SPEAKER REED RULES HOUSE!

A Strict Party Vote Sustaining the Speaker on a Ruling.

WAR FEVER STRONG IN CONGRESS.

Washington, March 30.—(Bailley, democratic leader, presented to the house as a matter of privilege a resolution recognizing the independence of Cuba. A perfect whirlwind of applause overwhelmed the speaker from the galleries.

Buttelle made a point of order against it.

Bailley, speaking to a point of order, declared that he had no purpose to raise disorder in the house. He believed he had the right to make it.

The greatest confusion and excitement prevailed. Bailley said the house had the right to decide this question and accept the responsibility.

Bailley cited a precedent in the Fifty-third congress when on a similar question the speaker of the house and the republicans all voted against a ruling of Speaker Crisp, holding that the Hawaiian resolution offered by Buttelle, while in order, must go to a committee and was not privileged for immediate consideration.

The democrats and the galleries repeatedly applauded.

Buttelle replied, detailing the circumstances of the precedent, but contending that the ruling was erroneous.

Hull, chairman of the military affairs committee, who is at the head of the radical republicans, arose to rally his followers against the resolution at this time. He was willing to go as far as any one in aid of the struggling patriots of Cuba, but wanted everything done in an orderly way.

Hopkins, who presided at the meeting of the radical republicans last evening, said that the resolution should go to a committee. He was not willing to be carried off his feet to overturn the rules of the house.

Speaker Reed ruled that the question of war and the independence of Cuba did not constitute a question of privilege, and would not, he thought, at any time, except in times of great excitement. The speaker sustained the point of order.

Bailley appealed from the ruling.

Speaker Reed, after the appeal, stated that he had no doubt but that the ends sought to be arrived at in the resolution would be secured in an honorable and satisfactory manner.

Bailley said he had no doubt that the remark was intended to stiffen the backbone of the republican members.

On laying the appeal on the table a standing vote showed 178 to 137. No republican was seen voting in the negative.

On roll call the appeal was laid on the table by 179 yeas to 139 nays.

Two republicans, Acheson and Robins, Penn., voted with the democrats against the speaker's ruling.

Representative Adamson, Georgia, introduced a resolution recognizing the republic of Cuba and authorizing the president to accredit a minister to that government.

Representative Mahany (N. Y.) introduced a joint resolution recognizing the Cuban republic as a free and independent state and welcoming her to the "sisterhood of republics in the western world."

Representative Todd, Michigan, introduced a resolution declaring that a state of war exists between the United States and Spain.

The house resumed consideration of the naval bill.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.
Minister Woodford Holds a Conference With the Spanish Premier.

Washington, March 30.—The president has received a cablegram from Minister Woodford, in which he says he had a conference with Premier Sagasta. As the latter desires to place the matter before the queen regent and other members of the ministry, the conference adjourned until Thursday. Woodford's message gives the president hope that the final settlement of the question at issue may be determined at to-morrow's conference. The main question discussed at the meeting between Minister Woodford and Premier Sagasta was the prompt cessation of hostilities in Cuba and the release of the reconcentrados with permission for them to return to their homes and resume their occupations without further molestation. The plan involves indemnity.

THE GRANTS HOLD-UP!

No Trace of the Grants Train Robbers.

Engineer Workman Tells His Story of the Hold-Up.

There were Five Men and They were Heavily Armed.

CONDUCTOR BERRY KNOWS LITTLE.

The attempted hold-up of the No. 1 passenger train at Grants, on the Santa Fe Pacific, early yesterday morning, is still the topic of general talk among our citizens, although the war news and the approaching city election seems to hold the attention of some of our readers very closely.

The several parties in pursuit of the robbers, are still in the field, and if they are as successful in ending the domination of the bandits to escape justice—which is a hanging offense in this territory—the robbers will surely be shrewd enough to keep entirely away from the officers.

No word of any consequence has been received by the local officers or the railroad company, at this place, to warrant the assertion that the posse are on a "hot trail," but as the posse contain some very determined men, who are well armed, it is fair to presume that they will give the bandits a lively race and that no further trouble will be experienced by the railroad company for some time to come.

It is learned here to-day that Frank Vigil, chief deputy sheriff of Valencia county, came in from the south last night, and hastened to Grants early this morning, where he goes into the field with several trusted deputies.

As far as THE CITIZEN can learn, the robbers took to the mountains—a veritable hiding place for bandits—where they had their horses hitched, and after firing at the depot had ceased and the train pulled out, the bandits rode off in the direction of the Mogollons.

The several interviews published below give a true account of the attempted hold-up.

ENGINEER WORKMAN'S STORY.
R. A. Workman, the engineer on the No. 1 passenger train, west-bound, which was held-up by robbers at Grants early yesterday morning, brought in the No. 2 last night, and was seen this morning by THE CITIZEN representative. He said:

"We made the regular stop at Grants, a few minutes behind time. I got off on the left side of the engine, with my torch, to oil. The engine had not stopped so I could oil it as I wished, and I then stepped back to the gangway to tell the fireman to move up a little. Just as I got to gangway two Winchester were shoved into my face. The men were in the cab of the engine. I was so surprised that I did not appreciate the danger instantly, until I heard one of the men remark, 'Culadado,' meaning 'lookout,' and the click of the hammer of the two Winchesters was very plain. I then moved to the rear of the engine, and there was confronted by three more men with guns. At this juncture, Charles Remo, brakeman, came up to the engine and I yelled to him: 'Go back; we are held up.' I then made my way to the depot and notified the agent that 'we were held up,' and was walking with my lighted torch, as a target, if the robbers desired to kill. While at the depot the train started, and not knowing who was at the throttle of engine and what was going to happen, I attempted to reach the engine, when the firing of guns commenced. I, however, jumped on the cars, and the train was pulled away from the depot three or four lengths. As soon as the train stopped, I looked through the train for Conductor Berry and found him missing. Just then the shooting ceased, and Charles Fowler, guard, came up and said: 'All right; I then went to the engine and I whistled for my fireman, but got no answer. I backed the train to Grants, and Conductor Berry got on. Fowler and myself then started to find Jackson Lathrop, the fireman, and discovered him creeping toward the train in a crippled condition, having been shot in the leg. We put him on a tourist car, after which the train pulled out for the west with Brakenham Remo acting as fireman. At Bluewater Will Gibson, from freight engine 60, was taken on, and he acted as fireman to Gallup."

"How many men did you see?" was asked.

"Two men were in the gangway and three at the rear end of the engine, and they were heavily armed," answered Mr. Workman.

"Did one of the robbers shoot Lathrop, or was he hit by a stray bullet from the guard?"

"That question I cannot answer positively. There was considerable shooting going on and bullets were flying in all directions. However, when Lathrop came up to the engine he asked Fowler if he was shooting under the cars, and the latter remarked: 'Yes,' to which Lathrop replied that it must have been one of his bullets that struck him."

Mr. Workman also stated that in the excitement he could not say that one of the robbers was shot. He only hopes, however, that the claim of Guard Fowler that he struck one of the bandits with a bullet is correct.

CONDUCTOR BERRY'S STORY.
Conductor Berry, who figured in the hold-up at Grants, came in with No. 2 from the west last night. He was seen at his residence on Stover avenue, but the gentleman was feeling badly and rather non-communative. Conductor Berry knows very little about the hold-up; got off train when it stopped; went to station, when firing commenced; got out of the range of firing, when the train was then moved away from station, leaving him at station.

JACKSON LATHROP'S STORY.
Jackson Lathrop, the fireman who was shot in the right leg, just below the knee, in the cross fire between the robbers and Charles Fowler, was seen at the hospital to-day and his version of the affair secured. He said:

"While we were stopping at Grants and when I was alone in the engine, Engineer Workman being on the platform, two men entered the cab, armed with six-shooters and Winchesters. They commanded me to go ahead with the train, and I complied. As soon as we got started they began to shoot into the cab, and this was the first shooting that was done. One of the men had the barrel of his gun under my nose as he fired and my face was powder-burned."

"When we were out about a mile from Grants, the two robbers ordered the train stopped, and took me out to the express car, where shooting commenced on both sides. One of the first shots took effect in my leg, and I then managed to make my escape. I crawled almost the entire way to Grants, when others came to my assistance and carried me in."

"The shooting lasted for nearly ten minutes, and had it not been for the great excitement incident to such occasions, there would have been no difficulty in having killed every one of the robbers, as it was a bright moonlight night."

"I do not know how many robbers there were engaged in the enterprise. The only one I saw were the two who had me in charge. I did not see any of the robbers get shot."

Mr. Lathrop is raising very quietly at present, and the attending physicians are confident of a speedy and complete recovery.

THE PARKER CASE.
A rehearing applied for—Sentence will not be passed till it is heard.

Prescott, March 30.—Those who expected that sentence would be passed on Parker Monday, for his wanton murder of Lee Norris in May of last year, were doomed to disappointment. It appears that just prior to adjournment of the supreme court a motion for a rehearing of the case was filed before that body. This application simply means that the members of the supreme court are asked to reopen the case again and reverse their former decision. Supreme court does not meet again till April 15. So long as this motion is pending a remittitur in the case can not be sent to the district court and in the absence of this remittitur sentence will not be pronounced again, and Parker's attorneys hope to be able to prolong his life for several months yet, perhaps for a year.

POLICE COURT NEWS.
A large and motley array of vagrant characters appeared before Justice Crawford this morning. Albert Wall, James Kakin, William Anderson, Joseph Foster, Howard Dickey, John Carson, Alex. Larvek, John Johnson, J. A. Howard and George Avery were arrested last evening while gathered about a fire which they had built in the railroad yards. They were all prepared to move on and Marshal Cobert was requested to escort them to the limits of the city, where they spread out in every direction, some going north, others south and a few west.

A. L. Skidmore, who was arrested at the same time, had a more serious charge to answer, a six shooter having been found in his possession. He was given sixty days in the county jail.

Frank McCabe was arrested for making a fire in a box car and was given fifteen days.

REPUBLICAN CITY CONVENTION.

A delegate convention of the Republicans of the city of Albuquerque will be held at Grant's Opera House on Thursday evening, March 31, 1908, at 7:30, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the various city offices, viz:

One Mayor.
 One Clerk.
 One Treasurer.
 One Assessor from each ward.
 One member of the school board from each ward.

Each of the several wards will be entitled to a representation in said convention of fifteen delegates. Proxies can only be used by bona fide residents of wards from which a delegate is elected.

This week will decide whether President McKinley is to succeed himself.

The public schools of Santa Fe are reported to be in a demoralized condition.

The small boy has begun hiding away eggs for Easter Sunday, which is April 10.

You can estimate F. W. Clancy's majority for mayor anywhere from 300 to 500.

DELEGATE FERGUSON childishly says that Speaker Reed will not let him call up his land bill in the house.

The republicans of this territory will make the fight next fall on the platform of a high tariff and sound money.

SPEAKER REED is about to realize that congress is bigger than he is, and that the country is bigger than congress.

With her recent experience with fire, Chicago will hereafter limit the construction of buildings to ten stories.

The people of Silver City will re-elect Capt. J. W. Fleming for mayor. He has held the office ten years, and is popular with everybody.

OUR merchants are opening up large stocks of spring goods. The latest novelties in all lines can be found in the stores of the territorial metropolis.

The electric railway in Cairo, Egypt, is about twenty miles long. More than six hundred miles of American iron and copper wire have been used in this line.

The republican primaries last evening were harmonious, and sixty representative republicans were selected to attend the city republican convention, to be held at the opera house to-morrow night.

THE second ward will give a rousing republican majority this year. Joseph Lebe for alderman and R. W. Hopkins for school trustee are the most popular men in that ward, and will be elected beyond peradventure.

THE city political campaign will be a short one, ending next Monday night. It will give the chronic scandal mongers and born liars that infest every community a chance to scandal their neighbors who may happen to be nominated for any position.

THE franchised corporations will make a determined fight to beat Alderman Montfort in the first ward. Mr. Montfort the past year led in the council for reduction of water and electric light rates. He deserves the solid support of the taxpayers of his ward.

THE calamity howlers and those who will not be improved conditions in the business of the country shut their eyes and say nothing about the advance of wages in the coal mines, the glass works, the iron works, the pottery works and the railroads throughout the United States.

THE annual report of the railway department of the government of the Dominion of Canada treats of 141 railways for the last fiscal year. The report shows that the number of miles of completed railways was 16,067, an increase of three hundred miles. The number of miles in operation was 16,520.

RUSSIA is not commonly accounted a large manufacturer of silk, yet that nation consumes raw material to the value of $7,500,000 yearly. The mills are concentrated in the Moscow district, and are small, but very numerous. Since 1855 there have been 1,500 started, having a capacity of 9,000 looms.

IMPORTS of wool from Australia have averaged about 62,500,000 pounds during the past four years. Last year these imports were exceptionally large by reason of the efforts by European wool interests, to anticipate the change in the tariff and the imports were also large in 1895. Under normal conditions, however, it is unlikely that the average imports would exceed 50,000,000 pounds.

Miss Katie McQuade and John Horton were married at the hitch-hike on Sunday afternoon.

Both of Gallup.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Cotton are home again from their married visit to the bedside of Mr. Cotton's sister, Mrs. Williams. The invalid is much better, and has returned to her home in Ohio.

L. L. Henry is also in Gallup, but his sister died before he reached home, and his father, Judge Henry, was very ill during his stay, but convalescent before his departure.

A lecture at the Methodist church this evening, to be given by the Rev. J. W. Fleming, of Silver City. It is in town for a few days inspecting the several coal mines in this vicinity.

LeGrand Wilkerson came down from Pueblo to visit his parents for a few days before their departure for Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. B. F. Houtz and sons, Bert and John, returned from their future home in Florida, Kansas, where Mr. Houtz has located. Mr. and Mrs. Houtz and their pleasant family, during their long residence in Florida, have made many warm friends, who sincerely regret their departure, and wish them success in their new home.

LA LUZ.

From the Sacramento Chief.

More than twenty persons have located land south of La Luz within the past month.

The Fenwick round-up has started with the prospect of being a success.

Young applicants are plentiful on the trees and the peach trees are one mass of blossoms. A heavy fruit crop is almost assured here now.

Wayland Hoot, having completed a well three miles south of town, sixty feet deep, that has an inexhaustible supply of good water.

Forty-four thousand pounds of trees for the big park south of town, will arrive from the end of the railroad track.

New houses are going up at a rapid rate south of town. Land here that had no commercial value six months ago, is now eagerly sought for.

J. D. Baird has located his sawmill on the Kimberlin ranch, now owned by W. Ward, and will soon have it ready for sawing timber. Its location is twelve miles south of La Luz.

Some persons, without fear of the law, have been selling bad whisky to the Indians at Three Rivers, and in a drunken brawl recently an Indian woman was shot. If the Stollter catches that whisky seller he will be pretty certain to stop for a time in the Hotel Apache at Mesquite.

COPPER ZONE MINE.

Election of officers—Description of the property and the mine.

A meeting of the stockholders of the Copper Zone Mining company was held in this city the past week and the following officers and directors were elected: President, A. W. Tennant; vice president, A. B. Reinhardt; secretary and treasurer, C. A. Scheuch; directors, R. W. Samson and C. W. Hall, says the Santa Fe New Mexican.

The Copper Zone Mining company owns fourteen claims, all patented, in Mora county, twenty-seven miles northwest of Watrous, in the Guadalupe mining district. The property is nearly two miles long and one mile wide, with six veins of ore running parallel from thirty to forty feet apart, the full length of the land owned.

All the veins show development by shafts varying from twelve to 340 feet in depth, and the mine has paid from the very grass roots. On the surface the veins range from fourteen to twenty inches, four and one-half feet at forty in depth, four at fifty, four at 140 on one vein, and four and one-half at the bottom of the deepest shaft—340 feet.

The veins are true fissures, walls even and well defined, with a dip of about twelve feet to the 100.

The vein matter is termed "volcanic mud" and is found in almost vertical strata, thoroughly impregnated with copper glance nuggets, or nodules, varying from an ounce up to several hundred pounds, and running sixty to eighty per cent copper. It is evident these deposits were once in a fused state. In addition to the copper glance, many of the nuggets contain black oxide of copper, but the mass is rich, unique and beautiful.

With the nuggets removed, all the remainder of the vein matter runs the surface and one-half per cent copper at the surface and two per cent 140 feet down. The average of two lots, from the surface to a depth of 140 feet, returned seven and one-half per cent less nuggets, and fourteen per cent with the latter included. As depth is gained the vein increases steadily in size. The matter becomes richer and the nuggets larger and more numerous.

These high grade nuggets are about in the proportion of one ton in 40, and the vein matter, less the nuggets, will concentrate 15 to one, making a product running 50 to 60 per cent copper. The nuggets are so rich that they are ready for the refinery just as taken out.

For a year past a force of from ten to 15 men has been employed by the company in developing the property; the machinery already in place consists of a large hoister, boiler and 120-horse power engine and a concentrator will be added to the plant at once.

Mr. Tennant informed a New Mexican representative that the company would take the cross-cutting of the veins from the surface of the two national claims, and that the work of taking out ore would not be allowed to stop for a moment. The Copper Zone Mining company has its principal office in Santa Fe, and those interested in copper ore can see specimens by calling at Mr. Scheuch's place of business on the south side of the plaza.

Our prices again touch that responsive, economical chord in every buyer when such a tiny tax is put on sterling values. Simon Stern, the Railroad avenue clothier.

On the surface the veins range from fourteen to twenty inches, four and one-half feet at forty in depth, four at fifty, four at 140 on one vein, and four and one-half at the bottom of the deepest shaft—340 feet.

The veins are true fissures, walls even and well defined, with a dip of about twelve feet to the 100.

The vein matter is termed "volcanic mud" and is found in almost vertical strata, thoroughly impregnated with copper glance nuggets, or nodules, varying from an ounce up to several hundred pounds, and running sixty to eighty per cent copper. It is evident these deposits were once in a fused state. In addition to the copper glance, many of the nuggets contain black oxide of copper, but the mass is rich, unique and beautiful.

With the nuggets removed, all the remainder of the vein matter runs the surface and one-half per cent copper at the surface and two per cent 140 feet down. The average of two lots, from the surface to a depth of 140 feet, returned seven and one-half per cent less nuggets, and fourteen per cent with the latter included. As depth is gained the vein increases steadily in size. The matter becomes richer and the nuggets larger and more numerous.

These high grade nuggets are about in the proportion of one ton in 40, and the vein matter, less the nuggets, will concentrate 15 to one, making a product running 50 to 60 per cent copper. The nuggets are so rich that they are ready for the refinery just as taken out.

For a year past a force of from ten to 15 men has been employed by the company in developing the property; the machinery already in place consists of a large hoister, boiler and 120-horse power engine and a concentrator will be added to the plant at once.

Mr. Tennant informed a New Mexican representative that the company would take the cross-cutting of the veins from the surface of the two national claims, and that the work of taking out ore would not be allowed to stop for a moment. The Copper Zone Mining company has its principal office in Santa Fe, and those interested in copper ore can see specimens by calling at Mr. Scheuch's place of business on the south side of the plaza.

Our prices again touch that responsive, economical chord in every buyer when such a tiny tax is put on sterling values. Simon Stern, the Railroad avenue clothier.

C. G. Ford, a Southern Pacific engineer, on the west end, died in El Paso, in the Texas house. He had been a big drunk and is supposed to have brought his earthly career to a close by taking a dose of morphine.

The Williams News says: Fred Tingler, formerly a fireman out of Williams, now employed by the Wells Fargo Express company at Albuquerque, was married at that place last week to Miss Lulu, of the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railway.

Deputy Sheriff Martin Boggel, of Coconino county, left for Yuma with two convicts. One of them is the Frenchman who used to blow up a section of the Santa Fe Pacific track with dynamite a couple of months ago. His companion was a less important felon.

The El Paso & Northwestern has just received three new engines from the Baldwin locomotive works. All three are of the very latest pattern and weigh twenty tons light or 120 tons including coal and water. They are named, La Luz, Alamo and Tularosa.

J. C. Kipper, formerly conductor of the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix, but since connected with the Santa Fe Pacific at Winslow, resigned his position there and returned to Phoenix. Mr. Kipper is one of the owners of the Trinity garage, furnishing house and he will probably remain in that city and take charge of the business.

Brakeman Woods, of the Santa Fe, Prescott & Phoenix railroad, met with a very serious accident, and as a result of it he may prove a valuable asset to the Santa Fe Pacific at the Sisters' hospital and he says he cannot yet determine the extent of his injuries.

SHOES SOLD AT COST.

A Simpler, the Large Shoe Merchant, Going Out of Business.

Having concluded to go out of the retail shoe business in this city, A Simpler, commencing to-day, will sell his entire stock of shoes at cost.

He carries an $8,000 stock of shoes and of the very best makes. The stock is at present very complete, and it will pay persons to lay in a good supply of footwear now, for a similar opportunity to get such bargains will probably not be given for years in this city.

Those who come first will have a pick of the entire stock, and cannot fail to find something that suits their tastes. The sale will be continued until every pair of shoes in the store is sold, as well as the finding just what you want.

Words!

In advertising, like everywhere else, create a certain impression.

Actions!

Either verify and strengthen them or grind them to dust.

Our Intentions!

Like those of all other merchants, are to create the best possible impression with our words—our advertisements. Our highest aim is, has always been and will always be, to make the impression we have created a lasting and a growing one—by our actions, our prices and our goods, and by always having the combination of right prices and right qualities. If we say we are giving better values now in all lines, than have ever been offered before in the city, it may impress some that we are selling pretty cheap. This is an impression we can lighten for you, by showing you our goods and quoting again our prices. It may impress some (those who have never traded with us) that this is merely "talk," an impression which we can destroy in a minute, if you give us a chance to show you what we are doing. Here are a few items which must be seen to be appreciated:

Ladies' Wrappers!

Indigo Blue Print Wrappers . . . 65c
Perale Wrappers, in light, dark and medium colors, trimmed with braid, each $2.00, $1.40, $1.25 and . . . $1.00

THE HAMM CASE. Prosecution Still Submitting Evidence—Mrs. Keleher Gets a Divorce.

The Hamm embezzlement case is still on trial in the district court, and at time of going to press the prosecution is still examining witnesses.

Yesterday afternoon was taken up with the cross-examination of G. H. Browne, the book-keeper for Mr. Potney, and he was very closely questioned as to the figures and statements he had submitted to the jury.

This morning Harry Lee, the stenographer in the suit of V. P. Edie for a dissolution of partnership with Mr. Hamm, was on the witness stand. He testified that between March 2 and 15, 1927, 2,000 head of sheep were sold by Mr. Hamm at Potney for $7,419, and he remitted $2,100 to Mr. Edie, who paid $2,000 to Mr. Potney and $50 to Eugene Hagen for legal services, while the balance was unaccounted for.

M. W. Flournoy, vice president of the First National bank, testified this afternoon that in August last, shortly after Mr. Hamm had been arrested, Mr. Hamm, Jr., came to the bank and drew a draft on Clay, Robinson & Co. for $1,000 and received a certified check for the amount which he took to John Barracough and tendered it on condition that he would go on his father's bond.

Mr. Barracough testified to the check being tendered him if he would go on Mr. Hamm's bond.

A motion was made by the defendant's attorneys to take the case from the jury. Motion was overruled by the court.

Mrs. Jessie Keleher was granted an absolute divorce from her husband, Thos. F. Keleher, this morning by Judge Crumpacker. The custody and education of Eugene and Margaret Keleher are entrusted to her and the custody of Thos. F. and Jesse Keleher to Mr. Keleher.

The defendant is to pay an alimony of $90 per month, $30 of which is to be used by plaintiff to support herself and $10 each for the support of the two children in her custody.

The Albuquerque public library association will hold its regular monthly meeting at 10:30 a. m., Saturday, April 2. This is to be a meeting of unusual interest, and it is hoped that all will attend.
