NATIONAL PACKING COMPANY BOUGHT OUT THIRTEEN COMPETITORS

Albert H. Veeder, Attorney For Swift, Witness in Government Suit, Gives Details of Its Organization March 18, 1903.

BEGAN WITH CAPITAL OF FIFTEEN MILLION

Giant Merger of Beef Corporations Originated in Fertile Brain of Lord Penmore Gordon, English Promoter.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Albert H. Veeder, who today continued his testimony in the trial of the ten Chicago packers before Judge Carpenter in the United States district court, gave details of the organization of the National Packing company which was formed March 18, 1903, and which the government contends was the instrument used by the indicted packers to fix the price of meat.

The witness said that this corporation, which was capitalized at $15,000,000, was formed by the merging of thirteen companies and their subsidiaries and that the properties were paid for in stock of the National Packing company. A list of the companies and the amounts paid for them by the National Packing company was given by the witness as follows:

Stock Yards Warehouse company, $320,000.
Anglo-American Provision and Refrigerator Car company, $340,000.
Kansas City Refrigerator Car company, $120,000.
Fowlers Canadian company, limited, $70,000.
Friedman Manufacturing company, $110,000.
G. H. Hammond and company, $3,600,000.
St. Louis dressed beef company, $2,400,000.
Hammond Packing company, $1,900,000.
Omaha Packing company, $2,200,000.
Hutchinson Packing company, $100,000.
Anglo-American Provision company, $2,000,000.
Fowler Packing company, $300,000.
United Dressed Beef company, $1,500,000.

Mr. Veeder said these companies were all purchased by Armour, Swift and Morris before Michael Cuddey was taken into the combination. He said all the men who sold their packings agreed not to engage in the packing business again for fifteen years.

"Have you any more contracts or agreements used in the organization of the National Packing company?" asked Special Counsel Butler.

"About three hundred, but nothing you would want," replied Veeder.

Lord Penmore Gordon, an English promoter, first suggested the merger of the packing corporations with a capitalization of $325,000,000, according to Mr. Veeder.

The English promoter visited the United States early in 1902, called on G. E. Swift, and suggested a consolidation of the packing companies.

Mr. Swift rejected the proposition, but several months later a conference of Chicago packers was held at which the preliminary plans for the merger were agreed upon and steps later taken to finance it.

This preliminary meeting was attended by G. E. Swift, J. Ogden Armour, Edward Morris and others.

It was the third day for Mr. Veeder, attorney for Swift and company, on the stand.

Objections made by counsel for the defense to evidence which the government seeks to introduce regarding the operations of the Kenwood company and the Aetna Trading company, held the packers' trial late this afternoon and caused Judge Carpenter to excuse the jury, pending legal arguments.

The government contends that the Kenwood company which was organized by the packers in 1900 and continued in business until 1905, was one of the alleged pools used to market the packers' by-products. It is alleged the Kenwood company dealt in oleo and the Aetna Trading company in the same period dealt in casings.

The government expects to show that the Kenwood company profits were $1,000,000 in one year despite the fact that it was only incorporated for $14,000. The profits of the Aetna Trading company are alleged to have been proportionately large.

By making an inadequate allowance for these by-products in figuring the cost of animals slaughtered, the packers were enabled to keep the profits of the parent concerns within reasonable limits, according to the government.

SALVATION ARMY IS BARRED IN RUSSIA

St. Petersburg, Dec. 28.—The council of ministers has decided not to allow the Salvation Army to carry on its work in Russia. General William Booth, commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, went to St. Petersburg in 1909 to negotiate with the government for permission to establish a branch in Russia. He was strongly opposed by the holy synod.

FREE ADMISSION OF PRINT PAPER IS DEMANDED

Germany's Request Arouses Protest From American Manufacturers Who Appeal to Taft to Deny Concession.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Washington, Dec. 28.—American pulp and paper manufacturers are bringing pressure to bear upon President Taft to induce him to refuse to yield to the demand of European governments for the free admission of their pulp and paper on terms of equality with the Canadian product.

The disposition of the administration has been to let this matter be determined by the courts but in this involves long delay, the diplomatic protests are for no reason satisfied and are adopting measures to show their resentment.

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has informed the state department that Germany would not accord to American exporters the reduced duties on tool steel and hard rubber awarded to Swedish and Japanese exporters, under their special treaties, because America did not admit German wood pulp and print paper free of duty.

The ambassador was reminded that the German exporters would not suffer by the delay if their claim was just because they had paid the duties into the American treasury until protest which gives them the right to recover in case the court of customs appeals should decide in their favor, as is expected.

It was thought at first that this explanation was sufficient, but it now appears that the ambassador's statement is virtually a refusal to protest against the failure of the administration to adjust the matter diplomatically instead of judicially.

In view of the peculiar conditions under which Canadian pulp and paper got upon the free list in spite of the failure of the reciprocity measure, some consideration is being given to the possibility of leaving to congress the adjustment of the difficulties that have arisen.

WOMEN ESTABLISH ECONOMY RECORD IN CAMPAIGN

Cost Feminine Sex of California 15.3 Cents a Vote to Win Their Fight For Equal Suffrage at Recent Election.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Los Angeles, Dec. 28.—It cost the women of California 15.3 cents a vote to win their fight for equal suffrage at the recent state election, according to reports given out at the headquarters of the Southern California Political Equity League today.

The men folks admit $2.20 a vote is cheap for campaigns conducted by them.

Reports submitted to the league today showed that $13,000 was spent in the southern California campaign, that is in the district from Fresno south.

From other sources the women political leaders said they learned that "just about an equal amount" was spent in the northern part of the state. This would make a total of $26,000.

Approximately $5,000 women voted. The report showed that no one connected with the women's campaign drew a salary of more than $75 a month.

DR. SUN ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CHINA
Nanking, China, Dec. 29.—Dr. Sun Yat Sen has been unanimously elected president of the republic of China.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Paris, Dec. 28.—A Pekin dispatch to the Paris edition of the New York Herald says:

Disgusted at the refusal of the imperial clan to contribute to the war chest, Yuan Shi Kai tonight took sick leave. It is believed that this prearranged his early retirement from the presidency. He bitterly resents the bad faith of Wu Ting Fang and his party in proposing a national congress and now insisting upon a ramp, not a representative congress. Yuan fears that a republic means the country's dissolution and believes that the only safe solution is to fight it out but he is handicapped by lack of money.

PREMIER OFFER TO RESIGN NOT ACCEPTED

Pekin, Dec. 28.—Premier Yuan Shi Kai offered his resignation today but the offer was refused. The incident occurred at a meeting in the palace today to discuss affairs connected with a settlement of the revolution. The dowager empress, the premier and the princes of the imperial clan were present and the debate waxed so warm that finally Yuan Shi Kai offered to resign.

Premier Yuan explained to those present that he could continue the government and retain the country north of the Yangtze river by having funds placed at his disposal. He asked the princes to contribute him to obtain money. He explained that $10,000,000 would meet the pignions to the soldiers for five months after which the south would become disunited and province after province would renounce their allegiance to the throne.

But the princes were unmoved. They pleaded lack of money although most of them are wealthy. None has given any substantial amount to aid the government with the exception of Prince Ching, who has handed over more than $100,000 for that purpose. The dowager empress wept and Yuan Shi Kai showed signs of distress. Then he declared he could not desert her and the child emperor, and agreed to continue.

It is said tonight that Yuan Shi Kai intends to make another attempt to obtain a loan of $10,000,000 from the "four nation" group, of which three of the countries specified their willingness to furnish a loan three weeks ago. England, however, declined to participate.

The premier says he will not use the money for a campaign of aggression, but will leave the republican provinces to consume their own destruction, only defending the north bank of the Yangtze when attacked. He insists the rebels have small resources and that their troops are already engaged in plundering.

Yuan Shi Kai's appearance has changed greatly since his arrival in Peking. He has aged materially and shows the effects of the continued strain. He says he does not understand a republican form of government and would not associate himself with one.

TO ELECT DR. SUN PRESIDENT TODAY

Shanghai, Dec. 28.—An imperial edict will not be accepted by the revolutionists except in the most liberal form, under which a delay or untimely establishment without recognition of the provisional government, of which Dr. Sun Yat Sen will be elected president tomorrow at the regular convention of the Nanking conference.

At this conference eighteen delegates, appointed by the governors of the province or by the provincial assemblies will act in behalf of China proper.

The revolutionary leaders here laugh at the apparent struggle of Yuan Shi Kai, the imperial premier, to temporize with the situation, which they declare, has completely passed out of his control.

Reports that American bankers, represented at Peking, are willing to lend money to the imperial government are regarded here with serious apprehension. If the southern revolutionists were once convinced that Americans either financially or diplomatically, the result, they say, would be disastrous to American trade and

St. Petersburg Makes Demand in Form of Ultimatum With Which Throne is Unable to Comply.

FURTHER COMPLICATES FAR EAST SITUATION

Japan and Great Britain Are Expected to Closely Watch Movements of Czar as Action Taken is Suspicious.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Pekin, Dec. 28.—In response to a direct request of the Russian government, handed to the Chinese foreign office by the Russian charge d'affaires today that China promptly should resume control of Mongolia, the Chinese government declared its inability to comply at the present moment. The only action the government is able to take regarding Mongolia, the independence of which has been proclaimed, is the appointment of two commissioners who have been ordered to proceed by way of the trans-Siberian railroad to Urga, the chief city, to persuade the Mongolian authorities if possible, to renew their allegiance to China. In view of the present crisis, however, it is probable these commissioners will never leave Peking.

It is understood that the Kutuktu who is the religious head of the Mongol Buddhists, was proclaimed Kahn today. According to the Lamas doctrine, the Kutuktu is the celestial incarnation of the god and never dies but passes after his apparent death into the body of some newly born boy who is sought for afterward according to the prophetic indications of the dail lama in Tibet. The independence movement is largely religious.

The dissatisfaction of the Mongolian people has been long smoldering. The Russians say, because of Chinese incapacity and corruption. The Chinese government have always plundered the Mongols and enriched themselves while at the same time carrying on an unjust administration.

For several years the Chinese have been aggravating Russia and have been treating her contemptuously since the Japanese defeated her. China even began to organize modern troops and to take other military measures along the Russian frontier. Russia has often protested against this and the Chinese foreign board has verbally agreed to the Russian demands, but has never fulfilled any of its promises. As late as October, the foreign board's written reply evaded Russia's demands.

The Russian legation has contended that the Chinese preparations constituted the maintenance by Russia of large and expensive military forces on the Mongolian borders. For the last month, since the departure of the Chinese ambassador from Urga, the Russians say they have been subjected to various annoyances, including the interruption of the trans-Mongolian telegraph lines to Europe.

Russian troops have been protecting lives and interests in Mongolia, but the Russian government does not desire the continuance of the expense and the annoyance.

Furthermore, outer Mongolia is adjacent to Russian territory and its interests are more closely related to Russia than to China, the latter being across the Gobi desert. Russia does not intend to declare a protectorate and last July refused the Mongols appeal for the establishment of a protectorate.

Such a declaration might cause objection on the part of other powers while, in fact, something like a protectorate already exists in the association of Russian and Mongolian Buddhists.

The attaches of Japan and Great Britain may be expected to watch all events closely, but there will be no cause for alarm until Russian troops cross the Gobi desert. The construction later of the Baikal-Kalgan railway might necessitate the employment of Russian troops for protection, as was the case along the Trans-Siberian railway in Manchuria, but that is a consideration for the future. The present step is apparently only a diplomatic one in the Russian one of expansion, which did not terminate with the treaty of Portsmouth.

Although the Russians declare their desire that Mongolia continue as a buffer state, the attitude of the Mongolian princes, who assembled in Peking today, depends entirely on circumstances. As they are not able to defend themselves they probably will accept terms from the Peking government.

REYES' ARRIVAL IN CITY OF MEXICO MARKED WITH SECRECY

Private Car in Which Veteran Prisoner Makes Trip Dropped in Freight Yards and He is Hastened to Prison.

MEMBERS OF MILITARY COURT MARTIAL CHOSEN

Voluntary Surrender of Self-Appointed Rebel Leader Bitterly Condemned By Co-Revolutionists in United States.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Mexico City, Dec. 28.—General Bernardo Reyes arrived here tonight. The car in which he traveled was dropped in the freight yards and the prisoner was conducted by an unescorted route to the San Diego military prison. There was no demonstration.

The personnel of the military court martial which will try Reyes in part was officially announced today as follows:

Generals Jose Maria Mier, Jose Maria de la Vega and Louro Villar. To make these officers eligible they were raised by the minister of war from brigadier to generals of divisions. In addition General Francisco Aviles was designated as agent of the "ministerio publico" in all with the others.

General Mier was formerly governor of Nuevo Leon, over which Reyes himself presided until ousted by the Madero revolution.

General Vega was chief of marine affairs in the department of war and marine and later military commander in Quintana Roo, Chihuahua, Monterey and Nuevo Leon.

General Villar is military commander at Vera Cruz.

The indignation which the surrender of General Reyes has inspired in the minds of his erstwhile co-revolutionists in the United States found vent today in a telegram filed by Jose Peon DelValle in behalf of himself and "friends" to El Heraldico Mexicano from New Orleans. The message said:

"We protest with indignation before the Mexican republic against the unjustifiable conduct of General Reyes in surrendering for the reason that to us he declared he would die before he would give himself up."

Peon DelValle was one of Reyes' staunchest supporters. When the latter decided to break his agreement with Madero to refrain from becoming a candidate for president but to accept the portfolio of war in the Madero cabinet, Peon DelValle launched the Reyes presidential campaign. Within a week after Reyes' spectacular flight from Mexico, DelValle left for San Antonio where he joined his chief and where he has since been his close companion and one of his chief counselors.

Investigation of a rumor that Emilio Vasquez Gomez, minister of the interior in the de la Barra cabinet, brought forth a denial of such intention from the present occupant of that post, Abraham Gonzalez.

"President Madero," he said, "has not ceased to have personal sympathies for Vasquez Gomez and desires that he come to Mexico, even though he should continue in his political career, providing it be conducted with order and within the law."

GOMEZ DENIES HE HAS EXTERIOR MOTIVES

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 28.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez, who is in this city as a self-styled refugee, today denied that he had planned or would plan a revolution against the Mexican government.

Gomez said the surrender of General Bernardo Reyes and the capture of several of his followers remove the last possibility of a counter revolution in Mexico. He said emphatically he is and always has been an opponent of General Reyes and affirms that he had not spoken to General Reyes nor communicated with him through an intermediary during the whole time that General Reyes was here, although some Mexican papers charged him with so doing.

Extending the report that the Madero government meant to ask his extradition from the United States Gomez said:

RAILWAY ACTIVITY IN 1911 BELOW AVERAGE

Chicago, Dec. 28.—Statistics relating to railway activity in 1911 show a decrease in improvement and increase in foreclosure sales of railroad lines were issued today by The Railway Age Gazette. Trackage increase fell from the record of 4,121 miles in 1910, to 3,600 miles in forty-three states. Texas led with 412 miles.

Lower freight and passenger cars and locomotives were built by nearly a third. Most of the new cars are either all steel or steel under-frames. The future is not considered distinctly optimistic by the compiler of the statistics, though pessimism in his opinion will not prevail at the opening of the new year because of the increase of business existing.

BANKERS DENY ANY CONNECTION WITH RACE SWINDLES

President and Cashier of Council Bluffs' Institution Testify in Trial of Ben Marks, Alleged Maybray Pal.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Council Bluffs, Ia., Dec. 28.—Republican National Committeeman E. E. Hart, of Iowa, president of the First National Bank of Council Bluffs, today testifying in the trial of Ben Marks, denied assertions of J. C. Maybray, that Hart of the First National bank had any connection with or co-signature of money taken in by the Maybray fake sporting swindle.

Mr. Hart entered a general denial of the claims made by Maybray that he or any officers of the bank had received any of the plunder claimed to have been collected by Ben Marks from Maybray. He denied also that he had ever had any communication with Marks personally or by telephone.

J. J. Spindler, cashier of the First National bank, testified regarding transactions of various victims of the swindle syndicate at the bank and referred to notes he had made while investigating the matter. He testified concerning the cashing of a $3,000 check at the bank by John Hombrecht of Hancock, Neb.

Spindler said he was attracted to Hombrecht because of the fact that he was a fellow countryman and inquired the nature of his business. Hombrecht told him he was going to bet the $3,000 on a "fixed" race.

Spindler said he remonstrated with Hombrecht but cashed the check and that was the last he heard of the Nebraska until Hombrecht brought suit against the bank and its officers to recover his $3,000.

The most dramatic incident of the day came when, referring to statements by George H. Richmond, that Marks had never paid him any money Attorney General Cosson said:

"In spite of that fact you did accept some money from some one and paid J. C. Cooper and J. C. Baker $20 in gold in the hotel room of the Grand hotel in Council Bluffs, did you not?"

"Not in the teller room," was the evasive reply.

"Well, you paid J. C. Cooper and J. C. Baker $20 in gold in the Grand hotel, did you not?"

"I did," replied the witness.

"J. C. Cooper was the justice of the peace and J. C. Baker was a constable, were they not?" asked the attorney general.

"Yes sir," replied Richmond.

CUSTOMS DUTIES IN 1911 BELOW 1910 COLLECTIONS

Those of Past Year Will Total $196,871,850 as Compared With $212,999,250 For Twelve Months Preceding.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

New York, Dec. 28.—William Lamb, Jr., collector of the port, announced today that the customs duties collected here during the last year will aggregate $196,871,850, as compared with total receipts in 1910 of $212,999,250. Exports of domestic merchandise at the port amounted to $725,231,619, an increase of about $90,000,000 over the previous year.

During the year gold and silver were imported valued at $26,552,510, as against imports of $22,125,092, in 1910.

Gold and silver exports domestic for the calendar year amounted to $59,287,978, as compared with $81,121,766 for last year. While exports of gold and silver, foreign, were valued at $5,414,371, as against $6,452,264 last year.

TAFT PLEADS FOR COMMISSION OF ECONOMY

President Hears Rumors Congress is to Refuse Further Appropriation, Which Would End Labors of Experts.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 28.—President Taft told delegates to the meeting of the American Economic Association today that he had heard rumors that congress would make no further appropriations for his economy and efficiency commission, created a year ago to take up "lost motion" in the government machinery.

He made a plea for support in urging congress to extend the money and predicted that only through such scientific investigation of the machinery of government could the United States be run on an economical basis. "I am afraid I have heard rumors," he said, "that we are not going to have an appropriation to continue the work of this economy commission. It is only a year old and as I say it ought to last five years in order that we may have laid before congress a rational, scientific system of changing the order of this government for financial work and for economy and efficiency in doing the work."

The president explained the work of the commission. He said it was not the work of theorists, but that of hard-headed, practical men working along modern lines.

It is hard for the government, he said, to cut down expenditures as a corporation controlled by one or two men might do. The economy commission, however, by educating congress and the people to understand what the country was getting for each dollar expended, might bring about reforms.

PERSIA APOLOGIZES FOR ASSAULT ON BRITISHER

Government Apprehensive Lest Attack On Consul Smart Might Justify Punitive Expedition; Fighting Ceases.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Teheran, Dec. 28.—The British consul, W. A. Smart, who was wounded in an engagement between his Indian escort and eight hundred Kuchan tribesmen, is safe, having been brought from a caravanserai, where he received medical attention to Kaseh.

The Persian foreign minister today called on the British minister and expressed deep regret on behalf of the government for the incident. He informed the British minister that measures would be taken to insure Consul Smart's safe arrival at his post at Shiraz and exemplary punishment for the offenders.

The Persian government is extremely apprehensive lest Great Britain consider the incident justification for a punitive expedition which might lead to prolonged and possibly permanent occupation of southern Persia.

W. Morgan Shuster, the American, who was dismissed from the office of treasurer-general by the cabinet, is still awaiting notification of the appointment of his successor.

The telegraph lines to Tabriz have been restored and it is presumed that fighting in that district has ceased, but all dispatches so far received from Tabriz are several days old and indicate that the Russians were in a desperate plight on Sunday and were only awaiting reinforcements. They effected a truce which was held until Monday, when heavy reinforcements arrived and the Russians renewed their attacks.

AN ENGLISH EXPEDITION MAY BE SENT ANYWAY.

London, Dec. 29.—The latest news received here indicates that affairs in Persia are quiet. The Persian government has apologized for the outrage against Consul Smart, whose safety is assured, and has taken measures to stage off a British punitive expedition.

In Calcutta the belief is held that an expedition will be sent to occupy Shiraz. It is understood that the present form which the British action will take will be decided at Calcutta tomorrow after a consultation with the home government.

The British government during the last year or two has had to complain frequently to Persia of robberies, outrages and murders on the caravan routes in southern Persia, where the Persian authorities seem helpless to prevent them, but there is little doubt that energetic measures will now be taken for the protection of British traders in this district.

King George is due to arrive at Calcutta tomorrow and his presence may influence the decision. While it is believed Russia is pursuing a firm policy in the Persian details of the measures taken are still unknown.

MEMBER OF CUBAN CABINET RESIGNS TO FIGHT DUEL

J. Barraque, Secretary of Justice and General Nunez, President of Veterans Association, Are Expected to Clash.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Havana, Dec. 28.—J. Barraque, secretary of justice, has tendered his resignation to President Gomez. He gives no reason for his action, but this apparently is attributed to a chance of acrimonia note between the secretary and General Nunez, president of the Association of Veterans, who demanded the removal of a judge in the town of Guanabo.

According to a rumor tonight, Secretary Barraque resigned for the purpose of challenging General Nunez to a duel. A decree recently issued by the president forbids any member of the cabinet engaging in such combat.

Senior Barraque is the second member of the cabinet to resign since the inauguration by the Veterans of a campaign against persons who were opposed to Cuban independence. Secretary of Public Works Chacon has been the other. Immediately on the announcement of Secretary Barraque's resignation, Judge Rivera, of the constitutional court in Santa Clara, against whose appointment the Veterans had made a strong protest, resigned.

The cabinet will consider Secretary Barraque's resignation tomorrow.

RECLUSE BELIEVED POOR LEAVES $400,000 ESTATE

Kansas City, Dec. 28.—When Nathaniel Simpson, a recluse, died yesterday, he was supposed to be worth $400,000. Simpson was 87 years old. He had lived in a log cabin in Denver, where he is supposed to be well known. Mr. Strother declared tonight he was searching for a bad boy, who he said was a Denver villain.

WEALTHY CALIFORNIA MAN DIES SUDDENLY

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—Bernard D. Murphy, former democratic leader in this state, and a man of great wealth, died of heart failure here today at the age of 70 years. Mr. Murphy served as mayor of San Jose four terms and held various offices in the state government.

IRON AND STEEL SCHEDULES FIRST ON CALENDAR

This Subject Will Have Right of Way in Tariff Legislation When Congress Reconvenes Next Week.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 28.—Revision of the iron and steel schedules will be the first thing on the tariff legislative program of the house after congress convenes next week.

Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, made it known today, after his return from a holiday trip, that the committee would postpone consideration of the wool schedule until every feature of the tariff board's report on the subject had been thoroughly studied. In the meantime it will press its work on other tariff matters with a view to adjournment in time for the nomination conventions.

Following the introduction and consideration of the steel schedule the democratic leaders contemplate presenting to the house a revised chemical schedule and a sugar tariff bill. It is also possible that a cotton schedule will be submitted with the wool bill, dependent of course, upon the report of the tariff board. This is expected late next month. If cotton is not included in the wool bill it will be sent as soon afterwards as possible.

Determination of the house democratic leaders to delay the wool bill is calculated to have an effect upon the purpose of the republican members of the ways and means committee who are drafting a wool schedule based upon the tariff board's report and with the co-operation of the White House are hastening to complete this bill and will urge it upon the floor of the house. If the democratic bill is not submitted soon after the holidays it is probable the republican bill will be withheld.

NEW JUSTICE TO BE CHOSEN FROM FOUR MEN

Harlan's Successor Rests Between Quartette Composed of Judge Hook, Senator Sutherland, F. B. Kellogg or Nagel.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 28.—President Taft will probably decide next Tuesday upon the man to succeed the late Justice Harlan on the supreme court bench. The field of possible appointees has been narrowed to four men and tonight it was said that a selection may be looked for at the next meeting of the cabinet, January 2. The nomination probably will be sent to the senate next week.

The four men who the president will make his selection were said tonight to be United States Circuit Judge Hook of Kansas, Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel; Senator Sutherland of Utah, and Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, trust master for the government and its prosecutor in the Standard Oil suit.

Robert Taft, of Idaho, it was said, had not been entirely eliminated from consideration, but the choice rests apparently with the others.

Of these men Judge Hook and Senator Sutherland stand foremost, although both Secretary Nagel and Mr. Kellogg are still "in the running."

Judge Hook was under consideration by the president last year when he made supreme court appointments and his backers have been active this winter. Senator Sutherland is warmly admired by the president and has been mentioned to the White House frequently of late.

One fact said to militate against Secretary Nagel is that he is 63 years old and Mr. Taft has decided several times that no man should go on the bench after he reaches the age of sixty.

Mr. Kellogg's candidacy has been vigorously pushed by his friends and his work in the Standard Oil and other cases has attracted favorable attention at the White House.

As at present constituted the third, fourth and seventh circuits are underrepresented on the supreme court and the fifth and sixth circuits each have two. Chief Justice White and Justice Lamar, Justices Day and Lurton. All four of the leading candidates come from the eighth circuit already represented by Justice Vandeweyer, appointed by the president last year, but candidates suggested from the ninth circuit, while considered by the president have been eliminated one by one.

DETECTIVES AT WORK ON DYNAMITING PLOT

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 28.—Three railroad detectives who have been conducting investigation here since dynamite was found beneath the approach of the Thebes railroad bridge across the Mississippi river, refused tonight to discuss their theories in connection with the case, but it was stated authoritatively that several clues have been run down and that it is likely arrests will be made soon.

Christmas day children found twenty-five sticks of dynamite under the bridge.

The Chicago and Eastern Illinois, the Illinois Central, the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern and the St. Louis Southwestern use the Thebes bridge.

One hundred freight cars in the yards here have been robbed in the last few nights. Tramps are blamed for the robberies.

LAFOLLETTE GRILLS TRUSTS IN SPEECH AT TOLEDO

Senator Charges Government is Being Jeopardized By Illegal Monopolies and Asserts Crisis is at Hand.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Toledo, Ohio, Dec. 28.—In two more Ohio communities has Senator LaFollette told what progressive republicanism has done for his home state, Wisconsin, and what the progressives would do for the country and how the trust should be treated to reduce the high cost of living.

His speech tonight was practically a repetition of what he said in Cleveland last night, only for an elaboration of the trust question and a statement that Wisconsin had controlled the railroad question. The senator is discussing the initiative, the recall and the referendum at all meetings and he pleaded with all Ohioans to adopt them.

Tomorrow the senator will speak at North Baltimore and Dayton.

Senator LaFollette in his campaign through Ohio for progressive republicanism talked to another large audience here tonight. The hall which had been engaged was inadequate for those who came to hear and before the senator's arrival the police as a matter of safety refused to admit any more to the hall.

Self-government and the trusts, the initiative, referendum and recall, the primary and direct vote for United States senators he discussed at length but devoted more attention to the trusts than at any previous meeting.

The senator declared that the will of the people is higher than the courts, saying:

"The will of the people shall be the law of the land. Constitution, statutes, courts and all the complex details of government are but instruments to carry out the will of the people and when they fail—when constitutions and statutes fail—they must be changed so as to carry out and express the well formulated judgment and will of the people."

"And its going to be changed," declared the speaker. "Oh, you standpatters, take notice, you're a curiosity in Wisconsin. The people have never voted in any times; you haven't got a representative government in state or nation today."

Charging that self government was being jeopardized by the trusts, Senator LaFollette asserted a crisis was at hand. He declared that no powerful had two things become, they dominated all business, "they are Morgan and Standard Oil and every banker in the hall knows it."

Mr. LaFollette said he found ninety-six men on all the directorates of all the trusts.

"Chauncey M. Depew," he said, "was on seventy-two and I found that he had no money invested, he was only a dummy, and then I wondered how many other dummies there were, and then I found that only four men controlled and were back of all these names."

"And back of all of this I found, Standard Oil and Morgan and I put all this information in the Congressional Record. Do you think I could stand here and say this if there was not bedrock for it?"

"And these people have not overlooked the newspapers. Their organs are poisoning the public mind—they are not serving your interests when they declare me to be a menace to business."

Senator LaFollette said that Wisconsin regulates the railroads and the railroad rates to the benefit of the people and the railroads.

"The federal government has been trying to find a feasible way to do this for forty years and has not done it yet," he said.

CLAPP TELLS STORY OF INSURGENCY'S GROWTH.

Ashtabula, O., Dec. 28.—Relating the story of the struggle of "insurgency" and why it alone, as he said, represented the true spirit of the republicans, Senator Moses Clapp, here tonight made the third of his addresses in his five day "progressive" campaign in Ohio.

In his address he avoided mention of the name of President Taft, but frequently made complimentary reference to the administration.

"The grand achievements of the eight years preceding the present administration were frequently referred to by Senator Clapp and Rooseveltism was strongly advocated as embodying the true spirit of republicanism as opposed to 'Aldrichism and Cannonism.'"

Rev. Charles M. Brewer Accused in Connection With Fort Riley Dynamiting Conspiracy, Demands Redress.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Kansas City, Dec. 28.—A congregation in Quenah, Texas, was hearing the Rev. Charles M. Brewer preach a sermon on "Practical Christianity" at the time of the blowing up of the government bridge at Fort Riley, Kan., in which the pastor's name was implicated through a confession of Private Michael Quirk, according to a statement made here today by the Rev. Mr. Brewer. He passed through this city on his way from Olathe, Okla., his home, to Fort Riley, where he will investigate the conditions leading up to his arrest. He said he would demand an explanation of government officials.

"My sole object in life," he said, "is to clear my name of this awful charge made against me. It was absolutely unwarranted, as the federal authorities found out after they had investigated it. But that does not satisfy me. I want to know who was responsible for mixing my name in the dynamite plot."

The Rev. Mr. Brewer's arrest followed a confession by Private Quirk in which he stated that he had met the pastor, formerly chaplain at the fort, riding in an automobile with a woman, and that they had asked him to join them in blowing up the big bridge over the Kansas river.

There was some personal malice in connecting my name with the plot," the pastor continued. "When the bridge was blown up I was preaching a sermon in Quenah, Tex. I do not know Quirk. I do not know whether I ever saw him or not. I am going to Fort Riley to sift this matter to the bottom. I shall not rest until my name stands absolutely untarnished by connection with the Fort Riley affair."

Horseman Who Married Crocker's Daughter Asks $100,000, For Alleged Alienation of Wife's Affections.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) New York, Dec. 28.—Richard Crocker and his son, Richard Crocker, Jr., and Howard Crocker, were made joint defendants in a civil action begun today by John J. Green to recover $100,000. Green married Miss Ethel J. Crocker, daughter of the former Tammany chieftain, on April 23, 1910, and alleged that his wife's affections were alienated by Crocker and his sons.

Green declares in his complaint that he and his wife lived happily together until the defendants induced her to leave him. Green was a teacher of horsemanship when he and Miss Crocker were married by a justice of the peace in Hoboken, N. J. It was said that the family of one bride were much displeased at the marriage.

Richard Crocker came here from his Irish estate about two months ago and recently went to Florida for the winter.

CONDUCTOR FROST HAS FINISHED HIS FINAL RUN

VETERAN RAILROADER
SUCCEUMS TO APOPLEXY

Albuquerque Pioneer Hall a Century in Railroad Service
and One of Best Known Conductors in Country.

George H. Frost, over fifty years in the railroad service, and for thirty-one years a conductor of the Santa Fe coast lines running out of this city, and by reason of his long career in the employ of many railroads throughout the country one of the best known railroad men in the United States, succumbed to an attack of apoplexy yesterday morning at seven o'clock at his home at 222 West Hanning avenue. The illness which caused Mr. Frost's death set in on Christmas day while he was bringing his train, the Chicago limited, into this city, and was doubtless aggravated by the veteran's persistence in handling his train as usual when he was barely able to stand on his feet. He was taken to his home in a taxi cab and although he rallied and hopes for his recovery were held out by the attending physicians, Mr. Frost sank rapidly Wednesday night and died quietly at seven o'clock. He was given the benefit of trained nursing expert medical attendance, but to no avail. The bereaved wife and son, Alfred Frost, assistant conductor of the First National bank, and nephew, Al Goodrich, were present when death supervened.

The funeral will take place from the residence at 10 o'clock Sunday morning, in charge of Temple Lodge No. 5, A. F. & A. M., of which the deceased was a member for nearly a quarter of a century. Archdeacon W. E. Warren of St. John's Episcopal church will conduct the service and members of the Masonic fraternity and the Order of Railway Conductors will act as pallbearers.

In addition to those already mentioned, Mr. Frost leaves a sister, Mrs. L. H. Goodrich of Chicago and another nephew, Rufus Goodrich, now of Los Angeles. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frost died in infancy. Mr. and Mrs. Frost had lived together happily as man and wife for forty-two years. Mrs. Frost having been Miss Annella Rigdon of Topeka, Kan., where the wedding took place March 18, 1870.

DECEASED WIDELY KNOWN AND POPULAR RAILROADER

Railroad men are agreed that few members of their fraternity in the United States were better known than George H. Frost. He was on the rail when 17 years of age, in charge of a train on the Rutland and Washington railroad of Vermont. Mr. Frost's native state, his birthplace being at Pittsford, Vt., where he first saw the light, February 4, 1847; so that his seventy-first birthday, was only a little over a month distant. Mr. Frost saw railroad service in various parts of the country, being a trainmaster on the Illinois Central out of Cairo, Ill., and acting in a similar capacity when he handled with success and dispatch large trains of General Grant's troops before Petersburg. He was at one time conductor on the Missouri Pacific and later the Chicago and North Western. He was a time lived in California.

He was in the employ of the old Atlantic and Pacific and later of the Santa Fe coast lines practically continuously for a third of a century, as passenger conductor out of this city and was one of the first men to be put in charge of the California limited when that train was first established. He was the oldest in point of service among the Santa Fe conductors running west out of this city. He joined the order of Railway Conductors of America, Inc., and later transferred his membership here.

Mr. Frost made friends everywhere, and the telegrams of condolence received yesterday at the Frost home included many from prominent railroad men throughout the country.

General Manager Arthur G. Wells of the Santa Fe coast line, immediately started for this city on receipt of the news of the death of Mr. Frost, whose friendship he formed many years ago while Mr. Wells was chief clerk here to General Manager D. B. Robinson of the Atlantic and Pacific.

Mr. Frost was nothing less than an institution in this part of the southwest and his passing will leave a gap that will not be soon filled, while the friends who will mourn deeply at his demise are numbered literally by the thousands.

CAPTAIN WENDELL PLANS NEW YEAR FEAST TO POOR

Salvation Army Worker Anxious That Those Not Provided For On Christmas or Thanksgiving Shall Be Remembered.

"In a personal canvass of Albuquerque since Christmas day, I have visited 192 persons, widows, orphans, cripples and other people, victims of circumstances, who did not get a Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner. The children of these people did not get Christmas toys. They are the poorest of the poor—not a woman who has a husband or family where there is a man able to work. I have not completed the canvass yet and expect to find many more people in similar condition. Those with whom I have consulted regarding the situation, have suggested that we put the kettle out on the street Saturday in front of the J. H. O'Brien drug store, giving an opportunity to those who wish to contribute. We have not had time to collect the residences and must rely on what is taken in on the kettle to defray the expenses of producing New Year's dinner for the poor. The dinners are to be given in baskets at the houses of the poor and will be delivered personally.

Captain W. Wendell of the Salvation Army has issued the above self-explanatory statement regarding his plans for New Year's day. Captain Wendell, in his 1910 report to the city has found 200 persons who did not have an opportunity to enjoy either Thanksgiving or Christmas and he proposes to help them to a New Year's feast with the assistance of the good people of the city. Any contributions through the kettle will be gratefully appreciated.

ONE WAY TO BEAT THE THERMOMETER

Well Known Journalist Takes Electric Light to Bed With Him and Loses Bed Clothes and Mattress.

Colonel J. G. Albright, editor of the New Mexico State Democrat, was out yesterday purchasing a new set of bed clothes and a mattress to fill a vacancy which occurred at his home on the preceding night.

Despairing of beating the weather man any other way, the Colonel, it is said, adopted the novel expedient of putting a lighted incandescent electric bulb at his feet, covering up and very gradually going to sleep. The result was considerably more heat than the Colonel anticipated and it is hinted that some lively work was necessary to prevent a worse calamity than actually occurred.

The Colonel does not highly recommend the electric method of heating beds in severe weather—or any other bed warmer.

ADVANCE SALE FOR LOCAL LODGE OF 'PAID IN FULL' TO START TODAY MOOSE FORMALLY ORGANIZED

Holiday Season at Elks Theater to Close With Attraction Which is Heralded As a Top Notcher.

The holiday theatrical season here will close tomorrow night at the Elks opera house with the production of "Paid in Full," a good strong play which has appeared here before and which, it is said, will be presented in much better shape this year. The advance sale of seats opens this morning at Matson's and the admission goes early and avoid the rush is timely, for otherwise you always miss getting the best seats.

Maybe you are one of the three and a half million people who have seen "Paid in Full." Possibly you were one of those who flocked to it in such numbers in New York that it was kept running for two solid seasons on Broadway, or perhaps you saw one of the five companies that presented it all over the country season before last. If so, you will be the more eager to see it now, for such is its appealing power that the officer who sees it, the officer who wishes to, that is why it has been called by the companies, the latest number that ever appeared in one play, and that is why it has been seen by more people than any other play. "Paid in Full" is the most powerful story ever told on the American stage. It is a story of a man, most of us know of a Joe Brooks, a weakling who believed the world owed him its good things, and failing to get them himself, tried to take them from the pocket of his employer. The Joe Brooks of "Paid in Full" begins to steal in the form of his young wife's money, her first word in bitterness against the poverty that must then be had, without complaint, Robert needs him in that way in all else. There is a spread discovery, whereupon he strikes the chase and seeks to better the wife to save himself from prison. There is a moment of the play that is not absorbingly interesting, not an infant that does not elicit with power. It is a New York cast that will be seen in this play. Under any conditions the coming of "Paid in Full" would excite a degree of interest possible to no other play, while the promise of seeing it acted by a brilliant New York cast gives greater attractiveness to the season.

"BUTTERFLIES" IS TO BE PRODUCED
THIS EVENING

"Butterflies," the clever comedy which is to be produced for the benefit of the Anthony college sanitarium, should be secured or a favorable reception from a large audience at old Yellow Hall tonight.

The plot is really an amusing one, the laughable efforts of a newly rich American to live up to the standard of some of his poorer, but more aristocratic friends, furnishing material for a good many hearty laughs. His daughter, a refreshingly naive young lady, has a love affair with a rich Englishman and there is no lack of complications, which are finally brought to a satisfactory conclusion.

It is planned to give a dance after the presentation of the playlet and tickets may be obtained for the dance alone, if desired.

The company has been rehearsing steadily and intends to reward the efforts of the members with a dinner at the Alvarado before the show. Following is the complete cast of characters.

Check Stub is Receipt Enough Says Local Business Man in Behalf of the Fraternity.

A SUGGESTION BY THE MERCHANTS

Check Stub is Receipt Enough Says Local Business Man in Behalf of the Fraternity.

"A great many people" said a well known Albuquerque merchant yesterday, overlook the fact that a returned check is all the receipt necessary when a bill is paid. I have heard many business men speak of it and I know from experience that the returned check often causes the merchant a lot of unnecessary trouble. The proper for instance of the merchant of the back of the credit check makes his bill on the first of the month, the bill is returned accompanied by a check, and then the purchaser pays a receipt is mailed back to him. I think it is a good idea to return a check a check is a simple protection for the man who pays, they will not hit with the men who fall the goods.

COUNCIL SCHEDULED TO MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

The regular meeting of the city council, which in the ordinary course of events would have been called to order next Monday night, has been postponed until the night following because Monday is New Year's day.

There will be much important routine business to transact at the meeting Tuesday night, it being the end of the quarter. All the quarterly accounts will have to be approved and paid. The quarterly reports of the city officers will be presented to the council, and other matters brought up and discussed.

JUDGE ABBOTT IS KEPT BUSY IN CHAMBERS

Two Divorce Decrees Granted Yesterday; Special Master's Report Approved; Several Suits Filed.

An order was entered by Judge Abbott yesterday approving the report of Special Master Harry P. Owen, in the case of Charles W. Lewis against Jose Maria Lucero, a suit to foreclose a deed of trust.

The report sets out that in accordance with the orders of the court, certain property involved in the case was sold to H. A. Jastro on March 17, 1908, for $11,432.29, and the distribution made of the money except $1,967.89. This has remained in the designated depository for court funds without bearing interest, and since there are yet others to share in the distribution of the money it was suggested by the special master that the amount be put in an interest bearing account and that the interest be used to find the other who are entitled to share in the money. The court agreed to the proposal.

Signer of Note Sued. John Hendricks filed suit in the district court yesterday against J. C. Grantham, who is a signer of a note held by the plaintiff, Hendricks. The amount of the note is $200.

Alleged Husband Has Deserted Her. Francisco Chavez yesterday filed suit against Clementina Montes de Chavez for absolute divorce on the grounds of abandonment and desertion. The couple were married on November 24, 1908, and lived together until December 27, 1910, when the defendant is alleged to have abandoned and deserted him and has since continued to live away from him.

Wife Divorced From Husband. Magdalena Kren was yesterday granted a divorce from Matias Kren on grounds of cruelty and the wrongful use of money. The couple were married in Austria in 1896. The complainant came to this country with her eldest daughter to work and raise money to pay a mortgage on the old home. Between them they saved $400, which they sent back to Kren in Austria. It is alleged that Kren applied the amount to other uses, part of it being expended in riotous living. The divorce was granted and custody of three minor children given to the plaintiff.

Husband Seeks Separation. Pasqual Cutinoli has filed suit for divorce from Virginia Cutinoli, charging abandonment and desertion. The couple were married in 1886.

Divorce Decree for Mrs. Owens. The decree in the divorce case of Susie Owens against Ben Owens, granting an absolute divorce to the first named on the ground of abandonment and desertion was signed by Judge Abbott yesterday.

Seeks Collection of Note. Petra G. Garcia, administratrix of the estate of Elias G. Garcia, deceased, yesterday through her attorneys, Mann and Venable, filed suit against Louis W. Gailles for the collection of a promissory note for $100, together with interest at 8 per cent per annum, and attorneys' fees.

It is alleged in the complaint that the decedent Garcia took the defendant's note for the amount on October 29, 1908. The petition then seeks to appoint the plaintiff administratrix of the estate.

CONNECTION WITH SEWER DELAYED BY COLD SNAP

Because of the long and unusual spell of cold weather, thus increasing the amount of work the plumbers of the city are called upon to do, City Plumbing Inspector J. P. Steele has issued the following bulletin concerning the connections with the new sewer system:

"Notice to property owners is hereby given, that owing to the unusually cold weather now prevailing and to the increased amount of work for plumbers incident to the extreme cold weather, we are allowing 30 days extension of time to all property owners recently notified to connect with the sewer."

"J. P. STEELE
Plumbing Inspector."

At a recent meeting of the city council Mr. Steele was instructed to notify all property owners to connect with the sewer by the first of the year. The plumbing inspector was carrying out the instructions rigidly until the advent of the recent extreme cold.

WOMEN ACCUSED OF RUNNING DISORDERLY HOUSE HAVE HEARING

The hearing of Minnie Carroll and Olie Rhoades, charged with conducting a disorderly house, and that of Ruth Anderson, charged with being an inmate, was held before Judge Craig yesterday afternoon, but was not completed.

The testimony of the three women concerned, and that of Chief of Police McMillin and Night Marshal Pat O'Grady was heard, and a stenographer reduced the same to notes. Following the introduction of the testimony Judge Craig took the case under advisement. His decision will be announced in a day or two.

It is understood that should Judge Craig decide to send the women to jail a writ of habeas corpus will be sued out before Judge Abbott.

NERVES GONE TO PIECES

Those nervous people who "fly off the handle" easily, forget time and fret about trifles, may be the dearest in all the world, but they often make us all uncomfortable.

Of course that is not a natural condition for any one—it simply means that when the nerves have gone to pieces, so to speak, they are weak and badly nourished. Such people are nearly always thin and pale, a sure sign of weak, watery blood. What they need is nothing but Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, which builds up the body and gives strength to the weak and run-down. We have seen Vinol do so much good in this town that we say, "Let Vinol make you strong—if it does not please you we give back your money."

DENOUNCES LOAN TO PARAGUAY AS UNJUST

Paris, Dec. 28.—In the chamber of deputies today M. Delebecq in vehement terms denounced the Paraguay loan, a loan of which is announced for January, as a device to abstract twenty-two million francs of the public's savings. He demanded that the government do something to stop the loan. M. Krupp, minister of justice, assured the chamber that he had instructed the judicial authorities to take the necessary steps to investigate the whole matter. A motion inviting the government to adopt measures immediately to defend the savings of the public was accepted by Premier Caillaux and adopted by a vote of 522 to 1.

PUSSYFOOT NOW ON ANOTHER TRAIL IN WISCONSIN

JOHNSON AND PROHIBS ALLEGE GIGANTIC FRAUD

Indians in Badger State to Be Looted of Three Million is Charge; Abbott Alleged to Be Implicated.

That William E. Johnson, better known as "Pussyfoot," former chief special officer of the U. S. Indian service, has been making things interesting for the bureau of Indian affairs not only in New Mexico but elsewhere is shown by the following press matter received yesterday from the "Associated Press" regarding the situation in Wisconsin.

One of the largest robberies of Indian properties in the history of the country is just now developing in the interior department.

The steel involves a possible looting of nearly eight millions of Indian properties in northern Wisconsin. The lion's share of the plunder, if the schemes of the plotters succeed, will go to the saloon keepers of northern Wisconsin. Lawyers and whisky politicians will gather up the fragments.

The story is this: For many years the interior department has been allotting Indian lands in northern Wisconsin to individual Indians. These lands are covered with valuable timber. The interior department has been selling this timber to lumber barons from time to time for the benefit of the Indian allottees. Up to thirteen years ago, these monies were turned over to the Indian owner at once. In practically every instance, the Indian would go on a tremendous drunk in Ashland or the surrounding towns and the practical saloon keepers would get the whole amount. The Indian was generally robbed while drunk. The saloon keepers could not wait to allow him to drink up several thousand dollars worth of booze, so they would take a short cut, get the Indian drunk and the roll of bills would disappear within a few days or a few weeks. The saloon keepers of Ashland and vicinity began to look upon the monies thus paid to the Indians as a part of their own graft and acted accordingly. The woods of northern Wisconsin are full of penitents Indians who have been robbed of their thousands of dollars in this way.

Thirteen years ago, a new factor came into the game, when Major S. W. Campbell, a shrewd Scotchman, with Scotch-Prussian ideas of common honesty and thrift, was made Indian agent—he is there yet. "Sam" Campbell immediately conceived the notion that it was his duty to protect the Indian instead of holding him while the rum sellers went through his pockets.

How Major Sam Campbell Checkmated the Liquor Pirates.

So Major Sam Campbell inaugurated a new policy. When an Indian's timber or land was sold, the money was placed in a bank to his credit, at two and one-half per cent interest, and could be drawn out only on the Indian's check countersigned by the Indian agent. The Indian was allowed to draw ten dollars per month regularly and in case of need he was permitted to draw any necessary amount. If the Indian wished to purchase farming implements, or land or any necessary, he was permitted to do so. And when he became competent to manage his own affairs, he was given the entire amount.

What a roar went up from the eighty-five Indian keepers of Ashland at the Indian thus being "deprived of his rights." The saloon's chief source of income was thus cut off. Under the new deal they were able to rob the Indian only of small amounts which he earned in the lumber camps and saw-mills.

For thirteen years, the saloon keepers of Ashland have been fighting Major Campbell, trying to get the rule reversed. They even brought suits against Campbell which were fought all the way to the supreme court of the United States, where a decision was rendered sustaining the Indian agent.

Indians Save $2,300,000 From Would-be Crafters.

In the meantime, individual Indian money was kept piling up in the banks of northern Wisconsin, drawing two and one-half per cent interest until these funds now amount to $2,300,000.

In addition to this, there is about seven million dollars worth of uncut and unsold timber belonging to the northern Wisconsin Indians. The prospect of losing this enormous amount of cash in the banks, and the prospect of losing the huge sums to come from the stranding timber, almost shattered the nerves of the rum-sellers.

But the one thing that stood in the way was Sam Campbell.

Major "Sam" Joins Forces With Johnson.

Then another burden of woe was heaped upon the luckless Ashland saloon men. Agent Campbell joined forces with Chief Officer William E. Johnson and the saloon men found themselves hauled up at every turn from the federal court for selling liquor to the Indians. They were convicted in nearly every case, but the booze dispensers found a warm friend in Federal Judge Sanborn, who would almost invariably assess a nominal sentence and generally suspend that. This course practically amounted to a license for selling to Indians. But Johnson and Campbell kept at it and prosecuted something like six hundred cases against the alcohol-brethren. At a recent term of court, Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago, the man who afflicted the Standard Oil company with a twenty-nine million dollar fine, presided over the Wisconsin term of court at La Crosse, and sentenced a bunch of the liquor dealers to six months in jail. Then there was wailing and gnashing of teeth in booze-dom. Plotting for Major Campbell's official scalp began anew.

A Weird Plot For Wholesale Robbery

Some time ago the plotting began on a new basis.

The first step was taken when Oliver H. Phelps left his job in the Indian service and formed a partnership with R. C. Smith, a part blood Indian lawyer, and opened up offices in the Bund building in this city.

Phelps is in close communion with Assistant Commissioner E. H. Abbott, who has had a hand in so many curious proceedings, including the famous Juan Cruz case in New Mexico. Phelps is fighting Valentine on the outside and Abbott is fighting Valentine on the inside. Both want to get Valentine out of the way to further their schemes.

Smith Phelps' partner, was mixed up in the famous seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars attorney's fee which McMurray and other Indian Territory politicians tried to collect from the government and which scandalous attempt led to a congressional investigation at the instance of Senator Gore.

The Mythical Indian "Brotherhood" is "Organized."

The next step in the program was the working up by Phelps and Smith of a "convention of Indians" to form the "Brotherhood of Northern North American Indians." Recently about fifty Indians responded to the call. The center of these operations was in northern Wisconsin. Smith and Phelps sent the Indians railway tickets to Washington, promising to pay their expenses. Among the leaders of the affair were agents of Smith and Phelps used a bunch of halfbreeds from Ashland, Wisconsin, who had always been playing into the hands of the Ashland saloonkeepers. Two of them are now under suspended sentences for selling liquor to Indians. Three of them were of such a character that two years ago the secretary of the interior ordered their removal from the Bad River reservation.

"Brotherhood" Vice President a Notorious Character.

The Indians "elected" as president of the "Brotherhood," R. C. Adams and as "vice president" John Doherty, of Ashland, Wisconsin. Doherty was recently in trouble for selling fake fire insurance to the Indians and has been taken up in various shady transactions. He is one of the "breeds" who was removed from the reservation two years ago, by order of the secretary.

Then came the next step. The Indians were pressed by Adams and Phelps and Doherty to sign powers of attorney to collect for them the funds on deposit in the banks and to sell their lands and timber for them on a commission of eight per cent. Indians who signed up the powers of attorney were given transportation back home. Those who refused to sign were left stranded in Washington. One Indian who has nearly nine thousand dollars on deposit refused to sign and has borrowed money on which to get home.

The plan is to get all of the Bad River Chippewas to sign these powers of attorney to allow Smith and Phelps to draw the huge funds on deposit and sell their timber. The eight per cent on this enormous wealth would amount to something like $600,000. The lawyers would get the millions. The money and the Ashland liquor dealers would get most of the millions left, provided the scheme works out.

Major Campbell is Plotters' One Stubbling Block.

But there is one thing in the way and that is Indian Agent Sam Campbell. Campbell is blocking the plot by refusing to turn loose the money and Campbell must be removed, at all costs.

Now agents of the booze chapel are after Campbell. He was summoned by telegraph to Washington the other day by the Indian office plotters to "explain." He has been here for several days being grilled and tormented over trivial things. Assistant Commissioner Abbott is said to be engineering the campaign on the inside and his friend Phelps, with Smith, is managing the deal on the outside. The saloon men at Ashland are sitting like a pack of vultures waiting for their reward.

If they can, through the intrigues of Abbott on the inside, manage to dispose of Agent Campbell, there is opened up one of the most gigantic opportunities for graft on the Indian that has happened in the whole history of Indian affairs.

The stakes to be played for are run up to the millions. The winning card of the saloon-keepers is the removal of Sam Campbell from the Indian service.

National Chairman Charles R. Jones is planning his engagements so that he may be able to attend all or at least the largest possible number of the state conventions of the party, which will be held during the next six months. He will specially appreciate the earliest available information as to the time and location of these conventions, in order that he may satisfactorily arrange his schedule of appointments in conjunction with his other duties.

ELECTION RETURNS GO TO WASHINGTON ON SATURDAY

DECISION IN CLAYTON PRECINCT DISPUTE TODAY

Governor Curry Selected to Carry Canvassing Board Report to Washington; Inauguration Committee Jubilant.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 28.—That the canvassing board will have completed its work and have its report on the way to Washington by Saturday night was assured by the arrival of Judge Clarence J. Roberts here this morning.

Judge Roberts upon his arrival, at once took up the matter of the dispute in the Clayton precinct in Union county, where the judges refused to sign the election certificates. The judges and election officials were summoned to show cause why they should not be compelled to sign the returns as required by law and after a hearing of the parties in interest Judge Roberts announced he would render a decision tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

While, of course, nothing is known as to the nature of the decision, the decision itself is the main thing, regardless of its nature, as it clears the way for the canvassing board to complete its work and make report to the president.

The prospect of the immediate completion of the report of the canvassing board is received with joy by the members of the inauguration committee and the work of making arrangements for the ceremonies will now be taken up with renewed vigor. Mayor Arthur Seligman, chairman of the executive committee, when asked today as to the probable date of the inauguration, declined to make the announcement until the formal report of the canvassing board is made.

"So many unexpected delays have occurred in the progress of the work of making New Mexico a state," said the mayor, "that the committee has decided to make no definite announcement until we are sure we can carry our program through."

It was announced today that Congressman-elect George Curry had been selected for the honor of carrying the report of the canvassing board to President Taft. The president has promised to issue his proclamation admitting New Mexico to the union at the earliest possible moment after the report is received, so that it now appears certain that the last obstacle toward the realization of the territory's long deferred hopes, has been removed.

Governor-elect William C. McDonald spent yesterday in Santa Fe in conference with the democratic state central committee. The meeting was held behind closed doors and nothing was given out for publication. It is understood, however, that several members of the committee manifested impatience at the delay in getting the returns to Washington and the consequent holding-up of the statehood proclamation. Governor McDonald, it is said, does not share in this impatience, and is perfectly willing to wait until such time as the canvassing board and the president fix the date for his induction into his high office.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Silver City, N. M., Dec. 28.—Weather during the week has been very cold, and yesterday here in Silver City the thermometer registered 2 below zero. Christmas eve snow fell to a depth of two inches and all day Christmas, with but slight intervals, it continued to fall to add to the general discomfort it was quite winds making the day the most disagreeable felt here in many years. The snowfall in the Mogollons and in the Burro mountains is reported heavy, and it is the same all over the southern part of New Mexico. Today the sun is out, bright and gay, and the snow is disappearing and cattlemen are not anticipating any loss.

Reports reaching here from the northern part of the territory say the snowfall thus far has been the heaviest in many years.

JOHN ROBERTS AS SECRETARY TO CONGRESSMAN

Executive Clerk in Governor's Office at Santa Fe Selected By Curry For Important Post.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 28.—The capitol is doomed to lose its walking dictionary of territorial and state politics, when John Roberts leaves the office of the governor for the position of private secretary to Congressman-elect George Curry. What is Santa Fe's loss is Washington's gain, however, and "Johnnie's" many friends here wish him a pleasant stay in the capitol.

Mr. Roberts public career began three years ago, when he entered the governor's office as executive clerk, serving under Governor George Curry and then under William J. Miller, the present territorial executive. He is only 28 years old and it is safe to predict a long and brilliant career for the versatile young politician.

He has not reached his present position without surmounting numerous difficulties. Like Lincoln, much of his education has been acquired outside of the school room for "Johnnie" has barely completed the common school course. Despite this, however, the aspiring publicist has acquired a ready command of English and of Spanish. In fact he speaks and writes either language with equal facility. It is owing to this fact, perhaps, as well as his ready knowledge of stenography, that Mr. Roberts' services are always in demand.

NEGRO FINE $20.

Ira Taylor, a negro notorious in local police courts, was found guilty of "bootlegging" yesterday in Justice Witt's court and fined $20 and costs. Taylor had a man arrested for carrying a pistol and in turn the man made charges against Taylor for selling him a pint of whisky. The informer was found not guilty of gun toting.

$21,000 Real Estate Deal.

A deal in real estate was made yesterday by the Lawrence-Caffee Land company who sold to Clinton C. Gray, a prospector from the north, 360 acres of land near the Hagerman Orchards, for $24,000. Mr. Gray has already made arrangements for the sinking of two wells on his tract and will make other improvements in the near future.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 28.—Progressive democracy was voted tonight at the annual banquet of the Jackson club, attended by about 200 leaders of the party in Indiana. Former Governor Folk of Missouri was the chief speaker. Senator John W. Kern of Indiana was toastmaster. Other speakers were Governor Thomas H. Marshall and Thomas Taggart, national committeeman.

Mr. Folk said the fight against the protective tariff is the party's main hope. He said a tariff other than for revenue is legalized graft and that there should be a square battle between privilege and equal rights. He charged that in too many cases government favors are conferred on men of wealth and declared that elimination of privilege is the problem confronting democracy.

A strict rule barred political booms. Senator Kern and Governor Marshall, both prospective democratic candidates for the presidency, chatted peacefully.

Sydney, Ia., Dec. 28.—James Ashley today gave himself up to the sheriff of Taylor county with the declaration that he had escaped from the Colorado penitentiary at Canyon City. He had an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Eve, obtained at San Francisco, according to his statement.

Investigation convinced the police that the Gannon woman took her own life and Bear was released to night.

SCHOONER STRIKES TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER

Serious Accident Occurs Off Cape Hatteras During Heavy Sea; Crew of Little Warship Taken Aboard Cruiser.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire) Norfolk, Va., Dec. 28.—Fifty-six men, the greater part of the crew of the Warrington, tonight are aboard the revenue cutter Onondaga which raced from Norfolk in response to wireless distress calls from the torpedo boat destroyer.

These include four injured men, but only two names are known, J. N. Stanley and G. W. Bunker. Stanley has a cut foot, while Bunker is severely bruised and has a three-inch scalp wound.

According to messages received here the Onondaga arrived at the scene of the accident about noon today finding the Warrington anchored and in no immediate danger. Fifteen men, including all the officers of the torpedo boat, remained on the crippled vessel. The water which had poured through the fissures in the stern was held in the after-holds by bulkheads.

At the time of the accident the Warrington was eight or ten miles ahead of the balance of the fleet, half under and half out of the water when the gale swept the water over the little vessel. Suddenly out of the darkness loomed the foundering schooner. Before the man on watch could swing the torpedo boat out of the schooner's course, the latter's nose rammed the Warrington. Then the schooner sank off in the darkness before any of the men across by the shock could tell whether she was a two or a four-masted schooner.

The blow sent the Warrington staggering, all of the crew except those on watch being thrown from their hammocks. Stanley was thrown against the aft bulkhead and Bunker was pitched headfirst from his hammock to the steel flooring.

CARLSBAD PROJECT NEEDS MORE FARMERS

Water Users' Board Preparing Extensive Campaign of Advertising to Attract New Settlers to Lower Pecos Valley.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Carlsbad, N. M., Dec. 28.—The Carlsbad project in preparing to promote further development the coming year. The Water Users' board met on Saturday and discussed various matters that will aid the growth the coming year. The first matter that will receive the attention is to induce farmers to locate under the project. A committee was appointed with power to act. This committee met yesterday and made arrangements to publish at once new printed matter for the use of the association and the land men. A more elaborate book will be issued later. Some of the land men are carrying advertising in papers of the middle west and following up the publicity with personal work.

Among the industries considered may be mentioned dairying, stock feeding, canning factories and alfalfa mills. The project needs a creamery and the farmers are getting interested in having such an industry started. Here are also farmers that prefer to grow garden truck and they would welcome a canning factory. The inmates grown here are of fine flavor and grow very well. There are many who desire to grow cantaloupes and need the proper kind of an organization to make such an industry profitable. The water users are considering all these matters as they realize prosperity comes from diversified farming on small tracts under irrigation.

The three were released on their own recognizance and will be given a hearing tomorrow.

Moss, who conducts a stock and grain brokerage business with branches in several cities, was forced to close his San Francisco offices as a result of his conviction in police court but has an appeal pending in the superior court. He is striving in the federal courts to obtain a restraining order to prevent the San Francisco police interfering with the conduct of his business. Recently he sued the publishers of the Call which has taken the lead in a campaign against alleged bucket-shops, for $100,000 damages.

The offense alleged in today's complaint charging criminal libel, are the publication of an editorial on December 21, denouncing Moss as a swindler and a news item published on December 22 to the same general effect.

BURNED TO DEATH ON EVE OF DEPARTURE

San Francisco, Dec. 28.—With her trunk packed and in the depot ready for her journey to New London, O., where relatives were to care for her, Mrs. J. M. Hubbart, for many years a school teacher in Hartford, Conn., public schools, was fatally burned today in a fire in the apartment of a family which had befriended her and died two hours later in the emergency hospital. She was 72 years old.

In her trunk were her white satin wedding gown and slippers, in which she had often expressed a desire to be buried.

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

LET'S WE FORGET.

While we of New Mexico are telling the world of our agricultural possibilities, bringing in new farmers and building new dams and canals, we must not forget the twin glory of the new state, our matchless mineral possibilities. Here is a resource fully as important as the reclamation of the soil and one which has never been exploited to a millionth part of its possibilities. Since the time of the Aztecs and the Seven Golden Cities
of Cibola, since the Spaniards and the Indians delved into New Mexico's
rocky hills lured by the glitter of metal,
it has been known that this part of the southwest has underground
riches of marvelous extent; we do not pay as much attention to them now
as our predecessors in the land of Sunshine did centuries ago. As a matter of fact, the minerals that have been taken out of this region, compared to what remains to be taken out,
are as a drop of water from the
ocean or a grain of sand on the shore.
In isolated instances, enough capital
has been put into the ground to bring forth immense profits for the miner.
In the vast majority of cases, what mining has been done has been desultory prospecting, but or misde-velopment, intermittent operation, improperly capitalized and unscientific.
Methods of extracting our mineral riches must be in proportion to the vastness of their extent; and one of the greatest needs of the new state
is to get big capital to develop mines.
Gold mines, silver mines, copper
mines, zinc mines, lead mines, coal mines, vanadium mines, iron mines,
manganese, gypsum, and all the other valuable products of the subterranean
regions which are found in practically all parts of New Mexico. There is little doubt, as demonstrated at Seven Lakes and elsewhere, that New Mexico has great possibilities as an oil and gas producer. The deposits of mineral fat found in western New Mexico some time ago indicate what surprising variations of products are to be found, and we have merely begun to guess at what New Mexico can become as a mining state.

Therefore, while you are telling your eastern friends what there is in this vicinity, don't fail to mention that New Mexico is one of the greatest coal producers in the union right now; that she has one of the biggest copper propositions in the west and that
with all this and everything else that is being developed, capital has only begun to tickle the surface; we are not really yet in a position to estimate exactly what our mining status
will be, but are willing to concede
that it will beat any other state between the oceans by fifty per cent.

COAL PRODUCTION AND THE COAL BILL.

The chief coal expert of the Geological Survey informs us that it has been a bad season for the coal magnates; that too much has been produced and the profits have been cut down. Locally at least, no one is reported as noticing any serious drop in the price of coal to the consumer.
Evidently we are to assume that vast quantities of coal are lying around
somewhere, more than anyone needs,
while the man with the coal hod keeps
on piling the same for what he gets,
whether he lives in a coal producing state like New Mexico or ships it in at twenty dollars a ton as he does in California. It looks to the casual observer as if at least the coal men cannot blame the consumer for any falling off in profits; they oughtn't to have dug so much coal.

The main conclusion drawn from
the whole matter is that whatever happens, the profits of the coal baron
are the paramount consideration.

That million dollar fund for disabled preachers comes too late to be of much benefit to the incarcerated hero
of the brief, albeit stormy career of the Holy Ghost and Us.

WHAT KIND OF A BUG IS IT?

At more or less regular intervals
two or three or four times a month,
the press dispatches bear us the tale
of a wild-eyed fellow, who, finding his time heavy on his hands, devotes
a few brief moments to chopping off
the heads of his wife and six to ten children while they sleep, finishing the job by committing suicide. The story in the dispatches yesterday of the man Arkansas father who carefully smashed in the heads of his wife and six children and then took his own life in order to get the whole family into Heaven by a short cut,
will have a very familiar sound to everyone who reads it.

That this particular wholesale homicide occurred in Arkansas, is perhaps an extraordinary circumstance; but there is some psychological mystery
here. The thing happens too often in just the same way, with no previous indications of insanity on the part of the axe wielder. There is something which makes the average citizen think deeply, in such spectacles as this.
Your neighbor, who appears to be just an ordinary kind of a person, commits
some horrible crime, some outrage
against the laws of God and man and nature, without warning and apparently with the full exercise of his faculties just such as you have. At the little Valencia county town of Peralta
in this state, a few weeks ago, a man and a woman deliberately and in their sister's house, literally chopped up
the woman's husband with an axe and
a knife as they would carve a roast pig.
How do they do it? How can a sane man commit a deed at which your own soul revolts in horror and which is apparently in violation of every natural human tendency?

Are all of us potential family-murders and is the monster who lives
next door capable of severing his wife's head with a butcher's cleaver?
Is Bill Higgins, the carpenter, a man who may some day go quietly around
and drive ten penny nails into his children's skulls?

Crime is a wonderful and a mysterious thing and it is such things as these which make us realize how short
a distance we have advanced into a knowledge of the profundities of the human soul.

THE PSYCHOLOGICAL MOMENT.

As pointed out in the bulletin of the New Mexico Publicity association, moving time for the immigrant has arrived and for the next few months,
the restless citizen of the more easterly
states, with the westward fever stirring in his veins, will be reading to hear the call of the new state of New Mexico and come to the land where ten acres under irrigation beats 160
acres in the rain belt.

There are two moving periods for
the homemaker, in the late fall after he has harvested his crops and in the late winter and early spring before
he has put in next season's crop. During December and the holiday season
he gregariously seeks his kindred and celebrates Christmas, and the tide of land seekers westward is always smallest in midwinter.

According to the secretary of the bureau of immigration, January, February and March and the first part of April are the months during which the unsatisfied farmer in the east or
middle west is most likely to trek,
and the time when he is most induc-
tively seeking information about
lands of better opportunities, bigger crops, fewer climatic rigors and a chance to grow up with the country.

Consequently, now is the time to boost New Mexico for all you are worth. Now is the time to reach out after the new citizenship and place
your resources before the eye of the agricultural nomad who wants to move. It is the opportune season for immigration; "prospects" are in a receptive frame of mind and the people want to know. Every man and every development agency of any kind in New Mexico, every commercial organization and every community should take advantage of the opportunity to get busy. It is the start-off of the new state; New Mexico still commands an unusual amount of interest in the country at large, it is time to strike while the iron is glowing and let everybody get to work.

M'NAMICAL.

Ortie McManical, turned state's evidence to help her a gigantic criminal plot against society, says he don't know what he will get, but thinks he has "something coming to him."

There is no doubt that he is right.
Because fear of punishment has driven this accomplice of the McNamars
to an informer and to "peach on his pals," his crime is none the less,
he is no less a menace to society, and
although he has proved immensely
valuable to the state, his motive for turning on his companions in depravity was ignoble and his case is simply
one of the man who got caught and was afraid. Though his sentence be commuted fifty per cent, let it still be heavy enough to give him his dues.
It was not the smiting of his conscience nor remorse that caused Mc-Manical to "peach" on his friends. He certainly has no right to his freedom,
whatever lightening of sentence is given
him for his services to the prosecution.

THE BRUTAL SLAV.

Advised from many quarters indicating that the Russians, waging violent
war on the practically defenseless
state of Persia, have been guilty of the most senseless and brutal barbari-ties against women and children. The northern Bear has a rabbit by the neck and is biting it to shreds. It would seem that the comparatively recent flaking administered Russia to her diminutive neighbor, the little

brown man, has had only the result of increasing the bullying attitude of the Slav toward whatever small quarry he may find.

The average crowd of bystanders
does not stand quietly when it sees a man beating an adversary a third of his size. There is grave question as to how far the friendship of Russia's ally, Great Britain, and the patience of some other powers will last if the exhibition of ursine ferocity keeps on.

Not because it is Deming particularly, but because it is a town of only 2,000 or 2,500 people, we persist in commending to every community in New Mexico the splendid example of this little town. Twice a week it publishes a full page, catchy, pulling advertisement in an El Paso newspaper,
it lays several columns daily in the El Paso papers and is conducting a lively and determined advertising campaign in many magazines and newspapers throughout the country.
Deming is not a rich community; any other town of 2,500 people in New Mexico can do what Deming is doing.
While the Miners valley offers an attractive agricultural field, it has nothing phenomenally better than other parts of New Mexico; Deming
is going ahead by reason of the push
and team work and stick-to-itiveness
of her citizens.

BIG DECREASE IN SOCIALLY BELEN IS WOOL PRODUCTION ONE OF LIVELIEST PAST YEAR ON THE MAP

Domestic Clip For 1911 Almost Four Million Pounds Less;
Pulled Variety Fell Off Nearly
As Much.

(By Morning Journal Special Lined Wire.)

Boston, Dec. 28.—The total domestic wool clip for 1911, exclusive of pulled wool, is 27,547,000 pounds, as estimated by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers which tonight
made public its annual wool review.
This is a decrease of 2,314,850 pounds
from last year. The estimate of pulled wool for 1911 is 41,000,000 pounds,
making the total wool production for
the country 31,821,900 pounds or 2,818,850 pounds less than in 1910.

The value of this product is estimated at $66,571,237 or nearly six million less than that of 1910. The number of sheep for shearing in the United States in April, 1911, the association estimates was 29,761,000, a decrease of 2,235,500 from 1910. The decrease was mainly in the far western states, but was in part in the eastern and middle western sections.
In the south there was an increase of about 15,000 sheep, the gain being chiefly in Virginia and Tennessee
while the number also increased in Ohio, Missouri and Iowa.

The average value per pound of pulled wool was 47.7 cents as compared with 47 cents in 1910. The price of pulled wool in 1910 was 43.6 cents in 1909; 46.4 cents in 1908 and 42.3 cents in 1907.

BIG INCREASE IN ROAD OIL

Use of Asphaltic Grease For Sprinkling Macadam Highways Growing in United States.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—In the original Bible word the same word is used for salt and oil or asphalt—because both came from springs, and both are obtained from the Dead Sea, and when asphaltic oil is substituted for salt in the well-known quotation, "If the salt (oil) have lost
his savor (volatile portion) wherewith
shall it be salted? it is thenceforth
good for nothing (asphalt) but to be cast out and to be trodden under foot of men." This sounds prophetic in view of the thousands of miles of asphalt pavements in modern cities. Far more important, however, is the use,
now in its infancy but rapidly increasing, of asphaltic oils for sprinkling
over macadam roads to prevent dust
and obviate the damage done by rapidly moving automobiles in tearing out the surface. The secretary of agriculture, in his address to the first National Good Roads congress mentioned this treatment as solving the important problem of rapid automobile wear on macadam roads.

Four kinds of asphaltic oils are now prepared for this special purpose by taking the volatile matter out of Texas oils and other similar asphaltic
oils, until the residue contains 30 to 60 per cent of asphalt, the product
according to the requirements.

Chiefly because of the demand for oil for this use the production of natural asphalt as well as "oil asphalt" is rapidly increasing, as is shown in a pamphlet on production of asphalt,
related bitumens, and bituminous rock, by David T. Day, of the United States Geological Survey, published as an advance chapter of Mineral Resources of the United States, 1910.

The United States produced 260,000
tons of asphaltic material in 1910,
whereas only 228,855 tons were produced in the previous year. The greatest increase was in the production of asphaltic road oil, which rose
from 128,861 tons in 1909 to 159,424 short tons in 1910. This product was worth $2,207,937, as against $1,558,463
in 1909, which shows an advance in price as well as quantity, indicating active demand.

LAND THROWN OPEN TO ENTRY

Two Thousand Acres in Rio Ar-
riba County Subject to Filing

Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 27.—The following notice was issued this morning by the local land office:

bracing sections 1, 2, 3 and 4 has been

Amateur Harugari Thespians
Will Receive Cordial Welcome
to Cut-Off Town; Much Building Going On.

"When it comes to social activity
I will back Belen against any town of its size on the map," said Oscar Goebel
of Belen in Albuquerque yesterday.
Mr. Goebel, who is one of the leading merchants of the lively little city thirty miles south is also secretary of the publicity committee of the Belen Commercial club which he says has embarked on a determined campaign to boost the junction town.

"We are preparing a royal welcome
for the local Harugari society's amateur cast which presents 'Boim Quickweather at Belen next Sunday night,'" said Goebel. "They are assured not only of a rousing reception
by the people of Belen, but of a rapidly home when they present the play."

"There are a good many other events coming up, like the leap year
dance the Belen ladies are going to give on the first Friday in January
and the big macquerado ball planned
for January 15."

Mr. Goebel says that Belen is growing with phenomenal rapidity, a great deal of building is going on,
many new residents are coming in,
there are eight freight trains a day
besides the passenger business that goes through Belen, railroad improvements during the past two years
have cost tens of thousands of dollars,
and in short, Belen is quietly and steadily developing into one of the most important towns in New Mexico.

STEPS TAKEN FOR EXHIBITS ALONE BORREGO GRANT MAKE IT WORTH THE TRIP

Judge Abbott Appoints Commission Composed of Otto Dieckmann, J. M. Moore and H. P. Whitney to Investigate.

After litigation extending over several years involving title to the Ojo de Borrego land grant, steps have been taken looking toward either the division of the grant among the numerous claimants or its sale and the distribution of the money thus derived among the various owners in interest.

Yesterday in the district court Judge Ira A. Abbott appointed a commission composed of Otto Dieckmann, J. M. Moore and H. P. Whitney with power to make an investigation and report to the court as to the advisability of dividing the grant into the fractions claimed by the heirs of Jose Albino Baca and others so as to safeguard the interests of those concerned or, if it should be found inadvisable to petition the grant, then to provide a means for its sale.

Judge Abbott's action followed the report of Referee Harry P. Owen, who has been taking testimony in the grant litigation for some time. There are 150 persons directly interested in fractional parts of the grant, which comprises an area of more than 16,000 acres, valued at approximately $5 to $10 an acre. Some of the fractional interests are as small as 1-155,520, while others are as large as 1-14. Several equal one-third of the grant.

The Ojo de Borrego grant is situated in the north-central portion of Sandoval county and adjoins the western boundary of the Santa Domingo Indian pueblo. It is within a short distance also, of the Jemez pueblo.

Professor Tinsley has sent out the following letter to the press:

"To the Editor:
"My Dear Sir:
"We appreciate very much the space you are giving to the Agricultural Demonstration train. We are putting considerable time and money on the train and think that it will be of great value to the individual farmer as well as a valuable means of advertising the agricultural possibilities of our new state, provided we can get the people to visit the train and can give the necessary publicity to the movement.

"Allow me to urge upon you the importance of keeping this train before the people and urging them to visit the train at the most convenient point.

"We are especially anxious that the people back from the railroad should come in to the train. We will try to make the talks plain and practical. The various lines of agriculture, horticulture, livestock and irrigation will be represented by enough men so that the farmers may have a chance to discuss matters with them. We will have special talks for the children, as we want to make this the beginning of a special campaign to interest the young people in agriculture. The exhibits alone will well repay a long trip to see them.

"Yours very truly,

FARMER SUFFERS AN ATTACK OF HEART FAILURE

While transacting business yesterday about noon in the music store of John Lewis Clark, on South Second street, John A. Sweeney, a well known farmer of Albuquerque and Belen, suffered an attack of heart failure.

At the time of the attack Mr. Clark was sitting on a piano stool engaged in conversation with Mrs. E. C. Whitson. He complained of feeling ill and suddenly fell to the floor in a faint. Dr. S. L. Burton was summoned and an ambulance called. The physician rendered emergency treatment, reviving the sick man, who later was removed to his home.

DEMONSTRATION TRAIN A LIBERAL EDUCATION

Talks Will Be Plain and Practical and People Back From the Railroad Are Especially Desired to Attend.

It is the earnest wish of the Santa Fe Railway company and Agricultural Demonstrator J. D. Tinsley that the people who do not live close to the Santa Fe lines, will arrange to make a special trip to the nearest scheduled point on the itinerary of the Santa Fe demonstration train next month in order to see the exhibits and hear the lectures. The exhibits, especially, the demonstrator points out, will be worth going a long distance to see by reason of their practical educational value; and the lectures will not be highbrow dissertations, but heart to heart talks with the men who till the soil, with the sole purpose of imparting to them useful information which will be worth money to them and which would otherwise be impossible to get in practical and helpful form.

Professor Tinsley has sent out the following letter to the press:

MUCH COLDER AT THE SCHOOL, SAYS MR. HEYMAN

Government Thermometer Also Registers Five Degrees Lower Than Home-Raised Instrument.

The minimum temperature at the Rio Grande Industrial school station, three miles south of the city, was 5 below zero for the 24 hours ending at 6 o'clock last night. The maximum was 38, and range 43 degrees, while the temperature at 5 p. m. was 24.

Superintendent A. C. Heyman of the Rio Grande Industrial school, weather observer at this point, yesterday corroborated the general belief that the weather is much colder at that exposed position than in Albuquerque. Furthermore, the arrangement of the government thermometer used by Mr. Heyman in his official record is such as to register as low as possible. "It is in a slatted box," said Mr. Heyman yesterday, "removed from the house, protected from the sun and exposed to all the wind it can get. I have a thermometer, purchased some time ago in this city, which consistently registers five degrees higher than the government instrument. It is on the side of my house."

Mr. Heyman called attention to another interesting fact which he observed. "Many people think," he said, "that when the snow is thawing on the ground, the temperature must
