TERRITORIAL BASEBALL LEAGUE.

A Denver Enthusiast Working on the Scheme to Organize.

Efforts are being made to establish a territorial baseball league. James W. Douglas, a Denver sporting enthusiast has made the rounds of territorial points and created considerable interest. Mr. Douglas suggests a circuit consisting of Santa Fe, Albuquerque, El Paso, Deming, Las Vegas, Silver City and Raton, operating on the same plan as that adopted by the Colorado league, which has a circuit containing Denver, Leadville, Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Boulder and Fort Collins. The league here has the traveling expense and even on the mileage question so that travel between distant points works no hardship on the players. A team from Santa Fe is now in the city, and a good deal of interest is being manifested in the scheme.

Colorado clubs would play with the New Mexico and Arizona teams, and to the sport. The Gulf team under the management of Bert Davis, has already decided to visit the Albuquerque fair and meet the territorial teams.
