McNAMARAS ENTER PRISON, THERE TO EXPIATE CRIMES

Identity Is Lost and They Hereafter Will be Known Merely As Convicts Nos. 25,314 and 25,315.

BROTHERS WILL OCCUPY ONE CELL TOGETHER

Trying Ordeal Incident to Being Measured and Photographed Had No Visible Effect on the Prisoners.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
San Quentin, Cal., Dec. 10.—The McNamara brothers today entered San Quentin penitentiary, where James B. is condemned to spend the remainder of his life for the confessed crime of murder and John J. secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers is sentenced to fifteen years' imprisonment for dynamiting. It was James B. who blew up the Los Angeles Times building October 1, 1910, with the loss of twenty-one lives, and John J. who abetted in wrecking part of the Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles the following Christmas day. The pleas of guilty entered by these men, closed these two cases and opened up a nationwide investigation, including probes by two federal grand juries, into a series of dynamiting reaching "from coast to coast and perpetrated generally where labor differences existed, to a marked degree."

The men entered the prison, it is fairly authenticated, believing that they had achieved much for the cause of union labor, and had been cruelly misunderstood in their efforts, and the results they obtained.

John J. McNamara, those who have talked with him for many hours say, judged his convict garb a devoted admirer of the little simple, kindly deeds and a firm believer in the psychological efficacy of dynamite.

James B. habitually believes a good deal as his brother believes. For themselves the men would say nothing at all.

Whirled from Los Angeles on a fast night train, the men were taken from it at sunrise today, put on a little river steamer and landed two hours and a half later at San Quentin prison, on the shores of San Pablo bay. The shackles which bound them together on the boat trip were slipped off and they toiled up the prison hill beside Sheriff Hammill of Los Angeles county, walking as free men. As the prison clock struck 10, John J. McNamara, preceded by Warden John Taylor, stepped over the threshold of the jail door, with his brother directly behind him.

In five minutes James B. McNamara had become convict No. 25,314, and John J. McNamara convict No. 25,315.

They were measured for jail clothing, photographed in two positions, given a card, shaved and cropped, and re-photographed within an hour and turned over to John Murry, lieutenant of the yard, who took them to cell 18 in a stone tier looking out over the prison's "upper yard," a great flower garden, 18 adding the tier of cells in which condemned murderers are kept and the balcony outside is cut off by a little gate. Further down the row, toward the other end, is the cell of Abraham Lincoln, who is serving a fourteen-year sentence or "brilliant" in connection with the so-called San Francisco graft case. Ruef is in cell three, in cell 11 of the tier is Henry Dalton, for seventeen years assessor of Alameda county and recently convicted of accepting a bribe offered according to the evidence, by a public service corporation at Dalton's solicitation.

Soon after the men entered the jail the prison band began to play and continued until 1 p. m.

At 2 o'clock Sunday dinner was served. The McNamaras were furnished with a prison meal dinner card, done in three colors, and marked "San Quentin Grill." The prisoners who devised it had taken occasion to point out the attractions of the place.

"Never since the opening in 1852 has the San Quentin Grill enjoyed a better reputation or greater patronage than under the present management," wrote the wag in stripes. "There are at present over 1,944 regular boarders taking their meals at the grill. The cuisine and service are unsurpassed. Some of the boarders return six, eight and even ten times after trying other establishments. The location and climate are the finest in the world, situated at the foot of Mount Tamalpais, backed in the grand and glorious California sunshine, fanned by the breezes of San Pablo bay, the grill is an ideal resort for the year round."

A list of house rules likewise jesting, fills the back page.

The dinner the McNamaras ate consisted of corned beef, brown gravy, steamed potatoes, boiled beans, covered dried fruit, coffee cake, bread and coffee.

The brothers passed the rest of the day in their cells. Tomorrow they will begin work in the jail mill. Warden Hoyle said, but James B. on examination of Sheriff Hammill, will be assigned for tuberculosis, and it shows symptoms of it will be given other work.

Half a dozen passengers, craning their necks from car windows, discovered today that they had traveled all night with the McNamaras as train companions. Scores more had walked through the combination observation and compartment car without a hint that the brothers were within reaching distance. At Car-

quizes Stratts, the men handcuffed together were slipped from the rear platform of the observation car with Sheriff Hammill on one side and Under Sheriff Robert T. Brain on the other. Chief of Police C. E. Sebastian of Los Angeles, followed and a cluster of deputy sheriffs hovered about the party which included Bernard Flood, a lieutenant in the New York detective bureau. The men were hurried to the little steamer Caroline, a hundred yards away, and swung into the bay determined to attain the eleven mile speed, which her engineer, John Connor, told the sheriff she could make in a favorable breeze and tide.

Captain W. G. Leale, who makes the daily trip from the straits to the prison, took them into the saloon, a room lined with life preserver racks and containing a picture of a summer hotel. The rising sun streamed through the door across the oil-cloth topped tables on one of which lay the captain's visitors book.

At his request the men wrote their names in it and then John J. adorned the book with the motto which glowed the top of the page.

"And where we love is home," "Home that our feet may leave, but not our hearts," "The chain may lengthen, but it never parts."

He read and turned away without a sign that he had seen.

Later, on deck, Sheriff Hammill pointed out the entrance to Mare Island navy yard.

Although the men were silent as images today, John J. lay in his state-room berth last night and talked for half an hour to Deputy Sheriff James Cathors, to whom he took a great liking in his imprisonment. To Cathors he showed his plain gold cuff links.

"One of my brothers gave me those," he said. "I value them more than anything. It seems to me that life's little kindnesses—things which we value for the effort or the intent which we know is behind them—should mean more to us."

When he was searched today at the penitentiary he handed the links to George Collins, a convict who used to be a San Francisco attorney.

"I don't care about the other things," he said, "but please be sure to save these for me."

To Attorney Clarence S. Barrow, his chief counsel, to E. Cathors and to other men who have talked with John J. McNamara he had developed a view of life's necessities which, it is declared, not only has fortified him in the ordeal which he underwent today, but convinced him that, right or wrong, the dynamiting which he did and the dynamiting which his brother did, were inevitable.

More than this, men in his confidence affirm, he is today a good friend of organized labor and believes that laboring men eventually will recognize this.

Stepped from his youth in the read of sociological works admitted to the bar as an attorney, the dynamiting theory, not for the damage, but for the psychological effect it might have finally, was adopted by his elder brother, it is said, as his best recourse in what he considered an insurmountable war and not until the Times explosion burst upon him with its loss of the lives of twenty-one persons, all wage earners, did he realize the frightful possibilities of his academic position.

Even then it is said he stoically decided that it was part of the plan and must go on, and today, rejected from coast to coast by union labor with scores of unions calling for the maximum penalty of the law for himself and his brother, he gave no outward sign of a change in the belief which led him yesterday to declare to Attorney Barrow: "I'm a union man, and I'm for union labor."

The McNamaras' first sight of their prison comrades might have occurred, as the Caroline steamed toward the bluff on which the prison stands, but it was said that the men in gray who stood watching the approach of the steamer were not observed and that two prisoners standing at the door of the jail stables were the men who drove home to the McNamaras the actuality that they, too, soon would wear stripes. Then they passed through lines of blank faced trustees and into a whole city full of striped men, moving like shadows.

The trip of the men from Los Angeles where they were put on a train last night after it had left the regular city station, to Carquinez straits, was but little different to them from their days in the jail where they have lived since April 26. Anxious to begin their sentence their trip to the penitentiary was accepted with some relief. Both men slept from about midnight until they were awakened shortly before 7 o'clock by Martin Aguirre, a former warden of San Quentin and now a deputy sheriff. A cup of coffee and some hot rolls nearly had been eaten when they were put on the boat for the quiet Sunday morning ride to their felon's cells.

RODGERS FINISHES FLIGHT TO THE PACIFIC

Soars From Spot Where He Fell on November 11 and Alights on Shore of Ocean at Long Beach.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Long Beach, Cal., Dec. 10.—Aviator C. E. Rodgers finished his transcontinental flight today at 4:04 o'clock at this place. He started from the spot where he fell November 11. A crowd estimated at sixty thousand persons saw the finish of the trip and as the wheels of Rodgers' machine touched the sands an immense crowd surged about the aviator and the impact of the rush pushed his machine into the water.

Rodgers declared his actual flying time from the Atlantic was three days, ten hours and fourteen minutes.

REYES REPORTED SEEN AT RANCHERIAS, MEXICO

Mexico City, Dec. 10.—Yesterday General Bernardo Reyes was seen at Rancherias, a village in Mexico, between Mer and Camargo on the Rio Grande, according to the Lampazos correspondent of El Imparcial, who reported the discovery today.

No such report has been received by the government. Officials admit their lack of knowledge of his whereabouts. The Imparcial's correspondent says Reyes was sighted by the river guards who also obtained information that a son of the general was recruiting men on the hacienda Hacienda.

DENVER IN HANDS OF CATTLEMEN OF COUNTRY

Hundreds of Delegates Arrive to Attend Annual Convention of American National Livestock Association.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Denver, Dec. 10.—Three hundred of the five hundred delegates who will attend the fifteenth annual convention of the American National Livestock Association, which begins in Denver Tuesday morning, had arrived tonight and others will arrive tomorrow and Tuesday. The sessions will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Broadway theater. Stockmen will be here from probably every state in the union.

The executive committee of the association will meet tomorrow at the headquarters in the Brown Palace hotel and lay out the work for the various sessions.

Wednesday at noon the delegates will go to the Denver stock yards, where they will be entertained at a luncheon as guests of the Denver Live Stock Exchange. Wednesday night there will be a dance and reception at the Brown Palace.

It is said that many of the cattlemen are favorable to the admission to this country of Mexican cattle free of duty with the idea that this will assist to a degree in getting stock cattle for the depleted ranges of the United States, and in no way prove detrimental to breeders or feeders of live stock.

A committee will be named by the stock men to go to Washington during the present session of congress to take up the matter of "free Mexican cattle."

Tomorrow night the stock men will give a banquet complimentary to Mardo MacKenzie of Trinidad, Colorado, the association's president, who leaves soon for South America to reside.

DEPUTY MARSHAL WHO SHOT MAN EXONERATED

Centralla, Ill., Dec. 10.—The coroner's jury that investigated the death of George Lewis, special agent of the Illinois Central railroad, who was shot and killed last night by Deputy United States Marshal James E. Bacon, today returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide in self-defense."

Bacon was discharged from custody. The testimony developed that four shots were exchanged in the duel that followed the dispute between Lewis and Bacon over their authority in connection with the strike of Illinois Central shopmen.

Lewis formerly was warden of the Wyoming penitentiary. His body will be taken to his old home in Ogden, Utah.

Rain Delays Fowler.
Beaumont, Texas, Dec. 10.—A rain prevented Robert G. Fowler, the transcontinental aviator, from leaving here today. He expects to leave tomorrow morning about 11 o'clock for Lake Charles, Louisiana.

WRECKED COLLIERY BECOMES TOMB OF OVER HUNDRED MINERS

Eight Mangled Bodies Taken From Tennessee Mine, When Black Damp Puts Stop to the Work of Rescuers.

HEARTBROKEN FAMILIES HOPE AGAINST HOPE

They Are Only Ones in Stricken Camp Who Believe That Any Living Thing Survived Terrible Explosion.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Bristolville, Tenn., Dec. 10.—Some where in the depths of the Cross Mountain coal mine, probably 100 men lie dead tonight, while their sorrow-stricken families keep vigil at the mouth of their tomb, hoping against hope that their loved ones may be alive when rescuers reach them.

Eight mangled bodies were brought forth by nightfall, when search was abandoned for the day. Outside of the immediate families of the entombed men no one in this little mountain village believes that any living thing in the mine has survived the terrific explosion of coal dust that wrecked the workings Saturday morning.

For more than thirty-six hours every surviving miner in this region has toiled with no thought of food, sleep or pay, to remove the debris and force fresh air into the innermost recesses of the mine. Tonight they practically had penetrated to the main entry head, nearly three miles underground. Tomorrow they expect to be ready to work the cross-entries, in which the great mass of bodies undoubtedly were cast by the blast.

Black damp late today developed and stopped progress for a time but soon the silent force pushed dauntlessly on, some of them until they were carried out overcome by the noxious gases.

Thousands of the morbidly curious flocked into Bristolville today and crowded about the main entry of the mine. They saw nothing but the pitiful remains of the stricken families. There is hardly a family in the entire Cross Creek valley that has not felt the touch of death.

The problem of caring for widows and orphans is great, requiring immediate solution. Certainly Bristolville will be unable to care for its living with most of her wage earners numbered among the dead.

Tonight food is scarce but plentiful supplies are promised for tomorrow from Knoxville. So far there has been little physical suffering among the families of those who lost their lives.

It has been impossible to get any authentic figures on the exact number in the mine when the explosion occurred. Mine officials have given out no statement. It is also impossible so far to get any check on the men who went to work yesterday morning. That it is more than a hundred is certain, and that they are all dead seems almost as certain.

That the black damp will be driven from the workings tonight, is believed. Tomorrow with the crew of one rescue car on the ground, another hurrying here, and representatives of the Red Cross on hand, it is expected that rescue work will be far better retarded, will go forward rapidly.

The work of rescue moved slowly today and tonight, partly because the entombed men are believed to have made some progress in the last few miles from the opening, and partly because of black damp.

Electrical devices for moving cars in the workings were shattered by the explosion and the debris cleared away in the tunnels is being handled by mule carts to the surface. Mine experts tonight said it would be days before each lateral had been penetrated, and said that when all bodies would be found was all guess work.

A pull of silent sorrow hovered about the mouth of the mine as thousands congregated, some standing for hours and others moving momentarily from one point of vantage to another.

The single disturbance of this scene of silent sorrow was when Rev. Emmerich, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Coal Creek, exhorted those within hearing of his voice to accept the disaster of Saturday morning as a warning to prepare to meet death.

Ericville, Tenn., Dec. 10.—The bodies of seven men recovered tonight sitting upright in a train of nine cars in cross entry No. 24, two miles from the mouth of the mine, brought the list of known dead from the explosion of Saturday morning up to sixteen. Eight of the bodies are still in the mine, the other eight having been brought forth and identified by relatives.

The seven men were on their way to work in the motor driven cars when the death blast overcame them. Among them were father and son, sitting side by side.

Rescue work was continued tonight by two crews of twelve men each worked in two hour shifts before midnight.

The great fan has been rigged up at the entrance and forced much of the after-damp out of the mine entry and the workers were able to proceed more speedily and with greater results.

Takes Possession of Church.
Rome, Dec. 10.—Cardinal Farley, after attending a dinner given in the Irish college today in honor of Cardinal Hallett, took possession of his titular church, Santa Maria Sopra Minerva. The ceremony was imposing. The church was crowded with 10,000 persons of all nationalities. Cardinal Farley sat on the throne surrounded by clergy and received the homage of church dignitaries.

Bomb Explosion Causes Panic.
Liege, Belgium, Dec. 10.—A dynamite bomb exploded tonight at a crowded cinematograph exhibition. A terrible panic ensued in which fifty persons were injured, several of them mortally. The police believe that a discharged employe threw the bomb for revenge.

CHICAGO WILL GET NEXT NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Preliminary Canvass of Committeemen Gathered in Washington for Meeting Indicates Its Selection.

CHAIRMANSHIP NOT TO BE DECIDED ON

Former Governor Hills of Maine to Serve in This Capacity Till Presidential Nomination Is Made.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Washington, Dec. 10.—By the arrival in Washington today of practically all the members of the republican national committee it became possible to forecast just what will be done by the committee at its meeting Tuesday.

As a result of the many conferences held today the following program seems to have been acted upon: Chicago will get the national convention and it will be held the last week in June.

There will be no fight for the chairmanship of the committee at this time. Former Governor John F. Hills of Maine, the vice-chairman will be elected to serve until the presidential nomination is made.

The question of selecting delegates at presidential primaries or by the customary delegate conventions, will be left to the various states to determine for themselves. President Taft is said to favor this disposition of the matter.

The committee will not sanction the resolution for a reduction of southern representation declaring this to be a question for determination by the convention itself.

President Taft will entertain the committeemen at dinner tomorrow night. This dinner probably will be the most important, politically, given at the White House during the present administration.

The committee will not bar federal officeholders as delegates to the national convention, taking the ground that the question is one for the convention to decide. The representatives of the southern states are expected to discourage officeholders from seeking election as delegates and President Taft, it is said, will approve this.

The adjustment of the presidential primary question "out of court" was demanded by the fears of friends of Colonel Roosevelt that the primaries if adopted at this time might cut off the possibility of nominating him. At presidential primaries the voters would be called upon to elect delegates to select a convention, and the delegates would then select a convention.

The men behind this Roosevelt movement do not believe the Roosevelt sentiment will have time to crystallize prior to primary elections in certain western states. This, states where they would look for the strongest support might be compelled to record their preferences for some other candidate. His nomination, they say, must come through the endorsement of the convention.

Six states thus far have presidential primary laws—North Dakota, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon, New Jersey and South Dakota.

While Chicago seems to have been determined upon as the convention city the champions of St. Louis, Denver, Cincinnati, Philadelphia and Baltimore have not abandoned the fight. They undoubtedly will put in a formal bid for the convention.

St. Louis has been the most formidable rival of Chicago, with the claims of Denver and Cincinnati being next most prominently presented.

While the last week in June seems to be favored as the best time for holding the convention, the date is not so early a date is the presidential primary in South Dakota on June 4. There is a rule that delegates to the convention must be selected at least thirty days prior to the convention in order to give ample opportunity for the adjudicating of any contests.

It is likely that an order will be adopted waiving this rule in the case of any states that find it impossible or inconvenient to select delegates before June 1.

Several changes have been made in the national committee in the last four years, due to deaths or resignations. T. A. Marlow succeeds Thomas C. Marshall of Montana, and S. A. Perkins succeeds H. L. McCormick of Washington.

KING AND QUEEN ARE KEPT BUSY AT DELHI

Delhi, Dec. 10.—King George has had a busy time since his arrival in camp, for there has been a succession of ceremonies during the last three days. More than one hundred native princes have been received in audience by the king and their visits have been returned at the king's command by the viceroys.

Today King George and Queen Mary received an open-air church parade, which was an impressive spectacle. Few Americans are attending the durbar, apparently being deterred by fears of extortionate rates for accommodations. At one of the leading hotels the minimum rate for each person is $30 daily for a minimum of twenty days.

Bomb Explosion Causes Panic.
Liege, Belgium, Dec. 10.—A dynamite bomb exploded tonight at a crowded cinematograph exhibition. A terrible panic ensued in which fifty persons were injured, several of them mortally. The police believe that a discharged employe threw the bomb for revenge.

INDIANAPOLIS TO BE MADE CENTER OF FEDERAL INQUIRY

Government Will Conduct Its Investigation Into Dynamiting Conspiracies Before the Grand Jury There.

M'MANIGAL AGREES TO TELL ALL HE KNOWS

Believed Forthcoming Probe Will Result in Sensational Exposure of Alleged "Higher Ups" in Plot.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Los Angeles, Dec. 10.—Orville E. McManigal will be taken to Indianapolis within a few days to tell the federal grand jury there what he knows of the alleged dynamiting conspiracies, the first chapter of which was closed today with the placing of James B. and John J. McNamara in the San Quentin prison.

Just when McManigal will leave here has not been determined, but he will be in Indianapolis by December 22, the federal grand jury being scheduled to begin its work there on December 14. Oscar Lawlor, the government's special prosecutor, may go to Indianapolis, too, to assist in the handling of the case. The grand jury investigation will be concluded here this week. The investigation here is aimed at less than five people while the Indianapolis inquiry is expected to bring into the limelight at least a dozen persons. Indianapolis, therefore, will be the center of the government's investigation.

These facts were learned today by the Associated Press after a canvass of various people who had much to do with the McNamara case here and who will continue to work on it. Partial confirmation came from McManigal himself at the county jail today when he said:

"I'll tell any grand jury anywhere everything that I know. I have nothing to conceal and I will consider it my duty to give the authorities all the information in my possession."

McManigal will be accompanied when he leaves here by Malcolm McLaren, the Burns detective who arrested him in Detroit last April and who has been with him constantly ever since, spending whole days with him at a time. The men have become good friends and it is to McLaren that McManigal has given day by day his real confession.

"There are lots of things," said McLaren tonight, "which McManigal would not think important in our talks but which furnished the detectives back east some busy times. Time and again he would say, 'I could remember the name of the hotel where he stopped in certain cities, but he could pretty nearly point it out on a map, as his remembrance of the location at least would be good. We would have to search the registers of a number of towns, we have in every instance corroborated McManigal's story by hotel registers showing his signatures.'"

That reports of what McManigal was telling him in the jail daily since his arrival here on April 26, covered on some occasions as much as 3,000 words and these statements have been turned over by the state authorities to the federal government.

Mr. Lawlor, before his appointment as special government prosecutor assisted District Attorney Fredericks in the prosecution of the McNamaras. He knows what McManigal has divulged and is thoroughly familiar with details of the conspiracies as detailed by McManigal.

For this reason it is believed that Lawlor will go to Indianapolis to examine McManigal before the grand jury there, but that point has not yet been finally determined by the department of justice at Washington. McManigal simply will be loaned to the federal government by the state authorities here and after his trip around the country giving his statements, he very likely will be released. He will spend a different Christmas, however, this year than last, when he placed dynamite under a part of the Llewellyn Iron Works.

They were directed by J. J. McNamara. McManigal can be imprisoned for not less than a year, but his detentions by the authorities before they get through with his testimony will be equivalent to that and no serious sections in his release are expected from anybody.

He will be closely guarded, however, at all times and his trip across the continent will be made in secret.

Twenty-five witnesses are expected to appear before the grand jury here this week.

So far as the investigation here is concerned, interest will center in the appearance of some of San Francisco's labor leaders who have been suspended and it is expected before the week all important angles in the McNamara case will have vanished so far as the public here is concerned, as indictments are not expected for several weeks. The grand jury here, it is thought will not return indictments until after the Indianapolis probe is well under way.

As far as the government is concerned, it can make either Los Angeles or Indianapolis the center of its activities, but it is believed that Los Angeles business men have asked that the honors be passed to Indianapolis. Business men here declare the McNamara cases have affected the town's prosperity and they desire that it be passed on.

That Orville E. McManigal received money from officials other than J. J. McNamara connected with the Intenational Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, is contained in his confession. This information came from reliable authority, but the same authority declined to comment on whether Mr. Hockin knew anything about it or not.

This phase of the case, it was said, is more within the scope of the Indianapolis grand jury than the probe here. Persons on the coast alleged to be chiefly involved will be the principal object of the probe in this city.

Tomorrow another angle of the McNamara case is expected to be concluded for the present. But if, Franklin, charged with bringing a prospective juror in the McNamara case, will be arraigned for preliminary examination. A few witnesses will be put on the stand by the state but the defense probably will not indulge in cross-examination. It is believed Franklin will be bound over for trial by a justice of the superior court, the trial date to be set several weeks hence.

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY REFUSES INFORMATION

Indianapolis, Dec. 10.—I will not say when C. E. McManis will be brought here, I will not say if he is to be brought here at all, was the statement tonight of United States District Attorney Miller when informed of the Los Angeles dispatch stating that McManis would be brought to Indianapolis within a few days.

"I refuse to make any statements in regard to the dynamite investigation," said Mr. Miller.

The report that the executive committee of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers has been in secret conference in some place other than Indianapolis since yesterday was given credence tonight by the fact that both Frank M. Ryan, president of the association, and H. S. Hockin, its acting secretary, have been out of the city.

Lee M. Rayport, attorney for the association, said President Ryan, was in Chicago, but no information regarding the whereabouts of Secretary Hockin could be obtained.

The report was further substantiated by the fact that none of the executive committee, several of whom have been here for a week or more, could be found today. According to reports the meeting probably will be held in Chicago.

John J. Kirby, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, president of the National Association of Manufacturers went to Chicago today after a conference here with Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' association, J. A. G. Hadoff, also of the Erectors' association, and a number of Detroit Burns' men.

The conference it is said, had to do with producing evidence in line with the dynamite investigation to be resumed here next Thursday by the federal grand jury.

Detective Burns is expected to return to Indianapolis tomorrow and complete his side of the case for the federal grand jury.

It was not known tonight how long Mr. Burns would remain.

DETECTIVES CLAMOR FOR BLOOD OF McNAMARAS

Columbus, O., Dec. 10.—Conspiring the labor unions and labor leaders for clamoring for the blood of the McNamaras, and declaring that if they had announced their present stand toward violence a year ago, much of their activity might be averted.

Dr. Washington, director of the investigation, delivered a sermon on "The Dynamite" at the city hall.

Dr. Gladden maintained that inasmuch as the brothers by confessing to their crimes, have cleared the atmosphere surrounding the case and eliminated all chance of the labor unions declaring them martyrs, they are entitled to clemency. That the brothers acted under a mistaken impression that violence would aid the labor cause, was admitted by the clergyman, who said that the labor protest against dynamiting and outrages against the property of employers had come too late.

While many outrages have been committed in many cities and towns throughout the country by labor sympathizers and others, he said, never before have the unions taken so decided an attitude as now.

Dr. Gladden suggested that labor and capital take warning from the McNamara case and hold a general conference to form a stronger bond between the two factions.

NUMEROUS WITNESSES IN OAKLAND ARE SUBPOENAED

San Francisco, Dec. 10.—Twelve more subpoenas were served here and in Oakland today on persons desired to appear before the federal grand jury in Los Angeles and testify regarding the dynamite conspiracies exposed by the confessions of the McNamara brothers. Most of them have been before the county grand jury in Los Angeles and would have been witnesses in the McNamara trial. Thirteen subpoenas were served here yesterday.

MAN WHO HARBORED McNAMARA MUST EXPLAIN

Salt Lake City, Dec. 10.—J. A. Munsey, business agent of the local Iron Workers union, accompanied by Mrs. Munsey, left this afternoon for Los Angeles, where they will appear before the federal grand jury inquiring into the dynamite cases. It is alleged that James B. McNamara after dynamiting the Times building in Los Angeles, remained for two weeks as a secret guest at the Munsey home. The officers believe that McNamara told Munsey of the plot at that time.

NEW VAUDEVILLE AT ORPHEUM TONIGHT

The two Murphys in a novelty western act with special scenery will be the new vaudeville attraction at the Orpheum tonight. Also Master Leon and Little Virginia will appear at the head of the famous orphan chorus, the most popular and modestly dressed chorus ever seen in Albuquerque. Come and see for yourself. They will appear in Yama Yama costumes singing the great New York hit, "Jimmy Valentine." All new pictures. Two shows a night. All seats ten cents.

Doctor Guilty of Manslaughter

Des Moines, Ia., Dec. 10.—The jury in the case of Dr. Harry D. Kelly, accused of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Clarence Woolman of Council Bluffs, returned a verdict of manslaughter at 8 o'clock tonight after being out fifty-four hours.

The young Council Bluffs physician shot and killed Deputy Sheriff Woolman in a room in a hotel, March 23, last, and a few minutes later shot and killed Edmund, a bartender, when the latter refused Kelly a drink.

ARMY OF UNITED STATES WOEFULLY UNPREPARED

Secretary of War Stimson Dwells on Alarming Condition in Annual Report to Commander-in-Chief.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Washington, Dec. 10.—In his annual report to the president today Secretary Stimson declared that the contingency of war with a first-class power would find the army of the United States practically unprepared.

He attributed this largely to the fact that the army was "scattered over the country" in too many posts, and to a lack of reserves. The army on the peace footing habitually maintained with miniature companies and troops, he characterized as ineffective for serious war service. As to the unpreparedness of the army in artillery and ammunition Secretary Stimson says:

"At the present rate of appropriation it is estimated that it would take more than fifty years to secure a reasonable supply of field artillery, guns, carriages and ammunition, that would be necessary in the event of war."

Congress is urged to express its wishes regarding the disposal of the unoccupied prior lands in the Philippines, to increase the limit of indebtedness that may be incurred by the Philippine government for public works from $5,000,000 to $15,000,000, to pass a Philippine naturalization law, and to grant pensions to Americans who have served ten years in the islands.

Secretary Stimson recommends that the permanent organization to operate the Panama canal be established on a strictly business basis and not with the idea of uplifting or governing a dependent people. The question of tolls he believes, should be left to the determination of the president. American shipping should be granted practically free use of the canal.

The army posts as now located are declared to be wholly unsuitable. They were originally located with reference to possible Indian troubles and few of them are situated to meet the strategic needs of the nation.

The average number of companies to each of the forty-nine posts is only nine.

"In short," says the secretary, "we have scattered our army over the country as if it were merely groups of local constabulary, instead of a national organization. Ours is an organization which is extraordinarily expensive to maintain and whose efficiency has been nullified so far as geographical location can nullify it."

The secretary has in contemplation the removal of the cavalry stationed in the far northern posts to the southward, substituting infantry for them. The Texas maneuvers have shown the admirable adaptability of the southern states for cavalry training and drill at all seasons, whereas in the far north for many months in the year, it is impossible to drill outdoors.

The secretary committed himself unqualifiedly to the theory that it is a function of the modern army to be the school of the citizen soldier, as opposed to those who contend for a permanent organization of professional soldiers. "Therefore, the secretary disapproves of the long term of enlistment and favors the shortening of the present term to less than three years, so as to allow many men as possible to go through the training of the regular army, the government retaining some hold over the discharged soldier by which he can be called to the colors in case of war."

The secretary denounces as shortsighted a system which fails to distinguish between hardened criminals and thoughtless offenders against military law and declares for immediate radical reform in the army prisons.

RUSSO-AMERICAN TREATY DOOMED SAYS PAPER

Novoe Vremya Characterizes Immigration Regulations of United States as Incredibly Cruel.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] St. Petersburg, Dec. 10.—The Novoe Vremya declares the days of the Russo-American commercial treaty, evidently so numbered because so completely and so extensively rights to foreigners than to its own subjects.

The paper says that from the Russian standpoint the American regulations are incredibly cruel, for in substance the rejection of immigrants who are not able to comply with the money qualification, and the exclusion of polygamists which closes the United States to sixteen million Russian Muscovites.

The Novoe Vremya says the logical development of the abrogation of the treaty will be the exclusion from America of hundreds of thousands of Russian Jews and "the centre for such exclusion" adds the paper "is the real motive of the Jews in the United States who are driving American politicians with a pitiless whip."

DR. ANGELL AUTHORITY OF SCIENTIFIC DISCOURSE

November Number of the American Physical Review Prints Article on "Thermal Conductivity."

The November number of the American Review, a journal of experimental and theoretical physics, and the organ of the American Physical society, contains a very interesting discourse by Dr. Martin F. Angell, dean of the department of Science and Engineering of the University of New Mexico, on "Thermal Conductivity in High Temperatures."

This article is based upon the study undertaken by Dr. Angell last year at the physics laboratory of the University of Wisconsin, when he was completing his thesis for the degree of doctor of philosophy. It contains some exceedingly original discoveries concerning the flow of heat in metals.

Up to the time of the investigation of Dr. Angell, the determination of this thermal flow had been confined to narrow limits, and the object of the investigation was to determine the thermal conductivity of a few metals over a wide range.

Thus the thermal conductivity of nickel, between the degrees of 20 to 1,600, centigrade, and that of aluminum between 100 and 600 degrees centigrade, were determined.

The results of this work by Dr. Angell will be far reaching and have made the subject of complimentary mention and notice in scientific circles. The paper was published in the American Physical Review and also translated into German and published in Berlin.

NEWS NOTES FROM DEMING

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.] Deming, N. M., Dec. 9.—A. L. Sanz returned last night from a business trip to El Paso.

Frank DeLunas, Jr., returned this morning from a business trip to El Paso.

S. L. Renditto, manager of the local Harvey house, is transacting business at El Paso for a few days. J. C. Brown, traveling auditor for the Harvey system has charge during Mr. Renditto's absence.

J. M. Sully and L. E. Foster, superintendent and chief engineer respectively of the El Paso Copper company at Santa Rita, came down in an automobile this morning, leaving here for El Paso by train. These gentlemen stated that there was snow on the Santa Rita mountains when they left there for Deming.

Last night between nine and ten o'clock Deming was visited by very heavy claps of thunder. There was considerable lightning, and the thunder being the severest that has visited this section for many years; the earth quivered and shook as if we were in an earthquake.

J. N. Upton has leased his fine farm of 480 acres on the Mimbres river, near Spaulding, to Albert Reed, for a period of three years. Mr. Reed is raising alfalfa and alfalfa principally. This being one of the finest farms in Luna county.

Henry Years of Irving, New York, has returned to Deming with a carload of household goods, farm implements for himself and Frank Flynn who is also from New York state. Mr. Flynn also brought with him a thoroughbred span of horses. These two gentlemen recently located on some land near the Red Mountain district of Deming. They will begin immediate work on farming some ground and putting down two irrigation wells.

The Pentecostal church of Nazarene which was recently organized in Deming, are now having built temporary quarters on the east of the Killinger block on Spruce street. Mr. E. B. Mackley the new pastor, was formerly pastor of the Reno avenue church of Nazarene at Oklahoma City.

At the regular meeting of Deming Lodge, No. 12, A. F. & A. M., held Thursday evening, the following officers were elected to serve for the ensuing term:

H. H. Kelly, W. M.; R. E. Cameron, S. W.; H. Swannay, J. W.; Joe Corbett, treasurer; H. D. Green, secretary; Thomas Brown, Tyler.

Ed Snyder, recently of San Francisco, Cal., has opened up a jewelry store in the old Graphic building on Gold avenue, with his brother Charles Snyder, who is an experienced jeweler of Bloomington, Ill. A. H. Snyder will have an office in the same building and act as agent for gasoline engines. Mr. A. H. Snyder was a former resident of El Paso, Texas, before coming to Deming.

Dr. O. O. Osborne recently from Lodi, Cal., states that he and other Californians who have recently settled here have entered into a contract with the McMuth brothers of Vacaville, Cal., to put down ten large irrigation wells on the lands of these settlers who are located west of Deming in the vicinity of the Red Mountain. McMuth brothers are experienced well drillers from California. They now have three rigs operating in parts of California and will order an entire new outfit shipped direct from the factory to Deming. The settlers who have contracted for wells to be dug are as follows: O. O. Osborne, Chester Welch, W. A. Williams, W. T. Williams, Mrs. Ernest Cooper, Miss Jennie Gray, H. W. Boscoe, D. D. Smith, and D. H. Crane. Pumping plants will be installed on all of these places owned by these parties as soon as the wells are completed.

GOVERNORS ARRIVE IN LITTLE OLD NEW YORK

Western Executives Create Considerable of Furore in Metropolis of United States.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] New York, Dec. 10.—The governors of eight states on their special train bearing exhibits from their territory, arrived here this morning and spent a busy day in the metropolis.

The party was met at the Jersey City terminal by a committee of city officials, members of the chamber of commerce, the Merchants' association and the Rocky Mountain club.

The governors were ferried across the river in a police boat and on this side fifty mounted policemen with a bugler, escorted them in automobiles to their hotel.

The governors were guests of William R. Hearst at a luncheon and several of them were guests of the Y. M. C. A. branches where they made speeches.

Governor Odell of Nevada told of having laid the cornerstone for a Y. M. C. A. building in Reno, and many of the auditors laughed.

"I know what you mean," he said, "and I am going to tell you about it. Reno is a city of only 15,000 people, but it raised $100,000 for that Y. M. C. A. building in just ten days. Gambling was stopped out there two years ago and the day of the wide-open state has passed away. The press of the entire country have made much fun about the easy conditions of divorce in Nevada and there is much truth in what they say. Nevada is ready to make a strong effort to bring about uniform divorce laws and her people wish heartily to do away with the evil. At the next conference of governors I hope to see them stand for uniform divorce laws in all the states and I expect to be very active in that regard."

At a dinner tonight Governor Dix of New York welcomed the executives in a brief address.

"There is some misconception in certain parts of the west of a certain locality down town in this city—a certain street," he said. "You will find, however, that the people located there are people from every state in the union who are working out industrial problems which reach into every state and they are working out the financial problems of the world. You and all of us are a part of these problems."

James M. Brady, ex-governor of Idaho, and chairman of the party, was taken ill today. His condition is not serious.

FIVE PRISONERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY ARE MISSING

Inmates of the Bastille Saw Through Bars, Knock Down Jailor and Depart for Parts Unknown; Boy Bandit Loose.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.] Carrizozo, N. M., Dec. 9.—Five prisoners escaped from the Lincoln county jail late this afternoon at Lincoln. The prisoners sawed the bars of the cage in which they were confined, escaped from the cage and knocked the jailer down and took his gun and keys away from him. They then unlocked the jail door and took to the hills. A posse is out in search of the fugitives. The leader of the gang of escaped prisoners is Frank Williams, alias Francisco Luciano, the boy bandit, who was captured last week at the Hansonberg ranch in Socorro county by deputies William Barnett and C. P. Lemmons after they had trailed Williams for four days across the country. One of the other escaped prisoners is Miguel Luna who was bound over at Lincoln charged with intent to kill, he being the person shot at by J. J. Aragon twice with a six-shooter but missed each time.

It is thought that the fugitives have gone in the direction of Roswell.

There is now only one prisoner left in the Lincoln county jail. Why he did not leave with the bunch is not known here.

CONGRESS WILL PASS TWO LAWS THIS WEEK

Washington, Dec. 10.—Most of the congressional activity this week will be in committees, although the Sherwood pension bill is expected to be passed on Tuesday and the urgent deficiency appropriation bills probably will be enacted into law before congress takes its holiday recess.

Leaders in both houses appear to favor some form of service pension legislation. The Sherwood bill would involve expenditures estimated at from forty million dollars upward, for union veterans who served ninety days or more, the monthly pension ranging from $15 to $19, according to length of service.

The house committee on "sugar trust" affairs has taken a recess over the holidays.

Congress is in a lethargic state over the tariff issues. The house republicans are looking ahead to the tariff board's report which is expected by the end of the week. The democratic house, through the ways and means committee, has agreed to defer action until the report is received. The senate is marking time on the house. The insurgent republican senators are playing a waiting game.

OMAHA TO ROYALLY ENTERTAIN SHEEPMEN

Arrangements Complete for Forty-Eighth Annual Meeting of National Wool Growers' Association.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.] Omaha, Neb., Dec. 10.—With the forty-eighth annual meeting of the National Wool Growers' association, but a few days away, arrangements are practically complete for the entertainment and business affairs of this great body of men. Anticipating an attendance of 1,500 sheepmen of the west and northwest, extensive plans have been made for caring for the delegates when they arrive in Omaha.

The installation of the pens in the great auditorium, where the mid-winter sheep show will be held, has begun and when the curtains go up on the big show on the morning of December 13, the big building will be loaded with high-class sheep, properly maintained and prepared for the inspection of visitors.

Practically all the sheep that have been on exhibition at the International live stock show in Chicago are in Omaha. After a trip to Chicago, Joseph Shoemaker of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange, reports that all the big exhibitors are making extensive plans to show their sheep in the west. The entry list has reached the 800 mark, which assures the largest show of its kind ever held in the west.

The program for the big meeting is completed. The convention will open on December 14, and extend over a period of three days.

The entertainment feature of the session will be complete in every detail. On Thursday night, a theater party will be given for the delegates and their friends. The Commercial club of Omaha is sponsoring this event. On the following evening the Live Stock exchange of South Omaha will give a vaudeville and luncheon in the exchange building, which will eclipse anything of its kind which has ever been held in the South Omaha building. Arrangements are being made to care for 1,500 guests that evening.

The attendance will be varied, delegations coming from all over the United States. The Nebraska delegation will be quartered at the Her Grand Hotel. Wyoming's delegation will come down in a special train, while the Montana delegation will come in another special train. New Mexico, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Indiana will be strongly represented, while a small delegation will come all the way from Pennsylvania.

E. Buckingham, superintendent of the Union Stock yards, who is chairman of the executive committee, predicts the largest turn-out of sheepmen, which have ever gathered in annual convention. "The intense interest in legislation, which directly affects the sheepmen, is responsible for this activity," says Mr. Buckingham.

RUSSIAN ADVANCE ON TEHRAN IS DELAYED

London, Dec. 11.—The Tehran correspondent of the Times says the whole Russian expedition will not reach Kasbin until Wednesday, the wintry weather delaying the progress of the troops. There will probably be further delay before the march of Teheran begins.

In the meantime pourparlers will be established between a Persian cabinet and the Russian minister regarding the ultimatum with a view of finding a formula for a second article less wounding to Persian sensibilities. The cabinet, after the correspondent is disposed to make large concessions.

ROPER DISCUSSES NEEDED CHANGES
IN RULES

Princeton Football Coach Favors Modification of Forward Pass; Would Reduce Ground to Be Gained.

Coach W. W. Roper, who brought the Princeton Tigers to the front this year in football circles as the champions of the big eastern eleven has his own ideas as to what changes are necessary in the rules to make them better and to improve the game. Coach Roper has had a world of experience and therefore is competent to talk about the proposed changes. He differs from many of those who would remain on the side of the conservative authorities. He would not return to the old game of beef and brawn where injuries were so common.

Coach Roper believes that the rules for kicking should be changed so that on a kick both teams are outside when the ball touches the ground. He would reduce the ground to be gained in three downs from ten to eight yards and would give alternate kicks to each team. In a recent article written for the Washington Star he states his beliefs as follows:

Two years ago there was an almost unanimous demand from the heads of most, if not all, the large educational institutions in the country to change the football rules then existing. This demand was made on the score of the danger of the game.

When the rules committee met in the winter of 1910 their main thought was: "How can we make football less dangerous for those participating in the game?"

They quickly reached the conclusion: "Abolish the rule allowing assistance to the man carrying the ball."

The last two years demonstrated the wisdom of this legislation. Football has become safe—that is, as safe as any game can be where there is physical contact among the players. Football today is as safe as baseball, hockey or basketball and more so than wrestling or boxing.

In the last two years at Princeton on the varsity and freshmen football squads, numbering over a hundred men, there has been one serious accident, a broken leg. On baseball and wrestling teams of the past season men have been prevented from playing by injuries of a more serious nature.

I lay this emphasis on the necessity of maintaining the safety of the game because, in my opinion, there should be no meddling with the rules which prevents assisting the runner. This rule should remain as it is today. There is a great hue and cry in some quarters to change the rules. And, while the football rules need some alterations, they also need simplifying just as badly. There are too many points that need interpretation and too many artificial restrictions in the rules.

One of the most important things to be considered is the jurisdiction of officials. In the first place, there are too many under the present rules. Three competent officials are plenty.

The referee has too many duties as it is, and he certainly should be relieved from the arduous job of keeping time. In the last minute or so of each quarter he is practically able to do nothing else.

Secondly, why make a ball be kicked from a point five yards behind the line of scrimmage, and why make the kicking team, outside after the ball has struck in the field of play twenty yards from the line of scrimmage, and not outside after the ball has gone nineteen yards and a half? Is this not absolutely an artificial ruling? Would not the restrictions hedging in a kicked ball be removed. Would not a rule stating that soon as a kicked ball touched the ground both teams were outside, fill the bill much better? This would encourage a return punt and even a return kick off. In these two plays the scoring possibilities would be many and varied.

Why allow the team kicking off in the first half to do so in the second? In a game between two evenly balanced eleven losing the toss means that your chances of scoring are lessened nearly 50 percent.

Should the forward pass be kept? There are many who favor its retention and many who believe it should be eliminated. To my mind the forward pass is a departure from football and today is so hedged about by technicalities that it merely serves as a buffer on the defensive backs in certain quarters of the field. If the forward pass must be retained, let the rules be so modified that it is at least possible to make a pass with a fair chance of success, and do not restrict it to five yards behind the line of scrimmage.

The most important change will be to do with the number of yards to be gained and the number of downs allowed. Steady rushing should not be encouraged too much. In my opinion three downs are ample. As to the distance, it should be uniform and whole length of the field. Might not eight yards be a happy medium between ten of the present day, and five of the old game?

FAST BASKETBALL TEAM FOR NORMAL
UNIVERSITY

Dozen Husky Athletes Turn Out for Practice; Ellis, Koogler and Comstock Assured of Places.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Las Vegas, N. M., Dec. 10.—A dozen husky basketball players answered to the call for candidates for the boys' basketball team at the Normal University last night, and the first practice, which was held in the Armory, was a success from start to finish. A number of the men who held down positions on the team last season were among the candidates and the prospects for a good team for the university are excellent. Practically all of the men who played football on the Normal squad during the past season reported for a try-out and the competition for positions on the team will be keen.

Ellis, who was the backbone of the basketball team last year, is again with the team, and Koogler and Comstock, also veterans, are out for the team. It has been arranged so that the boys will practice three nights in every alternate week at the armory and two nights on other weeks. Besides this the boys will be given plenty of chances to work out at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. In the men who appeared last night for practice there is the making of a good team at the Normal and the boys are going to do their best to defeat the best teams in the state. Among those who reported for practice were Carl Ellis, Clare Koogler, Larrazolo, Omar Barker, Marion Barker, Comstock, Thompson, "Red" Gallegos, "Whistle" McCullough, Philip Sanchez, Sena and D. Hoskins.

New Mexico Is Given Four Players In Selection of
All-Southwestern Eleven

Allen Picked For Center, Hamilton For One of Tackles, Carlyle As An End and Gladding As a Half-Back; Other Men Composing Team Include Pomeroy, El Paso Military Institute, and Barrett, Arizona, Guards; Quesenberry, Agricultural College, Tackle; Boat, Agricultural College, End; Riggs, Arizona, Quarterback and Captain; Rolletti, Arizona, Half-Back; Houseman, Agricultural College, Fullback.

ALL-SOUTHWESTERN FOOTBALL TEAM SEASON 1911.
Center—Allen, New Mexico.
Guards—Pomeroy, El Paso Military Institute; Barrett, Arizona.
Tackles—Hamilton, New Mexico; Quesenberry, Agricultural College.
Ends—Boat, Agricultural College; Carlyle, New Mexico.
Quarterback and Captain—Riggs, Arizona.
Halfbacks—Rolletti, Arizona; Gladding, New Mexico.
Fullback—Houseman, Agricultural College.

The selection of an all-southwestern football team for the season of 1911 involves some difficulties, because of the few games played during the year, and also because the teams being so far distant from each other it was almost impossible to get to them and see each game. This, however, has been partly overcome, and the result is as above.

The reasons for the selections are pretty well defined. Allen of New Mexico was the most consistent player at center in this section. Although somewhat light, in four match games played he never tumbled once in passing the ball and showed himself useful in offense and defense. He seemed to have the uncanny instinct of knowing where the ball was at every moment of play. This was evidenced in every game, in his recovery of the ball after fumbles back of either line. He seemed to be able to squeeze through the line no matter who opposed him. In the El Paso game he broke through and blocked a drop kick in the clearest manner. As ends, Carlyle of New Mexico, and Boat of the Agricultural College, have been selected. Carlyle played a consistent game throughout the season. He displayed great ability in every game, in his recovery of the ball, and in his blocking. Boat, of the Agricultural College during the season, by his steadiness in accepting forward passes. Boat is responsible for two of the small score victories of the year for his team, kicking goals from the field both against El Paso and Arizona. He was also good at breaking up interference and checking the opposition.

For tackles, Hamilton of New Mexico and Quesenberry of the Agricultural College are given preference for the reason that both were good at carrying the ball, and no appreciable gains were made through them at any time during the season. In addition to this they were aggressive and played well against every team they were pitted up against during the season.

For guards, Pomeroy of El Paso Military, and Barrett of Arizona, were easily the best. Pomeroy seemed to be the only man in the El Paso line able to hold his position against offense attacks, and at the same time work well on the offense. The same can be said of Barrett. Barrett was backed against the best guards in the territory during the year and lost none in the trial.

The back field was harder to determine because of the general good quality of the men possessed by the teams in this section. In comparison with the work of all other quarters in generalship and running back under punts, Riggs of Arizona was unquestionably the best man in the southwest this year. He was, however, closely followed by Hill of New Mexico, who with more experience will shine as a star, and Chenoweth of El Paso who was unfortunately forced to retire from some of the games on account of injuries. Riggs' additional experience over these other two men entitles him to that position.

Halfbacks—In determining a football team it is always necessary to have a back field able to make good line plays for considerable gains. Good kickers, and fast, heady runners. At this work Rolletti of Arizona and Gladding of New Mexico outclass all competitors. Both are fast men who understand the game. Rolletti's accuracy in throwing the forward pass, his weight and ground gaining ability would entitle him to a position, while Gladding's all-around ability on offense and defense easily give him the preference for the other position. In addition to this Gladding's ability to boot great distances would need make him a tower of strength. Gladding is fast, and during the season several times punted out of danger and ran down the field downing the opposition. In the above selections for an all-southwestern team could defeat any aggregation that can be picked in the southwest.

At fullback, an aggressive heavy line backer is needed to back up the line, and rush through quick openings made by such tackles as Hamilton and Quesenberry. In work of this kind Houseman of the Agricultural College proved himself invaluable this year. He was easily the peer of any fullback in the field. His weight is in his favor and with all this he is fast and accurate.

All things considered the above selections for an all-southwestern team could defeat any aggregation that can be picked in the southwest.

Baseball Year of Steps Are Taken 1912 Officially Opens Today
City League

This Week Will Witness Series of Important Conferences in New York of National Commission.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) New York, Dec. 10.—The baseball year 1912 virtually begins this week. Members of the supreme council of the game, heads of several leagues and presidents of many clubs are already in the city, holding informal conferences.

New business of the week will include action by the national commission on the elevation of the American association, the Pacific Coast league and the Eastern league to the major leagues. The respective presidents of these leagues had all arrived in New York today and will meet at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Secretary J. H. Farrell of the national association of baseball clubs, were in consultation all afternoon.

The league representatives expressed confidence of favorable action on the new rating. Mr. Barrows also believed the proposal to call the Eastern league the "International league" because it includes two Canadian clubs, will go through.

"Harmony" was the theme of National league magnates.

Opposition to the re-election of President J. T. Lynch of the National league was not evidenced today.

The meeting of the American league will begin tomorrow and it is said President Johnson is bringing evidence in connection with the ticket speculation in the recent world's series with him.

Fred Hornum has a new manager for the Cincinnati team and says the announcement will be a big surprise.

Welsh and Baldwin Matched.

New York, Dec. 10.—Freddie Welsh and English lightweight whose match with A. Wolcott on Thanksgiving Day was called off when the latter was stricken with appendicitis, has agreed to meet Matt Baldwin of Boston, for twenty rounds at the West Side Athletic club here January 14, according to announcement made tonight.

SIX DAY BICYCLE
RACE IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Thirty Riders, Representing Fifteen Teams Are Contesting in Gruelling Speed Exhibition.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

New York, Dec. 11.—Thirty riders representing as many teams, started at 12:01 o'clock this morning in the nineteenth annual six-day bicycle race in Madison square garden. There was a yell from the big crowd that filled the amphitheater as the starting signal was given, and the riders broke away on their first circuit of the ten-lap-to-the-mile saucer track.

At the end of the first lap Leon Georget led the bunched riders. At the end of the first mile, which was made in 2:34, E. A. Pye, the Australian, who teamed with Elmer Collins of Boston, was making the pace.

The score for the first hour was 24 miles and six laps with Georget leading. The old record is 25.5 miles by Anderson and Cameron in 1909.

During the running of the fifth mile four riders went down in a heap but none was injured. Lapize of France in relieving his partner Van Houwerf, was responsible for the mix-up, in which Wiley of Syracuse and Fogler were thrown.

At 2 o'clock the end of the second hour, the bunched riders led at that time by Georget, had reeled off forty-eight miles and one lap. The record for the second hour is fifty miles and one lap, made by Lafont and Georget in 1908.

There are seventeen eastern riders in this year's line-up and four from San Francisco. Conspicuous omission in the entries is Walter Rutt, the great German sprinter. In his place Willie Lorenz, the present sprint champion of the country, came and has as a mate Karl Sildow of Germany. This pair won the recent international six day race in Berlin.

The American sprint champion, Frank Kramer of East Orange, N. J., and James Moran of Chelsea, Mass., make up one of the favorite teams. Moran, with Eddie Root of New York, formed the winning team of last year's race, but Kramer never negotiated the six-day grind.

Jackie Clarke, the Australian title holder, will be paired with Joe Fogler of Brooklyn.

The full list of starters is as follows:

1—Willie Lorenz, Germany, and Karl Sildow, Germany.
2—Leon Georget, France, and Maurice Brocco, Italy.
3—Octav Lapize, France, and Cyril Van Houwerf, Australia.
4—Frank Kramer, East Orange, N. J., and James Moran, Chelsea, Mass.
5—Joe Fogler, Brooklyn, and Jackie Clarke, Australia.
6—Eddie Root, New York, and Fred Hill, Boston.

7—William (Fred) Palmer, Australia, and Fred (Jumbo) Wells, New Zealand.
8—E. A. Pye, Australia, and Elmer Collins, Boston.
9—Alfred Malated, San Francisco, and Peter Drotach, Boston.
10—John Bedell, Long Island, and Menus Bedell, Long Island.
11—Grassy Ryan and Frank Cavanaugh, Newark, N. J.
12—George Cameron, New York, and Jake Magin, Newark, N. J.
13—Frank Galvin, New York, and George Wiley, Syracuse.
14—Lloyd Thompson, San Francisco, and Charles Stein, Brooklyn.
15—Walter DeMara, San Francisco, and Percy O. Lawrence, San Francisco.

The statistics show that where the parcels post operates, packages form the smallest part of the mail. Senator Bourne, chairman of the committee, said under the parcels post system proposed, fourth-class mail matter could be doubled or tripled without embarrassment to the department.

COMEDY COLTONS AT CRYSTAL

Pretty Soubrette With Rich Soprano Voice Pleases Big Audiences at Popular Vaudeville House.

The Comedy Coltons, "Two in Red," are to be the feature in the vaudeville line this week at the Crystal. Miss Colton is a pretty soubrette with a rich soprano voice, which contrasts beautifully with the voice of the ridiculously rigged comedian in red, who is her antipode in every point of get-up or degree of puerility.

Miss Colton's rendition of a state of inebriation is a scream—her intoxicated laughter is a most contagious mirth compelling laugh, such as has never been heard here. Their animation is unlimited and the song "If I Only Had My Way" is immense.

SCARLET BANNER OF INSURGENCY UNFURLED

GRIDIRON CLUB PUTS ON REVOLT IN JEST

Nothing Too Sacred to Escape Irony and Wit of Actors in Annual Affair That Has Made Washington Famous.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire.) Washington, Dec. 10.—The following touching little parody of verse from Whittier's poem, "Barbara Fritchie," served as the key note to the December dinner of the Gridiron club, held here last night.

"Round the table are officers fair,
"President and Congress all are there."
"Look them over, you insurgent horde,
"And take them if you have the word."

The red banner of insurgency was flung to the breeze, and every call and gibe was super-charged with the spirit of revolt against present conditions, political, social and personal. Nothing was too sacred to escape the irony and wit of the actors who played their parts on the small stage and the characters who chanted to the tune of popular airs the grievances of the common people and their glowing promises of the reformers.

That venerable body, the United States supreme court, came in for its share of attention early in the evening. After an overwhelming majority vote of the diners had vanquished all of the regular candidates and placed Dr. Wiley in the presidential chair, the supreme court found itself completely reconstructed, having passed through the process of "Re-call." The new court was headed by "Bath House John" Coughlin, as chief justice, and among the associate justices were Eugene Debs, "Hinky Dink" Kenna, Sam Gompers, "Fingy" Conners, Charlie Murphy, Governor Stubbs of Kansas, Ex-Senator Aldrich and Theodore Roosevelt.

When the attorney for the sugar trust, which was on trial before the court, sought to call attention to the law in the case, he was chided by the chief justice with: "Can that chatter about the law. We make our own laws." The attorney convicted and ordered "pulled apart."

The steel trust was the next victim, charged with having "Goldbricked T. R.", although the justice of that name violently protested that "they didn't gold brick me." The protest did not avail and the president of the trust was sentenced to four hours' private conversation with Attorney General Wickham.

An appeal for an injunction to prevent Bryan from again running for the presidency was denied by Justice Aldrich, who said: "Oh let him run. What difference does it make?" Attorney General Wickham asked for an injunction to restrain Champ Clark from annexing Canada, but one of the justices suggested reciprocal action by inviting Canada to annex Champ Clark.

A petition to prevent the Taft boomers from grabbing the presidential nomination from Bob LaFollette was denied on the ground that "it is no crime to take candy from a child."

In the stirring ballad of "Barbara Fritchie" which was dramatized for this occasion was shown the tough window of the little cottage in Frederick, Md., when Stonewall Jackson's troops passed through the old town. Framed in the casement was the face of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, representing the stand pat element, while the comely leader was depicted as LaFollette in the little military procession. With melodramatic effect the troops halted, and musketry crashed.

"Then Barbara leaned out on her window sill
"And shook her banner with a loyal will
"Shout if you must this old gray head
"But spare your party's flag she said."

As the troops withdrew the reader gave the last stanza as follows:

"For every party and for you and me."

Genuine grand opera by the Gridiron quartet and chorus was a novel feature of the entertainment. "Faust" somewhat condensed was the act, but it was distorted from its high moral purpose to demonstrate the certainty of the ultimate victory of evil as represented by Mephistopheles. The shade of the immortal bard, Dante, being still in quest of knowledge, made another pilgrimage to Hell, where he discovered some ancient friends, such as Marguerite Demoreau, Progressive Faust and Stand-Pat Mephistopheles, who complained that she was "being pulled apart" by Miss Demoreau, declared: "Next year is Leap Year. She is on my trail." The ancient bard returned in song charging indignation and hatefulness, declaring that the thanks of progressives should be democracy's due.

Marguerite Demoreau next scribbled a message she had received from Robert LaFollette asking her to be "his valentine." She sang:

"He is stirring with me, he's always near
"He smiles out like a lover; On each magazine cover
"When his features I see, I am filled with fear
"I am filled, I am filled, with fear."

At Mephistopheles' demand a ballet appeared, its members included "Miss Independence League" who complained that she was "being pulled apart" by Miss Demoreau, declared: "Next year is Leap Year. She is on my trail." The ancient bard returned in song charging indignation and hatefulness, declaring that the thanks of progressives should be democracy's due.

"BRIGHT EYES" IS NEXT ATTRACTION AT ELKS THEATER

Joseph M. Gaits Latest Production Outshines "Three Twins" Which Made Great Hit Two Years Ago.

In spite of the unprecedented success of "Three Twins" one of the most successful musical plays ever produced in America, Joseph M. Gaits, its producer, believes that he has secured a real companion for that play and one that is destined to be fully as popular, in "Bright Eyes," a new musical play by the same authors. So well is he convinced of this fact that he has given this play a very elaborate scenic setting and has engaged for it a large company of well known players, headed by Cecil Lean and Florence Holbrook, two of America's cleverest fun-makers.

The new play will be seen at the Elks theater Monday night, December 18th. The curtain will rise at 8:30 sharp.

In addition to the actors engaged, Mr. Gaits has employed a large chorus of fifty pretty girls, culled from various parts of the country. Every one was chosen for her singing and dancing ability as well as her good looks and the management promises one of the best and prettiest choruses ever seen in this city.

The book of the play is based on the popular farce, "Mistakes Will Happen," one of the most successful plays of its kind ever produced. Charles Dickson adapted the book and his collaborators in "Three Twins," Otto Hauerbach and Karl Hochman, have furnished respectively the lyrics and the music. Mr. Hauerbach has written some very clever verses for the new play and Mr. Hochman, in his offshoot for "Bright Eyes" has even outdone the popular music he furnished for "Three Twins" and "Madame Sherry." A number of novel electrical and mechanical effects have been introduced and the four scenic settings are masterpieces of the scene painter's art. The costumes are beautiful and elaborate and the stage pictures are unusually effective.

The story tells of a young actor who has written a play which is about to be produced at the theater where he has for a long time been employed as leading man. But, in addition to writing this play, Tom Genowin has secretly married Dorothy Mayland, the leading lady of the company. The manager of the theater is unalterably opposed to the marriage of members of his company and has announced that he will under no circumstances keep married people in his employ. During a rehearsal of Tom's play, which is shown in the first act—the manager's unwillingness to Dorothy compels Tom to disclose their relationship, whereupon the manager not only declines to act with the production of the play, but discharges both Tom and Dorothy. Tom seeks to interest Mrs. Hunter-Chase, the owner of the theater, who desires to become an amateur actress in his play and she agrees to make a society production of it, appearing herself in the leading role. He agrees to meet her in the carriage house of her country home to coach her in the art of acting. In the meantime, not knowing of this, and without Tom's knowledge Dorothy meets Mr. Hunter-Chase, who although the president of a ladies' seminary, is partial to the ladies of the theater, and hoping that he will aid Tom in the production of the play agrees to read it to him. Tom agrees to meet her "this purpose in the same carriage house and at the same hour Tom is to give Mrs. Hunter-Chase her first lesson in acting.

The second act shows the interior of the carriage house, a novel scenic arrangement showing both the lower floor and the loft. And the complications arising from the efforts of each couple to escape the notice of the other are increased by the clandestine meeting at the same place of Mrs. Hunter-Chase's coachman and Dorothy's maid. In the final act the tangles are all unravelled and Tom and Dorothy are made happy by the promise of the Hunter-Chases to produce the play as was originally intended.

An augmented orchestra will be a special feature of this attraction, as the company carries a number of their own musicians.

This company travels in their own special train of five cars consisting of two Pullmans, one coach and two extra-length baggage cars.

JOHN LEE CLARKE TO RETIRE AS RETAILER

Only Wholesale and Manufacturing Business to be Conducted at "Sign of Indian Horse" After Holidays.

After almost ten years of retail merchandising in Albuquerque, John Lee Clarke has decided to give up the retail end of the business and confine himself exclusively to wholesaling and manufacturing.

The out-of-town trade of the company has steadily increased with the passing years, and the leather goods manufactured by them are found in many of the largest and most exclusive stores in the country. Navajo blankets, pottery, baskets and Navajo silver will be the Indian lines handled, along with the leather and cowboy goods manufactured and semi-precious stones, will give the company a large volume of business.

Mr. Clarke is also figuring that it will be necessary to devote some little time to the exploiting and marketing of his newly patented axe wedge.

This change has been planned for some time, and the news of it comes now at a most opportune time, because the enormous stock of Indian goods, odd native jewelry, drapery work, etc., so desirable for Christmas goods, will be thrown on the market at once at any old price that will move it quickly.

The Red Rose Opera company, which played at the Elks theater on Saturday night, became entangled in a little difficulty with the officers of the law, before they were able to leave Albuquerque aboard their special train early yesterday morning.

For some reason they neglected to pay for the hauling of the properties of the company from the depot to the theater and back, amounting to $22, due the Springer Transfer company, on the plea that the scenery had been damaged.

The officers were called to enforce the collection of the debt, and proceeded to hold the train. They announced their intention of tying the company up until the bill was paid, seeing there was no horse but to pay what they owed, the manager of the company climbed down from the train and liquidated. The train then pulled out.

With the coming of Middle Age there is a letting down in the physical forces, often shown in annoying and painful kidney and bladder ailments, and urinary irregularities. Folex Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy and strengthening medicine at such a time. Try them—J. H. O'Reilly.

STICKERS MUST NOT BE PUT ON FACE OF ENVELOPES

Violation of Regulations of the Postoffice Department May Result in Delaying Your Mail.

Thousands of the little New Mexico advertising stickers, issued by the Bureau of Immigration for use on envelopes, express packages, etc., are being sent out of the state and the demand for the stickers is great. But the bureau is having difficulty in supplying them.

A majority of those using the stickers understand the postal regulations regarding the use of advertising stickers on first-class mail matter and are using the stickers on the back of the envelopes. A number of persons, however, have been using the stickers on the front, or address side of their envelopes, which is in violation of the regulation of the postoffice department. A number of instances of this kind have been brought to the attention of the Bureau of Immigration by Postmaster R. W. Hopkins, of Albuquerque. There is no penalty attached but where advertising stickers are attached to the address side of an envelope, it is likely to be held and returned to the sender, if known, and otherwise to be sent to the dead letter office.

The general use being made of the little New Mexico stickers, is giving the state a great deal of beneficial advertising, in order to avoid doing in mail matter and for the information of those not familiar with the postal regulation, the full text or rule order of the postmaster general is given below:

Order of the Postmaster General, Office of the Postmaster General, Washington, D. C., July 4, 1911. Order No. 5620.

No adhesive stamps, or imitations of stamps, of any design or form whatever, other than lawful postage stamps, shall be affixed to the address side of domestic mail matter, but such adhesive stamps, provided they do not in form and design resemble lawful postage stamps, and do not bear numerals, may be affixed to the reverse side of domestic mail matter. All domestic mail matter, bearing on the address side adhesive stamps or imitation of stamps, other than lawful postage stamps will be returned to the sender if known; otherwise they will be forwarded to the division of the dead letter office.

FRANK H. HUTCHCOCK, Postmaster General.

HERMAN SCHWEITZER RETURNS FROM MEXICO

Herman Schweitzer, manager of the curio department of the Fred Harvey system, has returned from an extended trip through the republic of Mexico, where he went to look into the condition of the opal and turquoise market. Mr. Schweitzer brought back with him some very beautiful specimens of unfinished opals.

During his trip he visited Juarez, Chihuahua, Zacatecas, Mexico City, and Oaxaca. Oaxaca is located 1,800 miles in the interior of the republic from El Paso and is the end of the Mexican Central railway. This is one of the largest opal markets in the world, and here Mr. Schweitzer secured some of his samples.

TONY MICHELBAUGH BUILDS UNIQUE MOTOR-BOB

Albuquerque Man Completes Five-Horse Power Automobile That for Its Size Is As Good As Big Car.

Tony Michelbaugh, millwright employed by the American Lumber company, residing in Old Albuquerque, has just completed building what he terms a motor-bob. This machine is an automobile on a small scale, being of five-horse-power.

In every respect the motor-bob is the exact duplicate of the larger makes of runabouts. It is especially designed for the use of children, and Michelbaugh's son, a boy in his teens, expects soon to be delivering the Morning Journal in the little machine, which he helped to construct.

The motor-bob can make from 15 to 20 miles an hour. It carries a fuel tank capable of holding one gallon of gasoline. The machine is equipped with inflated tires mounted on bicycle wheels and has every convenience from fenders to brakes which the higher priced cars carry.

The motor-bob is sure to attract attention when it begins to make trips about the streets of Albuquerque.

HEALTHY SURPLUS IN POSTOFFICE DEPARTMENT

REVENUES IN EXCESS OF EXPENDITURES

Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock's Annual Report Contains Interesting Data Regarding Postal Business.

[By Morning Journal Special Lined Wire.] Washington, Dec. 10.—For the first time since 1882 the annual financial statement of the postoffice department shows a surplus instead of a deficit, according to the annual report of Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, made public today. The postmaster general's report follows in part:

"The revenues for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1911, amounted to $227,519,212.60, and the expenditures to $227,519,212.60, leaving a surplus of $218,118.12. At the beginning of the present administration in 1909 the postal service was in arrears to the extent of $17,479,770.47, which was rapidly the largest deficit on record. In the brief space of two years this deficit has been changed into a substantial surplus.

"The wiping out of the deficit has been accomplished without curtailment of postal facilities. On the contrary, important extensions have been made in every branch of the service. Since the opening of the present administration there have been established 2,744 new postoffices, delivery by carrier has been provided in 186 additional cities, and 2,516 new rural routes, aggregating 60,679 miles, have been authorized. Meanwhile the force of postal employees has been increased by more than 8,000. In compensating such employees the department follows a liberal policy. Last year the total amount expended for salaries was approximately $14,000,000, greater than two years ago. The average annual salary has been increased from $869 to $947 for rural carriers, from $979 to $1,082 for postoffice clerks, from $1,021 to $1,084 for city letter carriers, and from $1,168 to $1,188 for railway postal clerks. Thus a marked extension of the postal service and higher compensation for its employees have gone hand in hand with a vanishing deficit.

Postal Savings System.
"An important event of the year was the successful organization of the postal savings system. On January 2, 1911, depositories were opened experimentally at a single postoffice in each one of the 48 states and territories. After a careful test for four months at these offices the system was rapidly extended and now comprises practically all of the 7,599 postoffices in the country. Preparations are being made to establish the system also in about 10,000 fourth-class offices that do a money order business.

"In the establishment of depositories only such postoffices are selected as have a record for efficient management. This plan has materially aided the department in its efforts to improve conditions in the postal service.

Establishment of a Parcel Post.
"Now that the successful operation of the postal savings system is assured, it is hoped that congress will promptly authorize the establishment of a parcel post. The benefits of this service are widely enjoyed by the people of foreign countries and should be provided in the United States. The department not only renews its recommendation of last year for legislative authority to start a parcel post on rural routes, but asks a similar authorization for the introduction of such a service in cities and towns having delivery by carrier. After the organization of a parcel post on rural routes and in the city delivery service is completed, its extension to include railway and other transportation lines can be more readily accomplished without impeding the handling of the ordinary mail.

Reimbursement of Postage Rates.
"Next to the question of establishing a parcel post, the most important postal problem to be considered by congress at this session will be that of readjusting postage rates. In the last two annual reports of the department attention was directed to the great loss sustained in handling second-class mail at the present low rate of 1 cent a pound. In view of the great profit accruing, on the other hand, from first-class mail it was pointed out that a readjustment of rates on the basis of cost would eventually permit the adoption of 1 cent postage for letters.

Railway Mail Service Reorganized.
"Following the inquiry into the cost of transporting mail on the railroads the department started a thorough investigation of the railway mail service. In certain branches of this service most unsatisfactory conditions were disclosed as the result of inefficient management. It was found that in some divisions the chief clerks had not inspected their lines for several years. Employees on certain lines were compelled to work exceptionally long hours, while in other parts of the service a sufficient period of train duty was not required. In many instances the sanitary condition of the cars had been neglected and the health of the employees thus jeopardized. The reports of the inspectors who made the investigation showed that the government had been paying large sums for car space that was not properly utilized, indicating a lack of proper supervision on the part of the officers of the service. Owing to the conditions disclosed by the investigation a thorough reorganization of the railway mail service has been undertaken. This reorganization, although not completed, has gone far enough to bring about a decided improvement over the unsatisfactory conditions reported.

Aeroplane Mail Service.
"The first aerial dispatch of United States mail occurred in September last, when 43,000 pieces were carried from Aeroplane Post Station No. 1 on Nassau Boulevard to Mineola, Long Island. The progress being made in the science of aviation encourages the hope that ultimately the regular conveyance of mail by this means may be practicable. Such a service, if found feasible, might be established in many districts where the natural conditions preclude other means of rapid transportation.

Pensions For Aged Employees.
"Almost without exception, foreign nations provide for the pensioning of civil service employees when they become superannuated. Large corporations in same principle in the retirement of their aged employees. On business grounds, if for no other reason, the government should do likewise.

"While the compensation of postal employees has been considerably increased during the last few years it is hardly more than sufficient to meet necessary living expenses and consequently does not permit the putting aside of any considerable savings. This country is rapidly adopting the pension plan of other nations. A civil pension based on length of employment should be granted by the government. Benefits to the service far outweighing the expense of such pensions would undoubtedly result.

Assistant Postmasters Classified.
"In accordance with the plan announced in the last annual report assistant postmasters have been recommended to the Civil Service commission for classification as rapidly as it was possible to ascertain by careful investigation their qualifications for efficient service. The effect of classification has been to stimulate these officers in the performance of their duties, and their greater efficiency has had a marked effect on the conduct of the postal service. The fact that classified employees in the lower grade are now eligible for promotion to the position of assistant postmaster has rendered their employment more attractive. The result being a higher class of competitors in the examinations for postoffice clerks and letter carriers.

Presidential Postmasters Classified.
"The considerations that led to the classification of the position of assistant postmaster in presidential postoffices apply with equal force to the postmaster itself. A full measure of efficiency in the conduct of the postal service can not be expected so long as the postmasters are subject to political control. The success that has attended the policy of reappointing competent postmasters shows the advantage of retaining the management of the service in experienced hands. In keeping with this policy the department last year recommended the classification of presidential postmasters and that recommendation is now earnestly repeated.

Fraudulent Use of Mails.
"The department's crusade against the fraudulent use of the mails, begun in 1910, has been aggressively continued. Last year the inspectors assigned to this work investigated a great variety of cases ranging from petty schemes for the commitment of fraud on a small scale to gigantic projects involving the sale of worthless stocks in imaginary mining companies and other flexible concerns. There were altogether 529 indictments, and in these cases 184 convictions have been already secured, but 12 acquittals. Most of the pending cases will come to trial during the current fiscal year. The swindlers thus indicted had fraudulently obtained from the public many millions of dollars. Reports from the large cities indicate that numerous concerns utilizing the mails in a questionable manner have gone out of business as the result of the department's vigorous crusade. The publicity given the prosecutions through the daily press all over the country has been of great value in preventing innocent persons from being defrauded.

"Many inspectors have been employed in the investigation of cases involving the fraudulent use of the mails and thus their attention has been diverted from the important work of scrutinizing the routine operations of the postal service. It is believed that the handling of all such fraud cases should be assigned to the agents of the department of justice, thus relieving the postoffice inspectors of a responsibility the discharge of which seriously interferes with their usual duties.

TEXAS GIRL TO BAKE FRUIT CAKE FOR TAFT

Dallas, Tex., Dec. 10.—The Taft family has asked a contribution towards its Christmas dinner. It is a fruit cake that is wanted, and the request will be complied with. Just before Christmas, 1910, Miss Hattie Brandenburg of this city, with somewhat of a reputation in culinary lines, baked a fruit cake and sent it to the president. Mrs. Taft acknowledged the receipt of it and said Mr. Taft enjoyed it very much. Much to the surprise and delight of Miss Brandenburg she recently received a letter from the White House asking if it would be possible to obtain another of those delicious fruit cakes for this Christmas dinner. It is being prepared and will be sent.

NEW MEXICO HAS AGRICULTURAL FUTURE

R. D. Yoakum, St. Louis Financier, Visiting City, Predicts Great Things for New State.

"I have great faith in the agricultural future of New Mexico," said R. D. Yoakum, of St. Louis, last evening at the Alvarado hotel. Mr. Yoakum had just arrived from St. Louis over the Bates cut-off, en route to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Yoakum, like his distinguished brother, D. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Rock Island lines, is a great believer in agriculture, and although a financier with a home in St. Louis, he has 1,000 acres of alfalfa near Portales, in Roosevelt county.

"There is no question but that with the granting of statehood to New Mexico its wonderful resources will be developed. I believe there is some of the richest alfalfa land in the world in New Mexico, and there is no question that a large portion of New Mexico is fortunate in having water in immense quantities near the surface and easily within reach of the power of small engines used to operate pumps.

"It can thus be seen that irrigation by pumping will have a great deal to do with the future of New Mexico."

Among his other interests Mr. Yoakum is vice president of the Quamah, Altus and Pacific railway, having about fifty miles of line built out of Altus, Texas, and a projected railroad to the southwest. It was not the opinion of Mr. Yoakum, however, that any large amount of work would be done on these projects immediately. "The railways of the country are not rushing into new territory as they once did, preferring to let the country largely support the line as it is built," was his comment.

"It is very easy to project a railroad," he said, "and ordinarily a road can be graded on the bonuses that are raised from the towns through which it will pass, but when it comes to going into the markets and getting sure enough steel for the lines, that is another question, and therein lies the difficulty that many promoters fail to take into consideration when they start projecting railroads."

Mr. Yoakum will remain in the city today for the purpose of looking after some business matters before proceeding west.

Want to Postpone Rate Cases.

Washington, Dec. 10.—On account of the two vacancies in the supreme court a movement has been started to have the group of state railroad rate cases assigned for argument on January 8, 1912, postponed for a full bench. These cases involve the constitutionality of the state rates in Missouri, Minnesota, Oregon, West Virginia, Arkansas and Kentucky. In each case the claim is made that the law burden interstate commerce by exacting a low state rate.

Explains Rise in Price Of Sugar.

Editor: Morning Journal.
In your issue of December 8, page 2, column 2, your Washington telegram dated December 5 states: "Representative Baker of California, drew from W. T. Willett (a sugar expert) before the house investigating committee today, the magnitude of the profit made by the beet sugar interests on the rise in the consumer, which began last June."

The question was asked me recently by two quite intelligent persons what was the reason sugar was so much higher in Albuquerque than in the east, when I answered that the price had also risen there, I was told that the article could still be bought at the old price. Evidently this information was had from mail order house catalogues, where twenty-five pounds of sugar is offered for $1, when a bill of groceries of a stated amount is bought at the same time.

The article follows:
"Mr. Willett said that when the New York price of sugar advanced a corresponding rise was announced in the west, although the beet sugar refineries of Colorado and California had an enormous supply of their product on hand."
"Why did the beet sugar manufacturers of California raise their prices just because New York refineries, three thousand miles away, did so?" Mr. Baker asked.

Answer—"Because it was good business."

"That is what is known as good business is it?"

Answer—"Yes, of course if they had not done so, they would have been called fools if they gave away two cents profit on a pound."

The first section of President Taft's message concludes as follows:

"Do we desire to make such ruthless combination and monopolies lawful? When all energies are directed not toward the reduction of the cost of production for the public benefit by a healthful competition, etc., etc."

This is part of his reply to a "very" as he states there is for a repeal of the anti-trust law.

I wonder where that "very" comes from?

One of the parties mentioned that I talked with told me the reason of the high price of sugar was the "middle man," but Mr. Willett's reply to Representative Baker does not show that to be the reason.

All hail a federal corporation law that will regulate prices of commodities besides railroad rates.

Yours truly,
H. GLEASON,
Albuquerque, Dec. 8, 1911.

Moro Guerrillas Surrender.

Manila, Dec. 10.—The guerrilla bands of Moros in the Jolo district against which American detachments have been operating for the last few weeks, have capitulated. Three hundred rifles have been given up and peace now seems assured for this district. All other districts in the islands are quiet.

Packers Trial Begins Today.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Counsel for the United States government in the trial of J. Ogden Armour and nine other Chicago packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, said today that it was expected the introduction of evidence in the case would begin late tomorrow.

EX-GOVERNOR'S SON LANGUISHES IN JAIL

Seattle, Wash., Dec. 10.—Malcolm C. Patterson, son of former Governor Patterson of Tennessee, spent Sunday in jail here in default of $20,000 bail, fixed by the Kitsap county superior court yesterday when he was held on a charge of assault in the first degree for shooting R. T. Seal, a Port Orchard liverman. Seal's condition is serious and if he fails to survive the charge against Patterson will be changed to murder.

Patterson, who is a law graduate of Cumberland university, Tennessee, declined to discuss his case, further than to declare that he shot in self defense. Patterson's father is expected to arrive in a few days. His wife, who Patterson said was a niece of the Confederate general, John Morgan, is living at Lebanon, Tenn.

HOLD-UPS EVEN TOOK VICTIM'S GOLD TEETH

Spokane, Wash., Dec. 10.—Frank Stowell, a farmer living near Spangle, was held up by two men here today and robbed of $120. The robbers noticed his gold filled teeth and pried out two of them. They overlooked, however, a roll of bills in Stowell's overcoat pocket amounting to $750.

Prohibits in Factional Row.

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Further impetus was given the factional fight in the prohibition party today when W. C. Calderwood, secretary of the prohibition national committee, issued an appeal to all prohibitionists urging them to join the progressive prohibition league in efforts to unseat Charles R. Jones, national chairman. Calderwood's appeal reiterated charges of mismanagement previously made against Chairman Jones.

A Practical Wish.

It was at dinner, and there had been chicken for dinner. Of that fowl the little daughter of the house was particularly fond. She had partaken of it with great freedom. And then she said, "Please, I want some more chicken."

"You've had all that's good for you, Margery," said her mother.

"I want some more."

"You can't have any more, dear. But here's the wishbone for you and mamma to pull. That will be fun. You pull on one end and mamma will pull on the other, and the one who gets the longer end will get her wish. Why, Margery? You got the big end? Now what did you wish for?"

"More chicken," said Margery. She got it, too.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Bad Cold.

She was a shifless, slipshod creature, not very bright, not very strong, who used to come around once in a while to tell her tale of woe, accept a bundle of old clothes and perhaps earn a little by some odd job of cleaning. The family had missed her for weeks; then she reappeared.

"Well, Leslie, where have you been?"

"Oh, I been havin' the worst luck! First I had a bone feen an' couldn't use my hand any for two weeks. Then I had neuralgia pains in my shoulder and couldn't use my arm any. Even now I got such a cold in my head I ain't been able to use my head for a week."—Youth's Companion.

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

THE TRAIL OF THE BULL.

Interesting in view of his candidacy for the United States senate is the trail of Delegate Andrews since the extraordinary session of congress convened last April.

When the congress met the president was prepared to send in a message giving his views on the Arizona constitution. Mr. Taft had about made up his mind that the approval or rejection of this wonderful instrument was a matter for the congress alone
to decide, though he was also considering sending in a message of disapproval. This was the status when
Mr. Andrews arrived at the White House. The New Mexico delegate, who was accompanied by another prominent citizen of this state, urged upon the president the political advantage that would accrue to the republican party if he waited until the New Mexico statehood resolution was disposed of before placing the Arizona constitution before congress at all. The wily delegate presented his argument to such purpose that the president was convinced and no message concerning the Arizona constitution was ever sent to the congress until after the instrument had been approved by both houses.

The immediate result of Mr. Andrews' activities was the coupling of New Mexico and Arizona in one resolution which came within a hair-breadth of defeating both, and which was the purpose of the delegate who had conceived an irresistible fascination for his $7,500 annual salary as delegate, a salary which would continue so long as he could keep the statehood measure in the air.

All through the fight in congress
for the passage of the bill the delegate, while posing as its friend, fought it bitterly, his usual method being to strongly advocate some form of resolution that had not the remotest chance of meeting the approval of both houses, as witness his advocacy of the Nelson resolution. But his efforts were vain, the statehood resolution was adopted and the president
finally approved it.

We next find the delegate traveling
up and down the earth seeking funds
to finance his campaign for senator from the new state. He does not appear to have been much of a success as a solicitor but he did succeed in getting $5,000 from the National Liquor Dealers association, which association had been anxious to contribute to the New Mexico campaign and did not know exactly to whom it should turn over the money. The delegate also succeeded in raising various small sums from other sources and finally reached Las Vegas
on the morning of the republican state convention with exactly $7,025.
He at once announced himself as the Moose who would lead his party out of the wilderness, and the party being so deeply in the wilderness and so anxious to be led out, welcomed him.
The delegate, however, used his $7,025
to pay off some pressing personal obligations.

Next we find the "Man Who Does Things" in Santa Fe. He is urging on the republican state central committee the necessity of having cash
at once if the campaign is to be properly financed. He suggests that a representative, armed with proper credentials, be sent to the National committee to plead for support. He also suggests that Delegate Andrews, who is "well known in the east and popular with the Pennsylvania delegation in congress," is the proper man
to make the touch.

The state committee yields. Mr.
Andrews is provided with a touching letter, signed by the national committee and the candidate for governor. "Help us ere we perish" is the burden of the plea, and the plea brought results.

Some three weeks later the delegate returns to New Mexico. This time he has $31,000, which you must admit is some money. Before reporting to the committee the delegate decides that he will survey the field in person and distribute some of the cash where it is most badly needed and where it will do the most good, especially to the delegate.

Wending his way down the Rio Grande the delegate finds a serious situation in Dona Ana county. The old guard republicans need help and need it badly. One thousand dollars is handed over to the county committee and another thousand is given to one of the legislative candidates who later will have a vote for United States senator.

The next county reached is Luna.
Here there is a chance of electing a republican to the legislature and five hundred dollars is turned loose. In Grant, where one republican was elected to the legislature, another thousand dollars was contributed to the cause.

In Otero county one gentleman running for the legislature needed $500.
He is said to have gotten it, but just what he did with the amount does not appear, and there are men who insist that Delegate Andrews never spent a cent in Otero county. Among these, it is understood, is the man who is said to have acquired the $500.

In Torrance county a couple of candidates needed help. One of these gentlemen was given $500, so also was the other, though there are rumors that the second man received $800 and went south with the $300. This story cannot be substantiated, but it is known that the candidate boasts that his campaign only cost him $50.

In Guadalupe it was found necessary to help out the local committee with a contribution of $500 and about the same amount was given in Mc-Kinley, Union and one or two other counties. In some instances the money was given to the county committee and in others to the legislative candidates individually.

Returning to his home county of Bernalillo, the delegate found conditions far from rosy. To improve them he contributed $5,000 in nice clean bills to the so-called regular republican committee. Mr. Andrews afterward learned with dismay that this contribution was a sheer waste of money as the candidates for the legislature on both the "regular" and "progressive" tickets were bitterly opposed to him for senator or anything else.

His personal survey of the situation
finished, the delegate thought it about time to visit Santa Fe and tell the state committee about his venture into the haunts of the eastern politicians and money bags. He therefore journeyed to Santa Fe and turned over something more than $10,000 to the committee.

And now it develops that there is a certain coldness between the committee and the delegate. Whether or not the committee thought it was entitled to more money is not known,
but the coldness is real.

ONE-CENT LETTER POSTAGE.

From time to time we hear about a universal one-cent letter postage rate for the whole country. Enthusiasts say that Great Britain has a "penny postage," and we "also"
ought to have a one-cent rate. The "also"—expressed or understood—is an essential part of the thought.

But a penny is two cents, and Great Britain is a small and densely populated country. The profit of the postoffice department is in the letter postage and we cannot reduce that rate without increasing the rates on other postal matter.

In all countries circulars, newspapers and merchandise have lower rates than letter postage, but as one-cent is our smallest coin, we cannot reduce the rate on circulars. If the rate on circulars and letters were the same, circulars would be sent sealed
and would have to receive the same care and prompt delivery that letters receive, which would cause no end of trouble at Christmas, election time
and other congested seasons.

Moreover, the general sealing of circulars would make it impossible to know how much real increase in letter writing resulted from the reduction of letter postage.

All know that an enormous number of circulars are now mailed as letters, especially for city delivery. The chances are that most householders
now receive more circulars in sealed envelopes carrying the two-cent rate than actual written letters. It is doubtful whether there is any sound reason for reducing the rate on that form of advertising.

It is said that the increase of letter writing would soon bring up the postal receipts to their present volume.
It would have to do a good deal more than that, for the increased bulk could not be handled without greatly increased expense, and it is morally certain that the increase in actual written letters would not nearly equal the number of circulars the rate of which would be reduced from two cents to one cent.

The letter postage is mainly a tax
on business, for no "poor man" refrains from writing a letter because the postage is two cents. And while it is desirable that taxes on business
should be reduced, there is no object
in taking off the tax in one place,
where the payer by preference can reduce his taxation, and tacking it on in another tax which must be paid in full anyhow.

Certainly we all desire the cheapest possible postage, but the postal service should pay its way, and we have great areas over which we deliver all mail at a loss.

The laws faced badly at the hands of the women in those Pacific cities
—commisisonism, prohibitionism and socialism. It shows that common sense and equal suffrage may not be incompatible.

The navy is now 50 percent American as respects native-born enlisted men in the service and pretty nearly 100 percent American in the popular estimate of its efficiency and prepara-edness.

Put it down to the credit of the indicted meat packers that they are willing to be tried within the range of the stock yard's smell. They might have fairly asked a change of venue.

GOOD-BYE TO GUGGENHEIM.

Simon Guggenheim, of Colorado,
has announced that he will not seek re-election to the United States senate. The reason he gives is that he cannot afford any longer to sacrifice
his personal interests and the business interests he is connected with in order to serve the country.

But that is not the real reason.
There is nothing to show that his service in the senate has caused him
to make any business or personal sacrifices. On the contrary there is a very well-defined and widespread impression to the effect that his presence in the senate has been of decided advantage to him and to his business associates. The truth probably is that Senator Guggenheim either has come to the conclusion that he can not be elected again or fears the continuance of the attacks of enemies of special privilege and commercial industrial rapacity.

Sensor Guggenheim has undoubtedly long found his position uncomfortable. He is regarded as the most conspicuous personification in the mountain states of capitalistic greed and treated there accordingly. He is a standpatter of standpatters and the reactionary is not popular in the west and is likely to come in for more hard knocks in the senate than have been administered to him there in the past.

Like some of his former colleagues
in the upper house, Senator Guggenheim has become tired and has decided to quit. The sign is a good one.
Men of his stamp are, to put it mildly,
out of harmony with the country.
The day of United States senators of his class is drawing rapidly to a close.
The nation is going on to newer and better things than the ideas and methods they represent.

TRADE WITH PHILIPPINES.

Exports from the Philippines in the last fiscal year totaled $29,778,629.
The imports were $49,833,782, of which a considerable part was United States government supplies. Apart from these supplies, this country sold to the island consumers goods worth $4,192,289. Great Britain coming second with $3,523,324.

This was the first year when commercial imports from this country
exceeded those from Great Britain.
It is not a very large trade that we have with the Philippines, but it improves. Yet it is still trifling when compared with our trade with the Hawaiian group.

In this connection some recent estimates of the cost of military occupation of the Philippines are of interest. All sorts of guesses on this subject have been current from time to time. As long ago as 1904 Edward Atkinson put the cost up to that time at the stupendous total of $1,- 200,000,000. About the same time Judge Alton Parker, then running for president on an anti-imperialist platform, guessed that the cost might be $670,000,000, but the republicans were of the opinion that it was less than a quarter of that amount. Politics is no promoter of truth.

Now, it appears, if the war department may be trusted, that all these estimates, even the lowest, exceeded the facts. The department puts the cost of military occupation since the treaty of peace was signed at $167,- 486,402. There are many items of expense not included in this total and altogether it is evident that the Philippine investment has not yet begun to pay its way.

Admiral Perry's flagship in the battle of Put-in-Bay is to be raised from the bottom of Lake Erie and taken on a tour of the Great Lakes. Patriotic Canadians who were thrilled by the pictures of the battle of Chateau-guay during coronation week in London will then be able to see reminders
of another side of the story.

An Iowa judge has decided that farmers' co-operative companies cannot enforce special requirements from the membership, but must enter the open market for business the same as any other concern. Otherwise such companies are monopolies in restraint of trade. What is the world coming to?

The Infanta Eulalia of Spain says
her book is very little and very harmless for all the fuss to be made about it in America it would not be regarded as "advanced" at all. Nevertheless, with all this advertising we confidently look for it to become one of "the six best sellers."

A sadder side of J. E. McNamara's nature is touchingly revealed by his handing the orchestra leader in the San Francisco cafe $10 or $20 to play the "Traueret." That was not the worst use to which "secret-service"
money could be put.

Since Senator La Follette has been indorsed for the presidency by Colonel Bryan, not much has been heard of him outside of the pages of the magazine that is running his autobiography. It was a cruel blow that the Nebraska struck.

Emperor William of Germany says that the black man (meaning the black man in Africa) should be taught religion, but that it is "not necessary that he become extremely pious." Even some white men are not that.

An "indecidable turn of the wheel of fortune" is what Governor Woodrow Wilson says the life of a politician depends on. The governor should have thought of that before.
He had a good job at Princeton.

"Underwood isn't under anything else." And perhaps it's a ladder.

The Los Angeles woman voter who left the polls before casting her ballot
to look out for the bread in her oven
at home is perhaps as good a citizen
as if she had stayed to exercise her suffrage rights while the bread burned.

Now that Mr. Rockefeller is out of standard oil he will be able to devote more time to golf. The worry of attending so strictly to business these latter years must have been quite a burden to him.

But Dr. Eliot is not likely to lengthen his five-foot book shelf to accommodate the works of Emma Goldman, even if the latter did sit at

"No," says Detective Burns, "we have never trailed President Compère. He makes tracks so deep and course that we could follow them anytime." Well, well!

Aviator Rogers says he probably will go for a while on the vaudeville stage. Even the men of the air cannot resist the lure of the vaudeville manager's gold.

If the tariff board does not hurry up with its long-promised report, the house committee on ways and means
may again overlook its existence.

Can it be that Mr. Taft has his eye on a certain contributing editorship that may possibly be vacant on March 4, 1913?

Kaiser Wilhelm should take warning before it is too late or Rudyard Kipling may turn himself loose on him.

Is the "annual crime-wave" which Chicago's Mayor apologizes for peculiar to December or the whole year?

At least the president didn't fall into the error of making his message
as long as his western tour.

Perma evidently wishes to drag
the blanket of the Monroe Doctrine
over to her side of the bed.

"Stone out for Champ Clark," says a headline. But "Stone out of the senate" would be better.

Having exhausted all other means to escape trial, the meat-packers might now try confession.

Probably the men best pleased with the McNamara sentences were the McNamaras.

CARLSBAD CERTAIN IT WILL SECURE NORMAL SCHOOL

People of Town and Entire Pecos Valley Lined Up in Favor of Locating Institution in That Place.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 9.—The five-topic of the day in Carlsbad is the location of the new state normal school. The people of the town and the Carlsbad project are unanimous in favor of having the school located here. For many weeks a committee has been at work getting the valley lined up in favor of Carlsbad. G.
M. Cooke, the chairman of this committee, stated yesterday that the battle is won, as the entire valley is giving Carlsbad most cordial support.
He says that the sentiment in the valley is much more favorable to Carlsbad than he had any reason to expect.

The committee is so well satisfied with the outlook that it has given the matter of suitable site careful consideration and has several very desirable sites already selected to offer
the school. Without question Carlsbad can offer as fine sites as any place in New Mexico. The low altitude of Carlsbad and the fine winter
climate are also advantages worth considering.

The territory directly tributary to Carlsbad is settled with progressive people and education is receiving close attention. The Pecos valley has reason to be proud of its schools and colleges. This is a conservation will be still better.

Making Hay in December.
Haling hay out of the field in December is not the usual thing, even under the Carlsbad project. But this year farmers are still getting their hay of the field. The first week in December. The work in the hayfield is about over for this year, however.
Most of the corn has also been harvested. The cotton planter, however, is still in the midst of picking. Both gins are running full capacity and will not finish for many weeks.

Road Commission to Meet.
The McLaughlin to Roswell road commission will meet December 20, in Carlsbad to take full action on the building of the road through Eddy county. The county commissioners of Chaves county have decided to build the road through Chaves county. R.
M. Thorne, the secretary, issued the call today. The members of the commission are: W. S. Gilbert, Artesia; Dr. Culpepper, Dayton; R. F.
Pearman, Lakewood; R. M. Thorne,
Carlsbad; W. W. Galton, El Paso; J. J.
McLane, Loving; and J. Hise Myers, Malaga; W. M. Atkinson of Roswell,
is chairman.

"BEST ON EARTH"
This is the verdict of R. J. Howell, Tracy, O., who bought Foley's Honey
and Talc Compound for his wife.
"Her case was the worst I have ever seen, and looked like a sure case of consumption. Her lungs were sore and she coughed almost incessantly
and her voice was hoarse and weak."
Foley's Honey and Talc Compound brought relief at once and less than three bottles effected a complete cure.—J. H. O'Reilly.

NAVAL SANITORIUM AT FORT STANTON REORGANIZED

Treasury Department Taking Special Interest in New Mexico Institution; Many Improvements Made.

(Carrizosa Outlook.)
The United States marine hospital at Fort Stanton, although not a very old institution, has accomplished much for the tubercular sailor and marine. The institution has been recently reorganized by the treasury department and several new officials put in charge. Dr. Smith is the officer in command of the fort at the present time.

Briefly reviewing the history of the Fort Stanton sanatorium, it was established in 1899. At that time the nearest railroad was in Alamogordo,
which will show how much stress the bureau of public health and marine hospital service places on the advantage of this location, since supplies, business material and the patients themselves gained access to the place at the time only by long wagon journey. The wisdom of the movement, however, has since been substantiated by the success of the institution and the plan has since been indorsed by the selection of Fort Hayard as a sanatorium for the army and the removal of the United States naval sanatorium from Florida to a spot in Colorado not far from the New Mexico border, both of these movements being in line with the progress of medical opinion.

Fort Stanton has spent over a million dollars and the buildings left by the army when it abandoned this post have all been remodeled and improved. All the collateral interests of the sanatorium, the dairy, farm, beef herd, garden, poultry yard and swine
have been developed as an auxiliary in the treatment of 200 patients. The secretary of the treasury has recently added to the force of officers at the station an expert farmer at a salary of $1,500 a year to tend solely to the co-ordination of all the outside forces of the station, leaving the medical officer in command free to devote all his time to the relations of the sanatorium proper. The benefits of this order cannot be exaggerated as the outside interests, although purely incidental to the functions of the sanatorium were so numerous and involved such responsibility that they have diverted the attention of the doctor
in charge, doubtless to the detriment of the medical work. As further evidence of the interest of the secretary and also in line with current medical teachings, a dietitian at $1,000 a year has been added to the official staff.
She is a professional, a graduate of a domestic science school and also a trained nurse, and devotes her entire time to the instruction of the waiters
and cooks, the selection of food materials and the arrangement of the menus in regard to palatability and variety, paying special attention to the very sick and those with capricious appetites, and the satisfaction expressed by the patients is sufficient guarantee of her success. Two trained female nurses for the infirmary
have been authorized by the department and are expected to arrive
shortly and bring with them those requirements of nursing which charac-terize the American trained female nurse.

It is understood at the sanatorium
that other and even more important improvements are contemplated, all with the single view of increasing the efficiency of the station and the comfort of its beneficiaries. Some of them will doubtless add to the expense of the station but the interest manifested in the institution by the secretary of the treasury is enough to insure that the plans will be carried out.

PROPOSES FURTHER REGULATION OF GRAZING

Senator LaFollette Has Introduced Bill in Senate Providing for Reseeding of Denuded Pastures.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Washington, Dec. 10.—Senator La-Follette has introduced in the senate
a bill providing for the improvement of grazing. This is a conservation measure of enormous importance, and has the approval of the National Conservancy association of which Gifford Pinchot is president. It affects an area of over three hundred million acres, or about one-sixth of the United States, and is of great and direct importance to sixteen states.

The bill provides for the division of the public range into grazing districts, to be fixed through proclamation by the president. Worn out areas are to be reseeded and poisonous plants eradicated. Wolves, mountain lions and other wild animals which prey upon live stock are to be exterminated, as well as destructive rodents like the prairie dogs which render useless the aggregate vast areas of grazing land.

The bill authorizes the secretary of agriculture to regulate the number of stock grazed within each district, and sets a minimum yearly fee of four cents per acre, for the first ten years. A committee representative of the stockmen in each district is to be appointed by the stockmen themselves. This committee will rule, subject to the approval of the secretary of agriculture, on all important questions immediately affecting the use of the range in the district.

The bill in no way retards or prevents settlement within the grazing districts by homesteaders, or any other occupancy and use under the public land laws, and contains a specific clause to that effect. It also expressly provides that all water on the lands affected by the bill, already subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, may be used as heretofore for domestic, mining, milling and irrigation purposes.

Twenty-five per cent of the proceeds from grazing fees will go to the states in which the grazing districts are situated. The bill provides that these receipts shall be used for schools and roads, and for the advancement of agricultural education,
as the state legislature may provide.
The prime purpose of this bill is
the improvement of the public range.
Unregulated grazing has resulted in greatly impairing the forage crop, which over considerable areas has been rendered practically worthless.
The range is now carrying about one-half the stock it is capable of carrying if it were improved by regulation and by reseeding. Senator La-Follette's bill is thus of great importance not only to the nation, but to millions of individual citizens. The carrying capacity of the public range directly affects the price of mutton, beef and wool. If this measure, the result of many years of studying, is passed, it will put an end to range wars, prevent range monopoly, and perpetuate and improve a great natural resource.

RETAILERS FORM ASSOCIATION AT CARRIZOZO

John E. Bell Elected President;
Object Is to Promote Closer Business Relations.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Carrizozo, N. M., Dec. 9.—A meeting of the business men of Carrizozo was called to order in the public reading room Thursday evening, and W. F. Hammond, secretary of the National and State Retailers and Business Men's association organized the Carrizozo Retailers' association. The meeting was called to order by John E. Bell, who was elected temporary president. Dr. F. S. Handies was elected temporary secretary. Organization was perfected by the following business men joining the association: A. J. Rolland, Frank J. Sager, Albert Ziegler, S. W. Perry, A. E. Kelly, John A. Haley, John E. Bell and A. E. Dialne. Constitution and by-laws were adopted and officers elected. A. J. Rolland was elected president, John E. Bell, vice-president and Albert Ziegler, treasurer.

The object of the association is to promote closer business relations with the outside towns and surrounding country and also with the wholesale and jobbing centers. The association will also assist in promoting legitimate business enterprises for Carrizozo and the surrounding country and will also endeavor to get in more outside capital with which to develop the undeveloped resources of the county. One of the first matters to be taken up will be the building of an electric light plant to be operated in connection with the light plant.

Steal March on Friends.

The bride is one of Lincoln county's charming young society girls and has been teaching school the present year at Nogal. The groom is assistant postmaster at Carrizozo, having come to this county several years ago from Tennessee and formerly lived at Nogal. The happy couple after an extended wedding tour will make their home at Carrizozo.

I always have a bottle of it in the house."—J. H. O'Reilly.
