GENERAL REYES VOLUNTARILY SURRENDERS AT LINARES

Realizing Attempt to Lead Revolt Against Madero Has Failed He Gives Himself Up to Federal Officer.

PAROLED ON PROMISE NOT TO LEAVE CITY

Asks No Mercy For Own Misdeeds But Pleads For Little Band of Faithful Followers Who Are Still Fugitives.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Linares, Mexico, Dec. 25.—Defeated and stripped of former arrogance and pride, General Bernardo Reyes, Mexico's one-time great military leader and more recently leader of a revolt that threatened to tear the country from border to border, surrendered today officially to General Trevino, a personal enemy for years. Reyes was later given his liberty on his word that he would not leave the city.

Riding alone into Linares today the gray-haired rebel gave himself up to Lieutenant Placido Rodriguez, commander of twenty-five rurales, the sole military guard here. Permission was obtained to telegraph a formal capitulation to General Trevino, commander of the third military zone, at Monterrey. He frankly admitted his dread of another successful revolution had come to an end and placed himself at Trevino's disposal.

"I called upon the army, I called upon the people," said the broken general, "and no one responded. This attitude I regard as a protest and I am resolved not to continue this war against the government. I place myself at your disposal."

Reyes asked no guarantee for himself but pleaded for mercy for the little group of men who have followed him in his wanderings to and fro throughout a large area in this state and in the state of Tamaulipas. He requested consideration for them. They are yet fugitives and will be hunted down by Trevino's men unless they, too, surrender voluntarily.

To Reyes' message General Trevino replied that General Reyes would be kept under guard in Linares pending instructions from the central government.

That he will be taken to the capital to answer for his offense, is considered by Reyes as the natural result of his surrender.

Reyes' attempt to save his few followers was refused by Trevino, who telegraphed to Reyes that he had no authority to relax his campaign.

The climax to Reyes' unsuccessful attempt to recruit an army came yesterday and resulted in his decision to surrender. A small body of his followers engaged in a skirmish with about an equal number of federals and at the first shot the rebels took to their heels. Reyes was near the scene of the engagement. No one was killed.

The news that these few men whom he believed faithful and brave fighters had run from the smell of powder and the crack of the enemy's rifles completely disheartened the old general and he came in today and gave up.

Reyes was not surrounded and might have kept up a fight for many days but without the army he had so confidently expected to recruit, the humiliating finish was almost inevitable.

GENERAL TREVINO SAYS IT MEANS END OF UNREST

Monterrey, Mexico, Dec. 25.—General Gerónimo Trevino, whose campaign against General Reyes resulted today in Reyes' surrender at Linares, considers that the last chapter of Mexico's story of unrest has been written.

"I believe that there is no doubt now," he said, "that real peace will be at hand. The minor uprisings will be suppressed with comparative ease and the Reyes revolution is finished. The failure of Reyes will be something that will serve to deter any one else from attempting to initiate a similar movement."

General Trevino is waiting for instructions from Mexico City before ordering Reyes moved from Linares. The general was inclined to regard Reyes' surrender on this day as a bit diverting, referring to it as "my Christmas present."

It is reported here that Reyes practically is bankrupt as the result of his efforts to organize a counter-revolution. It is reliably reported that he used a great deal of his own money in the belief that he would have little difficulty in overthrowing the man he had come to believe all Mexico wished to see forced from the presidency.

GOVERNMENT TO PROSECUTE GENERAL FOR SEDITION

Mexico City, Dec. 25.—General Bernardo Reyes will be brought to Mexico City to answer to the charge of sedition. In answer to Reyes' appeal for amnesty for his followers, Minister of War Gonzales Salta has promised "all consideration compatible with the law, to those who lay down their arms unconditionally."

Besides official announcement of the surrender, War Minister Salta has received a message from General Reyes, himself, declaring that his call to the discontented revolutionists, the army and the people to enlist in his cause, has met with no response.

"Not a person has complied with the demand," he is quoted as saying. "This demonstration of the sentiment of the nation, obliging me to bow before its will and declare the impossibility of war, I have come to this city today to put myself at your disposal for such action as you may take."

Continuing the ex-warrior asked, not for himself, but for those who have compromised themselves for his cause, "an ample amnestie which without doubt will calm the republic."

In the course of a skirmish near Parrita, the message stated, Reyes became separated from those who crossed from Texas with him—Miguel Quiroga, David Reyes Beltrán, Santos Cayasteco and two servants. For these he asks consideration if captured.

General Reyes will be tried before a military court. He will be given every guarantee of justice that the constitution affords. The judge before whom he will appear will be chosen with a view to securing an impartial magistrate and one that bears him no personal enmity.

His followers who lay down their arms will be treated in a like manner while those who do not surrender unconditionally will be hunted down.

These were the declarations made by President Madero to a representative of the Associated Press tonight.

The surrender of Reyes, said the president, was a surprise to himself and his ministers. They had expected he would be able to find some few followers but his declaration "that not one person had been willing to espouse his cause," was even more than they had anticipated.

The absoluteness of his failure, the president pointed out, should deter others who might contemplate leading a revolt.

"With Reyes out of the way, we will soon have a country absolutely at peace," he added.

SON BROKEN BY NEWS OF FATHER'S SURRENDER

St. Louis, Dec. 25.—Rodolfo Reyes, son of General Bernardo Reyes, seemed much broken tonight when informed by the Associated Press of his father's surrender in the state of Nuevo Leon, the scene of former triumphs.

The son is at a hotel here on his way to San Antonio. He said he had had no word from his father, and that unless he received a message from the General he would not necessarily depart for Texas until tomorrow night.

He is an attorney and instructor in constitutional law in the National university of Mexico City. Young Reyes says he left Mexico November 17 and crossed into Texas one month before his father entered their native land. Young Reyes came here from New York.

The federal authorities in Texas are violating the neutrality laws between Texas and Mexico as has never occurred within the history of the two countries, and I may be arrested when I get back to San Antonio," he was quoted as saying. "I expect to go to Washington to talk over the matter with the authorities there."

The people of the United States do not fully understand the conditions in Mexico. Two years ago when Diaz resigned the presidency of Mexico he declared he wished to retire to private life. The people of Mexico selected my father as Diaz's successor. Then Diaz changed his mind and said he wished to be re-elected.

In the last days of the struggle Diaz remembered that my father was the most popular man in Mexico and appealed to him for support. My father answered from Paris, France, that he would start for Mexico at once.

"When my father arrived in Havana, Cuba, he was detained on orders from Madero. I visited my father in Havana and then returned to Mexico to talk with General de la Barra, the provisional president of the republic, about my father's suppression. In a few days orders were issued permitting my father to return to Mexico. When he arrived Madero offered him the office of minister of war, which he accepted with the idea that Madero was sincere, but this belief was quickly dispelled by criticisms that soon appeared in the newspapers which Madero had inspired."

Madero had control of the army of the republic and a fair election was plainly impossible. My father tried of being persecuted and two months ago the revolution was started by my father's followers."

SURRENDER OF REYES SURPRISE TO WASHINGTON

Washington, Dec. 25.—The surrender of General Bernardo Reyes came as a surprise to both the state department and the Mexican embassy although it was generally believed that his capture was inevitable. Neither this government nor the embassy tonight had received official word of the surrender and in the absence of such information none of the officials would discuss it.

That both department and embassy are relieved by the turn of events was evident from the prospects of another revolution in Mexico had occasioned uneasiness for some time.

Ex-Governor Senatorial Candidate, Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 25.—Former Governor Ashton C. Shallenbarger today filed with the secretary of state his application as a democratic candidate for United States senator.

ARRESTED WHILE WRITING STORY OF SHOOTING

Andrew McConnell, Magazine Contributor and Lecturer, Taken Into Custody For Attempted Murder of His Wife.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) New York, Dec. 25.—Andrew McConnell, magazine writer and lecturer, was arrested at a reporter's desk in a morning newspaper office tonight while, it is alleged, he was writing a confession of shooting and wounding his divorced wife, Mrs. Marion D. McConnell at Ocean Grove, N. J. The shooting is said to have occurred late Saturday night.

McConnell was operating a typewriter in the Times office when a detective arrested him. The paper in the machine bore these words:

"I was forced to shoot the woman who was my wife. Absolute divorce was obtained last spring. Not one word was said regarding the divorce the night I shot her. She has tried to vilify an innocent woman."

Beside the typewriter the detective found a paper upon which was written in an almost unintelligible hand, "Every person who has helped to build my work has been vilified by a woman who is either hopelessly insane or a designing fiend. When I made discovery in the electrical basis of life which—(three illegible words)—years later."

The detective said that McConnell had amplified his alleged confession by declaring he shot his wife "because she was always making me believe I was insane. She vilified me to different people and has run my character down."

McConnell was locked up on a charge of felonious assault. He gave his age as 37 years and his address as the Grand Park hotel, Chicago. He appears in biographical records as author of a volume of poems, a work on organic electricity and another on scientific mind healing.

In 1898 he was proprietor of the Alchemist, a magazine published at Atlanta, Ga. He was the founder of a consumers' co-operative union for reducing the expenses of workingmen and also established a system of popular and educational entertainments in southern towns. For many years he made Birmingham, Ala., his home. He came to New York in 1895.

It was said at the Times tonight that McConnell drifted in there making inquiries as to what he had better do regarding stories that had appeared in local papers regarding the shooting of his wife. It was suggested that if he were guilty he should confess and be arrested. He agreed to the plan and was engaged on the confession when the detective was called.

It was learned from Ocean Grove late tonight that Mrs. McConnell's wound is in the neck. She is in no great danger. She was able to talk somewhat and said she and her husband had been separated for several years and that he had been desirous of obtaining an absolute divorce in order to marry again.

As a result of the accident it was declared that the head master of the academy had issued an order peremptorily abolishing all fraternities, but Dr. William H. Knapp, who holds that office, said today that the matter was in no way officially before him. "The parents of the students must decide on the advisability of their boys belonging to these secret societies," he declared.

FROZEN TO DEATH ON CHRISTMAS GARCIA'S FATE

Well Known Resident of Lower Rio Grande Valley Perishes As Result of Exposure Near Engle.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.) El Paso, Tex., Dec. 25.—The dead body of Adolfo Garcia, a well known resident of the lower Rio Grande valley, was found this morning not far from Engle, N. M., a few rods from the Rio Grande. It is believed that Garcia forded the river and in so doing became so wet and cold that he was completely exhausted and fell in a faint, subsequently freezing to death. The deceased leaves a wife and family at Las Cruces. He was a brother-in-law of Antonio Barnette, newly elected county commissioner of Dona Ana county.

ROOSEVELT'S ELECTION WOULD BE DISASTROUS

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 25.—"If Roosevelt is put in the White House in 1912 we will never get him out again except by force."

This was the statement of Colonel Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, in commenting today on the republican situation throughout the country.

"Mr. Watterson expressed the belief that the long looked for change of parties was at hand, but he has not declared his choice for the democratic nomination."

Colonel Watterson said that in his opinion the republicans could not elect either Roosevelt or Taft and said the election of Roosevelt would be a step toward absolutism.

BOY HUMAN TORCH IN FRATERNITY INITIATION

Blindfolded, His Head is Soured in Alcohol; Then Match Sets Liquid Ablaze; Likely That He Will Die.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Philadelphia, Dec. 25.—Victim of an accident that occurred while he was undergoing an initiation into a fraternity connected with the Episcopal Academy of which he is a student, Henry Basset Jr., of wealthy parents, was so frightfully burned about the head, face, neck and shoulders that his physicians fear that he will die.

Basset, who is a strapping in his teens, was a member of the junior class at the fashionable educational institution. For a long time he had hoped his mother's consent to his becoming a member of the Alpha Phi Epsilon "frat" of the school. For some time she withheld it, thinking her son too young to join a secret organization, but finally the consent was forthcoming, and on last Friday the young man duly appeared at the fraternity rooms to undergo his initiation.

In the course of the ceremonies the boys were attired in a harlequin costume, his eyes securely bound with a bandage and he was led into a dark room. To Judson Myers, a graduate of the Episcopal Academy and now a sophomore at the University of Pennsylvania, and a crowd of other boys were present. Basset was told to bow his head. He did so, and a cold liquid was freely applied to his hair, face, neck and shoulders.

"We are about to put you to a severe test," said one of the boys solemnly. "It is one in which you must qualify in order to become a member. You have been washed in alcohol and a match will now be applied."

The boys now declare that they fully believed the bottle whose contents they had poured on young Basset contained water. But in reality it contained alcohol. It is denied that any one of them detected the difference in the odor between white hazzel and alcohol. And the boys further deny that they had any notion of directly applying a match.

Young Basset, standing in the darkness, replied laughingly to the solemn voice:

"All right. Go ahead; touch it off. A hot stroke, a wooden match. It split, the lad said, and the lighted end fell directly on young Basset's head. In an instant a flame shot up. The boy stood completely enveloped in fire. Young Myers tore a curtain from the window and wrapped the lad in it and beat out the flames. The bandage on the youngster's eyes prevented his becoming blinded. But the pain of the burns was so shocking that little Basset screamed in agony. Frightened lads ran out of the place seeking a physician. Basset was carried to a neighboring barber shop and oil lotions applied until an ambulance came that bore him to his home.

As a result of the accident it was declared that the head master of the academy had issued an order peremptorily abolishing all fraternities, but Dr. William H. Knapp, who holds that office, said today that the matter was in no way officially before him. "The parents of the students must decide on the advisability of their boys belonging to these secret societies," he declared.

OUTLAWS SURROUNDED ON TOP OF MOUNTAIN WHICH THEY HAD FORTIFIED; HUNGER FORCES THEM TO SURRENDER.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Manila, Dec. 25.—The Moros who several days ago retired to the top of Buddajo in the island of Jolo, which they had fortified, capitulated today to the American troops. The Moros numbered 600 and defied an ultimatum issued by Brigadier General Pershing, ordering the disarmament of natives in the district. Their supplies were cut off and they were surrounded in their stronghold by American infantry. Finally they were forced to yield through hunger and marched out and laid down their arms.

Prior to the surrender a desperate band of twenty tried to force an outpost but were repulsed. Several Moros were killed but there were no American casualties.

The party had been carried past its destination and was recrossing the bridge to reach the home of a friend to celebrate Christmas.

DR. SUN DEPARTS HURRIEDLY FROM SHANGHAI

Chinese Reformer Boards Launch and is Escorted Down River By Two Warships; American Squadron Reinforced.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Shanghai, Dec. 25.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, one of the leading promoters of the revolution who may be named as president of the proposed republic, boarded a launch soon after his arrival here this morning and was escorted down the river by two warships. After landing he went by automobile to the residence of Wu Ting Fang, the foreign secretary in the revolutionary provisional cabinet, to discuss the situation.

So far as known no reply has yet been received from Yuan Shi Kai, the imperial premier, with regard to the establishment of a republic, as insisted upon by the revolutionists.

Dr. Sun is quartered in a large modern residence in the French concession. He said today he preferred to make no statement until he had reviewed the entire situation. His conference with Wu Ting Fang and other leaders, shows that he is evidently commanding the greatest respect and attention. Dr. Sun said the entire party was united and there would be no serious differences. It is quite evident that the revolutionaries are preparing for the constructive work of government and are not counting on Yuan Shi Kai. They are even disregarding Peking, which they confidently assert they can take at leisure.

It has been definitely decided that Nanking shall be the future capital. Even after the abdication of the emperor and the re-organization of the new government the leaders assert positively that Peking will not be considered.

In the minds of the revolutionaries the movement has been entirely successful. One of the highest authorities said today:

"Fourteen provinces have absolutely declared for a republic. We control twelve divisions of the army; two more are coming. We hold the entire navy. Two provinces remain imperialist and two are neutral. There is no government in Peking. Yuan Shi Kai, the premier, is its only representative except the infant emperor."

The sooner the powers recognize the real situation instead of clinging to harmful and intangible sentiment, the sooner will order be secured in China. Hesitation to recognize the rebel cause will certainly prolong the stagnation of trade and will be responsible for much bloodshed, should fighting begin again."

MORSE GIVES WAY TO GRIEF IN HOSPITAL

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 25.—Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, spent a dreary Christmas day at Fort McPherson, where he recently was transferred from the federal prison here, for observation of his physical condition. The banker is reported to have given way to grief for the first time today, when he was informed that President Taft had refused to grant his release. By a supreme effort he mastered his emotions during the visit of his wife and other members of his family. Scarcely had the door closed behind them, however, when the prisoner broke down completely and wept. Morse ate very little today.

SHUSTER NOTIFIED OF DISMISSAL BY CABINET

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Teheran, Dec. 25.—The cabinet today notified W. Morgan Shuster, American treasurer-general of Persia, of his dismissal from that office. This follows the decision of the national council and the ministry to submit to the demands contained in the Russian ultimatum. The cabinet intimated to Mr. Shuster that they would communicate to him later directions for turning over his accounts to his successor.

A mass meeting was held after the announcement of Mr. Shuster's dismissal to protest, but the crowds were dispersed by the police without disorder. Further demonstrations are expected. All the opposition newspapers have been suppressed and martial law has been proclaimed.

The Russian consul who has assumed the government of Resht, reports the town quiet at the present time but looks for further outbreaks.

It is reported from Shiraz, capital of the province of Fars that Persians led on a body of Indian troops who were proceeding to meet the British consul, one of the Indian soldiers being killed. There has been considerable trouble at Shiraz on account of the boycott instituted against the Indian troops by the Melahs.

MASSACRES REPORTED AT RESHT AND TABRIZ.

London, Dec. 25.—A massacre has been going on in Resht since Saturday, according to official Persian telegrams received in London today. These state that on Sunday 500 Persians were killed by the Russians, many of them being women and children. The people have been exhorted not to fight and not to give the slightest provocation but the massacres still continue.

Resht is the capital of the province of Gililan and has 40,000 inhabitants. The government house has been bombarded and many government officials have been killed. Private houses have been demolished.

According to dispatches the Russians killed four unarmed Armenians in the Armenian quarter of Tabriz during the fighting in that city.

"The people of Persia," says a dispatch, "are stupefied at the attitude of Russia, especially as these outrages have followed immediately on the acceptance by Persia of the Russian ultimatum and when Persia has shown every desire and disposition to conciliate Russia and establish friendly relations."

SPEEDING TROLLEY CAR PLUNGES INTO RIVER

Thirty-Five Passengers Injured, Many Probably Fatally, in Accident Near Pottsville, Pennsylvania.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Pottsville, Pa., Dec. 25.—A trolley car carrying thirty-five passengers, mostly residents of Schuylkill Haven, jumped Black Ridge between this city and Schuylkill Haven tonight, dropping twenty feet into the Schuylkill river.

All the injured were brought to the Pottsville hospital. The railway officials admit that not one of the passengers escaped injury, but it cannot be learned at this time, how many, if any, are fatally injured.

At the hospital it was said that none of the passengers had succumbed, but several were in a precarious condition.

The only thing that prevented serious loss of life was the fact that the river at the point where the car took the plunge is not more than six feet deep.

The accident is supposed to have been caused by a broken rail.

With the exception of Harry Butts of Schuylkill Haven, who was known to have been on the ill-fated car, all the passengers have been accounted for.

Mrs. Martin Shaefer was removed to her home. She is suffering from a broken back and internal injuries and it is said cannot recover. Nearly all the passengers in the hospital are suffering from broken limbs.

RIFF TRIBESMEN RENEW FIGHTING IN MOROCCO

Undismayed By Severe Repulse of December 22, They Make Two Fresh Attacks On Spanish Troops.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Madrid, Dec. 25.—An official dispatch from Melilla, Morocco, says the Riff tribesmen, undismayed by the severe repulse of December 22, reappeared in two fierce attacks on December 23 and 24, which lasted several hours. The Spaniards held their position and forced the enemy to retire, but suffered heavily. Present figures estimate the Spanish losses at six officers killed and thirty-six men killed or wounded.

News of renewed fighting in the Riff country, which was believed to have been pacified, foreshadowing the possibility of another campaign in Morocco, has created a painful sensation in Madrid and King Alfonso has decided to cancel immediate engagements and remain in the capital for the present.

Rather than postpone his intended marriage for two years, the remainder of the term of his enlistment, he arranged by telegraph to have his fiancée and a minister at the depot when his train passed through Ogden. The vows were spoken in the presence of fifty army recruits in the Union depot while the train was changing engines.

Garr promised to leave the army and take time for a honeymoon two years hence.

AMBASSADOR DID NOT FIND BODY OF PAUL JONES

Philadelphia Declares General
Horace Porter Was Deceived;
Authorities Identifying Remains Forged.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Philadelphia, Dec. 25.—The body which was taken up with no much care from the cemetery of St. Louis in Paris six years ago, through the exertions of the then American ambassador, Gen. Horace Porter, and conveyed on a warship with military honors to the naval academy at Annapolis, where it was to be encoined in a sarcophagus, is not, as was supposed, that of the revolutionary admiral, John Paul Jones. This assertion is made by Charles Henry Hart in a book by Mr. Hart and Edward Biddle which just issued.

A whole chapter of the book, which is entitled "Memoirs of the Life and Works of Jean Antoine Houdon, the Greatest of French Sculptors," is devoted to a demonstration that every person connected with the enterprise has been misled by what are called the forgeries of the late Augustus C. Buell in his "Life of John Paul Jones," whose alleged authorities, Mr. Hart ventures to assert, are mythical and forged for the occasion. Mr. Hart in the course of the chapter attempts to demonstrate by using the reports of the experts employed by General Porter, by the Houdon bust of Jones and by the use of the miniature belonging to the naval academy, in the case of which is a mass of hair from the head of the revolutionary sailor and hero of the fight between the Bonhomme, Richa and the Serapis, that the body now at Annapolis cannot by any test be that of Jones. Of course, it is not known, nor does Mr. Hart venture to say, whose body has received these honors at the hands of the United States government.

CENSUS STATISTICS SHOW INCREASE IN INSANITY

In Six Years, From 1904 to 1910, Percentage Was 25
Per Cent; Fewer Cases in West and South.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Washington, Dec. 25.—A special census of the insane confined in institutions in 1910 in continental United States was taken by the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, and a preliminary comparative summary for 1904 and 1910 has just been issued by Director J. A. Hill, chief statistician, division of revision and results, who is in charge of the work. The figures are subject to revision later, as there are a few institutions from which complete returns have not been received, but if any changes are made they are not likely to affect materially the totals and rates given herein.

The number of institutions canvassed was 372; the number of insane persons in the institutions January 1, 1910, was 187,454; the number admitted during 1910 was 60,603; and the number discharged in that year was 52,880. At the last special United States census of the insane the population in insane asylums January 1, 1904, numbered 159,151, and the number of persons committed to insane asylums during the year was 49,622. Therefore, in the six years, from 1904 to 1910, there was an increase of 28,303, or 24.5 per cent, in the number of patients confined in insane asylums; and an increase of 10,951, or 22.1 per cent, in the number annually committed to such asylums. An increase of 27,393 in the population in insane asylums taking place in six years in an annual increase of 6,260.

Increase of Insane Population.
While the population of the United States increased about 11 per cent in the interval between 1904 and 1910, the population in insane asylums increased about 25 per cent. The number of insane in asylums per 100,000 population increased from 186.2 in 1904 to 203.8 in 1910. The number of persons annually committed to hospitals for the insane per 100,000 population increased from 61.5 in 1904 to 65.9 in 1910. If these ratios are accepted as representing insanity rates, it would appear that the number of persons becoming insane, in a community comprising 100,000 persons, was greater by 4.4 in 1910 than it was in 1904. It must be remembered, however, that these figures include only the insane who are committed to hospitals. As to the number of cases of insanity not resulting in commitments to hospitals the census has no data. It is entirely possible that the increase in the number of commitments per 100,000 population is not due to any considerable degree to an increased prevalence of insanity, but simply to the extension of this method of caring for the insane. It is a change which might result from an increase in the number of institutions of this class and from an increasing disposition on the part of the public to resort to such institutions. In this connection it may be noted that the number of institutions for the insane reported by the census increased from 325 in 1904 to 372 in 1910, an increase of about 15 per cent. The average number of inmates per institution increased from 488 in 1904 to 504 in 1910.

Variations in Figures For States.
As regards the figures by states, the report points out, that it should be constantly borne in mind that the variations between different states, in the number of insane in institutions in proportion to population, are probably due to differences in the authorities, the provisions made for caring for the insane in this way, and also to differences as regards the practice of committing the insane to institutions, so much as variations in the insanity rate prevailing in different communities.

The state which, in proportion to its population, had the largest number of insane reported in institutions on January 1, 1910, was Massachusetts with 244.6 per 100,000 population. New York, however, had almost the same proportion, namely, 243.1 per 100,000 population. There is no doubt that in these states better provision is made for the care of insane in institutions than in most of the other states. The insane confined in institutions in any state are by no means drawn exclusively from the population of that state. The institutions in Massachusetts, especially the private institutions, receive many insane patients from other New England states; and the institutions in New York similarly receive many patients from outside that state. The District of Columbia, which far outranks both New York and Massachusetts in the proportion of number of insane persons in institutions, presents conditions more analogous to those of a city than those of a state, and is, moreover, peculiar in that it is the location of the government hospital for the insane, which draws its patients from a much wider area than the district.

The state which ranks next to New York and Massachusetts in the number of insane in hospitals in proportion to population is Connecticut, where the ratio is 221.1 per 100,000 population.

Fewer Insane in West and South.
In general the number of insane in hospitals in proportion to population is much smaller in the west than in the east. The ratios are also smaller in the south than in the north.

In 34 out of the 48 states and territories, including the District of Columbia, the ratio of insane in institutions to total population was larger in 1910 than in 1904. Most of the states in which the ratio was smaller lie west of the Mississippi, the number including all the Pacific coast states and all but three of the mountain states. This section of the country has undergone a very rapid development in recent years, and it is possible that the new population coming from other sections of the United States represents a class in which insanity is less prevalent than among the stay-at-homes. But the decrease in the ratio may also indicate that the provisions for the care of the insane in institutions have not kept pace with the rapidly increasing population.

Directors of Education Fund of Philanthropist Appeal for Million Dollars to Carry Out Project.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
New York, Dec. 25.—An appeal to friends of education in America for $1,000,000 to make the George Peabody college for teachers at Nashville, Tenn., a great memorial to Mr. Peabody's beneficent services to the south and the educational crown of the system of schools now established in that section, is contained in a long statement by the directors of the Peabody educational fund, issued tonight.

The trustees gave notice of having voted to close the trust in pursuance of permission given them by the founder, after having distributed millions in building up state systems of public schools, aiding the development of rural schools and establishing departments of education in the state universities.

"Since 1875," the statement continues, "the Peabody fund has aided in maintaining the Peabody Normal college at Nashville, Tenn., as the central and leading normal school for the south. In closing the trust the trustees have undertaken to build a monument to this the George Peabody College for teachers."

The statement goes on to state that this institution is to be for the higher education of teachers throughout the west.

To this end the trustees have given a sum of $1,000,000 in permanent gifts by the state of Tennessee, county of Davidson, and the city of Nashville, amounting to $550,000 and sixteen acres of land with buildings to the University of Nashville. In the final dissolution of the Peabody fund the trustees have offered to endow the college with an additional half million dollars provided that within two years from November 1, 1911, the college raises $1,000,000.

"All experts on the subject," the statement continues, "know that such a college is the greatest crying need of the south today. The southern states with a courage and self-sufficiency rarely if ever equalled, are devoting every year from thirty-five to forty per cent of the amount raised by taxation to the education of both races, wisely recognizing that this is their best hope for the future. But these sums must go to the public schools and state institutions, such as this central teachers college is needed to do a work which no state institution can do, the state institutions are barred by constitutional limitation from contributing to its maintenance."

Approves President Taft's Message On Subject; Believes
New Tariff Bill Will Be Republican Measure.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Philadelphia, Dec. 25.—Senator Charles Penrose, chairman of the finance committee, in an interview approves the message of President Taft on the wool schedule, and gave his views upon the tariff and the proposed monetary legislation. He said that hearings upon Schedule K would be held by the senate finance committee after the Christmas recess, and that either he or Senator Burton would present a report and bill embodying the results of the investigations of the Aldrich monetary commission. This report will be presented on January 8.

"What will be the republican party's attitude on revising Schedule K?" he was asked.

"The report of the tariff board is a very exhaustive and valuable contribution to the literature relative to Schedule K," said the head of the finance committee, which will consider revision of the tariff in the senate.

"It has been ordered printed in six or seven volumes and will, of course, require considerable time to study. The general principles, however, contained in the report seem to commend themselves to very favorable consideration."

"I believe that it will be possible to frame a bill which will be in harmony with the data supplied by the tariff board and which will be at the same time a republican measure, in that it will afford adequate protection to the wool industry. The schedule, of course, is the most complicated in the whole tariff system, because it embraces the continent, beginning with the wool on the sheep back in the west and ending with the finished product in Philadelphia and Boston."

"When I say that a bill can probably be framed it does not mean that the uncertainties of tariff legislation will be eliminated from the wool industry. The provisions of Schedule K as they exist today, have been adjudicated by the courts in a series of years, and are definite and certain and well understood by every one. Any new law will have to go through a similar process, extending over a greater or less period."

"The finance committee of the senate will probably take up the question immediately upon the reconvening of congress. Many applications for hearings have been received, which will be granted. The republican members of congress will doubtless endeavor to frame a measure on republican lines. In this way the finance committee will be fully prepared to deal with the bill, which must originate in the house."

"The house bill will naturally be a democratic measure, which will not be in accord with republican ideas, and as far as the finance committee is concerned it is probable that the bill will be amended by substituting the republican measure."

"As the republicans have only a nominal majority of four in the United States senate it is, of course, too early to tell what will be the action of the senate or whether, if a measure at all can be passed or whether, if a measure should pass, it would be of such a character as to receive the approval of the president."

"Will you direct legislation on the monetary bill?" the senator was asked.

"Such legislation will come before

New Mechanical Method of Extracting Gold.

A machine for saving gold contained in slimes and wastes from alluvial gold-mining operations has been invented in New South Wales and is being tried in New Zealand with a fair prospect, it seems, of proving of great help to gold mining in this Dominion.

The machine works much on the same principle as flour-milling machinery in rejecting rubbish by throwing it out through percussive and vibratory motion. In place of the stones at present in the false bottoms of sluice boxes, there is a system of balls running in channels, so set that they can bunch up or hang together, but move continuously, keeping the matter treated moving all the time, and insuring on precipitation by their resistance to every article of metal or mineral carried to them by the run of the water. The concussive motion of the balls is given by two mechanical operations on the part of the machinery working the plant; one of the motions is percussive and the other vibratory, there being no suggestion of a rotary action or of an up-and-down motion. Every movement is in the direction of throwing the values back and throwing drosses off. The percussive movement has the effect of drawing the weighty substances in the direction of the blow.

The apparatus consists of a series of large trays, the channels being filled with the balls previously mentioned for keeping up the agitation conducive to the quick precipitation of values. A system of springs and tendons gives percussive and vibratory effects to the trays, dispelling the gangue in the direction of the flow of water and drawing the metal values to the next tray, where there is another grading and a similar general treatment, varied in the detail to suit the class of matter being dealt with. The result of the working of the trays is a product, in values, easily handled for concentration on any of the ordinary miners. The machine thus explained is the invention of E. J. Swynny of the Mineral Reclamation Works, Roselle, New South Wales.—Consular Report.

DOMESTICS IN HOME OF FARMER REWARDED

Hutchinson, Kan., Dec. 25.—Two Reno county women employed as domestics drew from their stockings as Christmas gifts checks for $1,200. These women, Mrs. Chester Day and Miss Alice Bennet, had been employed as domestics in the home of Joseph Collingwood, a retired farmer of Pretty Prairie. Miss Bennet also received a handsome gold watch.

Mr. Collingwood presented a check for $2,100 to the Rev. J. C. Bellet, pastor of the United Presbyterian church in Hutchinson, to pay off the mortgage on his home. Rev. Mr. Bellet recently conducted revival meetings at Pretty Prairie during which Mr. Collingwood was converted.

TYRUS COBB PICKS TWENTY GREATEST BALL PLAYERS

"Georgia Peach" Naturally Favors Many of His Team-Mates of the Detroit Tigers; Does Not Name Himself.

During this season of the year when all baseball fans are gathered around the cozy fireplace, playing the past season's games over again, every player and critic of note is being asked to pick an all-star aggregation. Some have been asked more than this. Not twenty players are suggested. Tyrus Cobb, often called the greatest player the game ever produced, recently was asked to make his choice of twenty of the best players in the American league and he submitted the following:

Walter Johnson, Washington.
Bill Donovan, Detroit.
Ed Walsh, Chicago.
Hal Chase, New York.
Larry Lajoie, Cleveland.
Clyde Milan, Washington.
Harry Lord, Chicago.
Tris Speaker, Chicago.
Eddie Collins, Philadelphia.
Oscar Swanson, Detroit.
Sam Crawford, Detroit.
Lee Jackson, Cleveland.
Billy Sullivan, Chicago.
Owens Ruff, Detroit.
Jack Coombs, Philadelphia.
Ira Thomas, Philadelphia.
Frank Baker, Philadelphia.
Jack Barry, Philadelphia.
George Mullin, Detroit.
Youn Gress, Cleveland.
Cobb gives honorary mention to Wagner of Boston, Bobby Wallace of St. Louis and Russell Ford of New York. Ty says that had Wallace played with a leading team four, five or six years ago, he would be recognized as one of the greatest players the game ever turned out. He has, however, had the misfortune to be with a tail-end club and although he has shown remarkable playing ability, his record has suffered in consequence.

AUTO ASSOCIATION GATHERS TO ASK FEDERAL AID

Most Comprehensive Convention of Nation's Road Enthusiasts Ever Held in Country Occurs This Month.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Washington, Dec. 24.—The Federal Aid convention of the American Automobile association, which will be held at the New Willard hotel, Washington, January 16 and 17, promises to be the most comprehensive national gathering of road enthusiasts and road workers ever held in the United States.

The principal and specific work of the convention will be given to the thorough discussion of governmental participation in road building, and to the effort to settle upon some definite plan which shall be satisfactory to the thousands who now believe in the principle of federal co-operation in highway work.

There must be consideration of the fact that some thirty measures have been introduced in the present congress providing for appropriations for road purposes under various plans, and that in all probability a considerable number of additional bills will be presented. These measures all possess point of excellence, and all recognize the propriety of federal action on the subject.

With the general public in a large majority of the state favoring federal aid in building highways, and with a probable majority of the members of both the senate and house of representatives inclined to carry out the wishes of their constituents, and their own ideas at the same time, the only question would seem to be that of working out a measure which shall be just to every section of the country, and so command the support of all fair minded men.

The people of the United States have never balked at progress. When the welfare of the nation, in its material development, required transcontinental railroads, property now valued at more than seven billions of dollars, was donated by the government. These donations made possible the development of an empire as magnificent in its vastness and in its powers of production that its most glorious history of previous civilizations falls into insignificance in comparison.

The federal aid thus given was the result of wise statesmanship in congress, backed by the wisdom of the people of the country. The object for which it was given has been achieved. American civilization has cultivated the prairies, reduced the woodlands, harnessed the streams, and dug into the mountains, all in the pursuit of the wealth that has responded so bountifully.

But there are definite stages in progression. Another stage was reached when the utility of the automobile was demonstrated in addition to the ornamental and pleasurable functions which were earlier developed. It was seen that the motor car widened the horizon of man's usefulness, made it possible to achieve more commercially, professionally, or in the pursuit of pleasure, than had been possible theretofore. It was also found that the most profitable use of the mechanical vehicle required a better class of highways than those in common use.

Simultaneously was developed the fact that, even more than motorists, farmers needed better roads. Worked out into figures by officials of the government it was found that the annual cost in time, money and labor of marketing the products of the country, over the existing roads, amounts to from $350,000,000 to $400,000,000 more than the cost would be if the roads were good, and that this excess of cost is entirely waste, a bad road tax on the resources of the country.

States and communities have endeavored to remedy the condition, and much has been accomplished in places. About 200,000 miles of improved roads have been constructed throughout the country, about 10 per cent of the little more than 2,000,000 miles of existing highways. These have resulted in the enhancement of land values, in more intensified farming, in greater production, in the localities where they have been constructed.

Where the greatest mileage of improved roads have been constructed, there has been the greatest development in the utilization of automobiles, which produces a strictly economic gain over the slower methods of transport used in past years. Traffic between states has reached proportions which force the road improvement proposition out of purely local consideration, and it becomes one for a nation to deal with.

And when the nation comes to deal with the subject, as it assuredly must, there is no question but that the statesmanship of our senators and representatives in congress will produce a plan which will be just to all sections of the country and to all interests involved, and which will, in the course of its operation, result in great benefits to all the people, in the development of their social, physical and financial welfare, and add materially to the greatness of our country's institutions.

ST. LOUIS SOCCER TEAM LAYS CLAIM TO CHAMPIONSHIP

St. Louis, Dec. 25.—St. Louis soccer football players today laid claim to the championship of the United States as the result of the game this afternoon in which the finalists of St. Louis defeated the Tacoma team of Philadelphia, 2 to 1. Experts declared today's contest was the fastest ever played here.

The Philadelphians, who, including today's defeat have lost only four games in three seasons, went into the contest slightly fatigued, as the result of the strenuous tie battle on a muddy field yesterday with the St. Louis Leos, local champions. The visitors' one point was due to excitement on the part of the local backs, one of whom sent the ball through his own goal.

RACE RESULTS.

At Juarez.
Juarez, Dec. 25.—The threatening weather which prevailed at Juarez today did not keep the crowd down and some fine racing was seen.

The surprise of the afternoon was the brilliant performance of Irish Gentleman, winner of the Navajo handicap at one mile. The colt was admirably ridden by Jockey Hoffman.

Presiding Stewart Price announced today that Jockey A. Wals and W. Wrispen had been ruled off for attempted fraud. They were included in the fraud which resulted in Jockey Howard being ruled off the turf.

The horses owned by George Snyder, which included Rey Hindoo and Americus have been transferred to John Lowe and will be allowed to start.

First race, one mile: Angelus, 7 to 5, won; Sam Barber, 7 to 2, second; Ocean Queen, even, third. Time—1:42.

Second race, six furlongs: Emma G., 5 to 2, won; New Capital, 10 to 1, second; Bona, 4 to 1, third. Time—1:15.

Third race, six furlongs: Lady Tenth, 2 to 1, won; Prince Winter, 6 to 1, second; Tim Judge, 10 to 1, third. Time—1:14.

Fourth race, one mile: Irish Gentleman, 6 to 1, won; Follie Lev, 3 to 1, second; Pound the World, 10 to 1, third. Time—1:38 2-5.

At Columbia.

Columbia, S. C., Dec. 25.—Only an ordinary racing card was offered at the fair grounds this afternoon. Three favorites proved successful. Elizabeth Harwood, second choice in the fourth event, won by a nose over the favorite, Sea Swell, in a driving finish. In the sixth V. Powers made his own pace and won all the way from Otillo, by a length.

First race, five furlongs: Lydia Lee, won; Bend Sand, second; Black Branch, third. Time—1:02 2-5.

ZBYZSKO IS AWARDED DECISION ON FLUKE

New York, Dec. 25.—The wrestling bout between Zbyzsko, the Polish wrestler, and Racevich, the Italian champion, broke up in a muddle at Madison Square Garden tonight. Most of the 4,000 spectators left the garden thinking the Italian had won, but the referee, Tom Jenkins, awarded the decision to Zbyzsko. The Polish wrestler had agreed to throw Racevich three times in ninety minutes. It took him thirty-seven minutes and fifty seconds to secure the first fall which was by a forward double-arm hold.

In the second bout after three minutes wrestling, Racevich got just such a hold on the Pole as he had been floored with. One shoulder, however, was off the mat and Jenkins tapped the top man with the idea of giving him warning to get his man to the mat. He said he also shouted the warning, but the upstart drowned his voice and the Italian thinking he had been tapped as the winner, jumped up and ran to his dressing room. The crowd thereupon moved out of the garden without hearing the announcement of the referee that Racevich had not got his man altogether on the mat, and therefore there was no course to take but to award the decision to Zbyzsko.

BASEBALL VETERAN SAVES TWO BOYS FROM DROWNING

Chicago, Dec. 25.—Adrian S. ("Cap") Anson, veteran of the baseball diamond, saved two young boys from drowning in a lagoon at Jackson Park this afternoon. Anson was playing golf when he saw the boys break through thin ice and sink from sight. Plunging into the lagoon, Anson rescued and swam to shore with one boy at a time.

While making his two trips into the icy water Anson was severely chilled, but said tonight he expected no bad effects from the exposure.

BRANNIGAN KNOCKS OUT BENNY CHAVEZ

Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 25.—Patsy Brannigan of Pittsburgh tonight knocked out Benny Chavez of Trinidad in the sixth round of a scheduled ten round bout. A right swing to the jaw clinched the victory for Brannigan after he had sent the little Mexican to the floor earlier in the round. Chavez had the better of the contest until the final round. The bout was fast. The men are lightweight.

McVEY IS AWARDED DECISION OVER LANGFORD

In Twenty Round Battle at Sydney Negro Heavyweights Fought Until Utterly Exhausted; Verdict Unpopular.

[By Morning Journal Special Licensed Wire.]
Sydney, N. S. W., Dec. 26.—In the fight here today between Sam McVey and Sam Langford, both American pugilists, McVey won on points.

The bout went the scheduled twenty rounds, in the first and second rounds honors were fairly even, both men showing caution but landing hard. In the third round Langford scored a heavy right to the jaw. McVey came back with a hook which sent Langford to the floor but he got to his feet immediately. The fifth round was McVey's. He continued to send his left to the jaw and Langford's mouth and tongue were bleeding and he seemed dazed. By the ninth round McVey had piled up many points and Langford had been cautioned for using his forearm.

Both showed signs of punishment and Langford had a marked discoloration and swelling over his right eye. McVey's mouth and nose were bleeding. It was given and taken in the tenth but the eleventh and twelfth rounds were Langford's.

consideration execution up to this time, began to lack steam. For the next five rounds the men sparred, few heavy blows being exchanged. Langford was aggressive but McVey out-boxed him. Langford's eye was closed tight, his opponent frequently landing on this shining mark.

Both were tired and more than cautious in the nineteenth and when the bell rang for the twentieth, came weary into the center of the ring almost too exhausted to fight. They clinched throughout this round. All through the first both men showed rameness and fought with extreme fairness the crowd showing its approval by frequent applause, but the verdict giving the fight to McVey on points was vigorously booed.

Eighteen thousand spectators witnessed the fight which took place in the open air under a broiling sun.

The betting was 4 to 5, Langford being the favorite. In-fighting was not allowed.

WILL RAISE CROSS BREED OF SHEEP IN VALLEY

Stockard and White at Roswell Receive Valuable Persian Buck From Flock of "Buffalo" Jones.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Roswell, N. M., Dec. 25.—James V. Stockard and J. Phelps White have received their fat-tail Persian buck, at a cost of about $750, from the famous "Buffalo" Jones herd. They have also received fifty-one common Merino ewes, which this buck will be placed with, out at the L. F. D. farm, and these two prominent stockmen will demonstrate to the sheepmen of this section what the crossing of these two breeds will do for the sheep industry of northeastern New Mexico.

coin county have also purchased of the "Buffalo" Jones herd twenty-five ram and seventy-five ewes, of the pure bred Persian sheep, and at their breeding farm in Lincoln county will propagate pure breeds and cross breeds.

The Persian sheep are larger smoother and of greater vitality than any of the other breeds of domestic sheep. They have been raised since time immemorial on the barren wastes of the Arabian deserts, and nature adapting herself to conditions has made them an animal that can shame a camel in doing without water and a bear in abstaining from food.

They have a longer and somewhat coarser fleece of wool than the Merino, and their pelts, with the wool attached are the far famed Persian rugs of commerce. Their most singular trait, however, is the caudal reservoir. During the season of the year when the feed is good they take on fat at a surprising rate and not only their bodies, but their tails which are never amputated, get to be an immense glob of fat, weighing at times in an adult sheep as much as seventy pounds.

When, as is usual in their native country of Persia, drouths come and the grasses are parched and water is scarce, they are enabled to go as long as six weeks without food. Of course they are emaciated at the end of these periods of starvation and the tail loses all its accumulated fat. These sheep are highly prized in the land of their nativity and it was with greatest difficulty that any of them were procured by outsiders.

While it is not necessary to put them to the test of being without water for any great length of time, their capacity to go without water will be of immense advantage. And it being a fact that our native grasses do little more than sustain life during the winter months, their ability to subsist by drawing upon their caudal reservoir will be an unmissable blessing in bringing them through the winter in better condition than less fortunate breeds can hope to come.

GOOD TIMES NOW LOOKED FOR

Booming Business Expected in Gotham Industrial Circles; Women Threatening to Boycott Tradesmen.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] New York, Dec. 24.—That great good times are surely due with the new year, is being asserted in this city by almost every reliable authority, and being believed by business men as much more than Christmas talk. Following the recent rosy prophecies of two big commercial agencies, scores of industrial and financial leaders here have let it be known that they are quietly preparing for extensions to cover the coming year of what they consider will be booming business. While merchants and manufacturers are taking up this talk, the rent estate men have begun to notice new life in their market, that is always slow to respond to quickening activity. Unless the holidays have gone to the heads of the business workers all over town, nothing seems more certain than a return of general confidence and prosperity.

Threatening to resort to the boycott and blacklist in order to get proper prices and treatment from tradesmen, thousands of housewives here have just begun to band together for organized warfare. Local groups of ladies who market and shop are to convene each day and compare notes on the stores in the neighborhood. If any instances of short measure or low prices are discovered, the ladies declare they will put under a ban the places where they occur. The new idea is said to be already making the merchants quake.

Racing Route.

That racing is now dead beyond hope of resurrection in these parts, is admitted by followers of the turf, who have just learned of the contemplated sale of the Sheepshead Bay track for suburban building sites. As many millions of dollars have been invested in this picturesque green-sward, on which the great Futurity and Suburban races were staged, it is argued that its owners would not consider its cutting up if the faintest hope were left of ever using it for racing again. The men who seem ready to sell are all wealthy and well able to hold on if they chose, it is also pointed out.

Popular Pup.

Though City Hall is not flying its flag at half mast, the death of Little Dog Spot, who used to frisk continually about its steps in this week being honestly mourned by every man who passes the place. For many months this lively little pup made friends with all the city officials, and every one of the thousands of workers who walked by his municipal playground. In the rush of City Hall Park it was a rare pleasure to watch the sportive Spot, who has left the mayor's office as dull and uninteresting as it was before he came.

The Sheep Industry

The Breeders Gazette thinks that while flockmasters are not wearing broad smiles, they seem to be in better feeling than recently, and adds: The live mutton market is looking up and wool prospects show decided improvement. People are eating mutton as they never ate it before, as an increase of 1,000,000 head in receipts at the principal western markets during the first five months of the current year compared with last indicates and there are more human backs to cover with wool every year. The low prices at which sheep and lambs vended during the first part of 1911 are easily explained by increased feeding operations due to plentitude of feed in the cornbelt, abundance of money for feeding operations and a full feeder market last fall, but trade experts are still groping in the dark for a logical explanation of wool trade demoralization.

Development of activity in wool and a healthier condition in live mutton trade will doubtless exert a liquidation-repressing influence a determination to get out of the business, but a sunbeam or two penetrating the cloud of depression always exerts an optimistic influence. All the loss sustained by the wool and mutton industry recently has not been borne by the west, as the cornbelt has shouldered its share. During the enforced liquidation of last summer had feed and money not been abundant east of the Missouri river the range sheep industry would have been bankrupted. A good eastern market for feeders was all that averted disaster. The experience has cost the corn belt feeder a sum in the aggregate that can be approximated only by using seven figures, but as it has been widely distributed nobody has been financially crippled.

Money will be the factor in determining to what extent liquidation will be resorted to by western sheep growers during the coming season. A Montana man who sold his clip at 18c asserted that any price below that would not have reimbursed him the cost of running his band, but sheep growers are, as a rule, imbued with a desire to stay in the business and the condition of the money market will determine whether they go or stay in many cases. Thousands of thin sheep were sent to market and sacrificed last fall because timid western bankers, some of whom had encouraged the previous loan, would not lend enough money to buy feed for wintering purposes. Results show that the loans would have been well placed.

Texas alone shows a disposition to expand sheep growing operations. In some parts of the northwest an army of farmers is crowding out the big bands that have been running on the open range, rendering winter feeding imperative, and that is expensive, necessitating reduction of flocks. In other sections control of forest reserves by the federal government has curtailed the area of summer pasture in the mountains another cause of liquidation.

"Ah," says the Christmas guest, "how I wish I could sit down to a Christmas dinner with one of those turkeys we raised on the farm when I was a boy as the central figure." "Well," says the host, "you can never tell. This may be one of them."

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

ALL LEARNING.

Another stand-pat. Bureau newspaper has seen a light. The Socorro Chieftain says:

It will soon be time for the executive and legislative departments of the government of this new state of ours to give New Mexico a reputation for good or for evil that it will take long years to undo. The opportunity will be unique and of surpassing importance—unique because the first of its kind, of surpassing importance because it is almost sure to fix the trend of legislation for years to come. Will the opportunity be seized in the right spirit? Governor-elect McDonald has already given evidence of the possession of qualities that auger well for the future. In fact, even his political opponents in the late campaign were slow to say that they found any fault in him in this regard. It then remains for the republican legislature to vindicate itself by the enactment of wise and wholesome laws. No temporizing with political evil, no jockeying for political advantage, on the part of our legislators will help to accomplish their only worthy purpose, that of promoting the public welfare and exalting the good name of New Mexico. The party that fails to realize this fact under circumstances now existing in our state is doomed to an ignominious and lasting downfall. So note it be.

Another tribute—this time from the Silver City Enterprise:

In the death of Bishop Kendrick,
New Mexico loses a tried and true friend, one who has done as much if not more for the territory along lines
that really count than many men
prominent in public life and whose work is more ostentatious and therefore more widely heralded. Bishop Kendrick was one of the real boosters
of New Mexico. Coming here in 1888,
when New Mexico was still a frontier,
his life has been devoted unselfishly
and unrelentingly to fighting evil and promoting the moral and spiritual welfare of his people. The amount of good he has done can never be estimated by the world's standard of value, but there are thousands of men and women in the southwest today
who are better men and women because he lived and these will read of his death with tear-dimmed eyes and tender memories of the big-hearted,
brusque, kindly bishop whom they all
grew to love and revere.

It isn't "Bleeding Kansas" any more, but Bumpkins Kansas. A Sunflower State newspaper throws out
its chest and says:

"Ninety-six counties of the 105 in Kansas have no inebriates. Thirty-nine counties did not send a prisoner to jail last year. There are only four men for every 7,000 of the population of Kansas in jail. There were 912
prisoners in the penitentiary last year
but only 17 per cent of this number were Kansas born. Fifty-seven counties in Kansas have no use for poor-houses and last year did not send a person to them. Eighty-four counties
last year did not report a case of insanity. The death rate in Kansas is less than in any other section in the world, seven per 1,000 of the inhabitants."

Just why women should be generally averse to telling their ages is not quite clear, but that they are is a matter of common observation. The California legislature has just taken cognizance of the fact by passing a bill providing that women voters need not tell how old they are, except that they are over 21. A glance through any book of "Who's Who" will show that very few of the women in it have disclosed the date of their birth. It would seem, to a mere man, that a woman is no older, and no younger than she looks, and that that is all that is important about it.

It is announced that a New Jersey
savant has discovered the germ of stage fright. In the name of a suffering-republic, turn it loose in congress.

THE TWELVE GOOD MEN AND TRUE.

There have been several object lessons of late tending to strengthen the growing belief that the jury system in this country has become so handicapped
by abuses that in many instances it fails to accomplish its purpose. The Cleveland Leader takes the following view of the matter:

The McNamara case was before the court six weeks before the defense offered the confessions which made further prosecution unnecessary. This time was consumed in the effort to obtain a jury. When the case came to an end, only eight men were in the box, after having been compelled to submit to scrutiny of their characters and past acts almost as searching and disagreeable as though they had themselves been prisoners at the bar.

In the re-trial of Dr. Hyde, in Kansas City, on an indictment charging him with having murdered Colonel Swope, the jury system has broken down. There the men summoned as jurors were subjected to the same ordeal that was undergone by the jurors in the McNamara case. One of the jurors, after six weeks of absence from his business and family,
having been harried and lagged by
the lawyers and compelled to see the same treatment given other unoffending citizens, forbidden to read the newspapers or communicate with anybody outside the jury, held under guard as though he were a prisoner
and compelled to eat poor food and accept second-class lodgings with men who were strangers to him, suddenly became insane. Because of this the jury was discharged and next month a new one will be impaneled
with the usual delay and the customary grilling accompaniments.

Less than a month ago, a jury in Denver voted a complete acquittal for a woman who killed her husband,
nearly dead with consumption, by shooting him in the back. She was young, beautiful and conspicuously well dressed. In New York, only a few days ago, two young women were similarly acquitted by a jury for having shot a man whom they accused of treating them wrongfully. In both cases there were counts in the indictments under which these women could have been found guilty of minor offenses, if the juries wished to make their punishment as mild as possible.
But the jurors closed their eyes to law
and justice, virtually held that women
can with impunity avenge their real
or fancied wrongs with the revolver,
and in effect brought in verdicts of guilt against the men who were shot.

With these recent cases in mind no argument is necessary to show that reform is urgently needed in the jury system. The principle upon which trial by jury is based is unassailable.
It is the only one tolerable to free-
men who demand even justice for high and low. But the system has been corrupted and weakened so that it no longer performs its functions with reasonable certainty. A return is necessary to the older and simpler restrictions placed on jurors. And it is essential that there should be a stricter enforcement of the laws
making jury duty compulsory upon practically all citizens.

The partial failure of trial by jury
is caused merely by failure to live up to its spirit.

"A man who knocks his wife unconscious with a loaf of bread shows
very little respect for the duties imposed by matrimony," said Judge Morgan, deciding a divorce suit. And yet the bread that was thrown might have been baked by the wife of the man who threw the bread, who had been eating the bread, that—but this is getting complicated.

Already Abdul Hamid's jewels have been sold at auction, and Portugal has a crown or two and some other royal appurtenances that she is willing to sell. Likewise the seven-year-old emperor of China may want to realize soon on his personal possessions. The present seems to be the bargain session in crowns and crown jewels.

The New York grass widow who

vide for her five-year-old boy on sador in a foreign country.

The fact that King George shot

That rumbling noise from the far east is mostly made by 40,000,000,000
Chinese ancestors turning over in their graves.

The estimate in a recent census
bulletin of the value of farm land in the arid and semi-arid regions of the United States is significant of the wonders being accomplished by irrigation. For 1910 this value is given as $10,488,000,000, more than three times the value of the same land in 1900. The area in question is made up of parts of Arizona, California,
Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana,
Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North
Dakota, Utah, Washington and Wyo-ning and some parts of Texas. Not all of this increase, of course, has been due to irrigation. The general development of the entire west and the enhancement of the value of farm products have had much to do with it.
But the total result is significant.

Perhaps one reason the trusts can

Good Gospel From Cimarron

(Cimarron Citizen.)

"There is so much bad in the best
of us, and so much good in the worst of us, that it hardly behooves any of us, to talk about the rest of us."

These few words carry with them
quite a lesson if we would but properly consider them. Do not be a chronic fault-finder, continually registering objections to this, that and the other thing.

If you have a legitimate kick, file
it; but don't go around looking for trouble. Man who is forever casting about in the hope of discovering something that is not exactly right
will probably find more or less at which he can grumble, but in doing so he fails to bring about a remedy.

If a relative comes to see you, tell him what a fine place Cimarron is—there is much here for which all of our people should be thankful and for which they should be justly proud.
Do not lay stress on what a city this would have been if so and so had not happened or if such and such work had been begun before. Show every stranger that you are happy and contented, as indeed you should rightly be, and if you possess it, you will find that "sour grapes" feeling wearing off.

Cheerfully point out to your fellow men that you at least have confidence in the future of Cimarron and the first thing you know you will find others preaching the same doctrine, and the result will be astonishing. The future of any city depends on its own people, not the ones who live in other places, and Cimarron,
ten years hence, will be just what its people make it. We can each of us do our share, and should do it to the best of our ability, for the advancement of the little city which
"holds the keys to the kingdom of Colfax."

SEVEN LAKES OIL DISCOVERER IS A BENEDICT

Henry F. Brock, Who Has Had
Most Interesting Career,
Wedded Here to Lady From Near Bluewater.

Henry F. Brock pioneer and first discoverer of oil in the famous Seven Lakes district of western New Mexico, and for years well known throughout the state, was married in this city December 23, to Miss Ora P.
Heister, of near Bluewater, N. M., the bride being a graduate of the University of Missouri, who has spent a number of years engaged in most successful teaching work in the Congregational Mission school at Cubero, San Rafael and San Mateo, and who
also taught at Ramah and Gallup,
being well known all through that section for her works of benevolence.

Mr. Brock has had a most interesting career. Twenty-five years ago he was celebrated far and wide as the most daring and most successful wild horse breaker in the southwest, and tamed many a fiery outlaw of the plains given up by other broncho busters. Coming to this section from Cincinnati, he became general superintendent of the Big Diamond A ranch outfit, afterward becoming a successful cattleman on his own hook,
being the first man to demonstrate the success of gasoline pumping for watering stock in New Mexico. Five years ago he moved to a new ranch
home under the Bluewater reservoir
project and while there became interested in the Seven Lakes oil prospects and was one of the first to make that field famous. He is a prominent Shriner and well known in Masonry.
Mr. and Mrs. Brock will be at home to their friends in Gallup after New Years.

BIGGEST SNOW IN MANY YEARS FALLS ON CHRISTMAS

Two to Four Inches of Whiteness Makes Day Look Like
the Good Old Fashioned Var-
riety.

Following a bright clear day on Sunday, Christmas dawned yesterday morning with a blizzard and two to three inches of snow on the ground,
the snow continuing to fall for the greater part of the day and covering the ground to a depth as great as is remembered by the proverbial oldest inhabitant.

While the sun struggled to get out in the middle of the day it had little effect on the white blanket which covered the city and it was an old-fashioned white Christmas throughout. Albuquerque's one and only sleigh, that of Trimble's, was out early in the morning and much in demand all day as the snow was ideal for sleighing or for any other purpose for which snow is generally used,
including the pestiferous juvenile art
of snow balling, which was indulged in freely to the detriment of many a citizen's hat, clothes or temper.

JACK TARS SHOW APPRECIATION OF Y. M. C. A.

Surprise John D. Rockefeller,
Mrs. Russell Sage and Miss
Gould With Handsome Christmas Gifts.

[By Morning Journal Special Lensed Wire.]
New York, Dec. 25.—The boys of the navy surprised John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Russell Sage and Miss Helen Gould with Christmas presents
today in appreciation of the help they had given to the Young Men's Christian association in the navy.

A committee of four blue jackets
from ships which make their home
port Norfolk, Va., came here with a handsome table cover which the sailors themselves had embroidered,
working out the various naval emblems with great skill and presented it to Mr. Rockefeller while he was dining with his family at his town house today. The retired oil magnate told the boys he was made very happy by the remembrance.

The boys in turn told him how much the naval Y. M. C. A. at Norfolk, for which Mr. Rockefeller had furnished the funds, was appreciated. The committee was made up of
H. Winger, of the New Hampshire;
A. J. Collins of the Louisiana; R. J.
Miller of the South Carolina, and John Edmister of the Vermont.

Two other sailors, M. Herwig and
A. Adamson, the battleship Delaware, made presents of a fine French clock to Miss Gould and two dozen American beauty roses to Mrs. Sage, in behalf of the naval Y. M. C. A. of Brooklyn, the establishment and extension of which was made possible
by their.

ISSUES RULES ON SUBDIVISION OF FARM UNITS

Secretary of Interior in Response to Settlers' Requests
Gives Regulations Governing Matter.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal]
Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—In compliance with the requests of numerous settlers on the irrigation projects of the government the secretary of the interior has issued the following regulation governing the subdivision of farm units:

1. A homestead entryman subject to the reclamation act may relinquish
a part of his farm unit and have the payments which had been made on the relinquished part credited to the charges on the retained part, provided that the amendment in question
may be allowed without jeopardizing
the interests of the government in the collection of the charges against the portion of the tract relinquished.

2. The entryman desiring to make such relinquishment should submit his application therefor to the project
engineer, who will transmit the same with his recommendation through the proper channels to the director who, if he finds no objection,
will proceed as in other cases of proposed amendments of farm units.

This ruling is regarded as one of the most important of recent years relating to the reclamation work. It is a confirmation also of the predilection which the officials of the bureau
made several years ago that the greatest successes on the reclamation projects would be those on the small farms. The requests for permission to subdivide their farms comes almost without exception from the men who have taken up land in excess of their ability and means to cultivate.
While the large land holder has been wasting his energy, time and capital
in an attempt to subdue his farm,
and now finds the burden too great
for him to meet the charges for holding operation and extra labor,
the small farmers as a general rule
have prospered and are slowly but surely gaining a competence.

Strong influence was brought to bear upon the department in the beginning to fix the farm units at not less than 160 acres. Every effort was made to convince the department that a man could not make a living on less than this acreage. The most influential advocates of the large farm
were the prominent farmers and business men in each of these communities. In this connection a recent letter from Col. H. W. Rowley, the president of the Billings chamber of commerce, is particularly interesting in view of the fact that until recently
he was apparently in doubt as to the small farm idea:

"I am most earnest in favoring the small farm unit for this section of the country of the country. The forty-acre farm unit as established on the Huntley United States reclamation project has proved a great success, and a whole, it is perhaps today the most prosperous section in our country, due entirely to the small farm units. Our experience certainly is that the small twenty to forty-acre farmer is as a rule successful, while the large units are not.

"One of the most important problems that our chamber of commerce
will deal with during the next year will be to educate our people to diversified farming. When this is brought about we will have a wonderfully productive country capable of sustaining a very large population
of successful home builders."
Yours very truly,
(Signed.) H. W. ROWLEY.

One some of the projects, the department, yielding in part to the im-portunities of the people, fixed the units at 80 and 40 acres each, and has often since had occasion to regret that it did not insist upon the smaller unit.

The new ruling, however, will go far to correct the mistake which was then made, because it will encourage the subdivision of the large units and will relieve the farmers of a portion of the charges now assessed against them. It will accordingly make for more intensive cultivation of the land which they retain, will eliminate
the expense in part of the hired help,
and will insure larger returns from the lands in crop. It increases the number of farm families, as each relinquishment will provide for a new home on the land.

MAIL CARRIERS PUT IN HARD DAY ON CHRISTMAS

Purveyors of U. S. Mail Follow Long Hours on Saturday and Sunday With Exhausting Schedule Yesterday.

Following a strenuous day's work on Saturday and Sunday and with their work made twice as hard by the heavy snow yesterday morning, the local mail carriers put in the hardest day's work of the year yesterday, delivering hundreds of pounds of mail. They performed their work well, notwithstanding the busy week which preceded Christmas, but it was real labor all day long and the mail carriers are certainly deserving of the appreciation of the public in having to give up their Christmas day to the task of being Santa Claus to the people of Albuquerque. Owing to the delivery and the delivery of registered matter the postoffice was not crowded yesterday, although there was a stream of people going in and out all day.

MESSANGER BOYS ALSO PUT IN STRENUOUS DAY

Not for years have the messenger boys of the city been so overwhelmed with work as they were yesterday, and most of the youngsters at the Postal and Western Union and special messenger services didn't get a chance to eat until the middle of the afternoon.

RICHESON SPENDS CHRISTMAS IN JAIL

Boston, Dec. 25.—The Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, the clergyman accused of the murder of Avis Lincoln, was not forgotten by friends today. Flowers decked his cell in the jail where he is convalescing from his self-inflicted wounds and he received a number of Christmas presents. His dinner, however, was of the prison order, it was said, although it had been understood that some of the clergyman's former parishioners would provide the holiday meal. Persons who called at the jail were informed that he had about the same food as did the other prisoners. Richeson has so far recovered that his liquid diet has been changed to one of more solid food.

During the forenoon Dr. Lathrop visited the clergyman and upon leaving reported that his patient was making a good recovery and before the end of the week would be practically well.

William A. Morse also called on his client, but refused to comment on the case. There have been persistent rumors of a postponement of the trial but verification has been impossible.

SILVER CITY ELKS GIVE CHRISTMAS TREAT TO THREE HUNDRED KIDS

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Silver City, N. M., Dec. 25.—The Elks' annual Christmas tree was a great and enjoyable treat to over three hundred children this year and the Elks' opera house was crowded to overflowing. The public school children marched to the opera house in a body. Each child was given a present and all had a merry time with plenty of candy and other good things.

Malta Commandery, Knights Templar, will hold their Christmas observance at their hall Christmas morning at 10 o'clock. The regular Christmas ball of the Eastern Star lodge will be given next Monday night and a large attendance is expected.

The Baptist church Christmas tree social was held at the church yesterday morning and that of the Presbyterian church Sunday night. There was a big tree at the Methodist church Saturday night.

MAIL STEAMER HAS DIFFICULT VOYAGE

San Francisco, Dec. 25.—Many earthquakes and one or two days in which the encountered unusually heavy seas, featured the voyage of the Pacific Mail liner Pennsylvania, which arrived in port today from Panama.

Chief Engineer J. E. Keenan was caught by a huge roller that boarded the Pennsylvania off the Gulf of Tehuantepec, and was swept 100 feet along the deck, dashed against a winch and seriously bruised. The earthquake zone was entered at 8 o'clock on the morning of December 17, and the upheavals continued until 3 in the afternoon, coming at intervals of about twenty minutes. The Pennsylvania was off Acapulco at the time.

NEGRO MURDERER SHOT TO DEATH BY LYNCHERS

Slayer of White Man is Taken From Jail Near Baltimore By Mob and Summarily Executed.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Baltimore, Md., Dec. 25.—Knox Davis, a negro, aged 28 years, who last Saturday night shot and killed Frederick A. Schwab, white, at Fairfield, Anne Arundel county, was taken from the lockup at Brooklyn, a suburb of Baltimore, early today and shot to death by a party of unknown men. Davis, who also was known by the name of Johnson, was dragged to a spot about 200 yards from the station and shot four times through the lungs. His body was not discovered until several hours later.

The avenging band, thought to have not exceeded eight or ten in number, formed quickly. They effected an entrance into the lockup without attracting the attention of those living nearby, and went to Davis' cell where they found the negro asleep. Hubert Chase, another negro who was held in the station as a witness in the Schwab case, was not molested. It is said Davis fought desperately and shrieked for mercy but his cries were quickly silenced by a blow on the head which stretched him unconscious. He then was dragged away to his death.

BUSINESS MEN GET TOGETHER

Retailers' Association Formed in Las Cruces By Progressive Citizens; Description of Water and Sewage Systems.

[Special Correspondence to Morning Journal] Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 24.—The progressive business men of Las Cruces have organized themselves into a "Retailers and Businessmen's Association of Las Cruces." The state organizer, W. F. Hammond, has organized eight cities in New Mexico and will organize as many more as possible. The National Retailers' association is organized in thirty-six states.

W. N. Crofford of Tucuman is state secretary of New Mexico. Tucuman, Nara, Vico, Logan, Carrizozo, Alamogordo, Clayton, Clovis and Las Cruces have local organizations. Deming will be organized next week. Other cities and towns will be organized at once.

The state of Arizona is not yet organized. As soon as it is organized, El Paso will be taken in. The benefit from this excellent co-operation of all the business men along progressive and protective lines can only be conjectured. Certain it is that this organization has helped other states.

The New Public Improvements. Instead of the city water works and sewage system costing $75,000 as first planned, the cost will be only $55,753.95. The extra $20,000 will remain in the treasury for further use. The city council employed engineers to make careful examinations of the city's needs along the lines of water and sewage systems. The engineers decided on mess wells and an $8,000 gallon steel tank. The septic tank system will be used for the sewers. Bonds in the sum of $75,000 have been issued and sold for this purpose. The contracting firm who received the contract will furnish bond in the sum of the bid. When completed the system will be tested for five days before acceptance. All the streets on which the mains are run are to be restored to their former condition. The contractors are held responsible for the streets for three months after completion of the contract.

The $8,000 gallon steel tank will be placed high enough on the mesa to give 60 pounds of pressure. The contract calls for 40 fire plugs in different parts of the city.

The wells are ten inches in diameter and will furnish an inexhaustible supply of water. Prof. R. E. Hare, head of the chemistry department at the college, will make various analysis of the water as the well deepens. The wells will be sunk until the best quality of water is obtained. The famous Lullwater pumps will be used.

The city council has obtained all the deeds for the land upon which the wells are located and the land for the sewage disposal system. Also the right of way over private property outside of the city.

COLONEL HOPEWELL IN ROLE OF LIVELY CORPSE RETURNS TO THE CITY

Colonel W. S. Hopewell returned home Sunday night from a visit to his ranch in Sierra county, appearing to be in his usual robust health, which proved an agreeable surprise to a limited number of his friends who had heard rumors of his near demise while out in the mountains. The colonel while taking a horseback ride from his ranch to Hermosa, was seized with an acute attack of rheumatism which rumor reported was paralytic, or cataplectic, or something equally alarming. "I was laid out for a day or so," said the colonel yesterday, "but it was nothing really serious although I hate to spoil a good news story. I am not a dead one yet by about forty years."

SUMPTUOUS FEAST FOR PRISONERS IN CHICAGO

Six Hundred Inmates of Cook County Jail Enjoy Touch of Yuletide; Big Feeds at Other Institutions.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire] Chicago, Dec. 25.—Seventy-seven prisoners, with 600 other prisoners, partook of Christmas dinner and exchanged yuletide greetings at the Cook county jail today. In many respects the holiday was the most unusual in the tragedy-laden history of the institution.

Ewald Shihabawi, one of the four murderers sentenced to hang February 15, next, delivered a terse temperance lecture to a group of prisoners. He said:

"We had too much whisky in us when we did it. But for that Gueslo (a truck farmer whom they murdered) would be with his wife and child today. I wish I could bring him back."

Thomas Jennings, a negro, sentenced to hang for the murder of Clarence Hiller, has turned preacher and today had fifteen negro prisoners praying on their knees. He also led a song service with the enthusiasm of a revivalist.

Mrs. Louise B. Vermilya, charged with several poisonings, said she had spent a cheerful Christmas in company with Mrs. Jane Quinn, who is charged with shooting her husband, John Quinn. The two talked and laughed over their dinner of turkey and pudding.

Sixteen hundred prisoners ate an elaborate dinner at the Bridewell and a similar menu was served 1500 prisoners at the John Worthy school.

Ten thousand pounds of turkey, chicken, goose and duck were eaten at the county hospital, the detention hospital, the Dunning insane asylum and the Oak Forest infirmary. Two tons of candy, fifty barrels of nuts and a thousand pounds of apples, oranges and pears were distributed at these institutions. A Christmas tree celebration was a feature of the day at each institution. Vaudeville entertainments were given in the evening.

SHOT BY ROBBER WHO RIFLES SAFE
Chicago, Dec. 25.—An unidentified robber shot and seriously wounded C. L. McCoy, cashier of a safe company, in his office here today, and then escaped with $250 in cash which McCoy had been counting.

When McCoy went to lunch today he left the door to his office unlocked. During his absence the robber crept into the office, McCoy's presence until he was covered with a revolver. After shooting McCoy the robber obtained the money and fled.

SAFE BLOWERS MAKE RICH HAUL IN GOTHAM
New York, Dec. 25.—Graduates of the newer schools in burglary operated on a safe in a five and ten cent store in Harlem today, and got away with nearly $4,000 in cash. The men entered by way of the skylight, drew electricity from a live wire to operate their drill and with nitro-glycerine easily blew off the safe door. Inside the safe were found kid gloves which the burglars had evidently used to avoid leaving finger prints.

CHICAGO LIMITED SIDE-SWIPES ENGINE

Accident in Albuquerque Yards Last Night Came Near Resulting in Serious Disaster to Crack Santa Fe Train.

As the Chicago Limited, running several hours late, pulled into the Albuquerque yards at 10:30 last night, it narrowly escaped being wrecked when its engine, the 1208, side-swiped switch engine No. 2377. The accident occurred directly under the Coal Avenue viaduct.

The limited was running about twenty miles an hour when it struck the switch engine, which had failed to get into the clear for the passenger train. The limited's engine, Engineer C. Davis, at the throttle, struck the switch engine's tender on the left side, knocking it from the rails. The engine of the limited was not damaged to any considerable extent. To the fact that the tender of the switch engine broke loose, when it toppled over, Engineer P. J. Rees and Fireman E. E. Footy probably owe their lives.

Had the accident occurred six feet further north, the derailed tender would have been hurled against the central supports of the viaduct, causing the collapse of this structure on top of the coaches of the limited, with probable loss of life.

Some Reasons Why Negroes Remain Poor

Poverty tends to perpetuate itself among the negroes of the north as elsewhere. It means ignorance, bad housing conditions, unsteady work, all of which it causes and which also cause it. The highest rents paid in the cities are paid by the poor—and the negro poor. On Warnock street in Philadelphia, an agent, by renting out by the room his six-room house, received $450 to $480 per year when the property was assessed at only $1,000. This is typical of the treatment of the very poor.

Miss Emily Dinwiddie shows that negroes pay 37 cents per room per month more for rent than the Italians, and 32 cents more than other nationalities. A charity agent says that she finds it most difficult to place a negro family in a small apartment without paying excessive rent. In houses with furnished rooms negroes pay from $1 to $2 per month more than whites pay for the same kind of room. Rent is generally a larger item with the poor negro than with the poor white. The average rent for negroes per month, when only one family occupied the house, was $7.45 for negroes, $5.51 for Italians, and $5.15 for Jews. The poor also pay more for coal. At this writing, coal cost $3.25 per ton, buckshot $4.50, and stove $6.50. White coal is selling by the bucket at 20 cents, or about $15 per ton. The poor pay more for coal, more for clothes, and for most of the necessities, and are thus kept poor. In the case of provisions this is largely due to buying in small quantities.—R. R. Wright in Southern Workman.

PLATTING HIGHWAY WISE GUYS BOOST FROM SANTA FE TO THIS CITY

Waldo C. Twitchell to Add By First of Year This Stretch of Old and New Trail to His Recent Compilation.

The road from Santa Fe to Albuquerque is to be platted and added to the recent compilation of Waldo C. Twitchell on "The Old and New Santa Fe Trail."

The work will be done between now and the new year so that when the work is published the information contained therein will be completed to Albuquerque.

Last summer in company with a friend, Mr. Twitchell made an automobile trip from Franklin, Mo., to Santa Fe, over the old Santa Fe trail as near as possible, so that automobile tourists could follow the historic road from the Missouri river to Santa Fe, mapping the road and giving such information as can readily be used by autoists.

The old Santa Fe trail used to begin at Franklin, Mo., and extended to the capital of New Mexico. In the many years the trail was used before the arrival of the iron horse and the Pullman car, the road was worn into deep ruts down which the wheel often coursed in torrents.

It is near these old land marks that the trail mapped out by Mr. Twitchell runs, and in order to complete the survey for parties going to the Pacific coast and at the same time following the old trail, the map will be completed to this city.

From Santa Fe to Albuquerque two maps will be made, showing the upper and lower roads, thereby making it easier for parties to arrive in Albuquerque in rainy weather over the upper road. The upper road is comparatively free from water holes and sinks and is much easier of drainage than the lower road.

As soon as the map is completed it will be placed upon the market so that auto parties can obtain perfect and concise directions on how to come west, pleasantly and quickly.

GILA HUNTER HAS HOT TIME WITH DEAD BEAR

Thrilling Story of Ursine Slaughter Comes From Rugged Wilds of Backwoods of the Mogollons.

The following, a true story of a bear hunt, modestly told in the crisp, terse style of the western ranchman, was received at the Silver City Enterprise office last week:

An exciting and dangerous bear chase across deep canyons and over rough mountains for a distance of about ten miles took place a few days ago. J. W. Shelly, son of P. M. Shelly, the well-known Gila ranchman, was staying alone at the 916 ranch on Mogollon creek. One day recently he took his dogs and went out bear hunting. About two miles back of the ranch his dogs started three grizzly bears, two cubs and an old one. They ran in the direction of Turkey creek, the dogs fighting them all the time. He killed the two cubs before they crossed the divide, and shot the old one twice at long range. She crossed the divide and went on to Turkey creek. When he came up to them the dogs were baying her in a hole of water. He, thinking she was dead, rode up close to her, when she made a sudden spring at his horse which wheeled and ran. The rider turned and shot back over his horses hips at the bear, killing her. Just as he turned again in his saddle the horse ran against a tree, knocking him to the ground. He remembered getting up and finding his gun, but the bear had got on the head of his horse.

When he came to himself he was about two hundred yards away sitting up in a tree, with his gun across his lap and his dogs lying on the ground under him. It was some time before he could remember where he was, or what he was doing there. He found his horse close to the place where he had fallen.

He then found that he had shot the bear through the heart. She had been dead long enough to be perfectly cold and stiff. He managed to take her entrails out, and then took back track and found one of the cubs and took it entrails out. By that time it was dark, and failing to find the other cub he went home. It was nine o'clock when he reached the ranch, and he felt as bad as he went to bed without any supper. He lay in bed all the next day, on the third he went after his other bear. He finally located the one he failed to find the day he killed it, but its hide was spoiled. The other two were all right, and had a nice meal of fat.

After examining his gun and belt, he found he had fired twenty shots, and had hit the bear (the three of them), ten times, and had only three cartridges left.

He says the next time he will be more careful about riding up to a dead bear.

Lightning Calculator Dead.

New York and Chicago Critics Warmly Endorse Strong Production Which Appears Here Saturday Night.

The subject of dramatic criticism is an interesting one, to the theatrical manager and player alike. The critic as a general proposition is an unusually learned person and there are thousands who would no more go to a play until their favorite critic had endorsed it than they would willingly pluck out their own eyes. It is no exaggeration to state that hundreds of plays have gone on the rocks of defeat because the critics did not care for them, and there may have been much of worth in them. To find the critics of New York and Chicago all in a universal mood is a rare thing, but that is what "Paid in Full" found when the Wagenhals & Kemper company presented this play of contemporary life in America by Eugene Walter, at the Astor theater, New York, and at the grand opera house, Chicago. By every individual critic the play was hailed as a startling success and their criticisms were as a unit in declaring that it was "the play of the hour," and not only did they eulogize it the day after production, but even today they are directing unusual attention to every class of citizens. The success of "Paid in Full" is, and was, unequivocal. Mr. Walter has performed a masterpiece of work in the photographic drawings of all his characters, there is not a weak figure among them, and for virility, forcefulness and real life the play has no equal on the American stage today.

A specially organized company and a production of unusual excellence will be offered here by the Wagenhals & Kemper company at the Elks theater next Saturday night.

"Paid in Full" has to its credit a run of five months in Chicago and its reception there was the same as in New York, where it ran for two years. The same care and discretion which marked the selection of the cast and the building of the production at the Astor theater, New York, will be exhibited in the cast and production to be seen here.

Mr. W. H. Andrews has a press agent in Santa Fe who exhibits all the skill and finesse of a blacksmith or a section hand. A sample of it appears in a recent issue of the Pecos Valley News at Artesia, under a Santa Fe date line of December 21, as follows:

"A meeting of the executive committee of the democratic territorial central committee was held yesterday in the office of Judge N. B. Laughlin. Democratic leaders from all parts of territory were present and there was loud talk of a congressional investigation of the election. Letters were read from various democratic congressmen who offered to push the matter. Governor-elect W. C. McDonald was reported as willing to stand by the 'boys' and refusing to take the oath of office, in case the committee insisted that the election was unfair and agreed that an attempt be made to help those defeated on the democratic ticket to secure the offices for which they ran. The principal objection seemed to be the certainty of W. H. Andrews being elected to the United States senate and of the supreme court and the corporation commission being republican. The democrats would rather have lost every office including the governorship, if they could have defeated Andrews for senator, declared one leading democrat. However, cooler and wiser counsel prevailed and the democrats decided to await the completion of the official canvassing board which had set Tuesday for the argument on the question whether the returns from Clayton precinct, Union county, should be counted. The judges of that precinct had refused to sign the report because of the rank duplication and other irregularities, alleged at the election in that town. The democratic leaders declared that they would await the decision of the canvassing board before they would make any further move, but it is understood they will make no further fight at Washington if Clayton's returns are accepted, even though they must bow to the certainty of the election of W. H. Andrews to the senate. There seems after all no doubt but that W. C. McDonald will be inaugurated governor on January 4, and that W. H. Andrews will go to the United States senate by March 11."

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT ABROAD ALL DAY YESTERDAY

Open House at Elks and Commercial Club With Cafe Parties and Matinees Furnished Plenty of Good Cheer.

The Christmas spirit was abroad to a marked extent in Albuquerque yesterday. On every hand were heard the seasonable expressions of good will and cheery greetings. The snow did not seriously interfere with the crowds who were to be seen at all times during the day, wending their way to the different places of entertainment.

The Elks' club and the Commercial club held open house all day to their members and friends, and the back portion of the community spent a good many hours in pleasant social intercourse with their fellow members at these comfortable quarters.

Little or no work was done in business circles, and the official buildings, with the exception of the extremely hard-worked postoffice, remained closed throughout the day.

The usual restaurant parties were in evidence at the various cafes where the customary good fare, turkey and plum pudding was provided.

Taken by and large, including the snow, it was a "real old-fashioned Christmas."

SNOWSTORM DELAYS SANTA FE TRAINS

On account of the heavy snowstorm yesterday which was general in over the southwest, all trains from the west were late in arriving. The Chicago limited, due in Albuquerque at 5:55, failed to arrive until after 10 o'clock, and all the trains following it were correspondingly late.

The trains from the east, however, even though the snow storm reached as far east as Kansas City, were on time. Travel was very light, and up until after 10 o'clock but three or four people had alighted in Albuquerque from the west bound trains.

ROCK ISLAND LEASES BIG GRAVEL PIT NEAR NARA VISA

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Nara Visa, N. M., Dec. 25.—The big Rock Island railway gravel pit south of Nara Visa, has been leased for a long term to Dolose Brothers and company, Chicago contractors, and is to be operated on a larger scale than ever before. Buildings are going up for housing big engines and crushers that will turn out ballast for railroad beds.

Between twenty and thirty carloads of material and machinery are already on the ground and a good force of men is hustling things into shape, so they can begin operations with the big plant about February 1. Two nine-ton crushers, heaviest steam shovels, holsters and loading machinery are among the necessary machinery, which shows that plans are being made to operate these gravel and stone pits for a long time. Dolose Brothers and company is one of the largest railroad contracting firms in the United States and has several plants along the different railroads.

At this pit they expect to regularly employ about twenty-five experienced men and twenty-five common laborers and it is said they prefer local labor to the foreign unskilled kind.
