and that the seventy per cent of the so-called Americans who have shown and are showing their impartiality to the rights that we claim, should not permit the thirty per cent of those prejudiced against us without any cause to take advantage of us as they have done. They should have discussion among themselves, and we feel certain that they would find that we have been done an injustice. When we say that we are Americans and are proud of it, we wish to add that we know our rights and privileges as American citizens are entitled to, and we hope that all those who may read this article may understand it in the same spirit as this in which it was written. We complain because you have done us an injustice, and you so-called Americans, who have such a high education and who understand the rights of others, is this your opportunity to see whether or not you have done us an injustice in the last election."

"According to the result of the last election, the offices that will be held by so-called Americans with their respective salaries are as follows: Two senators to the United States, for a term of six years, at $5,000 per year each, $30,000. Two representatives to congress, for a one year term, at $15,000 each, $30,000. Governor for the term, $25,000. One judge of the supreme court for a term of nine years, at $8,000 per year, $72,000. One judge of the supreme court for a term of seven years at $6,000 per year, $42,000. One judge of the supreme court for a term of five years at $6,000 per year, $30,000. Three members of the corporation commission for their term, $45,000. Attorney general for their term, $20,000. Superintendent of public instruction for their term, $15,000. State treasurer for their term, $15,000. State auditor for their term, $15,000. Commissioner of public lands for their term, $15,000. Making a total of $394,000."

"The offices to be held by the so-called Mexicans and their respective salaries are as follows: Lieutenant governor for their term, $15,000. State secretary for their term, $15,000. Making a total of $16,000. According to the above computation, the so-called Americans who were elected will receive for their salaries the sum of $394,000. The so-called Mexicans will receive more than the so-called Americans, the sum of $377,500."

"Out of eighteen state officials including the two congressmen and the two senators to the United States, the so-called Americans will have, according to the last figures received, sixteen of these, and the so-called Mexicans will have the insignificant offices of lieutenant governor at a salary of $15,000 for his term, and the secretary of state, at $3,000 per year. In other words, the so-called Americans will have the control of the public life, while we will have to content ourselves with four small pieces, or rather the crumbs. We would also call your attention to the fact that the vote in New Mexico is composed of sixty-five per cent of the so-called Mexicans, and you satisfied, so-called Americans, that you have given us a square deal. Do you believe that we were American citizens? And are you not also satisfied that the so-called Mexicans did not, in the least, bring up the race question?"

"We are not complaining because we lost; we only wish to call your attention to the discrimination you are making your vote. We ask all Spanish newspapers in New Mexico to reproduce this article, as also all the English newspapers, and if you cannot translate it, we will gladly do so for you without charge."

THE PICTURE SHOW AND THE SUNDAY LAW.

"And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing." I Cor. 13-3.

Under the above caption some one has attacked the Sunday amusements in this city.

More blood has been shed, more suffering inflicted upon humanity and more lives sacrificed for what "good people" esteemed right, than from all other causes since the foundation of civil government. Not that the world, as distinguished from the church, was wicked except as to such tenets as the writer seems to esteem wicked, and because they did not observe such rules as they were in favor of and do as the said "good people" dictate. Now, I am as much in favor of people being good as the writer, but we may differ as to what constitutes goodness. The Sunday show is the only place where any one can go for recreation on Sunday, and where he can be with the families and enjoy an hour or two of innocent amusement and if this is denied them, the only place they have to go to is the saloon or some such place, which is much worse than a picture show, and where the more intolerant the church becomes, the more will the people be eliminated from it."

This writer, voicing the sentiments of the "good people" likens the ticket seller to a robber. The ticket seller gives full value for the dime he gets and the buyer appreciates this and is satisfied, but not the "good people" of Albuquerque, who want to dictate the lives of their neighbors.

While I do not want to bring in the question, many people in Albuquerque, as in all other places, do not think Sunday is the Sabbath. It is a fact that this alone would be an attempt to force upon them something they cannot accept, and this alone brings about a conflict which ought to be avoided. Some times wicked is thought to be expedient and it is impossible or at least inexpedient to enforce them, and the next best thing to be done is to ignore them.

Now, if the "good people" (who admit they are "good") will look up their Bibles they will find the text quoted above and if they will exercise this "charity" and allow other folks to follow their own way of doing, so long as it does not interfere with their rights, they will be promoting morality and good conduct. Personally, I don't think I ever attended a Sunday theater in my life, but I am not so narrow as to want to deprive other people of this privilege, if they enjoy it.

I quote again, Romans, 2-1, "Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whoever thou art that judgest; for where thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest dost the same things."

Now, I suggest that the Good Citizens' League, whatever that is, look up the scriptures above mentioned; that they order their own lives as they will, so long as their action does not infringe upon the rights of others, and they will do more to promote real Christianity, than all the Sunday legislation they can bring about by such action at this time.

Now, I suggest that such matters be encouraged; that all means that will lead people away from lower values of life be promoted; that the upbuilding of all things that will elevate society be given the glad hand, and we will have a better feeling and more good will done than to attempt to agitate this matter in our cosmopolitan population.

FRANK AINSWORTH.

THE PAVING PROBLEM.
Editor Morning Journal: This paving proposition has arrived at a very acute angle. It is not true that we are opposed to paving. We are interested in the proposition, but some of us are opposed and will continue to be so, to such a plan resembling of either stupidity or graft as was exhibited by six members of the city council Friday night when they deliberately voted to take $18,000 of the property owners' money without any equivalent whatever and hand it over to the agent of the Texas Bitulithic company, who has been hovering around in our city for months with the evident expectation that eventually just that sized phony would fall into his lap. It was the wonderment of many why this money agent for a patent compound did not hike back to Texas after a petition had been presented to the city council signed by more than 80 per cent of the people who will pay the bills, saying that they did not want to pay $1.25 per yard for paving of doubtful utility when they had been fairly and openly offered a much superior article for $1.00 per yard. The action of the council Friday night clears the mystery why he did not hike back to Texas. Now he is reported as saying that Albuquerque looks good to him and that he and his company will open a big office here and attempt to grab the paving business of New Mexico, presumably on the same terms.

The city of Milwaukee, Wis., has bonded contractors for miles of street by first-class concrete asphalt pavement at $1.25 per yard and when Mr. Laughlin put in his bid for $1.90 for equally good material and work on our job he was not knowing full well that he would make a handsome profit on the contract. The specifications that Mr. Laughlin had upon were so drawn that they were an infringement of the Warren Bros. patent and his attorneys advised him to withdraw it. Mr. Laughlin has since come to Albuquerque in the interest of his job and he has told me the council had been backed by the Barber company that would enter into a contract at any time with all the usual guarantees and come to put in a first-class asphalt pavement at $1.50 per yard. There are miles of this class of pavement where there are roads of this patent bitulithic. Many cities have tried it and now vigorously condemn it including Milwaukee, St. Louis and Chicago. Here is a copy of a telegram as an example of what they think of it:

"Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 17th, 1911. M. P. Stamm, Albuquerque. Milwaukee has bitulithic at $2.18 yard, is now having better pavement at $1.25. Bitulithic is pink, letter follows. C. A. Mullen, Street Sup't."

The spectacle of members of the Commercial club who will not pay one dollar for this paving appearing before the council and urging the letting of this jug-handled contract wherein the property owners are absolutely giving away more than $10,000, is very illuminating as to the generosity of some people have of other men's money. The present council made a monument of bitulithic of the sewer and now we must endure another equally brilliant (?) job at their hands, but it is some consolation to know that April is not so far off.

THE BANKER'S PRISON.

(Leavenworth, Kas., Despatch in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.)

The "Bankers' Colony" at the United States penitentiary has lost almost one-half its population through the operation of the parole law. When the law became effective the "bankers' colony" numbered forty men, and it now includes but twenty-four. The present population includes two presidents, one vice-president, five cashiers, two assistant cashiers, five tellers, two bookkeepers and three clerks, serving sentences varying from fifteen years in the case of William W. Montgomery, former cashier of the First National bank of Pittsburgh, to one year and a day.

Several of the bankers remaining are expecting early release, and several others will be eligible to appear at the next meeting of the parole board in January. A few applications for parole by banker prisoners have been rejected, and they must serve their full sentences, less "good-time" allowance.

During the present year but five men connected with national banks have been received into the penitentiary, the smallest number received since 1907, when four came in. Whether national bankers are becoming honest or whether they have become more expert in covering up their speculations, the prison officials are not prepared to say.

Only one banker is due to leave this year by expiration of sentence. He is Herman Genna of Houston, Tex., who will be released December 25. Two are due to leave in 1912, while the last of the present lot, unless his term is shortened by parole or commutation, will leave December 24, 1913.

As a rule the banker convicts are among the best behaved in the prison, only one having violated a rule of sufficient importance to merit solitary confinement. This man has been applied for parole, but his application has been rejected.

Nearly all of the convict clerical and stenographic positions at the prison are held by former bankers. With one exception all are "trusties," and now that the bankers are going, former postal employees are getting the clerical jobs.

The "bankers' colony" occupies rooms over the office of the deputy warden, each banker having a roommate. The rooms are better furnished than ordinary cells, the windows having white curtains, and each man, under certain limitations, furnish his room. The rooms are not looked at night. After they retire to their rooms at the close of the day's work the bankers are free to visit each other, under certain restrictions. After the cell-houses are locked the bankers spend the hour from 6 to 7 in the yard in summer. Most of these men were doing clerical duty, and needed an hour's exercise in the open air.

Another privilege given the "banker trusties" is that of eating at a "special mess" table, for which a better fare is provided than that for the general run of prisoners.

Of the parolees bankers the most notable were J. L. Broderick of Milwaukee, John R. Walsh of Chicago, G. A. Conman of Terre Haute, Ind., and F. H. Nicolai of Auburn, Ind.

Society

It was an oversight, just the same, and apologies are hereby tendered. They were entertained at dinner last time by Mr. O'Reilly, at whose home the Ten Dons got an excellent "feed" and have an unusually good time. This week the ten will meet with Judge E. A. Mann.

Mrs. Keen had the second of her series of card parties on Thursday. Bridge was played at four tables, resulting in Mrs. Keen winning first prize. A chrysanthemum luncheon was the concluding feature of the thoroughly informal and altogether delightful party.

Mrs. Allen Waas was hostess, Thursday afternoon, at two tables of Five Hundred.

Grace Stortz entertained the Saturday Afternoon Musical club, an organization of musically inclined juveniles, at her home yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Guy Rogers was hostess Thursday to the Sewing club of which she is a member.

GOINGS AND COMINGS.

Mrs. Mary Nash went to Socorro, Tuesday, to spend a few days, before starting on her trip to Glasgow, Scotland, where she will join her daughter, Miss Vera Nash, who is attending school in the land of moors. Mrs. Nash expects to spend two years abroad, and plans to return with her daughter to Albuquerque, at the expiration of that time.

Mrs. Laura Benedict, who has been the guest in this city of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Wilson, left Wednesday for Point Richmond, Cal., called there by the serious illness of her son's wife, Mrs. Le Roy Benedict. The young Mrs. Benedict was formerly Miss Gertrude Hopping of this city, and has numerous friends who are gravely concerned over the present state of her health.

Mrs. E. Rosenwald and daughter, Miss Regina Rosenwald, returned during the week, after an absence of twelve months or more spent in European travel. They were joined here by Mrs. Chas. Hildebrand, formerly Miss Alma Rosenwald of this city, and another daughter of Mrs. E. Rosenwald, Mrs. Hildebrand will spend some weeks visiting relatives and friends.

Mrs. Bernard Roddy came home last week after a delightful month spent in Santa Fe as guest of Governor Mills and Mrs. Mills.

Miss Gladys Mandell is expected home today from Santa Fe, where she spent the latter part of the past week visiting Mrs. Onofra Wagner.

Miss Anita Mead, of Victoria, New Mexico, is in the city this guest of Miss Adele Goss of 712 West Lead Ave. Miss Mead was formerly a resident of this city.

Mrs. Whitfield, mother of John Lee Clark, has arrived from her summer home at Beverly, Mass., and will spend the winter months here. Mrs. Whitfield is at the Casa de Ora.

Mrs. Harold Moore and small son of Santa Fe, are visiting at the suburban home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Hall. Mr. Moore will join them here this week and remain until after Thanksgiving.

Mrs. George Rosington, wife of the vice president of the Occidental Insurance company, left yesterday for New York City and other points east.

JUVENILE ENTERTAINMENT.

The children of St. John's Sunday school have an entertainment booked for next Saturday at the Woman's club for benefit of the city's poor. Musical selections and recitations appropriate to Thanksgiving, will make up an interesting program, and Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford's class, the weavers, will dance a minuet in Colonial costume.

The youngsters are hard at work on the enterprise and the cause is a worthy one, liberally deserving of public patronage.

COMPLIMENTARY TO OUT-OF-TOWN VISITORS.

Mrs. H. A. Heydt entertained at dinner, Monday evening, complimentary to out-of-town visitors. Decorations and appointments were exceptionally pretty and the gathering a merry one. The honorees of the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stuart Christal and Mr. and Mrs. Vance Van Riper, were in the city from Winslow, Ariz., called here by the serious condition of Jas. W. Christal, Santa Fe engineer, who was injured in a wreck and who is now convalescent at the Coast Lines hospital.

Mr. Stuart Christal and Mrs. Van Riper are the son and daughter of the injured engineer.

The dinner party given by Mrs. Heydt followed the good tidings of Mr. Christal's expected and speedy recovery. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Christal and Mr. and Mrs. Van Riper of Winslow, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Heydt of Wellington, Kas.; Mrs. John H. Lowe, Chester F. Lowe and the hostess.

CHURCH BENEFITS.

Other doings of interest among the church societies were the meeting of the Christian Endeavorers of the Congregation church at the home of Miss Irene Boldt, Friday evening, when social enjoyment took a crimp out of business transactions; and the assembly of the Woman's Mission society of the same church with M. L. Devine, 401 South Edith street, the afternoon preceding.

An interesting program was rendered as follows:
Topic—China.
Paper—Appreciation of the late Nellie Russell, Chinese missionary worker—Mrs. M. E. Stevens.
Suppression of the Opium traffic—Miss Taylor.
Report of general conditions in Congregational Missionary work—Mrs. Tolbert.
Readings by Mrs. Heald and Mrs. Dry.
Solo—Mrs. Woodford.

The meeting of the Missionary society of the Lead Ave. Methodist church was held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlors, and was distinctive for the presence and address of Mrs. Anna Kent, national secretary of the bureau of Methodist mission work among the Spaniards and her assistant, Mrs. Ward Platt, both of East Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Van Eaton of 324 West Hazeldine, was hostess to the Woman's Circle of the First Baptist church Thursday afternoon, when important business transactions rather than social intercourse passed the time.

Yesterday afternoon and evening the Ladies' Aid society of this church held a bazaar and New England supper, at 222 West Central, which was liberally patronized.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. also had a sale, Saturday afternoon and evening, confined especially to home-cooked products. The Saturday crowds were attracted to the C. and A. Coffee store, where the tables were on display and the sale was financially satisfactory to the white ribbons and culinarily satisfactory to the shoppers.

ANNUAL SERVICE.

Speaking of clubs and societies, and I really must, the Presbyterian Mission society held their annual praise service in the church parlors, Tuesday afternoon.

A large crowd was out to enjoy the very excellent program and to participate in the enjoyable social hour which finished proceedings. The program rendered was as follows:
Organ voluntary—Miss Beryl Kenworthy.
Devotional exercises:
Paper—"The Lord's Money"—Mrs. Morley.
Vocal Solo—Mrs. Reid.
"Reasons for Thankfulness"—Mrs. Caldwell.

Missionary story—Mrs. Elwood. Violin solo—Mr. Clyde Ross, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Thompson.
"The Maid and the Mite Box"—Grace Stortz.
Thanks offering.
Thanksgiving prayer—Mrs. Little.

SOCIAL AMBITIONS AND SHORT POCKETBOOKS.

Moral—If You Don't Have the Price and Then Some, Borrow It Before You Ask the Girl.

Some of the young blades of the town are bothered with the popular ailment, "Social ambitions and short pocketbooks."

To be sure they mean well, and they are generous, but they simply have not the price for such high-flying and fit they will.

All sorts of embarrassing predicaments are the result. One young man took the favored young lady to dinner at the Alvarado, a few Sunday nights ago. They had a jolly time and everything was fine and dandy, even the picture show which they attended, after dinner.

The girl liked the show so much that she suggested another one, and he felt his pocket and was reassured by the comforting feel of two dimes. It was cool and she would not care for ice cream, so he readily agreed, insisted almost. As luck would have it, they ran into the girl's chum and her steady.

"Ask them to go with us to the show," whispered the girl and he with two dimes in his jeans!

Another young man who stands well in society, but not so well in business circles, wanted to take his girl to the theater. He got the tickets and invited her to go to dinner before the performance. He didn't need to pile on the dinner agony, but he is one of the splurge sort, though he really has no more chance to splash than a duck in a pie pan.

The girl ordered more than he counted on, and the young man running wildly about in search of a friend and a loan.

Queer experiences, indeed, and the question arises, do the young men entertain too much with too little wherewithal, of their own accord, or is it to keep pace with the big expectations of the girls?

SMARTS TO GO TO CALIFORNIA.

More than a little regret is felt over the intended departure of Dr. Robert Smart and his charming wife for San Diego, Cal. Mrs. Smart has taken a prominent part in the social life of Albuquerque as her husband in professional circles and their leave taking is a matter of universal regret.

In connection with their going and the sale of the beautiful household furnishings, there occurs to me an interesting little conversation.

One woman was telling another about the sale of fine tapestries, statues and works of art. "You know," she said, "Mrs. Smart has traveled all over the world and has collected her things from every part of the globe. Don't you want to go to the sale?"

"O, no," said the other loftily. "I never buy second-hand things."

Wonder what she would say if Pierpont Morgan wanted to sell out?

A SELLER FROM MRS. TAFT.

Other than prominent local patronage, the Anthony Cottage Sanitarium is coming into national notice. Lady Henry Somerset is to be a patron and will make a liberal donation and from Mrs. Taft the subjoined letter and a generous check was received.

The White House, Washington.

My Dear Dr. Chevallier—I received your letter of October 30, and trust that you may be most successful in your undertaking at Albuquerque and enabled to carry out your plans for the relief of the suffering. With kind regards and best wishes, I am,
Yours sincerely,
HELEN W. TAFT.

Governor Mills writes as follows: Dear Madam—I am in receipt of your favor of the 6th instant, and note its contents. I sincerely trust that the entertainment you contemplate giving for the benefit of the Anthony Cottage Sanitarium will be a great success and that you will be enabled to raise enough money to put your hospital on a firm financial basis. The idea of starting a sanitarium exclusively for the use of women is a most excellent one and I bespeak for you a patronage of all good people of your city.

With very kindest regards and regretting that I shall be unable to attend the entertainment, believe me as ever,
Very sincerely yours,
The president of the Spanish Honduras Manual Benillo, a personal friend of Dr. Chevallier, has signified his intention of aiding the cause by substantial financial assistance.

KAHN-WEISSKEPPE MARRIAGE.

Miss Johanna Kuhn was quietly married in this city November 12 to Mr. Camill Weisskeppe. The ceremony was performed at the Kuhn home, 412 West Silver, with Rev. Dr. Mendel Silber officiating. The decorations were elaborate, consisting of pink roses and white carnations. Mrs. Max Herzstein was matron of honor, and Oscar Block acted as best man to the groom. The wedding supper following, was served at the Alvarado.

TRAPPED MOUNTAIN LION FOUGHT HIS CAPTORS

King of the Forest Near Arko, Ariz., Came Near Devouring Two Boys; Attacked Men Who Came to Rescue.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]

Barker, Ariz., Nov. 18.—The two young sons of Patricio Montijo and Rafael Reina, had a narrow escape a few days ago from being killed by a fierce mountain lion, near their home two miles east of town. The boys caught the mountain lion rover in a small No. 2 trap, and his kinship walked off with the trap. The youngsters followed the tracks of their catch to a point where they discovered what kind of an animal they had landed. Getting scared, they hurried home, fearing to take a shot at the beast.

Their fathers, Patricio Montijo and Rafael Reina, set out to see what scared the boys. They came across Mr. Lion when he was in a very bad trap on his right side, and in a humor, brought on by dragging a trap on his right hind leg, which had caught on over the toes. Sighting the hunters, his lordship did not wait for them to start the battle but proceeded to act on the aggressive at once by taking a ten-foot leap at the throat of Reina, who side-stepped just in time to save his life.

As the men were armed with but one 38-calibre revolver they soon realized that they were up against a serious proposition, with no possible means of escaping unless they killed the lion, now maddened beyond the hope of fright and sinking away.

As Reina dodged the fierce onslaught of the lion he fired, the shot taking effect in the animal's right shoulder. But Mr. Lion, wheeling around came after his prey furiously. Another shot hit the oncoming lion in the neck, and just as he was about to make another leap for Reina a third shot struck him in the head, and he rolled over dead, much to the relief of the cornered men, who vow they will never hunt a lion unless armed with a dependable rifle.

If the boys had not turned back they surely would have met with little mercy on the part of the lion. The hide was brought to town and measures 71 1/2 feet from tip to tip. The animal weighed about 300 pounds and is the largest of its kind ever killed in this section of the territory.

MEXICAN POUNDED TO DEATH WITH ROCKS

Details of Brutal Murder On Government Reservation, Reaches Bisbee; Suspects Are Taken Into Custody.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Bisbee, Ariz., Nov. 18.—At the military reservation at Fort Huachuca, Pedro Rivera was brutally murdered by fellow countrymen on Wednesday night, according to advices that were received in Bisbee last night. Four arrests have been made and the suspects are prisoners, charged with complicity in the crime, but it is thought that the two men who are most responsible for the butchery are not in this number since two men made their escape and the evidence points to these two being the most guilty of the six who were involved in the affair.

According to the report of the murder at the Fort Huachuca reservation which was received in this city, Pedro Rivera was beaten to death with rocks and then shot through the head.

Total Mileage Equal to Twelve Thousand Trips Around the Earth; Novel Plan to Plough With Dynamite.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] New York, Nov. 17.—That New York's street car traffic is now increasing at the almost incredible rate of 201,000 passengers daily, or by 3,400,000 each week, is the astonishing fact just brought to light by the compilation of figures as a result of a general investigation of the local traffic situation. Although it has been known for some time that the street car traffic of this city exceeded that of any other in the world, the report reveals a development almost undreamed of. In the twelve months just ended the total number of fares collected amounted to 1,671,182,963 with an aggregate value of about $30,000,000. In order to earn this amount the subway, elevated and surface cars traveled 204,000,000 miles. In other words the number of rides taken in this city would if divided among the population of the entire country provide every man, woman and child with nearly twenty rides each year. For each New Yorker the annual share is 324 rides, or more than one for each working day, while the annual increase of 75,621,000 would amply provide them with holidays. The car mileage of 204,000,000 is equal to more than three trips to the sun, 1,266 trips to the moon, or 12,160 trips around the earth. To accomplish the latter task would mean 25 trips each day, while for one car running at the rate of a mile a minute continuously to cover the total mileage would take a period of 2,111 days or just a trifle less than six years. As a record for street car travel these figures are not likely to be exceeded, except in this city, for a good many years.

Dynamite to Supplant Plow.
If the tests now being carried on by a firm of seedmen and florists in the vicinity of New York city proves successful a new and novel method of plowing farm lands may come into general use. The scheme is to supplant the time-honored plow with dynamite. The inventor of the scheme points out the inefficiency of the former means of turning over the soil in that its effect is felt only to a very slight depth, while the blasting method breaks up the ground for a considerable area around and below the firing point. The resultant fissures and crackings, according to his theory, render the tenacious subsoils porous and sponge-like, thereby causing a conservation of moisture. This makes possible a greater and deeper soil development, and the crops not only become less susceptible to hot, dry spells and continued droughts, but there is an increase in the size and yield of products. The discharge also tends to destroy soil insects. It also breaks up the hardpan or crust of the sub-soil, giving a proper drainage. The treatment, it is said, will remain effective for five years. Whether the farmers will take kindly to this innovation is something of a question. According to the views of a local horticulturist, the planting of sticks of dynamite here and there over the area of one's property is a process that would be accompanied with more or less hazard, and the danger of a charge occasionally missing fire, to be later discovered by accidental contact with a farm-hand's hoe, makes the experiment a decidedly risky one, he avers. Others deprecate the innovation on the ground that it would destroy another of the few remaining pastoral themes beloved by poets, that of the man behind the plow.Idea of Economy.
That even New Yorkers are beginning to understand the meaning of economy and realize the actual importance in great commercial enterprises of what were formerly considered relatively small amounts of money even though running into many millions is a condition which is becoming more and more evident here. Men whose strong boxes are comfortably filled with all sorts of securities are becoming more familiar with many problems of operation as a result of their appreciation of the fact that only a relatively small amount of money is needed to pay dividends on a good-sized amount of securities. Moody's Magazine in commenting on this condition cites as an example the remuneration which the railroads receive for carrying the mails. "An analysis of the figures showing the entire service," says the publication, "particularly that of the short lines which are the greatest sufferers under the present scale of pay, shows that the transportation of the mails involves a loss to the owners, that is the stockholders, of the transportation lines of some $29,000,000 a year, an amount sufficient to pay a return of five per cent on $400,000,000." Election night, too, furnishes another illustration of the deplorable state of the methods. For many years this night has been considered one for ostentatious entertainment along the Great White Way, many of the hotels refusing to serve anything in the line of liquid refreshment but champagne. Last election night saw practically no increase over the ordinary consumption of this expensive beverage and very little gaiety. As a result hotel keepers are wondering whether the realization of the price of one cold quart is equal to five per cent on $100 for a year is to grow to such an extent that it will bring about the disappearance of the Bacchanalian New Year's celebrations which have heretofore brought them such a golden harvest.

Sane Bathing Suits.
A serious and carefully organized agitation for a "safe and sane" bathing costume for women is on foot here. An organization known as the National Women's Life Saving League has been incorporated, among its objects being that of overcoming the prejudices against the simple one-piece, form-fitting garment such as is now worn by men when disporting themselves in the water. They base their contention that a change from the present conventional bathing costume is necessary on the fact that it interferes with the freedom of movement, and that the stays and other articles that go with it detract from the swimmer's enjoyment of the sport as well as from her safety. To say nothing of her appearance. It is estimated by the statisticians of the league that with the old-style bathing dress the woman carries thirty pounds of excess baggage in the form of water-soaked clothing. The fact that defend and other European resorts have come to look with favor upon the simple one-piece costume is cited as an argument against the contention that it is over-stopping the bounds of propriety. The league, however, has other plans in view. I will teach every man how to swim at a cost that is purely nominal, it will instruct women how to plant the right kind of a blow between a drowning man's eyes when rescuing him, and how to get him to shore afterward; make women adept in methods of resuscitation, etc. The league now has three hundred members and among its instructors are some of the best known swimmers in the country.Proof That Education Pays.

HOW GERMS SPREAD SKIN DISEASE

Eczema, Psoriasis and other skin troubles are caused by myriads of germs at work in the skin. Unless these germs are promptly destroyed they rapidly multiply, causing their way deep into the sensitive tissue.

This is what causes that awful itch and what causes a more rash may grow worse and develop into a loathsome and torturing skin disease with its years of misery.

Don't take any chances! Destroy the germs at the beginning of the trouble with that soothing and cleansing wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema. A 25c bottle will prove this to you.

on a hunting trip. The party expects to be gone at least a week.

Superintendent J. H. Taylor of the Deming city schools, was an Albuquerque visitor yesterday. Mr. Taylor left last night for his home after attending the educators' meeting in Santa Fe.

H. J. Marshall, of Denver, general agent of the Harbor Asphalt company, returned home yesterday after looking after the interests of his company in the recent street paving controversy.

E. H. Clapp, formerly associate forester of the Third district, with headquarters here, but now connected with the Washington headquarters of the Forest Service, was in the city yesterday.

State Superintendent-elect Alvan N. White was in Albuquerque yesterday en route to his home in Silver City after attending the convention of the New Mexico Educational Association at Santa Fe.

Superintendent John Stein of the Fred Harvey system, was in town yesterday, returning from El Paso, where he went to superintendent the annual Teller Club banquet, which was prepared by the Harvey house in that city.

Miss Beate Covarrubias and Miss Mabel Leake, two teachers of the public schools of Port Jarama, passed through the city last evening, returning home from Santa Fe, where they attended the New Mexico Teachers' association convention.

Dr. C. T. Ray, osteopath, and graduate of the Kirksville (Mo.) Institute of Osteopathy, has formed a partnership with Dr. J. O. Schwert, her brother. Dr. Ray comes here from California where he has been engaged in the practice of his profession.

A special communication of Temple Lodge, No. 6, A. F. & A. M., will be held Monday evening, November 20, at half past seven for work in the M. M. degree. Master Masons are invited to attend and aid in the work. By order of the W. M. J. A. Miller, secretary.

Two marriage licenses were issued yesterday by Probate Clerk A. E. Walker. George A. Williams, and Bertha Gibbons, two members of the colored population of this city, received a license, and Valentin Carpio and Felicitia Jiron, two residents of the Ileta Pueblo, were also given a license.

W. A. Huffman, who was bound over to the grand jury on Friday for assault with a deadly weapon, was yesterday taken before Judge McCulloch charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon Ed Morris last Wednesday morning. He was again bound over to the grand jury in the sum of $500 on this charge.

Deep interest is manifest in the contest now going on in the Congressional church Christian Endeavor society. Those participating young people have divided the congregation into two equal parties and engaged in a strenuous contest as to which section can secure the largest attendance. For this reason a double cordial welcome is assured all strangers as well as all members who attend the meeting at the church parlors this evening at 6:30.

We have had experience with many remedies for skin troubles but have never seen such remarkable cures as those from D. D. D. Prescription. Instant relief from the very first application.

We are so confident that D. D. D. will reach your case that it will cost you nothing if the very first full size bottle fails to make good every claim.

If you have skin trouble of any kind we certainly advise you to drop in and investigate the merits of D. D. D. anyway. We know that D. D. D. will help you.

PARISH MISSION AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Archdeacon Webber of Boston, One of the Most Noted Episcopal Divines of the Nation, to Have Charge.

The Parochial mission to be conducted at St. John's Episcopal church in this city from December 12 to 20, will be a notable event in the annals of the church in this city. Archdeacon Webber of Boston, who will conduct the mission, is one of the most widely known parochial missionaries of the Episcopal church in the United States. The archdeacon is distinctly a man of a man who will appeal to the men of Albuquerque. He is a forceful speaker, absolutely without fear, a gentleman in the strictest sense of the term and deeply spiritual.

The archdeacon of New Mexico will meet at St. John's church on December 12, and every Episcopal clergyman in the state is expected to be in attendance and spend the entire time of the mission as the guest of Archdeacon Webber. The first service of the mission will be the celebration of the Holy Eucharist at 7 o'clock on the morning of the 12th, and there will be three or four services every day until the conclusion.

Another important gathering at St. John's church this winter will be the conference on church extension which will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Gray, secretary of the general board of missions, and Miss Lindsey, both of New York city. While here Dr. Gray and Miss Lindsey will hold four normal study mission classes. The rectors and lay delegates from all parishes and missions in the state will be in attendance both of these meetings.

CRIMINAL ASSAULT CASE IN HANDS OF JURY

Lieutenant-Governor Chigui-gui of Isleta Pueblo Will Learn Fate When Court Opens Tomorrow.

The trial of Augustine Chigui-gui, lieutenant governor of the Pueblo of Isleta, charged with criminally assaulting Mrs. Maria Regina Chavez, in Isleta on August 19, was finished last evening about 7:15 when the case was given to the jury with instructions for it to return a sealed verdict into court tomorrow morning.

The case has been stubbornly fought. Both the prosecution and the defense have made numerous witnesses to show that there had been a criminal assault on the one hand, and to prove the contrary on the other.

The fact that all the testimony had to be translated into three languages made the trial drag much more slowly than ordinary proceedings do.

Cleo Smeltzer pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon in the district court to an indictment returned last September for discharging a pistol in Martinez town. His sentence was deferred until the end of the term.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS.

Miss Maria Helmerine Tonzel. Yesterday afternoon at the home of her brother-in-law, Dr. E. McQueen Gray, Miss Maria Helmerine Tonzel passed away after a lingering illness.

Deceased was the oldest child of Colonel Perceval Tonzel of the Inniskilling regiment, and was born at an outlying post in Cape Colony, where her father was in command. She was named after her grandfather, General Helier Tonzel of Jaffa, Ireland, the head of an ancient Norman family, connected for more than eight hundred years with the island in the British Channel.

On her mother's side, she came of an old distinguished Irish family, the Wolfes of Forenaghts, being the grand niece of the second Viscount Kilwarden, whose father, the first Viscount and Lord Chief Justice of Ireland, was murdered by a Fenian mob in Dublin at the beginning of the last century. She was also the grand niece of the third Earl of Norfolk, The Wolfes were a fighting race, counting five generals on the roll of the British army, of whom General Wolfe, the conqueror at Quebec, is the most famous. Another relative was the Rev. Charles Wolfe, the first poet, best known as the author of the elegy on the burial of Sir John Moore.

There are many in New Mexico who will feel keenly the loss of Miss Tonzel as she was greatly beloved by those who knew her. Few realized with what bravery and courage she led her daily life. A mother for years, her mission was to give cheer and encouragement to all with whom she came in contact. In Carlsbad, her former home, a host of friends will remember the unselfishness with which she gave herself to those who needed her, and the news of her death will cast a shadow over their lives.

The funeral will occur Monday from the home of Dr. Gray in this city and will be strictly private.

GOVERNOR BURKE HAS TWO JOBS IN VIEW

FORESTRY OFFICIALS BACK FROM EL PASO

Enthusiastic over the reception they received in El Paso the members of the forestry service for the Third district who have been in the Paso City attending a convention of the forestry superintendents and assistants, returned yesterday. The meetings were held continuously for a week in the federal building in that city, and the time was spent in discussing forestry problems. A number of prominent officials, including Chief Forester H. S. Graves, were present and addressed the gathering.

It is estimated that more than forty men of the service from Florida, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Arizona and New Mexico attended the meeting. Among the officers from Washington were Earl H. Clapp, forest inspector; Captain James B. Adams, assistant forester; W. H. Long of the bureau of plant industry, and W. F. Jardine of the grazing reconnaissance work and others.

Winthrop, Mass., Nov. 18.—Having come among people untouched by civilization and hitherto unknown, according to a report received here by the government, Vilhiamur Stefanon, explorer, at the head of a joint expedition of the American Museum of Natural History and the Canadian Geological Survey, will not return to civilization this winter, as had been planned.

NOTED SALVATION ARMY WORKER TO SPEAK HERE

Colonel Henry S. Lee, Provincial Commander, Will Address Gathering at Local Headquarters Monday Night.

Colonel Henry S. Lee, provincial commander of the Salvation Army, who is on a tour of inspection of the western outposts of the army, will address a meeting at the Albuquerque headquarters of the army on Monday evening. Colonel Lee is one of the most noted among the workers in the Salvationist cause and will tell of his dealings with the submerged tenth and his success in the prevention of crime and poverty and the conversion of the poor and vicious into law-abiding and useful citizens. Colonel Lee is accompanied by his assistant and aide de camp, Major Frank West, also a well known officer of the Salvation Army.

Captain Wendell of the local corps extends a cordial invitation to the people of Albuquerque generally to attend the meeting and hear the speakers. A feature of the gathering will be the commissioning of a sergeant major and the swearing in as soldiers of a number of converts.

Do not forget the hour and place. Monday evening, November 20, at 8 o'clock, at Salvation Army headquarters on West Silver avenue.

COUNCIL AWARDED PAVING CONTRACT LAST NIGHT

Aldermen By Vote of 6 to 2 Override Mayor's Veto; Texas Company Successful Bidder For Improvements.

The city council met in special session last night and by a vote of 6 to 2, adopted the resolution awarding the contract for paving Improvement District No. 1, of the city of Albuquerque, to the Texas Bitulithic company, over the mayor's veto. The council then adjourned.

Interest in the matter seemed to have waned, for where there was a full council chamber at the Friday night meeting there were not more than half a dozen men present at the special meeting.

Mayor Elder called the council to order and announced his veto of the resolution of the night before, whereupon Alderman Wroth made a motion which Alderman Reidy seconded, that the contract for street paving be awarded to the Texas Bitulithic company at a price of $2.20 per square yard with a two per cent discount for cash payment, and that the mayor and the clerk be directed to enter into a contract in accordance therewith, and that the terms of the contract be submitted to the council before being signed.

Upon a roll call the following Aldermen voted for the resolution: Reidy, Wroth, Auger, Conroy, Isherwood and Coen. Against the measure, Aldermen Thomas and Clarke.

Immediately following the action of the council the meeting adjourned. The special meeting of the council last night was just as short and business-like as the meeting of Friday night was long and wearisome. At the meeting on Friday night the council through three long hours listened to the arguments of the friends of asphalt concrete, and to the friends of bitulithic. Last night neither of the sides to the controversy showed up and the council was left to transact its business unhindered by the expression of opinion by assembled citizens.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Wall Street.

New York, Nov. 18.—Quotations in the stock market today were generally upward, but the pressure was steadily increasing, and the list gave way to a sharp decline in the closing hours.

The heavy tone was attributed to the fact that the market was not as strong as it had been in the previous week. The weakness was pronounced on selling side, and the list gave way to a sharp decline in the closing hours.

The heavy tone was attributed to the fact that the market was not as strong as it had been in the previous week. The weakness was pronounced on selling side, and the list gave way to a sharp decline in the closing hours.

Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Efforts of a group of commission houses to undo a big spread made wheat shorts anxious today and forced the market up. The close was 1-8 to 5-8 higher than last night.

Corn finished a shade to 1-4 higher, and oats to 1-8 higher. Provisions at 5 to 12 1-2 decline.

The buying of December wheat which day after day has frightened shorts became still more astounded this morning and led to some rather persistent investigation. As a result it was announced that the purchasing had been done by a combination of commission houses trying to get rid of a spread. They had December sold and May bought. Shorts who had been carried over several days ago. Bullish feeling received an impetus also from statements that the big spring wheat millers were figuring on using Chicago soft winter wheat for blending. In addition there was a further reduction of the estimated portable surplus in Australia. May ranged from $1.90 1-4 to $1.90 3-4, with last sales 1-4 to 3-8 net lower at $1.90 1-4.

In the corn pit buyers held off, holding that the good weather would bring larger receipts next week. May fluctuated from 64 3-4 to 65 3-8, closing easy 1-8 net lower at 64 7-8.

Cash grades were weak. No. 2 yellow old was quoted at 74 1-2 to 75 1-2. Week-end cutting down of holdings by local longs had a depressing effect on oats. High and low levels touched for December 50 1-8 and 49 7-8, the close 1-8 to 1-4 off at 50 1-8.

Enormous fun of hogs west, more than 125, greater for the week than at the corresponding time a year ago. Counted decisively against values of packing house products. Tonight pork showed a net loss of 1-2 to 1-4, 1-2 to 1-4 and 1-4 to 1-4, a decline of a nickel to a dime.

The Metal Market.

New York, Nov. 18.—The metal markets were quiet and nominally unchanged. Lake copper, $12.42 1-2 to $12.75; electrolytic, $12.62 1-2 to $12.75; casting, $12.25 to $12.30.

Lead, $4.35 to $4.40; spelter, $6.40 to $6.60.

Antimony, $8.00 to $8.12 1-2.

Silver, $5.50 to $5.55; Mexican dollars, 46 1-2 to 46 3-4.

St. Louis Wool.

St. Louis, Nov. 18.—Wool, steady; medium grades, combing and clothing 20 1-2 to 21; light, fine, 16 to 19; heavy, fine, 13 to 15; tub washed, 27 to 30.

New York Cotton.

New York, Nov. 18.—Cotton closed steady, net 7 points lower to 1 point higher.

The Livestock Markets.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Cattle—Receipts 600; market dull and steady. Heaves, $4.40 to $5.90; Texas steers, $4.00 to $5.70; western steers, $4.00 to $5.70; stockers and feeders, $2.90 to $5.50; cows and heifers, $1.50 to $5.75; calves, $5.50 to $8.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 15,000; market dull and steady. Light, $5.90 to $5.57 1-2; mixed, $5.15 to $5.65; heavy, $5.15 to $5.67 1-2; rough, $2.15 to $3.50; good to choice, heavy, $6.25 to $6.67 1-2; pigs, $4.75 to $6.00; bulk of sales, $4.00 to $6.00.

Sheep—Receipts, 2,500; market quiet and steady. Native, $2.50 to $3.75; western, $2.65 to $3.70; yearlings, $3.75 to $4.60; lambs, native, $2.50 to $5.15; western, $3.75 to $5.55.

CATARRH OF THE HEAD RELIEVED BY PERUNA

"Peruna
Is a Great
Medicine and a Fair Trial
Will Convince Any One of its Efficacy."

F. M. JOFFRION

M. F. M. Joffrion, cor. Seventh and D Ave., Bogotusa, Louisiana, writes: "This is to certify that the latter part of February I commenced taking Peruna for catarrh of the head, and have gained eleven pounds. Peruna is a great medicine and a fair trial will convince any one of its efficiency."

Catarrh For Four Years.

Mr. J. G. Steffe, R. R. 3, Sherman, South Dakota, writes: "For four years I had been a continual sufferer from catarrh. I tried all kinds of so-called catarrh remedies and found no relief."

"I was advised by a friend to write you about my case, which I did, and you kindly advised me to use a course of Peruna and Lacupia, which I commenced at once and was surprised how it relieved me.

"I am happy to say that I am a well man today. I take pleasure in recommending your great remedy to all who are afflicted with catarrh."

Chronic Nasal Catarrh.

Mr. Chas. H. Stevens, 122 Sixteenth St., Detroit, Michigan, writes: "It affords me great pleasure to testify to the merits of Peruna as a remedy for catarrh."

"I suffered for some time with chronic nasal catarrh, but after five months' treatment, during which time I used seven bottles of Peruna, I am pleased to say that I am entirely well, there not being the slightest trace of catarrh left."

"Peruna is without a doubt (in my mind) the greatest remedy known for catarrh."

WATER USERS ASK BUSINESS LIKE MANAGEMENT

Men Who Ultimately Pay For Government Reclamation Projects Would Have Voice in Their Management.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Chicago, Nov. 18.—Thorough business management of the vast irrigation projects being built in the west by the government is one of the most important reforms which will be sought by the National Water Users' association, which will meet at the Hotel Sherman, Chicago, December 1. Inasmuch as all money spent by the government in reclaiming the desert lands must be paid back by the settlers, the water users feel that they are justified in asking this reform. The need of it, many of them declare, becomes more apparent every day on many of the projects, where vast sums of money are spent on more or less visionary schemes by ambitious engineers.

There is a good example of this on the Colorado project, where a boy engineer spent thousands building what he considered a great invention in water gates, but which has since proved almost totally impracticable. From reports already received here, practically every government irrigation project in the west will be represented at the meeting. The demand for more business-like handling of their projects and desire to escape bonds of red tape, wrapped around them by bureau chiefs of the reclamation service, had aroused the water users to determined and united action.

There has always been a great deal of opposition to the cost of spending money for the reclamation of the western deserts. Behind the cloak of this opposition, much of the unpleasant red tape and unequitable rulings of the reclamation service have been saddled on to the settlers.

The National Water Users' association proposes to make a campaign of publicity throughout the west so as to thoroughly acquaint the entire people with their problems. Once this is accomplished, the water users believe they will quickly get the aid of the east in accomplishing the reforms which they seek.

Jury Selected in Tarring Case.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 18.—

Another arrest, making the fifteenth, and the obtaining of a jury to try three of the accused men were the important developments that marked the "tar party" case today. James Boone, an engineer employed by the mill of Everett G. Clark, alleged leader of the assailants of Miss Mary Chamberlain, was arrested, charged with being an accessory to the crime, soon after the jury had been chosen court adjourned until Monday.

THE TIPPING NUSANCE

(By Frederick J. Hoskin, in Washington Star.)

You can't fool me; the people of Chavez county didn't want me to go to the legislature.

There was a while there that I thought they did, but they pretty effectually put it out of my mind Tuesday.

Considering the circumstances, I have every reason to be pleased with my vote. That I did as well as I did is proof that my work in this town and valley has been appreciated.

I had to bear the burden of being the editor of a republican newspaper which believed that the mistakes of the party leaders on the other side of the hills were preferable to democratic misrule.

In the endeavor to make the people see the same way I traveled some thousand miles and delivered a couple of dozen speeches that were not forgotten except in spots.

The man who says I said a mean, untrue, or an unwholesome thing in any of them, is a liar and wears cotton drawers.

In Roswell and at some other points I had the inevitable anvil chorus from those who have not been unable to use me, who blamed me for being true to the people who pay my salary and who are right, of a considerable number who think that my unorthodoxy is something unpardonable.

The real live ones worked and voted for me, and I am very proud of it.

I have no criticism whatever of the "yellow dog" democrat who believed that an unfit democrat was better and more to be desired than a competent and clear republican. We have that kind of partisanship in the republican party, and they are going to hold this county back for high on a spell. Many criticized me for not using personalities and describing certain well known facts. Not for Henry, I tried telling all of the truth at the last county election, and the democrats had the biggest majority in history. Personal cleanliness, brains, and know-how are in evidence when the partisan spirit mounts in the voter's breast. There were some things I could have said that would have been true, of a personal nature. It would have done no earthly good, and would have caused heart burnings galore.

In telling how it feels to be licked it is only fair to make some confessions.

One is that I am the sorriest campaigner that ever went before the people. There are certain set and traditional necessities in this line and I haven't any of them.

I can't sit on a box and whistle, I keep thinking all the time that it is a sin to waste good time that way, and that every sweeter who so wastes his time in frittering away energy that could better be used in the fields or at some useful work.

I can't drink whiskey. I hate the taste of it, and know its effects too well, to consider it anything except poison. If I had to succeed by the use of it in the conventional candidate way, I would never succeed in being elected constable.

It is impossible for me to warm up to some blockhead who hasn't sense enough to wear union suits, and jolly him, and beg him for his vote. About the only argument that appeals to such a critter is a whiskey bottle, a dirty store, a two-dollar bill, and the party lark. I just simply can't reach this kind of a voter.

I can't make the conventional political harangue. All this time my mind is full of the beauty of this great slope. I keep on thinking of the grandeur of the valley manhood as a rule, of the wonderful transformation of the desert. Some little cottonhead, gone to sleep on his mother's arm, rises up the memories that are never far from tears. I feel some fellow with the warts of honest toil on his hands and patches on his pants, who has proven his friendship for me these many years, and visions of how to better his kind, and to make this life something else than peonage spoils my political rhetoric. These things keep slipping in, and as a result by effectiveness as a political speaker is nil—plus.

I can't take the ground that everybody who disagrees with me politically is either a fool or a knave. Some of the best men in the valley are democrats. Some of them are on the democratic ticket. I wouldn't tear out and abuse them to wear the tunic of senator. They have a right to their beliefs, to vote for whom they please. Knowing all the nominees, if they prefer to vote for men who are unclean, who are unfit, it is a matter that they will sooner or later have to settle with their own conscience.

Taking it all in all, I guess I am a failure as a candidate. I will never do it again—that is, until my party calls upon me to do so.

If there is anybody who thinks I have a sore spot toward anyone in Chavez county, I hope they will forget it. Political service is not for me. It wouldn't do to inject too much of the correct dope into that bunch at Santa Fe anymore. The real mustard is better taken in homeopathic doses. I am very grateful to those who supported me, and just as grateful to those who didn't who are my personal friends outside of politics.

If there is a man in Chavez county who is satisfied with his job, it is The Tenderfoot. I mean just what I said, that I would rather be a country editor than president. You serve all of the people, and you have an endless opportunity to peddle good cheer, to preach the doctrine of the wholesome life, to put the kibosh on gloom, to laugh, to love. Of all men in Chavez county I am able to do this, while pointing out the right political way, and earning the blue ballot every Saturday night. It is a great blessing, a great responsibility, and I have the know-how and the will to deliver the goods.

What is a little old mealy legislative job compared to such a stout, anyhew?

MEDLER ELECTED JUDGE BIGGEST FARCE EVER KNOWN

Almost Complete Returns Indicate That Former Albuquerque Man Has Small Majority Over John Y. Hewitt.

With the exception of the precinct of Palma in Torrance county, complete returns have been received from the election for judge in the Third judicial district. These figures practically assure the election of Edward E. L. Medler, the republican candidate. The following figures show the vote for the respective candidates in the four counties included in the district:

	Hewitt	Medler
Lincoln	823	858
Dona Ana	1238	1440
Other	870	536
Torrance	767	878
Total	3499	3598

Majority for Medler—9.
Palma the missing precinct is known to have given a majority of 17 for the republican candidate, which will raise Mr. Medler's majority to 26.

Can't Trifle With Nature

Sleeplessness, shaky nerves, stomach trouble, weak heart, headaches, etc., are effects often caused by coffee and tea drinking.

There can be no relief until the cause—if it be coffee or tea—is removed.

Then Nature will repair the damage, and the return to health can be hastened by using well-brewed

Samuel Untermyer Declares American Tobacco Company Has "Done" Attorney General Wickersham.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Washington, Nov. 18.—Congress should force the government to appeal from the decree in the American Tobacco case, said Samuel Untermyer of New York today, before the senatorial committee on interstate commerce. "The court should be forced to say whether the dissolution plan agreed upon is what it meant by an order of disintegration."

Mr. Untermyer said he understood the attorney general had been to some extent consulted in the formation of the plan of dissolution, but he thought the tobacco company had "done" the attorney general. He said the tobacco trust has simply "changed its clothes."

The pitiful and humiliating phase in the American Tobacco company case has strengthened my belief that supplementary legislation is necessary for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law," said Mr. Untermyer, who is chairman of the subcommittee on trust legislation of the National Civic Federation.

"The courts are not adapted to the enforcement of decrees of disintegration against big combinations. They have no machinery to carry them out."

"The menace of the United States Steel corporation is not in its size or the amount of its capital stock, but in the concentration of the money power behind it," said Mr. Untermyer. "It is the most menacing of all the combinations because this power makes every competitor in effect a puppet. The powerful hands that protect the steel business have control of the greatest banks, trust companies and railways and it is impossible for competition to exist against it."

He expressed the belief that mere limiting of capital stock will not curb trusts.

The Sherman law must be enforced up to the point where the industry confronts ruin from competition," he said, "and then the government must sanction trade agreements that will give stability to business and permit industries to make a reasonable profit."

He advocated the establishment of an industrial commission to regulate such agreements and the federal chartering or licensing of interstate corporations.

Mr. Untermyer described the method of dissolving the tobacco trust as the "most colossal judicial farce ever enacted."

"If it is allowed to stand without amendment," he said, "it is a time that would otherwise be illegal under the Sherman law and prevents prosecution of a combination that would therefore have been considered illegal."

Mr. Untermyer referred to the organization of the United States Steel corporation as the "most flagrant violation of the law ever known."

MINE EXPLOSION CLAIMS LIVES OF EIGHTEEN

Coal Dust Causes Fatal Disaster in West Virginia Colliery; Four Engineers Making Survey Among the Victims.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Vivian, W. Va., Nov. 18.—Eighteen men were killed in a coal dust explosion, which occurred today in the Bottom Creek mine of the Bottom Creek Coal & Coke company at this place.

Over 150 men were in the mine at the time of the explosion, but all escaped except eighteen of the twenty-two who were in the explosion zone. The other four were rescued alive. All but two of the bodies had been recovered at midnight.

Among the men killed were Engineers W. H. Henderson, of Rockville, Md.; E. H. Hervey, of Philadelphia; Tarvin Williams, of Keystone, W. Va.; and Charles Brewer of Elk Horn, W. Va., who were in a party of five making a semi-annual survey of the mine.

Alexander Williams, the fifth engineer, was saved.

The party of engineers was making an inspection and survey of the mine and happened to be close by when the explosion occurred.

MANSION OF KENTUCKY EXECUTIVE UNDER GUARD

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 18.—Police-men are guarding the executive mansion of Kentucky tonight, assigned there at the request of Governor Willson. Fears that the historic house may be set on fire, the food taken in for the use of the governor's household may be poisoned are responsible for the guard.

Some time ago Governor Willson discharged an employee who had worked on the place. This employee continued to get his meals from the executive kitchen until the governor found it out and ordered him from the place. Later occurred the poisoning of the governor's chickens.

NON-UNION MINER RIDDLED WITH BULLETS

Frederick, Colo., Nov. 18.—N. Paulos, a non-union Greek miner, at the Evans coal mine, just outside the town limits, where a strike of the union miners has been in progress for more than a year, was shot and killed tonight at the bunk house of the mine. Eight non-union men were in the bunk house at the time of the killing and they state that Paulos went to the door in answer to a knock and a hail of bullets from the outside came when the door was opened.

The Silver Situation.
After a long period of monotony and very small fluctuations in price, silver has at last shown a tendency to advance to a higher level. In part this is due to a better position with regard to the Indian crops, and to the fact that the early marketing of some of those crops has considerably reduced the currency reserves in that country. The Chinese situation is not clear. The serious nature which the rebellion in that country has assumed may be expected to disturb trade; but so far it has only resulted in an apparent determination to hold the known reserves of silver, and in checking the sales of the metal to India which have helped to keep down the price. China has not been a buyer, but it has almost ceased to be a seller, and it is not easy to predict how long this position will last.—Engineering and Mining Journal.
