HOSTILITIES HAVE CEASED IN CHINA; PLAN TO REOPEN ARMISTICE

Premier Yuan's Refusal to Grant Rebel Demands For Republic Withheld From Republican Leaders.

HE WILL NOT ACCEPT
PROFFERED PRESIDENCY

Japan Supporting British Advocacy of Continuance of Monarchy, Fearing Socialism in Own Empire.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Peking, Dec. 23.—Apparently the fighting has ceased, at least temporarily in China. No reports have been received recently of activities between the imperialists and the revolutionists but minor engagements have occurred with robber bands, which continue to increase.

Officials here expect that the armistice will be renewed after December 31.

It is said here that Tang Shao Yi, Premier Yuan's representative, has not communicated the premier's response to the rebel demands at Shanghai because it is not satisfactory.
Yuan said he has declared that under no circumstances will he accept a republic.

Yuan also will refuse to accept the proffered presidency of the proposed republic, is considered certain, even by those who believe he is a self-seeker. They assert that if a republic is forced upon him, Yuan Shi Kai will relinquish the presidency and recognizing the difficulties of the first president's position, he will await the country's call to save it from disaster.

It is related that the premier is able to continue the government for several weeks, perhaps months without a foreign loan.

It is thought the Mikado's government fears the development of socialism in Japan should a successful republic be established in China. Hence the Japanese legation is supporting the British plan in advocacy of a monarchy. The British fear possible disorder in Mongolia, Tibet and Turkistan, with ambitious Russia officers within and along the borders endeavoring to implicate their government in territorial designs although the Russian and British governments are co-operating apparently to restore order.

JAPAN SEES DEADLOCK
IN PEACE NEGOTIATIONS

Tokyo, Dec. 23.—It is stated here that the stage has not been reached in the peace negotiations at Shanghai that would invite the good offices of a third party, but it is feared here that the negotiations will reach a deadlock within a few days owing to the uncompromising attitude of both sides regarding the form of government which shall prevail in China.
The conservative influential section here, including the elder statesmen, is against having a republic in China.
Although governmental officials are silent and maintain a strict neutrality, well informed persons believe it impossible for them to ignore the views of the elder statesmen.

Two companies of infantry from the Kokura division, with machine guns and commanded by Colonel Uno, will start for Hankow from Hankow on December 26. These troops will reach their destination on January 2. They have been dispatched, it is stated, to replace the marines who were landed at Hankow.

WASHINGTON STILL HOPES FOR PEACE

Washington, Dec. 23.—Secretary Knoblock conferred today regarding Chinese affairs with Masano Panihara, charge d'affaires of the Japanese embassy, pending the arrival of the newly appointed ambassador. It is understood the conclusion was reached that as yet there was no reason to abandon hope that the Chinese peace commissioners in Shanghai would be able to reach an agreement.
The nations interested in a speedy restoration of peace are believed to be considering the advisability of supplementing their identical note, delivered at the beginning of the peace conference with another setting out the earnest hope of these nations that success would attend late conference. The supplementary note if it should be agreed upon would make it appear in no uncertain terms that the powers do not propose to look with equanimity upon a resumption of hostilities.

In regard to the rumors of intervention by England and Japan, or one of these countries, it is intimated at the state department that even if they should appear to be taking the initiative in an offer of mediation they would not catch the better of all the six powers interested and with their approval. In other words, nothing has developed to impair the understanding into which these six powers entered several weeks ago in dealing with the Chinese situation.

Although the lack of money is becoming keenly manifest in Peking, this understanding among the powers so has enabled them successfully to resist the most tempting offers of high interest and extraordinary concessions for loans.

NEGRO KILLS MARSHAL; SLAYER THEN LYNCHED

Donaldville, Ga., Dec. 23.—Tom Marshall C. A. Roberts was shot and killed this afternoon by John Warren, a negro, who was caught later and lynched by a mob. The negro had been engaged in a quarrel with a white man in which he threatened to use a pistol. The marshal attempted to arrest him.

DETECTIVES ARREST MYSTERIOUS RUSSIAN

Lynchburg, Va., Dec. 23.—Andre I.
DeGuerowski, said to be a Russian count, who has been in America for twenty-seven years, left tonight for New York in custody of two men, one said to be an insurance detective, and the other a city detective at New York.

Further than saying they had a United States warrant for the Rus-sian's arrest the men were uncommunicative. DeGuerowski was detained by immigration officials upon his arrival in New York on October 21 from a six weeks' visit abroad, but was released after several delays and returned to his estate near here.

He stated at that time he did not know why he was detained, unless he was thought to be an enemy of the Russian government. He claims to be a Russian royalist.

Tonight it was said DeGuerowski's movements had been watched for two months by secret service men. He has been living for a year near Lynchburg and claims he owns estates near Miami, Fla., and Red Bank, N. J.

Young Chinese Destroy Josses.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 23.—Chinatown is ablaze tonight because of the action last night of a group of the younger generation of "progressives" who took it upon themselves to wreck a dozen Josses, which members of the older generation of Chinese had, by stealth and in opposition to the will of the younger generation, placed in the new brick building recently completed by the Consolidated Chinese Benevolent association.

The younger men chopped up the Josses with axes. Their elders predict for them a year of great tribulation.

ITALY ANXIOUS TO END WAR WITH TURKEY

King Emmanuel Willing to Pay Considerable Amount For Tripoli and Conclude Peace With Porte.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Rome, Dec. 23.—The limitation of the war to Tripoli territory and the absence of any naval action on the part of Italy makes the conclusion of peace less urgent, as the interests of the other powers are not so severely affected as at the beginning of hostilities, when the eastern Mediterranean and Red Sea were included in the scene of operations. All the high seas are again in operation and navigation in those waters has been re-established.

Italy is convinced that even after the conclusion of peace with Turkey the war will continue with the Arabs and the subject of the interior will take months, if not years. As peace with Turkey would facilitate matters and curtail expenses, Italy, it is understood still is ready to pay Porte a considerable amount on account of Tripoli.

Germany is anxious for peace and hopes to induce the two countries to come to terms on the basis of the indemnity offered by Italy.

SEVERE ENGAGEMENT
AT DERNA ON 18TH

Tripoli, Dec. 23.—General Trombi reports that in the engagement at Derna on December 18, the Turks had killed five men and wounded three.
On Friday an Italian detachment protecting the construction of a fortification was fiercely attacked by large numbers of the enemy. The fighting continued for six hours, with the Italians losing seven killed and fifteen wounded.

NATIONAL CONVENTION
TO ADVANCE SCIENCE

Washington, Dec. 23.—The largest convention of the American association for the advancement of science ever held, is expected to be that which will meet here next week beginning Wednesday and lasting through Saturday when several thousand members of the organization and affiliated bodies will be present.
There are eleven sections of the association and the affiliated scientific societies. Frequently more than twenty meetings will be going on at the same time in various places. Numbered special sessions will be included in the program. The first day has been arranged. Every possible phase of scientific investigation from papers on the "Structure of an atom" to "asteroid problems" and from discussion of "The cause of high prices" to that of "Road building with convict labor," will be considered.

President Taft will make an address of welcome at the opening general session of the convention.

RENEW EFFORTS TO OUST YERKES EXECUTOR

New York, Dec. 23.—Attorneys for Louis S. Owsley of Chicago, against whom a temporary injunction was issued yesterday restraining him from acting as executor of the estate of Charles T. Yerkes, gave out a statement tonight declaring that the injunction was merely a formal matter. The proceedings against Owsley, which have been begun by executor Mrs. Yerkes' estate in effect are only a revival of proceedings begun by Mrs. Yerkes a year ago, it is declared.

"At that time," the statement explains, "Owsley filed a verified answer to charges contained in Mrs.
Yerkes' petition, but the proceedings were halted by Mrs. Yerkes' death."

Austrian Emperor Convalescing.

Vienna, Dec. 23.—Latest reports from the palace indicate that Emperor Francis Joseph is progressing satisfactorily. The emperor had been suffering for the last week with a severe cold.

COMPLETE RETURNS SHOW ELECTION OF HANNAH WHITE

Canvassing Board Disposes of Everything Before It Save Dispute Over Signing of Clayton Certificate.

EXPECT TO REPORT TO TAFT NEXT WEEK

Adjournment Taken to Await Action of District Court in Cases of Union County Election Officials.

[Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.] Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 23.—When the official canvassing board which since the 23rd of last month, has been at work on the returns of the recent New Mexico election, adjourned this afternoon the result of the voting, so far as the state ticket and judiciary is concerned, was known.

Prior to adjournment the board handed down its decisions in all the cases in controversy save that of Clayton, which has been certified to the district court and is to come up before Judge McFie next Tuesday.

In its decision the board in every instance sustained the contents of the returns filed by the contestants of Neill B. Field and C. D. Cleveland who represented the interests of the democratic party.

In the matter of the Meirase, Reserve and Tondaga precincts, where the poll books were not sent with the returns, the board held that their absence was not fatal and ordered that the vote in these precincts be counted.

In several precincts in Valencia and other counties where there were no fully sheets, the board likewise declared that the vote should be counted.

In the matter of the controversy over the vote of O. L. Owen, democratic candidate for the corporation commissioner, the board held that it could only count the votes as they appeared on the returns and that it was without power to count votes cast for
ruling caused a loss to Mr. Owen of 1,332 votes and will result in giving the certificate of election to G. H. Van Stone, the progressive republican candidate. The board, as in the Clayton case, held that it was purely a ministerial body and as such without power to inquire into the intent of the voter when he cast his ballot.

It is believed that Mr. Owen will, when Mr. Van Stone assumes office, at once institute contest proceedings.
It has been intimated that Mr. Van Stone will not oppose the proceedings since it is so evident that the majority of the voters of New Mexico desired Mr. Owen as a member of the corporation commission.

After handing down its decisions, which were oral and delivered by Chief Justice Pope, the board adjourned, subject to the call of the chairman.
It is expected that the board will convene in formal session immediately after Judge McFie has handed down his decision in the matter of the Clayton precinct, where the judges and the board are summoned to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt for failure to sign the returns. In the Clayton precinct approximately 551 votes were cast, 397 for the democrats and 254 for the republicans, an absolute democratic majority of 43. It is not believed that a division either way would affect the election of any of the candidates on the state ticket, but the faith of the democrats in the judge in the Eighth district, several men on the Union county ticket and at least one member of the legislature hangs in the balance.

The decision to count the votes in the Meirase precinct in Socorro county, adds 23 to the vote of the democratic candidates and means the election of Abelino Romero, democratic candidate for the state senate and several candidates on the democratic ticket in Socorro county.

The net result of the action of the board today in deciding to count the votes in the disputed precincts resulted in an average gain of 148 for the democrats, the democratic state and judicial ticket and an average of 94 for the republicans, thus increasing the democratic majority by 74. This insures the election of Hanna for the supreme court and White for supreme justice in the district event the Clayton precinct is counted it will add 397 to the democratic vote and 254 to that of the republicans.

The completion of the canvassing board's work shows that the parties divided equally on the state ticket, the republicans electing eight and the democrats eight of the sixteen candidates, as follows:

Governor—W. C. McDonald, democrat.
Lieutenant Governor—E. C. De
Baca, democrat.
Secretary of State—Antonio Lucero, democrat.
State Auditor—W. J. Sargent, republican.
State Treasurer—O. N. Marron, democrat.
Attorney General—Frank W.
Clancy, republican.
Commissioner of Public Lands—
Robert P. Ervin, republican.
State Superintendent of Public Instruction—Alvan S. White, democrat.
Justices of the Supreme Court—Clarence J. Roberts, republican; Frank W. Parker, republican; Richard H.
Hanna, progressive.
Corporation Commissioners—Hugh Williams, republican; M. S. Groves, republican; G. H. Van Stone, progressive.

Commissioner—George Curry, republican; H. B. Ferguson, democrat.
When the board reconvenes next week it will dispose of the matter of the Clayton precinct, issue the election certificates to the successful candidates, make its report to the president and adjourn sine die. It is expected that this work can be completed in time so that the statehood proclamation can be issued and the inauguration ceremonies held not later than January 4.

000 in Notes and Stocks; Explosion Awakens Town.

quired $600 worth of stamps and $10,- 000 worth of notes and stocks when they blew open a safe in a store here heavy charge of nitro-glycerine used in blasting open the safe, shook the town and caused a panic among the residents, many of whom rushed half clad from their beds.

The robbers escaped.
The papers taken were the personal property of Postmaster Stark and some of them are negotiable.

BY ARIZONA GOVERNOR

Sloan today honored the requisition of the governor of Colorado for the return to that state of Tom Keitao, who is wanted in Pueblo for murder, alleged to have been committed a month ago. Keitao is now in jail at Tombstone.

Governor Sloan also honored the

He is now in jail at Tucson.

mine operator, prominent here and well-known in Boston, his former home, died in a hospital here tonight penitentiary on conviction of criminal practice, today received an unconditional pardon from Governor Aldrich as a Christmas present.

FIRE LIEUTENANT JUMPS TO DEATH

New York, Dec. 23.—Driven from the roof of a burning dwelling by a sudden burst of flames, John Timmons, a Brooklyn fire lieutenant, attempted to jump six feet to the roof of an adjoining building tonight, sus-ing his footing and fell three stories to his death.

Timmons had led the men to the roof to fight the fire through the skylight. Scarcely had they put their hose in place when flames broke out through the roof in several places simultaneously. Timmons was the last to jump, having ordered his companions to precede him.

ATTORNEY HARRINGTON
CONSENTS TO TESTIFY

Los Angeles, Dec. 23.—John E. Harrington, an attorney and investigator associated with the McNamara defense, who was served with a subpoena at Albuquerque, N. M., summoning him to testify before the federal grand jury investigating the alleged dynamiting conspiracy, and to answer all questions asked him by that body.

It had been rumored that Harrington would refuse to testify because of his privileges as an attorney in the case. He took this position before the county grand jury last summer but an agreement was reached by which he answered certain questions put to him.

MRS. GARRAMONE CONVICTED OF MURDER

Jury in Case of Woman Accused of Atrocious Crime Recommends Life Sentence
As Punishment.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Golden, Colo., Dec. 23.—"My conscience is clear: I did not kill Mrs.
LaGuardia. I know that she is alive and expect that soon she will come forward and clear me of this murder charge."

This was the declaration of Mrs.
Angeline Garramone, Denver's "Cox-sister," immediately after she heard the clerk of the district court read the jury's verdict declaring her guilty of murder in the first degree for the killing of Mrs. Maria La-Guardia.

The jury fixed the penalty of life imprisonment, as it is empowered to do in event of a first degree verdict.
Mrs. Garramone was charged with killing Mrs. LaGuardia with robbery as the motive.

Concetti Forgione and her own daughter, Stella, who were present when Mrs. Garramone is alleged to have slain her victim and who pleaded guilty to a charge of being accessories to the crime after the fact, will not be sentenced until after the motion for a new trial in the Garramone case has been passed upon.

Santa Claus At Elks' Theater Today

Today is the Day, and the Elks' theater is the place, at 2:30 this afternoon is the time when Santa Claus appears. Every boy and girl in Albuquerque is invited to be present and witness the fun.
A Christmas tree, the most gorgeous ever seen in the realm of Toyland has been prepared by the Elks and no child in this city will be allowed to wait for a present. Elks in full regalia will act as ushers.
Elks in full regalia will escort Santa Claus, whose spectacular entrance will be a sight that will be remembered when the little ones of today have grown to be Elks or the wives of Elks of tomorrow. The grown-ups, too, are invited, the gallery has been reserved for them, the ground floor being sacred to the boys and girls, and the Elks want it distinctly understood that their invitation is especially addressed to the boys and girls who fear that they may otherwise be neglected by Santa Claus. Think of it! One thousand presents for one thousand boys and girls. Last year the Elks' Santa Claus bestowed gifts on 750 Albuquerque little ones, but we have grown since then and one thousand are expected today. So do not keep Santa waiting. Be on hand at 2:30. Bring your parents if you can, but come.

HIDING PLACE OF REYES FOUND; MUST FIGHT OR RUN

Scouts of General Trevino Report Revolutionary Leader is On Viga Ranch in State of Tamaulipas.

COLONEL LUGO SENT TO CAPTURE FUGITIVE

With One Hundred and Fifty Picked Troopers, Federal Army Officer Proceeds Post-haste to Scene.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.]
Monterey, Mexico, Dec. 23.—Located once more by the scouts of General Gerardo Trevino, General Bernardo Reyes, self-appointed leader of the "Constitutionalists," the name he has given the insurgents, must either fight or run again.

Scouts reported to army headquarters today that they had secured information regarding by whom as accurate, that the outlawed general was on the Viga ranch not far from Burcos, a town in the state of Tamaulipas.
This afternoon General Trevino sent orders to Colonel Lugo to invade the ranch in search of Reyes.

Officially it is not admitted that Reyes has with him any men other than the five who were with him when he crossed the border, but private advices variously estimate his following from a score to several hundred.

The Viga ranch is about forty miles east of Linares. It is a wooded property and somewhere, but its character is not such as provides places for ambushes as does the country about Galeana, lying to the west.

Trevino considers it improbable that Lugo and his force of 150 will encounter Reyes tomorrow.

DEMONSTRATION AGAINST AMERICANS FORBIDDEN

Mexico City, Dec. 23.—Efforts of a certain group of Mexicans to bring about an anti-American demonstration tomorrow have been met by refusal on the part of Governor Antonio de Rivera of the federal district to issue the necessary permit on the grounds that for such a demonstration "there exists no reason which would justify it."

A call for the manifestation in question was published in Gil Blas, it invited all Mexicans to meet in front of the American embassy for the purpose of protesting against the alleged ill-treatment of Mexicans along the border including the imprisonment of those charged with violation of the neutrality laws.

Gil Blas, editorially, deprecated the

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 23.—David

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE TERRITORY OF NEW MEXICO.
JANUARY TERM, A. D. 1911.
Territory of New Mexico, on the relation of George S. Klock, Appellee,

vs.
Edward A. Mann, No. 1468.
Appellant.
APPEAL FROM THE DISTRICT COURT OF BERNALILLO COUNTY.
Summers Burkhardt, Attorney for Appellee.
E. V. Tolson, Attorney for Appellant.

Wright, J.

The Relator, George S. Klock, was appointed District Attorney of the sixth District Attorney district of New Mexico, on February 18th, 1909, by the then Governor of the Territory and was duly confirmed by the legislative council, as the law required, for the term of two years and until his successor should be appointed and qualified. On November 18th, 1910, the present governor made an order which assumed to remove him from office and on the same day another order appointing the respondent, Edward A. Mann, district attorney in his place. In a decision rendered March 4th, 1911, Territory ex rel Klock vs. Mann, 114 Pac. 362, the supreme court of the territory held that the governor had not the power of removal under the circumstances and therefore that the appointment was invalid. Following the judgment and mandate of the supreme court in that case a judgment of ouster was entered in the district court against the respondent and the Relator Klock, upon the 24th day of March, 1911, resumed the duties of the office of district attorney without objection on the part of the respondent and continued to discharge them until about the 6th day of April, 1911, when the respondent appeared claiming another commission from the governor dated March 29th, 1911, purporting to appoint him to the office and the respondent, having duly qualified on April 6th, 1911, again entered upon the performance of the duties of the office of district attorney. The relator thereupon brought an information in the nature of a quo warranto, in the name of the territory to try the respondent's title to the office. This matter was heard in the lower court and judgment entered in favor of the relator, holding that he was entitled to the office. A writ of ouster was issued, based upon such holding, and respondent was again put out of the office of district attorney. No supersedeas was granted by the lower court and from the judgment in quo warranto the respondent appeals to this court.

Upon the former appeal the court held that the governor was without power to remove a district attorney appointed for a fixed term before the expiration of such term. In the opinion of the court it is also held, incidentally, that if there had been a vacancy the governor would have had the power to fill it under the provisions of section 2,556 and 2,558 of the compiled laws of 1907, which sections are quoted in full in the former opinion. In the present case, although the two year term for which the relator had been originally appointed had expired prior to the appointment of respondent on March 29th, 1911, the relator claims that there was a vacancy in the office of district attorney which the governor could fill under the provisions of section 2,556 as modified and restricted by the provisions of section 2,558. Compiled Laws of 1907, basing his contention upon two distinct grounds. First, that as by the statute of 1905, chapter 33, Sec. 2, in force when he was appointed and in effect re-enacted in chapter 22, Sec. 1, Laws of 1909, a district attorney holds office for two years and until his successor is appointed (chosen) and qualified there is no vacancy even after the expiration of two years unless and until the council joins with the governor in the appointment, and second, that even, if by the statute law of the territory, there would have been a vacancy at the end of the term of two years, but for the enactment by congress of the Enabling Act approved June 20th, 1910, yet by that act the relator continued in office until the proclamation of the president declared New Mexico to be a state.

Section 2, chapter 33, of the Session Laws of 1905, provides for the appointment of district attorneys by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council, and further provides that such district attorneys, when so appointed,

"shall hold their office for a period of two years from the date of such appointment and until their successors are duly appointed and qualified."

This same act was re-enacted in practically the same words by the legislature of 1909.

Where provision is made by statute for an officer to hold office until his successor is duly elected and qualified, the hold-over is regarded as in all respects a de jure officer and his expiration of term does not produce a vacancy which may be filled by the authority having the power to fill vacancies.

29 Cyc. 1295; Kimball v. The State, 159 Ind. 120.

30 Amer. State Reports, 288; State ex rel Carson v. Harrison, 112 Ind. 441.

People v. Tyrell, 87 Calif. 479, 19 People v. Whitman, 19 Calif. 38, it was held that:

"The term of the office is fixed at two years, certain, with a contingent extension. When this contingency happens this extension is as much a part of the entire term as any portion of the two years."

In State ex rel Carson v. Harrison, cited supra, at page 122 the court, discussing the meaning of the word "vacancy" uses the following language:

"The word vacancy as applied to an office has no technical meaning. An office is not vacant so long as it is supplied in the manner provided by the constitution or law, with an incumbent who is legally qualified to exercise the power and perform the duties which pertain to it; and, conversely, it is vacant in the eye of the law whenever it is succeeded by a legally qualified incumbent who has a lawful right to continue therein until the happening of some future event."

It is also well settled that the right to hold over an officer until a qualified successor has been elected or appointed by the body elector or the appointing power, which by law is entitled to elect or appoint such successor.

trict attorneys in New Mexico rests jointly in the governor and legislative assembly, except in cases of vacancy in the office. The governor acting alone can only appoint to fill vacancies, which appointments shall expire on the commencement of the next legislative assembly thereafter. In the case at bar the relator, having the right to hold over until a duly elected and qualified successor should demand the office, has the right to the office of district attorney and can hold the same until some qualified person is appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the legislative assembly appears and demands the office. Counsel for the respondent contend that such a view of the law practically ties the hands of the governor and ask what the result would be in event the governor should nominate someone whom the legislative council would refuse to confirm. Clearly, there would be no vacancy until such time as the governor and legislative council should unite in an appointment and the previous incumbent of the office, being entitled to hold until such appointment was duly made, would continue in such office unless removed by some legal proceeding. While it is undoubtedly true that such a condition of affairs, especially where the governor is of one political faith and the legislative council of another, might greatly embarrass the executive department of the government, its solution is a matter for the legislature and not the judiciary.

Such being our views upon the first contention advanced by the relator, it is not necessary for us to consider the effect of the ending act of June 20th, 1910, upon the term of office of the relator.

The respondent in his brief advances an ingenious argument to the effect that since the relator was in actual possession of the office on February 11, 1911, the date relator's two year term expired, that therefore the office was vacant from the 24th day of March, 1911, the day the writ of ouster unseated the respondent, until the 6th day of April, 1911, the day upon which the relator qualified in office. This argument is based upon the theory that the ouster of respondent did not reinstate the relator and in support of such proposition the respondent cites heretofore the case of Albright v. The Territory, 13 N. M. 64. It appears to us that the argument advanced by counsel is based upon a false premise. It is true that the writ of ouster did not reinstate the relator, but it did not deprive him of the office he was in actual possession of, and this for the reason that the one legally entitled to such office is not necessarily a party to the proceedings questioning the title of the respondent. In the case at bar, however, the decision of the court in the quo warranto proceedings decided that the respondent was not entitled to the office and in so holding necessarily held the action of the governor in attempting to remove the relator as a nullity. This left the relator as the de jure officer entitled to the possession of such office and legally qualified to fill the same.

On March 24, 1911, immediately upon the issuance and service of the writ of ouster the relator took actual possession of the office and thereupon becoming de jure officer in possession of his office and hence there was no and could not be any vacancy upon March 29, the date respondent received his second appointment, 29 Cyc. 1295.

There being no error apparent in the record, the judgment of the lower court is affirmed.

Police Raid Place Licensed By City to Sell Liquor On Ground That It Is Disorderly House; Inmates Give Bond.

Minnie Carroll, not known to the police, in company with three female companions and two men, who gave their names as John Don and Richard Lee, were arrested by the police Friday night. The arrest took place at the rear of North Third street, the place where the Carroll woman and the charge against the society was that of conducting or frequenting a disorderly house.

The prisoners put up a cash bond and were released for hearing yesterday afternoon. When they appeared as the women, who gave her name as Mrs. Nolan, and one of the men, were fined $15 on plea of guilty.

The Carroll woman and the balance of the culprits asked for a continuance until they could secure the advice of counsel. Since the "abolition" of the red light, the Carroll woman has conducted a resort on North Third street, being licensed by the city to sell liquor. It is understood that she claims that her license from the city authorities entitles her to conduct her business without espionage of the police.

CHRISTMAS TREE AT THEATER TODAY

Elks' Santa Claus, Fresh From Realms of Toyland Arrives With Pack That Will Gladden Juvenile Albuquerque.

That no child in the city of Albuquerque will want for a Christmas present is the determination of the Elks. A Christmas tree groaning with presents, now decorates the stage at the theater and this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will witness the spectacular arrival of Santa Claus and every boy and girl in Albuquerque will be there to see. One thousand presents, think of it, one thousand boys and girls made happy, all on a single day.

But that will not be all. There will be a program. There will be singing and other things and Superintendent Reuben Perry of the government Indian school will be there with his Indian band, which is said to be one of the best juvenile musical organizations in existence. There will be no presents for the grown-ups, but they may come in fact they are especially invited, those who have children and those who are not thus blessed, are invited. Seats will be reserved for them after all the little ones have been cared for. The entertainment is especially for the children and more especially for those children who might otherwise be overlooked by St. Nicholas.

It was a tired bunch of Elks that retired to rest early this morning after putting in the night decorating the mammoth tree with its harvest of good things, candies and nuts, oranges and toys. But the tired bunch was a happy bunch and when Santa arrives this afternoon in his magnificent—yet almost bald, his eyes will be dazzled and his brain bewildered by the array of good things which he is expected to distribute to the little ones who were not reached when he started out with full packs.

The address to Santa Claus and the children, which is always a feature of the Elks' Christmas celebration, will be delivered this year by Robert Blaylock, the eminent actor, who is here with the "Lion and the Mouse" company, but Mr. Blaylock will not talk about lions or mice. Mr. Blaylock is an actor, like everybody else, he has to do something whether he likes it or not, but his own particular and pet hobby is children. Were he a millionaire he would do nothing but work for the welfare of the little ones. Not being a millionaire, he devotes all his spare time to making their lot more happy. By his own individual efforts, Mr. Blaylock has already secured the passage of laws in a number of states for the betterment of the condition of the children, especially along the line of the regulation of child labor.

Last year, Mr. Frederick Ward, another celebrated actor, who happened to be in the city at the time, acted as spokesman for Santa Claus and so well did he play the part that his happy remarks are still fresh in the memories of those who heard him.

The committee in charge of the Christmas tree has worked hard and faithfully as only Elks can and nothing has been left undone to make the affair the success that it deserves to be. Following are the members of the committee. Most Frischman, chairman; Jerro Hagard, George Hubbell Thomas, Louis Benjamin, J. H. Preschel, Frank R. Harris, J. J. Tierney, R. H. Crews and Ernest Fuhrmeyer.

TWO THUGS MAKE BRUTAL ATTACK ON MACHINIST

George Haughton Set Upon and Severely Beaten By Men Out of Revenge For Fancied Wrong; Wounds Serious.

George Haughton, a machinist by trade, who says he arrived in Albuquerque the day before yesterday, was attacked last night by two unknown thugs near the corner of Second street and Atlantic avenue, and beaten up to such an extent that his face looked like a piece of pounded meat. Early this morning when he complained to the police he did not know just what time the occurrence happened. All he knew was that he had been attacked by two men.

As soon as possible after he complained to the police Dr. Provines, who responded to the call, took the man under his care and dressed his wounds. The physicians opinion was that the man had been cut as well as beaten. His right eye was completely closed and a severe bruise was inflicted immediately over it. His face was swollen and bloody and covered with superficial cuts.

In his story to the police Haughton said that the trouble occurred over a negro, who had befriended him, and aroused the enmity of two men from Mississippi, who tried to make him turn on the negro, and failing in that assaulted him to get even.

Haughton said that he came here from Louisiana, where he had known the negro as a helper who had worked under him. When the two men in Albuquerque saw the colored man tried to get Haughton a job, which it is said incurred the enmity of the other two fellows. Haughton refused to give the names of the other two men.

BUSINESS COLLEGE TEAM ELECTS CAPTAIN

This Institution Has Strenuous Schedule of Games Ahead; Contests Here On New Year's Day.

The basketball team of the Albuquerque Business College yesterday chose Bob Wristley captain, and James Stinson, manager of the team.

Captain Wristley has been working hard with the boys, getting them in shape for possibly the hardest season that will be encountered by any local team.

The schedule contemplates games with Las Vegas and Santa Fe, and a trip to El Paso, where the El Paso Military Institute, the Y. M. C. A., and the High School will be taken on.

Games will also be played with the New Mexico Agricultural College during this trip, if it can be arranged.

The United States Indian School is in the field with a fast team and expects to be a strong factor in local championship circles this season.

This team opens with the High School on New Year's night, in the armory.

A double-header game is scheduled for that evening, teams representing the girls' section of athletics in the two institutions also being matched for a game.

The out-of-town schedule of the university team contemplates a game each with the Normal University of Las Vegas and with the Agricultural College team at Mesilla park. Both these teams will play return games in this city.

KILBANE HAS SHADE IN BOUT WITH WHITE

Cleveland, Dec. 23.—Johnny Kilbane, scheduled to meet Abe Attell for the welterweight championship on February 22 at Vernon, Cal., had a shade the better of Charlie White of Chicago here tonight in their twelve-round bout.

From the outset the fight was the fastest ever witnessed by one city. Kilbane's clever footwork was especially noticeable and only three times was White able to land on Kilbane at length range.

At in-fighting White gave a decided account of himself and seldom got the worst of the exchange of punches.

About 100,000 people visited the show during the two weeks and the estimated profits are about $10,000. This sum will be used towards a permanent land products exhibition in St. Paul.

Boy Blows off Sister's Head

Olive, Ark., Dec. 23.—Because his eleven-year-old sister refused to share her Christmas candy with him, 13-year-old Bryan Bidwell, according to the police and members of the family, blew off the little girl's head with a shotgun. He suggested the division as they were returning home from their shopping expedition and when she demurred he threatened her with a shotgun, which was discharged when the trigger caught in his coat as he raised the weapon.

CHAMPION JACK JOHNSON RETURNS FROM EUROPE

Chicago, Dec. 23.—John Arthur Johnson, the world's champion heavy-weight prize fighter, arrived home from Europe today, displaying the world's thinnest watch, the world's greatest quantity of gold teeth, the world's largest squirrel-fur coat, and issued a statement within five minutes after his arrival.

The statement reads:
"Don't you ever think Jack Johnson is broke?"

Later he amplified this by saying he started the season with just his demand for some $1,500 training expenses which he says he received.

Three new automobiles, each guaranteed to out-speed any he previously has driven, will be in his garage next week, he says, and one hundred miles an hour will not be unusual, according to his predictions of future driving.

Johnson did not appear to be out of condition so far as appearance goes. He says he can train back to condition in a month. Nothing less than $30,000 purses will tempt him, however, and unless they appear, he will wear diamonds instead of trunks.

An effort to interest Johnson in Jim Flynn, amused the champion. He said he would not consider Flynn serious. Surveying the field of white fighters, Johnson could see nothing promising in any of them. Sam Langford, he said, was the only fighter that could hope to put up anything like an even match and the Boston boy, he added, confidently would be whipped.

INNOCENT MAN WAS SERVING LIFE TERM

New York, Dec. 23.—A Christmas present to John Boehman of Brooklyn today was the dismissal of charges which would have led to his release from Sing Sing prison, after sixteen years' service for a murder of which the supreme court now finds him to be innocent.

The necessary testimony was supplied by two men who kept silent at a time when he needed them to prove an alibi, because they said, they were afraid of being hounded by the police.

While in Sing Sing Boehman, sentenced for life, met a doctor imprisoned on a minor charge, who promised to aid him when released, and as a result of the doctor's activities recently the new witnesses were found.

The proprietor and bartender of a music hall, each of whom has made an affidavit that Boehman was in their place at the time the crime was committed.

SAN FRANCISCO TO HAVE GREAT TIME

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—San Francisco will celebrate the coming New Year's eve with the eclat that obtained of yore.

Over the protest of certain supervisors who assailed the much license was permitted in the downtown cafes, the board of police commissioners issued today an order releasing from now until January 2, the prohibition against the sale of liquor to such places of amusement.

Visitors to such places of amusement may indulge in terpsichorean recreation until whatever hour they choose without the danger of police interference.

"We have not turned so partial to the new year's eve festivities," President Joseph F. Sullivan of the commission explained. "It is possible that this will be the last of San Francisco's whirl for the last night in the year will be given the opportunity. The others can stay at home."

The Gem theater showed to more people than any amusement in the city yesterday. Now what?

EXPERTS REFUSE TO TOUCH "LOADED" SAFE

Warrensburg, Mo., Dec. 23.—Safe blowers who were frightened away before they had finished the work of cracking the vault of the Warrensburg postoffice, have left government officials here a knotty problem to solve.

The robbers first blew the outer door of the vault and then filled the cracks about the inner door with nitro-glycerine.

The attempt to rob the postoffice was made some time during Wednesday night and since then government officials have tried in vain to get a safe expert who will enter the inner door, but their dilemma was not generally known until today. All experts who have been summoned refused to touch the safe, saying the chances for an explosion are too great to take the risk.

Champ Clark in St. Louis.

St. Louis, Dec. 23.—Champ Clark, speaker of the national house of representatives, arrived in St. Louis tonight for a two days' stay with friends who have opened up headquarters in their campaign to obtain the democratic presidential nomination for the speaker. He was optimistic about democratic success in the coming presidential and state campaigns.

Scotland Strikers Win Out.

Dundee, Scotland, Dec. 23.—The strike of dockers and carters was settled through the mediation of the government arbitrators at 3 o'clock this morning. The men will receive the advance in wages which they demanded. The strike resulted in serious disturbances on Tuesday last and troops were sent out to quiet the rioters. Twenty thousand workmen were involved.

HERE WILL LEAD EXPECTION TO GUATEMALA

Ancient Ruins to Be Explored By Party Under Auspices of Archaeological Institute of America, Starting January 3.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

San Francisco, N. M., Dec. 23.—The third expedition under the auspices of the Archaeological Institute of America will sail for Guatemala on January 3. It will be headed by Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, director of the American School of Archaeology of Santa Fe.

Dr. Hewett starts for Washington, D. C., next Sunday where he will equip and perfect his plans for the work. He will be accompanied by Central America by Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Morley, who will give special attention to the inscriptions. Earl Morris, a student of the University of Colorado, and Mrs. Cockerell, wife of Professor Cockerell of the department of zoology of the University of Colorado, will also be on the expedition.

If the Ministry had not adhered to the party will sail on the date mentioned from New Orleans on one of the United Fruit company's boats for Puerto Barrios on the Bay of Honduras.

The ruins of the ancient Maya temple-city of Quirigua, where the expedition will be situated, is situated in the Motagua valley a distance of fifty-six miles from the port of entry.

The condition of the ruins when first visited by Director Hewett, two years ago, is well described in the recently published book in the institute.

"The buildings are fairly well preserved, and probably represent a completely developed Maya temple-city. Their limited extent would make a complete examination possible in about five years. No excavations had been made at Quirigua save a few desultory trenches in the tops of some of the mounds. No extensive first-hand study of the art or inscriptions had been made except that on Maudslayi, whose efforts were largely bestowed upon photography and the making of moulds. Quirigua, therefore, seemed to present almost a virgin field for scientific work; the dense jungle which it has long lain buried has preserved it alike from vandalism and from close investigation. Moreover, the extension of the plantations of the United Fruit company seemed to make the desecration of the site for protection of measures. The clearing and burning of forests might seriously endanger the ruins."

The first expedition accomplished little more than a survey of the ruins. Preliminary work such as road building and a very slight clearing of the jungle began in the manner described in the extract from the bulletin mentioned before and which is as follows:

"The first work consisted in clearing the forest from the entire temple area of the city. This work was of great difficulty. A large number of large trees and countless smaller ones had to be removed. The area cleared was about twenty acres in extent. It comprised that portion of the ground occupied by buildings and mounds, and the ground between them. The natural growth where the native fauna and flora will be left undisturbed."

In summing up the work of the second year the bulletin says:

"The expedition of 1911 was only moderately successful in archaeological finds, though the new inscription upon the stelae of the temple was of great importance. It was brought to a close early in May by the coming on of the hot season. It was aided by the services of Lisandro Castillo, the young native foreman, whose services proved to be of great value. The cost of the expedition in 1911 was defrayed by contributions of equal amount from the St. Louis Society of the Institute and the United Fruit company."

The work this year will be a continuation of that already done on the ruins. At much of the jungle has been removed from the temple area many of the carvings on the temples, patios and monuments will be cleared of the moss and other growth and the inscriptions deciphered. If possible, this last will be the task of Mr. Morley who has made a special study of the work.

Mr. Nubbaum will make moulds from the great statues from which casts of exact replicas will be made. The work will be done in the museum of the American School in Santa Fe. The work will be brought to Santa Fe and deposited in the museum of the American School in the Palace of the Governors.

The expedition is financed by the St. Louis branch of the Archaeological Institute, but is under the direction of the American School of Archaeology located in Santa Fe. The Archaeologists will be absent in Central America from four to six months.

BILLION DOLLARS IN BRITISH TERRITORY

Exports to English Territory From United States in Ten Months Double Amount of Imports.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Washington, Dec. 23.—Over a billion dollars' worth of merchandise passed between the United States and British territory in the ten months ending with October, for which statistics have been compiled. The bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor reports that exports from the United States to British territory in the period named aggregated 725 million, and imports therefrom 283 million dollars, thus indicating that for every dollar's worth of merchandise imported from the territory in question two dollars' worth of American products are exported thereto.

The growth of American commerce with countries and colonies under the British flag has been steady and in the case of certain countries, notably Canada, very rapid. In 1905 the ten months' record of imports from British territory was 283 million, and in 1911, 333 million dollars, an increase of 94 million dollars. The 1911 figures are, however, slightly less than the total for 1910, when the ten months' imports aggregated 465 million dollars. Exports to British territory for corresponding periods of the years named meantime grew from 583 million dollars in 1905 to 755 million in 1911, an increase of 172 million dollars. The share of the imports into the United States brought from British territory is about thirty per cent, while about 45 to 50 per cent of the exports goes thereto, and of the total foreign trade, approximately 40 per cent is with British territory. The term British territory here used includes England, Scotland, Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India and other British East India possessions, the Falkland Islands, Newfoundland and Labrador, the British West Indies, and other British islands. Of all these, with the important exceptions, the exports from the United States are larger in 1911 than in 1910 or earlier years.

To the United Kingdom, the largest British market for American products, our 10 months' exports increased from 392 million dollars in 1910 to 419 million in 1911; those to Canada, next in rank, the exports in the 10 months periods advanced from 201 million dollars in 1910 to 249 million in 1911, a figure more than double the total for the corresponding period of 1905. Australia and New Zealand rank third among the British dominions

COUNTY SEAT CASES ARE AFFIRMED AT SANTA FE

Six From Lincoln County Acted On By Supreme Court Which Does Big Grist of Business at Friday Session.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 23.—The territorial supreme court Friday afternoon affirmed all of the Lincoln county seat cases, six in number.

It affirmed the damage case of Harry Bloom Friday by his next friend, John H. Friday, appellee, vs. the Santa Fe Central Railway company, from Santa Fe county. Friday was given damages for injuries in an accident which he ascribed to a defect in equipment of a car.

It affirmed George A. Davidson, plaintiff, vs. Citizens National Bank, appellee, appellants, vs. Citizens National Bank of Russell, appellees.

The court also affirmed territory, appellee, vs. Malcom Trapp, appellant.

In Tina Haffner Relch, appellee, vs. A. B. Henschen, appellant, from Santa Fe county, recently decided, a motion for a rehearing was overruled.

Other Decisions.

The supreme court handed down the following opinions:

Case 1245. George A. Davidson, plaintiff, vs. Citizens National Bank, appellee, appellants, vs. Citizens National Bank of Russell, appellees. Appeal from the district court of Chaves county.
Cause affirmed. Opinion by Associate Justice C. J. Roberts.

In this case the statement of facts are as follows: "This cause of action was before this court upon practically the same record, and upon the former hearing the case was reversed with instructions to the lower court to rehear the case and proceed in accordance with the views therein expressed. (15 N. M. 680.) Upon the second trial of the case in the court below no new pleadings or amendments to the pleadings were made and no additional evidence was introduced. The court below, in accordance with the mandate of this court, made finding of facts and conclusions of law and entered judgment for the appellees, from which judgment this appeal is prosecuted."

The opinion goes on to say that a new proposition was presented in the case, but the court could not consider it as it is against the settled law of New Mexico "that a decision in a prior appeal is the law of the case and that upon a subsequent appeal nothing is before the court for revision but the proceedings subsequent to the mandate."

In support of this opinion the court cited the following precedents: United States vs. Camou, 184 U. S. 572; Barnett vs. Barnett, 9 N. M. 257; Gray vs. Field, 10 N. M. 257. Especial attention was drawn to the Nebraska case, Hastings vs. Fox-worthy in 24 L. R. A. 321.

In summing up at the close the opinion says: "The former decision of this case being the law in the case, whether right or wrong, this court is bound to adhere to it so far as this case is concerned and the cause will therefore be affirmed."

Bank of Commerce vs. Broyles.
Case 1246. Bank of Commerce, ap-pellee, vs. Jasper M. Broyles, et al., appellants. Opinion on rehearing by Associate Justice A. J. Wright. Except as modified the original opinion is adhered to. The case is reported in 15 N. M. 479, and was an action brought under the federal bankruptcy act, involving the question of preference of creditors. A payment of $2-282.45 on a note by Broyles to the Bank of Commerce was in question.
The court decided that the bank had no right to this preference.

Rehearing Denied.
Case 1409. Territory of New Mexico, appellee, vs. Jim Walker, ap-pellee, vs. Chaves county, motion for rehearing denied.

Case 1397. W. D. McBeck, ap-pellee, vs. Pat O'Connell, et al., appellees, vs. Chaves county, motion for rehearing denied.

After a formal meeting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon the court adjourned until next morning.

Star Service Schedules.
The following change in the star service was announced in the Daily Postoffice Bulletin yesterday:

1912, begin at Meek, increasing 10 miles. Special service, Meek, Lincoln

"For They're All Jolly Good Fellows, Which Nobody Can Deny"

Land Donation For Building Great Southwestern Highway System Aim of Fergusson

Democratic Congressman-Elect Tells What He Hopes to Aid in Accomplishing For New Mexico During Short Term in National Lawmaking Body; Government Aid in Developing and Discovering Subterranean Water Supply, Army Post For Albuquerque, and Innovation Leasing System For Grazing Lands All Part of Ambitious Program to Be Laid Before Sixty-Second Congress.

A donation of government land to provide for the building of a splendid system of permanent highways across New Mexico, east and west and north and south; a similar land appropriation, the proceeds to pay for the extensive testing of the underground water supply in the new state; an Albuquerque army post and an innovation in the system of leasing grazing lands whereby tenure of lease depends on the amount of money spent by the lessee in developing water supply—these three things are the chief objects for which Harvey B.
Fergusson, democratic congressman-elect from New Mexico, is going to work for in the house of representatives during his short term of a trifle over a year.

Mr. Fergusson was asked yesterday by a representative of the Morning Journal about his ideas on legislation most needed or most feasible at this time in the interest of New Mexico.

"Just go back a minute to my former service as New Mexico's delegate in congress," said Mr. Fergusson.
"You will remember I was at Washington with a republican president, McKinley, in office, and the house and senate were republican. I was what you might call a despised Bryan annihilist, without the pale, and with little hope of accomplishing anything for New Mexico. I determined to work entirely in a non-political way for something beneficial to New Mexico and I think I succeeded to a more or less extent. I concluded the land proposition was the best chance and the biggest need. New Mexico had, and concentrated, my energies on that. I early found who were the men who ran things in congress and got after them day and night. Of course, statehood came first, a hopeless fight which I fought out to a finish and defeat to get it out of my mind. I spent hours working on speaker Reed and put it squarely up to him, that having refused to statehood congress must at least look after us on the land question. I made a hundred speeches or so before the land committee and finally we got the bill and its large appropriations for the territory.

The Present Situation.
"The situation now, while different, still presents difficulties almost as serious as those I faced before. While we have a democratic house and plenty of democrats in the senate, in view of the coming presidential election everybody is trying to make a reputation for economy and everything, in my opinion, will be pared down to the quick. So I fear it will be difficult to get anything in the way of money, either for public buildings or anything else, although of course, I shall work in the interest of such appropriation, particularly to get a new federal building for Santa Fe, which is greatly needed, and for public buildings in various other towns.

"But there are other things which I hope we can get. One of the most important in my opinion is the donation of a big slice of government land to be disposed of for the purpose of raising funds to build a great permanent system of highways, highways which will rival the old Roman roads and which will be a model for other states. I have been much impressed with the fine macadam roads which radiate from the city of El Paso; by government aid and convict labor we ought to be able to get just such a system of roads here, with three or four fine modern thoroughfares from border to border, north and south and east and west. I think congress can legitimately be asked to give us a donation for this purpose, our state good roads policy dovetailing with the national scheme for coast to coast roads now so popular throughout the country.

"New Mexico is made up as you know of thickly settled communities, separated by wide reaches of desert and mountains. What we need is to bring the San Juan and Rio Grande, the Pecos and the Mimbres closer together by means of good roads. Such a policy adds solidarity to the state and greatly facilitates its development.

The easily developed and most favorable sections are widely separated by vast districts where resources are more refractory. Let us get macadam roads, or the most practicable roads of whatever kind that may be devised, and knit the state closer together.

"The next thing is to work to get a selection of half a million, or a million acres of land, using the proceeds from its disposal to aid in developing, under state auspices, the great underground water possibilities of New Mexico for the facilitation of irrigation. What we want to find out is where the water exists. Between our innumerable mountain ranges much surface flow disappears and the Willard and Estancia valleys may be irrigated in a small way.

"Supposed, a few years ago, that twelve thousand acres of land around Portales, for instance, could be irrigated with water from under the land?

"There is another hobby of mine, and that is a proposed innovation with regard to the laws governing the leasing of lands suitable only for grazing. My idea is to have a system of long-term leases contingent on the expenditure by the cattleman or sheepman of specified sums of money in the work of seeking to develop a water supply. Some such modification of the federal land laws as will permit such long leases, their length depending on the amount of money expended by the lessee, will have in irrigation. What we want to find out
is where the water exists. Between our innumerable mountain ranges
much surface flow disappears and the Willard and Estancia valleys may be
irrigated in a small way.

"Another thing which I think ought to be pushed is the matter of securing an army post for Albuquerque. All our military chiefs from General Mith down have emphatically recommended this place as the site for a big post, the physical conditions on the mesa, with the Sandia mountains as an ideal background for target practice, appealing strongly to all the leading army experts. The war department now is pursuing the policy of consolidating scattered small wa-tern posts into large ones. Army men are agreed that Albuquerque offers a splendid location, with her good transportation facilities and central location and land conditions. In my opinion our chances for getting that post are better than ever if the proposition is pushed vigorously all the time."

"As my term will expire with the expiration of the Sixty-second congress," said Mr. Fergusson, "the time is short, but I am going to do my best to get these ideas and others before congress and get action on them."

Mr. Fergusson is of the belief that he will not be a candidate for re-election, although many things may happen in the next year to affect this decision.

If Mr. Fergusson does as good work at the present congress as during his former incumbency, he will be a success in the house of representatives.
He secured the donation of a million and a third acres of land for public purposes in New Mexico; the right to lease millions of acres for the benefit of the public schools, with five percent of the sale of all public lands appropriated for the same object. Every territorial institution has benefited by the land legislation secured by Mr.
Fergusson. Another achievement was the donation of 100,000 acres of public land for the improvement of the flow of the Rio Grande, a proposition which is now being taken up again along the line originally suggested by Mr. Fergusson, whose idea was to construct a concrete dam to bedrock in the Rio Grande north of here, flush with the surface, thus bringing to the surface the strong underflow in the broad sandy bed of the river, and making it available for irrigation at times when practically no water is visible in the stream. The possibilities of this scheme have aroused recurring interest in view of the present tie-up of the flows of the Rio Grande and its tributaries for the benefit of the Elephant Butte dam of the U. S. reclamation service.

as I have heard there are some wrestlers in your city, I certainly would like to stop off there and have a match with some of them.

a man of 175 pounds or over; best two out of three falls, and any one under 175 pounds. I will agree to

RESIGNATION OF CRANDALL EXPECTED

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 22.—Yesterday's newspaper dispatches from Washington, containing the announcement that Clinton J. Crandall, superintendent of the United States Indian school in this city, and the man in charge of the Pueblo Indians in New Mexico, expected to resign, while in Denver, that Mr. Crandall would resign from the service. The retirement of this official, who has been in the Indian service upwards of twenty-since he was known as a zealous and patriotic official. His resignation was the climax of a controversy which

San Francisco, Dec. 23.—The star over the prize fight ring at Dreamland rink, was transferred today into the Star of Bethlehem for nearly 2,000 little children, guests at a Christmas party given by Miss Bessie Beatty, a local newspaper writer.

Most of all of the youngsters would have had no Christmas celebration.
From one o'clock until nearly five they packed the big room, darkened so as to provide for moving pictures and sang and shouted and watched a "Punch and Judy" show and other acts provided by the theatrical managers.

There were two Christmas trees, each about forty feet high and each child was given a present and a bag of candy. Many young society women assisted in the celebration.

TRIED TO CELEBRATE

Because it is alleged he tried to celebrate on money secured on two checks drawn on the Bank of Commerce in which he had no funds, James Lee was arrested yesterday and lodged in the city jail. The checks, which were drawn for $5 each, were cashed, it is said, by the porter at the Elks club. They came back from the banks with the notation "No Funds," and the arrest of Lee followed. It is said he was intoxicated when found by the officers, having used the proceeds of the checks to celebrate Christmas. His hearing will be held tomorrow.

Lee was sentenced to serve ten days yesterday for drunkenness, as was also Dwight Wheeler.

guarding a satchel containing $2,000 on the streets today. The detective

Yuletide

"Again the Silent Wheels of Time
Their Annual Round
Have Driven"

Here's Hoping You All Spend A Merry Christmas--There's Noth-

WHICH is the best Christmas?" mused the Spirit of Yuletide as he hustled around, helping Santa Claus do up bundles.

Christmas Eve day and the blessed flurry was at its fiercest!

"The fires of sentiment slumber in every man," quoth the Spirit of Christmas as he looked from the windows of Nowhere down on the hurrying crowd.

He chuckled, knowing the world was his own.

Nightfall darkened the day and shut out his view. Still he wondered and still he mused "Who is happiest?"

Then, later, the Spirit of Christmas went in search of the answer. Peering within a lighted window, he saw the care-free bachelor. About him were scattered pillows, ties, slippers, pipes, cigars, slippers, in such number that rather humorously the Spirit of Christmas breathed "To Him That Hath Shall be Given." And the bachelor smoked, and the room was still.

The Spirit of Christmas crept away, still looking. A girl toyed with gifts, from many men. Such a pretty girl, all too used to admiration and accepting as her due, the homage of men. Wanting all and giving nothing.

"One type of the modern girl," soliloquized the Spirit of Christmas.
"Quite off, I come across the likes of these. As said Meredith, 'Her manner says plainly I am not, I am not, I do not, you tire me.'" and the Spirit turned away.

Stately and brilliantly lighted, stood a home across the street. "That for me," laughed the Spirit of Christmas, as he sped blithely up the broad steps and vanished within. There, a man and his wife made ready for Christmas.

All the luxuries that money and modernity supply, everything that heart could desire -- but the Spirit stayed not, but went his way in quest of the best Christmas.

Attracted by another handsome home, the Spirit saw a kindly woman, childless and alone, gathering together toys, for many poor children.
He paused.

"That's happiness, genuine but pathetic," sighed the Spirit and went on. Around the corner was a less pretentious place.

Probably the Spirit of Christmas would have gone by, but glad laughter in the childish treble stayed him. He went within. A mother and father were hastening the wee ones off to bed, with stories of how Santa Claus would come in the dead of night and of the wonderful things he would bring. Then the hour of preparation.
The pulling of toys from their hiding place, the filling of stockings and all the dear delights of making ready.

And the Spirit of Christmas went his way, satisfied.

The answer was found.

MODERNIZED.

Pardon the pathos. You know how it is, Christmas makes one feel sort of--slushy. That isn't the word, but the meaning is clear, I think.

You see, Christmas, modernized, commercialized and systematized, has lost one grand, glorious game of grab and gush.

The Christmas of dead and golden days was a sacred holiday and the old meaning permeates the Christmas of giddy civilization, a tiny bit, at least.

Of course, the modern specialists say it isn't so, and that Santa Claus isn't the patron saint, any more, since the automobile and the aero-plane have put his transportation facilities out of business.

We are fearfully modern, this day and time.

But Christmas is Christmas, and it isn't going out of style, but is just brought up-to-date; that's all.

We are so strong for things fashionable and up-to-minute, that if Christmas was declared out of style, we would all turn up our noses at the holiday.

But it isn't--and it won't be.
Just as long as the world keeps resolving, Christmas is to be celebrated and if not in the good old way, why, according to Hoyle and his improved methods.

Here it is Christmas Eve day and Sunday. I hope nothing was forgotten because the shops are closed. It's rather nice to have Christmas Eve fall on Sunday because the whole day is ours for preparation. Chances are you don't care whether "school keeps or not" in regard to the society page.

I am awfully glad you feel that way about it, for despite the big bad, Yuletide society is rather slow.

But, I am yours for all there is in it, and here goes for the week's social review.

married late in January. The announcement was made at a dinner party, at the Alvarado, Thursday night, when the most intimate girl friends, of the bride-elect, were given official notice. Miss Hopkins' fiance is a California man, cashier of the Crown City National bank at Paasdena. His name is Albert Mercer and he owns a beautiful home and a rather convenient incidental, in the form of a splendid touring car.

So you see, he is distinctly eligible in the marriage mart. Not that it requires homes and automobiles to get married, but they are convenient accesses.

And besides, Mr. Mercer, is a very fine man, according to the few localities who know him. That he has captured one of the popular Albuquerque girls speaks volumes for his charms. Miss Hopkins is the only daughter of Postmaster Hopkins and is a very charming girl who enjoys the esteem and friendship of all who know her. She has spent much time in California, only returning a few weeks since from a prolonged stay and wearing a big suitcase, so her friends were promptly suspicious, and anticipating an interesting announcement.

The announcement party, by the way, was a gorgeous one, as Mr. Mercer sent the decorations from California. They were dozens and dozens of huge red poinsettias, with beautiful roses and a profusion of smilax and ferns.

Poinsettias, which are the southern California Christmas flowers, were used on the table, and as favors, and made lavishly attractive decorations.
Mrs. Hopkins, mother of the bride-to-be, announced the approaching marriage and there was an immediate outbreak of congratulations and questions. The dinner hour was, of course, gay and interesting.

The pre-nuptial entertainment for Irene Hopkins will start New Year's day with a shower party at the home of Miss Elsie Sackett. Other affairs will follow as Miss Hopkins will, no doubt, prove a very popular bride-elect.

FROM BOSTON
AND "GOOD FUN".

Things are picking up, in a social way, for the young set. Evelyn El-sman, a young Bostonian (though not extremely so) visiting here, is chief incentive for the outburst of gaiety.
Miss Elsman is a smart dresser and a very jolly girl. "Good fun" is the young crowd say, who are showing her the local sights and the Albuquerque way of enjoying life.

The fun began with a rollicking party at the Ivan Grunfeld home last Sunday night, when five hundred and a half guests, and a Dutch lance, the incidental amusement.

Hannah Nusbaum was hostess at this gay social jamboree and, as stated, Miss Elsman, the honoree.

BEEF STEAK.

On Wednesday night, Gladys Man-dell, did the honors, for the charming visitor, when the bunch was turned loose in the Mandell bungalow on North Twelfth.

This was a "beef-steak" party, and there's speaking literally. Which sounds tremendously good, if not entirely elegant. It was a masquerade, when costumes were not judged for their beauty but for their absurdity.

And some of them were fearfully absurd, with a ridiculous general but aid, with the merriment and general good time.

Nothing so sedate as cards entered into the scheme of things, but the time was spent in crazy, fantastic games and all sorts of nonsensical antics. Prizes for costumes were awarded to Jetty Rosenwald and N.
G. McCroden and the second prizes went to Hannah Nusbaum and Louis Benjamin.

DATE OF INAUGURAL BALL UNCERTAIN.

With all respect for the issues at stake, let us hope that the arguments will be closed, and the final decision of the canvassing board announced today. Not only are we anxious to know the results of the state election, but it would be more satisfactory to know the exact date of the inaugural ball.

Arrangements continue, uninterruptedly, and the committees at work in Santa Fe, and all those who contemplate going, are hoping the inaugural ceremonies will not need to be postponed.

In case the proclamation is not issued in time for a New Year's inauguration, it is planned for January 4.
Anyhow the ball, in all its brilliant detail, is to happen just as soon as President Taft gives the word, and it will be the most gorgeous social affair in the history of New Mexico.

So the time doesn't matter. It is to be, that is the fundamental thing.

THE TEN DONS HAVE THE ANNUAL FETING OF THEIR LADIES, AN EVENT OF each Yuletide, next Thursday night when the ten with the ten wives; pardon me, nine plus nine, as one of the Dons
must send his regrets from Europe.

will have a dinner at the Alvarado.

JACK FROST may be Cupid's discloser, Warm hearted in spite of his snow:
And the kiss that in June is subrosa,
In December is sub mistletoe.

Inaugural balls will keep, now know.
To be sure we would not like to wait for it as long as we have for statehood, but can afford to stand for a few days' delay.

THIRTY
DANCES.

Of Christmas celebrations, none have been merrier, than the holiday dance of the Thirty club.

Special preparation was made for the dance and it was a huge success.
Decorations were of the Yuletide, and extremely pretty. The programs were well gotten up, as fifty souvenirs of the occasion, and the Fuhrmeyer-Cavanaugh orchestra gave of their best in the way of music.

A banquet topped off proceedings, and was quite a spread, judging from all reports.

Those attending the Christmas dance were as follows: Misses Ruby Peel, Ethel Saint, Lillian Hresiden, Jennie Tierney, Frances Borders, Irene Borders, Charlotte Pratt, Adele Goss, Ruth Goss, Kathryn Grimmer, Viola Blucher, Elsie Myers, Ruth Simplier, Bernice Hesselde, Jean Hubbs, Sue Dobson and Miss Campbell.

Messrs Will McMillin, Thomas Nelson, Bert Skinner, Will White, John Tierney, Walter Disque, Ralph Keleher, Goswami, John McKee, Roy Strome, Ray Bailey, Robert Crews, F.
P. Busch, James Skinner, Kenneth Baldrige, R. M. Hutchinson, Grover Devine and Charles Lambke.

SOCIETY
SUNDRIES.

The Elsmans, of Boston, Miss Elsman and her mother, went to the Grand Canyon, Thursday and will return this afternoon. They will be met at the train by a ray equivalent who will have "tea" with them at the Alvarado.

This evening Miss Hilda Grunfeld will entertain informally in honor of Miss Elsman at her home.

Mrs. Edward Rosenwald and her daughter, Miss Regina Rosenwald, have invitations out for a reception next Wednesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock. This affair will be in honor of Mrs. Charles Hildesheim of Los Angeles, another daughter of Mrs.
Rosenwald, who is her guest, at this time.

The Ten Dons have the annual fet-ing of their ladies, an event of each Yuletide, next Thursday night when
the ten with the ten wives; pardon
me, nine plus nine, as one of the Dons
must send his regrets from Europe.

will have a dinner at the Alvarado.

After the dining, the crowd will go to the M. E. Hickey home for an evening of frolic, that is, the dignified fun of Ten Dons.

DANCES.

The Elks will entertain with the first 1912 dance, January 2, in the big hall room of the Elks' building.
Something especially fine in the way of decorations is promised, by the social committee, who are making extensive preparations for the New Year's ball.

Desiring to start the New Year right, the Antlered ones are going to have their first dance a brilliant one, something that will be remembered throughout the entire year.

The first basket ball game of the season will occur New Year's night, in the Armory, when the High school boys will play the Indian boys, and later game with the Indian girls.
The usual dance will follow the game and will attract the college contin-gent, full force.

The Royal Neighbors are to have the third dance of an enjoyable series, Thursday evening, December 28, at Odd Fellows hall. Tickets are being sold for this affair, at a very reasonable rate, and refreshments will be served, for which no extra charges will be made.

Greatly anticipated by the dance lovers, is the annual ball of the Woodmen of the World, in Elks' ball room, New Year's night. Extensive preparations are being made for the event and it will be one of the most successful and best attended of the holiday dances.

SOCIAL BULLETINS.

Miss Blanche Porterfield, a talented pianist who has been touring the Pacific coast, the northwest and Canada with the Cartwright Concert Co., returned home during the week for the Christmas holidays. Mr. and Mrs.
Forest Cartwright, who are well known here, have gone to Indianapolis to spend the holidays and will tour the southern states after the first of January. Their many friends here are delighted with the big success they have achieved in concert work.

Dr. B. E. Hedding of Mountair, and Mrs. Hedding are in town for the Christmas holidays. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sterling.

who was with them, here, went to California.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Snively entertained delightfully at Five Hundred, at their home, 419 North Sixth St., Thursday evening. The house de-did supper was served at the conclusion of the game. The invited were

Washington, D. C., who is spending a few days here on route home from the Pacific coast.

Speaking of the Bryans, the numbers of friends of their son, Kirk Bryan, a student at Yale, are glad to know that he is recovering from an attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobo Yrizarri have returned from their honeymoon trip to California, and are at the senior Yrizarri home. A new home is being erected for the young couple which will be completed within the next few weeks.

Miss Kathryn Chaves will be a guest of Mrs. John L. March and Mrs.
James Seligman of Santa Fe during the inauguration ceremonies, and will be among the Albuquerqueans to attend the ball.

At the Women's club, Friday, the brief business session was followed by

Always Up-to-Date---a Calendar,
But Its Days Are Numbered---Judge

The Year Has Taken Unto Itself the Whiskers of Age and is About Ready to Cash In a delightful musical program, and a social hour during which, Mrs.

John Borradaile and Mrs. Briggs served a delicious luncheon.

The program numbered two songs by Mrs. Charles White who sang exquisitely Mazzoni's "For All Eternity" and "Dreams Just Dreams" by Ber-ling and Snyder.

Mrs. Borradaile in her piano selection, splendidly interpreted Nevin's Venetian Love Song and Mrs. D. H.
Carns read selections from "In Old Virginia" (Thomas Nelson Page) in imitable southern dialect.

The hand painted articles, for which chances were sold at the annual bazaar, were awarded as follows: The vase to Mrs. O. H. Higginson, the claret jug to Mrs. W. F. Keim and the bon-bon dish to Mrs. W. J. Johnson.

Activities in the Women's club, center now on the annual New Year's reception, which will be held New Years day, and to which all friends of the club, and all strangers in town are cordially invited.

LOCAL TALENT TO APPEAR IN BELEN.

Colonel Berger has always told us that Belen is up-to-date, and now we know it. This progressive neighborhood is to see the old year out with an Albuquerque entertainment.

The Harugaris, an enterprising German organization of this city, will repeat "Belm Quackalber", the clever and humorous little farce which scored such a hit at the time of local presentation in Belen, the evening of December 31, under the capable direction of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Friedberg.

Special excursion rates will prevail for the occasion and many local people are planning on going to Belen for the entertainment and dance which will wind up proceedings.

An excellent program has been prepared with work by leading amateur artists and a good time is assured for the Belen amusement lovers and the local contingent.

Appended is the order of entertainment:

Overture—Mrs. Albert Soell.
Vocal solos—Miss Gertrude Brodell.
Musical sketch—Mr. and Mrs. Jos.
Friedberg.

Instrumental selections—Henrietta Loeb.

Vocal solo—Angie La Driere.
"The Bowerly Girl and the Dutchman"—Chapman and Friedberg.

following cast of characters:

fuesner) Joseph Friedberg.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT.

Visitors were attracted to St. Vincent's Academy in goodly number, last Tuesday, on the occasion of the annual display of art and needle craft.

A specialty is made of painting, etching and fine needlework at the convent and the splendid display was ample testimony of the excellent instruction, and talent and industry of the students.

The Christmas presents of the students, from the surprising efforts of the small girls of the primary department, to the finished work of the graduating class were exhibited, all eliciting praise from the visitors.

The etching and painting attracted particular comment, of an altogether favorable character, and no less complimentary reference was made to the fine display of fancy work.

Wedding bells chimed during the week, when four well known young people by the usual process, became two.

On Monday evening Miss Myrtle Faber was wedded to Mr. Charles Kair, at her home, which was prettily decorated for the nuptial proceedings. Relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, performed by Rev. W. E. Oberholzer of the Lutheran church.

Mr. Kair and his bride have a large circle of friends who are interested, if not surprised, at their marriage.

Another interesting wedding, of the Yuletide, was that of Miss Florence Mattocks and Mr. Willard P. Irvin on Tuesday evening, December 19.

These two were united in marriage by Rev. Herman P. Williams of the Christian church at the parsonage, with only witnesses to see the deed well done.

Mr. Irvin holds a responsible position with the American Lumber Co. and his bride is a popular town girl.
They are temporarily domiciled at 522 South Second St., pending the completion of a new home, being erected at this time.

A surprise party was given for Mrs.
J. S. Beaven, on her birthday anniversary. Last Wednesday evening the crowd convened at a home nearby, and went in a party to the Beaven home armed with refreshments, and a handsome present for the surprised hostess.

An enjoyable evening followed at cards and supper. The prize winners were Mrs. Warren Graham, Mr. P.
K. Schock and Mrs. J. F. Snively.
The uninvited were Mr. and Mrs. P. F.
McCauna, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Baca, Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Schock, Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Roehl, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shupp, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Snively, Mrs. Jack Robertson, Mrs. The Graham and Mrs. Ruffe.

CARD

The Young Ladies Sodality, of the Immaculate Conception church, are to have a card party and Christmas entertainment, Wednesday evening, December 27, at St. Mary's hall.

Elaborate plans are being made for the event, and an especially good musical program will be featured, with such popular talent as Mrs.
Charles White, Miss Lillian Hesselde, Louise Gumbiner and Ernest Landolf.

That the music will be good, goes without saying, and the other amusement features will be in keeping.
The invitation is general, and it is hoped that a good crowd will turn out for the affair.

SOCIETIES
AND CLUBS.

The tiny kindergartners, taught by Miss Crystine Ayers, had a glorious time, distributing gifts, for most part, their own handwork, last Thursday morning, when Miss Ayers took them in an automobile around the town to the homes of their friends.

The next morning, Friday, the parents were invited to the kindergarten rooms in the Women's club for a Christmas tree celebration, when other dainty gifts were distributed, and a clever and entertaining program rendered by the wee tots.

The "Everybody's Lonesome" club made up of young ladies of the First Baptist church is deep in preparation for a Christmas reception and entertainment for the congregation and friends of the church.

The happy event is scheduled for next Thursday evening in the church parlors and will doubtless prove a very pleasant social event of Christmas week.

Mrs. W. D. Ward was hostess, Tuesday afternoon, at her home, 422 W.
Coal Ave., to the local white ribbon-ers at a very enjoyable session.

"Mother Thompson" mother of the temperance work, was the subject of an interesting discussion.

A social hour and refreshments followed.

Dr. Thomas Harwood, and other members of the Harwood Biblical college faculty, entertained the teachers and students of the Harwood School for Girls, yesterday afternoon.
The time was whiled pleasantly in games and amusements of the season, with an excellent lunch as a concluding feature.

The Home and Foreign Missionary society of the First Methodist church met in the church parlors, Thursday afternoon, at the final meeting of the year.

The program was of foreign work, the subject being "Buddhism and Hinduism." It was discussed under the direction of Mrs. H. P. Mohr, who was leader of the day.

Mrs. Alford had charge of the social hour which followed the more formal session.

The regular Monday meeting of the Women's Study class conducted each week at the Y. W. C. A. home, under direction of Mrs. Jessie Runyan, will not be held tomorrow, but is postponed until the Monday following, New Year's day. The meeting will be called at 2:30 instead of at 3 o'clock as formerly.

The Salvation Army corps are busy preparing Christmas baskets for poor and needy families and solicit aid from the public. Used toys, east-off clothing and good, wholesome food will be thankfully received, and through the efforts of Captain Wondell of the local barracks, will find its way into homes where help is badly needed. Anyone wishing to aid in

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

LET THE FARMERS TURN OUT.

The people of New Mexico—and especially the farmers—should appreciate the progressive and highly liberal policy of the Santa Fe Railway company in sending throughout the state the agricultural demonstration train which leaves early in the year for its long tour.

This demonstration train, whose operation will cost the Santa Fe thousands of dollars, is a token of the earnest and real interest in the development of the new state shown by the company. It is a splendid effort to assist the farmers of New Mexico. There is no hope of any immediate return to the coffers of the railroad company from this proposition. To be sure, such a policy as this tends toward the upbuilding of the Santa Fe trade territory and more business for the railroad; but its immediate effect is to assist the farmers just at the time when they most need that assistance; and they should show their thorough appreciation of this effort on the part of the corporation by turning out to the last man at each place where the train stops and making it worth the while for the Santa Fe to have made the effort.

As stated before, the railroad is bringing the agricultural college to the farmers. At every stopping place this train will unship a loaded down cargo of practical agricultural wisdom; no fancy frills nor red tape agriculture, but valuable instruction from men who have for years made a study of the peculiar conditions in the southwest and who know what they are talking about. Many of New Mexico's new farmers come from states where conditions are radically different; the soil is different, the climate is different, the question of moisture is an entirely different one, the rotation of crops has its peculiar phases, and few farmers who have come recently to this country know the best crops to raise in their particular locality, nor the best tested and tried methods for raising the crops. The men on the demonstration train have practical knowledge of these things. They are going to give the farmers all along the line information that will be worth real money to them. They are prepared to impart this information concisely and clearly and drive it home by actual demonstration. Every farmer should feel that it means an actual financial loss to him to miss the lectures and demonstrations.

The entire people of New Mexico should cooperate with the Santa Fe railroad company in this enterprise. They should meet the demonstration train, so to speak, half way. The state press and the commercial organizations in particular are asked to boost the proposition, to tell everybody about it, and to see that all the farmers attend the meetings. The printed schedule of the trip has been distributed widely, copies having been sent to every newspaper and every commercial organization along the line of march, which includes every agricultural district in New Mexico. The progressive citizens of Deming have shown their appreciation by distributing dogtags throughout the county, placing one in the hands of every farmer. Other communities should do likewise. Every commercial club should take up the matter now and spread the news, exhort the farmers to attend, show them that it is worth their while.

The experience of other states has shown positively and definitely that the results of the good work of such demonstration trains may be measured in actual dollars and cents when the farmer figures up his profits.

The importance of co-operation in this matter cannot be over-estimated—and every man can help.

Absinthe under the ban? Not there will still be an abundant supply of green ink and cheap alcohol; which may not, however, be as bad as the genuine stuff. There are some things which cannot be made worse through publication or outright counterfeiting.

RUSSIA MUST YIELD.

Immediately and directly, Russia will feel little loss or inconvenience because of the abrogation of the treaty of 1872, by the United States. The ending of that compact guaranteeing to the subjects of each nation freedom to travel and trade in the territory of the other will not deny Russian subjects the privileges ordinarily enjoyed by foreigners in this country, nor is it to be expected that Americans will be interfered with by the authorities if they visit the empire of the Tsar. On both sides there will be more risk in case of trouble, but that is more a question of insurance against an emergency than a factor in everyday affairs.

It is probable that a new treaty to take the place of the one which Russia has repeatedly violated in spirit if not in the strictest letter, will be negotiated before the year's notice of the abrogation of the old one expires. And if that should not be done Russia and this country would still continue to carry on their limited commercial intercourse, a few Americans would visit Russia every year and many Russian subjects would emigrate to the United States, glad to leave the Muscovite government's tyranny behind them forever.

Even if there should be a more or less complete breaking off of ordinary business relations between the United States and Russia the trade interrupted is not large enough to be of great importance to either nation. This country could not punish Russia seriously in that way. The American market in Russia is better than the Russian market in America.

Notwithstanding all of these facts the stand taken by the United States will ultimately force Russia to moderate and civilize its attitude toward Jews, especially Jews who are either native-born or naturalized citizens of the American republic. No power of the first rank, no nation as proud and fast as Russia, can endure without action the scorn and condemnation which will be officially as well as unofficially expressed in the abrogation of the treaty of 1872, for the reasons which are made entirely plain and with the comment from the American people, which has been as frank as it has been vigorous. Russia will have to make the relations between the two powers either better or worse.

To change from them for the worse might lead to war and for that the Tsar's government is certainly not prepared. The big Russian army could do nothing. No foot of American soil would be within its reach. It could not strike a single American fort or regiment. On the sea Russia would be completely outclassed. No Russian fleet or warship could remain long outside of fortified harbors and keep aloft. Immense damage could be done to the foreign commerce of the Russian empire, without risk to any great American interests. Clearly, the Tsar's ministers will not let events drift toward war.

The change must be in the opposite direction. Russia must meet the just and reasonable demands of the United States for fair and decent treatment of American citizens of every race and religion. It is the only road to a lasting and satisfactory settlement. There is no other way to lasting friendship and mutually agreeable relations between Russia and the United States.

MUSHROOMS.

Of the six thousand fungi of the United States, three are poisonous, further three unwholesome, but the larger number of the rest afford an appetizing and nutritious food as man could ask, says the American Journal of Clinical Medicine. In the shops, cultivated mushrooms bring from fifty cents to a dollar a pound. Many of the wild ones are finer flavored, and are to be had for the gathering. In the city of Chicago alone, fifty thousand persons could dine daily on this food for the command without exhausting the supply to be gathered within the municipal limits. Ignorance is costly!

In New York City it is reported that thirty persons have died this summer from eating poisonous mushrooms, gathered with the wholesale varieties.

Truly, ignorance is costly!

Six bad varieties of the mushroom family prevent the utilization of six thousand good ones—and yet, it is easy to distinguish the poisonous kinds, nor difficult to identify the others. The trouble is that the worse varieties of the fungi are rare and costly hence not to be found outside of libraries.

Here is a field for public intervention, and some of the states have recognized this. The state of New York has published a volume, beautifully illustrated, describing the fungi found growing within its territory. Mr. T. C. Clements, state botanist of Minnesota, has issued the fourth volume of "Minnesota Plant Studies," which deals with the mushrooms of that state. He describes over three hundred varieties. The three deadly amanitas (phalloid, vernal, and fly) are figured and described so that they could not fail to be recognized by any person of average intelligence.

It is announced in "The Commoner" that Colonel Waterson has been converted to the initiative and referendum. The colonel may even be converted some day to the county unit option theory or the belief that a democrat may be also a prohibitionist.

The fact that yellow fever has disappeared from Cuba and that tuberculosis is now the chief scourge of the island is a striking refutation of the old superstitions that the former disease was inseparable from the tropics and that the latter was peculiarly a scourge of cold countries.

THE EXAMPLE OF DEMING.

The town of Deming, New Mexico, with a population of a little over two thousand, has set the rest of the communities of the new state an example which if emulated, will mean a tremendous advancement in every county in the next few years.

Deming spends twelve thousand dollars a year for newspaper and magazine advertising.

Six dollars a head for every man, woman and child spent every year to boost Deming and the resources of the Mimbres valley in the leading periodicals and newspapers.

Mind you, this is entirely exclusive of the regular publicity work of the Deming Chamber of Commerce which annually spends several thousands more in the same line of work through different channels.

Deming is doing more for herself and the new state in proportion to her size, than any other town in the state. Consequently her growth has been nothing short of phenomenal. The increase in size and importance of Deming and the development of the farming possibilities of Deming's great basin has no parallel in New Mexico. What has been accomplished has been done by intelligently directed advertising. In this work all the citizens of Deming have worked as one man. There has been no division when the interests of Deming were concerned. Probably the people of Deming have as many personal differences among themselves as in any other town in the state; when it comes to Deming's interests, it is as if these private differences existed not at all.

Any community in New Mexico can do as well as Deming if its people work together and advertise. If Albuquerque will do as well in proportion to her size; if she does as good work developing and colonizing her rich valley lands, there is no limit to the growth and prosperity and the population of the leading city of New Mexico. If every other city does the same, New Mexico will do things in a few years that will astound the nation.

A REAL PERIL.

No longer will the citizens of this great country waste time worrying over such minor ills as the exhaustion of the coal supply, the depletion of the forests, the extermination of the raccoon, or any other problems with which the conservations have made our blood run cold and each separate hair to stand on end in the same manner as the individual spiny protuberances upon the lumbar region of the neuroathetic porcupine.

We are confronted by another prospect which drives these from the mind as the balmy sunshine of New Mexico drives the blues from the hypochondriac.

We are threatened with the extermination of the Great American Turkey.

There is a future that will cause every patriot to arise and take peculiar notice. Ten years ago the census bureau tells us, there were six and a half million turkeys resident and purgant of the elusive grasshopper in the United States. This year there are a trifle over three million—a falling off in a decade of approximately three million turkeys.

Talk about conservation—we may face a fuelless and treeless future with calmness and fortitude as compared to the anticipation of the year 1929, when, according to these cold and relentless census figures the turkey will be as scarce as the roc or the dodo.

What are the great American people going to do about it?

If you are going to play the role of Santa Claus at this glad Christmas season, be careful. If possible use asbestos whiskers and fire proof roof; if these are not available, use electric lights on the Christmas tree or keep away from the candles and keep the kids at a respectful distance. Every year Christmas levies its toll of fire victims; and it won't hurt to be careful.

Defective vision was not mentioned among the defects of the Boston school children who were found to be abnormal, and this in spite of the belief that all Boston children wear spectacles.

Test of Adverse Climatic Conditions.

In his annual report the secretary of agriculture recalls that the assertion has been made that this country is so large in extent and has such a varied climate, soil and crops that no nation-wide calamity can befall its farmers from natural causes. An extreme test of the proof of this assertion was made this year.

Hot Waves—hotter considering their duration and extent, than records had ever shown—prevailed from early in May until July over nearly the entire regions of the Mississippi valley and the Atlantic coast and left what looked like desolation in their wake in many sections. The season will not soon be forgotten for its excessive heat and lack of moisture.

Notwithstanding this, 1911 is far from a lean year on the farm, as Secretary Wilson shows. "Enough has been produced for the national need, and there will be a surplus." No attempt is made of course, to minimize the actual effect of this unprecedented season; it was tremendous. In fact it cut off from the aggregate farm production for the year approximately $277,000,000, leaving the total $417,000,000. Staggeringly big as that is, it represents a decrease for the first time in several years. But this all goes to emphasize the point that even losses as great as $277,000,000 in crop valuation can have no nation-wide calamitous effect. Indeed, it has not had any local calamitous effect. There is not a locality feeling any distress as a result of this falling off. Our diversity of climates, soils and crops is so great and our reserve power so full that the country can stand the heaviest blows of this kind. It takes just such a reminder as our real agricultural power and wealth.—Omaha Bee.

COSTUME DANCE.

The younger set are in a flutter of preparation for the costume dance, to be given at the Woman's club, next Thursday evening.

Some forty invitations are out for the masquerade and it will, doubtless, be as pretty a dance, as it is novel entertainment for the coming belles and beaux.

Incidentally, more time and thought is being given to the costumes, than the grown-ups are giving to choice of gowns for the inaugural ball.

Several parties are planned for the school contingent, who are enjoying a Christmas vacation, and the debutantes of several years hence are to have a very gay time, if all promises are fulfilled.

ELKS' XMAS TREE TODAY.

This is the day of the Elks' Christmas tree.

In the rush of preparation for tomorrow, Christmas day, don't forget the Christmas tree for all the boys and girls of the town, at Elks' theater, this afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

Remind all the kiddies you know, especially those who won't have any too much Christmas at home, that Santa Claus will be on hand, this afternoon, and in a very generous mood. There will be presents and candy for every child that goes to the Elks' celebration, today, and the invitation is town-wide and general.

If any child in town misses the fun, it will be a matter of real regret to the committee in charge, who are anxious that everyone come and have a good time.

This annual Christmas tree of the local B. P. O. E. is a credit to the order and to Albuquerque.

It's one of the practical manifestations of philanthropy, which count, an enterprise to which we all take off our hats, so to speak.

Christmas means more to the youngsters than to anyone else and its a real tragedy to the child mind to be overlooked by Santa Claus. And if any child is forgotten this Yuletide it won't be the fault of the Elks, who have gone to trouble and expense that the child tragedies may be averted.

So don't forget the time and place--Elks' theater at 2:30 o'clock.

JUVENILE RECITAL.

A rather remarkable exhibition of youthful talent, was the piano recital by the juvenile pupils of Mrs. Mabel Stevens Himes, Friday evening.

Of course, the fond papas and mamas were out, full force, and had just cause to feel proud of their offspring, as all acquitted themselves beautifully. Some of the young musicians are little short of prodigies and every one of them show marked talent and the results of careful instruction.

Among the juvenile pianists who played difficult selections in a surprising manner were Alice Le Tarte, Marcelle Matson, Margaret Lee, Whitton Anderson, Carrie Horner, Ernestine Hunsing, William Horner, Margaret Hubbell, Frances Marren, Adelaide Hahn, Gail Beckman, Lloyd Kellam, Dora Roberts, Marjorie Stean, Le Clair Cavanaugh, Anita Hubbell and Louise Bell.

TEA ROOM A SUCCESS.

Not nearly enough can be said in praise of the Y. W. C. A. social committee and their tea room conducted on the third floor of Rosenwalds for the past eight days.

Cordily and comfortably arranged it became a popular rendezvous for the busy shoppers and was well patronized, as it deserved to be. That some of the most prominent society girls in town were in charge of the holiday enterprise, speaks exceedingly well for them, and for the worthiness of the cause which the tea room and its sales benefited.

Here and in many other ways it is demonstrated that the society girls of Albuquerque are not merely social butterflies. Their interest in philanthropic work is at all times evident and has been especially noted in the Y. W. C. A. activities.

FABRINI CONCERT.

Of big importance in musical circles, and ranking as an event of the year, is the Fabbrini concert, next Friday evening at Elks' opera house.

Much has been said of Signor Fabbrini's marvelous mastery of the piano, through the European and American press and the Italian pianist stands today, as one of the foremost pianists of the age. He has recently been engaged by the Minneapolis School of Music, Oratory and Dramatic Art as a teacher of piano, harmony, counterpoint and composition. Fabbrini is better known in Europe than America, having toured Italy, France, Germany, Russia and Egypt with great success.

He is a Martucci pupil, also, of Liszt, and Cesi, and a graduate of the #### Royal Conservatory of Naples, where he was professor of piano, harmony and composition for four years after graduation.

The foregoing article is taken from the New York Musical Courier of last August.

Giuseppe Fabbrini is one of the very few Italian pianists of today who can aspire to traverse the glorious and dignified course of our greatest concertists, whose number is now indeed limited. He possesses all the qualities requisite in reaching the zenith of an illustrious career toward which he is now steadily progressing.

His natural inclination for the choicest, and his vigor and strength of touch being the absolute essentials of a great pianist's qualifications. His last tour through Germany, France and Egypt has proved not only that his genius and talent are appreciated abroad, but also that his native modesty and innate youthful serenity have not been in the least perturbed after so much praise and so many triumphs. His action and manner at the piano is free from all affectation and pretense, his mechanism being delightfully clear and elegant; he is verily a lover of the piano, overflowing with exquisite delicacy and passion.

His program of yesterday's concert, selected with excellent taste and executed with marvelous finesse, revealed Fabbrini's serenity and romanticism in Mendelssohn's concerto in G minor, his great precision and color in Beethoven's sonata in C major and his delicacy and refinement in Schubert's barcarolle, culminating in an outburst of passion in Schumann and Chopin that was profound and overwhelming. The great enthusiasm and applause on the part of the severely critical audience, throughout the concert, is certainly a strong indication of a bright future for the young pianist.

SOME STOLEN THINGS ABOUT CHRISTMAS.

A Christmas Petition.

"This Christmas time! Though we regret Its many forced expenses, We pretend to like the gifts we get, And our friends make like pretenses."

Both, for ourselves, be this our plea, And those who recompense us-- Forgive us, our Christmas as we Forgive those who Christmas against us!

—Harper's Magazine.

For the Modern Little Girl.

The up-to-date lassie is not expected to content herself with the dolls and things which pleased the girl of long ago. For her the shops show Christmas gifts designed to harmonize with the thought of the modern mother.

Not little ballet boxes, with miniature ballers, are displayed for the children of suffragettes. With the set goes a toy soap box, on which the little girl may stand at the curb and recite a suffragette speech, which is also printed for her in a cunning book which replaces the old-fashioned nursery jingles.

A clever new game for the children of the upper ten is named "Divorce." It is a three-handed game, played by two little boys and one little girl. One boy is "husband" and the little girl is "wife," while the other "little boy" is "friend." The winner is the one who draws two cards marked "divorce" and "alimony." The boy playing "friend" does not do anything but shuffle the cards.

Another joyous game is called "Home." It is played with a toy pocketbook full of money. The boy hands the purse to the girl and she goes out at once.—Life.

Christmas Chimes.

The stock finds plenty of work for Santa Claus to do. Under the mistletoe old maids rush in where pretty girls do not have to tread.

When poverty enters the door Santa Claus doesn't come down the chimney.

It is more extravagant to give than to receive.

Too many trimmers spoil the Christmas tree.—Life.

Christmas Version.

My check-book, 'tis of thee, Sad mark of penury!

To thee I cling; Figures I fain had hid, Figures that brought no pride, Yet are the kids supplied;

So let us sing.

Applied Christianity.

Instead of the usual just-before-Christmas letter to Santa Claus, Rolfe wrote a prayer letter to God. After enumerating the many and varied presents he wanted very much, he #### concluded with: "Remember, God, the Lord liveth a cheerful giver. Everybody's."

EASTERN STAR INSTALLATION.

Marked with the dignity and impressiveness, for which an Eastern Star installation is noted, the ritualistic work of the local order was splendidly exemplified, last Tuesday evening.

A big crowd was out, and the lodge room of the Masonic Temple was thronged with Eastern Star members and their friends. The formal installation was in charge of Mrs. Charles Mansard, and went through without a hitch, the floral drill, always a feature of the ceremonies, being particularly well carried out.

The musical program was under the able direction of Mrs. John Wilson and included solos by Mrs. S. B. Miller and Miss Mary Anderson, both favored and favorite vocalists.

An especially enjoyable song number was that of the Indian quartette composed of the following well known singers: Mrs. Elizabeth Bradford, Mrs. C. C. Holloway, Mrs. Don Sterling and Mrs. John Wilson.

The past matrons pin was presented to the retiring officer, Mrs. Temperance Whitcomb, by Mrs. John Wilson, and was accepted with a neat little speech.

Dancing and a social hour followed the formal program. The officers installed and those in charge of Eastern Star maneuvers for the year 1912, are as follows:

Worthy matron, Mrs. Henrietta Bailey; worthy patron, Mrs. E. Grimmer; associate matron, Mrs. Mabel Wilson; secretary, Mrs. Henrietta Myers; treasurer, Mrs. Catherine Harsch; conductress, Mrs. Adelaide Williamson; associate conductress, Mrs. Grace White; chaplain, Mrs. Harriet Sowers; marshal, Mrs. Temperance Whitcomb; organist, Mrs. Alma Hayes; Adah, Mrs. Nellie Strong; Ruth, Mrs. Jessie Kirch; Esther, Mrs. Gertrude Thomas; Martha, Mrs. Kathryn Grimmer; Electra, Mrs. Elmore Hayward; Warder, Louise Bruckett; sentinel, Theodore Reed.

GREAT PROGRESS IN MESILLA VALLEY

IN EVIDENCE

Remarkable Increase in Value of Land Shown in Recent Transactions in Las Cruces District.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]

Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 22.—Perhaps nowhere in New Mexico has the value of farming land increased more than in the Mesilla valley under the great Elephant Butte dam.

The eyes of the nation have been attracted to lands under this dam and home-seekers from all parts of the United States are looking here.

The history of the Rio Grande valley is the history of New Mexico. Before the advent of the Spaniards under Marco de Niza, in 1539, this territory had been the home for untold generations of sedentary tribes of Indians. Following Niza and guided by him, Francisco Coronado came to this country in 1540, and used the valley of the Rio Grande as a base for his explorations into what is now Arizona, Texas and Kansas, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado having been discovered in one of these expeditions. From this time on the history of this valley is one of conquest and revolt until the 17th century. The old town of Mesilla was the headquarters for southern New Mexico and all of Arizona for many years.

Farming by the early settlers was very crude. Waters of the Rio Grande were diverted and used for irrigation. Historians state that some of the irrigation canals are centuries old. Grapes, wheat, apples and vegetables were the principal crops.

Returns were small under the pioneer system of farming and the land values were very low. In recent years progressive farmers have made homes here and by the modern farming methods the rich alluvial soil is made to produce large and sure returns.

Last week B. T. Link sold his 60-acre farm for $3,500. When the abstract was made it was found that 15 years ago this same tract of land was traded for a cow, the market price of cows being $15. The Snyder ranch of 140 acres was sold this week for $20,000.

And this is but an index to the advancements made in the great Mesilla valley in the past few years. Where mesquite terrilla and sand once made up the country, fields of alfalfa, wheat, corn, cantaloupes, and orchards, vineyards, etc., are to be seen today. Modern homes are being built everywhere. The little Adobe hut with a five-acre corn patch is fast disappearing and farms up to 1,300 acres now occupy their places. Low lands are being built up by river sediment, and the high places leveled.

Last year 5,000 acres of raw land was cleared, broken and planted to alfalfa, wheat and other crops. This amount will be broken the coming year. There are 40,000 acres under cultivation. The valley contains about 120,000 acres, or three times as much as is under cultivation.

At present the farmers are dependent on the Rio Grande river which frequently goes dry at the critical time.

When the Elephant Butte dam is completed the water supply will be certain and the cultivated area will be increased. There is every reason to believe that 100,000 acres of this land will be under cultivation within the next five years.

A few citizens who have great faith in the southwest are confident that choice lands will some day be worth $1,000 an acre. The El Manzanillo apple orchard yielded $15,000 net this year. This orchard contains but thirty acres, making a return of $500 per acre per annum. This would pay 10 per cent interest on a much larger sum than $1,000. When more of the farmers take to raising fruit their lands will increase accordingly.

Ten Inches and More Soaks

Quay County Plains; Plans Complete For New Electric Power Plant.

Tucuman, N. M., Dec. 20.—A ten-inch snow fell here Tuesday, the seventh snow fall of the season. A much deeper snow is reported on the plains east of here. All trains are held up here this morning for lack of water. Old residents of the county predict the best crop for several years and there is an evidence of more confidence in the work of preparing the soil for planting in the spring. Country traffic is blocked, the roads being impassible.

The plans and specifications for the new electric light power house have reached here. The building will be erected at the west end of Main street and will be of concrete, lined and sand finished to represent stone. The walls will be of forty per cent wire glass set in steel sash, the roof of asbestos or iron on steel trusses. The boiler room will measure 35 by 27 feet and the engine room 25 by 60. The floors will be of cement. A new Corliss engine and an alternator have been ordered and are expected to arrive soon. The work of stringing the additional lines to the residential districts is practically completed and the lights will soon be furnished to the entire town. Since the plant was purchased by the present company a few months ago many improvements have been made on the system. The system is at present under the management of S. B. Richey who has worked constantly to increase the efficiency of the system. Over ten per cent increase has been made within the last month in the number of patrons. It is claimed.

The hundred thousand gallon water tank and tower for the municipal water works plant will be completed this week, the roof being now added. Connections with the city lines will be made within a few days when the system will be in working order. Nearly three miles of additional water mains have been laid throughout the city and fifty new fire plugs added. Fire protection will be increased materially by the improvements. So far since the city acquired the plant, the cost of operation has been met by the income from the use of water as was expected. Water has been lowered in price from twenty-five cents to fifty cents a thousand gallons; in spite of this reduction.

SHOT WHILE DOING "WILD WEST" TRICK

Denver, Dec. 23.—While trying to fulfill his boast that he could twirl a revolver on his finger, discharging a bullet into a target with every revolution of the weapon, Fred Randall, 21 years old, shot and seriously wounded himself today. At the first revolution of the weapon a report rang out and Randall sank to the floor of the shooting gallery where he was attempting the "wild west" trick. A bullet lodged in his groin.

Randall is a strike-breaker from the Louisville fields. He was rushed to the county hospital and is reported in a serious condition.

The Christmas Dinner.

In spite of the fact that the word dyspepsia means literally bad cook, it will not be fair for many to lay the blame on the cook if they begin the Christmas Dinner with little appetite and end it with distress or nausea. It may not be fair for any to do that, but it is hope so for the sake of the cook! The disease dyspepsia indicates a bad stomach, that is a weak stomach, rather than a bad cook, and for a weak stomach there is nothing else equal to Hood's Sasaparilla. It gives the stomach vigor and tone, cures dyspepsia, creates appetite and makes eating the pleasure it should be.

HAS PAPER WITH FUNERAL NOTICE OF WASHINGTON

W. C. Luckensmier of Local Cafe Possessor of Ulster County Gazette Which is 102
Years Old.

W. C. Luckensmier, who is employed at the Fashion cafe, is the possessor of a copy of the Ulster County Gazette, which will be 102 years old on the 4th day of January. Aside from the scarcity of these papers, the copy is valuable because it contains a description of the funeral of George Washington, the first president of the United States, which occurred on Wednesday, December 13, 1799.

The paper is headed in the most ordinary type, in striking contrast to the heads now used in newspapers.
The heading reads: "Washington Entombment," and follows a long narrative detailing the official acts of the congress of the United States, both prior to and following the funeral.

The pages containing the account of the funeral are heavily ruled with black lines, indicating the errors of the country at the loss of no illustrious citizen, yet strange as it may seem, most of the news on the pages is about the wars then being waged in Europe against Napoleon Bonaparte.

The paper is but a four-page affair, four columns to a page. The last page is given over entirely to legal notices of Peter Ten Broeck, who was then sheriff of Ulster county.

One man in advertising his new stock of "goods adapted to the season," emphasizes the fact that he will take ashes in his store. Another advertises "Cash given at the printing office for Rags," while still another, that of John Schoonmaker, advertises that he has a "rich, healthy, active negro wench for sale, and any person inclined to purchase, can know the particulars by applying to him, at Rocheater."

Martys Van Steenburg prints a notice "Of my wife Hannah, forbidding all persons from harboring or keeping her or trusting her on my account."

The paper was published weekly in the little town of Kingston, Ulster county, New York, by Samuel Franklin. Copies of this paper are exceedingly rare, and genuine ones command large prices among the curiosity hunters and museums of the country.

OPINIONS HANDED DOWN BY SUPREME COURT

Highest Territorial Judicial Body Adjourns to December 29; May Not Meet Again As Now Constituted.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 23.—Following a session extending over the past week, the New Mexico supreme court, after rendering a large number of opinions in cases that came before it for final adjudication, adjourned today till Friday, December 29. The court, however, may not reconvene again as a territorial body, since it is not unlikely that President Taft's statehood proclamation will intervene in the meantime and automatically dissolve the tribunal.

The court yesterday handed down the following opinions:

Suit to Quiet Title.
Ex-Parte, George E. Priest, Melvin W. Quick, and Charles M. Benjamin, (relators) appellants vs. Board of Trustees of the Town of Las Vegas, (respondents) appellees. Appeal from the district court of San Miguel county. Judgment affirmed.

In this case the syllabus says:
First. Statutory provisions for the service of process upon unknown claimants by publication in action to quiet title will be strictly construed. Second. If it be sought in such a case to bar the known claimant of a grant such claimant should be sued by name in the proceeding and not under the description of an unknown claimant.

Third. The rule stated applies notwithstanding the conforming named is an unincorporated town, the latter being by the congressional act, a corporation recognized and designated as an entity capable of receiving the title.

Lincoln County Seat Cases.
Cases Nos. 1412, 1413 and 1414 are suits wherein it is sought to compel the defendants, all the county officials of Lincoln county, to remove their offices from the county seat in the town of Lincoln to Carrizozo at which place the board of county commissioners provided offices for the use of those officers.

Cases Nos. 1415, 1416 and 1417 are denominated "Accumulations for the removal from office" of the same officers who are defendants in the other three cases, for the reason that they have declined to remove their offices. Since the cases all grew out of the attempt to remove the county seat of Lincoln county the court disposed of them as one, stating that the law controlling is the same. In other words, the determination of one of these cases involves the decision of all.

The complaint alleges that a petition was presented to the board of county commissioners praying them to call an election to submit the question of the before mentioned county seat to Carrizozo, and that the canvassing board declared Carrizozo to be the county seat. The refusal of the officers mentioned, caused the suits to be brought. The judgment of dismissal of the cases by the lower court were affirmed, with costs.

The opinion is by Mr. C. C. McHenry, Associate Justice Wright having tried the case, did not participate.

Territory vs. Trapp.
Case No. 1358, Territory of New Mexico, appellee vs. Malcolm Trapp, appellant. Appeal from the district court in and for Lincoln county, affirmed.

The appellant was indicted jointly with his father and brother for the murder of one William C. McAdams, the court excluding murder from the consideration of the jury, and submitting the sole question of the guilt or innocence of the defendants of voluntary manslaughter.

It appears that the deceased was a constable, and with one Davidson, whom he asked to accompany him, went to the home of the Trapps for the ostensible purpose of arresting the elder Trapp, who was an itinerant preacher. The court held that the warrant in the possession of the deceased was illegal and conferred no right on the deceased and his son to enter the premises of the Trapps. Upon arrival at the Trapp home the deceased attempted to arrest the elder Trapp and a mortal combat ensued. The father and brother were acquitted and appellant convicted of manslaughter.

The record of this case is a long one and in respect to it the court said:

There being no record of error in the record the judgment of the lower court will be affirmed, and it is so ordered. Associate Justice M. C. McHenry having tried the case and Associate Justice J. B. Wright having been of counsel, did not participate in this opinion and Associate Justice Ira A. Abbott and Justice C. J. Roberts dissenting. The opinion is by Associate Justice Frank W. Parker.

Pastor Play, New Gem Theater.

SOUTHWORTH CASE FINALLY GIVEN TO JURY

Sensational Ogden Murder Trial Ends; Court to Sit Over Sunday to Receive Verdict Before Christmas.

(By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire)
Ogden, Utah, Dec. 23.—The jury in the Southworth case was called upon at midnight to determine whether Henry Southworth, of Farmington, was justified in killing Ned Hanks, a member of a band at Glenwood Park, last August.

Throughout the day the jurors listened to the arguments of counsel, the prosecution demanding a verdict of murder on the ground that Southworth's conduct had alienated his wife's affections and that the shooting of Hanks was premeditated; the defense contending that the prisoner had evidence of his wife's relations with Hanks which justified him in killing the man when he saw the pair making love in the park.

Judge Harris, after charging the jury, announced that no adjournment would be taken until morning and that the jury was anxious to go to the case before Christmas.

PROSPERITY IN NEW MEXICO

New State Offers Great Opportunities Says Chicago Tribune in Splendid Review of Resources of Southwest Commonwealth.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

These are the days when New Mexico is celebrating. After more than fifty years of continual effort, the great southwestern territory has been at last admitted to the union, and the entire population of the state is ready to embark on an immense housing campaign, which will result in increased immigration and the development of the immense agricultural resources of the new state.

The first state legislature will meet in January; the state officers will take charge on January 1. Then New Mexico will be on its way to the building of one of the greatest of western states.

Now that the election is over, the people have willingly forgotten the bitterness which characterized some of its campaigns, and the New Mexicans are for the development of their commonwealth, predicting that the next five years will witness a development along all industrial lines that will astonish the nation. The resources of the new southwestern state are almost limitless and lend themselves readily to development.

Plenty of Irrigable Land.

With more than 4,000,000 acres of irrigable land, according to estimates made by the New Mexico bureau of immigration, less than 400,000 acres are now actually under irrigation.

The greater part of this acreage is close to transportation or may be reached without great expense by transportation lines. The land may be irrigated either from gravity canals, by direct diversion or by storage.

Capital is already interested in the undeveloped areas, and during the last three years, according to Secretary H. B. Hening of the bureau, more than 500 applications for the appropriation of water for irrigation have been filed with the irrigation department, covering an area of about 2,000,000 acres and involving the expenditure of approximately $10,000,000.

A number of these projects, practically all of which are being promoted by private capital, are under way. In addition to the acreage available for irrigation by gravity systems, there is a known area of 600,000 acres which may be irrigated by pumping.

Big Holdings Breaking Up.

Irrigation development has been rapid in New Mexico during the last three years. Three years ago Colfax county, a little empire in itself on the northern border of the state, was a great cow pasture. Now it has four important irrigation systems, and a fifth, which will reclaim 100,000 acres, is proposed for immediate construction. The great land grants of pre-United States days are breaking up rapidly, and in almost every instance the breaking up of one of these grants means the construction of an irrigation system.

The Tierra America grants in Rio Arriba county, a great property of 500,000 acres, has been sold recently to eastern men, who are building an irrigation system there.

On the San Juan river system, in the northwest part of the state, six projects, chiefly community projects, are now in operation, four are under construction and the greatest of all, the Turley project, which will reclaim 500,000 acres, is proposed for early completion.

Will Reclaim 20,000 Acres.

At Las Vegas the Carrizal project is about completed. This project will reclaim 20,000 acres and is one of the model systems of the west. It will be ready for the farmer in 1912.

The Lake Chabre project in Chaves county, the first Carey act project in the new state is under construction. It reclaims 10,000 acres.

The Uton lake project, another Carey act project on the Pecos river, near Fort Sumner, is to be built at once. It will reclaim 100,000 acres. A small diversion system is already in operation at Fort Sumner, one of the early frontier army posts, where the old parade ground is now an alfalfa field.

Reclamation projects are proposed for several points in the Rio Grande valley. One large plant reclaiming 10,000 acres, has been completed at Portales, in eastern New Mexico, while large numbers of individual projects are in operation around Deming, in the southwest corner of the state.

Pecos Valley Development.

The great Pecos valley of south-east New Mexico has developed more rapidly than any other section during the last three years. In 1909 the total value of the New Mexico fruit crop was $200,000. The value of the Pecos valley apple crop alone this year will exceed $1,000,000. More than 5,000 acres of alfalfa have been shipped from the section alone this season. Irrigation is from artesian wells, pumps and by diversion and storage.

The Carlsbad project, first of the government irrigation projects to be completed, is located in Eddy county, at the southern end of the Pecos valley in New Mexico. The project reclaims 20,000 acres, practically all of which is now under cultivation. The peach is the principal fruit crop under the project, and this season several orchards earned profits of $250 an acre.

Fruit Growing Flourishes.

Fruit growing is rapidly becoming one of the principal industries of the state. Apples flourish practically all over the state, as do peaches, while a number of sections are well adapted to peach growing.

In the Rio Grande valley grapes have flourished for three hundred years. Their commercial value has only recently been discovered. The result has been the planting of a large acreage of vineyards, which are just coming to maturity.

It is predicted that, within the next two years, the fruit crop of New Mexico will be worth $2,000,000 a year. The smudge pot has recently come into general use, and scientific orchard cultivation, a few years ago the exception, is now the rule. Enormous acres of commercial orchards are being planted and the average in fruit will be doubled again within the next two years.

While the mainstay of agriculture in New Mexico will be irrigation, dry farming or scientific soil culture with oil irrigation on lands of little rainfall is making rapid strides. Over all the vast stretches of plains, a few years ago open ranges for cattle and sheep, alfalfa have been extended, homesteaders have taken up the land, and prosperous towns have sprung up.

Settlers Poured In.
For a time the success of dry farming in the state was in doubt. The homesteaders came in a continuous stream for three years. During that time more than 50,000 homestead entries were made and more than 5,000,000 acres filed upon.

The pioneers had no knowledge of scientific methods, the right crops to plant, or when to plant them in order to take advantage of the summer rains. When the years of drought came, many of them failed and not a few were forced to give up and leave the country.

Others came to like their places, however, and the newcomers arrived armed with information. They learned all the difficulties and all the necessary methods of tillage before they went to the land. The disastrous drought of 1909-1910, the worst the southwest has known, found fair crops growing all over the dry farming regions wherever proper methods had been followed.

The railroads serving the dry farming sections, realizing the need for education, placed experts in the field, men whose sole duty it was to go among the dry farmers and show them how to do it, when to plant and what to plant. The work of these men is apparent already. They are organizing farmers' institutes and going into the fields with them.

Dry Farmers Prosper.

The present year has been a prosperous one among the dry farmers. Rainfall has been normal, and crops have been good. That the industry has come to New Mexico to stay has been demonstrated by the fact that it has existed through the drought which existed from 1905 to 1910, and that it is now in a more flourishing condition than ever before. Some 700,000 acres are now under cultivation by dry farming in the new state. Experts estimate that there are 17,000,000 acres which may be so cultivated.

At the end of the fiscal year there remained 35,000,000 acres of public domain in New Mexico. About 2,500,000 acres were taken up during the preceding twelve months. The rate at which it is going is increasing at this time. It is the confident prediction of those who have most carefully observed the immigration movement into New Mexico that within the next five years there will be not an acre of government land open to entry suitable for agriculture in any form.

The new state comes into the union with a magnificent endowment of land. In 1908 congress granted about 6,000,000 acres, chiefly for educational purposes, 5,000,000 acres going to the common schools. Under the enabling act 6,000,000 acres more are granted, making a total of 12,000,000 acres owned by the state. At its minimum value of $2 an acre this land stands as an endowment for the schools of $24,000,000.

Little of the land has been sold. It has not been the policy of the territorial land department to sell any of it at less than $10 an acre, and it is likely that this policy will be continued under the state government. The land when it is sold is sold under very easy terms, the payments being extended over thirty years at 5 per cent interest.

New Mexico already has a splendid educational system, but its endowment in land insures that this system will keep full pace with the development of the state and the increase in population without any heavy tax upon the people for school purposes.

The resources of the new state are by no means confined to agricultural land. Live stock ranges over millions of acres. There are upward of 3,500,000 sheep in New Mexico, earning a net income for their owners of $10,000,000 a year. The cattle industry is scarcely less important. Stock feeding is just beginning, but, with the extension of the dry farming acreage and the production of the feed crops to which the land is particularly adapted, feeding is sure to become important.

The manufacture of lumber has also become an important industry within the last few years. One of the largest saw and planing mills in the west is located at Albuquerque. This same factory now furnishes the bulk of fruit boxes used in the southwest.

More than a million railroad ties have been driven down the Rio Grande at flood tide during the past season, traveling for more than one hundred miles on the river.

Timber on Mountains.

The magnificent mountain ranges of the new state are covered by a heavy growth of pine and spruce. More than 10,000,000 acres are covered by forest reserves. However, a great deal of the timber these reserves is mature and may be purchased through the forest service which maintains headquarters for the southwestern district at Albuquerque.

There has been a strong demand for New Mexico timber lands recently, and a number of sales of large tracts have been made. The timber industry alone will be one of the important industries of the new state, and the first few years under statehood.

One of the largest copper deposits in the world is now being opened up in Grant county, in the southwestern part of New Mexico. It is but one of many extensive mining operations now under way. The New Mexico hills have hardly been scratched. There are hundreds of square miles of mountain territory that have never been prospected at all, and the greater part of the prospecting has been desultory. Yet enough has been done to show an enormous wealth of metals.

Largest Vanadium Plant.

The largest vanadium plant in the world has been completed at Custer during the present year and is now manufacturing this rare metal. New Mexico is richly endowed with coal and iron. The Raton coal fields alone contain sufficient high grade coal to last, according to the geological survey, to allow the production of 300,000,000 tons of coal a year for three hundred years or more. There are fields in McKinley and San Juan counties which are equally extensive.

New Mexico enters the union progressive, prosperous, happy, eager to begin its real development. The financial condition of the state is excellent. Its total bonded debt is only about $900,000. It is on a strictly cash basis and has no floating indebtedness of any character. Only two of the twenty-six counties are overbonded, and provision is made in the enabling act for a grant of 1,000,000 acres of land to care for this special bonded debt, which consists of old railroad aid bonds issued many years ago. The state and its towns are progressive, up-to-date, and growing. They have not hesitated to bond themselves for public improvements, but the bonding has been done with care, and every municipality in

BOOK REVIEW

In its issue of December 9, The Outlook published the following flattering review and criticism of "Leading Facts of New Mexican History," by Ralph Emerson Twichell, The Torch Press, Cedar Rapids, Ia.

"This book represents a really noteworthy bit of scholarly research and investigation by the vice-president of the New Mexico Historical Society. It is in very high degree creditable to the new state that it should have in it a citizen able and willing to add to the sum of productive scholarship of our country as Mr. Twichell has added. Too often historical societies amount to little more than gatherings of rather inefficient antiquarians, and the New Mexico Historical Society is usually brought out but poor financial results. It is essential for the correct appreciation of Mexican history that books of this kind shall be written, yet outsiders are, as a rule, curiously indifferent to the extraordinary amount of work they entail, and also to the heavy financial sacrifices. Too often literary work is paid in inverse proportion to its value and a really good history of this kind usually brings out but poor financial returns to the writer. Mr. Twichell has made an exhaustive study of all the original sources, and he has had the advantage of a long residence in the country with which he deals. The enormous amount of material which he has gone over has been thoroughly digested, and in accuracy and interest the result is more heartily to be commended. Mr. Twichell must have devoted a considerable part of a lifetime to gathering the material for this history, and the result is a work of high scholarly value which no serious library in the United States can afford to be without."

Again at both performances last night the house was crowded with the grown-ups who had been told by their little ones that the Bootmaster General's show was the real thing.

This afternoon the Passion Play will be the feature film. There have been Passion plays and feature films in Albuquerque before, but never one that approached this one in magnificence of coloring and completeness of detail. J. Sam never disappoints and parents can be assured that if they bring their children the little ones will carry away a lesson in Bible history never to be forgotten. Some managers go through life fooling the people, so does J. Sam, but the J. Sam idea of fooling the people is to give them about twice as much show as they expect for their money.

WE DO THINGS WELL PASSION PLAY AT GEM

Children With or Without Parents Crowd Popular Amusement Place Yesterday to Greet J. Sam.

Fresh from a trip to the jungles of Dahomey, where he secured a number of new features for his menagerie, J. Sam was on hand to welcome a thousand children at the Gem theater yesterday afternoon. At J. Sam's theater the kiddies are welcomed with out without parents and children who have no parents are made especially welcome.

PERFORM SECOND OPERATION ON DR. MAYO

Celebrated Rochester, Minn., Surgeon Forced to Undergo Another Ordeal in New York Hospital.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire.] New York, Dec. 23.—Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of Rochester, Minn., regarded as one of the best surgeons in the country, underwent here late today the second surgical operation performed on him since he was taken ill with acute appendicitis, just after attending a surgical conference at Washington, two weeks ago.

Although it was semi-officially stated at the Presbyterian hospital tonight that Dr. Mayo was regarded as not in immediate danger, his brother, Dr. William J. Mayo, also a surgeon standing high in the profession, is on his way to the bedside from Minnesota and is expected in New York tomorrow morning.

A bulletin issued by Dr. Joseph A. Blake, shortly after he performed the operation today, read:

"Dr. Charles H. Mayo during a smooth convalescence from gangrenous appendicitis, last night suddenly developed symptoms of acute cholecystitis, with gall stones. On account of rapid development of symptoms and after a consultation with Doctors F. E. Brewer and Charles E. Peck, an operation was performed today.

"The operation was successful and his condition this afternoon is good."

At the hospital tonight it was said that Dr. Mayo is in no immediate danger.

The following statement was made at the hospital shortly before midnight:

"Dr. Mayo's condition is unchanged."

Mrs. Mayo is here and has taken a private room in the hospital in order to be near her husband.

"I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble," writes Mrs. L. R. Arnold of Denver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief." For sale by all dealers.

GOVERNMENT HAS SUMMONED 300 WITNESSES

Its Case Against Packers One of Most Elaborate Ever Worked Up; Ready to Present Testimony.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire.] Chicago, Dec. 22.—Counsel for the government in the case of the ten Chicago packers under indictment for alleged criminal violation of the Sherman law, were busy today preparing for the presentation of testimony before United States District Judge Carpenter when the trial is resumed tomorrow.

The government has summoned three hundred witnesses and in addition has a mass of documentary evidence to present. The indications are that the trial will last several months.

The prosecution will, it is said, present its case, beginning with the operation of the old packers pool in 1880, and trace the development of the alleged combination through its various stages to the organization of the National Packing company March 18, 1892.

Counsel for the defendants were in conference most of the day preparing their case.

The juryman will eat their Christmas dinner at a hotel.

Among the witnesses reported summoned for the prosecution were:

George W. Ballantine, vice-president and general manager, Denver Stock Yards company.

Henry Gebhart, formerly president of Colorado Packing and Provision company, Denver.

A. H. Bonn, vice-president National Packing company.

Growth of the Divorce Habit.

The divorce rate in this country increases as it goes westward. The rates in the North Atlantic and South Atlantic division in 1906 were respectively 41 and 43, while in the western division the rate was 163.

The average annual number of divorces for the five-year period of which 1900 was the medium year was 200 per 100,000 married population for the United States as a whole.

During the same period the rate in Washington was 217, in Montana 497, in Colorado 495, while in New Jersey and New York it was 60 and in Delaware 42.

Interesting figures showing the increase in the number of divorces granted each year from 1847 to 1906 have been compiled by Professor William H. Bailey of Yale University. "In 1847," he says in the Independent, "there were 9,257 divorces, and in 1906 73,642. During the forty years covered about 1,250,000 divorces were granted."

"Although it must be borne in mind that the population of the country has also increased remarkably during this period, the increase in population has not been sufficiently rapid to account for the increase in divorces."

"In 1870 there were 28 divorces per 1,000 of population, while in 1906 there were 73. Perhaps a more accurate unit of measurement could be obtained by substituting married population for total population. On this basis the number of divorces per 100,000 married population in 1870 was 11 and in 1906 was 206."

A careful study of the statistics will bring out the fact that in periods of commercial depression the increase in divorces is less than in periods of prosperity. The reduction of the family income seems then to knit the family more closely together.
