CLOSING HOURS OF STATE FAIR MARKED BY PLEASURE ON PART OF THROGS OF VISITORS

MASKED CARNIVAL WITH DANCING ON PAVED STREETS FEATURE OF NIGHT'S FESTIVITIES

Most Successful Exposition Held in History of State Closes
With Carnival Spirit Ruling Supreme; Last Day's Program
by Aviator Roy N. Francis Chief Feature; Big Crowd for Day in Attendance, With Participants in Columbus Day
Celebration Augmenting Multitudes by Many Hundreds; No
Serious Accidents or Other Untoward Incidents to Mar Week of Continuous Entertainment.

The thirty-second annual New Mexico state fair ended last night in a blaze of glory, partially obscured by a haze of flying confetti. The possessor of this latest fair was attended by the squawks of squawking, the shouts of college boys, the snare dances of several dozen enthusiastic collectors, and all the fun and excitement that went into the masked carnival which takes each year from 8 o'clock of the last night of the fair until midnight.

Although the wind came up late in the evening and the weather grew cold and gusty, the crowd stayed on and bought confetti, red lemonade and chances on good people dogs. Everybody had a good time. If there were any who failed to get their share of the universal fun that was abroad, it was because they failed to catch the carnival spirit. There was lots of that abroad, yet the crowd was orderly, practical jokes were taken in good nature and no complaints of roughness were made to the police.

A number of additional plain clothes men paraded the down town streets, specially charged with the mission of arresting any or all who took advantage of the liberty accorded merry-makers on carnival night. The whole evening down town was one continual round of merriment, cheers, specially charged with the mission of arresting any or all who took advantage of the liberty accorded merry-makers on carnival night. MEXICAN SOLDIERS SEARCH VISITORS TO JUAREZ

Reports That Ammunition
Smugglers are Active at El Pasos Leads to Vigorous Inspection at Border.

El Paso, Oct. 12.—Reports that rebels hold are smuggling ammunition into Juarez, the Mexican town opposite El Paso, led today to a rigid inspection of passengers at the international bridge spanning the Rio Grande between the two towns. Mexican soldiers for the first time searched passengers on the street cars and pedestrians entering Mexico, in similar fashion to that employed until a few weeks ago by United States troops.

It was said that the ammunition has been smuggled into Juarez and shipped to rebels growing stronger in the Casas Grandes district to the south-west of this point. Train traffic was resumed today on the Mexico North-western railway, and bridges burned by the rebels repaired.

White officials of the road make light of the rebel threat to kill all Americans operating trains after October 15th, eighteen railroad men who testified before the senate committee here this afternoon and another in testimony before the committee. They are engineers, firemen and brakemen who have remained operating trains during the various revolts here, and it is believed would be just to be thrown in a panic by threats. It is learned that in a body the railway men appeared before the committee and appealed for protection which they said was not given by Mexican federal troops.

Johnson and Flinn Campaign.
Pittsburgh, Oct. 12.—Governor Johnson made two speeches in western Pennsylvania today, one at Washington this afternoon and another in Duquesne Garden, tonight.

In company with William J. Flinn, the governor motored to Washington and addressed an audience in the city hall.

Both speeches were reviews of the Chicago republican convention and a general discussion of the progressive platform.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
Chicago, Oct. 12.—Colonel Roosevelt, in an address at the Coliseum to-night, attacked Woodrow Wilson's record in the New Jersey governor's chair on the trust question, and declared that if the democrats were successful in November the great trusts of the country would find Governor Wilson the most delightful and harmless combination.

Colonel Roosevelt further insisted that New Jersey was above any other commonwealth, "the trust state" of the country and while it had laws which could be used with great effect against trusts, Governor Wilson had pursued a "do nothing" policy in this regard.

While sketching his own record on the trusts while president, Colonel Roosevelt said:

"I made so much impression by my repeated messages and addresses that the republican party in 1908 did definitely promise action along the lines I had indicated—although the promise was broken by those in charge of the republican party as soon as I left the presidency.

"Mr. Wilson during his term as governor of New Jersey has not done one least little thing of any shape, sort or description toward dealing with the trust problem.

"Yet the opportunity has been ample. And if his own doctrines as to the duty of the state to deal with the trusts are correct, then his failure to act has been incredible. The same trusts against which I actually did act were incorporated under the laws of New Jersey and it was perfectly simple for him to get against them, but he never followed up on his promises.

"The democratic platform denounces the effort to deprive the states of any of their rights in connection with dealing with the trusts, insisting that no federal action shall be substituted for state remedies for the prevention of private monopoly, that is, of trusts.

"It is the duty of the state government to recognize the theory that it is the prime duty of the state government rather than of the national government to deal with trusts.

"For the most part, the modern American trusts have been incorporated in the state of New Jersey and are subject to its laws. They depend upon the state government for their protection and the state government may at any time be cut off, if the state government sees fit to take such action. For nearly two years, Mr. Wilson has been the head of this state government, and he has not taken any action to deal with the trusts.

"There is a criminal statute in New Jersey applying to corporations, which forbids any corporation from doing the kind which Mr. Wilson and his supporters have repeatedly stated would be the most effective to meet the evils of the present situation.

"Yet, although his power is unlimited under the provision of the law, Mr. Wilson, while governor of New Jersey has not urged or attempted to secure the amendment, alteration or repeal of a single corporation charter of New Jersey. Nor has he attempted to secure the implementation of any officer, director or employee of such a corporation under the act of 1909.

"When Mr. Wilson thus utterly fails as governor of New Jersey to come up to what he himself says a governor ought to do, it is not to be wondered at that his criticism of the progressive proposals for dealing with trusts should be futile in their own minds.

"All of this shows a curious lack on Mr. Wilson's statement, reported in the New York papers as having been made in Denver the other day, to the effect that there was a 'halcyon' period of the trusts' in his favor. I hope that the quotation is not accurate, for of course, there is no particle of foundation for any such statement. The only man that Mr. Wilson can refer to among his supporters as representing any trusts, is Mr. Perkins, unless he refers to Mr. Perkins and Mr. Munsey. These two men, Mr. Perkins and Mr. Munsey, are men of means precisely as Mr. Cleveland R. Hughes and Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Crane. Mr. Wilson's intimate associates are men of means.

"So far as I know of his associates in these corporations, one or two are supporting to one and all the rest are supporting Mr. Taft or Mr. Wilson."

"BALD JACK" ROSE BARES STORY THAT MAY SEND THE ACCUSED OFFICER TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

Acting as Alleged Go-Between and Graft Collector for Accused Official, Notorious Character Was Intimately Acquainted With Workings of "System" By Which Crooks Were Given Protection in Return for Payment of Monthly Sums; Victim of Diabolical Plot Put Out of Way to Prevent Exposal of Man Now on Trial for Life; State's Witness Swears That He Hired Quartette of Gangsters to Actually Commit Crime of Murder and Paid Them for Job After it Was Done.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)
New York, Oct. 12.—Long hours of "cross examination" surprised lawyers before a supper club and jury failed to make "Bald Jack" Rose vary his story of the part he played and the part his says former Police Lieutenant Becker played in the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

"Becker told me," he said, "that he wanted Rosenthal murdered, shot, crushed or drowned. At his bidding I set the gangsters to kill Rosenthal. I did after the murder. I saw Becker that morning and later talked with him over the telephone. I paid the gangster $1,000 for Becker, and told them he had not to worry but to lay low."

"I gave myself up and became a state's witness because Becker asserted to me like a dirty dog, and was getting ready to throw me to the sea."

Becker's lawyer, protested by some of the jury, asked the witness to wait until the session of court at 11 o'clock. Shortly before 11 o'clock tonight he declared he adjourned until Monday morning, after John E. McIntyre, Becker's lawyer, protested by some of the jury, asked the witness to wait until the session of court at 11 o'clock.

Becker, cool and steady, faced the jury, and at which he sat, his chin in his hands, his elbow on the table, during the long cross examination. Twenty feet back in the first row of seats usually reserved for spectators, sat his wife. Her eyes were for her husband rather than the jury. Once only once, he glanced at her and smiled.

"Bald Jack" Rose, thick lipped, wide eyed and without a hair on his head, sat in the front row of the jury box, and had been engaged for two years in illegitimate business. He admitted he was looking to make his own life, but said he was telling the truth.

He said he had concluded to become state's witness only when the electric chair started him in face and arms. He was not ashamed of his determination. Without emotion in a slow drawl, he said he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal, and that he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal, and that he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal.

He said he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal, and that he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal, and that he had been indicted for the murder of Rosenthal.

THIRTY-SECOND IS BEST OF STATE EXPOSITIONS TO DATE

Many New Features Presented and Numerous Enterprises Carried to Successful Conclusions by Officers.

UNDERSTOOD DIVIDEND MAY BE DECLARED

President D. K. B. Sellers, Secretary Frank A. Stortz and Their Assistants to be Congratulated on Work.

New Mexico's thirty-second and latest state fair, which closed last night, was a success in every sense of the word. The fair was capably managed, the exhibits were well displayed, the down town attractions were good and everything went forward without a hitch.

The exposition of the exposition, President D. K. B. Sellers and Secretary Frank A. Stortz, who handled most of the work connected with the management of the fair, and their assistants, the different committees of judges and business men who managed different features, deserve hearty congratulations upon their splendid efforts. It is understood that a dividend will be declared to subscribers, although it is a little early to make definite announcement of this.

The exposition's new features at the fair this year. And there were many old ideas carried to better conclusions than before.

The automobile parade, for instance, was particularly fine. The decorated afternoon parade was far and away the best ever seen in this section. It is understood that the parade was splendid. There were more entries in each of these, more and better decorations and more prizes than have ever been in the case before.

The industrial parade was a success. While not so long as some that have been seen here, it was far better arranged, there were better floats and more of them, and there was little of the silly or space-filling type of display in it.

The agricultural display was the finest ever seen here, without exception. These displays were good, really excellent. They came from all corners of the state, from the Pecos valley, the Katalla and Rio Grande valleys, from the far San Juan country, and from both ends of the community. There was not a poor agricultural display in the show. The fact that there were more and better displays of this kind is proof enough that the show was a success. The same is true of the poultry association show.

This continued longer than any other of the kind coming from as far west as California and others as far east as Philadelphia. The prizes in this section were numerous and handsomely displayed. It is understood that for next year's poultry show.

There were more manufacturers' exhibits than ever before, and they were better exhibited. From as far west as California and others as far east as Philadelphia. The prizes in this section were numerous and handsomely displayed. It is understood that for next year's poultry show.

The carnival events down town attracted and entertained all who came. In the main, they were clean and interesting shows and those who attended them got their money's worth. The various riding devices that were features of the carnival displays were well patronized and kept the crowds moving.

The bench show, staged by the Albuquerque Kennel club, was a success from the point of view of dogs, benches, prizes awarded and advertising obtained for the city and county. It had not been for the practice of certain exhibitors who "bumped" their prizes to others. Even at this, it was a success. It was really the best dog show ever put on in this state, and attracted attention from people on both sides of the river.

Altogether, the fair was carried out as well as possible, the fair officials moving the earth to secure an aviator to take the place of Lincoln Beachey, which is scheduled for tomorrow Tuesday afternoon. Their efforts were rewarded with a good aviator and the flight was carried out as scheduled.

Friday and yesterday.

The fair was good all through the fair and the motorcycle stunts provided a pleasing contrast to the exhibits. Some remarkable stunts were performed by the boys, all of whom live in Albuquerque, on the half mile track at the fair grounds, and no serious accidents marred the sport. Raymond R. Blom, who managed these races and the boys who participated, deserve special praise for the fine show they made.

Taking it all in all, everyone who attended the fair was satisfied.

press of the Knights of Columbus and was featured by church organizations, a parade of more than 1,000 men, and an address by Hon. George A. Connolly, of San Francisco. The church celebration was held in the Immaculate Conception church, and was very brief.

Following it, the various bodies participating in the parade filed from the church and moved in line in the street outside. The parade was then carried out according to a prearranged plan. It was composed of religious bodies, bodies in commemoration of Columbus, the mayor and city council, governor and others, including clergy. The principal clerical figure of the day's events was Archbishop J. B. Phelan, of Santa Fe, who officiated at the church ceremony.

Arrived at Elks theater, at the termination of the parade, C. N. Marmon took the chair as state deputy of the Knights of Columbus, and after brief exercises introduced George A. Connolly, of San Francisco, the orator of the day.

Mr. Connolly made a splendid address, containing much of interest in the life of Columbus, and appealing throughout to the better side of his listeners' nature. Mr. Connolly declared that material progress in America had now given to the people of this country an opportunity to broaden and develop culturally. The struggles of the discoverer were narrated at length, and his adherence to his ideal held out as a thing of nobility worthy of emulation by all. His conclusion was an eloquent appeal for the development of men like Columbus in the present day world.

Public affairs closed the program of the theater.

Mr. Connolly's address made a big impression upon all who heard it and there is no doubt that it will be a long time before it is forgotten.

The exercises were very successful and will long be remembered by all who saw or participated in them.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS TO EXEMPTIFY DEGREES

The three degrees of the Knights of Columbus will be exemplified today at the Elks lodge room, the ceremony beginning at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. Mr. Connolly, who is post-state deputy for California, will be master of the third degree.

BUYS FOR SMALL SUM DOG WORTH TWO THOUSAND

James Watson, New York Canine Expert and Fancier of Blooded Bow Wows Picks Up Magnificent Pointer.

To buy for $25 a dog which he believes is easily worth $2,000, if not more, is what James Watson, of New York, the canine expert and fancier, and breeder, who acted as judge of Albuquerque's kennel show at the state fair, did on Friday.

The story of Mr. Watson's purchase of his dog is an interesting one. Wednesday morning, while he was standing in front of the dog show room on Central avenue, he asked a pointer bitch trotting by on the opposite side of the street. Mr. Watson sized her up, dashed into the show room and seized his hat, and dashed back. He followed the pointer as far as Fifth street, where he lost her in the crowd. He went back to the show room and began hunting for the pointer bitch, but he had seen her. He was directed to various places, where he showed the pointer, but did not find the one which had attracted his attention.

Two days later, on Friday, he sold the pointer again on the street. He gave chase, but soon lost her in the vicinity of Third and Central. He then began a thorough search of the neighborhood, and at last was rewarded by locating the pointer in a box at the rear of the Montezuma hotel, where she was fondling four puppies. Inquiring as to the ownership of the dog, he was told she belonged to the proprietor of the Montezuma. He immediately sought the owner and asked him if he would sell the bitch. The owner said he would, if he could get $25 for her. Mr. Watson quickly handed over the $25 and, securing a rope, he proudly led his prize canine to the show room and summoned the bench show committee. He announced that he had bought the best pointer in the United States, saying: "And, just think, I bought her for $25. I have seen all the crack pointers, have followed them all many times, and I believe this bitch can beat any and all of them. She is worth $2,000."

I have seen all the crack pointers, have followed them all many times, and I believe this bitch can beat any and all of them. She is worth $2,000."

He followed the pointer as far as Fifth street, where he lost her in the crowd. He went back to the show room and began hunting for the pointer bitch, but he had seen her. He was directed to various places, where he showed the pointer, but did not find the one which had attracted his attention.

Two days later, on Friday, he sold the pointer again on the street. He gave chase, but soon lost her in the vicinity of Third and Central. He then began a thorough search of the neighborhood, and at last was rewarded by locating the pointer in a box at the rear of the Montezuma hotel, where she was fondling four puppies. Inquiring as to the ownership of the dog, he was told she belonged to the proprietor of the Montezuma. He immediately sought the owner and asked him if he would sell the bitch. The owner said he would, if he could get $25 for her. Mr. Watson quickly handed over the $25 and, securing a rope, he proudly led his prize canine to the show room and summoned the bench show committee. New Mexico Can Have Good Roads Just as Cheap as Bad Roads

Proposed Bond Issue Will Not Increase Taxes on Any Citizen of This State Five Cents Either Now or Later.

Are you aware, Mr. Voter, that the bond issue, the passage of which is being advocated by the Good Roads association, will not increase your tax one iota? If you are aware of that fact, you ought to be an ardent supporter of the issue. If you are not aware of it, let us tell you about it.

The last legislature passed a bill providing for a bond issue of $200,000, the proceeds from which shall become available the first of the year. To provide for the redemption of these bonds, which begins several years hence, the road fund now raised by the state tax was set aside as a sinking fund. This bond issue, with attendant provisions, will be voted upon at the general election, November 5.

Additional legislation enacted at the same time as the bill authorizing this bond issue provides for the development of the highways of New Mexico. It is not perfect, but it is a long step in advance of any former scheme. That to make this any other development plan of any value, it is necessary first to raise funds needed for the carrying out of that plan. The bond issue offers the easiest and most practical way of raising such funds.

Sometimes during Friday night a sneak thief entered the Commercial club. He snatched the money and jewelry of the members, stealing money and jewelry. One member lost a gold watch, while another had some change abstracted from his trousers pocket. Though the rooms which were robbed were occupied by the members at the time, the thief worked so quietly that none was disturbed. The matter was reported to the police yesterday morning, but no clue to the thief had been found up to late last night.

J. KORBER EXHIBIT AT STATE FAIR EXCELLENT

Agricultural Implements and Machinery Receives Many Compliments.

Of the many trade exhibits on display at the state fair the past week none received more favorable comment than that of J. Korber & Co., prominent dealers in agricultural implements, machinery, and accessories. The exhibit, by the way, was made up of the very latest in all the different lines of agricultural machinery and, as a result of its comprehensive display, it became one of the most frequented centers of interest throughout the entire session of the fair. Not a single detail was overlooked in fitting the exhibit up to the very highest degree of efficiency in instructiveness and interesting features, and just how much appreciated was the result was evidenced by the interested throngs daily inspecting and studying the Korber exhibit.

J. Korber & Co. have built up a reputation for progressiveness in business, and that progressiveness was never put to better use than in the Korber display at this year's fair. The Korber exhibit was a display of irrigation machinery. A variety of pumping plants were on exhibition and proved as good a draughting card as the most experienced engineer. This feature was especially well conceived in that there is no subject before the farmer and others interested in the improvement of agricultural conditions to which more genuine interest is attached at this time. Irrigation will be the solution of the agricultural problem in this state, and accordingly, interest in irrigation plants of different kinds in the various engines and pumps recommended and in all machinery incidental to irrigation work is at the very highest pitch. The Korber exhibit was so arranged as to be of the very greatest educational value along these lines. The more common farming implements there was a wonderful variety. The harrow display contained all of the different styles on the market, the common spike harrow, the disk harrow and the rotary harrow. All of the latest improvements made on various machinery were displayed and explained. Plows also occupied a conspicuous position in the exhibit and such variety as to satisfy every possible demand.

Vegetables, too, figs and wagons, of the well known kind, were in the Korber concern, added to the appearance of the display, while there was a large assortment of harness and saddles to complete this feature. The display in particular attracted attention and the opinion was several times expressed that there were just as fine saddles among those in the Korber exhibit as were elsewhere.

Hay presses, both motor and horse operated, as well as the improved cutters and mowers, were not neglected in the exhibit. Portable and stationary gas engines, wind saws operated by gasoline motors, and other machinery adaptable to farm work, were also displayed and explained. The exhibit was so arranged as to prove just how much of a science the business of correct cultivation of the soil is getting to be.

The Korber exhibit was an excellent school of agriculture and although the school was in session only a week there is no doubt but that a great deal of advancement in agricultural conditions was effected by it. Getting acquainted with the Korber company is a great big step in itself, as there only the very best of implements and machinery are to be secured—implements that are sure to produce results. The Korber concern prides itself, not so much on selling cheaply, but rather on selling good implements that are well worth the price you pay.—Adv.

DEMOCRATIC STRIKE IN PECOS VALLEY OVER SAYS JOYNER
 Dr. William T. Joyner, of Roswell, former chairman of the Chavez county democratic central committee, who arrived in the city last night, stated that democratic strike in the Pecos valley, particularly in Chavez county, was at an end.

The method of Joyner-Hindley machine democrats held a primary election at which a new county organization was chosen. Inasmuch as we had no vote, we did not put an opposition ticket in the field. The democrats are not new in our county and you can see that our section of the state will hold the usual large democratic majority for Hon. B. H. Ferguson and the Wilson president, that shorts.

[By Morning Journal Special Teamed Wire.]
 Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—Swarthmore College sprung a big surprise on the University of Pennsylvania football team this afternoon, giving the Quakers their first defeat of the season. The Quakers were victors, 6 to 3. There was no question about the better team winning, Swarthmore got the jump on Pennsylvania, and in the first period carried the ball 80 yards for a touchdown.

Marshall made Pennsylvania's only score with a drop kick from the 30-yard line. Swarthmore carried the ball a total of 293 yards against Pennsylvania's total of 152 yards. Pennsylvania tried the forward pass eight times but without succeeding once. Swarthmore used it four times successfully.

Cambridge, Oct. 12.—Harvard increased her lead in the annual game with Williams today, but the visitors had the satisfaction of being the first team this season to score against the Crimson. The figures for the game standing 26 to 4. Last year's score was 18 to 0.

The Harvard first string of backs punctured the Williams line for long gains during the first two periods, but the substitutes were not successful.

Williams' field goal was the result of four forward passes which brought the ball within Harvard's 25-yard line. There Michael sent a kick across the bar for a place, kick standing on the Crimson 45-yard line. Harvard was twice within Williams' 25-yard line, but lost the ball on fumbles.

Kansas, 27; Missouri Normals, 0.
 Lawrence, Kan., Oct. 12.—Kansas university defeated the Missouri Normals, of Warrensburg, here this afternoon. The final score was, Kansas university, 27; Missouri State normal 0.

Colorado loses to Aggies.
 Fort Collins, Colo., Oct. 12.—The Colorado State Agricultural college defeated the State university here today for the first time in sixteen years. The score was 24 to 0. Although out weighed in pounds in the line, the Aggies, by fast team work, brilliant forward passes and superior punting, outclassed the Boulder team. At no time was the Aggie goal in danger.

Nebraska, 30; Kansas Aggies, 6.
 Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12.—Punting brilliancy on defense, and chafing through every opening presented by their opponents, the back field of Nebraska university brought victory to the local eleven over the Kansas Aggies of Agriculture here afternoon, 30 to 6.

Cornell, 14; New York, 6.
 Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 12.—Cornell won its second game of football this season today, defeating the University of New York, 14 to 6. Cornell showed some improvement, but the playing of the eleven was ragged in the first half in which the New York collegians scored.

Yale Defeats Lafayette.
 New Haven, Conn., Oct. 12.—Effective line punning and a goal from the field gave Yale the game with Lafayette, 18 to 0. Yale scored a touchdown in the final three minutes of play, with Flynn carrying the ball forty-five yards to Lafayette's first yard line and Cornell went sent through for the score. Phelan kicked the goal.

Yale scored another touchdown in the second period, but Phillips attempted at a goal went wide. Shortly afterward Markle made a goal from the field from the 45-yard line. In the final period, J. Diamond of Lafayette made a pretty thirty-yard run through a broken field.

Pennycuik 31; Virginia 0.
 Princeton, N. J., Oct. 12.—Virginia Polytechnic institute proved no match for Princeton, the Tigers winning 31 to 0.

The defensive power of the south-erners was practically nil with the result that the Orange and Black was on the attack almost throughout the contest. Most of the scoring was due to the individual work of the back field.

Princeton's team work was much improved.

Illinois, 15; Washington, U. 0.
 Champaign, Ill., Oct. 12.—The University of Illinois defeated Washington university at St. Louis, 15 to 0. Illinois scored in the first period when Dillon ran thirty yards for a touchdown. Washington took the aggressive in the second period when Illinois was forced to fight for life on its own five yard line less than four times. In the third period, Illinois braced as Captain Wolston went over for the touchdown. The rest of the game was an even battle.

 Colorado Springs, Colo., Oct. 12.—Colorado college defeated the football team of the University of Wyoming today. Score, Colorado college, 28 to 0.

HAVE YOU EVER THOUGHT OF THIS?

The amount of land near Albuquerque is limited. From foothills to river only a few miles intervene. Owing to increasing population, this small amount of land has been growing in value quite rapidly lately. In the next three years it will grow faster in value than any land in any other place in the southwest. Vast railroad improvements, which will employ an army of men, will be made in that time and Albuquerque's population will more than double. Hence, those who will now put their spare dollars in suburban property will soon begin to reap large profits from the investment.

Boulevard Place Northwest Albuquerque

with its beautiful home sites located in alfalfa fields; its garden tracts under the highest state of cultivation; its high dry land; its superb irrigation facilities; its city conveniences with suburban healthfulness will grow faster in value in the same time than any other section of Albuquerque. In that time it will have become the show place of New Mexico for shady tree-lined streets and beautiful homes with grassy and flowered lawns, and values will have advanced several hundred per cent above present prices. Street car facilities will bring Boulevard Place within twelve minutes of the business center of the town.
