IN HANDS OF JAPANESE

The Russian Reply to the Mikado's Terms Was Delivered This Morning

BY SERGIUS WITTE

Response of Baron Komura and Associates Will Be Ready Either This Afternoon or Tomorrow.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—The meeting of the peace conference this morning lasted little more than an hour. The Russian reply was delivered by Mr. Witte and the meeting was adjourned to give Baron Komura and his colleagues an opportunity to examine the document. Mr. Witte indicated courteously that he would expect the same expedition in the Japanese response as had been observed in the preparation of the Russian reply and this was readily assented to. The Russian envoys immediately returned to their hotel while the Japanese remained at the navy yard. The Japanese plenipotentiaries have agreed to make their response to the Russian reply at 3 o'clock this afternoon or at the same time tomorrow. The Associated Press is in a position to state that the Japanese believe the Russians have been laying the foundation for the claim that the responsibility for a rupture, if one comes, will have been due to their intransigent attitude. They have decided, in the case of a break, to take steps to disprove any such claim.

Russia is Not Responsible for the War.

The Russian reply to the Japanese terms declines to admit discussion upon two points—indemnity and the cession of Sakhalin. Others it accepts and still others it accepts conditionally. It sets forth the reasons and the arguments for the decision reached in each case. The argument against the payment of an indemnity or the cession of territory is based upon the general theory that Russia is not responsible for the war and that as Russia is still prepared to continue the struggle and has sought this meeting, no, as a vanquished country begging for terms but because she sincerely desired peace if honorable peace is possible, therefore she could neither agree to foot the Japanese bill for war expenses nor cede territory.

Very Little Hope of an Agreement.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—Dispatches from Portsmouth make it clear that unless there is a very substantial abatement of the demands of the Japanese plenipotentiaries, which is unlikely, the peace conference will come to a sudden conclusion. The two nations are so wide apart that all hope of an agreement is practically abandoned here. It is probable that the next session will end with final adjournment and Mr. Witte may sail for Europe very shortly.

Marshal Oyama Only Waits for News of Rupture to Begin Attack.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 12.—So pessimistic is the feeling among those in the confidence of both sides that the prediction was made that if a meeting should be held this afternoon it might be the last and the history of the "Washington conference" would be abruptly concluded today. If the negotiations are broken off Marshal Oyama will immediately give battle to General Linvitch. The Associated Press learns from unimpeachable source that Marshal Oyama's plans are perfected, his armies ready and he only awaits the signal that a rupture has occurred to launch his attack.

WESTERN PACIFIC CONTRACT LET.

Kansas City Firm Is Said to Have Secured It From the Gould Interests at Cost of $11,000,000.

Kansas City, August 12.—It is reported among railroad men and contractors here that the William Kennefick Construction Company of Kansas City had secured the contract for building the Western Pacific Railway.

The road is to be built by the Gould interests from Salt Lake to San Francisco at a cost of $11,000,000. The contract is the largest single contract for railroad work ever made in the United States.

Mr. Kennefick is not in Kansas City. S. N. Lee, who is interested in the construction company, is in New York City, where the contract was let.

CHIEF OF POLICE INJURED.

Bomb is Thrown at Official at Radol, Russian Poland—Another Fatality at Warsaw.

Radol, Russian Poland, Aug. 12.—The chief of police of this city received many wounds from fragments of a bomb thrown at him today.

Another Assassination at Warsaw. Warsaw, Aug. 12.—The long list of murders, resulting from the strike was increased by the assassination of Manager Liliprau, of the Iron works, who was shot down in his residence by strikers today.

BOILER MAKERS ARE DEFEATED.

The Santa Fe Wins in the Strike and the Union Officials Have Conceded Their Failure.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 12.—The executive officers of the union boiler makers and iron shipbuilders of America have evidently decided that the strike against the Santa Fe Railway, called last spring, is hopeless. In a circular to all the members of the union George F. Dunn, grand president and organizer, says that he believes the statement of Vice President Kendrick of the Santa Fe, in which the latter says that no union boiler makers will ever again be employed by the company. Mr. Dunn advises the men who are out to secure other jobs immediately, as the union cannot continue to pay them benefits on a hopeless strike. This really means that the boiler makers' strike on the Santa Fe is a failure, although President Dunn asserts that he will never formally call it off.

The boiler makers' strike has nothing to do with the machinists' strike which has now been going on for fifteen months. The Machinists' International Union is still able to pay strike benefits to all of its men who are out at Topeka, and the officers claim that these benefits can be continued indefinitely.

MANY ACRES DESTROYED.

Fierce Forest Fires Are Raging in Idaho and in British Columbia Near Nelson.

Wallace, Idaho, Aug. 12.—Forests are burning in several places between Slate Creek and St. Joe, the smoke rolling in huge volumes over eastern Idaho and western Montana. State Land Inspector Munson estimates that five thousand acres have been destroyed in Idaho this year by forest fires.

Ranches in Danger in British Columbia.

Nelson, B. C., Aug. 12.—Forest fires are raging in the low lying woods along the south bank of the Kootenai River, three miles below Nelson, and for a stretch of four miles the hillside is aflame. Many scattered ranches are in grave danger. At Ymir, twelve miles south of here, the whole Jubilee Mountain is on fire, the buildings of the Dundee mine have been destroyed and the Ymir mine is cut off by the destruction of all wagon roads.

QUARANTINE AFFECTS THE SANTA FE

Tickets Over the Road to Six of the Southern States Are Now Only Sold Subject to Delays.

Topeka, Kans., Aug. 12.—The yellow fever quarantine is being felt on railroads as far north as Topeka. The general passenger office of the Santa Fe has just issued a circular to all agents instructing them to sell tickets to all points in Arkansas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi and Alabama subject to delay. The words "Sold Subject to Quarantine Delays" are to be stamped on the back of every ticket sold to points in the states named. This means that the railroad is not liable for delays when the authorities of the states named refuse to let the company's trains carry people into their boundaries on account of the fever quarantine regulations.

NO OFFICIAL ROAD IS NAMED.

Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic Adopts a Reform This Year.

Topeka, Kansas, Aug. 12.—Department Commander P. H. Coney, of the Kansas Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a circular letter announcing that no one railroad will be designated as the official route to the national encampment at Denver this year. He thus avoids a bitter controversy which has usually characterized this part of the encampment business. He says in his letter:

The four main lines of railroads running to Denver through Kansas, to-wit, the Rock Island, the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific and the Missouri Pacific, will each be official routes, in charge of officially appointed G. A. R. officers.

ATTEMPT ON PRESIDENT'S LIFE.

Blanas Vicello Tries to Shoot Chief Executive of Buenos Ayres—Prevented By Aide-de-Camp.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Minister Beaupre at Buenos Ayres cables the state department today that a laborer named Blanas Vicello attempted to shoot President Manuel Quintana yesterday as the president's carriage was passing Retiro Park, but the president's aide-de-camp threw himself from the carriage upon the assailant and prevented him from shooting. The man was arrested and is supposed to be insane.

PRESIDENT AND PARTY ARRIVE AT OYSTER BAY.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 12.—President Roosevelt and party, on the return journey from Wilkesbarre and Chautauqua, reached Oyster Bay at 9:40 o'clock today.

FREE TRADE IS FAVORED

Members of the Taft Party Believe Philippine Products Should Be Admitted

WITHOUT ANY TARIFF

An Amendment to the Cooper Bill to That Effect Will Be Presented at the Next Session of Congress.

Manila, Aug. 12.—Mrs. Dubois, wife of Senator Fred T. Dubois, of Idaho, one of the party which is visiting the Philippines with Secretary Taft, was thrown from a carriage during a runaway and was taken to the hospital in an ambulance, where she lay for three hours, unconscious. Her injuries are not dangerous, however.

Mrs. Dubois, who was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Stafford, was out driving with the Staffords, their one year old baby and its governess. When the runaway occurred, she seized the baby and saved its life at the peril of her own.

Now that the party has been in the islands for over a week, the consensus of opinion of the majority of its members on the free admission of Philippine products into the markets of the United States has been obtained. It can be stated, without fear of contradiction that the leaders of the opposition to the policy of the reduction of the Dingley tariff have convinced themselves that the sugar and tobacco from the islands will in no way menace like products of the United States. It can be stated, upon no less authority than Representative C. H. Grosvenor, of Ohio, that the Cooper bill, which was favorably reported by the House committee at the last session of Congress, will now be amended providing for free trade. Instead of the proposed reduction of twenty-five per cent on the prevailing Dingley rates. Mr. Grosvenor says: "An amendment will be offered by Representative S. E. Payne, of New York, chairman of the committee on ways and means, providing for the free admission of Philippine products and the outlook for its passage is very favorable."

ROSWELL MAN DETAINED AT DENVER SANITARIUM.

Denver, Colo., Aug. 12.—The lunacy of Hall Hortenstein takes unusual turns. Hortenstein, while in Denver recently contracted for the purchase of $10,000 worth of laundry machinery and a Wayne automobile, although he had not a penny in the world. It was also shown that on the night preceding his wedding six weeks ago, he gave a spread to a number of his friends that cost him, or rather, his mother who footed the bills, $200. These financial transactions were the first evidence Hortenstein gave of an unsound mental condition, but a week ago, at his home in Roswell, New Mexico, he suffered an epileptic stroke, which has left his mind deranged. His young bride of six weeks is prostrated over the shock, and was too ill to appear at the hearing today. Hortenstein will be detained in Woodcroft sanitarium.

STUDYING TREE PLANTING ALONG AMERICAN RAILWAYS.

Washington, Aug. 12.—The forestry service has begun a series of experiments to determine the value of the scrub pine for paper making purposes. It is hoped that this timber can be utilized to relieve the demand for spruce, which is very heavy. Tree plantations made by railroads are also being studied by the service with the view of gathering such statistics of success or failure as may aid it when called upon by railroads hereafter to supply plants for other work in forest extension. The plantations of the Boston and Maine and the Norfolk and Western roads have first been taken up, but the scope of the studies will include the principal roads east of the Rocky Mountains which have had experience in tree planting.

OPENING OF LIPTON CUP RACES THIS AFTERNOON.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 12.—This afternoon the first of the yacht races for the Lipton Cup will be sailed under the auspices of the Columbia Yacht Club. The yacht clubs of Milwaukee, Detroit and Chicago will be represented by their swiftest yachts and a spirited contest is expected. Last year the cup was won by the Ste. Claire of Detroit. It will again compete this year, as will the Spray, of Detroit, which won second place at last years races.

SHEA RE-ELECTED BY A NARROW MARGIN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—Cornelius P. Shea, of Chicago, was today re-elected president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters by a vote of 129 to 121, defeating Daniel Furman, of Chicago.

PAJARITO CLIFF HOMES

Wonderful and Highly Interesting Prehistoric Ruins in Abundance

MAGNIFICENT SCENERY

Within Twenty-five Miles of Santa Fe Which Could Be Comfortably Reached by Wagon Road.

Professor Edgar L. Hewett, of the U. S. Bureau of Ethnology, where he holds an important position, and who is an authority on the archaeology and history of New Mexico, in his talk before the Board of Trade in this city last night said in part:

There are three centers of interest in Pajarito Park. These are the Puye, the Pajarito and Rito de los Frijoles. The first includes the numerous cliff dwellings and Pueblo ruins of Puye, Shufline, the Chupadero and adjacent canons and mesas. The best known and most visited portion of the Park at present, because it is easily accessible by wagon road in three hours from Espanola. The second group, that of the Pajarito, is reached by wagon trail from San Ildefonso. This group is the least known of either of the three and includes the vast clusters of cliff dwellings and Pueblo ruins of Pajarito, Otowi, Tsaukawi, Sandia, Navajo and adjacent canons and mesas. The scenery of this section is magnificent and the ruins of surpassing interest.

Some 1,500 specimens, including pottery, and implements of clay, stone, bone and wood, have been sent from this section to the U. S. National Museum during the present summer by Mr. Hewett, and as yet one can scarcely see where the excavations have been made.

The third section of interest is the extreme southern part of the district and may be called the Rito de los Frijoles group. This region was made known by the great pioneer of American archaeologists, Mr. Bandelier, in his reports to the American Institute of Archaeology, and in his interesting novel "The Delight Makers," destined to be much more widely read in the future as people come to know the cliff dwellings from personal inspection, and learn that the works of Mr. Bandelier give an accurate picture of the old cliff dwelling life.

This region includes the ruins of Kuapa and Pueblo Viego (old Cochiti) in Canada de Cochiti, the cliff dwellings and La Cueva Pintada (the Painted Cave) in Canada de la Cueta Colorado, the ruins of Haiste on Mesa Capulin, the stone Pumas and Pueblo of Yashapi on Potrero de las Vacas, the stone Pumas (one now destroyed) of Potrero de los Idolos, the Pueblo ruins and cliff dwellings of Rito de los Frijoles and many other interesting places.

When we consider the magnificent scenery of this section and add to it the intense human interest attached to it, we have probably the most beautiful and interesting spot in New Mexico, and one of the most interesting on the American continent. This section can now be reached only by horse trail from Cochiti, or from San Ildefonso by the burro trail down White Rock Canon.

The three districts described are on government land and under withdrawal from all entry pending Congressional action on the bill creating the Pajarito National Park. This measure has been kept constantly before Congress by Congressman Lacey and ex Delegate Rodey at every session for four or five years, but has never yet reached a vote. There is now no opposition to the bill either at home or abroad. In fact, historical societies as far east as New York are giving it most enthusiastic support. It is merely a question of securing a vote on the bill amid the many large questions which are absorbing the attention of Congress.

The Rito de los Frijoles group is not included in the bill as the lines were last drawn. It would be a great loss to omit it. It is but twenty miles in an air line from Santa Fe and could probably be reached by wagon road from this place in twenty-five miles, a drive of about four hours. It is hardly to be questioned that the author of the bill, Mr. Lacey, and the commissioner of the general land office would include this portion within the National Park boundaries if requested to do so by influential persons and organizations of Santa Fe. Then, if made tributary to the Capital City by a good carriage road, it would give to this place one of the unique pleasure grounds of America. But it is more than a local matter. It is a national matter and it is certain that the government will do its part toward making this spot accessible to the public. The policy of regarding such places as national property and for national use, is absolutely fixed. Furthermore, it is eminently a state of territorial matter. What could be more commendable than for New Mexico to make accessible to the thousands of travelers and pleasure seekers

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM.

Upon the Death of the Late Archbishop Chapelle Passed by Commercial Club of Socorro.

Special to the New Mexican.

Socorro, N. M., Aug. 12.—The Commercial Club of this town held a largely attended meeting last evening, at which appropriate resolutions upon the life and death of the late Archbishop Placido Louis Chapelle, who died in New Orleans on Tuesday of this week of yellow fever, were adopted. The Archbishop, while presiding over the Catholic arch-diocese of Santa Fe, became well known here and had many friends and admirers in this city.

TO LESSEN DANGER FROM FLOOD WATERS.

Pueblo, Colo., Aug. 12.—Both the Santa Fe and the Denver & Rio Grande have corps of surveyors in the field between Pueblo and Florence making surveys for changing their rights of way between the two cities. The tracks of both roads will be moved back from the banks of the Arkansas River to the bluffs, so as to lessen the danger of flood waters. The curves will also be reduced wherever practicable, and other extensive improvements made. The work will be started within the next ten days and will represent an expenditure of about $60,000.

ers that annually pass through the Territory, the most interesting spot within its borders. It would seem almost certain that if this matter is properly presented, the legislature would favor the small appropriation necessary to construct this road with convict labor.

There are two things for Santa Fe to do in this matter, and that at an early date. First, if the people desire it, request Congressman Lacey and Commissioner Richards to include the Rito de los Frijoles and the contiguous area within the national park limits. Second: Ascertain at an early date, by the sending out of an engineer, whether the construction of a carriage road from Santa Fe to the mouth of the Rito de los Frijoles, across the Caja del Rio Grant, is a feasible proposition and can be accomplished at moderate expense. If favorably reported upon the matter should then be laid before the next legislative assembly. But Santa Fe should take the initiative and show its interest in the matter, by bearing the initial expense of a survey for the proposed road.

CHRISTENED WITH WATER

Battleship Kansas Launched in Accordance With Prohibition Views.

MISS HOCH HAS SPONSOR

Daughter of the Governor of the Sunflower State Breaks Bottle of Agua Pura Over Bow of Vessel.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 12.—The battleship, Kansas, the largest war vessel ever built in the east, was launched today at the yard of the New York Ship Building Company, in Camden, New Jersey. The launching was witnessed by Governor Hoch, of Kansas, whose daughter acted as sponsor for the ship. The vessel was christened with spring water instead of the customary bottle of champagne.

Launching of the Kansas.

Camden, N. J., Aug. 12.—The United States battleship Kansas will be launched at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company this afternoon. Everything is ready for the event and it promises to be one of the most brilliant launchings ever witnessed in this city. Governor Hoch of Kansas, Miss Anna Hoch, his youngest daughter, and his entire staff as well as a large delegation of state officials and prominent citizens of the Sunflower State arrived here this morning by special train, to attend the launching of the new battleship. Miss Hoch will perform the ceremony of baptizing the big ironclad.

Nearly all the naval officers connected with the League Island Navy Yard and many of those connected with the navy department in Washington will attend the ceremony and there will also be a large contingent of visitors from New York, Philadelphia and other cities on the Atlantic coast. Governor Hoch preferred the use of water for christening the new battleship and Miss Hoch made a new precedent by breaking a bottle of spring water against the bow of the ship at the moment when it slid down into the water.

Ship's Dimensions and Armament.

The keel of the Kansas was laid on February 1, 1904. The Kansas is a sister ship to the Vermont, now building at Quincy, Mass., and will have the same armament as the Minnesota, launched at Newport News a few months ago, and as the Connecticut. The measurements of the new battleship are as follows: Length over all, 456 feet 4 inches; length between perpendiculars, 450 feet; extreme beam to outside of armor, 76 feet 10 inches. Trial displacement, 16,000 tons. The warship will be heavily armored, and her battery will be formidable, the main one consisting of four 12-inch, eight 8-inch and twelve 7-inch guns, while the secondary battery will be twenty 3-inch, twelve 3-pounder semi-automatics; six 1-pounder automatics, two machine guns of .30 caliber and six automatic guns of .30 caliber. She will be fitted with twin screws and will be required to steam eighteen knots an hour. She will have accommodations for 800 officers and men.

LET'S BUILD ROADS.

Let's build "good" roads. Let Santa Fe be the hub, from which like the spokes of a wheel, "good" roads will lead in every direction. Let one of these spokes be the famous Scenic Highway the grandeur of whose vistas strikes the lips dumb and causes the tears to start. Let another spoke be the road to the mysterious cliff dwellings and passing through three Pueblo villages dim with age. Let a third spoke strike boldly across the mesa from Agua Fria after passing the monument to Governor Perez and skirting by the crater, cross the White Rock Canon and the weird Lions of Cochiti to the communal buildings and caves of the Rito de los Frijoles of the Parajito Cliff Dwellers' Park. A fourth spoke would go to Bonanza, the turquoise mines of Turquesa, the lead mines and smelter of Cerrillos, the coal mines of Hagan, the gold placers of Golden, the copper mine and smelter of San Pedro to the fertile Estancia plain or to the ancient grove of apple trees at Manzano and still further to the ruins of Quana and Gran Quivira with their fabled buried treasures. A fifth spoke would be the Santa Fe trail over Apache Hill, by the quaint church at Canoncito to the battle field of Giorietta and the ruins of the Pecos church and thence for thirty miles along the Pecos River the most beautiful mountain and trout stream in the west. A sixth spoke would wind among the foothills of the Lake Peak, Mount Baldy, the Cobra Negra, the Truchas, by the Nambé Falls, through Chimayo, Sanuario, Penasco, and Taos Pass to Mora or straight along the foot of the mountains through Picuris to Taos. There are other roads to healing hot and mineral springs, to pueblos hoary with age, through deep forest, over flowered mesas, to ancient ruins, across fertile valleys, to mountain heights, by historic battle grounds, to sylvan lakes, to water falls, to trout streams, to scenic beauties of which the average resident of the plains never dreams. These roads do not need to be newly surveyed or laid out; they exist, they are used daily by heavy wagons, they are crossed by scores of other roads and trails, they are highways of profitable commerce, and all that Santa Fe needs to do is to keep them in as good condition as possible and to advertise them. Each spoke would add to the fame of the city already famous in the annals of the southwest; each spoke would bring its hundreds of tourists; each spoke would add to the prosperity of the city, for next to a railroad a good wagon road helps to build trade centers. It would not need to cost much; it would mean merely the judicious expenditure of money now collected for road and street purposes; the supervision of work by jail prisoners and whenever they could be secured from the penitentiary by convicts. There is no undertaking that would or could pay Santa Fe as well as looking after the many roads radiating from this point, the terminus of the most famous highway this country ever had, the Santa Fe trail. A good beginning has been made in the Scenic Highway and the road to Tesuque. Therefore, let's build roads, let's build good roads. Let's!

The New Mexican on another page of this issue, publishes in full, the letters on Santa Fe written by William E. Curtis, staff correspondent of the Chicago Record Herald describing his recent visit to the Capital of the Territory. The letters are very interesting and in the insistent pointed and cogent language of Mr. Curtis. They are well worth reading and preserving. Mr. Curtis calls "a spade a spade" and possesses a quick, bright, observing and trained mind. He presents the situation and conditions as he found and saw them from his standpoint, which is that of an experienced, fair minded and observing writer and newspaper man. The people of the cities he visited, namely, Raton, Las Vegas, Santa Fe and Albuquerque, should have heeded before he came, the words of the Scotch poet, "If thar be a hof in a yer couts, I riddle, ye'd tent it; A chiel is amang ye taking notes, And faith and he'll prent it."

THE SATISFACTORY CONDITION OF GRANT COUNTY SCHOOLS.

The annual report of superintendent of public schools A. N. White of Grant County, puts the school system of that county in a very good light and shows that it is in a very creditable condition. This present school year begins with a balance of over $13,000 in the treasury, which is certainly a good showing. Several of the districts having now on hand sufficient funds for the expenses of next year and with but few exceptions, the remaining districts will draw within the year funds sufficient for a fair term of school. The valuation placed upon the public school property of the county is conservative and makes a good showing for the schools and for the citizens of the county, many of whom have voluntarily contributed funds in the past to the school districts with which to erect suitable buildings. There are no special levies or school bonds in any of the districts. All districts own their own buildings, with the exception of three. In one of these, situated in the Burro Mountains in the camp where the Burro Mountain Copper Company is operating, a new building will be completed and ready for use by not later than November 1st, and possibly earlier. This mining company has donated a splendid site and has indicated its purpose of building the school house, free of charge to the district, except such voluntary donations as may be given by its employees and others. In the other two, arrangements are being made for the erection of modern buildings, which it is hoped will be done by November 1st also.

If these plans do not miscarry, and there is no reason to believe that they will, each of the 23 school districts will own a good sized, modern school building with good equipments before the close of the present year. Since the present superintendent, A. N. White, has been in office, dating from the first of January, 1901, Grant County has expended considerable money for good desks, slates, blackboards, school libraries, good maps, etc., endeavoring at all times to buy nothing which was not needed and which was not of the best. The New Mexican believes that none of the other counties can boast of better schools or better equipment. It is rare that any teacher, who is not the holder of a high grade second or first grade certificate, is employed. These things have been accomplished by harmonious efforts put forth by the directors, teachers and patrons.

Superintendent White expects that the Grant County schools will make a still better showing during the coming school year. Average attendance was considerably cut down last year by reason of the fall and winter floods and high water. In many of the districts, it was almost impossible to keep school at all, the pupils being unable to attend from these causes. This was especially true along the Mimbres and Gila Rivers.

The people of Grant County are certainly to be congratulated upon the efficiency and satisfactory condition of their schools and upon the fact that the sum of $13,000 is already available for the conduct of the schools for the next scholastic year. Superintendent White who is serving his third term in that office, has proven himself the right kind of a man for the important position which he now holds and which he has filled ably and creditably. Mr. White is a Democrat, and a staunch one at that. The New Mexican it is well known is a straight Republican paper but is always ready and willing to give credit where it is due, politics being no consideration in such matters. As far as the public school system of Grant County is concerned, the people, the children, the teachers, Superintendent White and last but not least, the tax payers, are entitled to just congratulations.

TIME WILL PROVE VALUE OF FOREST RESERVES.

Mining and stock men of southwestern New Mexico are complaining and protesting against the extension of the boundaries of the Gila Forest Reserve. This is not surprising for it takes time for both of these industries to adapt themselves to the regulations which have been established for the government of forest reserves. The New Mexican, however, believes that sooner or later every interest will acknowledge that the value of the forest reserves to New Mexico is so much greater than any temporary advantage to any industry, that they will praise the federal government for having been sufficiently farsighted to establish these reserves. Of course, there should also be a spirit of accommodation on the part of the forest reserve officials. Forest reserves are not established for the purpose of hampering mining operations or to discourage stock growers, but to help them as well as every other class of settlers. In governing a forest reserve of over 3,000,000 acres upon which live several thousand people and are located valuable mines and graze thousands of head of stock, office-made rules and regulations should not be applied as rigidly as they are in supervising a force of office clerks at Washington. But all in all, forest reserves are a vast benefit to the arid west and blessed is the day on which the federal government adopted the policy of establishing them.

It is gratifying to know that the new high school building in this city, which when finished, will cost $35,000, is being constructed at a satisfactory rate and that it looks as if it would be ready for occupancy before the snow flies. Score one and a good one in this instance for the Capital of the Territory.

A VIEW OF THE SITUATION IN ALBUQUERQUE.

The police system of the city of Albuquerque seems to be rotten to the core. Blackmailing unfortunate women, seems to be one of the chief and profitable pastimes of the force. The blame for this rests with the city administration, and with the lack of moral courage that seems to pervade certain classes of the population. In this connection, the Las Vegas Optic is of the opinion that the New Mexican ought to blame the people of Albuquerque more than it does the police force or the city administration, and this may be so. Certainly a healthy and strong public sentiment would put a speedy stop to the outrages recently reported from the Duke City. Says the Optic in this regard: "The New Mexican is arguing from the wrong premise when it roasts the Albuquerque police force so ably. The Albuquerque police have gone too far, but they have been carrying out the will of the Albuquerque council and the Albuquerque people. When one word of blame is given to the police, ten words should be given to the people who have made the methods employed possible."

A GOOD THING FOR THE CITY OF LAS VEGAS.

Las Vegas is in the swim. Its city council has just granted a franchise to W. A. Buddecke and associates for the extension of an electric street railway and an electric light and power system for its city, which franchise is to run 50 years. Mr. Buddecke agreeing to put in improvements to cost $150,000 within twelve months from the date of the franchise. To this franchise Mr. Buddecke binds himself to extend the present electric railway to the Hot Springs. The electric light system is to be kept up to the fullest needs of the city. While 50 years for a franchise is a very long time these days, still it looks as if the benefits to be derived therefrom will prove of great value that the length of time of the charter need not be considered as detrimental. It is a mighty good thing for the Meadow City that it has some energetic, live and go-ahead citizens. Would, the city of Santa Fe, could be justly placed in the same category.

Four officials of the Western Bank, which suspended in Denver last Wednesday, have been arrested on criminal charges. These are, that they received deposits knowing that the bank was insolvent. Under the Colorado statutes, such conduct is a felony. If they are guilty, very severe punishment should be meted out to them. There has been too much dishonesty by bank officials in late years, and too many poor people have been defrauded and robbed by men holding responsible positions in banks. It is high time that it were demonstrated that depositors have some rights and that the commonwealth will punish bank officers guilty of official dishonesty or other crimes.

It cannot be said that, from any but a Russian's standpoint, the demands of the Japanese are exorbitant. The principal terms they insist upon are the cession of the Island of Sakhalin, which up to 1865, was absolute territory and part of Japan, and the reimbursement of Japan's war expenses. Japan's demands are certainly not exorbitant. Nevertheless it is believed at this writing that Russia will not consent, although it is plain to the careful observer, that Russia can gain nothing by a continuance of the war, except loss in men, in prestige and in money. But the Muskovite is stubborn and ignorant.

W. C. Greene, the Arizona Copper King, stated in an interview with a reporter of the El Paso Herald recently, that he was almost certain that no joint statehood bill for New Mexico and Arizona would be enacted by the 59th Congress, and that being certain of this, he did not propose to bother about joint or separate state politics. Mr. Greene is in a position to know, but time will tell for a certainty. The situation will become very clear within the next three or four months, and in the meantime, there is neither rhyme nor reason for getting angry or becoming nervous over the situation.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

A Warning to Mothers.
Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give a child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any bowel trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of cholera infantum. For sale by all druggists.

MANY REQUESTS RECEIVED

By the Bureau of Immigration for its Bulletins and Pamphlets on New Mexico.

The demand for the publications of the Bureau of Immigration concerning the resources, conditions, climate, minerals and industries of the Territory keeps up, and, in fact, is steadily increasing. Double the amount of the appropriation made by the Territory for the maintenance of the Bureau could be used with much benefit and for extensive advertising of the Territory. Three letters just received by Colonel Frost, secretary of the Bureau, speak for themselves.

W. E. Lindsey, of Portales, a member of the Bureau of Immigration, receives many calls for the literature issued by the Bureau and has already distributed to applicants fifty copies of the pamphlet, "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine," and writes as follows: Portales, N. M., Aug. 5th, 1905.

Col. Max. Frost, Secretary Bureau of Immigration, Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Sir—I enclose you herewith clipping from the Portales Herald, date of August 4th, touching the Bureau bulletin entitled "Ho! to the Land of Sunshine." I have to say that the fifty copies you sent me are already exhausted, that I can place to good advantage at least five hundred and hope you may be able to furnish me with them at an early date.

Very truly yours,

W. E. LINDSEY.

Member Bureau of Immigration. A great many of the booklets on each county of the Territory have been sent to the different railway offices for distribution and that they meet the exigencies of the situation and the requirements of the homeseeker is clearly evidenced by the following letter from the colonization agent of the Santa Fe Railway:

Chicago, Aug. 2, 1905.

Col. Max. Frost, Secretary Bureau of Immigration, Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Sir—Our stock of the New Mexico county books of the following named counties is exhausted and I would be glad if you would send me an additional supply:

Grant, Luna, Colfax, Mora, Socorro, Valencia and Chaves. We have only twenty each for Santa Fe and Dona Ana and 90 each of Eddy and Bernalillo. We have a good stock of Roosevelt. Can you supply us with any more of these books?

Yours truly,

WM. NICHOLSON.

Colonization Agent, Santa Fe Railway. From the newest county in the Territory comes a request for literature as per the letter below:

Estancia, N. M., Aug. 7, 1905.

Col. Max. Frost, Secretary Bureau of Immigration, Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Sir—I would like 50 copies of your "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine." I have delayed writing you, thinking I would come up, but am afraid the supply will be exhausted before I get up there.

Yours very truly,

JOHN W. CORBETT, Probate Clerk of Torrance County. The pamphlet, "Ho! To the Land of Sunshine" is to be distributed in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois by C. L. Higday, of Lake Arthur, who writes as follows: Lake Arthur, Texas, Aug. 8th, 1905. Secretary of Immigration, Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Dear Sir—Your book "Ho! to the Land of Sunshine" came to hand, and I am very much pleased with it. I am going to make a trip soon through Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri and Illinois in the interest of the Pecos Valley.

Would be very glad to have some of your books to distribute where parties are interested in our country. If it is not asking too much of you, please send me what you can spare, and greatly oblige,

Yours respectfully,

C. L. HIGDAY.

Many inquiries concerning New Mexico are received from people in the north. Real estate men of the northern states are constantly requested for information of the resources and industries of this Territory and W. P. Turner, the secretary of the Pecos Valley Immigration Company at Roswell, writes:

Roswell, N. M., Aug. 9th, 1905.

Col. Max. Frost, Bureau of Immigration, Santa Fe, N. M.
Dear Sir—Kindly send us some of your pamphlets entitled "Ho! to the Land of Sunshine." We have quite a number of agents in the north, who are continually asking for information with reference to land laws and the public domain in the Territory of New Mexico. It is a good publication and answers questions which would otherwise take much time and research.

Yours truly,

W. P. TURNER, Secretary.

A few invited friends of the club and Mrs. Bartlett were present in addition to the members. The evening was spent in cards, music and conversation. Refreshments were served. In leaving the guests expressed their regrets at the coming departure of Mrs. Bartlett to Los Angeles.

Mrs. H. P. Christenson and daughter, Miss Julia Christenson, of Mankato, Minnesota, arrived last evening and are guests at the home of Hon. and Mrs. T. B. Catron, No. 210 Grant Avenue. Mrs. Christenson is a sister of Mrs. Catron, and is en route to El Paso where she will spend the winter with her son, Dr. Christenson. Both Mrs. Christenson and Miss Christenson are well known in the Capital City, having visited here a number of times.

Mrs. Louis Baer and little daughter, Julia, of Boston, who have been in the city for six weeks, visitors at the Staab residence, are preparing to leave during the latter part of next week on their return home. They will likely spend a few days en route at Trout Springs near Las Vegas on a visit to friends. Little Miss Julia, who is only 4 years of age, uses very charming and correct Boston English, and is certainly a Bostonese young woman of most pleasing appearance.

Captain A. W. Kimball, of the quartermaster's department of the United States Army, who recently, with his family, returned from a three years' tour of duty in the Philippine Islands, and who has spent the past week with relatives in Albuquerque, has gone to Chicago for two weeks, his family remaining in the Duke City for the time being. Captain Kimball is well known in Santa Fe, having resided here while his father, who was colonel in the quartermaster's department, was stationed here during the early 80s.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ross Entertain at Dinner.

Charles E. Ross, clerk in the office of the traveling auditor, and Mrs. Ross entertained friends at dinner last evening at their home on Manhattan Avenue. The dining room was tastefully decorated with flowers and ribbons, pink and white being the colors. After dinner the guests and host and hostess indulged in a game of duplicate whist, followed by music and conversation. Those present were Mrs. Summers, Miss Clara Olson, Miss Bright, Territorial Auditor W. G. Sargent, Assistant Secretary W. V. White, and E. C. Burke, clerk in the office of the attorney general. Mrs. Ross left this evening for the City of Mexico and will be absent from the Capital for six weeks.

Will Attend Lewis and Clark Exposition.

Hon. and Mrs. L. Bradford Prince left this morning, via the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad, for Portland, Oregon. They will visit the Lewis & Clark Exposition for some time, and Mr. Prince will attend the meetings of the National Irrigation Congress and Trans-Mississippi Commercial Congress while in Portland. Governor Prince is a permanent member of both congresses, having served two terms as president of each, and is also a delegate from the city of Santa Fe to both gatherings. He will return to Santa Fe about the first of September and Mrs. Prince will spend several weeks in San Francisco and Los Angeles before her return to the Capital.

Hon. and Mrs. L. Bradford Prince Entertain.

Monday evening Hon. and Mrs. L. Bradford Prince, and son, William Bradford Prince, entertained a party of young people at their beautiful home, No. 111 Palace Avenue, in honor of their guest, Miss Howland, of New York City. The spacious rooms of the Prince residence were prettily decorated with leaves and sweet peas, pink and green being the prevailing colors. The placita was brightly illuminated with Japanese lanterns and electric lights, with a number of cosy corners and lovers' nooks, with easy chairs and plenty of sofa pillows. The polished floors were excellent for dancing and the light fantastic was tripped by the guests until the wee sma' hours. Delicious refreshments were served promptly at midnight. Those present in addition to the hosts

Fascinating City of Santa Fe

FROM THE STANDPOINT OF A VETERAN JOURNALIST

The Good Work Accomplished by the Historical Society--Oldest Historic City in the United States.

BY WILLIAM E. CURTIS.

(Special Correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald.)

Santa Fe, N. M., July 28.—Santa Fe is a fascinating old town. Seventy-five years older than the ruins of Jamestown; eighty years older than Plymouth, and there is more history hanging around it than appertains to any other capital in the United States except Boston and Washington. No where has so much of the ancient atmosphere and so many of the original buildings been preserved. It is said that Santa Fe never changes. That is not strictly true. It has changed a great deal; I can see many improvements which were not here seven years ago; but the sanctity of age is respected here more than is customary in this generation of iconoclasts. There is a certain reverence which protects the ancient days.

Evidences of Santa Fe's Antiquity.
The Spanish came to explore here in 1530; their first invasion was 1540, when they baptized the Indians, established missions and built a church—old San Miguel, which is still standing, its decrepit walls being carefully supported by stone buttresses. The timbers of the roof and gallery, carefully carved and with designs burned in them with hot irons, will always have an interest which can be found in no other church in the United States. Across the street from San Miguel is an adobe house in which, it is said, Coronado was lodged when, in 1540, he visited the Indian pueblo called Tequayo that stood on the site of Santa Fe, and it is really the only remnant of the ancient pueblo still standing, but it is by no means the oldest house in America, as the people here would like to have us believe. There are a dozen Indian villages in the valley of the Rio Grande made up of similar houses, and every one of them is as old, if not older.

brick upon a foundation of granite, cruciform in shape, and crowned with a graceful dome. It is the second building from the same designs that has been built upon the same foundations. The first was completed in 1890 at a cost of $250,000, and was burned a short time after. The official reports stated that the fire was accidental, and it was said to have originated from a cigarette carelessly thrown aside, but many people believe it was the work of an incendiary, who was influenced by a hope that the destruction of the building might be followed by the removal of the seat of territorial government to Albuquerque. But if there was anything in that story the sacrifice was in vain. Another building rose slowly upon the old foundation at a cost of $100,000, and was completed and inaugurated in June, 1900. Forty dollars of the appropriation remained unexpended at the end, but the commissioners who had charge of the construction accepted no pay.

The Museums of the Historical Society.
The old palace is now given over chiefly to the Historical Society, whose museums are filled with valuable and until New Mexico was admitted as a Territory, and afterwards, as long as he lived, exercised a powerful influence among the native inhabitants. He was consulted and was celebrated for his long and eventful life; and, although he wrote little himself, he received communications from everybody of importance in that day, concerning questions and events of his time. He carefully filed them all away.

Governor Armijo's Proclamation.
These documents were divided between his two sons, and for fifty years they have lain in chests and store-rooms where nobody could see them. Although many historians have visited Santa Fe in search of material, they have applied in vain to Epifanio Vigil, who, under no circumstances, would permit his father's papers to be examined. After his death his sons sold them to the historical society. Then the brother at Las Vegas brought his share down to Santa Fe, where they are now being examined by Judge Prince and are found to be full of interest. There is a trunkful of letters and papers which have never been examined before, and they not only

General Kearney marched quietly into Santa Fe on August 19, 1846, and made a speech, which was responded to by Mr. Vigil. The latter, in behalf of the citizens, made pledges of loyalty to the government of the United States and promised allegiance to the new country. He said that the Americans, in imitating the example of Washing-asylum of pioneers from all the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, and he had the complete confidence of the Indians, who never disturbed him. But, strange as it may appear, he was assassinated a few days after his appointment as governor at the pueblo of Taos.

Brigadier General United States Army.

General Kearney's daughter, Mrs. Barstow of St. Louis, has recently presented his portrait to the historical society; and Mrs. Prince, regent of the Daughters of the Revolution, has erected in the plaza a tablet to mark the exact spot where he took possession of the Territory in the name of the United States.

The First Printing Ever Done Between the Missouri River and the Rio Grande.

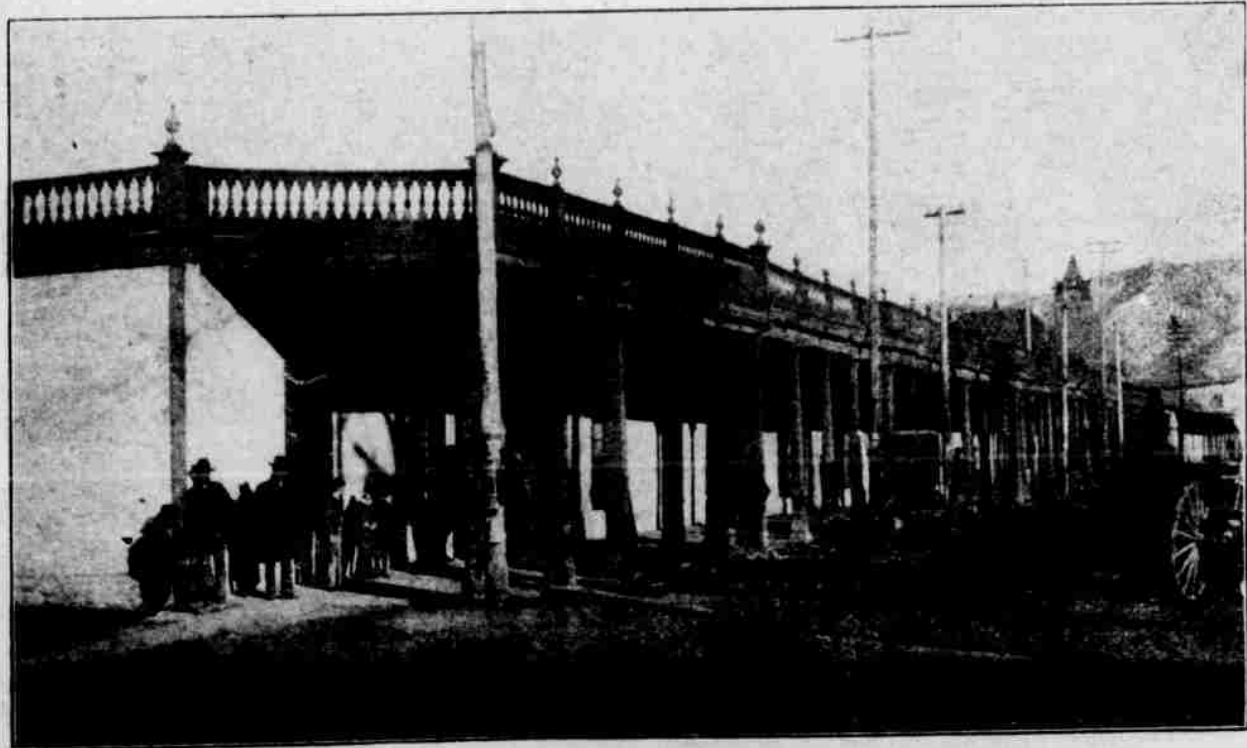

Among the other documents in the Vigil collection are files of the first newspaper printed in the Territory. A printing press was brought from the City of Mexico in 1835 by Albino Perez, who was appointed governor and Jesus Maria Baca came with him to operate it. When the press was set up the first work done was the publication of

THE CAPITOL OF NEW MEXICO.

ORCHARDS AT SANTA FE.

OLD GOVERNOR'S PALACE.

The Old Palace, the Former Seat of Power.

As Judge Prince says in the little guidebook to Santa Fe, "The ancient palace surpasses, in historic interest and value, any other object or place in the United States." It was built in 1603, and through all that long period until recently, when the new capitol was inaugurated, "under Spanish, Pueblo, Mexican or American control, it has been the seat of power and authority. Whether the ruler was called viceroys, captain general, political chief, department commander or governor, and whether he presided over a kingdom, a province or a territory, it has been his official residence." The palace has been occupied by fifty Spanish, fifteen Mexican and fifteen American governors. Governor Otero was the first to leave it. He now has an office in the basement of the beautiful new building which was erected a few years ago.

The New Capitol a Credit to the Territory.

The new capitol is a credit to the Territory. It is built of cream-colored interesting relics and documents. No state in the Union has so complete a record of its history, which is due to the enthusiasm and labor of Judge Prince, Max Frost and other patriotic members. The native Mexicans take very little interest in historical affairs. They have no libraries and do not care for documents, as was illustrated recently, when the society obtained a large quantity of papers of the greatest value from the family of Epifanio Vigil, a prominent citizen of Santa Fe and a son of Donaciano Vigil, the second governor of the Territory after its annexation to the United States.

The latter was a full-blood Spaniard, who had been a military officer under Santa Anna and was one of the most prominent citizens in northern Mexico. When anything happened in his section he was apt to come to the front either as a leader or advisor, and after Bent, the first governor of the Territory, was assassinated, January 25, 1847, at the pueblo of Taos, Vigil was picked out as the man of the hour and assumed authority and quieted the agitation. Vigil remained in power throw new light upon the history of New Mexico from 1840 to 1854, but contain several important original documents which were not supposed to be in existence. Among others is the original of the proclamation of the Mexican Governor Armijo, issued when he started north from Santa Fe in 1846 to drive the "gringos" from Mexican soil. He calls upon the people to rise in defense of their country and support the Mexican authorities, and he defies the Yankee invaders to approach the capital, threatening them with horrible penalties if they dared to do such a thing. Six days later General Stephen W. Kearney took possession of Armijo's palace and issued an entirely different proclamation to the people.

The American Occupation of Santa Fe.

When the Mexicans, under their bombastic governor, met the Yankees at Glorieta Pass, about thirty miles north of this city, and Armijo saw what he was "up against," he turned about and did not stop until he reached the City of Mexico, and his forces were scattered all the way down the valley.

ton, had excited the admiration of all the world.

General Kearney, upon taking possession of the palace, issued a modest, American-like proclamation announcing the appointment of a full set of officials. It was printed upon cheap paper in the form of small "dodgers" for general distribution, and one of these was found among the Vigil papers.

Charles Bent, who was appointed governor, was the proprietor of "Bent's Fort," a trading post on the Arkansas River and one of the principal stopping places on the Santa Fe trail. He was one of the earliest and most influential of the white population of the Territory. His "fort" was the refuge and

The First Appearance in Public Life of Frank P. Blair.

You will also notice that Frank P. Blair was appointed district attorney. That was the first appearance in public life of the future senator and Republican leader from Missouri. The proclamation reads as follows:

NOTICE.

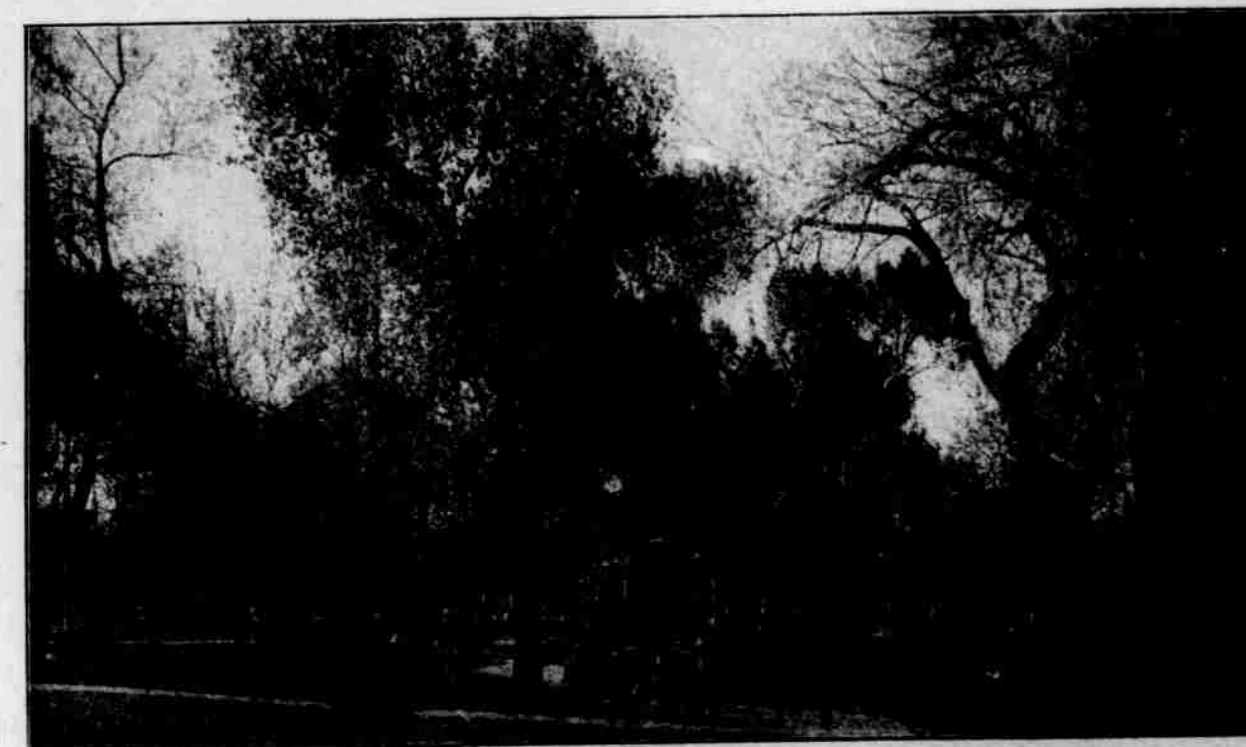

Being duly authorized by the President of the United States of America, I hereby make the following appointments for the government of New Mexico, a Territory of the said United States.

The officers thus appointed a proclamation by Perez, dated June 26, 1835, announcing that he had assumed authority. It was the first piece of printing done between the Missouri River and the Rio Grande. The next year Perez was killed in a revolt of the Indians of the Santa Domingo pueblo against his cruelty.

Upon the same press in 1843, was published a weekly newspaper called "La Verdad" ("The Truth"). It had sixteen pages, 10x14 inches in size, which were chiefly filled with official announcements, decrees and literary essays. One number contains an elaborate argument in favor of matrimony.

FASCINATING CITY OF SANTA FE

A State Government was organized in 1850.

In connection with the struggle for statehood now going on it is interesting to know that the people of New Mexico once organized a state government under the leadership of Colonel John Munro, who signs himself "Civil and Military Governor," May 28, 1850. In one of the second-hand shops of Santa Fe there is offered for sale a cup, presented to Donaciano Vigil by this same Colonel Munro.

A convention was held, a constitution adopted and state officials, senators and representatives in Congress were elected. The senators got as far as Independence, Mo., on their way to Washington, when they learned of the adoption of the Henry Clay compromise of 1850, admitting California as a state and making a Territory of New Mexico; so they turned around and came home. William S. Messervy, who had been elected to Congress under the state movement, continued on his journey and was admitted to the House of Representatives as delegate from the Territory; and James S. Calhoun, who had been elected governor of the state, was inaugurated governor of the Territory March 3, 1851.

It was a free-state constitution, and in the appeal to Congress for recognition appears this sentence:

"We do not desire to have domestic slavery within our borders; and until the time shall arrive for admission to the union of states we desire to be protected by Congress against the introduction of slaves into the Territory."

Senators Thomas H. Benton of Missouri and John M. Clayton of Alabama were requested to represent the interests of the Territory in Congress until the newly-elected senators and representatives were admitted. The Vigil papers, which have recently come into the possession of the historical society, contain a continued record of these proceedings, in which he took an active and prominent part.

The Advance, Progress and Character of the People as Told by the Chief Executive.

BY WILLIAM E. CURTIS.

Special Correspondent of the Chicago Record-Herald.

Santa Fe, N. M., July 29.—Governor Otero of New Mexico is an attractive young man and talks well. He is a native of the Territory—a "greaser"—and is proud of it. He comes from an old and famous Spanish family, and his ancestors have been prominent in politics, business and social affairs for centuries. His father was once a delegate in congress and was conspicuous for forty years as a politician. His mother was an American. The governor was educated at the university of Notre Dame, in Indiana; married Miss Caroline V. Emmet, daughter of a former chief justice of Minnesota, and when he settled down to the serious affairs of life became cashier of the San Miguel Bank of Las Vegas. He has been active in politics, however; has been a delegate to presidential conventions regularly, and was appointed Governor of New Mexico by President McKinley in 1897. He was reappointed by President Roosevelt, and will complete his second term in January next.

Governor Otero is interviewed.

I found the governor in his comfortable office in the new capitol, and, among other things, asked him what progress the native population was making in what we call civilization—in education, trade, wealth, politics and modern ideas. I inquired what sort of an American citizen a Mexican made and what sort of citizens the boys were going to be who are now in school. Said Governor Otero in reply:

"I am happy to say that great progress has been made by the Spanish and Mexican citizens within the last fifteen years. This class of our people (and it is still in the majority) produces many shrewd natural politicians, and has done so from time immemorial. The people generally have great respect for the law. Such things as riots, rebellions and strikes, since what is called 'the Taos rebellion' of 1847 when Governor Charles Bent, the first governor of New Mexico, was assassinated, have been unknown.

"The native citizen of Mexican or Spanish descent is very jealous and proud of his right to vote, and will resist strenuously any attempt to deprive him of it. On election day every man of legal age who has complied with the requirements of the law casts his ballot if he is able to do so, and in Mexican villages every man at home will vote.

A Notable Advance in All That Goes to Make Good Citizens.

"There is a notable advance in everything that goes to make men good citizens, good husbands, good fathers and good sons. Good sons and good husbands and good fathers our native people have always been. In fact, reverence for old age and respect and reverence for their fathers and mothers is one of the strongest, if not the strongest, characteristic of our race of people. The 'Mexican,' as you call him, is a first-rate citizen today and is quite well posted on public affairs concerning the Territory. However, he is too busy making a living, and has to work too hard to support his generally large family, to know much or care much about European, African, Australian, South American or Canadian affairs. He takes a great interest in domestic politics, but beyond that bothers himself very little concerning the Emperor of Japan or whom King Alfonso will marry. He has all that he can attend to at home. He generally has a little farm, some sheep, quite a number of goats, a few horses and burros, and a large family. He knows nothing of 'race suicide.' His humble responsibilities give him plenty of occupation, and it matters little to him whether Manchuria is a suzerainty of China; whether Emperor Nicholas of Russia is the religious and political head of that country, or whether the Mikado's flag floats over it. His horizon may be narrow, but it is one that makes him a good local citizen, jealous of his rights as such, and exercising them whenever the law makes such exercise possible. He does not shirk jury duty and makes a good juror. As an example: Two weeks ago, in a ninety-day term of court in Rio Arriba County, there were ten convictions—four for murder—and six for minor crimes. Two of the men convicted were sentenced to fifty years each. They were father and son, were what people call 'Mexicans,' and Rio Arriba County is one of the strongest Mexican counties in the Territory.

"The Mexican, rich or poor, will pay his debts if he honestly can," continued the governor, "and mighty few of them are what we call scamps, swindlers, promoters, trust magnates or the like. The average Mexican is a man of simple habits, dignified but courteous, hospitable to the extreme and very anxious to learn."

The Pueblo Indian and His Present Conditions.

"What improvement has there been among the Pueblo Indians? Are they growing in wealth and increasing their industries or are they going backward? Have the attempts at Christianization or civilization and the attention we have given them done them any good?"

"There is considerable improvement in their condition, their habits, their morality and their mode of living," answered the governor. "I am of the opinion that their number is not increasing, but is decreasing. You cannot get blood out of a turnip, and you cannot undo their peculiar customs in a few years, because they have lived under them for many centuries, and you cannot within twenty years bring them up to our standards and expect them to increase and prosper. That they are better off materially, mentally, physically and morally than they were before is true. That many of their children are educated at government schools and day schools in their pueblos is a fact, and that this is elevating them is true. Nevertheless, the job of civilizing the Pueblos according to our ideas and standards is very slow and in many instances it kills. I estimate the number of Pueblo towns at nineteen and the number of inhabitants at about 8,000.

"They are not retrograding, but the improvement is slow, and there is much hope for them. The children at the various schools are generally found to be gentle, docile and tractable. They are none too bright, and it takes many years to drill an average common school education into them. There are exceptions, however; there are a number of bright young men and women among them now who are practically civilized according to American ideas and are striving to attain a higher elevation. Upon the whole, I should say that the Christianization and civilization accorded them by our government has done them good. Had it not been for these two powerful agencies I believe they would have dwindled away very rapidly and would be among the extinct races very soon. I believe that had it not been for the care and watchful attention given them by the federal government great numbers of them would have died of disease, such as smallpox, diphtheria and typhoid fever. From this fate the supervision, regulation and care given by the officials of the government has saved them to a great extent, although even now, under the most careful rules and regulations, epidemics will appear and carry off the aged and the children in too great numbers."

"What is the increase of population in the Territory?"

"The increase of population has been great. The census of 1900 gave us less than 200,000 people. The latest and best estimate obtainable gives us nearly 300,000. We polled at the election in November, 1904, a total of 43,907 votes out of a registered vote of 64,422. Many new towns have sprung up since the census and many hamlets are now found where at one time there was not a house or even a sheep camp. The number of children according to the school census of 1904, is steadily on the increase. The latest annual report of the superintendent of public instruction shows 68,400 children of school age in the Territory and 52,826 enrolled. We have found it necessary in the past five years to create six new counties and a large number of precincts and school districts. The number has increased by 25 per cent.

"Take it all in all, I do not hesitate to claim for New Mexico about 300,000 people—rather more than less—and these are people either native born or who have come here to make permanent homes. One thing to which I desire to call your attention is the fact that, according to the census of 1900, New Mexico has the largest number of native-born citizens of any commonwealth in this great country."

The People Are Entirely Self-Supporting.

"Is New Mexico self-supporting?" I asked.

"The people of New Mexico, contrary to all reports, are self-supporting," said Governor Otero with emphasis. "The flour, groceries, manufactured articles, furniture and luxuries they import and purchase are paid for with what they raise and produce—sheep, cattle, horses, goats, fruits, precious and base metals, coal, wool, hides, pelts and lumber. Whatever they import in the way of flour, groceries and the necessities of life they pay for, dollar for dollar, and give the people from whom they purchase a handsome profit. That being the case, New Mexico must be called self-supporting, and more than self-supporting.

"You know perfectly well that the beef trust, for instance, would not sell us a pound of meat of any kind unless we paid for it. The clothing and dry goods, boots and shoes, blankets, groceries, furniture and machinery and everything we import we pay for, and that at a handsome rate. Were it not that we produced we could not purchase. The most philanthropic manufacturer in Yankeeedom would not sell us a suit of clothing, a pair of blankets or a pair of baby shoes unless we had the money to pay for them. Where does the money come from?"

"It comes from the sale of our live stock, our coal, our precious and base metals, our wools, hides and so on. Certainly, we get nothing on credit;

"The coal area of New Mexico is today estimated at 1,700,000 acres, with lots of country to hear from. The only good anthracite coal west of Pennsylvania is found in Santa Fe County. Bituminous is found in Colfax, San Juan, Rio Arriba, Santa Fe, Sandoval, McKinley, Lincoln, Valencia and Socorro Counties. The extent of those fields can hardly be correctly estimated as yet, although the above figures are the latest estimate. Our production is increasing steadily, and although there was a slight drawback during 1904, due to local causes, I believe the output for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1905, will show an increase."

"Tell me something about the increase in wealth in the Territory in various branches during the past five years."

"The Territory today has at least one-third more sheep, one-fifth more cattle, twice the number of Angora goats and double the number of horses that it had five years ago. The number of national and private banks under territorial charter has trebled; time ewes hale and hearty sold at from $2.25 to $2.50. Today the sheepowner who weathered last year's hard times and who had 10,000 ewes, has those 10,000 in good condition and probably 10,000 lambs, which latter will bring him more per head than his ewes were worth per head last fall.

"The wool clip has been remarkably heavy, and the fleeces, owing to the abundance of feed and water this spring and early summer, have been the finest, longest and cleanest ever produced in the Territory. A number of large sales have been made to knowledge at an average of twenty-two cents per pound in the raw, while scoured wools have been disposed of by several large sheep-owners at an average of from sixty-two to sixty-four cents a pound.

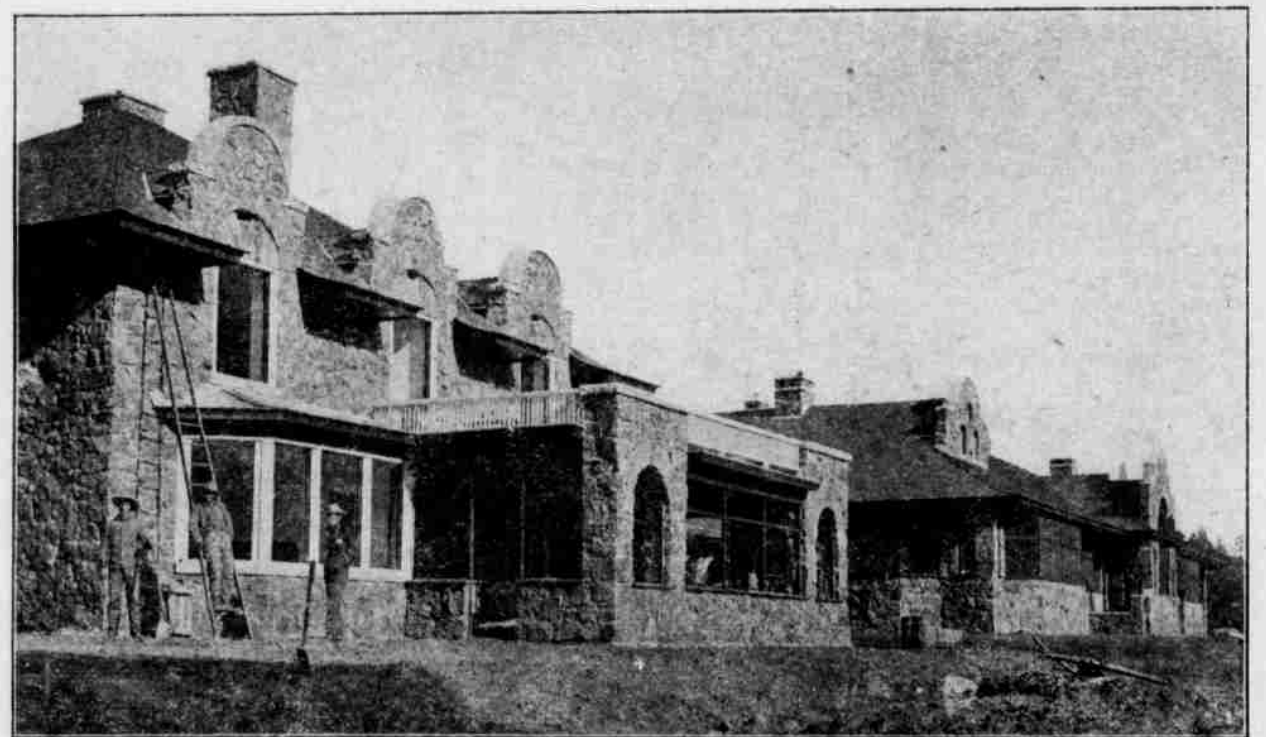

"The native citizen of Mexican or Spanish descent is a natural and successful sheep herder. He has the patience, the even temper and the good nature required. If his sheep are healthy and strong and if he has plenty to eat, is paid fair wages, is well treated by his employer, he is the ideal sheep herder of the globe. By nature he is frugal and of a contented disposition. He loves the wide plains, the boundless mesas, and under the blue New Mexican sky he is always at home. He knows his foot is on his native heath. He is making a good living, sends plenty of money to his family at home does not mind the time he is out with the sheep, is satisfied with his wages and lot, and hence is a happy and contented man.

A Great Agricultural Commonwealth.

"I consider New Mexico to be a great agricultural commonwealth," exclaimed the governor, enthusiastically, "when I take into account the number of animals it supports and the 12,000 or 13,000 small farms occupied and cultivated by her people in the many river and mountain valleys and canyons of the Territory. Cattle so far this year have done remarkably well, and at this time are in excellent condition. Prices realized by cattle raisers are the best in many years, and much shipping of two, three and four year olds to feeding farms in California, Kansas, Nebraska, Mississippi and Iowa is now going on. Indeed, one of the main railroads in the Territory has been unable to supply the demand for stock cars and in several

THE BARTLETT RANCH HOME COLFAX COUNTY.

we must pay for it sooner or later. It is true that we have not sufficient population to produce the flour, groceries, alfalfa and supplies necessary to sustain us. When you remember that this Territory contains about 122,000 square miles, and we only claim 300,000 people in all, or about two and one-third people to the square mile, it will be plain to you that there are many things that we cannot as yet manufacture or raise; we have not the heads nor the hands to do it with. Our number is small, but we produce enough to exchange for the things we do not produce and which we need for our existence, and a great many of our people have a surplus left. They not only have a competency, but a number of them are becoming rich. Are we therefore self-supporting or are we not? Your readers may answer this question for themselves."

Railroads Are Being Rapidly Extended

"Tell me something about the railway development of the Territory as a factor in this problem."

"Railways are of the greatest importance in New Mexico, on account of the great distances and vast stretches of land. During the past five years something more than 1,000 miles of railroad have been constructed and are in actual operation today. The entire mileage at this time amounts to a little over 2,300 miles, and there are now under construction about 350 miles by the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, the Eastern Railway of New Mexico and the Albuquerque Eastern in central New Mexico. About 500 more miles are in contemplation, and I believe work on these projects will commence before snow flies. Railroads are absolutely necessary. We can not have too many miles of them. New Mexico will be one of the most important and prosperous commonwealths in the Union when she contains between five and six thousand miles of railroad, which I fully believe will be the case by the year 1915."

Coal and Mineral Wealth of the Territory.

"What have you in the way of coal lands in New Mexico?"

towns have sprung up in places where five years ago the jack rabbit held undisputed sway, and have grown into orderly, well-built and prosperous communities. The number of counties has increased from nineteen to twenty-five, four of these boasting of county seats in spots where five years ago there was not even a cattle ranch.

"The production of iron and copper ore has been greatly augmented, although there was a slight falling off in the production of gold and silver. Zinc of late has become an important and valuable product, and the output from the Magdalena district in Socorro County is steadily on the increase. At a fair calculation, I believe that the mercantile establishments in the Territory have increased more than twenty per cent."

Stock Conditions More Than Satisfactory.

"What shape is your stock in?"

"This has been a great year for stock. There has been plenty of water, plenty of grass and plenty of sunshine. The lamb crop has been the largest on record, and the average increase has been ninety-five per cent. That is, out of every hundred lambs born, ninety-five have been saved, and the number of lambs to a hundred ewes has averaged more than 100. They weigh much more at this time of year than they have in ordinary years—a lamb, which in ordinary years would weigh from twenty-five to thirty pounds, now weighs from forty to forty-five. This is to be attributed to the excellent food on the ranges, the good supply of water and the favorable weather. Well posted sheepmen estimate the number of sheep and lambs in the Territory at this time to be in the neighborhood of more than 6,000,000. If this estimate is correct, it puts New Mexico at the head of the list of sheep-owning and sheep-growing commonwealths in the United States. I know of a number of sales of lambs for October delivery at four and a fraction cents a pound—that is, a lamb that will weigh seventy pounds at the date of delivery will bring about $3, when last year at this instances just recently large shipments have had to be diverted from that road to rival lines. It is estimated from reliable information that the number of neat cattle in New Mexico today amounts to between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000.

"The Angora goat industry has also done well. High prices have been obtained for mohair so far this spring, and the quality is superior to any heretofore produced. Angora goats are increasing in numbers and so far have been raised with success in Sierra, Lincoln, Grant, Dona Ana and Otero counties.

"Horses, which for some years have been a drug on the market, are now being gathered on the ranges and are being shipped to California, Texas and Missouri and are bringing increased prices."

WILLIAM E. CURTIS.

JUSTICE OF THE PEACE DOCKETS.

The New Mexican Printing Company has prepared civil and criminal dockets especially for the use of justices of the peace. They are especially ruled, with printed headings, in either Spanish or English, made of good record paper, strongly and durably bound with leather back and covers and canvas sides; have full index in front and the fees of justices of the peace and constables printed in full on the first page. The pages are 10 1/2 x 6 inches. These books are made up in civil and criminal dockets, separate, of 320 pages each, or with both civil and criminal bound in one book, 80 pages civil and 320 pages criminal. To introduce them they are offered at the following low prices:

Civil or criminal $4.00
Combination civil and criminal $5.00
For 45 cents additional for a single docket, or 55 cents additional for a combination docket, they will be sent by mail or prepaid express. Cash in full must accompany order. State plainly whether English or Spanish printed heading is wanted. Address, NEW MEXICAN PRINTING CO.

An advertisement in the New Mexican is always effective. Why? Because it reaches the people.

The Sharing of the Earth.

"Take the world," cried the God from his heaven.
To men—"I proclaim you its heirs;
To divide it amongst you 'tis given;
You have only to settle the shares."
Each takes for himself as it pleases.
Old and young have alike their desire;
The harvest the husbandman seizes;
Through the wood and the chase sweeps the squire.
The merchant his warehouse is locking;
The abbot is choosing his wine;
Cries the monarch, the thoroughfare blocking,
"Every toll for the passage is mine!"
All too late, when the sharing was over,
Comes the poet—he came from afar;
Nothing left can the laggard discover,
Not an inch but its owners there are.
"Woe is me! is there nothing remaining
For the son who best loves thee alone?"
Thus to Jove went his voice in complaining.
As he fell at the Thunderer's throne.
"In the land of thy dream if abiding,
Quoth the God, "Canst thou murmur at me?"
Where wert thou when the earth was dividing?"
"I was," said the poet, "by thee!"
"Mine eye by thy glory was captured,
Mine ear by the music of bliss;
Pardon him whom thy world so enraptured,
As to lose him his portion in this!"
"Alas," said the God, "earth is given;
Field, forest, and market, and all;
What say you to quarters in heaven?
We'll admit you whenever you call!"
—Schiller, Bulwer's translation.

Monument to Samuel Colt.

The widow of Col. Samuel Colt, inventor of the revolver which bears his name, is about to put up in Hartford a monument to Colt—a bronze statue of heroic size, on a granite pedestal flanked by exedrae, each of which bears a bronze tablet, and all standing on a tier of granite steps, lifting it high in the air. In the midst of the granite steps, before the pedestal, a minor pedestal juts out, on which is to be a bronze figure of a sailor boy whittling out the rough model of the revolver—as Colt actually did on board ship when he was 15 years old, in 1829. The tablets represent two moments in the history of Colt—that when he was admitted to address the house of commons (the only instance of the kind), and that when the czar of Russia (Nicholas I) presented him two gold rings. These scenes are understood to be the choice of Mrs. Colt.

"Blessed Assurance."

Boggins—"He says the same about you."
Scroggins—"That proves my assertion."

IT OFTEN HAPPENS.

SANTA FE BOARD OF TRADE.

An Interesting Meeting Held Last Night and Two Instructive Addresses Delivered.

The meeting last night of the Santa Fe Board of Trade was not as largely attended as it should have been. About 100 people assembled at the court house and listened to two very interesting and instructive discourses; one by Mrs. Rowley, representative of the "Earth," a monthly publication by the passenger department of the Santa Fe Railway, and the other by Professor Edgar A. Hewitt, of the United States Bureau of Ethnology, who is making investigations in the Pajarito Cliff Dwellers' Reserve.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Hon. L. Bradford Prince. Secretary H. T. Gibson then read the minutes of the last meeting of the board, which were approved and ordered filed. Mrs. Rowley was introduced to the assembled citizens. Her talk dealt mainly on the plan used by the Santa Fe Railway Company to advertise the features along its road and she made several suggestions in regard to points that should be clearly brought out in regard to the historical and scenic attractions of Santa Fe. She will aid in the advertising of the Capital City through the columns of the "Earth" and thinks that it will be but a short time until tourist travel will be greatly increased to Santa Fe.

Professor Hewitt talked of the many natural and archaeological formations to be found in and around Santa Fe and especially at the Cliff Dwellings at the Cochiti Pueblo. He said among other things that the construction of a good road from the Capital City to the Pajarito Cliff Dwellers' Reserve, would make Santa Fe one of the principal places in the southwest to which tourists would come. The grandeur of the scenery, the historical significance of many of the buildings and places, and the many interesting sights to be seen among the ruins of the old cliff dwellings, will be more attractive to the sight-seer than the Grand Canon, and he predicts that with the building of this road, ten tourists will come to Santa Fe where one goes to the Grand Canon.

After Professor Hewitt's speech, the meeting adjourned, those attending having been enlightened upon many points in the matter of advertising historic Santa Fe.

THE RIGHT VIEW OF THE SITUATION

Arizona Citizen Does Not Believe in Misrepresenting or Abusing People of New Mexico.

Several Arizona newspapers have had the bad taste in their fight on the proposed Joint Statehood measure, to publish untruths or perversions of the truth, mis-statements, and the like concerning the people of New Mexico. This does not suit the vast majority of the good citizens of that Territory, and the sooner the Arizona newspapers engaged in this foolish and detrimental pastime, stop, the better for all concerned. The following letter from Lew W. Collins, of Phoenix, Arizona, is therefore very pleasant reading in contradistinction to what some of the Arizona newspapers have said and are saying about this Territory, and the New Mexican takes great pleasure in publishing it for the benefit and information of all concerned:

"Executive Department, Territory of Arizona,
Office of the Secretary, Phoenix,
August 9, 1905.

"The Editor of the New Mexican, Santa Fe.

"Dear Sir:
"It is with regret I notice that the tendency of some of the publications of Arizona, in order, I presume, to further the interests of anti-Joint-statehood, seek to malign the people of your great Territory. Better it is to fight a clean battle, as your valuable paper has done at all times, and when the smoke clears away we can raise our heads; clasp our hands and thank God together that through it all we have still re-

CHURCH WORK IN SANTA FE.

Rev. J. L. Shively goes to Espanola today to preach to the people of that village tomorrow morning and evening.

Christian Endeavor topic for Sunday evening is "Building of Character."

2, Pet. 1:11; Jude 20-21. Mrs. L. A. Harvey is the leader and an interesting meeting is promised.

Rev. Wilson J. Marsh, for the past five years pastor of the Congregational Church at Albuquerque, preached his farewell address last Sabbath and will be succeeded shortly by Rev. John W. Barron, of Marselles, Illinois.

Rev. Marsh goes to Nebraska to try ranch life for a period, in search of better health for himself and wife.

Owing to the absence from the city of Rev. J. L. Shively, the Methodist Church will be without preaching services Sunday, likewise the Presbyterian for like cause; Sabbath schools at the usual hour and Endeavor meetings afternoon and evening, as usual.

Many of the older people of Santa Fe will be pained to learn of the death of Rev. George P. Fry, who filled the Methodist pulpit of this city in 1889-1890, going thence to Raton, where he remained for two years. His recent pastorates have been in Iowa. His death occurred June 30th at Eureka Springs, Arkansas, where he had gone in search of health.

RACES FOR THE CANADA CUP.

Fifth Series Begins Today on Lake Ontario—Now Belongs to Rochester Club.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 12.—The fifth series of races for the Canada Cup, which is at present held by the Rochester Yacht Club, will begin today on Lake Ontario, off the harbor of Charlotte. This is the greatest yachting event on the great lakes, and has drawn a large number of yachtsmen from all parts of the country to this city. Everything is in readiness for the first race to be sailed this afternoon, and excitement over the coming contest runs high.

The Canada Cup was first offered by the Toledo Yacht Club in 1896. The Royal Canadian Yacht Club challenged for it, with the five designed sloop Canada. She won it from the Chicago yacht Vencedor, at Toledo, but in 1899 the cup returned to the United States, the 35-foot yacht Genesee, from Rochester, representing the Chicago Yacht Club, defeating the Beaver, representing the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. In 1901 the Canadian yacht Invader defeated the Cadillac of Detroit, winning back the cup. Last year the Ironpuot, a 40-foot yacht, representing the Rochester Club, won back the trophy by defeating the Royal Canadian Yacht Club's defender Strathcona.

Under the rules for the cup race the victorious yacht must win three out of five races. At the races for the cup, beginning this afternoon, the yacht Ironpuot, a Herreshoff boat, will be the defender, while F. Nicholl's Temeraire has been selected challenger by the Royal Canadian Yacht Club. The Temeraire was designed by Fyffe, the Scotch expert. The designer will be on board during the race. The Ironpuot will be sailed by Captain Lorie G. Mabbett.

The Ironpuot is fitted with jib and stay sail, instead of the two-piece standing canvas customary of craft of that kind. Her immense forward triangle, made possible by the long bowsprit, gives her a big advantage in the size of her spinnaker, the base of which is 23 feet 6 inches.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO LAS VEGAS NEXT SUNDAY.

Next Sunday the Santa Fe will run an excursion to Las Vegas, a special train leaving here at 8 o'clock in the morning. This is the occasion of the return game of base ball between the teams of this city and the Meadow City and a good crowd is already assured. The train will leave Las Vegas for the return trip at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, arriving here before midnight. The fare for the round trip will be only $2.
