LOS ANGELES IN THROES OF BITTER FIGHT

Struggle Between Socialist and Good Government Forces Reaches Point Where Bloodshed Is Not Unexpected.

THOUSAND POLICEMEN GUARD POLLS TUESDAY

Charge Freely Made That McNamara Confession Was Hastened for Political Effect in Municipal Election.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—This city tonight is within 24 hours of what, it is admitted, will be the most strenuous municipal election in its history. The ballot will be taken Tuesday. Socialism and prohibition are the main issues, with a train of dire predictions in case they prevail, and over the whole situation, probably the most delicate one a city of 350,000 has ever called upon to face, lies the shadow of the McNamara dynamiting case, with its stunning climax of confession last Friday.

Job Harriman, socialist and formerly attorney for the McNamara brothers, is a candidate for mayor, with a full socialist ticket behind him. On the other side is the "good government" ticket, headed by Mayor George Alexander, which, from top to bottom, was yielded first place in the choice of the voters at the nominating primaries on October 31 last. At that time Harriman received a plurality of more than 6,000 over Alexander, but the startling end of the McNamara trial has thrown everything into chaos. The confusion resulting from the astounding confession of the dynamiters has left voters in a daze, and the outcome of the final balloting next Tuesday is a hazardous guess. Its decision lies in the hands of 180,000 voters, of whom 80,000 women have never cast a ballot.

A landslide for Alexander is the prediction of the good government advocates, either in the press or rostrally, but between capital and labor a city where labor unions have always been bitterly fought.

Only a slightly decided majority is the hazard of Harriman and his supporters.

In the struggle between the socialists and their opponents, complicated by the excitement and passions aroused by the McNamara case, the most drastic prohibition ordinance probably ever devised has been almost forgotten. It has lacked open advocates, either in the press or rostrally, and apparently is doomed to defeat. Should it be adopted, not only the sale but the manufacture of liquor would be prohibited within the city.

The developments of the day of balloting are causing the gravest apprehension. Coming after a period of mental and emotional excitement that was begun with the dynamiting of the Times building, anything is expected. Nothing would cause a riot and bloodshed is the forecast of some, in spite of a movement, fostered from pulpits, editorial sanctuaries and street corners, for the establishment of the "Golden Rule." The spirit of the Man of Nazareth, which has been invoked in the most remarkable campaign, Los Angeles has ever seen, but "to meet emergencies" the municipal authorities assembled today a force of 200 special officers, added to the regular forces of the police department and sheriff's office. These special officers, gathered from all parts of the country, will form an army of at least 1,000 men, who will be posted at 30 strategic points throughout the city.

Fifty automobiles have been secured to provide transit to any part of the city where the "Golden Rule" which seems to be most feared, shows signs of developing.

While the supporters of Alexander have been preaching brotherhood between capital and labor since the court developments Friday, the clerics and their advocates have met the situation militantly, asserting that the action of the McNamara brothers was the result of a "deal" by which the opponents of Harriman condoned the colossal crime of murder. "The other side," they declared, was willing to grant money to the slayers of 21 men, provided the criminals confessed in time to have an effect on the votes. The good government forces closed their campaign last night. Today, it was stated, a canvass of the city showed a majority of 44,000 for Alexander.

Beta have been made that Alexander would win by 10,000. The socialists, however, will continue working until the polls close. A fight was held by them this afternoon at Plaza park, at which there were 25,000 people, according to estimates. More meetings will be held tomorrow, both day and night.

Form Advisory Japanese Council.
San Francisco, Dec. 3.—An advisory council for the Japanese society of New York has been organized in this city. Lindsay Russell, president of the society, and Hamilton Holt, editor of the New York Independent, supervised the organization. The purpose of the society is to encourage international good will between the people of this country and those of Japan. Messrs. Russell and Holt recently arrived here from Tokyo, where an advisory council similar to the one formed here was organized.

PERSIANS DEMAND INDEPENDENCE OR DEATH

Ten Thousand Participate in Demonstration Before the American Legation; Want U. S. to Intervene.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Tehran, Dec. 3.—Ten thousand persons, carrying banners with the inscription, "Death or Independence," marched to the American legation today and appealed to the minister to urge the government to support the American principle of fair play and love of justice.

The English community here is aroused against Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, and think that Mr. Shuster, the treasurer-general of Persia, ought to be removed. The British correspondents here are making it plain in their dispatches that they believe the British foreign minister is ruining the prestige of his own countrymen, which might be regarded as "laughable, if it were not tragic."

The Persian cabinet resigned today. A small body of Cossacks have arrived to protect the Russian legation. Two hundred Cossacks have been ordered to the legation. The Russian troops at Reht have disarmed the local Persian militia and occupied the telegraph office. They are acting as though war had been declared.

Two thousand additional Russian troops have arrived 50 miles south of Reht.

RUSSIAN TROOPS ARE MARCHING ON TEHRAN

London, Dec. 4.—A Times dispatch from Tehran says advance parties of 400 Russian troops are reported to be nearing Tehran. It is probable, says the dispatch, that some resistance will be offered to the advance.

The Daily Telegraph's St. Petersburg correspondent says that if Persia accepts the ultimatum by the time the Russian troops reach Reht, the Russian troops will remain there until complete satisfaction is given.

UTAH SHERIFF FAILS TO PREVENT WEDDING

Great Falls, Mont., Dec. 3.—A telegram, a marriage license and a ceremony, hatched a Utah sheriff who came to take Charles L. O'Donnell, the first, to Salt Lake City yesterday to answer a charge of bigamy preferred by his first wife, who was Kate Hull of Omaha.

The Utah officer brought a requisition signed by Acting Governor Allen. O'Donnell's lawyer got telegraphic advice that the first Mrs. O'Donnell had been divorced December last at Lincoln, Neb., and secured a writ of habeas corpus which enabled O'Donnell to marry Ethyl Pearl Wilson, to whom he was first wedded two years ago.

Collier Sterling Rained.

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 3.—The naval collier Sterling was rained today at the mouth of Chesapeake bay by the American freight steamer Dorothy. The Sterling's commander, Captain Keen, seeing she would sink, headed toward the beach at Cape Henry. His prompt action probably saved the lives of the crew of fifty. The Dorothy was not seriously damaged.

BLAME DOCTOR FOR SPANISH PRINCESS SCARLET FEVER EPIDEMIC

People of Cedar City, Utah, Are Greatly Wrought Up Over Case of Alleged Gross Malpractice.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Salt Lake City, Dec. 3.—The development of dozens of cases of scarlet fever at Cedar City, Utah, in the last two weeks gave rise to a report that a leading physician there deliberately diagnosed a case of the fever as a milder malady and permitted the patient to mingle with the townspeople. "Business was poor and he needed the money," was the explanation attached to the scandal by the time it reached the state board of health in letters from wrought-up citizens. No one pretending to have personal knowledge of the alleged malpractice would make charges, and while the board of health was waiting for something definite upon which to proceed the physician attacked took compliance of the report.

In a letter written to the state board of health he declared that he had made no erroneous diagnosis; that the confusion grew out of the fact that measles and scarlet fever were epidemic simultaneously in Cedar City and that the patient diagnosed their own cases frequently as measles without consulting a doctor.

In communicating the telegram to the Times, the Infanta declared vehemently that after the base treatment of her son, who had shown great patriotic devotion in fighting in Morocco, this was the last straw. She had given orders for the sale of all her estates in Spain, she said, and would henceforth live in the strictest privacy.

"I shall be much happier," said the princess, "for I can keep my personality." While the book to which King Alfonso takes exception and which bears the title "The Thread of Life," has the name of Countess Avila on the title page, the preface, in which the author takes the responsibility for the views expressed, is signed "Eulalie, Infanta of Spain."

The work is written in French. It is a sort of independent treatise on morality. The chapter headings include such subjects as "The Principal Cause of Happiness," "The Development of Will Power," "Complete Independence of Women," for the princess is a radical feminist, and "Equality of Classes by Education, Religion and Marriage."

The royal monarch makes a determined onslaught on the traditionalists. She is in favor of divorce but thinks it should be a "law based on justice," not as often happens on "tacit agreement covering lust." The princess holds that woman in principle is the equal of man, and insists that she should become the useful collaborator, without ceasing to be the generous companion of man in the joys and labors of life.

Moderate Weather for This Week Predicted
Washington, Dec. 3.—There is no indication of unusually low temperatures the coming week in any part of the country, according to the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau, issued tonight. "The temperatures will average above the normal in all districts and the only change to colder weather in sight," says the bulletin, "will occur in the northeastern districts on Monday, following the eastward movement of a disturbance that was over the Ohio valley on Sunday."

Mechanic Dies of Injuries.
Savannah, Ga., Dec. 3.—From injuries received November 20 when riding as mechanic in the racing car from which Dr. Jay McNaw was thrown and killed, H. E. Maxwell, of Jacksonville, Florida, died at a local hospital today.

BURNS DECLARES GOMPERS KNEW OF M'NAMARAS' GUILT

American Federation of Labor President's Supposed Astonishment Is Make Believe, Says Detective.

HOLDS CONFERENCE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Meets United States Attorney Miller and Later Both Men Confer With John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—W. J. Burns, the detective who caused the arrest of the McNamara brothers, spent two hours here today in conference with United States District Attorney Miller and later the two met John Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, president of the National Association of Manufacturers at the home of David M. Parry, a former president of that organization.

Other than to admit that both conferences pertained to the investigation conducted by the federal grand jury here, Detective Burns would not talk regarding the meetings. When asked if he wished the McNamara trial had proceeded, the detective said:

"There would have been many interesting developments had the trial at Los Angeles continued to the end."

Mr. Burns said with emphasis that when Mr. Gompers stated that he was astonished when the McNamara brothers confessed as he had always believed them innocent, he was stating an untruth, as he had known all along that the brothers were guilty.

"Mr. Gompers knew all the time that the prisoners were guilty," added Burns.

Messrs. Kirby and Parry today sent a telegram to General Harrison Gray Otis, owner of the Los Angeles Times, praising him for his stand and congratulating him on the outcome of the case.

The federal grand jury will continue its investigation here on December 18.

GOMPERS PROMISES TO MAKE FORMAL STATEMENT

New York, Dec. 3.—"I probably shall have a formal statement to make, but positively not until I have returned to my headquarters in Washington and gone over the McNamara case thoroughly," Samuel Gompers said today.

"When will you return to Washington?" "Possibly tomorrow, but I have numerous engagements to keep which may take a week's time before I am ready to make my statement."

"Have your engagements today including conferences with labor leaders here?"

"Although I have seen a number of men, there have been no conferences but I propose to make no informal statements. Those I have made will stand and I will say nothing further until after thoroughly considering the matter."

"The demand of some labor leaders for the full penalty for the convicted men is said to be growing. Will you oppose it?"

"We will let the court sentence the men. I will not talk."

Late tonight Mr. Gompers reconsidered his decision not to have anything more to say on the McNamara case at present, and answered several questions put to him by newspaper reporters at his hotel.

He was asked about any knowledge he might have of the conference called by Attorney Flannery at Los Angeles preceding the McNamara plea of guilty, attended, it is said by at least one member of the Federation of Labor, Edward Nockels, secretary of the organization in Chicago.

Mr. Gompers reiterated his denial that he knew of the object of the conference.

"Until the whole thing came out in the newspapers I had not the faintest suspicion of an idea what the conference was about. I simply knew that Darrow had called some of the men to Los Angeles, but there was never a hint as to the object of the call."

Mr. Gompers asked if he could explain how he came to be kept in ignorance, replied:

"What we want to know is why we were kept in ignorance from the first. We had a right to know."

Asked if he blamed the men in charge of the case for not setting him straight, or Nockels for not reporting to him, he answered:

"Am I in any position to blame? Can I blame before I know more of what's happened?"

CHICAGO FEDERATION TAKES NO ACTION
Chicago, Dec. 3.—Although the Chicago Federation of Labor held a large meeting tonight, it simply passed the McNamara brothers was not brought up and no official recognition was given the matter. Delegates to the meeting, however, discussed the matter to some length after the meeting.

ST. LOUIS PRINTERS DEMAND FULL PENALTY

St. Louis, Dec. 3.—Members of Typographical Union No. 8 at the conclusion of a meeting today telegraphed their brethren in Los Angeles insisting that every effort be exerted to the end that the severest punishment be meted out to the McNamara brothers and all others who may have been guilty of participation in the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building. Resolutions were drawn declaring violence contrary to the principle of organized labor. Socialists and trade unions who met this afternoon in response to a call for a sympathy demonstration for the McNamara brothers discussed the turn of events in Los Angeles. Finally they drafted a resolution that the McNamara brothers be dealt with according to law. A telegram was sent to Job Harriman wishing him success in Tuesday's election.

BROOKLYN UNION WANTS DEFENSE FUND DIVERTED

New York, Dec. 3.—A proposal that the $100,000 subscribed by labor unions to aid the McNamara defense fund be turned over to the relatives of the victims of the Los Angeles Times disaster, was introduced at a meeting of the Central Labor union of Brooklyn today.

The McNamara brothers were severely arraigned, and the sympathy and support of the Brooklyn unions was promised to President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

CONFESSIONS WILL HELP UNION LABOR

Chicago, Dec. 3.—E. R. Wright, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, in an interview here today declared he saw in the confession of the McNamara brothers an encouraging sign for the law-abiding element of union labor.

"The confession," said Mr. Wright, "will do more to discourage violence in labor circles than anything that has happened anywhere in the United States. Personally I am sorry they confessed, and for this reason: During the campaign of the McNamara defense fund the highest officers of the American Federation of Labor encouraged us and gave personal guarantees that the McNamara brothers were innocent and were ready martyrs to the cause, and as a result many a laboring man gave up his dime or his quarter cheerfully in the belief that he was helping the cause."

Mr. Wright was asked if he believed the higher officers he referred to knew the facts of the McNamara case when the money campaign was being pushed, but he answered evasively. "To answer that question squarely might place me in a very compromising position," he said, "as you will have to excuse me if I fail to do so. We all contributed to the McNamara fund in the belief of their innocence, and the shock of their confession will be felt by union labor for a long time. It will tend to wipe out violence and in the end will win back to the cause whatever public sentiment may have shifted against us."

GREATEST BLOW TO UNIONS IN TWENTY YEARS

Norfolk, Va., Dec. 3.—Norfolk Typographical Union No. 32 today adopted resolutions demanding the maximum penalty for the McNamara brothers. Phillip J. Flynn of the local union, who addressed the printers, declared the confession of the McNamara brothers was the greatest blow dealt union labor in twenty years.

McMANGAL WILL BE RE-AUGUSTED IF FREED

Milwaukee, Dec. 3.—Orrie McMangal will be brought here for trial on a local dynamiting charge in 1910, if he is freed in the west, declares District Attorney Zabel.

McNAMARAS ARE DENOUNCED AS ENEMIES

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 3.—Denouncing the facts disclosed by the McNamara brothers as fiendish beyond the belief of the human mind, resolutions were adopted by the Atlanta Typographical Union today demanding that the McNamara brothers be connected with these and other crimes of like character and import. "Be given just penalties. The resolutions also declare that labor as a class cannot be held responsible for the acts of individuals."

CLEMENCY FOR GUILTY MEN RUTHLESSLY OPPOSED

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 3.—Resolutions denouncing the McNamara brothers were passed by the Chattanooga Typographical Union today. The resolutions strongly oppose clemency for the confessed dynamiters, and demand they be required to "pay the maximum penalty for their crime."

NO PUNISHMENT TOO SEVERE FOR SHAFROTH

Denver, Dec. 3.—The McNamara brothers are guilty there can be no punishment too severe for them, and they are undoubtedly guilty, because they confessed to the crimes.

This statement was given by Governor John F. Shafroth tonight when asked if he would offer comment on the McNamara plea of guilty.

Governor Shafroth preceded the above statement with another to the effect that he does not believe in reading accounts of murder cases, and that he had not read the proceedings in the McNamara case.

John McLennan, president of the Colorado State Federation of Labor, said that the local union assembly, also many of the local labor union organizations, would probably take some action with regard to expressing their opinions on the outcome of the McNamara case at regular meetings which are to be held next Sunday afternoon. President McLennan said no special meetings would be called so far as he knew at this time.

PROMINENT ELK DIES EULOGIZING BROTHERS

Grand Junction, Colo., Dec. 3.—While delivering the memorial address at the Elks lodge of sorrow, J. N. Bunting, editor and founder of the Grand Junction Evening Sentinel, collapsed with heart failure at 9:30 o'clock tonight, and died before he could be removed from the platform. Mr. Bunting was a former officer in the local lodge of Elks.

Honor for St. Louis Man.

San Francisco, Dec. 3.—Frederick James Volney Skiff of St. Louis has been appointed director in chief of the department of federation and domestic inspection for the Panama International exposition, according to the announcement made today by the exposition board of directors. Mr. Skiff will be in Washington tomorrow to see President Taft in connection with the duties of the department.

Power in Exhibition Flight.

Indianapolis, Dec. 3.—With ideal weather for flying and an enthusiastic crowd to cheer him Aviator Fowler gave an exhibition flight here this afternoon. He expects to fly to Galveston tomorrow.

GOVERNMENT TO UNCOVER STARTLING PLOT

One of Most Gigantic Conspiracies in Country's History Behind Dynamiting Outrages in Many States.

GUILTY ONES MUST ANSWER FOR CRIMES

Investigation Under Way to Bring to Justice Every Person Connected With Crimes Regardless of Station.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Los Angeles, Dec. 4.—The Los Angeles Examiner today prints a declaration that the first juror sworn in the McNamara case was bribed by the McNamara defense to influence her husband to secure a disavowal of the jury. A signed article by two reporters announces that John Hain, as well as his wife, informed them of the offering of the bribe and that a signed confession by Mrs. Hain was in the hands of District Attorney Fredericks.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—Plans for the federal investigation that may uncover the identity of men alleged to have been implicated with the McNamara brothers in dynamiting operations in many states, went forward in conferences in this city today.

Detective W. J. Burns discussed with United States District Attorney C. W. Miller the evidence to be presented to the federal grand jury when it resumes its sessions December 14. Neither would make a public statement in relation to the details of their consultation.

"We shall not rest until we have brought to justice all those connected with the dynamiting outrages throughout the country," said Mr. Burns. "I am no respecter of persons, and whether the men associated with the McNamara are 'higher up' or 'lower down' they will be prosecuted."

"Any exposures that may be made will come through indictments, if indictments are returned for violations of the federal statute regulating interstate transportation of explosives," said Mr. Miller, in talking in a general way of the grand jury's inquiry. In several different directions, he said, information was being prepared for the grand jury, tending to show that the McNamara, Orrie McMangal and "others" had violated the federal statute.

Along this line Mr. Burns conferred today with J. Kirby, Jr., president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and D. M. Parry, a former president of the organization, which is interested with the National directors association. It is said, in a crusade against degradations aimed at the employers that maintain the "open shop" principle.

The National Erectors association is represented in the scene of inquiry by J. J. Bader, assistant to Walter Drew, executive officer of the association. Mr. Bader arrived today. Several detectives in the employ of the association have been in the city for weeks and are working on the machinery of the men presumed to have been concerned with John J. McNamara's affairs during the years he was in this city as secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, which is a branch of the National Erectors' association.

"The fact that two men are to be punished for dynamiting is not the most important feature of this investigation," said Mr. Bader. "Members of the National Erectors' association are interested chiefly in exposing and bringing to justice the persons responsible for the explosion destructive of bridges and structural iron work since August, 1905, in many cases from Massachusetts to the Pacific coast."

"The properties destroyed by that of companies employing non-union iron workers. The cost of this campaign of terrorism was enormous, and it was systematically carried on. We assert that a number of men besides the McNamara were concerned in the plans for these explosions, and we propose to assist in every way in uncovering them. We shall lend every assistance to the federal authorities, and we have every assurance that the inquiry will be most thorough."

No information was available here tonight of the whereabouts of Frank Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' association. Acting Secretary H. S. Hoskin said he was advised that Mr. Ryan would arrive here tonight from Atlanta, where he was yesterday. He had heard nothing from him today, he said. He added that no meeting of the executive board of the Iron Workers' association would be called to take action in regard to the McNamara brothers until Mr. Ryan's return.

"Do you continue to affirm that you personally do not believe the executive board should regulate John J. McNamara as secretary-treasurer of the association?" Mr. Hoskin was asked.

"I have been quoted to that effect," he said, "but now I refuse to say whether or not I was quoted correctly."

CHRONIC HEADACHE OFTEN COMES

From Gas in Your Stomach

And if it does in your case, take BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS a few days and every bit of gas and headache will leave you for good. Because BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS stop the gas pressure against your heart, which rushes an undue amount of blood to your head and causes what is called congestive headache.

You cannot imagine how thoroughly and instantly BAALMANN'S GAS TABLETS prevent headache due to gas. It is simply wonderful how bright and clear they make your head feel.

DO TRY THEM.

These peculiar tablets are sold for 50c a bottle by nearly every druggist. If not in stock tell him to get them for you from his wholesaler, or send for them in silver, stamps or money order to J. Baalmann Co., 324 Sutter St., San Francisco.

California to Co-operate in Federal Investigation

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—The United States government and the California authorities are co-operating to uncover one of the most gigantic conspiracies ever conceived in the history of this country.

This was a declaration today of Assistant District Attorney W. Joseph Ford, second in command to District Attorney John D. Frederick, and the man who was arrested in Indianapolis for the alleged illegal extradition of John J. McNamara.

"It is only a question now of whether the federal authorities or the state authorities can reach certain persons better and bring them to justice more effectively," continued Mr. Ford.

The latter has been in charge of the gathering of evidence for the prosecution, and while his chief, District Attorney Frederick, was waiting on a ranch near here today, Ford occupied himself with the details of the McNamara case. He admitted that the prosecution had under surveillance in other parts of the country some prominent labor leaders, alleged to have been involved in the Times explosion, but said that arrests might first be made by the federal government in connection with its investigation.

"The federal government has shown every disposition to assist us, and we are helping them as much as possible," he declared.

The vigor with which the federal government is pressing its investigation into the conspiracy that is alleged to extend over the entire country, has been increased within the last fortnight, according to well-informed persons here, and in proof of this it is observed that United States District Attorney Miller of Indianapolis and District Attorney Frederick are in constant communication.

Evidence desired by the federal grand jury in Indianapolis from this place will be made ready as quickly as it is asked for, Ford said.

The ramifications of the matter are said to be so extensive that it would cause no surprise here if the subject had been brought to the attention not only of President Taft, but Attorney General Wickersham.

To give the prosecution here more elbow room in its campaign, a grand jury will be empaneled within a week, in fact immediately upon the return of Judge George B. Hutton, presiding magistrate of the superior court of Los Angeles county, who is now in Chicago.

M. A. Schmidt and David Kaplan, jointly indicted with the McNamaras for the Times disaster, have not been captured, but the state, it is believed, has good clue to their whereabouts, and they may be apprehended within a fortnight. But others, said to have had much to do with directing the destruction of the Los Angeles Times and with other explosions are reported to be implicated by information now in the hands of the state authorities and the federal government may be the first to bring them to trial.

Assistant District Attorney Ford declared that the state had entered into an agreement by which other prosecutions were to be circumvented by the confession of the McNamaras.

"The confession concerns the future of two people—James B. and John J. McNamara. There has been no agreement not to prosecute the others, nor is there any other consideration involved," he declared.

"The McNamaras agreed to plead guilty and take their chance with the sentence. It is absurd even to think we could make a promise as to their sentence. That is a matter for the court to determine."

Judge Walter Woodford, it was pointed out today, has not been in communication with the district attorney's office at any time concerning the plea of guilty, and furthermore, has not discussed the matter with anybody. Hitherto he has not presided in any criminal case, but in any member of the state's counsel put in, he has a good deal of the milk of human kindness and will do the right thing.

The judge, it is believed, will sentence James B. McNamara to the state prison, and John J., it is said, will get twenty years. Under the parole laws this would mean that John J. McNamara might be released from custody in a few years.

More light was thrown today on why John J. McNamara pleaded guilty to the charge of dynamiting the Llewellyn Iron Works and why the state did not insist on his pleading on other indictments against him. It was asserted that John J. McNamara could not have been sentenced for a greater crime than that of a manslaughter in connection with the Times disaster, as he was not in California at the time. The sentence under that statute is only from one to ten years. As far as the indictment for blowing up the Llewellyn Iron Works is concerned, Orville McManigal confessed that John J. paid him money to blow up the building, and the state's case on this charge, it was said, was more conclusive. The dynamiting charge, too, it is observed, is punishable by a sentence of not less than a year, but there is no maximum penalty, and it may be from one to ninety-nine years, within the discretion of the court.

The indictments against John J. in connection with the Times disaster will not be pressed now, but they will stay on record to be acted upon according to the wishes of the prosecution. It will be the indictment upon John J. McNamara is admitted by officials of the state.

The prosecution claims that it had an incontrovertible chain of facts headed up against James B. McNamara for the Times explosion, and among these was the signature of J. B. Bryce (the name said to have been used by James B. McNamara) on hotel registers at the time other explosions occurred, but his connection with the state is not prepared at this time to divulge.

The state officials said today that before the McNamaras confessed information of the state's intention to try to involve other labor leaders in the case had reached counsel for the defense, because of the activity of the prosecution with certain important witnesses.

"These labor leaders," declared a member of the prosecution today, "may have a criminal acquaintance with the McNamaras, but they were in communication with them at certain times and places which would have caused distasteful publicity."

Details of the struggle for the testimony of witnesses present a realistic story, covering activity in many cities.

"Many witnesses came over to us in the last few weeks," said Assistant District Attorney Ford, "and they brought with them money used to get them. You would be surprised to know the number of witnesses who voluntarily, too. The fact is, we frustrated the plans of the other side to win by illegitimate means, and they knew they could not win if they took their chances on legal procedure, because we had a chain of damaging evidence. I worked on every detail of it and knew that they were up against a stone wall whichever way they turned."

The money which witnesses were alleged to have received from persons who wished them to ally themselves with the defense was said to amount to a considerable sum, and District Attorney Frederick estimated that it would cover more than all the rewards offered for the arrest of the guilty parties. The defense, even to date, it was said, has not been able to do with the McNamara case, but the fact that some witnesses would have turned upon them when it came to the giving of testimony. Against such odds as these the defense would have been battling, and to members of the prosecution, therefore, the surrender was not surprising.

LOS ANGELES UNION REPUTATES McNAMARAS

The Los Angeles Typographical union, a local of the International body to which James B. McNamara belongs, repudiated him and his brother John J. McNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, in resolutions adopted here today.

The resolutions, adopted by the membership instruct the officials of the union to make a statement to the text of which is included in the resolutions themselves.

"Now that they have confessed their guilt, having duped, deceived and betrayed us and our officers, James B. McNamara, president of the American Federation of Labor, James Lynch, president of the International Typographical union by dastardly acts, we repudiate all connection with them or their kind."

The union stands, the statement declared, for "strict enforcement of law," expresses its belief in the right of every man to a fair trial, but declares today's meeting was called for the purpose of expressing "our repudiation of such dastardly methods."

The statement further points out that the officials of the union, at the time the Los Angeles Times was blown up, asked that a special grand jury be empaneled to investigate the tragedy and assure that it "instantly" be referred to the aid of that newspaper and composed the issue of that morning.

"The action of the union was about the only positive development of the day. The conclusion (drawn about the prisoners) was not penetrated even by the counsel during the day, although Attorney Joseph Scott called them for about an hour tonight."

Attorney Darrow, seemingly greatly refreshed, walked about a little like near his home chatting with friends.

"I don't all night," he declared, referring to the preceding two weeks which have driven him near to nervous breakdown. He said he had no statement to make about the case.

Interest here centers about the confession of James B. McNamara, which District Attorney Frederick has announced will probably be made on Tuesday, the day set for the sentence of the brothers.

Frederick declared definitely that it would not be forthcoming sooner, although he was entreated by a room full of newspaper men to "hurry it up."

"I wouldn't if I could," he said. "It will not come out before then."

That the confession of guilt by the McNamaras did not produce the prosecution from activity in any other direction with any other person, was evidenced today by the announcement of Assistant District Attorney Ford that he would press the charge of bribery against Bert H. Franklin, a detective employed by the defense. He declared, however, that it consisted of a demand when the case came up tomorrow, a continuance in some other reasonable date would not meet with objection at the prosecution.

Asked if there would be any more arrests, Mr. Ford declared that it would depend on the testimony of certain witnesses in the Franklin case. "There may be some sensational developments, however," he remarked to an eastern newspaper correspondent, who contemplated leaving here soon, "and you had better not leave for at least another week."

He was asked if he thought that within another week some arrests in connection with the conspiracy to blow up the Times building or the Franklin case would be made, but he declared himself unable to discuss the matter at this time.

Franklin, who is out on $10,000 bail, furnished by counsel for the McNamaras, would not discuss his case today.

Among rumors that circulated tonight was one that Milton A. Schmidt also under indictment for the Times dynamiting, was in town and under surveillance. This was denied by Attorney Ford.

"I don't know anything about it, and I would know if it were so," he said.

HARRY ORCHARD ISSUES STATEMENT FROM PRISON

Boise, Idaho, Dec. 3.—Harry Orchard, serving a life term in the Idaho penitentiary for the assassination of Governor Steunenberg, which crime he claimed he was paid to commit by officials of the Western Federation of Miners who were tried and acquitted, gave out an interview today relative to the confession of the McNamaras.

He said he was glad the McNamaras had pleaded guilty. If they had stood trial and been convicted, he said, there would be ground for the creation of public sentiment in their favor by use of stories, bribery, etc., by the prosecution. The pleas of guilty cleared up the matter for all time.

Orchard said that McNamara was in much the same position that he was in, when he made his confession of the Steunenberg murder. In McNamara's case the prosecution at Los Angeles was able to procure corroborative evidence, Samuel Gompers said Orchard was not, in his opinion, advised of the dynamite schemes employed. These he thought, were formulated and carried out by an organized inner circle, as he had said was the case with the Western Federation of Miners.

Orchard added that the pleas of guilty by the McNamaras show that such crimes were committed for a consideration and corroborated strongly the story he told on the witness stand in the Haywood-Moyer-Pettibone trials.

McCORMICK CONFERS WITH WICKERSHAM

Washington, Dec. 3.—Several conferences have been held between A. L. McCormick, United States attorney in Los Angeles, and Attorney General Wickersham, but both deny that these have to do with the McNamara dynamite case. Mr. McCormick said his business was devoted entirely to the discussion of the government's contemplated action against the so-called plumbing trust on the Pacific coast.

CHRISTMAS RUSH TREMENDOUS IN NEW YORK

Ten Million Dollars Worth of Holiday Presents Behind the Counters of Downtown Retail Stores.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

New York, Dec. 3.—With thousands of extra workers straining to serve the Christmas crowds, ten million dollars' worth of holiday presents are today laid out behind the counters of this whole metropolis, as the whirl of the shopping rush is setting in. Though this year every effort has been made to shield shoppers and delivery boys from the 11th hour buying that leaves them sick and worn out on Christmas eve, there is as yet no sign that Gotham has taken time by the forelock in its annual spending stunt. Millions of belated buyers are counted upon to shove the stores up to midnight on Saturday, the 24th, and full forces of delivery wagons are expected to work all through the following Sunday and Christmas day itself. Much health and happiness has already been paired for those who bear the brunt of this holiday traffic, and New Yorkers do not yet seem able to avert the tragedy by getting their gifts before the last moment.

Must Work Six Hours.

That the judges in the criminal court building may soon be made to work as long as six hours a day is predicted by the official dispatches of the prosecutor's office, who are beginning to publish a weekly timetable of the sittings of these learned laborers. One week ago this novel time card showed an average judicial day's work of four hours and three quarters, while the latest results of the district attorney's clockers prove that this has been extended to almost five and a half hours all through last week. Though the wearers of the ermine are outraged at being timed at their daily task, the scores of indicted prisoners, to whom lost minutes on the bench mean days in jail, are grateful for this strike at the law's delay.

Still Scheming to Make Money.

Traveling each day the beaten path between her simple home and ornate office, Betty Green is to be seen here this week as she enters her seventy-eighth year without even a holiday to celebrate her birthday. Although like many a crafty multi-millionaire, this hard working old lady has recently caused her retirement to be loudly proclaimed, no one can observe her in shopping hours anywhere but at the desk where she is steadily rolling up millions on million. With a son well past middle life to handle affairs and a daughter married and gone from home, Mrs. Green still sticks to the game of making more money, as when it is now believed, she will be found when she dies.

Schooling Sleuths in Gotham.

For the first time in American history a school for sleuths has just been opened at police headquarters here. Picked pupils from the detective squads of every precinct have been entered in courses concerning the finger print and the new facial identification systems. At regular school desks the bulky gum-shoe men are being taught, while lectures and recitations are conducted by experts in the art of crime detection. Before the winter term is over the heads of the future promise to turn out graduates who can really tell a clue from a lamp post.

CONGRESS MEETS TODAY AT NOON IN REGULAR SESSION

Legislative Machinery Is in Readiness for Long Sitting, Which May be a Record-Breaker.

DEMOCRATS PROPOSE TO MAKE MEDICINE

Speaker Clark Sees a Vast Amount of Work Ahead of Lawmaking Body; Progressives Hold Balance in Senate.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Washington, Dec. 3.—The first regular session of the sixty-second congress will convene tomorrow noon. Practically every member will be in his seat and the galleries will be crowded.

Legislative machinery is in readiness for a long session, Speaker Clark and other leaders having predicted that adjournment may not come until after the national conventions of the two big political parties have been held.

This has not happened since 1888. Tomorrow's opening will not only be the start of a congress in which party leaders will struggle for party advantage at the polls next November, but it will initiate the brilliant winter season at the national capital.

"When you contemplate all the important legislation to be considered," said Speaker Clark today, "you are forced to the conclusion that congress will be in session until well into the summer, if not the fall."

"While no definite program as to tariff bills has been framed," said Democratic Leader Underwood tonight, "it is certain that the democratic caucus will have immediate action provided by the ways and means committee. The committee will welcome the report of the tariff board on the tariff schedules, but it will not delay action for any great length of time if the board's report is held back."

"Of course the principal schedules to be revised or reduced will be wool, cotton, iron and steel, and possibly sugar."

As to the sugar schedule, the ways and means committee will look forward to the report of the special committee on inquiry into the American Sugar Refining company. This report, it is said, will contain recommendations on the sugar tariff.

Upon the attitude of the insurgent republicans will depend the action and accomplishment of the senate, as they hold the balance of power as between the regular republicans and the democrats.

Some of the regular republicans who hope to formulate their legislation along Republican lines claim that the progressives are committed to the support of the tariff board. The insurgent senators, however, say they expect to draw their own conclusions from the board's figures when submitted.

Tomorrow's session of the senate will be perfunctory.

In the house attention will be fused upon Representative Littleton of New York, who will defend himself against criticism as a member of the house steel trust investigating committee. Democrats await the speech with concern, because of the effect it may have upon party harmony.

EVERY CITIZEN OF MANHATTAN OWN PROTECTOR

Race War Imminent As Result of Killing of White Man and the Subsequent Lynching of Negro.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 3.—Manfred, a town of 4,000 persons, twenty miles from here, resembles an armed camp tonight, according to reports received here. It stands in fear of a race war following a series of events in which a white man, Fred A. Evans, was killed, another, Rolly Johnson, was seriously wounded; one negro, "Nod" Walker, was lynched, and another was seriously wounded.

Armed bands of negroes were reported in Manhattan today and the report spread that every citizen was arming himself.

Evans and Johnson were held up by three negroes Saturday night. They resisted, and a battle ensued. Later a negro captured "Nod" Walker, riddled his body with bullets and hung him to a telegraph pole. The negro's brother escaped, but was captured today and taken to Sapulpa from Claremore.

The funeral of Fred Evans today was attended by almost the entire white population. Every man present carried a gun.

Poses pursuing the third negro returned tonight, bloodhounds having been the result.

DRIVE WIFE TO SUICIDE

Desperate Because of Intemperate Habits of Husband Woman Swallows Acid; 3 Children Made Orphans.

A Kelly (N. M.) correspondent of the Socorro Chieftain gives the following account of a distressing domestic tragedy which occurred November 23 in the Little Socorro county mining camp of Kelly:

"A little family of five, the father about twenty-eight years old, an industrious young man with a position paying four dollars per day, and a bright future before him; the mother a very pretty, well educated young woman of twenty-three; three children, a boy four years old, a girl two years old, and a baby of two months."

"Such was until last Thursday, November 23rd, the family of Norman P. Gordon of Kelly, New Mexico. The husband held an important position with the Germany Mining and Development company, and the family as a whole should have been one of the happiest in the country."

"But every Eden has its serpent. In this case it took the shape of whiskey. Little by little, it crept in. At first the husband took an occasional drink. Then, as the habit grew, several glasses became necessary after a day's work at the mine. Recently it became a common sight to see him reeling homeward, drunk."

As if this was not her trouble, Mrs. Gordon, it also became necessary for her to receive blows from the man she loved.

"These occurrences constantly became more frequent, and many a neighbor has seen Mrs. Gordon trying to lead her husband from the saloons, a baby in her arms, another in a go-cart, and the eldest only old enough to walk alone."

"On the 23rd Mr. Gordon again imbibed too freely. His wife, it seems, could not bear her troubles longer. She loved him so she could not think of living away from him. She could not endure a life with him when it daily promised to grow worse."

"At 7 p. m. she drank an ounce of carbolic acid. Her husband, who was on his way home, discovered her immediately after, and summoned the neighbors as quickly as his condition permitted. Dr. Thomas came as fast as an ambulance could bring him in answer to the phone call, but Mrs. Gordon was beyond earthly help, and at 8:10 passed away, only a small portion of the time suffering, as she was unconscious."

"Her sister, Mrs. Wayman Callender of Cerrillos, arrived the morning of the 24th and accompanied the body on the following day that far on its way to Loganport, Indiana, where Mrs. Gordon was born and raised."

"Ever since Mrs. Gordon has been in New Mexico, and this has been several years, she has been very highly respected in every community in which she has lived. She never mixed in the petty gossiping affairs of which every small town has its share. She was an economical housewife and the kindest of mothers."

"Saturday at noon Mrs. Gordon's farewell letter to her husband was found in the kitchen on a shelf behind some bottles, where she evidently had placed it a short time before taking the acid. The letter reads as follows:

"Well, Norman, I hope God will forgive the one who has been to blame for this terrible failure. I am now about to depart from this life in order to give you your longed-for freedom. Ever since we were married three months I have known you regretted our marriage as a great mistake. I tried to take my life before, but I could not sublimely fail."

"I can feel yet those terrible slaps from you. Oh, God! how my poor heart aches."

"Try to be both mother and father to my poor babies. God knows it hurts to leave them. But I must leave you, but do teach them to love and remember me as a kind mother. I shall wait until I see you coming, so they will not be long alone, and then take this acid and end my poor life and this terrible heartache."

"Oh, how I long to die in your arms and feel your warm kisses on my lips as long ago when we were so foolish yet happy."

"Bury me in solid black and remember me kindly as you can. Don't start any trouble with the folks and take the children to see them when you can."

"Oh, how I've loved you! God knows it hurts to go."

"Your poor heart broken."

"JENN."

"Be a good boy and don't for God's sake ever go in another saloon or take another drink."

"Such a letter speaks for itself. Could anything be more pathetic? Is there any reproach in this? A request to 'remember me as kindly as you can,' another 'try to be both mother and father to my poor babies,' and last of all, 'Don't for God's sake ever go in another saloon or take another drink.'"

"The discovery of this letter after Mr. Gordon's departure was a lucky circumstance for him; for it was all that was needed to fan the already smoldering flame of public indignation against him into a raging white heat, and had he been in Kelly that afternoon and evening it is hard to say just what would have happened to him. Let us hope for the sake of law and order that he comes not again."

"BEST ON EARTH"

This is the verdict of R. J. Howell, Tracy, O., who bought Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for his wife. "Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure case of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly, and her voice was hoarse and weak. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure."—R. J. Howell.

SPECIAL WARNING OF DANGER FOR AUTOMOBILES CAUSED TROUBLE

American Road Association in Session Recently at Richmond Makes Timely Recommendation.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Richmond, Va., Dec. 3.—The seven hundred delegates who convened at Richmond a few days ago to discuss good roads and allied subjects gave prominent consideration to the automobile. Many veteran motorists were present and an entire day, "Road Users' Day," was devoted to them under the auspices of the Touring Club of America.

The most prominent action of the day's meeting was the adoption of a set of resolutions defining what kind of an automobile signal is adequate for warning purposes. This definition is the first offered by a national convention, and has attracted wide attention.

The resolution reads as follows: "Resolved, That the unnecessary use of warning signals should be avoided, and that an adequate warning signal should produce an abrupt sound, sufficiently loud to be heard under all conditions of traffic, and that its use, except as a warning of danger, should be prohibited by law."

An idea of the source of this resolution may be had from the names of the men who framed it, and offered it to the congress for adoption. They are: Col. William D. Sohier, Boston, president Massachusetts highway commission; Hugh Chalmers, Detroit; David Hecroft, Chicago, vice president Touring Club of America; president Chicago Motor Club, editor Motor Age and The Automobile; Preston Belvin, president Virginia Automobile association; Leonard Tuttle, Pinehurst, national leader of the good roads movement; Sidney S. Gorham, author of the Illinois automobile law, chairman legislative committee of Chicago Automobile club, and personal representative of the secretary of state of Illinois at the congress, and F. H. Elliott, secretary Touring Club of America.

In discussing this resolution, Preston Belvin, the active head of the Virginia Automobile association, said, "It is time general action was taken in this matter of the automobile warning signal. People ought to understand that the difference between an adequate and an inadequate warning signal is often the difference between life and death."

"To be adequate a signal must have a harsh, abrupt sound. In making its recommendation the American Road congress has merely restated the action that will be taken throughout the United States within the next decade at the farthest, and probably much sooner. No sane motorist wishes to take any chances. Apart from the horror of having an accident, he wishes to make it certain that he is not likely to do so."

When I hear a man arguing in favor of the wheezing, or of the musical signal, or perhaps I should say a signal with a musical note, I set it down that he is either not in possession of facts, or he has not given the matter much thought."

"In recommending the use of only such a device as can give an abrupt note sufficiently loud to be heard above all traffic conditions, and demanding that its unnecessary use be prohibited by law, the American Road congress has, I believe, voiced the wish and the thought of every thinking motorist and of every person, motorist or non-motorist, who appreciates that the warning signal of the motor car is all that stands between the pedestrian and injury or death in case of emergency."

"It is the emergency we must consider and prepare for. Any of us can cope with ordinary circumstances, but no man knows when or where the emergency may spring into existence."

ALLEGED HIGHWAYMAN PROTESTS INNOCENCE

Salt Lake City, Dec. 3.—Joe Donovan, who was identified yesterday as the highwayman who shot and killed Joseph Rainbow last Sunday night, when Rainbow ignored an order to throw up his hands, declared in an interview today that his real name is Joseph M. Dye. He claims that his father is Joseph Dye, a miner of Colorado, and this claim is being investigated. The elder Dye is said to be living in Pueblo, Donovan, or Dye, declares that he can prove he was in Oregon at the time Rainbow was shot.

EASTERN COLLEGES WANT FOOTBALL RULES REVISED

Because of Low Scores Past Season, They Favor Return to Old Order of Things; Casualties Compared.

A movement is on foot in big football circles in the country for another revision of the rules of the game so as to permit of a greater degree of scoring. In order to do this some of them advocate a return to the old five-yard rule, whereby a team was allowed three downs to make five yards. Formerly, as against the present plan of making ten yards in three downs, the present plan it is claimed is the cause for so many of the big teams failing to make very many successive first downs.

There is also a plan presented by some of the eastern college football authorities that will allow for a five-yard gain instead of ten on the two-down yard line, with a graduated scale of the number of downs required to make ten yards on other lines. Some advocate a seven instead of a ten-yard gain.

With many, the fault seems to come from the incomplete forward pass rule where it was put in place and declaring a down against the side with the ball. While this rule is all right in its way, it deprives a possible gain and the recovery of the ball on rules and incomplete passes. Often the ball goes over to the opposite side because of the failure of a forward pass.

The restricting of the forward pass this year to twenty yards and the other rule concerning the incomplete pass have doubtless had more to do with the failure of teams to pile up large scores than anything else in the year's game, but there is always the answer to this that big scores do not necessarily mean good games of football.

Two evenly matched teams at the old home oftentimes played the game, and usually with great injury to the players of both teams. The present rule has to a large degree cut out the great number of injuries. The eastern men have been quick to recognize this, and the additional fact that it is practically impossible now for players to drop out from exhaustion.

Opposed to the views of the eastern college men are those of Coaches Staggs of Chicago, and Hammett of Northwestern, who believe that larger scores will come with a gaining of proficiency in the new game. It is of course disappointing for teams of the caliber of Yale and Harvard to play against a team that is unable to score, but each other, especially if one team has been touted all the time as being so much the superior of the other.

There is one thing that will come out of all this talk, and that will be another meeting of the rules committee, to thrash out the views that have been expressed and the objections to the present order of things that have been voiced by many of the leaders of the big colleges.

What the outcome of this will be of course cannot be told but it will be borne in mind by the men who made the present rules, that interest this year in football has been greater than ever before, and the immense crowds of fans that attended the games have been more pleasing because of the many additional spectacular features, the direct outcome of the forward pass and onside kick. There is another thing that must not be overlooked, in all instances the man who plays the ball is the man who is satisfied with the game, and if the present game is the most satisfactory to the fans it should be continued and improved. Football will prosper and the athletic funds of the universities and colleges all over the land will be able to prosper also.

The comparison of the number of casualties for the last three years contains great food for thought concerning football as played in 1911 as compared to other years. Following is the comparison.

Juarez, Mex., Dec. 3.—The summer-like weather together with a good crowd, drew a big crowd to Juarez today. The public was given a hard blow when Harrigan, the 2 to 5 favorite, was beaten in a driving finish by three-quarters of a length by Arace.

HUGHIE JENNINGS EXPECTED TO RECOVER

Attending Physician Enumerates Injuries He Suffered in Auto Accident; His Companion May Die.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Scranton, Pa., Dec. 3.—The condition of Manager Hugh Jennings of the Detroit American baseball team, who with Father Lynett, was injured in an automobile accident late Friday night, was slightly improved tonight. Father Lynett's condition is not so favorable as it was twenty-four hours ago.

The following bulletin was issued tonight by Dr. Webb:
"Hugh Jennings' condition is better than it was twenty-four hours ago. He still suffers from the shock, as shown by a temperature of 98.4. Barring unexpected developments we confidently expect his recovery. His injuries consist of a badly crushed left foot; contusions of left thigh; fracture of both bones of the lower third of the left forearm; cuts and bruises about the face and head and concussion of the brain. He is comparatively free from pain."

Father Lynett is not in as good condition this evening as he was last night. Pneumonia is threatened.

TWENTY-SIX PLAYERS ARE ELIGIBLE FOR ALL-EASTERN TEAM

New York, Dec. 3.—For the all-eastern football team for 1911, the sports experts of six New York papers named twenty-one different men. The list of men selected by three or more papers follows:

Arnold, Army, guard, 3; Bomester, Yale, end, 5; Blueblatt, Princeton, center, 3; Dalton, Navy, full or half-back, 1; Duffy, Princeton, guard, 4; Fisher, Harvard, guard, 4; Hart, Princeton, tackle, 6; Howe, Yale, center, 3; Ketcham, Yale, center, 3; Mercer, Pennsylvania, fullback, 3; Scully, Yale, tackle, 3; Smith, Harvard right end, 5; Thorpe, Carleton, right half-back, 2; Wendell, Harvard, full or half-back, 5; White, Princeton, left end, 6.
Brown, Navy, tackle, 2; Block, Dartmouth, tackle, 1; Howe, Navy, guard, 1; Morrison, Vanderbilt, left half, 1; Miller, Penn state, quarter, 2; Spreading, Brown, quarter, 3; Howe, Navy, quarter, 3.

WOLGAST ANXIOUS TO GET SQUARE MEAL

Los Angeles, Dec. 3.—"Say, when do I get a square meal?" asked Ad Wolgast from his hospital cot this morning. "I could eat a horse," he added.

"But all I get is this doctor-cooked grub, and very little of it."
"How do I feel? I feel fine, and if there was a suit of clothes hanging about I could leave in a hurry."

Wolgast's condition, according to the nurse in charge, was very good today. His appetite seemed to be returning rapidly, but the fighter was kept on a restricted diet. His temperature ranged only a shade above normal.

LARGE INCREASE IN RAILROAD TONNAGE

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 3.—Reports of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific for the number of cars loaded in November, give an indication of the increase in business in the northwest. Owing to changes in the class of traffic over the roads and changes in the length of haul, the number of cars loaded is not a true index to the earnings on the roads, but for the general business of the various localities it is looked upon as a fair guide.

During the month the carloading for the Great Northern increased nearly ten percent over the same month a year ago and for the Northern Pacific the figures show an increase of a little more than ten percent. An average of ten percent puts the northwest ahead of other parts of the country for growth of business.

CRUISER COLORADO MISTRESS OF NAVY

Washington, Dec. 3.—The armored cruiser Colorado of the United States navy, which has carried off the honors among the American battleships and armored cruisers for the various forms of target practice in the autumn of 1911, according to figures just completed at the navy department.

The Colorado leads the list with a score of 65,076, with the Delaware second with 52,551, and the New Hampshire third with a score of 48,249. The New Jersey footed the list with only 8,731 to her credit. The other vessels with the order of their scores follows: South Carolina, 45,191; Washington, 36,949; Vermont, 36,500; Louisiana, 30,929; Kansas, 30,818; Michigan, 30,787; Connecticut, 29,664; Maryland, 29,462; Georgia, 29,836; Minnesota, 24,816; Mississippi, 24,783; North Dakota, 22,393; California, 21,717; West Virginia, 19,849; Virginia, 19,314; Missouri, 19,357; Nebraska, 15,913; North Carolina, 11,289; Maine, 11,091; Ohio, 9,730; South Dakota, 9,569; and Idaho, 9,223.

PHILADELPHIA AND MONGOLIA JOINS REBELLION IN CHINA

These Two Clubs Had Best Averages in National League; "Rube" Marquard Star Box Artist of Season.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
New York, Dec. 3.—Pittsburgh and Philadelphia were the best fielding clubs in the National League last season, according to the official fielding averages made public by the National league today.

Each club is credited with an average of .962. Boston footed the list with a percentage of .947. Kometchy leads the first-basemen with a percentage of .951 in nearly 200 more chances offered the St. Louis player than the next nearest in the list—Hobitzel of Cincinnati with .940, which was also the percentage of Chance of Chicago.

Of the second-basemen who played through the greater part of the season, Hummel of Brooklyn, leads with a percentage of .912. Zimmerman of Chicago, is the real leader of the shortstops with a percentage of .937. In thirty-three games at short for Pittsburgh, McCarthy made only three errors and fielded .981.

"Rube" Marquard of New York stands out as the leader of the pitchers of the National league in the "games won" record, as shown by the official pitching averages. McCarthy pitched in 45 games, won twenty-four, lost seven and has a percentage of .774. Crandall of New York, with fifteen games won and five lost, is second with a percentage of .750, and Cole of Chicago, who won eighteen games and lost seven, is third with .730.

THE MYSTERIOUS AZULLA TONIGHT AT ORPHEUM

On the stage of the Orpheum theater tonight, Azulla, the spirit lady, now taking a 30-hour hypnotic sleep in the window of Mandell's clothing store on Central avenue, will be awakened by the great Randolph Hypnotic Spiritualist combination. This is the strongest aggregation ever seen in Albuquerque at such a low price.

The Orpheum show this week will be a hummer and on account of its length there will be one show a night. It will really be a double show, the regular Orpheum program combined with the great Randolph Hypnotic Spiritualist combination. This is the strongest aggregation ever seen in Albuquerque at such a low price.

The Randolph show is an opera house attraction always playing at $1 a seat, but on account of the large seating capacity of the Orpheum, its comfort and convenience, and spacious stage, it was decided to play there. The show starts at 7:30 sharp. The general admission remains 10 cents. Reserved seats 20 cents, for this occasion only.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF DEMING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

H. B. Henning, Secretary of Bureau of Immigration, to be Principal Speaker at Event on December 19.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Deming, N. M., Dec. 3.—Arrangements have been completed for a banquet at the Harvey house on the 19th of December to be given by the chamber of commerce of Deming. Reports of the various committees will report the progress made during the past year, speeches will be made by H. B. Henning who is secretary of the New Mexico Publicity association at Albuquerque and secretary of the New Mexico Bureau of Immigration, and a speech will be made by a representative of the El Paso Herald, his subject will be "The Prospective Development of New Mexico."

The Farmers Society of Equity will meet December 6 in the rooms at the chamber of commerce for the purpose of electing officers for the ensuing year.

Active work has commenced on the new road that is to be built from Deming to a point fifteen miles south, contracts have been let to local men for the grubbing and grading of this road. The farmers along this new road will be greatly benefited when the road is completed, they will assist in this work from time to time, and when completed it will be the finest piece of road in Luna county.

Governors Reach Rochester.
Rochester, N. Y., Dec. 3.—The western governors' special arrived here tonight. The governors viewed Niagara Falls. At Batavia they were dinner guests of the Rochester delegation in private cars. The strain of formal dinners is beginning to tell on the westerners. At every stop they have found out for evening clothes and they are beginning to wish for something plain.

Coming to Rochester the governors were discussing Niagara Falls. Governor Tasker L. Odell of Nevada was best impressed with the amount of water passing over the falls. "I pay thirty cents a gallon for that in Nevada," he said.

Anniversary of Mission.
Santa Barbara, Cal., Dec. 3.—On the broad steps worn down by the thousands who have trod them during the last century, the one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the Santa Barbara mission was observed today with religious fervor in the presence of a large congregation. Mrs. William Hoerner sang Willard's "Ave Maria," the same hymn she rendered at the one hundredth anniversary celebration.

"I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble," writes Mrs. L. B. Arnold of Denver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief." For sale by all dealers.

JEMEZ CELEBRATES THANKSGIVING DAY

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Jemez Springs, N. M., Dec. 1.—Thanksgiving day was fittingly celebrated at this place. After the morning services at the Presbyterian chapel Mrs. J. W. Miller entertained about a dozen members of the congregation at dinner and a bountiful repast was served.

In the evening the following program was rendered at the chapel which was crowded to its capacity: Quartette—"Peace Be Still." Solo—"One Sweetly Solenn Thought." Reading—"He Lifted Me." Reading—"Do Not Lead Me Into Temptation." Quartette—"Only an Armour Bearer."

With Tenor Obligato. Reading—"The Old Bachelor and His Dog." Solo—(a) "Loch Lomond." (b) "I've Something Sweet to Tell You." Quartette—"Come Unto Me." With Soprano and Alto Duet. Duet—"I Would That My Love." Quartette—"Pull for the Shore, Sailor."

The quartette was composed of the Rev. and Mrs. Lansing B. Bloom and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reed of Senorio. Mrs. Bloom, the wife of the Presbyterian missionary at the Jemez Pueblo, is a daughter of Justice John R. McFie of the New Mexico supreme court. She received her musical training abroad and her singing was a rare treat.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. "This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by all dealers."

MRS. PATTERSON BACK IN GIRLHOOD HOME

Sandoval, N. M., Dec. 3.—Gertrude Gibson Patterson, acquitted in Denver last week of the murder of her husband, Charles A. Patterson, arrived at her old home here today. Tonight a family gathering at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson, centered around her.

Henceforth she will use her maiden name, Gertrude Gibson, this fact being disclosed when inquiry was made as to the newly printed letters, "G. G." on baggage she brought with her.

"I feel the need of a good rest," said the newspaper reporters who met her at the railroad station, "and I intend to remain with my parents for some time."

JOE MANDOTT AWARDED DECISION OVER HAYES

New Orleans, Dec. 3.—Joe Mandott of this city was awarded the decision over Grover Hayes of Philadelphia, after a twenty-round bout at Algiers today. The decision was a close one, the general opinion being about evenly divided on a draw.

Hayes forced the fighting throughout, Mandott saving himself for close work at which Hayes was almost his equal.

There was little doing up to the eighth, when Mandott landed heavy body blows, which had Hayes clinching frequently.

Mandott had a bare shade over Hayes thereafter, although the Philadelphia was the aggressor, fighting fast and forcing Mandott to the ropes frequently. Mandott refused to mix it.

Amateur Champion Thrown.
St. Louis, Dec. 3.—John Bitter, of Toledo, Ohio, was defeated by Al Wasm, of St. Louis, here tonight for the lightweight wrestling championship of the United States when Wasm threw him heavily off the mat, knocking him unconscious. Bitter won the first fall in 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Fifteen minutes after they grappled for the second fall, Bitter was downed and when revived was forced to discontinue the match.

THE SECOND-HAND WARSHIP DEALERS.

The navy department has received an offer of $5,000,000 for the battleships Indiana, Iowa and Massachusetts and the protected cruisers Minneapolis and Columbia, according to a dispatch from Washington.

All of these vessels are in first-class fighting shape, the dispatch goes on to say, and the three battle-ships took part in the great review of the Atlantic fleet in November. But it is believed that the prevalence of the new dreadnought type will make them
all obsolete in from two to seven years.

The opinion is held at the navy department that the bidder wishes to purchase them with a view to disposing of them at a good price among the strongest South American republics—Argentina, Chili and Brazil—and possibly others, if these countries
can satisfactorily finance the deal.

At first blush one is inclined to hail
with pleasure the opening of a market for second-hand warships as well as for second-hand clothes. It seems to offer the nation a chance to get something besides gun practice out of its cast-off naval apparel. But on further reflection this vision fades.

The would-be buyers of second-hand warships prove themselves by their offer to be no more satisfactory
than the buyers of second-hand clothes. They don't want to give anything for what they get. Only $5,000,000 for a bunch of warships in good condition that would cost several times that sum anywhere! Ridiculous!

The government will have to take up if it wants to get anything out of those fellows. It ought to tell them that it would rather give the ships away to some worthy person than make a present of them to second-hand warship dealers. Also that it doesn't have to sell them anyway, unless it wants to.

And as the "chaffering" seems to have just begun, the Chicago Inter-Ocean takes the liberty of suggesting that the officials pay no attention whatever to the efforts of the second-hand warship dealer to belittle the value of the ships by saying that they are worn almost through at the bows,
that new binoculars will have to be put in every one of them and that there is really little demand for second-hand warships this season anyway.

They should be ready with the prompt reply that you won't find any better stuff on the market than that in those warships, that the government is simply getting rid of them because they don't fit in the docks neatly and that it has already received an offer from another second-hand warship dealer that is twice as good as the one under consideration.

If the Washington official—and we include congress in the list—don't look sharp they will find themselves letting this cast-off navy apparel go
for a song and then have the familiar,
painful experience of seeing how extremely valuable it looks after it has been cleaned and pressed and brought into the service of another.

Incidentally, this opening of a market for second-hand warships furnishes another argument against woman's suffrage. No man who has ever had his best suit traded by his wife to a second-hand clothes dealer
can be blind to the danger of a female administration carelessly letting the best warships in the bunch go by mistake.

Close observers of social conditions
assert that it is becoming increasingly difficult for men over forty years of age to obtain new employment. It may be well for some of the presidential candidates to note this explanation for use later.

The Manchú dynasty will be regarded as safe if the premier can negotiate a large loan. This will leave the revolutionaries in a position to keep busy paying off a mortgage instead of devoting their time to political agitation.

According to some of the advertisements by feminine celebrities, a woman's capacities for youth and beauty
do not fully develop until after she is forty.

In making up a list of the "world's greatest men" it is always well to avoid professional jealousy by going back two or three generations.

"REMEMBER THE MAINE"

Again word comes from Havana that the cause of the destruction of the battleship Maine was an explosion from without. This is not on the authority of the inspecting board, which has completed its work. But among such a large number of men
as were employed on the wreck it must have been practically impossible to keep secret the condition it was found to be in. The information is generally regarded as authentic.

If it had not been for the blowing up of the battleship and the attendant loss of life among the officers and crew, there is little doubt that President McKinley would have been able to prevent the war with Spain. But that catastrophe inflamed the American people and the cry, "Remember
the Maine," rang through the land.
McKinley had no alternative but to declare war. But after the close of the brief struggle minglings arose as to the truth of the assumption that the Maine was destroyed by Spanish treachery. These doubts led to the inevitable conclusion that the war might have been unnecessary and that it was in a certain sense unjustified—
a confession humiliating for any nation to make.

But it seems safe now to dismiss the fear that this reproach will rest on the country. The report of the inspecting board will soon be submitted and made public, and there is little doubt that it will confirm the unofficial announcement from Havana.

No reporter for an American newspaper would have made "copy" of a casual conversation with the president of the United States without his express authorization, and the French writer who has done so for a Paris journal has doubtless violated the ethics of the profession through ignorance. Mr. Roosevelt's confidence was once similarly abused, also, by a Frenchman. But though presidents and public men generally talk with freedom on diplomatic and other matters without expectation that their views will be published, their trust is never betrayed by American newspaper men, and the violation of the rule in the present instance only sub-stantiates the uniform fidelity of reporters to the confidence reposed in them.

Judge Gary and Attorney Wicker-ham both want the trusts curbed, but in different ways. As it happens, the courts will decide between these two eminent reformers, while Judge Gary carries on the work of an uplifter.

There is nothing so very strange in the fact that a Massachusetts minister has left the pulpit to go into the coal business. He is preaching the doctrine that it is better to have a fire here than hereafter.

If Roosevelt really referred to Wharton Barker's statement as "a pipe dream," his managing editor
should scrutinize his copy to prevent a tendency to substitute current slang
for the epigram.

Senator John Sharp Williams may be pardoned if he considers himself
the entire democratic donkey. Injured recently in an accident, an ambulance landed him at a veterinary hospital.

A magazine writer says that college men should mix more. But really they are trying to. One of their most notable events recently took place in a New Haven theater.

Even the militant suffragettes do not grow enthusiastic over the idea of feminine responsibility that leads disappointed men to bring breach-of-promise suits.

It has been discovered that a candidiate for the New York police force is a burglar. Won't those reformers ever quit interfering with the business of Tammany?

Perhaps one of the purposes of the London suffragettes is to divert the mind of John Bull from contemplation
of a possible war with Germany.

After having availed itself of every expedient to stave off criminal prosecution, perhaps the beef trust will try reducing the cost of meat.

Whether or not Mr. Woodrow Wilson's home is successful it will always attract admiring attention as a literary production.

Mr. Bryan, evidently thinks that Champ Clark's gravel ought to look like an olive branch and more like a hammer.

Mr. Bryan says he favors competition. Can this be regarded as a delicate intimation that he intends to be a candidate?

Thirteen well-bred bulls have recently arrived in New York. Is New York at last trying to reform Wall street?

An investigating committee is always liable to turn up enough matters of curious interest to keep it busy for an indefinite period of time.

The Wall street lion is now putting greatly at the disposal of Mr. Roosevelt's name.—Des Moines Capital.

PRETTY WEDDING CELEBRATED AT CARLSBAD

Miss Mabel Rarey Becomes
Bride of William Paul Brady;
News Notes From Lower End of Pecos Valley.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 1.—A very pretty wedding took place at 11 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Edward's Catholic Church, when Mabel,
the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P.
Rarey of Carlsbad and William Paul Brady of Pecos, Texas, were united in marriage in the presence of a large audience. Father Abergast officiating.

After the ceremony a large number of invited guests gathered at the home of the bride's parents and partook of dinner. Many beautiful presents were received.

The bride has made her home here
since childhood and has a large circle of friends. The groom is one of the rising young attorneys in West Texas, and is well known in the Pecos Valley. The young couple left for Pecos this morning, where they will make their home.

Emerson Still Hopeful.

John L. Emerson, C. M. Richards,
D. G. Grantham and others are back from Santa Fe, where they went to watch the canvassing of the state vote.
Mr. Emerson, the democratic candidate for land commissioner, still feels hopeful of his election, especially on account of the large number of predicts that had not filed returns and the fact that little is known of the results in the missing precincts. Mr.
Emerson has returned to his home
on the Plains.

Auto Run Down by Train.

A serious accident occurred last night at the depot just after the train arrived from the south. Mrs. C. M.
Richards was at the station in her big Buick car to meet friends coming in from Pecos. The car was at the side of the depot when some cars were shunted in unexpectedly.
Before Mrs. Richards could get her auto out of the way a freight car struck the front of the auto with force enough to reduce it to a scrap pile. The five persons in the car escaped miraculously, receiving only slight bruises.

Related Political Rally.

A related political rally was held in the school house in the Otis precinct Thanksgiving eve. It seems the democratic county committee appropriated $25 to every precinct in Eddy county
for a big free dinner on election day. But the farmers in Otis predict were too busy picking cotton to waste any time on a political spread election day. So the money was put aside for a more convenient time. A big oyster supper was arranged for Thanksgiving instead.
Nearly everybody came, ready to enjoy the good things, more than one hundred people being present. Dr.
W. G. Cowan, the chairman of the democratic committee, and other politicians were on hand. There were oysters in stew, oysters fried in good butter, hot punch or lemonade and other trimmings in abundance. Dr.
Cowan, W. H. Reeves, Judge J. W.
Armstrong, Rev. Enosier and other made addresses, while the people did
"some" eating and passed the plates for more to eat. Everybody had a good time and voted it a grand occasion, long to be remembered.

In Lighter Vein

Up in the Air.
Thomas C. Denneky of the Chicago
Alibi Association was greatly interested in the recent aviation meet in Chicago. His gardener, a fine old Irish gentleman, was interested also.
"Tim," said Denneky, "would you like to go up in one of those airships?"

"Sure, I'd like to, Mr. Tom," he replied, "if I can keep one foot on the ground."

Denneky got his gardener to go up in a captive balloon at one of the Chicago amusement resorts. The old man was keen for the ascent until the balloon got up to what he considered a dangerous altitude. Then he turned to the man in charge and shouted,
"Lave me out! Ay yo don't I'll cut the rope!"—Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post.

Overheard in Court.

Jamesberry and Harkaway had been haled up before the court for speeding.
"Fifty dollars apiece," said the judge. "All the evidence before this bench goes to prove that you fellows are racing along at about fifty miles an hour."

"But, judge," protested Jamesber-ry, "my car can't possibly go more than thirty miles an hour."

"And the limit of mine is thirty-three," pleaded Harkaway.

"Well, a spoken 'it'?" By Garry.
It was a dollar to the tune of both of you.—Harper's Weekly.

"Mamma."
In describing the daily life of a certain distinguished citizen of the republic, a writer in the Review of Reviews gives by way of contrast, the story that follows:

This calls to mind the English humorous writer who sketched out his daily program as follows: Rise at noon, breakfast at 11; a stroll to the club; a ride in a park; dinner;
a round of evening parties and then
to bed.

"But when do you do your library
work?" he was asked.
"Why, the next day, of course," was the reply.

Down Home.
"Now, Willie, said the superintendent's little boy, who had come over for a Friday, 'well, play Sabbath-school. You give me a nickel every Sunday for six months, and then at Christmas I'll give you a ten-cent piece of candy.'—Woman's Home Companion.

Judging Character.

"That man Mahabub married has a lot of foresight," said Farmer Cornwall.
"He looked kind of worried and scared at the wedding," replied his wife.

"That's what makes me think he has foresight,"—Washington Star.

The Extreme Case.
"Tightwad, is there anything more heartrending than to have a wife that can cook but won't do it?"
Dyspeptic—Yes, to have one that can't cook and will do it.—Harper's Bazar.

No Know.
"Don't you think that seeing is believing?"
"No, I see people every day that I wouldn't believe."

REAR ADMIRAL IS VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

George Francis Faxon Wilde
Suddenly Stricken at North Easton, Massachusetts; Had Distinguished Record.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

North Easton, Mass., Dec. 3.—Death came suddenly at his home here today to Rear-Admiral George Francis Faxon Wilde, U. S. N., retired. He suffered from heart disease.

Rear-Admiral Wilde commanded the United States marines during the Boxer uprising in China. He graduated from the Naval Academy and in 1865 was on the flagship Susquehanna when she went to Havana after the confederate ram, Stonewall Jackson.
He commanded the United States ship Delphin on her cruise around the world which was finished in 1885.

As secretary of the lighthouse board
Rear-Admiral Wilde introduced gas hoys on the great lakes, established an electric light vessel in the dangerous Diamond Shoals and introduced the installation and operation of telephones connecting the vessel with the shore.

NO BLOODSHED IN COLORADO COAL CAMPS

Denver, Dec. 3.—No reports of serious disorders in the northern Colorado mining districts reached Governor John F. Shafroth today. The governor last night declined the request of Sheriff Capp of Boulder county that the governor send militia to that region.

Reports received from Boulder county are that the more than 3,000
strikers there were orderly throughout the latter part of the night and tonight most of the strikers remained in their homes.

Sheriff Capp does not expect any more trouble from the strikers, at least not before next Saturday night
when the men will be paid the weekly allowance accorded them by the unions. There had been little trouble during the past week until the strikers were paid off yesterday, but most of them have spent their allowance and the officers believe this fact will cause them to keep peace.
Meantime the sheriff and the marshals of the various towns are maintaining the full number of deputies sworn in yesterday and who patrolled
the streets last night and until daybreak.

AMERICAN FLYING IN PORTO RICO KILLED

San Juan, P. R., Dec. 3.—Tod Schri-ver, a well-known American aviator, was killed last evening in an exhibition flight which he was making at Ponce. Schriever fell 200 feet into a cane field and died within half an hour while on the way to the hospital.
Thousands of spectators witnessed the accident.

Apparently he lost control of the machine in making a turn. The aero-plane swooped to earth, Schriever being buried in the wreckage.

TOWING DISABLED STEAMER TO PORT

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 3.—The disabled steamer Tees passed Cape Beale

Nanouse and the steamer Salvor,
which has on board the Tees' passengers it was reported from Kuyoukot.
Chief Officer Thompson of the Tees, and his crew, have been recovered
from the privations endured during a lifeboat while attempting to reach

The Tees is expected here tomorrow afternoon.

HUSBAND IDENTIFIES SLAYER OF HIS WIFE

Chicago, Dec. 3.—Edmund Kaufman, a merchant whose wife was shot and killed while at his side by shoot-up men near the Kaufman home
last night, today declared that William G. Guttenberg, arrested as a suspect, was the man who shot Mrs.
Kaufman.

Guttenberg, who formerly was employed as a chauffeur by Kaufman,
was one of the six suspects arrested. The chauffeur was taken before Kaufman.

"That's the man. I know him. He's the man who shot my wife," shouted Kaufman, as he attempted to attack Guttenberg.

Guttenberg denied he was one of the party of hold-up men that drove up in an automobile to Mr. and Mrs.
Kaufman, as the latter were returning from a downtown theater.

LESSEES MUST PAY FOR VALUABLE IMPROVEMENTS

Decision Rendered in Important Litigation at Roswell Affecting Leasing and Purchase of School Land.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Roswell, N. M., Dec. 2.—A decision was given in district court today in a suit that is of interest all over New Mexico for the legal questions involved that relate to the leasing and purchase of school lands. Charles C. Gilbert and Walter T. Paylor are attempting to secure possession of a section of land in the best part of the farming district of Roswell that has been in the possession of Simon Newman and Mrs. A. C. Rogers under lease for many years. The lease, under which these two parties held the land expired without their having taken the proper steps to renew.
Gilbert and Paylor were watching for this and secured the new lease, the others having failed to do so. In the past several years Newman and Mrs.
Rogers have put improvements on the land, and the court having held that Gilbert and Paylor are entitled to the land the former lease holders have been suing for judgment for these improvements. The ruling of today holds that the assessed value of the improvements to be paid Newman is $6,000, and that the assessed value of rentals and profits due Gilbert since the case has been in court is $2,000, leaving a balance of $4,000 that Gilbert must pay Newman before obtaining possession of the half section. The improvements on the other half have not been so valuable, and Paylor's payment to Mrs. Rogers must be $200.

Big Hog Butchered.

The "biggest hog" story has come already. M. U. Finley has just dressed a porker that gave him 540 pounds of meat, and 145 pounds of pure lard.

Still Shipping Cattle.

The Turkey Track ranch this week
shipped another big herd of cattle, continuing its work of closing out its entire stock. Twenty carloads went to Amarillo, including 1,000 head from the Lakewood ranch. One carload of fat cattle went to the Kansas City market.

Remarkable Flow of Water.

J. H. Bracken has finished drilling a remarkable surface well on the Lawrence farm near Lake Arthur. At a depth of 110 feet a flow was found that comes to within two feet of the surface and gives a flow of 500 gallons per minute. The water is thrown out with a centrifugal pump. Such a flow at such a shallow depth has not been heard of in the Pecos Valley before.

New $14,000 Depot at Hagerman.

The town of Hagerman will open its new $14,000 depot at the third station with a grand ball on January 1.
The company having given its consent. Excursion trains will be run from Roswell and Carlsbad.

Entomologist for Pecos Valley.

To keep a watch for any moth,
blight or other epidemic that might visit the apple and fruit trees of Pecos Valley the United States government has now stationed in Roswell John R. Gill, an entomologist, who will give advice as to spraying and insecticides. He will be in the Pecos Valley permanently.

"THE PARADISE OF MAHOMET" DAZZLING

There will be no mistaking the genuineness of the warmth in the reception that will be accorded Grace Van Studdiford when she appears in the Parisian comic bouffe, "The Paradise of Mahomet" at Elks' theater
Wednesday night.

This splendid exponent of the best traditions in the American light opera field can be assured a genuinely hearty welcome.

It is said that nothing better in the comic opera line has been produced in years than "The Paradise of Mahomet." Miss Van Studdiford is surrounded with one of the best companies of vocalists and comedians which has ever been brought out of New York.
Included in the supporting company
are Laura Burt, John J. McCowan, Florence Rolter, Edward Mora, Florence Kolb, Hudson Freeland, and a large chorus of real singers.

CHILD SHOT IN EYE MAY LOSE SIGHT

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
 Hope, N. M., Dec. 3.—The four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cady was accidentally shot in the eye (with an arrow while playing with a little companion in the yard the other day. The child may lose both eyes. She looked up when the arrow was shot and as it fell it struck her in one eye putting it out. Since the eye ball has been removed, the other eye is in danger from the affected sympathy.

ROOSEVELT COUNTY FARMER BECOMES INDEPENDENT

William Pattenfield Extensively Develops Quarter Section Three Miles From Portales; Not for Sale.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
 Portales, N. M., Dec. 2.—No man in Roosevelt county has done more to demonstrate the wonderful possibilities of eastern New Mexico in an agricultural way than has William Pattenfield.

Some three or four years ago he purchased the John W. Pickett place, three miles southwest of Portales at what was then considered a prohibitive price. In fact Mr. Pattenfield was rather sympathetic with an account of the acquisition of this piece of property. Instead of being discouraged by the current opinion, he began to get busy. His first action was to put in a 15-horse power gasoline engine and a 5-inch centrifugal pump to irrigate a young orchard which had been put out by the former owner. This orchard consisted of apples, cherries, and peaches, also quite a number of grapes, and comprised sixty acres in all. The next step was to set fifteen acres of alfalfa, this alfalfa he cut this year for the first time, and made four crops and could have cut the fifth time had he not been caught by an unusually early snow. His alfalfa made him six and a quarter tons to the acre and brought him $116 per acre for the four cuttings. He did all of his own work and thus was out but little money but he estimated that had he employed help to do the work, it would have cost him $16 per acre, labor and irrigation, thus leaving him a clear profit of $100 per acre.

Also his orchard came into bearing this year for the first time and he realized from that alone $1,000, without taking into consideration the revenue from the small fruit, of which he had abundance. Not yet satisfied with this fall, so that next year he will have fifty-five acres of alfalfa instead of fifteen.

Mr. Pattenfield figures that his irrigation plant costs him about 95 cents per day when in operation, and he says that he has all the water he can use, both for his alfalfa and the orchard. This is certainly a case where pluck and an indomitable energy has made good and convinced the most skeptical that Portales valley has all the natural elements necessary to make any ordinary man independent. If he will only supply a little elbow grease together with ordinary horse sense, Mr. Pattenfield's place is not for sale at any price in fact, he says that anyone who is able to buy it and pay for it, is able to live for the next hundred years without work and without worry.

With the Coming of Middle Age—There is a letting down in the physical forces of men when in middle age and painful kidney and bladder ailments and urinary irregularities. Foley Kidney Pills are a splendid regulating and strengthening medicine at such a time. Try them.—J. H. O'Reilly.

National Need.
 Now, if some one will invent an endless shirt to go with the endless necktie, and some kind of a collapsible nightgown to fit the vest pocket, for use when you are ordered suddenly to leave town, life will resume its grand, sweet song.

Ownership of the Winds.
 In 1590 some friars in Switzerland wished to build a windmill to save the labor of grinding corn by hand, but a neighboring lord who had bought the land around forbade them because he said he owned the winds. The bishop was appealed to, who said the winds belonged to the church!

Unusual Relationships.
 Numerous and very unusual relationships figure in the family of Mrs. Nancy King, aged eighty-seven, who died recently at Gilmore's Mill, Canby township, Fayette county, Pa. Deceased was the mother of ten daughters and two sons. Fear of the daughters married Liebharts, twin daughters married Tannehill brothers and two other daughters married Butter brothers. Nine children and many grandchildren of Mrs. King survive her.

There is little danger from a cold or from an attack of the grip except when followed by pneumonia, and this never happens when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. This remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds and grip and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

A Household Medicine

That stops coughs quickly and cures colds is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Mrs. Anna Palmer, 2336 Jefferson St., So. Omaha, Neb., says: "I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound as a sure cure for coughs and colds. It cured my daughter of a bad cold and my neighbor, Mrs. Benson, cured herself and her whole family with Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. Everyone in our neighborhood speaks highly of it." J. H. O'Reilly.

Unusual Relationships.

Numerous and very unusual relationships figure in the family of Mrs. Nancy King, aged eighty-seven, who died recently at Gilmore's Mill, Canby township, Fayette county, Pa. Deceased was the mother of ten daughters and two sons. Fear of the daughters married Liebharts, twin daughters married Tannehill brothers and two other daughters married Butter brothers. Nine children and many grandchildren of Mrs. King survive her.

Ownership of the Winds.

In 1590 some friars in Switzerland wished to build a windmill to save the labor of grinding corn by hand, but a neighboring lord who had bought the land around forbade them because he said he owned the winds. The bishop was appealed to, who said the winds belonged to the church!
