ANOTHER BATTLE NEAR SANTIAGO!

Gen. Pando Wounded in Battle With Cuban Insurgents.

CAPTURE OF ALPHONSO XII. AT HAVANA.

New York, July 6.—A dispatch to the Herald from Kingston, Jamaica, says: Refugees arriving from Santiago report that Assistant Naval Constructor Richmond P. Hobson and several of his men have been ill with climatic fever in Santiago since Saturday. They are being well cared for, being attended by Spanish and English physicians. They have excellent quarters in the leading hotel of the city.

Another of the Spanish leaders, General Pando, has fallen in battle, but his troops, numbering 7,000, succeeded in getting into the city of Santiago. This interesting news is obtained from refugees who arrived from Santiago on the British man-of-war Falala and the Austrian warship Maria Teresa. Pando was seriously wounded in the arm while commanding his troops in battle at La Palma, at which point General Garcia, with several thousand troops, attempted to prevent his further advance towards Santiago. After the battle Pando's men proceeded towards the city, finally entering without difficulty. Pando was carried by his troops and is being cared for on the disabled Spanish cruiser Reina Mercedes. It is said that the Cubans under Garcia made a stubborn fight. They were not much for the 7,000 trained soldiers under the Spanish general, although they checked the enemy's progress for a time.

CUBAN EXPEDITION.

Cuban Volunteers from Florida safely land on the Isla d.

Washington, July 6.—The Cuban expedition in Cuba of the second expedition of Cuban volunteers from the United States under command of General Emilio Nunez. The expedition left the coast of Florida on the steamer Florida, June 25, and landed at Punta Cana on the 30th. On the transports besides 250 Cuban volunteers were two dynamite guns, 4,000 Springfield rifles and a large quantity of ammunition.

MAY SAVE THE COLOR.

One of Cervera's vessels Out of Danger on the Beach.

Off Santiago, July 4, 6 p.m., via Port Antonio.—During the pursuit of the Spanish fleet on Monday the Brooklyn was struck half a dozen times, but no injury was done to any other of the American ships. The Spanish flag was hoisted down from the Infanta Maria Teresa while the Virginia's men were swimming ashore at Aguadores. After the flag was hoisted down, Cuban soldiers, concealed in the brush, fired at the Spaniards, arousing the indignation of the American sailors. The Cristobal Colon's crew was taken on board the Oregon. Several hours after the Colon went ashore, head on. She floated and was beginning to sink. The New York then rammed her several times, using fenders, and pushed her up on the beach without injury to either vessel. It is hoped she will be saved to become a part of the United States navy.

Spain is Whipped.

Madrid, July 6.—The police and military squadrons around the palace, ministers' houses and public offices have been reinforced by special orders. Trouble is evidently apprehended. The war is costing Spain $28,000,000 a month and at this pace she cannot keep up six months without suspending all interest on her sinking fund and debts.

Want Peace.

London, July 6.—The Madrid correspondent of the Daily Telegraph sent a dispatch to-day saying: "I am informed that peace will be demanded to day."

Thanks to Schley.

Washington, July 6.—In the senate, Pettigrew introduced a resolution tendering the thanks of congress to Commodore Schley and the men under him for gallant conduct in the destruction of the Spanish fleet at Santiago. It occasioned some debate. Hale said no one knew who was entitled to the credit of the great victory. Pettigrew said he introduced the resolution to remove, in a measure, an erroneous impression that Sampson had won the most remarkable naval battle of the world. The resolution went to the committee on naval affairs.

Inspector-General.

Washington, July 6.—The president today sent in the nomination to the senate of Perry Belmont to be inspector-general with the rank of major in the volunteer army.

Congress Will Adjourn.

Washington, July 6.—Senator Allen expressed the opinion to-day that congress will adjourn before the close of the present week.

Steamers Collide.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 6.—The steamer State of New York, with 200 passengers, collided with the whaleback steamer Perry Cort in the lake three miles from the city early to-day. The State of New York was badly damaged, and was towed back to this port. No one was killed or injured.

HAD TO KILL THEM.

Spanish Prisoners Mutilated When Placed on the Harvard.

Washington, July 6.—A special to the Evening Star, dated off Santiago via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 5, says: After the destruction of the Spanish fleet some 450 men on the Maria Teresa were placed prisoners on the Harvard. These men mutilated, but the officers and crew of the Harvard were not unprepared, and the mutilations were fired upon. Six Spaniards were killed outright and twelve wounded. This restored quiet.

Will Raise the Spanish Ships.

New York, July 6.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "I think it may be practicable to raise the Cristobal Colon and possibly one or two other of the Spanish ships." This is the reply made by Rear Admiral Sampson to Secretary Long's cablegram inquiring if it will be possible to float any of the wrecked Spanish men of war and add them to the American navy.

Struck in the Canal.

Ismaella, Egypt, July 6.—The machinery of the Spanish battleship Playa is out of order, and she has been compelled to stop here since early this morning. Ismaella is on the Suez canal at equal distance between the Red sea and the Mediterranean sea.

SPAIN WANTS PEACE.

The fiery Don Know When They Are Well Whipped.

Madrid, July 6.—Senor Silveira, liberal leader, has declared that the present situation is more favorable to peace than war. But, he adds, the government alone can judge what ought to be done in the present circumstances, and he would support the government in any determination that it may reach.

The military party and the Carlites are anxious for the war to continue. Premier Sagasta says that he will see what effect the loss of the Spanish squadron has upon Spain before deciding upon his course.

Popular outbursts are feared and the palace is strongly guarded.

Captured the Alfonso.

Key West, Fla., July 6.—It is reported here that the Spanish warship Alfonso XII attempted to run the blockade out of Havana and was captured by an American cruiser. Two more ships are expected to-day from Santiago with seriously wounded soldiers.

Places Filled.

Chicago, July 6.—Chicago papers are publishing to-day. Stereotypes who struck have been dismissed and their places supplied by non-union men.

Dead.

London, July 6.—Dr. Cornelius Herz, of Panama Canal, reportedly died at Bouremout at 3 o'clock this morning.

Spanish Prisoners.

Washington, July 6.—Sampson has been directed to send his prisoners to the United States. Possibly the Harvard will bring some. The St. Louis is filled with wounded soldiers, and cannot be used to convey the Spanish sailors. The enlisted men and non-commissioned officers will be sent to Portsmouth, N. H., where they will be confined on Seavey's island. The commissioned officers, from Cervera down to ensigns, will be sent to Fort Warren, Boston harbor.

Quiet at Santiago.

Washington, July 6.—Secretary Alger has received the following from General Staffer this morning: "Camp near Santiago, July 5.—Captains Alger and Sewall and Mr. Corbin are well. I am feeling better. Had hoped to be up this morning, but as everything is quiet will remain still. General Wheeler is feeble, but remains with his command. General Young leaves for Key West to-day. General Hawkins slightly wounded in the foot; all others well."

HAWAII IS OURS.

Bill Annexing the Islands Passed United States Senate.

Washington, July 6.—There will be a vote on the Hawaiian question. It is expected, within the next 48 hours.

WILL VOTE TO-MORROW.

Washington, July 6.—It is expected that a vote will be taken on the Hawaiian resolution to-morrow.

Washington, July 6.—The senate has passed the Hawaiian resolutions. The vote on the final passage was 42 to 21. They will be signed by the president to-morrow.

Spanish Commandant at Santiago.

Kingston, July 6.—Brigadier General Vara del Rey, second in command to General Linares, having been killed on Sunday, and General Linares having been wounded, General Toral is chief of the command in Santiago.

MINING CONGRESS.

Ex-Governor Prince Presiding at the International Mining Congress.

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 6.—The International Mining Congress was called to order this morning by ex-Governor Prince of New Mexico. State banners were displayed showing representation from thirty-four states. Prayer was offered by Angus M. Cannon. Addresses of welcome were made by Governor Wells and Mayor Clark. Responses were by W. S. Montgomery of Colorado and Mr. Yates, delegate from Venezuela.

Secretary Johnson read the official call for the congress and outlined some feature of which was to take active steps toward securing a department of the national government to be known as the department of mines and mining, the secretary of which shall be a cabinet officer. President Prince delivered an address in which he gave a general review of the mining industry of the country.

Sergeant Sherman All Night.

Mr. Horace K. Sherman received a cablegram this morning from her husband, who is first sergeant of Troop F, Roosevelt's "Rough Riders," stating that he was all right, but that the battle was very warm. He states that his half-brother George Davis, was slightly wounded, and that his brother, Hatch, was supposed to be fatally wounded.

To the Public.

An unsolicited contribution to the funds of the Soldiers' Aid society was received this morning from patriotic citizens of Chilili, in this county, accompanied by the following letter, which explains itself:

CHILILI, N. M., July 4, 1898.

Mrs. J. H. Wright, Albuquerque:

Dear Madam:—Enclosed find check for twenty-five dollars ($25) subscribed to Soldiers' Aid society as follows:

Chilili, N. M. 25.00
Wm. McGinnis 5.00
Wm. McGinnis 5.00
Wm. McGinnis 5.00
John McGinnis 5.00

Very respectfully,
This society the total amount contributed by the people of Chilili, New Mexico, and vicinity to the sum of $25.00, in addition to which amount $7.50 was taken in at the last night from the sale of articles left over from the entertainment, making a grand total of $32.50.

It is expected that all accounts will be presented and audited at the meeting of the society to-morrow, and an itemized statement of the receipts and disbursements will be published as soon thereafter as practicable.

Very respectfully,

KELLA B. WRIGHT, Treasurer.

A Business Room For Rent.

French Passenger Ship Sunk and Many Lives Lost.

CAMARA'S FLEET GETS THROUGH CANAL.

Halifax, July 6.—Allan line steamer Greeting is entering the harbor with the ship Cromartyshire in tow. On July 5, at 5 a.m., sixty miles south of Sable Island, the Cromartyshire collided with the French liner La Bourgogne, and the latter sank. Six hundred passengers and crew were drowned. Two hundred including one woman was saved. La Bourgogne was bound from New York for Havre.

Halifax, N. S., July 6.—The log of the Cromartyshire, signed by Capt. Henshaw, is as follows:

"July 4—5 a.m.—Dense fog; position of ship, south of Sable Island; ship going about four or five knots an hour. Our fog horn was being kept going regularly every minute. At that time heard a steamer's whistle on our weather side, or port beam, which seemed to be nearing very fast. We blew the horn and were answered by the steamer's whistle, when all on a sudden she loomed through the fog on our port bow and crashed into us going at a terrific speed. I immediately ordered the boats out and went to examine the damage. I found our boats completely cut off and the plates twisted.

The other ship disappeared through the fog. However, our ship was floating on the collision bulkhead, so there seemed no immediate danger of sinking. We set to work immediately to clear the wreckage and ship our starboard anchor, which was hanging over the starboard bow and in danger of punching holes in the bow. I heard the steamer blowing her whistle on coming back, and we answered with the fog horn. The steamer then threw up a rocket and fired a shot. We also threw up some rockets and fired shots; we never saw nor heard anything.

About 5:30 the fog lifted somewhat and we saw two boats pulling towards us with the French flag flying. We signalled them to come along side. One of the boats was the La Bourgogne from New York, for Havre and had gone down. We laid to all day and received on board about 900 survivors from amongst the passengers and crew, reported to be in all about 600. Several passengers were on life rafts without oars. I called for volunteers from among my crew and surviving French seamen to bring those rafts along side the ship. Some passengers and seamen from the sunken steamer assisted us and we jettisoned some thirty-six tons of cargo from our forehold in order to lighten the ship. About 3 p.m. another steamer here in sight, bound westward. We put up our signals "want assistance." Shortly after the steamer hove toward us. She proved to be the Greekian, bound from Glasgow to New York. At 6 p.m. we had made connections and proceeded in tow of the Greekian toward Halifax. There was at that time fourteen feet of water in the forepeak."

Mrs. Henderson, wife of the captain, was on board the Cromartyshire with her two children. She had ample opportunity of interviewing those rescued and expressed the belief that there had been no efforts to save the women. There were many foreigners on board, who sought for places in the boats. Nearly all the first class passengers were lost, those saved being storage passengers and sailors.

Prof. La Case and his wife were in the water eight hours clinging to the raft before they were picked up by a boat from the Cromartyshire. When the ships struck, the passengers, with the sole exception of Prof. La Case, were below deck. Without warning came the terrible shock. La Case rushed to his state room on the saloon deck and got his wife out of bed and partly dressed. They hastened on deck only to be precipitated into the water. They found a partly submerged raft upon which La Case lifted his unconscious wife and clung to it himself. Some of the boats, La Case says, capsized and all on board were drowned.

HUNDREDS OF PASSENGERS.

New York, July 6.—Inquiry at the French line offices concerning the number of people on La Bourgogne showed that there were eighty-five first class passengers. The remainder of the list, it was explained, was made up of second class passengers, and was not quite complete. No record is obtainable of the remainder of the second class people nor third class. This makes the total number of persons on board, according to the best information obtainable, 725, as follows: Eighty-five first class, 125 second class, 250 third and 250 crew.

Ann Arbor, Mich., July 6.—Prof. E. L. Walter, who occupies the chair of romantic languages and literature in the University of Michigan, was on board La Bourgogne.

Washington, July 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Pollock, of this city, were on La Bourgogne. Mr. Pollock is senior member of the law firm of Pollock & Mauro, and is a man of large means.

Halifax, N. S., July 5.—Mrs. L. A. Case, language teacher of Plainville, N. J., was the only woman saved from La Bourgogne. She was rescued by her husband.

Kansas City, July 6.—On La Bourgogne were the entire family of John Perry, of the firm of Keith & Perry, this city, one of the biggest coal and lumber firms of the southwest. They include Mrs. John Perry, Katherine, aged six years; Miss Florence and Sadie, twins aged about twenty years and A. Perry, aged eleven.

Philadelphia, July 6.—Two Philadelphiaans on La Bourgogne were Frances Penn Steel, Jr., aged 24, and sister, Gertrude, aged 17. The Steel family is wealthy and prominent.

Cleveland, July 6.—R. A. Angel, of the law firm of Webster, Angel & Co., was a passenger on La Bourgogne. He was on his way to Switzerland to join his wife and two children. R. Scott Evans, a former Cleveland artist, was also on the ill-fated ship, with three daughters.

Chicago, July 6.—Among the passengers on La Bourgogne were R. R. Kunkel and wife. Kunkel was vice president of the Chicago Economist; Mrs. Edwin K. Ogden and son, Miss Harriet M. Tower, assistant principal of the Garfield school; Miss Floy Reeves and Miss Hees, Leeds' institute. Mrs. Runkel, Miss Reeves, Miss Tower and Miss Hees went as delegates to the World's Fair school convention in London.

WILL NOT SURRENDER.

Santiago will be Bombarded To-Morrow by Shafter.

Copyright Associated Press.

Before Santiago, July 4, via Port Antonio, Jamaica, July 6.—Not a shot has been exchanged between the opposing armies since yesterday noon. At the request of the foreign consuls, General Shafter has extended until to-morrow the period in which General Linares may agree to surrender his forces under threat that the town will be bombarded. The Spanish general's decision is doubtful. It is unquestionably true that the annihilation of Cervera's fleet was a staggering blow to him, but Mr. Hammond, the British consul, says that Pando has reinforced Linares with 5,000 troops, and the Spaniards are bitterly determined to fight it out. Linares would probably be shot if he surrendered. The attitude of the officers was expressed in Linares' reply to Shafter yesterday: "This garrote dips, but never surrenders!" The soldiers, however, are not so determined as the officers.

Outrageous Treatment.

Washington, July 6.—The following cablegram has been received at the white house from Mrs. Clara Barton, dated Albany, Col., July 5: "Eight hundred wounded have reached here from the front since Friday morning. Surgeons and litter equals have worked night and day. Hospital accommodations are in adequate and many of the wounded lie on the water-soaked ground."

Fleet Got Through Canal.

Suez, July 6.—The Spanish fleet commanded by Admiral Camara arrived here and has been notified by the officials of the Egyptian government that it must leave this port within 24 hours. Camara will not be allowed to coal here.

ALBUQUERQUE, — JULY 6, 1908

The Spanish battleship Pelayo is stuck in the Suez canal.

COMMODORE SCHLEY deserves distinguished promotion for his work in the destruction of Cervera's fleet.

Now that the war with Spain is almost over, let's all tackle the Territorial Fair, and make it a grand success.

The United States will have an army and navy in a few months that will be invincible against any foe on land or sea.

The army and navy continue to maintain a remarkable standard of health, which excites the surprise and admiration of all who have studied the science of warfare.

BLAINEBERRY's reports business failures fewer than for four years. The United States can whip Spain, or any other old country, and do business at the old stand right along.

THE CITIZEN is working to help secure the early building of a wagon bridge across the Rio Grande, on the wagon road between Thornton and Bland. The bridge is badly needed.

The war with Spain has opened our eyes to the possibilities of our national expansion. It has shown us that our position should be foremost among the powers of the globe.

THE government is being brought very close to the people these days. Every time a citizen affixes a revenue stamp to a document he must realize that he has a share at least in the expenses of the war.

THE CITIZEN guarantees that a regiment of native New Mexican volunteers can be secured for the war with Spain. They are patriotic and will go to the front when called upon in defense of the stars and stripes.

The total deposits in national banks on May 5 last amounted to $1,959,308,438, an increase of over $214,000,000 as compared with May 14, 1907; of nearly $311,700,000 as compared with May, 1906; of over $308,300,000 as compared with May, 1905, and of over $328,300,000 as compared with May, 1904.

An exchange says: "You can tell a business man by the way he advertises every time. A business man who is too close to advertise is too close to give you dollar for dollar in goods. There may have been a time—before the ark was built and everybody knew everybody—when it was not necessary to advertise to do business, but that was several years ago. Watch our columns if you wish to know where to buy."

An exchange asks: "Who is the home merchant?" and then proceeds to answer in this way: "He is the man who helps pay for the streets you walk upon, for the school in which your children, and perhaps you, were educated; he helps to keep up the church in which you worship. He is a man who builds a home, which enhances the value of your property. Every subscription that is passed his name is on it. He is the man who cannot afford to swindle you. Self-interest, if not nothing else, would prevent this. He bears his share of the good government, and stays with you through sunshine and darkness—in the days of prosperity and adversity. There are but a few of the reasons why your patronage should be given to the home merchant."

A FALSEHOOD.—A few days ago THE CITIZEN published a communication from Santa Fe, which stated that the recruiting officer from the capital city had visited Santa Cruz, a village near by, and could get no recruits, and that the Spanish priest there had waved a Spanish flag and prevented any one from enlisting. One of the leading citizens of Santa Fe, a resident of the place for many years, writes to THE CITIZEN as follows:

"No doubt you know long before this that the Santa Cruz incident referred to by 'Capital' was entirely imaginary. The fact seems to be that the persons who went up from Santa Fe were in such a condition that they thought the religious procession on St. Peter's day was a hostile army and the banner of the Saint was a Spanish flag! It is a horrible outrage on New Mexico that such stuff should be allowed to be repeated. The priest there is an inoffensive young man who probably never saw a Spanish flag and doesn't know what color it is."

A CAST OFF ISSUE.—To the democratic party of to-day statehood is a sacred task; the only game they are allowed to play is politics. They fly from issue to issue; they have no abiding principles. Institute of capital or a permanent vacation, democracy lives from hand to mouth. In 1892 that party declared the tariff to be the only vital issue. In 1896 at the expense of all claims to consistency and sincerity, its national convention asserted in effect, that for twenty years the one fundamental question before the American people had been that of the free coinage of silver. Now they are getting ready to cast off the 16 to 1 doctrine as a man would an old suit of clothes.

By an overwhelming vote the democratic convention of the state of Pennsylvania refused to wear allegiance to Bryan and the silver plank of the Chicago platform. Well, why not? Did not Bryan himself abandon the old issue by his hot haste to don a uniform and catch step with the music of 1896? Has he not for months studiously ignored the currency question? The boy orator has laid down his new platform: "Vigorous war against Spain, but no increase of territory." At one tremendous leap he has traversed the distance which separated the extremist of 1893 from the mugwump of 1895.

COMPANY A.
Capt. Borradaile's excellent company of volunteers will leave for Whipple Barracks, Prescott, Arizona, this evening, and they will carry the good wishes of the whole city. Most of the company are residents of the city. They leave good homes and good positions to uphold the stars and stripes in foreign lands. They will acquire themselves with credit and reflect glory upon the city and territory. This city sent a gallant company of Rough Riders with Roosevelt, and they have borne the brunt of battle in Cuba and made a name for themselves that will last while history is written and read. The men who are going with Capt. Borradaile are equally brave, and on any battlefield they will cheerfully face any foe of the United States. The whole city is today united in trying to do them honor. God bless our volunteers and bring them home again! is the prayer of the patriotic people of Albuquerque.

OLD GLORY.
Flag of a thousand battles, floating from sea to sea, waving from lake to ocean, waving from flag to flag.

Outward and seaward ever, from the rising sun to the setting, upward and seaward ever, from the rising sun to the setting.

Old Glory, Old Glory, the world awaits thy story.
Plant on, float over our land and sea;
Old Glory, Old Glory, the world awaits thy story.
Plant on, float over our land and sea;
Old Glory, Old Glory, the world awaits thy story.
Plant on, float over our land and sea;
Old Glory, Old Glory, the world awaits thy story.
Plant on, float over our land and sea;

SMITH BOILED OVER.
The "Dog Catcher" Grew Jealous and Wickedly Assailed His Wife.
If all the dogs, little and large in Albuquerque were only made cognizant of their arch-enemy, "Dog Catcher" George Smith was in danger of being would probably about the expense of the country for some months, they would have a declaration of independence and dogdom would have a Fourth of July celebration on a large scale. Smith, black, burly and brutal, was arrested on the 4th for chastising his wife with a club. He had a hearing before Justice Ribble last yesterday afternoon and was bound over in the sum of $250 to await the action of the grand jury. His wife was present and exhibited her head and hand to the court, which were both bruised. She asserts that the assault was unprovoked and totally unexpected, while Smith declares that there was another song-sambian in the wood-pile. That very rare curiosity, a red-headed son of Adam, was in her company when Smith began the assault, but the man escaped, so Smith says.

EXONERATES TREAT.
Frank Moore Does Not Blame Treat—Wife at Bedside of the Dying Man.
An examination was made by Dr. P. G. Cornish of the wound of Frank Moore caused by bullets from a revolver in the hands of Jesse R. Treat. The physician has very little hope of Moore's recovery. A statement was signed by Moore, in which he exonerates Treat from being the cause of his being wounded, confessing that he began the trouble in the round-house office which ended so disastrously to him. Moore's divorced wife, over whom the trouble started between the two men, has been in constant attendance at the dying man's bedside. Since Moore has made a statement of ill-feeling that arose publicly against Treat has turned to one of sympathy for him. He still enjoys his liberty, pending Moore's wounds terminating fatally, when he will have his hearing. Dr. Cornish returned from Winslow last evening.

WOODMEN NOTICE.
The Woodmen of the World will dedicate the monument over the grave of Sovereign Robt. J. Dunsmore on Sunday, July 10, 1908. The Woodmen will form in procession at Knights of Pythias hall at 2 p. m. and headed by the band will march through the streets and thence to the cemetery where the dedication will take place. All members of the camp are requested to be present at the hall at two p. m. sharp. The public is invited to attend the ceremony. Hon. T. A. Fennell will make an address. By order of the C. C. D. E. PHILLIPS, Clerk.

A roll of five carpet, some of the remnants of the life of B. B. Fire, came very near being hypothesized to the use of two laetae last night. Since the fire the carpets have been used and dried on the vacant lot corner of Fourth street and Railroad avenue, and the afterward roll was forgotten last night and left out. A. S. Slick, p. m., the wife of an ex-member of the fire department, noticed the roll and to purloin the carpet by two Indian women, assisted by a man and son, the fire department, Warden of the firm, was notified, who in a few minutes had the carpet rolled up and put out of the way of the prospective thieves.

THE CITIZEN understands that Prof. L. von Fennar is a candidate for drum major of the regimental band of Capt. Borradaile's Company A. He has studied at home and abroad and would make a good leader. He gave up the position of teacher of string instruments and conductor of the University orchestra to join Company A.

James Wadley, a young man coming from Prescott, A. T., has been engaged at the "Zaffa Grocery Company."

GRAND ADDRESS BY U. FRANCIS DUFF! Delivered to Patriotic San Marcial on the Fourth of July.

TEEMS WITH LOVE FOR OUR COUNTRY.

On this great, historic day, the anniversary of the birth of a mighty people, we meet together to thank a beneficent Providence for all its goodness in the past, and implore a continuance of its favor. May our humble cry in this hour be:

"Lord God of hosts, be with us yet. Let us not, in these troublous times, when we are giving ourselves up to vain boasting and loud clamor, but rather may we face the unknown and immutable future with calmness, with steadfastness, with that quiet determination that dares and dares not. Let us, O friends, be truly great!—great with that high, self-contained reasonableness that has been commanding the respect of all men since time began. What matter though we have been underrated, hunted, jeered at? They all know now. Since that memorable day when Dewey sailed into Manila harbor and swept it clean, many former conceptions in regard to the United States have been very radically revised. We have endured much, suffered and submitted to much, but that is the American way. 'Tis the price that greatness pays for being great. Alas, that the price should sometimes be so high!"

This endurance has led to a vital misconception of us on the continent of Europe, those powers which stand ever with hand on hilt, ready to loose the dogs of war. They could not conceive the situation; they understood not that behind that placid, careless front, slept many passions that would better not be roused to action. Time, which makes all things even, went on; the hour struck and the drums began to beat. They aroused, like the noise of many waters. "The great heart of the people, throbbing, answered, Lord, we come!"

On the morning of May 1st, our great commodore, ignoring the mines with which the harbor mouth was planted, steamed into Manila bay. When the sun rose over that placid sheet of water, it looked down upon a sight such as in all its wanderings since time began, that unwinning eye had not before beheld. There the great scaled dragons of the sea with frowning ports glared at each other across the narrow space. And even as its first rays fell upon them, gliding and shining steel and polished brass with radiant glory, the thin cloud-curtain of fog was drawn up by invisible hands and the drama opened with that one hoarse cry sent up by the bustle of the flagship: "Remember the Maine!"

And that cry, which might cause the very stones to rise, went ringing up through the vast spaces to the blue heavens, beseeching not vengeance but justice. Then in that narrow space broke forth the fires of hate and of hell. "Twas "Fire and hail and yawning sea. And our ships were wrecked!" Above the crashing of rent and splintered steel rose the barking of the Colts, the rattling of the Maxims and the roaring thunder of the heavy guns. Then an intermission, and again that awful chorus breaks forth. From the mast head of a burning ship a white flag darts; the greatest naval victory the world has ever known is won, and the American people become a great factor upon that great stage on which appear so many tragedies, so many comedies, and so many melodramatic farces, following each other like shadows in swift procession—the wide stage from which the histories of the peoples of the earth are presented.

This much, O gallant commodore, who as a bare-foot boy played upon the stony fells and rock-ridden hills of old Vermont, may one man—one capable man of decision—do.

"The Spartans, with a French-like glorification, boasted of little Thermopylae, where three hundred men in a narrow pass between the mountains and the sea, held the whole Persian army at bay. But in all history there is no greater example of courage and heroism than the act performed by Lieut. Hobson and his men in taking in and sinking the Merrimac across the harbor mouth at Santiago de Cuba. It was such an action as makes us have faith in men—a story to preserve and hand down through the ages. These men literally passed through the valley of the shadow of death.

It is said that when Admiral Sampson called for volunteers for this dangerous mission, the whole fleet expressed a desire to go. Every man was a hero.

By the way, it is not necessary that one should face shot and shell to be this; duty and death may be found in many forms. Some years ago, when an engine on the monitor Amphitrite broke down, it was only the prompt action of a coal-bearer, one Bill Sweeney, that saved her from destruction.

"Bill Sweeney is the Bill Sweeney who, when the staffed engine broke, he stays below in scalding steam. Where a man was like to choke! And he dodges the flyin' cranks, says Bill, And he climbs just that hammerin' rod! The rest all run. Every mother's son. But he shuts her off, thank God!"

There are heroes of peace as well as heroes of war. He who with hand upon the throttle sleeps into the night, he who swings the hammer or handles the plane, serves his country as truly as man can. Not all can go to the front, and he who remains renders also an important service.

As to England's attitude in the present crisis, there are probably some Americans who do not credit them with as much disinterestedness as really exists on their part. While a polite people, as their great interests demand that they shall be, they are a stubborn race, and are very apt to stand upon the side of right and humanity. It has been said that if they are a nation without sentiment, but if this were examined into, I think there would be found, deep down in the hearts of oak, too. Ours was inherited from them, and we seem to think it is all right, at any rate.

ROYAL RECEPTION.
The Members of Company A Will Not Soon Forget Last Night.
A large and enthusiastic gathering of friends and well-wishers of Company A assembled at the Armory hall last evening and sang the drill of our newly made soldiers, who, with a few more days' practice in the drill will pass for veterans in the exercise. The occasion was in the nature of a farewell reception tendered to the company by their very warm friends, the ladies of the Soldiers' Aid Society.

His excellency, Governor Otero, was present, and as the boys stood at "attention" after the drill the governor made a few remarks, in which he commended "our boys" on their fine appearance in the drill, and he bespoke for the company that it would appear at an advantage in the battalion and would be the best company in the regiment. The governor then called upon his friend, Hon. Ralph E. Twitchell, to make an address. That gentleman gave a good talk to the soldiers, in which he told of the admiration that was felt for them and presaged that they would return home covered with glory.

Other speakers were Mrs. J. W. Harding, who is sending a son with Company A as sergeant; Hon. Thomas Wilkinson, and Dr. A. F. Morris also delivering appropriate, well worded, patriotic addresses, emphasizing the New Mexico soldiers at the front and those about to depart for the scene of battle.

Attorney Ad. H. Wycoff, a member of the company, then arose and gave an impromptu address, thanking the speakers on behalf of his comrades for the kind words that had been said, and expressing gratitude to the Soldiers' Aid society for the interest the society had shown in the soldiers' welfare. Mr. Wycoff declared that he knew his associates in Company A would ever remember the consideration shown them by Albuquerque's people, and in their battles, if they were called upon to do battle, they would make a record for themselves, the city and territory that they were going to represent. His earnest words were frequently interrupted by enthusiastic applause from his audience and Mr. Wycoff was tendered an ovation at the beginning and at the close of his address. During the brief intervals following the speakers, vocal and instrumental music were introduced. Miss Arnette Owen sang very charmingly a solo, "Fighting on the Old Camp Ground," a quartette, comprising Misses Maud Summers, Alger, Haman and Kellogg, sang the nation's patriotic song, "Then the soldier boys were treated to a fine luncheon, prepared by those noble women of the Soldiers' Aid society.

An Arizona editor who wrote up a wedding which had not taken place thus very neatly explains matters: "Apology is due to the parties concerned. We don't often get caught in this way, but this time we were told so confidently by honest folks that the wedding was a fact that we took the bait and wrote the item. We sometimes feel like the venerable Scotchman who, as he read King David's words, viz., 'I said in my haste all men are liars,' blurted out: 'Ah, man, if ye had lived in Scotland, ye might have taken your time about it!'"

Rev. O. Parker, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Gallup, and general missionary between Gallup and Needles, makes the following appointments: Williams, on Wednesday evening; Flagstaff, Tuesday evening; and Kingman, Friday evening. On Sunday, at Gallup, the celebration of the Holy communion 7 a. m.; literary sermon and Holy communion, 11 a. m.; Evening, prayer and sermon, 8 p. m. To all these services the public is cordially invited.

Jerry Brobban, a colored teamster, tackled the tiger in the Coheiti saloon last evening and was slightly clawed. He expostulated with the tiger's manager, or the dealer as he is known locally, alleging unfitness. Then the two got in a scrap and an officer appearing Brobban was cited to appear before Justice Ribble. Nobody being hurt in the scuffle, Brobban was discharged.

Owen Dineale, the proprietor of the Kio cafe on Railroad avenue, is receiving the thanks of the Soldiers' Aid society for making a donation of 200 sandwiches for the luncheon given to the boys of Company A last evening.
