BECKER GUILTY OF MURDER IN FIRST DEGREE

Trial of New York Police Lieutenant Results in Conviction for Which Penalty is Death in Electric Chair.

WIFE OF PRISONER SWOONS AT VERDICT

Accused Man Does Not Flinch When Finding of Jury is Read in Open Court; Remanded to Tombs for Sentence.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] New York, Oct. 25.—Police Lieutenant Becker was found guilty early this morning of murder in the first degree by the jury which had been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler. The verdict was pronounced at 12:22 o'clock this morning. The verdict read:

"Murder in the first degree."

Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until October 30th.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room, swooned when the verdict was announced. Becker did not flinch when he heard the verdict pronounced by Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury.

John P. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but beyond this he had nothing to say.

The twelve jurors filed into the court room at 11:55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room and for a moment Becker took a seat. As he waited he scanned the faces of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed.

At 11:57 o'clock, Justice Goff entered the court room and bowing to the counsel, took his seat. The jury roll was called. The clerk then asked the jurors if they had reached a verdict.

"We have," announced Foreman Skinner. The jurors rose to their feet. "We find the defendant guilty," as charged in the indictment," Skinner said, looking squarely at Justice Goff. "Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree?" asked the clerk.

"We do," the foreman replied. "The court then directed that the roll of the jurors be called for individual verdicts. As he repeated the question: 'Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree as charged?' each juror answered, 'I do.'"

Becker stood at the bar with squared shoulders, head erect, not a muscle moved in his face, but he swallowed hard. That was all. When the last juror had answered, Justice Goff instructed the clerk to take the pedigree of the defendant. Becker answered the questions in a low, firm voice. A court officer brought the questions to him written on a slip of paper and as the prisoner read them to himself, he replied:

"Early years old, American citizen, born in Germany; address 3229 Audubon avenue; lieutenant of police; married; Protestant; mother living; habits temperate; never conducted before."

When Becker's voice died away, Mr. McIntyre asked that all further proceedings be deferred for one week, "until I can prepare the proper motion for appeal."

"I will defer sentence," announced Justice Goff, "until October 30th, and remand the prisoner until that date." Becker glanced at the jury and Justice Goff turned and, followed by a jail warden, walked with unflinching rapid steps up the aisle of the court room and disappeared through the door leading over the "bridge of sighs" to the Tombs.

The jury had deliberated nearly eight hours before reaching the verdict, although the case had been in their hands since 2:20 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Actual deliberation began at 4:27 o'clock, when the doors of the jury room swung behind them on their return from luncheon. What happened behind those doors, how the debate ebbed and flowed, who stood out eight hours against the final verdict, how many ballots were cast, these were matters to whose secrecy each juror was pledged.

While the jury was making up its mind, absolute stillness, heightened by the midnight quiet of the streets, prevailed in the court room. After the verdict was given no one was allowed to leave the room until the jury had filed out. Justice Goff had given orders that any one disturbing the proceedings in the slightest degree should be brought before him for punishment.

Two hundred persons or more gathered at the court room door. With her ear almost at the keyhole, sat the prisoner's wife. As the last juror left the room by another exit, the door flew open and a man rushed excitedly into the corridor. The crowd gave way. He was half way down the steps to a telephone booth when a policeman shouted:

"What's the verdict?"
The fleeing man looked over his shoulder and shouted, "guilty."
For a moment there was silence, keen, intense, gripping.

PRISONER'S WIFE FAINTS ON HEARING VERDICT

It was broken by a woman's muffled scream and the sound of a falling body. The prisoner's wife had fainted dead away.
Just before the verdict was given, Mr. McIntyre made his last plea. He asked the court to grant an earlier request of the jury to inspect the testimony of the persons who talked to Sam Scheppeg, in Hot Springs, Ark. The court refused to hear the plea.

Mr. McIntyre had opposed granting that request of the jury when it was made by Justice Goff six and a half hours before.

It was upon this question—whether Sam Scheppeg was an accomplice to the murder—that Justice Goff had hinged his charge to the jury.

The penalty for murder in the first degree is death in the electric chair. An appeal from the verdict goes directly to the court of appeals at Albany and acts as a stay of execution. When the jurors left the court room they went directly to their homes. They were under the mandate of Justice Goff "not to communicate the nature of what had taken place in the jury room."

"There is not the slightest doubt that there will be a reversal of this verdict in a higher court," said Mr. McIntyre after the jury had filed out. District Attorney Whitman said the trial of the remaining prisoners in the Rosenthal case will be called. All the prisoners indicted with Becker have asked for separate trials. The trial of Philip Davidson, charged with the murder of Jack Zelig, the east side gang leader, will begin next Wednesday.

Before Mrs. Becker was taken to her home she was allowed to see her husband in the sheriff's room in the building. As she entered the door, her husband clasped her in his arms. Mrs. Becker burst into tears and Becker tried to calm her. She clung to him for more than a minute and then two women companions rushed in. Mrs. Becker did not move. Becker kissed her again and again and finally whispered to her: "It will come out all right."

Finally Mrs. Becker stepped back and with a parting kiss the couple separated. As Becker walked toward the entrance to the "bridge of sighs," he smiled back at his wife, but she looked at her hands to her face and staggered into the arms of her women companions. They had carried her to a waiting motor. Becker soon was in his cell.

Becker's conviction comes exactly one hundred days after the murder of Rosenthal. It was during the early days of July that the gambler was shot to death in front of the Hotel Metropole. On July 21st, the grand jury took up the case; on the 29th it indicted Becker; on August 5th he was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. On August 20th he was remanded. His trial was set for September 21st, but a stay was granted until October 7th, by Justice Bischoff to enable a commission to take testimony at Hot Springs, Ark. On October 7th, the trial began. It lasted seven days. Ninety-eight witnesses testified.

BECKER BLAMES HIS CONVICTION ON COURT

Lieutenant Becker sat in his cell in the Tombs tonight while across the "bridge of sighs" in the darkened criminal court building, twelve men struggled to decide whether he was guilty of the murder of Herman Rosenthal.
The prisoner's destiny was delivered into the jury's hands this afternoon after a three-hour charge by Justice Goff, which Becker characterized as distinctly unfair and a "thin veiled summing up of the case for the state," and upon which his counsel, John G. McIntyre, declined to comment. To his wife, who would place him in contempt of court.

Stripped of its legal verbiage, the charge, in effect was a ruling that the guilt or innocence of the prisoner rested almost solely upon the debatable point as to whether Sam Scheppeg was an accomplice to the crime. Dapper Little Scheppeg, when arrested at Hot Springs, styled himself as the "keynote of the arch." As events transpired he spoke truer than he knew.

The court himself, was doubtful as to Scheppeg's status and declined to guide the jurors in a decision. What he did instruct them to do was to return a verdict of first degree murder or second degree murder or to acquit the defendant. "Man slaughter was eliminated and a 'no compromise verdict' was directed upon the motion."

FARMERS APPEALED TO BY PRESIDENT TAFT TO STAND BY PRINCIPLES

Transmits Special Message to Rural Voters of Northwest Through Governor Eberhart, of Minnesota.

REPUBLICAN SUCCESS INSURES PROSPERITY

Declares Party Does Not Make Sun Shine or Good Crops Grow But Provides High Prices for Products.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Beverly, Mass., Oct. 24.—President Taft tonight made a special appeal to farmers of Minnesota and the northwest to remain true to their democratic beliefs of past campaigns.

The political argument submitted for consideration of rural voters was advanced in a letter which the president sent to Governor A. C. Eberhart, of Minnesota, stating that while the republican party had not made the sun to shine, or the crops to grow, it had been responsible for the prevailing good markets. The letter says in part:

"I am very glad to have encouraging news of the political outlook in Minnesota and wish to thank you for the efforts you are making for republican success. The people of your state are vitally interested in the maintenance of our political economic method."

"Their welfare is dependent upon the continuance of the protective tariff, and although at times by appeal to their prejudice they may be diverted from a clear perception of their interest, I am confident that in the end their common sense will enable them to see the fallacy of newly dressed nostrums which in the past they have rejected. I am sure they must realize that this contest is between the republican and democratic parties."

"The men and women of the northwest country have a special interest in republican success this year. They are sharing in the general prosperity of the nation and the continuance of growth of this prosperity is in a large degree dependent upon republican success next month."

"The republican party is not responsible for good crops. It does not make the sun to shine, nor more grass to grow, but it is responsible for the enactment of laws which make it possible, if the crops are good, that these shall be sold at a profit. It is the duty of the republican party to see that they shall be sold at good prices to those who have the means to buy them."

"There has never been a time in our history when the farm products of the northwest would purchase as much as they do today. The democratic platform promises a change in our tariff system, whose effect would be to halt manufacturing enterprises, throw out of employment thousands of wage earners and destroy the home market now enjoyed by the American farmers. No reforming legislation could neutralize or mitigate the paralysis which would follow."

"It is not necessary to jog the memory of the older farmers of your state as to what happened when the democratic party passed the Wilson tariff bill. Wheat went down to forty cents a bushel, corn to twenty-one cents, oats to eighteen cents, potatoes to twenty-seven cents."

"The welfare of the farmer is vital to the whole country. He is interested in the restraining of excessive and unduly discriminatory railroad rates, in the enforcement of pure food laws, in the promotion of scientific agriculture, in the extension of rural credits and increasing the comforts of country life, as by the extension of rural free delivery."

"The republican party is responsible for the organization and growth and splendid development of agriculture. Republican administrations have greatly developed agricultural investigations in the last fifteen years until well-advanced inquiry is being made in all our states and the islands of the sea under our flag, to the end that we may produce the necessities of life for ourselves and for those for whom we are responsible."

"I feel confident that the voters of Minnesota will appreciate the shallowness of the attack upon our institutions and will not be swayed by the promise of undefined benefits which are to follow undefined changes. It does not require the eye of a witch to see that closed factories in Massachusetts and Ohio means a diminished demand for the farm products for the northwest. We can not strike down the industries of one section without bringing disaster to all the people. It is not a progressive policy in any true sense to be hostile to the prosperity of any part of the country."

A CURIOUS TANGLE IN MATRIMONY UP TO COURT

Mrs. Lina M. Brooks-Seebert-Covington-Leyner is Sued for Divorce on Ground That She is Bigamist.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Denver, Colo., Oct. 24.—A curious matrimonial tangle closely resembling the Morse-Dodge proceedings in New York a few years ago became known here today when the fact that Mrs. Lina M. Brooks-Seebert-Covington-Leyner, wife of J. George Leyner, president of the J. George Leyner Engineering Works of Denver, was served yesterday with a summons and complaint in a suit for annulment of her marriage to James M. Covington, filed in the superior court of Chicago.

Covington, who does not, or did not, know that the now Mrs. Leyner had divorced him, charges her with being the wife of George Seebert when she married him (Covington).

The service, therefore, was made on Mrs. Leyner as Mrs. Lina M. Covington.

In his complaint Covington sets up that he married the defendant at St. Joseph, Mich., on June 13, 1907, and that in October of 1909 he learned she had a husband, George Seebert, whom she married in 1903. They then parted.

After the parting, Mrs. Covington came to Denver and while working as a waitress in September, 1911, filed a divorce proceeding against Covington charging non-support and desertion.

On January 5, 1912, the decree was granted by default, Covington's whereabouts being unknown. Mrs. Covington averred. Following the divorce Mrs. Covington married Mr. Leyner in New York about the first of this year.

Mr. Leyner declared tonight that he knew nothing of George Seebert or whether his wife ever married a man of that name. He stoutly declared he would assist his wife in her defense.

He, himself, is divorced from his first wife, who alleged cruelty and obtained alimony in the sum of $23,000 from him on July 23, 1911.

Levi A. Hughes, of Santa Fe, for thirty years a wool dealer in New Mexico, and one of the candidates for presidential election on the republican ticket, gives a few facts regarding the present wool schedule of the tariff, which are especially interesting at this time. Mr. Hughes declares that Schedule "K" is indefensible, and goes on to prove his assertions in the following statement:

The republican press in New Mexico charges the progressive republicans with having "straddled" the tariff on the wool issue.

The progressive republican platform declares that it stands squarely with President Taft upon that issue, as stated by him in his Winona speech, when he declared the present wool schedule of the tariff to be indefensible.

Do the New Mexico republicans charge that President Taft, the head of their party, also "straddled" that issue? We say, boldly and openly, with the President that Schedule "K," which provides and establishes the duty on wool and woolsens, is "indefensible." The best possible proof of the correctness of this statement is in the fact that during the past ten years the average protection on New Mexico wool under that schedule has amounted to one and fifty-two one-hundredths cents, or about a cent and a half per pound.

In other words, foreign wool, equivalent to the New Mexico product, could have been delivered in Boston or New York, free of all duty, at one and a half cents per pound less than the average selling price of the last ten years of New Mexico wool. And this is the fact of the duty of eleven cents per pound provided in Schedule "K" for wools of the class we chiefly produce in New Mexico.

For example, a lot of Argentine wool comes into Boston, paying the duty of eleven cents per pound, and sells in Boston for about twenty-five cents per pound in the grease; if it came in duty free this would put its value at fourteen cents per pound. At the same time a lot of New Mexico wool of the same class sells in Boston, freight paid, at about fifteen and one-half cents per pound, and this one and one-half cents difference is the full measure of the protection New Mexico wool growers enjoy under the working of Schedule "K."

We thus clearly see that the actual protection to our New Mexico wool grower has been practically about ten per cent ad valorem, while the law passed by the last democratic house of representatives, by the democrats and progressive republicans in the United States senate, provided a duty of twenty-nine per cent ad valorem, or nearly three times as much as the real, actual working protection under the present law.

Under that law our markets have been lower at times than the foreign markets and domestic wool has been exported for sale abroad.

Ten years' experience with Schedule "K" shows it to be a "shell game," rigged up to fool the wool grower and to over-protect the woolen manufacturer. It gives no practical benefit to the sheep raiser, while it makes us all pay double prices for our woolen clothing and blankets.

POSTOFFICES ARE PLACED UNDER TWO CLASSES

Plans for Extending Civil Service to Postmasters are Announced by Postmaster General Hitchcock.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Washington, Oct. 24.—Plans for the administration of the executive order of President Taft, placing all fourth class postmasters under civil service, were announced today.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has divided the 36,256 offices affected by the order into two classes. Class A, will embrace postmasters at which the compensation is $200 a year or more for postmasters, and class B at which it is less than $200.

Appointment to each class A office will be made from three names verified by the civil service commission after competitive examination of the applicants. Vacancies in all class B offices will be filled on the recommendation of postoffice inspectors after personal investigation. This method has been followed in several states with success.

The order of the president is now in effect and the civil service commission is ready to hold examinations to create lists of eligibles for appointments to fill vacancies. Hereafter all vacancies in the postmaster's ships of fourth class offices will be filled without regard to the political affiliations of the applicants.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has recommended that all postmasters, irrespective of class, be placed under civil service.

BULGARIANS WHIP TURKISH ARMY IN SEVERE BATTLES

Important Port of Kirk-Kilisseh Taken by Allies After Hard Fight; Great Rejoicing in Sofia.

MOHAMMEDANS LOSE NEAR ADRIANOPLE

Many Moslems Drown Themselves to Escape Capture Fearing That They Would be Massacred.

London, Oct. 24.—A three days' battle and a Bulgarian turning movement has resulted, according to Sofia accounts, in the fall of Kirk-Kilisseh and the capture of fifty thousand men. That so many Turks have been taken is regarded as improbable and the more likely report is that the Turks retreated in the direction of Thrace to the southwest. The capture of this stronghold, to which the Turks attached almost the same importance as to Adrianople, was confirmed to night from Constantinople in an official communication explaining that the Turkish army at Kirk-Kilisseh in attempting to split the enemies' forces discovered that they were in greater strength than had been expected. The Turks, therefore, retreated to the south to await reinforcements.

The news of the Bulgarian victory has caused great rejoicing in Sofia, where it is expected the fall of Adrianople soon will follow. It is generally assumed, Abdullah Pasha still is engaged in bringing up his main army to Adrianople, the position of that town is critical. An interesting situation will develop should the Turks be compelled to evacuate Adrianople. It is supposed that the next stand of the Turks will be made at Domotia, twenty-five miles south of Adrianople, an important strategic position on the road to Constantinople.

In other directions both the Servians and the Turks claim great victories at Komanova, the Servians declaring they have captured the town and the Turks claiming they have repulsed the enemy. Late reports indicated that heavy fighting is still proceeding in this district. The Greek army operating from Arta toward Jaina, Matketch and the neighborhood of Grimbova.

[By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.] Sofia, Oct. 24.—Kirk-Kilisseh fell before the Bulgarian army at 11 o'clock in the morning, according to the latest reports received tonight from Bulgarian sources.

The Turkish troops retired in disorder in the direction of Thrace, four hundred miles to the southeast. They left a battery of quick firing guns, sixteen ammunition wagons and a large quantity of ammunition and food.

When the news was received in Sofia vast crowds bearing the flags of the allied states formed processions and marched to the Greek, Servian, Russian and British legations, the palace and the military club. In front of each the national anthem was sung and cheers were given.

A party of boy scouts headed one of the processions and the Greek minister was carried through the streets on the shoulders of enthusiastic demonstrators. Church bells were rung and the whole city was hung with flags.

Masses will be celebrated throughout the kingdom tomorrow for the Bulgarians who have fallen in the fighting and thanksgiving services for the success of the Bulgarian arms. The Bulgarians were attacked by 5,000 Turks in an engagement Tuesday at Marib, near Adrianople. After an hour's heavy artillery and rifle fire, the Turks were defeated and fled in disorder, leaving the field strewn with dead and wounded. The Bulgarians captured 700 prisoners, a dozen quick fire guns and quantities of ammunition.

Many Turks drowned themselves in the river because they believed the Bulgarians massacred their prisoners. Details of the capture of Kirk-Kilisseh are meagre. An unofficial estimate puts the Bulgarian casualties at 2,000. The fighting has been continuous since Tuesday. The Bulgarians made a steady advance throughout the operations but at a great sacrifice of life.

On Tuesday the first army, under General Ivanoff attacked the outer works of Adrianople in two large bodies. The northern detachment marched along both sides of the river Tundja, the right wing to the west of Havara, the center to Tundja, the left wing advanced along the road from Kirk-Kilisseh to Adrianople. In the west another division simul-

REAR ADMIRAL OF RUSSIAN NAVY PUT IN BAD LIGHT BY A SUICIDE WITNESS

Commander of Emperor's Yacht Shoots Himself With Rifle as Result of Remorse Over Crown Prince's Accident.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) St. Petersburg, Oct. 24.—Rear Admiral Chagin, commander of the emperor's yacht Standard, committed suicide at his residence yesterday. The cause of his act is not known.

It was stated at the time of the recent trouble among the sailors of the Russian fleet that they had arranged a plot to seize the Standard while the emperor and imperial family were being conveyed from Yalta to Sebastopol. A large number of blackheads were then arrested.

Rumors attribute Rear Admiral Chagin's suicide to remorse over the illness of Crown Prince Alexis, which is reported to have been the result of an accident while the little prince was aboard the Standard. It is said the crown prince injured himself while mounting the sailors' naval detachment at the hotel of Peking and although it is positively affirmed that he slipped and fell in his bath.

Admiral Chagin killed himself with a rifle. He spent the previous night in writing letters to relatives. He left a note on the table saying: "I ask that no one shall be accused of my death." He led the Russian naval detachment at the hotel of Peking and commanded the cruiser Abouz at the battle of Tsushima.

It was reported tonight that a lady from whom Rear Admiral Chagin vainly waited, arrived later and that, finding him dead, she committed suicide.

VALENCIA COUNTY ROADS ASSOCIATION HOLDS BIG MEETING

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Belen, N. M., Oct. 24.—The Valencia County Good Roads association held an enthusiastic mass meeting at the public school building in Belen on Wednesday evening. The attendance was even larger than had been expected, and much interest was shown.

The purpose of the meeting was to explain as fully as possible the object and effect of the vote on the bond issue to provide funds for the building of highways in New Mexico, which proposition will be submitted to the people at the November election. In addition to this, it was the object of the promoters of the meeting to create a greater local interest in the good roads movement.

One of the principal speakers of the evening was John Becker, Jr., of Belen, who is treasurer of the State Good Roads association. Mr. Becker explained at considerable length the object of the bond issue and told a number of the distinct advantages which would result to the people, not only of Valencia county, but of the state as a whole.

Mr. Becker was followed by Frank L. Waldrath, Saturnino Baca, B. Jacobson and others. Mr. Baca spoke more particularly to the native people, endeavoring to influence them to support the good roads movement as much as possible, showing them wherein they, as individuals would derive great benefit from a betterment of road conditions.

Oklahoma Gets Dry Farm Meet. Lethbridge, Alberta, Oct. 24.—Oklahoma City was elected today as the 1913 meeting place of the International Dry Farming congress. With the exception of one or two sectional meetings scheduled for tomorrow, the work of the congress was completed. A. A. Brewer, of Oklahoma City, was elected chairman of the board of governors, succeeding George Harcourt, and John T. Burge was elected executive secretary-treasurer.

HATHAWAY ONE OF COMPENSATION ACT BIG MEN OF 1915 EXPOSITION IS BENEFICIAL TO WORKINGMEN

Former Albuquerque Agent is Originator for World's Insurance Congress at San Francisco, California.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) San Francisco, Oct. 24.—San Francisco has assumed the responsibility for this nation to hold here in 1915 an universal exposition, to celebrate the achievement of man's greatest engineering feat, and all the genius of western initiative is being brought to bear to make this event as unique among the world's greatest expositions as the building of the Panama canal is in engineering achievement, and while the plans calculate a marvel of architectural beauty, it is not upon that accomplishment alone that it will rest its claims for the world's approval as having held the greatest of all expositions.

Intellectual, social and commercial problems will be solved and benefited here in 1915 through the greatest series of world's congresses ever held, and preeminent among these congresses, the one dealing with the combined social and commercial subject of insurance, a subject that has come nearer combining the commercial and altruistic spirit than perhaps any other commercial pursuit of man.

Like many other features in connection with this exposition, the idea of a world's insurance congress is the result of western initiative. W. K. Hathaway, the man who conceived the idea and got it world-wide prominence and recognition, becomes a subject of special interest in the insurance world, as he has to the business and social community of San Francisco.

Mr. Hathaway was born in Providence, R. I., February 15, 1867, but was reared in the west, and began his insurance career in the office of the Mutual Life of New York, in San Francisco. He early developed a genius for organization of agency forces that gained him such recognition from his company as to cause them to utilize his services in building up a number of their agencies, particularly one in New Mexico, with headquarters at Albuquerque.

He finally returned to San Francisco for a permanent residence on January 1, 1906, and following the disastrous earthquake and fire with the San Francisco disaster as an additional handicap, he rapidly constructed an agency, force and put the company's business on such a basis as to attract national attention in insurance circles.

As an evidence of his organizing ability, he finds an exceptional amount of time and energy to devote to exposition and other public affairs in which his work is recognized as especially valuable for his ability to contribute that necessary element of organizing direction. He is a tireless worker, and in addition to his many public duties follows in closest detail all matters in connection with his company's business, that is evidenced by an acknowledged increasing efficiency.

In local insurance circles Mr. Hathaway is an acknowledged leader, and his position in the business and social circles of this city is established on a solid, conservative foundation.

His appointment as commissioner of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition to be the guiding hand of all matters of an insurance nature for the next three years, and especially to carry out his plans of a world's insurance congress is a fitting expression of the confidence in which the leading citizens who make up the directorate of the exposition company hold him.

WALL STREET ODDS 4 TO 1 ON WILSON

New York, Oct. 24.—The odds of four to one, at which he is being placed in Wall Street on Wilson for president, were more firmly established than ever today. An unusually large amount of Tammany money was offered during the day on the democratic candidate at this quotation.

Large sums were also wagered on William Sulzer, the democratic candidate for governor, at eight to five.

Solicitor Charles Earl, of Department of Commerce and Labor, Reviews Operations of Federal Law.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Washington, Oct. 24.—Solicitor Charles Earl, of the department of commerce and labor, has just submitted to Secretary Nagel, of that department, a compilation of his opinions dealing with the government workmen's compensation act, under which compensation is granted for injuries to workmen or laborers employed by the United States. This is the pioneer among compensation acts in this country. Since its enactment, sixteen states have passed laws of a similar character, and the number is likely to be increased during the coming sessions of state legislatures. The very general public sentiment which attaches to such legislation led Secretary Nagel, last July, to direct the publication of the solicitor's opinions under this act, as illustrating the construction and application of a law providing compensation as contrasted with a law giving a right to sue for damages. The opinions are now in course of publication by the department, which will issue the volume within a week or two.

The money benefits paid under this act began August 1, 1908, when it became effective, and December 1, 1911, aggregated $764,314.60 paid to injured persons on account of non-fatal injuries and $112,879.02 paid to surviving dependents on account of fatal injuries. Since December, 1911, additional benefits amounting to nearly $200,000 have been paid. During the first year after the passage of the act, 1,805 claims were submitted, of which 1,639 were allowed. During the second year, 2,624 claims were submitted and 2,439 allowed.

The present statute applies only to workmen or laborers employed in certain specified branches of the public service, or in certain hazardous occupations under the government. Any workman covered by the act who is injured in the course of his employment is entitled to receive for one year thereafter, unless sooner able to resume work, the same pay as if he continued to be employed, except where the injury was due to his own negligence or misconduct. If the injury results in death during the year, the compensation allowed is payable to the widow or children or dependent parent. The act is administered by the secretary of commerce and labor, who is authorized to decide all questions of negligence or misconduct, who is made the sole judge as to when a claim is established, and whose decision is final. Payment of compensation under the act is made from the ordinary current appropriations for salaries.

The solicitor emphasizes that feature of the act which permits of the establishment of a simple and prompt mode of procedure whereby technicalities and delays are avoided, and the relief provided can be speedily given, and the further feature, whereby the government is forbidden to exempt itself from liability by any contract, agreement, rule or regulation. In this connection he says:

"The prompt payment of compensation at a time when the bread winner is stricken and money is most needed, without forcing the claimant to pursue a tedious, expensive and dilatory process of proof, is one of the striking benefits of the act. Being in its nature a remedial statute, it is rightly susceptible of a liberal interpretation, as contrasted with a strict interpretation, in order to bring home the benefits intended. Such has been the interpretation regularly applied by the secretary of commerce and labor with the exception of one or two instances of the limitations of the statute, or extending it beyond its terms."

In speaking further of the nature and benefits of the act, the solicitor states that it marks a distinct step in advance, and substitutes an enlightened modern view for certain obsolete doctrines of the common law, since it not only gives a remedy where none existed before, but it waives the right of the government to exempt itself from liability and dispenses with the necessity of appeals to congress in individual cases.

The solicitor notes that over 17,000 accidents were reported under the act during the first three years of its operation, whereas only about 8,000 claims were filed, due to the limited scope of the law, and strongly argues this as an indication of the need of extending the benefits of the act by supplementary legislation. Such legislation has in fact been recommended by the secretary of commerce and labor, and measures designed to enlarge the scope of the act are now pending in congress.

EXPRESS MESSENGERS ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 24.—United States postoffice inspectors tonight arrested Frank N. Whisenand, who lives in Chicago, and Benjamin H. Day, a resident of Omaha, both employed as messengers, on a charge of robbing the United States mails. The home of Day in this city was visited, and a large amount of loot recovered. Whisenand was first arrested, and sent to the county jail. A few hours later Day was arrested as he was leaving an Adams express car. Day weakened and gave the location of part of the loot taken from "the sacks" of mail that had been sent by express. The officers secured a large number of packages still unopened and articles of merchandise.

According to Inspector Ranger, of Creston, Ia., claims aggregating $25,000 have been filed with the postoffice department for lost packages shipped in recent months over lines between Chicago and Omaha.

President Begins Trip to Capital Today, Stopping Enroute at Cambridge Springs, Pa., to Speak.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Poland Springs, Me., Oct. 24.—After a vacation of nearly two months, President Taft will start back to Washington tomorrow to take up the duties of what he expects will prove a busy winter. The president is not due in Washington until Sunday morning, for he has a speaking engagement Saturday at Cambridge Springs, Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft, who motored north with the president from Beverly, will return to the summer capital for a few days and probably will join the president in Washington in time to accompany him to Cincinnati, where he is to vote. Mr. Taft had a quiet day here. He played golf this morning in a fair third made his caddy anxious, but he kept his score down to fifty-four in nine holes, and late today returned to Portland to address the Maine teachers' association. He got back to Poland Springs in time for dinner.

The Maine teachers gave the president a glowing welcome. After his speech he received a few Maine friends at the Portland club.

Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen accompanied him on the trip. In addressing the teachers the president said he had learned the value of teaching in the Philippines when he was governor general. He told of the importation of 1,000 American teachers and their successful efforts not only to instruct the Filipino, but to show the thousands of Filipino men and women how to teach.

The president drew a parallel between the teachers and government employees and said both should be taken care of after they had spent the active years of their lives in efforts to serve.

of Becker's lawyer. It is far the greater part of the court's instructions dealt with murder in the first degree, the penalty for which is the electric chair.

Planked by counsel, face expressions, Becker sat chewing gum while the court delivered the charge. Back of the railing at his wife, head bowed, eyes downcast.

The justice spoke in a monotone but with incisive deliberateness. "It is not claimed by the prosecution that Becker's hand did actually kill Rosenthal," he said at a crucial point. "It is claimed that he requested and directed that the killing be done and as I have already instructed the jury, Becker, in law, must be held responsible for the acts of everyone who acted in pursuance of his request or instructions."

"It is important here that I should direct you as to the law governing the case now presented. Where a person is asked not to have done the actual killing, but to have induced it and instructed. Under the law, Becker stands charged principally with the commission of the crime of murder on the ground that he conspired and advised it."

The court here added that the main witnesses against the defendant were without a doubt, accomplices and he so branded Ross, Valen and Wolber. Scheppe's relation, he would not define.

Diseases of Women Concluded.

Someone has said, "Tell me what you eat and I will tell you what you are." We might almost say, "Tell me what you eat and when and how you eat it, and we will tell you what your physical derangements are."

When children are overfed it hampers maturity. Early maturity means development of certain organs and functions which should be latent dormant until the mind and body were sufficiently developed to handle the added responsibility. The girl who is forced into early maturity by the use of rich, highly concentrated foods, and by being forced into school and into society for which she is physically unprepared, is laying the foundation for all sorts of future troubles, both physical and mental.

Young men, as well as young women, whose moral training has been to avoid every act that convention would condemn—never to do anything that could be criticized by the most prudent—but who have been left to the ravages of lascivious imaginations, will suffer functional derangements and ill health.

An impure mind, although without an overt act is injurious to health. The laws of health are no respecter of persons. They place the stamp of disapproval on the debauched mind as well as the debauched body.

Nervousness. Who does not know what it is to be nervous? Everyone knows what nervousness means, yet few know that nervous people are divided into two classes; namely, those who have irritable nerves and those who have weak nerves.

Andrew Carnegie, the Great Steel Magnate, in Writing About Real Estate, Said:

"The wise young man of wage earner—today invests in real estate—preferably in suburban sections where land can be bought at reasonable prices and is made valuable by advancing population."

When Mr. Carnegie expressed himself as above, he undoubtedly had in view a town like Albuquerque, now on the eve of a phenomenal increase in Population, and a suburb like where values will more than double in the next six months. Mr. Reader, if you want to share in the profits of this ideal suburb, buy now while prices are low. In a very short time they will begin to advance.

MASQUERADE CARNIVAL AT SKATING RINK SATURDAY NIGHT

The big masquerade carnival at the skating rink in Elks' theater has been postponed to Saturday night. On that night it is confidently expected by the management that the rink will accommodate a record-breaking crowd. Special features have been arranged, not to speak of the drawing power of the masquerade itself. Complimentary tickets issued for tonight will be honored tomorrow night.

LOOK AT YOUR WIFE

"Happy the man who has a healthy, happy wife," says an old philosopher. Look at your wife—is she rosy, checked, well and strong? Or have wrinkles come fifteen years before they should, because she had worked too hard?

The daily round of housework and home duties soon wear a woman out unless she is careful to guard her health—and most women think of all the rest of the family first. When your wife is pale, nervous, and runs down, get her a bottle of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil. It will bring back the roses to her cheeks and make her strong again. Many blooming matrons of forty or fifty owe their youthful appearance to Vinol. Mr. N. L. Stickleton, of Newark, Ohio, says Vinol restored his sickly wife to health. You take no risk—we give back the money unless Vinol does us any good.

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

HEAR ALL SIDES.

Former Congressman Ralph D. Cole, of Ohio, presented the case for the republicans very ably in his speech in the Elks' theater, Wednesday. His facts generally were accurate, but, like the skilled lawyer pleading his case, he did not state all the facts and his conclusions, therefore, were often open to question.

Hon. A. A. Jones, democratic national committeeman, will present the case of that party in the Elks' theater tonight. Mr. Jones is a very able lawyer and particularly well-informed. His speech will be on a high plane, as was that of Mr. Cole.

It will be well if all of those who heard Mr. Cole will come out and hear Mr. Jones. They will thus have listened to the two ablest speakers that have or will address Albuquerque audiences this year.

Those who have lived long in New Mexico, because statehood was acquired only last year, are largely out of touch with political questions, except as they have read of such questions in newspapers and magazines.

Few people read much matter with great care. As Banyan said in his "Holy War," "The town of Mansoul is captured by carnage." People, the best educated of them, read without understanding frequently, because the writer has not simplified and illustrated his subject.

The public speaker is before his audience to make his subject clear. If he understands it himself, he listens to hear tone, gesture, expression, illustration. He diagrams it, pictures it, holds the attention of his audience concentrated on what he is saying.

The people of New Mexico should understand the issues of this, their first national campaign. They have heard Colonel Roosevelt, the master campaigner of the nation, present progressivism. Not nearly as many as should have heard Mr. Cole very present, but those who listened to his speech heard as adroit a presentation of Mr. Taft's claim for votes as will be heard by any audience in the United States.

Where Mr. Jones speaks tonight he will present the democratic contention as ably as it will be heard by any audience in the country. Mr. Jones hasn't a national reputation, such as Mr. Bryan has, but he knows his subject just as well and will handle it in a more statesmanlike way. His speech will not be of the ad captum sort, made solely for the purpose of appealing to prejudice.

Albuquerque people should hear all of the speakers. They should sift the arguments, and then vote for what they conclude is the best interests of New Mexico and the United States, of which New Mexico is now an integral part.

TAFT'S TURN NEXT.

According to John Cullen O'Laughlin, five more United States senators are to be investigated during the next session of congress. They are Hiram Penrose, of Pennsylvania; Henry A. DuPont, of Delaware; Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming; William E. Chilton, of West Virginia, and Clarence W. Watson, of West Virginia.

The Journal states without hesitation that the only reason Senator Albert Bryan Fall's name is not among the names mentioned is because he is not recognized by the United States senate as having been elected for the term beginning March 4, 1912.

The governor and the secretary of state refused to sign the certificate of Fall's election. When Senator Cañon presented a part of the record of the last legislature purporting to show that Fall had been elected for six years, the memoranda were referred to the committee on elections and has not been acted on.

As to the reasons for the investigation of Judge Fall, they have been hinted at by our evening contemporary and have been disclosed to some extent by the Journal. It was pointed out at the time that the election was held illegally, and since that time facts have developed that will make it absolutely necessary for charges of corruption to be made against the election if for any reason it should be held as legal.

Whether Judge Fall had knowledge of the methods used was held in the Lorimer case to be unnecessary. The fact that corrupt influences were employed for that purpose is enough to cast him. That such facts exist upon which to base charges is asserted in quarters that will not admit of being passed over in silence.

New Mexico has a scandal that is second to none, except in the amount of money used, that has ever shown up in this country. Tracing the facts will not be difficult, and the only way prosecutions are likely to be avoided is for the next legislature to ignore the so-called election of Fall and proceed at the legal time to elect a United States senator.

AS BLYTHE SEES IT.

In the Saturday Evening Post came in Albuquerque yesterday, Samuel G. Blythe, its political forecaster, takes the same position expressed some days ago editorially in the Journal, that the republicans have no hope of electing Taft, but are fighting to get more votes than Roosevelt.

The fact is, neither Taft nor Roosevelt is running against Wilson. They are running against each other. Mr. Blythe says:

"The great object in the minds of the Taft managers is to get more votes for Taft than Roosevelt gets. This will in a measure retain some semblance of life in the republican party they think, and will teach Roosevelt his lesson they hope. The Taft managers have no idea Taft can be elected. Still they are determined he shall have more votes than Roosevelt if that can be brought about. They have reconciled themselves to the election of Wilson, but they are not reconciled to the supremacy of Roosevelt over Taft, nor do they want to let go of the remnants of the party."

"However, if there seems any imminent danger of Roosevelt's election they will not permit sentiment to stand in the way of helping to suppress Roosevelt. The word will go out for old time republicans to vote for Wilson. It is going out now. Mr. Taft must be content to defeat Roosevelt—if he can. That appears to be his only real function in this present campaign."

"Returning to the political phase of the struggle as distinguished from the popular side, the result as to Wilson in most of the states hinges on the division of the republican vote. In Ohio, for example, Bryan had 592,721 votes in 1908, and Taft had 572,212. The democratic managers in that state claim Wilson can hold the 500,000 Bryan votes or their equivalent. Hence, counting on republican votes for Wilson to offset any democratic votes that may go to Roosevelt or Taft, if Roosevelt gets 75,000 votes Wilson wins; and any person who holds Roosevelt's Ohio vote down to 75,000 has an absolute lack of knowledge of what Ohio will do. He is more likely to get 200,000 votes than 75,000—more likely, I said. The same conditions prevail in other states, in many other states."

FALSEHOOD NECESSARY.

Our evening contemporary gives the following as a quotation from the Morning Journal.

"Mr. Ferguson had hardly found the proper hook on which to hang his hat when the people are called to elect his successor."

What the Journal said was: "Congressional districts that get things from the federal government do not change their congressional each term. It takes a national representative at least one session of congress to learn how things are done. He has hardly found the proper hook on which to hang his hat when the people are called on to elect his successor."

Mr. Ferguson had a full term as delegate and did things for New Mexico. Also he has had some excellent experience and hard work during the present year.

But all of this is beside the point. The Journal could point out a lot of things where the Herald deliberately misquotes. Isn't it a rather weak case that necessitates such measures?

Also, it is generally regarded as a dishonorable cause.

The battle at the Elks' theater between Eugene Dora and the Jaffa committee was a draw, but the popular decision went to Mr. Jaffa. His hand failed to get to the front, but he acted as chairman of the meeting and introduced the speaker. Also, his hand had a bigger and shinier horn than the Jaffa hand could show and it made more noise.

FERGUSON'S OPPOSITION.

There are hundreds of men in the city who have heretofore voted the republican ticket who are going to vote for Ferguson this year because he can do things for New Mexico.

The opposition simmers down to the paying around the federal building. Beyond doubt, Mr. Ferguson would have secured an order for that purpose had it not been for the fact that the matter was brought to his attention near the close of the session and the administration is republican and not exactly disposed to favor the request of a democrat. The next administration will be democratic.

CHILDREN HATE CASTOR OIL; UGH!

Delicious "Syrup of Figs" Best for Their Little Stomachs, Liver and Waste-Clogged Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the physic that mother insisted on—castor oil, colman's cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. The day of the harsh physic is over. We don't force the liver and 36 feet of bowels now; we coax them. We have no dreaded after effects. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their little stomachs and tender bowels are injured by them.

If your child is fretful, peevish, half sick, stomach sour, breathy, feverish, and its little system full of cold; has diarrhoea, sore throat, stomach-ache; doesn't eat or rest well—remember—look at the tongue. If coated, give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs, then don't worry, because you surely will have a well, smiling child in a few hours.

Syrup of Figs being composed entirely of luscious figs, pears and aromatics simply cannot be harmful. It sweetens the stomach, makes the liver active and thoroughly cleanses the little one's waste-clogged bowels. In a few hours all sour bile, undigested fermenting food and constipated waste matter gently moves on and out of the system without griping or nausea.

Directions for children of all ages, also for grown-ups, plainly printed on the package.

By all means get the genuine. Ask your druggist for the full name "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna" prepared by the California Fig-Syrup Co. Accept nothing else.—Adv.

LAS CRUCES GIVES H. B. FERGUSSON GREAT OVATION

Reception in Mesilla Valley Metropolis Pronounced Biggest One Yet by Democratic Congressmen.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.) Las Cruces, N. M., Oct. 24.—Hon. H. B. Ferguson, congressman from New Mexico and the nominee of the democratic party for reelection, tonight addressed an audience of voters which packed the National Guard armory. Mr. Ferguson's speech was cheered to the echo.

One of the features of tonight's democratic rally was a torchlight procession through the principal streets, in which 500 marched.

Previous to the meeting in this city, Congressman Ferguson addressed a large meeting at Mesilla Park. Many prominent republicans participated in tonight's meeting as did also all the leaders of the progressive party in Dona Ana county.

Mr. Ferguson declared that the reception he received here was the most enthusiastic one of the campaign thus far.

ROOSEVELT ABLE TO BE UP AND ABOUT HOUSE

Colonel's Recovery Since Return to Oyster Bay Surprises Physicians; Plans to Get Back in Campaign.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Oyster Bay, Oct. 24.—From morning till tonight, Colonel Roosevelt was up and fully dressed to-day, walking unassisted about the house.

It was the first time since he was shot that he had been out of bed long at a time, but he felt so much better after two days' rest at home that he refused to stay upstairs in his room another day. He put on his khaki riding suit and surprised his family by appearing in the living room and saying he was going to have a luncheon with the others.

Colonel Roosevelt was so much better that the physicians who have been coming from New York to care for his wound found it unnecessary to make the trip today.

Dr. Seurey L. Terrell, the colonel's private physician and Dr. George W. Fuller, of Oyster Bay, spent a few minutes with their patient in the morning and again later in the day and found that his condition was improving steadily.

The most marked change was his increased strength and vitality. He spent most of the day in his library, but attempted little work. In spite of his improved condition he found that he was far from having his usual strength and in the afternoon he became fatigued and slept two hours.

Tomorrow Colonel Roosevelt expects to resume work. He sent word to his secretary today to be at Sagamore Hill in the morning and hopes to spend several hours in dictating letters and a part of the speech he expects to deliver in New York next week.

WICKERSHAM SAYS ROOSEVELT HOPES TO BEAT TAFT

Attorney General in Making Plea for President, Asserts Colonel Wants to Pave Way for Victory in 1916.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Cambridge, Oct. 24.—Declaring that we are today in the flood of an increasing and widening prosperity, Attorney General Wickersham delivered an address here tonight.

"Our mills are running with prosperity," he said, "and the demands for their product is exceeding their capacity. No able bodied man who wants work need remain idle."

He said that it was no more accident that brought this happy condition of affairs under President Taft.

Mr. Wickersham commended the president for using the veto power.

"That the steel mills and woolen mills and other manufacturers are running full blast is due wholly to his veto," he said.

Mr. Wickersham declared that but for Colonel Roosevelt there would be no possible doubt of the continuation of this prosperity, for nobody contends that the democrats alone could bring about the defeat of the national republican ticket.

"Democratic hope," he said, "has only in Theodore Roosevelt's ability to take enough votes away from the republican ticket to elect Wilson. Nobody pretends that Colonel Roosevelt can be elected."

He charged that Roosevelt did not expect to win, but hoped to gain strength enough to pull the progressive party together and win in 1916.

WITNESS IS MADE TO TESTIFY IN NATIVE TONGUE

Trial of Strikers for Murder Featured by Strange Procedure in Court at Salem, Massachusetts.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Salem, Mass., Oct. 24.—For more than an hour today in the trial of Enrico Giovannitti and Carmelo, for the murder of Anna Lothrop during the Lawrence textile strike, testimony was taken in the Italian language.

Charles Formica, a young Italian detective, who said he followed the movements of Enrico and Giovannitti in the strike, was on the stand, and afterwards for the defense demanded that he display his knowledge of the tongue of his ancestors.

Benecio, a native of Boston, testified at the morning session to a speech he heard Giovannitti make to the strikers on the day of the fatal riot. Giovannitti, speaking in Italian, told the strikers to prove like wild animals at night for the blood of the "scabs." He also translated a circular issued by the defendants, urging the strikers to smash the heads of those

TUCUMCARI HOPES FOR COMPLETION OF BIG PROJECT

Reports Current That Northern Capitalists are to Carry Out Plans for Irrigation of Extensive Tract.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Tucumcari, N. M., Oct. 24.—The board of directors of the Tucumcari Irrigation Company held an important meeting this week. It is reported that they are about to close a deal with a northern firm to do the construction work on the large dam that will be located about twelve miles west of Tucumcari. This project will place about twenty-five thousand acres under water, and the soil is of a very rich sandy loam and will produce abundant crops.

A suit was instituted Monday against the promoters of the oil well in the "Bad Lands" east of the city. The suit, it is said, is only for a small amount, and as soon as it is settled, work will be resumed on the well. The well is now down over fourteen hundred feet, and the promoters will go at least two thousand feet. It is claimed that the indications for oil are excellent.

The Rock Island railway has commenced work on a deep well at Glen Rio, which is located on the line between New Mexico and Texas. Forty miles east of Tucumcari on the Tucumcari and Memphis line. The company has agreed to spend as much as ten thousand dollars on the project, and Captain Hart Reeves has been employed to superintend the drilling. Captain Reeves, with some representatives of the government, have for some time been making surveys of the country and claim that the waters of the Canadian river which sink about the town of Logan, have formed a large artesian well east of Bard City and north of the Rio Grande, and it is with the hope of finding an artesian flow that the well is being put down by the railroad company. The people of this vicinity will await the results with much interest.

State Engineer Grimes has under consideration the granting of a water franchise to a Denver firm for 145,000 acres feet of the water of the Canadian river. The company has made several surveys of the dam site, laterals and grades, and it is said that if the water right is granted that work on the construction of the main dam will commence not later than January 1, 1913. This will, if consummated, place some of the richest land in Quay county under irrigation. Engineers of the company are now at work making the final surveys and estimates.

The crops of this county are the best grown for six years. Senator Pard City, Endee, Bana, Nara Visa, Logan and Hudson are rejoicing over the splendid crops grown by the farmers. Business is good in all of these towns. San Jon is planning to erect a new school building. At Endee several car loads of cattle were shipped last week. Nara Visa reports the shipment of several car loads of cattle. This little city has four churches and only three saloons. Logan has several fine stores, a splendid stone school building, two churches and a bank. The farmers are delighted with their crops.

The democratic campaign is on in earnest. Last week, Judge J. D. Cutlip, Senator Abderhede, Senator Bennett and J. W. Campbell were making a canvass of the entire county, and speaking in all of the precincts. This week Secretary of State Antonio Lucero and Judge Long will be heard in several places in the county. Last year the democrats carried the county by about four hundred majority, and equally divided between Roosevelt and Taft, and the democrats expect to have a majority at least twice as large as last year. Many of the republicans will support Ferguson for congress.
