PROSPECTS BETTER FOR PEACEFUL OUTCOME OF CONFERENCE

Difficulty of Seating Greek Representative Has Been Overcome and War Talk Grows Less Violent.

BASIS OF TREATY IS OUTLINED BY ALLIES

Should Proposition of Balkans be Acceded to, Little Territory Will Remain to Sultan in Europe.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) London, Dec. 16.—The preliminary of the peace conference were completed today and apparently the Greek difficulty regarding the signing of the armistice has been surmounted. Actual negotiations begin tomorrow. The Turkish and Bulgarian delegates held a meeting at 7 o'clock this evening at which it is reported they discussed Adrianople. It is reported through Berlin tonight that the Serbian minister, in council decided, in deference to Russian and French advice, to yield the port of Durazzo on the Adriatic and that the Serbian premier, M. Paticich, is coming to London in connection with this determination. The report has not been confirmed, but there are indications of relaxation in the Austro-Serb difficulty. The first engagement between the Greek and Turkish fleets occurred today, but without serious damage to either side. The peace plenipotentiaries met formally today in St. James palace and adjourned early in the afternoon without discussion. The feature of the day was the address of welcome by Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs, who was elected honorary president of the conference. The responses of the heads of the various delegations indicated a desire to accomplish the purpose of the conference.

All the delegates applauded Sir Edward Grey's speech, which, evidently like his statement in the house of commons, Wednesday, aimed at impartiality. The Balkan delegates seemingly are more satisfied with its substance than the Turks. "In this way you will lay foundations on which I trust will be built by true wisdom and statesmanship the prosperity, moral, economic and national, of your respective countries," they see a plain allusion to their states as they are. The principle of the conference, which was considered as meaning without Turkey.

Speaking of the meeting today, Count Devoinovich, a Montenegrin delegate, said:

"Today we simply looked into each others eyes."

Count Devoinovich is one of the ablest of the Balkan representatives. The first encounter between the allies and the Turks will come tomorrow. A climax will be reached when both sides exchange their respective propositions for the conclusion of peace.

The terms of the allies:

The principal conditions of peace demanded by the allies comprise the immediate surrender of the Turkish fortresses of Scutari, Adrianople and Janina, whose garrisons will be granted full military honors; the evacuation of eastern Europe by Turkey as far east as Trabzon to a line to be delimited on the spot; the cessation of Greece of all the Aegean islands; the annexation of Crete to Greece and the payment by Turkey of a war indemnity and of the expenses incurred by the allies on account of the Turkish prisoners.

The allies in return are prepared to grant complete amnesty to the Muslim population in the territory they annex for any acts of hostility during the war; the return of all prisoners; the recognition of the spiritual sovereignty of the sultan over the Ottoman states and the free administration by the Muslims of their pious foundations in the Balkans.

These conditions have now been added the taking over of the Balkan states of that part of Ottoman public debt corresponding to the territories which they annex, unless the powers controlling the Ottoman debt allow them to deduct that part from the war indemnity imposed upon Turkey, which would thus remain the only debt.

The terms formulated by Turkey have been kept secret, but it may be surmised on good authority that they include the renunciation by both sides of any money transaction under the form of indemnity or otherwise, except the taking over by the Balkan states of a portion of the Ottoman debt proportionately to the new territories they acquire. They provide also that the sultan shall have a representative in the territories passing to the allies, where Ottoman courts shall be instituted for Muslim subjects; that Adrianople, the first Turkish capital in Europe and surrounding territory, shall remain to Turkey; that the Turco-Bulgarian frontier south of Adrianople shall be marked by the Maritza river, while the territory west of Maritza as far as the Struma river, goes to Bulgaria, which thus would have the port of Kavala, to which she long has aspired.

Turkey will demand that Saloniki, over the possession of which it is pointed out serious Greco-Bulgarian antagonism has arisen, shall remain to Turkey and, together with Monastir and Scutari, and their respective districts, shall form Ottoman territory surrounding Albania.

Serbia is to have Skopje, Pristina, Mitrovica and part of the Sanjak of Novi-Bazar, the remaining part going to Montenegro.

To Bulgaria is conceded the island of Thozos, but Turkey claims possession of the other islands in the Aegean sea, including Samothrace, Imbros, Lemnos and Mytilene, together with those now occupied by Italy, because the latter belong to Asiatic Turkey. But the administration of Constantinople pledged itself to obtain from England, Russia, France and Italy, the four protective powers, in Crete, their consent that this island shall be annexed to Greece. These terms would give the allies four-fifths of the territory which, a few weeks ago, was European Turkey; but, notwithstanding what seems to be a great concession, a comparison of the terms of the allies with those of Turkey is sufficient to show the immense gulf separating them.

Even admitting that many concessions are made on both sides, an ultimate understanding appears difficult. The idea of mediation has therefore been proposed.

All the delegates, however, declare that mediation is extraneous to their mission here. To even conclude peace, either they or others, must receive the authorization of their respective governments. The delegates officially remarked that it would be impossible for Russia or Austria to mediate, as both powers are too interested in the settlement; nor could Germany, because she is bound to Austria; nor could Italy, because of the recent war between that country and Turkey. There only remained England and France acceptable to both parties. Their selection might give umbrage to Germany and Austria.

It was pointed out that the only great power absolutely disinterested in the United States, and that if it were possible to bring about something of the same intervention, which, in 1905, led to the Portsmouth conference and the conclusion of peace between Russia and Japan, there might be actual mediation.

This would not be the first time that action on the part of the United States has made itself felt in a matter concerning Turkey. Unofficial intervention by the United States had a beneficial effect in the Turco-Balkan war, when last June, the American ambassador at Rome, Thomas J. O'Brien, after an understanding with the Italian premier, notified the American ambassador at Constantinople, W. W. Rockhill, of the peace conditions proposed by Italy, which were exactly those embodied in the treaty of Lausanne.

Ambassador Rockhill was the main instrument in convincing the port of the uselessness of resistance and of the advisability of coming to terms with Italy. The negotiations through Ambassadors O'Brien and Rockhill reached so far that President Taft telegraphed to the embassy at Rome, instructing the ambassador to proffer the good offices of the United States officials for the settlement of the war. The following day, Ambassador O'Brien being absent, Secretary of the Legation Post Wheeler, presented the offer of the president to Premier Giolitti, who, although appreciating the friendly act, regretted that he would be unable to accept it, as peace was practically concluded.

The conference of the ambassadors which will begin tomorrow, is called among the diplomats "the clearing house," as they expect to arrive at many questions that have arisen through the new situation in the Balkans. These questions then will be practically solved when they come up for discussion at the future conference, when the new map of Eastern Europe will be fixed. Russia and Austria are the most directly interested and their action will be of vital importance. The British ambassador to Austria, Lord Curzon, is said to be carrying with him on his return journey from Vienna, the alternative of peace or war.

Austro-German elements say that if the latter course is decided upon, Austria is ready to draw the sword immediately, as by the end of the week she could have 1,000,000 men at the Balkan and Russian frontiers.

Austria feels that she must protect her own prestige and the prevailing interests in the Balkans and the Adriatic. Those who speak for Austria, say she has already given proofs of great concessions and has made no objection to change in the Balkan peninsula, when she, by virtue of the treaty of Berlin, occupied the Sanjak of Novi-Bazar and then willingly gave this up after the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina. Austria feels, however, that she cannot allow changes in the Adriatic, for they would cause unrest among Hungarian Slavs, numbering 26,000,000, whose loyalty to the Hapsburg monarchy is far from exemplary.

Young Girl Killed at Railroad Crossing.

Rocky Ford, Colo., Dec. 16.—Hazel McBride, aged 13, daughter of Mrs. A. E. McBride, was instantly killed this afternoon at the Main street crossing of the Santa Fe railroad, when struck by the engine of Santa Fe train No. 601, west bound. The girl had driven in from the ranch a few miles south of the city to do some errands and had just started for home when the accident occurred.

TWO KILLED; THREE WOUNDED IN GUN BATTLE IN HILLS OF CALIFORNIA

After Killing Under Sheriff and Winging Three Members of His Posse, Young Desperado is Finally Dispatched.

HE HAD COMMITTED AN ASSAULT ON GIRL

Bandit Took Up Impregnable Position and Company Militia Was Required to Dislodge Him.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Santa Ana, Cal., Dec. 16.—In a battle today in the hills at Tamato springs, twelve miles northeast of Santa Ana, between a young desperado and more than 100 county officers, a company of militia and citizens, the outlaw who had attacked a young girl last night was killed; Under Sheriff Robert Squires met death and three of his deputies were seriously wounded.

The battle was the climax of an eight night pursuit of the bandit by a sheriff's posse which brought him to bay at dawn on the summit of the rocky hills overlooking the water holes of Tamato springs. Turning upon his pursuers, the bandit, entrenched behind bastions of rocks, opened fire and with one of his first bullets hit Squires and the sheriff, fatally wounded, laid in a gulch almost directly beneath the outlaw. He lay calling for help throughout the long fight, but each time an effort was made to reach him one or more members of his posse fell wounded. It was not until Company L, Seventh regiment California national guard, had been summoned and, flanking the bandit's position, had riddled him with bullets, that the body of Squires was recovered. He was dead when picked up.

The bandit appeared last night at the ranch of William Huff in the San Joaquin district and attacked the latter's niece, Myrtle Huff, a 14-year-old girl. This attack was made after the man had had Miss Huff's elder sister, Jessie, to a fence near the barn.

Jessie managed to work herself free from her bonds, after the bandit had fled. She ran to the aid of her sister and then gave the alarm. Sheriff C. E. Ruddle dispatched a squad of officers under Squires to take the trail of the fugitive. This posse included Deputies James Stacey, William C. C. and William Brothers, all of whom were wounded in attempts to carry the bandit's stronghold and rescue Squires' body from the gulch. When the wounded men were brought back to this city, Company L was rushed in automobiles to the scene of the conflict. Sheriff Ruddle, accompanied by the militia men, who were commanded by Captain N. A. Elm, and participated in the flanking movement up a narrow canyon, which resulted in the death of the bandit and recovery of Squires' body.

Captain Elm posted his men under cover along the ridge running the canyon and at a given signal they charged, firing as they advanced. The bandit was driven from his position and as he emerged his body loomed against the sky for a moment and then pitched forward. He had been shot through the head; the body and both legs. A dirty handkerchief covered a bullet hole in one of his wrists, indicating that he had been wounded in the first skirmish with Squires and his posse. The bandit was 25 or 30 years old. His identity has not been established.

MRS. HEINZE GETS A DIVORCE FROM COPPER KING

Judge Grants Wife $1,000 a Month Alimony and Rent of Apartments Costing $233 and Custody of Son.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Newburg, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Justice Tompkins, in the superior court today, granted a divorce to Bernice G. Heinze, from F. Augustus Heinze, the former "copper king." The justice placed the custody of the couple's only child, a boy, to the mother. He also directed the defendant to pay Mrs. Heinze $1,000 a month alimony and her rent in an uptown apartment house amounting to $233 a month. Only one witness was called, a porter on a sleeping car on the Denver and Los Angeles division of the Union Pacific railroad. He identified the photograph of a man alleged to be Mr. Heinze and an unidentified woman, who, he said, were passengers in a state room of his car September 26 last. As Heinze did not appear to contest the suit, the justice awarded the decree to the wife. Mr. Heinze married Bernice Golden in 1910, in Brooklyn. She had been divorced from Charles A. Henderson in 1909.

House Burns With Baby in It.

Trinidad, Colo., Dec. 16.—Rosalee Pifer, aged 9 months, was burned to a crisp when the home of Mrs. Paul Pifer, west of here, was destroyed tonight. The mother had left the child in a cradle near the stove from which coals of fire rolled onto the floor.

SENATE'S CONTROL IS PLANNED BY PROGRESSIVE DEMOCRATS

Many Conferences Held Resulting in Program to Overhaul Committees and Make New Assignments.

SENIORITY POLICY IS TO BE DISPLACED

Object of Movement is Legislation in Harmony With Views Expressed by Next President.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 16.—The fight within the democratic party for control of the senate under the next administration has taken definite form within the last few days as the result of concerted action by a small body of democrats toward having the basis for what they term "progressive control" in the next congress. A series of conferences, culminating in a dinner yesterday at which nearly a dozen democrats were present, have resulted in a general understanding for a reorganization movement designed to insure the control of legislation and policies after March 4th, by senators in full sympathy with the views of President-elect Wilson.

No detailed program has been outlined, but the campaign is understood to involve the entire subject of senate control, the direction of affairs by senators approved by the reorganizers, and the establishment of a new system of committee assignments that will distribute important committee places alike to men new and old in the senate.

Those who have participated in the conference thus far as Senator Lea, of Tennessee; Smith, of Georgia; Smith, of South Carolina; Meyers, of Montana; Newlands, of Nevada; Ashurst, of Arizona; Gore and Owen, of Oklahoma; Stone, of Missouri; O'Gorman, of New York; Marlin, of New Jersey, and Representative Norris (Republican, of Texas), prospective successor to Senator Bailey.

It is understood that all of the senators named do not agree to the more radical features of the "insurgent program," although they have endorsed the general purpose of demanding recognition for all members of the party and for the establishment of what they term progressive legislative policies. It is understood that Senators Stone and O'Gorman, who have participated in the latter conference, have urged some moderation of the general plan outlined at the earlier gatherings.

The senate fight is expected to reach President-elect Wilson almost as soon as he takes up questions of legislation. The leaders in the democratic "insurgent movement" assert that at least twenty-seven of the forty-nine democratic senators in the next congress will support their views of the "progressive program."

They estimate that at least seventeen of the thirty-six "hold-over" senators will align themselves with the reorganization element and that a majority of the incoming democrats will join them. The fight for places on the important senate committees is an integral part of the new movement. The insurgent democratic forces probably will demand a fair distribution of places among new and old members on the five leading committees—appropriations, finance, foreign relations, judiciary and interstate commerce—and a similar distribution on the five next important committees—commerce, military affairs, naval affairs, postoffices and agriculture.

Such an arrangement would change the seniority system under which the older senators have the choice of places and often hold commanding positions on several of the leading committees.

Senators identified with the movement refused to outline today the extent to which the reorganization might effect democrats of long service like Senators Tillman, St. Johns, Overman, Martin, Paxon, Culberson and Johnston. Senator Owen, however, said that in the case of a member of the senate who has the choice at present of a number of important places, "we would give a senator thus situated one good place and then distribute the other desirable appointments."

In his judgment it would be the disposition of the senate next March to apportion equitably the powers and dignities of the senate," continued Senator Owen, "not ignoring the experience of seniority but utilizing to the fullest extent the ability and experience of new members and making the democratic senate heartily in accordance with the progressive spirit of the people of the United States."

It is important that this should be done, while at the same time a spirit of harmony is preserved. It is hoped that senators holding first rank on from three to six important committees will realize this and be glad to co-operate in a friendly manner.

A general conference late in February, to take in the new senators is now in contemplation by the men identified with the reorganization movement. If the control of committees is established, it is generally understood that the democrats who term themselves the progressives, will then undertake the legislation.

DEFENSE PUTS IN EVIDENCE FOR ARCHBALD

Attorney for the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company Explains How Jurors for Federal Court Were Drawn from Box.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 16.—James J. B. Woodward, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., attorney for the Lehigh Valley railroad, whose appointment as a jury commissioner formed the ground for charges against Judge Robert W. Archbald, became the central figure in today's opening of the defense in the Archbald trial. Mr. Woodward was produced by Judge Archbald's attorney to disprove the imputations against Judge Archbald, that the latter had favored the railroads in the selection of the jury commissioner. Under the questioning of Alexander Simpson, Jr., attorney for Judge Archbald, Mr. Woodward described the "wheel" used in selecting jurors and detailed the many steps connected with the selection of a venire.

On cross examination, the witness admitted that if a jury commissioner, or deliberately set about the task, he could secure juries favorable to the interests of the railroads. He declared he had never done this and that it would be a difficult task to accomplish. The opening testimony in defense concerned chiefly the value of the Kaydell claim dump, of which Judge Archbald is charged with having secured control through influence brought to bear on his own, the Erie railroad.

NEW YORK BANKER REFUSES TO TELL COMMITTEE OF PROFITS

Frederick Lewisohn Declines to Answer Questions Asked by Antismeyer in Money Trust Investigation.

MAY BE JAILED FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT

California Petroleum Company Flotation Through Syndicate Leads to Close Inquiry by Counsel for Congress.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 16.—The refusal today of Frederick Lewisohn, of the New York banking firm of Lewisohn Brothers, to make a statement as to the profit made by a syndicate formed to float the stock of the California Petroleum Company, forced an adjournment of the house money trust committee. The committee adjourned until tomorrow to allow Mr. Lewisohn to confer with his counsel, Martin Vogel, as to answering the question. Tonight, the witness conferred with his counsel and hurried conferences were held with his associates in New York over long distance telephone.

If Mr. Lewisohn declines to answer the question when the committee meets tomorrow, the committee has the power to take the case to the speaker of the house, who may certify the record to the district attorney for the District of Columbia. It would be his duty to take the matter before the grand jury and ask for an indictment for contempt of the house, which is punishable by imprisonment. The disputed question was asked after Samuel Antismeyer, counsel for the committee, had led Mr. Lewisohn through a long discussion of the operations that preceded the listing of the California Petroleum stock on the New York stock exchange in October.

Mr. Lewisohn said his firm, William Solomon & Co., and Hall Garton & Co., had formed a syndicate to handle the $12,500,000 preferred and $15,000,000 common stock issued by the California Petroleum Company. He traced the stock through two subsequent syndicates with which he was connected, by the last of which the stock was opened to purchasing investors. On October 2nd, the stock was listed on the New York stock exchange, and Mr. Lewisohn said he conducted market quotations in the stock which rose during the next month from 55 to around 70.

Two of the syndicates, Mr. Lewisohn asserted, sold 10,000,000 of the common stock and 5,000,000 of the preferred at 40 and 51 respectively. This was out of 10,000,000 of preferred and the amount of common which Mr. Lewisohn did not remember but which Mr. Antismeyer suggested was 10,000,000 shares, sold to the original syndicate for $10,000,000. At this point Mr. Antismeyer tried to evolve the profit, but Mr. Lewisohn refused to furnish a statement of the profit, said Mr. Lewisohn.

"Do you refuse to furnish it?" asked Mr. Antismeyer.

"I do."

"Will you furnish the committee a statement of your operations in this stock in the stock market when, during October, with 105,000,000 shares listed, 352,270 shares were traded in and with a statement of the syndicate's profit on the sale of the stock?" asked Mr. Antismeyer.

"I will not furnish a statement of the profit," said Mr. Lewisohn.

"Do you refuse to furnish it?" asked Mr. Antismeyer.

"I do."

George H. Kendall, president of the New York Bank Note Company, testifying today discussed the differences between the New York Bank Note Company and the New York Stock exchange.

"Why is your work discriminated against by the stock exchange?" asked Attorney Antismeyer.

"Briefly speaking, because we will not combine with the American Bank Note Company," answered Mr. Kendall.

Mr. Kendall testified that the prices of the New York Company were about 40 or 50 per cent under the prices quoted by the American Company for engraving certificates and bonds. Mr. Kendall identified a list of stockholders in the American Bank Note Company.

Mr. Kendall said J. P. Morgan had told him that he was a stockholder in the American Company. He told how the late Russell Sage had warned him that unless he allowed the American Company to purchase the New York Company, the latter would be barred from the exchange.

"I refused," he said, "and ten days later, we were barred from the exchange."

NEW YORK FINANCIERS NETLED BY INVESTIGATION.

New York, Dec. 16.—After the close of the market today, the board of governors of the New York stock exchange held a special meeting at which the investigation of the "money trust" by the Puffo committee in Washington was discussed. The meeting was largely attended. The meeting considered the advisability of making public a statement embodying some

WOMAN WHO KILLED HUSBAND FREED AT HEARING

Socorro Magistrate Releases Mrs. Mabel Bliss on Own Recognizance, Fixing Nominal Bond of $500.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.) Socorro, N. M., Dec. 16.—At the preliminary hearing held this afternoon at the Socorro court, Mrs. Mabel Bliss, who shot and killed her husband, Marion Bliss, in a house of prostitution here on the night of December 12, the court released Mrs. Bliss on her own recognizance, after fixing a nominal bond of $500 for her appearance for trial at the spring term of the district court.

The hearing was comparatively brief. Six witnesses were examined on behalf of the state, while three appeared for the defendant, including the accused woman. The other witnesses were her sister, Mrs. J. A. Wells, of Pueblo, Colo., and A. J. McKew, a former member of the Albuquerque police department.

Mrs. Bliss went on the stand and related a painful story, telling of her shame, which she said had been caused by her husband, who forced her into a life of prostitution. She might live off her earnings, repeated threats by him that he would kill her, Mrs. Bliss said, compelled her to forsake her two babies and enter a house of ill-fame. Her story made a marked impression on Justice of the Peace Amos C. Green, before whom the hearing was held.

The accused woman announced after her release that she would go to Pueblo with her sister to live until the time of her trial. She first will remain possession of her children, who are now at El Paso, where Mrs. Bliss left them previous to coming to Socorro.

Sympathy here is entirely with Mrs. Bliss and her release from jail, where she had been held since the shooting, met with general approval.

EXPERT MILITARY AVIATORS NECESSARY

Washington, Dec. 16.—The necessity of securing army officers as expert military aviators is emphasized in the annual report of Brigadier General Allen, chief signal officer of the army. General Allen says the number of expert civilian aviators now available in the United States is not large enough to provide an adequate auxiliary. The appropriation granted by congress for the support of army aviators, $100,000, is a trifle, the report declares, when compared with the French aeronautical budget of $7,500,000 for 1912.

The French government is organizing an aviation regiment of 1,000 aviators, the thousand pilots have been licensed in France, including officers and civilians. In the United States, 178 have been so licensed.

PRESIDENT INVITES SUCCESSOR TO WHITE HOUSE

Woodrow Wilson and Wife Expected to Become Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Taft Prior to Inauguration Date.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 16.—President-elect Wilson and Mrs. Wilson may come to the White House before March 4th, to spend a day and a night as guests of the President and Mrs. Taft. The president-elect extended an invitation to Mr. Wilson, while he was in Bermuda. It is expected in Washington, the visit will be made in January. The president and Mrs. Taft entered the mansion unacquainted with many of the details essential to its conduct, although both of them had been frequent guests at functions given by former President Roosevelt.

President Taft believes that Mr. Wilson would like to become familiar with the interior arrangements of his new home and that Mrs. Wilson would like to observe how domestic affairs there are managed. The president was desirous of inviting Mr. Wilson to one of the big White House dinners at which he would meet Mr. Taft's cabinet and many high officials of the present administration. No president was found for such an invitation, however, and the letter of invitation to Mr. Wilson to become a house guest, was sent instead.

It was learned tonight that the president-elect has been obliged to send his regrets in response to the invitation from President and Mrs. Taft for the Wilsons to visit the White House in January. It is understood Governor Wilson replied that the coming of the New Jersey legislature in January would make it impossible for them to accept the invitation.

SUIT WITHDRAWN AGAINST OIL MAN

New York, Dec. 16.—Suit against Henry Clay Pierce, head of the Western-Pierces Oil Company of St. Louis, brought by Mrs. Alice C. Roycroft to recover $11,000 in securities which she alleges Pierce had converted to his own use, was withdrawn by Mrs. Roycroft today. It was announced that Mrs. Roycroft retracted the charges, having become convinced that the defendant did not convert to his own use any of the securities or money belonging to her.

NATIONAL COMPANY HARD COMPETITOR

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 16.—The National Cash Register Company offered to buy us out or drive us out of the business—there was no other alternative. This was the testimony given today by A. L. Deffen testified infringement suits were filed against the firm by the National Company. In 1906 it was deemed advisable to sell out to the National.

ENGLAND HONORS LIFE AND WORK OF LATE U. S. AMBASSADOR

Premier Asquith Tenders Warship to Convey the Body of Whitelaw Reid to Home in America.

GRACEFUL TRIBUTE
PAID IN COMMONS

Memorial Services in Westminster Abbey Arranged at Suggestion of King George Personally.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) London, Dec. 16.—The British government has proposed to the government of the United States that a British battleship should convey the body of the late American ambassador to his native land.

Premier Asquith, in announcing this decision of the government formally in the house of commons today paid a graceful tribute to the dead diplomat.

It has been arranged to hold a memorial service for the late ambassador in Westminster Abbey at noon on Friday.

In referring to the death of Whitelaw Reid, Premier Asquith said in the house of commons:

"Before proceeding with the order of the day I would ask the leave of the house to give brief expression to the sincere grief felt by the whole British nation at the death of the ambassador of the United States."

"The American ambassador to this country has a position of his own which is independent of his status and functions as the diplomatic representative of an external power."

"We regard him as a kinsman. He is also an honored and welcome guest sprung from our own race, speaking our language, sharing with us by birth and inheritance not a few of our most cherished traditions and participating when he comes here, by what I may describe as his own rights, in our domestic interests and celebrations."

"The office has been held and adorned by a long succession of distinguished men, but I am not using the language of exaggeration when I say that none of them more fully entered into its spirit and maintained its special authority than did Whitelaw Reid."

The memorial service in Westminster Abbey was arranged at the suggestion of King George who first sent his secretary to inquire the wishes of the Reid family. It is understood that Mrs. Reid, while greatly appreciating the honor shown by the offering of a British warship, would prefer to take the body of her husband home on a liner.

TAFT LEAVES WILSON TO NAME AMBASSADOR

Washington, Dec. 16.—President Taft today announced through Secretary Bliss that the post of ambassador to Great Britain, made vacant by the death of Whitelaw Reid, will not be filled by him. This announcement followed a conference between the president and Secretary Knox.

Several reasons were given for the president's decision. He believes that the important diplomatic questions involving Great Britain and the United States should be handled separately in Washington by Mr. Knox and Mr. Bryan, the British ambassador.

He understands that President-elect Wilson is also considering a man for the London post and he does not wish to appoint some one who can serve at best for only a few months.

The president had first been inclined to make an appointment, but deliberation with Mr. Knox brought a decision to the contrary.

The post at London will now be vacant until March and this will be the first time in many years that the United States has been without an ambassador in London.

WICKERSHAM SEES A VICTORY FOR PEOPLE IN DECISION

Federal Supreme Court Holds Contracts Between Railroads and Coal Mines as Violation of Sherman Law.

GOVERNMENT LOSES
PART OF CONTENTION

Justice Lurton Announces the Unanimous Opinion of Six Members; Three Jurists Did Not Participate.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 16.—The federal supreme court today cancelled as violative of the Sherman law the contracts by which railroad-owned coal companies in the Pennsylvania anthracite fields had purchased the output for all time of "independent" mines. Attorney General Wickersham tonight expressed the belief that the "decision will so completely destroy the combination that now controls the price of anthracite that it must result in a distinct measure of relief to the public."

The court also ordered the dissolution of railroad control of the Temple Iron company by which the principal railroads and their coal companies were found to have strangled a project to build a competing road into the anthracite fields in 1895, and by which monopolizing schemes could be put into execution handily in the future.

The government failed, the court held, to show "a general combination" to apportion the amount of coal to be put upon the market annually by the various roads. The government's other charges as to a general combination were characterized as "indefinite." Minor combinations were held to have been improperly included in the petition of the government and the proceeding against them was dismissed without prejudice to other actions by the government. Justice Lurton announced the unanimous opinion of the court, which for the purposes of this case consisted only of six members.

Justice Day took no part in the decision because of his absence from the bench when the case was argued in October, 1911. Justice Hughes refrained from participating in the action of the court because he was a special assistant to the attorney general when the case was first investigated by the government. Justice Pitney was not on the bench when the case was presented to the court.

The railroads concerned in the case were the Philadelphia and Reading, the Lehigh Valley, the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western, the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the Erie and the New York, Susquehanna & Western.

The minor combinations, not passed upon but left for possible future consideration, were those alleged to have been created in 1895 by the absorption of the New York, Susquehanna and Western by the Erie, in 1901, by the acquisition by the Reading company of the Central of New Jersey with its coal companies; in 1899, by the acquisition by the Erie of the Pennsylvania coal company, which is said to have been projecting a new railroad, the Delaware Valley and Kingston.

Justice Lurton dwelt upon the greater factor of the six railroads and their coal companies, and anthracite output, over ninety per cent of the entire anthracite area of anthracite was owned by them, he declared, and over seventy-five per cent of the annual supply put on the market was theirs. He said the tremendous influence of these companies in this business was due to the liberal policy of Pennsylvania in encouraging coal development by authorizing an alliance between the coal-producing and the coal-transporting companies.

As to the transportation of coal to tidewater, Justice Lurton said that independent of any agreement or combination, the six railroads were in undisputed control.

"The situation is one that invites concerted action," continued the justice, "and makes exceedingly easy the accomplishment of any purpose to dominate the supply and control the prices at the seaboard. The one-fourth supply which comes from independent operators has been sold in competition with the larger supply of the defendants. If, by concert of action that source of competition be removed, the monopoly which the defendants may exert over production and sale will be complete."

The justice considered the charge of "general combination" to apportion output. Reliance was made, he said, in support of this charge on the conference of railroad presidents in 1896, when it was asserted efforts were made to distribute the coal business upon the basis of the amount carried in previous years.

"The weight of proof," declared Justice Lurton, "satisfies us that whatever might have been contemplated or attempted, the scheme proved abortive, or if attempted, was abandoned long before this was decided."

Taking up the Temple iron company feature of the case, the justice detailed how independent operators in the Wyoming region of Pennsylvania, about 1895, pledged their tonnage to a new road to tidewater, and how the New York, Wyoming and Western Railroad company was "protected in good faith" on the strength of these pledges.

The eight collieries of the Simpson and Watkins firm were described as powerful factors in this project. He described how, through the aid of J. P. Morgan & Company, the Temple iron company was bought, converted into a holding company, its obligations guaranteed by the six railroads in proportion to their annual coal tonnage, and finally how the Temple company purchased the property of the Simpson and Watkins firm. The withdrawal of the support of this firm from the proposed railroad was held to have thwarted the road's construction.

The court dealt with the argument that no injunction should be issued against the Temple company because the alleged strangulation of the projected road was a thing of the past. "The evil is in the combination," declared Justice Lurton. "So long as the defendants are able to exercise the power thus illegally acquired, it may be most efficiently exerted for the continued and further suppression of competition. Through it the defendants, in combination, may absorb the remaining output of independent producers."

"Without it, the several groups of coal-carrying and coal-producing companies have the power and motive to compete."

He called attention to the fact that the railroad presidents were members of the Temple's board of directors, and said this relation afforded "the time, place and occasion for concert of action."

The justice took up the contracts with the independents, referred to as the "sixty-five per cent" contracts, because the railroad companies were to pay that percentage of the price of coal at tidewater to the "independents" for their coal. Justice Lurton declared it was "plainly established" that these contracts "were made by concert, and that the 'plain decision' was that the contracts were designed to control the sale of the independent output."

Whether the department of justice will undertake further investigation of the coal situation, has not been determined. Numerous complaints have been received alleging restraint of trade as being accountable for the high price of coal this winter in certain sections of the country. Action on these has been deferred pending the decision handed down today.

COAL WILL GO HIGHER DECLARES OFFICIAL

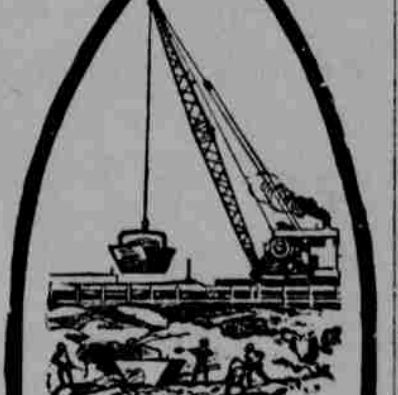

Seranton, Pa., Dec. 16.—In commenting on the "coal trust decision," A. P. Law, vice president and general manager of the Temple Coal Company, said today that the annulment of 65 per cent contracts will mean a jump of $1 a ton for a large part of the coal going to market not only during the present stringency, but on all future occasions when coal is scarce.

M'FARLAND MAKES RYAN AND M'MAHN
CHOPPING BLOCK
OF MURPHY
FIGHT 20 ROUNDS
TO NO DECISION

Chicago Boxer Earns Decisive Victory Over Boston Lightweight in Fast Ten-Round Bout at Kenosha.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Kenosha, Wis., Dec. 16.—Packey McFarland, of Chicago, earned a decisive victory over Eddie Murphy, of Boston, in their ten-round fight here tonight. Murphy lost two teeth and was knocked down in the last round, his right eye cut open and he finished the fight a sorry spectacle, although apparently still strong and willing.

Packey justified the claims of his admirers by never being in danger, he rained blows on Murphy almost at will but the knockout punch was never in evidence. Though Murphy often was in distress the rugged Boston lightweight was always ready to fight.

Packey landed ten blows to Murphy's one and although Murphy got over several hard punches, Packey was unhurt and left the ring with no marks of the encounter. Murphy's last round was the fifth, in which he landed several stiff lefts and rights and after a rally in the middle of the ring landed two hard right upper cuts to Packey's jaw. Just previously Packey landed a good right to Murphy's head, which was the best blow of the round.

Every other round was Packey's by a wide margin. He never slowed up except for a moment in the ninth and never backed up. His opponent frequently was on the ropes but showed stamina and gumption by assimilating showers of blows that McFarland rained upon him time and time again without return.

The fight was at catchweights with Murphy having apparently a trifle the better. Ed. Smith, of Chicago, was the referee. There was no official decision.

TALKING CHORUS FOR GARRICK

George W. Lederer Has Given Most of New Wrinkles to Musical Comedies in Recent Years.

It was George W. Lederer, during his New York Casino regime, who gave musical farce or musical comedy most of the wrinkles that made the feminine choruses of the Lederer shows distinctive from the vocal (female) auxiliaries of the average Broadway musical production contemporary with his pieces. It was Lederer who first introduced a whistling number, piped by choristers, and also it was he who changed the fashions in popular choruses from just plain "chorus girls" to "show girls" and from these to girls in long skirts, and likewise it was Lederer who first gave the country a dancing set of girls labeled "ponies"—this in his production in the New York theater of "The Man in the Moon." Employing only blonde girls of generous color at one time and brunette at another, and swinging the style from girls of physical amplitude to tiny feminine charms which he termed "broilers," were other successful changes of the producer, in "Madame Sherry," which comes to the Elks' theater tonight, this manager has found a new quirk in his treatment of the handsome young women who work in the singing and dancing ensembles of the piece. This newest Lederer chorus girl innovation caught the fancy of New York, and will be a feature of the performance of "Madame Sherry" tonight. The novelty is described in some of the advertisements announcing tonight's engagement as "A Talking Chorus."

The play itself is one of considerable interest, dealing with a fictitious incident in the life of Garrick, the great actor, and intended to show that all ideas of chivalry and honor were as highly held among the members of the dramatic profession at that day, when actors were thought barely respectable, as they were among the so-called upper classes.

Ada, the daughter of Simon Ingot, a wealthy merchant in London, is charmed of Garrick, who, on the other hand, realizes that an alliance between them could not but be difficult for her and would result in many unpleasant circumstances and embarrassments. To save her from her infatuation, he consents to enact the role of a drunkard at a dinner which Ingot gives. Another guest at this function is Squire Chivy, a white-bibbing country squire with no more brains than the law allows, and it is hoped by Ingot that the contract will throw Ada's affections away from the actor to the squire, whom he wishes her to wed.

Garrick portrays the drunkard beautifully, but by accident, Chivy reveals to Ada that he is only acting. Instead of causing her to love him less, she cares more for him, and after a scene in Garrick's quarters, where she is discovered, having gone there in an attempt to prevent a duel, she and Garrick are married, Ingot rages at first, but is reconciled later.

The curtain will rise at 9 o'clock Thursday evening, giving those who have Christmas shopping to do that evening plenty of time to reach the theater.

HIGH QUALITY OIL
WELLS OF WYOMING

Interesting Facts Concerning the Salt Creek Oil Fields of Wyoming; One Has Produced Steadily Since 1895.

During the last two years the region lying north of Casper, Wyoming, near the northern border of Natrona county, has shown promise of becoming an important factor in the production of high grade oils of paraffin base. The developed field lies in townships 23 and 40 north, ranges 78 and 79, west of the sixth principal meridian, in the drainage basin of Salt Creek. The extremely high grade of oil, which ranges from 37 degrees to 42 degrees Baume, and the great productivity of the wells, which yield from 20 to 1,200 barrels of oil per day, are among the things which are attracting widespread attention to the region.

South and west of the Salt Creek field are districts which are similar, in surface indications, to the proven territory, while on the north is the Shannon field, producing a somewhat heavier oil, chiefly valuable for lubricating purposes.

The Salt Creek district lies about 45 miles north of Casper, Wyoming. Salt Creek, a postoffice, recently established, is situated near the center of the field at the junction of Salt and Castle creeks. Good wagon roads enter the field from all directions. Casper, a town of 2,500, on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, is the nearest railroad town and supply point.

Although oil springs were known here in the early '50's, no development was attempted until 1889, when P. M. Shannon, of Pennsylvania, began drilling. His well was completed August, 1890, at a depth of 1,920 feet, yielding four barrels of oil per day. Since 1895 this well has been pumped almost continuously, but with little or any variation in production. In the two years following the completion of the first well, three more wells were drilled, the oil was hauled to Casper and marketed at $6 to $8 per barrel. Since that time several companies have sunk wells, before the end of 1902 thirteen wells having been sunk. The Pennsylvania Oil Co., organized by Shannon, erected a small refinery at Casper. Since then two other refineries have been built here.

The total production of the Salt Creek district, from the time of its discovery to the present, is estimated to be 2,500,000 barrels. The capacity of the field is somewhat curtailed at present, as the capacity of the refineries at Casper is not sufficient to handle the entire output of the field. The interest now being taken in the opening up of oil Wyoming is based upon the rich quality of the oil being produced and upon the productivity of the wells. There have recently been developments of interest in these fields such as the bringing in of the Horth well in the Salt Creek fields and the big contracts made for the sale of its products by the Midwest Company. Attention of oil men is being specially centered on the Salt Creek field.

The productive area in the Salt Creek dome has been outlined by the wells that have been already drilled. It can be predicted with certainty that the product will be of a particularly high grade of oil.

W. M. Reed, of 521 North Second street, this city, is offering $25,000 of put value stock in Salt Creek field. Mr. Reed has a proposition worthy of investigation by investors. He will be glad to give complete information upon request.

Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Export sales here helped bring about a rally today in wheat. The close was firm, at an advance of a shade to 1/2c. Strength developed in spite of the belief that the government crop report would favor the bear side. The extent, however, to which the document would do so was not foreseen. Visible supply figures being smaller than expected aided the bulls during the final trades. The return in New York stocks counted also against the bears at the last. May wheat fluctuated between 89 1/2c and 89 3/4c, closing 1/2c net higher at the top level reached.

Unsettled weather ahead brought about buying of corn. May closed steady at 48 1/2c-48 3/4c. Cash grades were easy.

Oats reflected faintly the strength of other cereals. May closed at 32 1/2c-32c.

Liquidating sales broke the provision market, which closed from 15 to 17 1/2c lower.

HUGE CUT IN THE HILL
NEAR ISLETA PUEBLO

The cutting away of a large section of the big hill just north of Isleta, over which the road runs from Isleta pueblo east, has been commenced by the government. The work is being done for the Indians, as they use the road a good deal. A considerable portion of the hill, which will be at least sixty feet deep, will be through rock, the bottom of the hill being solid rock at that point. Cars going down the grade down this hill will make traffic between Albuquerque and Isleta a great deal easier.

CHRISTMAS RUSH IS ON WITH WHIRL AT POSTOFFICE

Extra Tables With Ink, Paste, Twine and Scissors for Use of Public; Man With Scales in Lobby.

The Christmas rush began in earnest yesterday, according to statements made by Postmaster R. W. Hopkins. The people all seem to want their packages started early, and whether this is due to the premonition of an extra heavy year or whether it is due to the early mailing advice scattered by the postoffice department for so many years cannot yet be determined. Anyway, there is plenty doing at the postoffice.

"People are mailing the packages early this year," said Mr. Hopkins yesterday, "and this is not only true of Albuquerque but of other places. You should have seen the carriers start out this morning with Sunday's and Monday's mail. Honestly, the sight of the stacks they had to deliver would have discouraged an ordinary man."

"Tomorrow it will be easier, for I have put on two extra carriers, with wagons, who will work one in the Highlands and one in the lowlands, handling all the registers, which take much more time than an ordinary letter or package, and all the packages. The packages weight is a big factor in the work done by the carriers, and by having these two wagons handle them all, I expect things to be a good deal easier for the carriers than they would be otherwise."

"I will also have extra clerks on today and every day until the rush is over. I am going to put one man out here in the lobby with a pair of scales, and everyone who has packages to send which need to be weighed, can have him weigh them. Then they need not take up the time of the stamp clerks, who are always in a rush anyway, with weighing packages. This ought to relieve some of the congestion around the stamp window."

Q. Due to the rush, the painting of the postoffice lobby, which has been pending for some time, will not be begun.

EXPRESS BUSINESS IS NOT LAGGING ANY NOW.

The business of the Wells-Fargo Express Company, which handles all the express that comes in Albuquerque for at least a portion of its travel, is not lagging any right now. The daily rush of packages requires the services of several extra clerks here, and extra messengers either have gone to work, or will go to work within a day or two on practically all the lines running in here.

Great stacks of bulky parcels, and crates and boxes of smaller ones, shipped through under the crating system, are handled every night at the depot, taken off trains or transferred from one train to another by the local force.

Until after the holidays, the express office on Second street, between Silver and Gold, will remain open until 8 o'clock in the evening.

GARDEN SAGE DARKENS FADED HAIR

If You Have Dandruff or If Your Hair is Turning Gray, Try Sage and Sulphur.

The old idea of using Sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers had dark, glossy hair at seventy-five, while our mothers are gray before they are fifty. Our grandmothers kept their hair soft and glossy with a "Sage Tea" which also restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it. This objection has been overcome by the Wyeth Chemical Company of New York, which has placed on the market a superior preparation of Sage, combined with Sulphur and other valuable remedies for dandruff, itching scalp, and thin, weak, falling hair.

The reality of the hair depends more on its rich, even shading than anything else. Don't have dry, harsh faded hair, when a simple, harmless remedy will bring back the color in a few days; and don't be tormented with dandruff, itching scalp and loose, falling hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will quickly correct these troubles, and give color, strength and beauty to your hair.

Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and prove this to your own satisfaction. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

SUFFRAGETTES ON TOWARD CITY OF ALBANY

Many Women Who Started on 140-Mile Journey Drop Out Before Many Miles Have Been Covered.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Irvington, N. Y., Dec. 16.—Depleted in numbers, but courageous, the suffragette "army" finished here today the first stage of its 140-mile journey to Albany to carry to Governor Sulzer a message on woman suffrage. Thirty-four marchers were in the ranks when the expedition started from the outskirts of New York, but one by one they dropped out on the way until less than a dozen trudged into this village shortly after 6 o'clock tonight. It was explained, however, by Miss Rosalie G. Jones, commander of the expedition, that those who deserted did so by previous intention, as only six had promised to make the entire two weeks' journey to the state capital.

From village to village recruits are expected to enlist for short marches. Today a brigade representing the women's suffrage association of Yonkers, marched five miles to Hastings. About ten miles was covered during the day in three hours of actual walking time. Getty Square in Yonkers, two miles from the New York city limits, was the first stop and there the suffragettes held an open air meeting at which Mayor Lennon and other public officials, turned out to do them honor.

At Hastings another open air rally was held in the public square. While there were jeers for the women as they trudged through the city and village streets clad in walking costumes and decorated with yellow "Votes for Women" badges, there were also cheers. The marchers were entertained here tonight by local suffragettes and tomorrow they will go ten miles to Ossining.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. B. W. L. Hall, of Waverly, Va., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for colds. I have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For sale by all druggists.

HARVESTER TRUST LETTERS FIGURE IN EVIDENCE

Sales Committee Outlines Plan by Which Hay Rakes of Competing Companies Can be Put Out of Business.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.)

Chicago, Dec. 16.—Of the hundreds of letters and telegrams introduced today in the hearing of the government suit against the International Harvester Company, Prosecutor Grosvener regarded as especially important a letter written by the sales committee to Cyrus H. McCormick.

The letter was dated July 16, 1902, and heading the signatories was R. C. Haskins, now president of the International Harvester Company of America, subsidiary of the International Harvester Company. In substance, the letter said:

"It is desired to get a large percentage of the hay rake business for this company and still further cut into the business of the outside makers of hay rakes."

ILLINOIS TOWN IS SWEEPED BY FIRE

St. Louis, Dec. 17.—Telephone messages from Grafton, Ill., thirty miles north of here, say the town is flameswept. When the church bells need to be rung, the residents of the town thought it was part of a wedding and paid no attention to the alarm.

At 2 o'clock this morning the wind had died down and the fire fighters hoped to save the residence part of the town, and a small part of the business section. The hotel, the leading merchandise house, and two banks are among the destroyed. In one of the banks safes were $200,000 in currency and important papers placed there by residents for safety. The entire fire loss is estimated at $250,000.

FLOR TRAIL GIVES APPARENT CLEW TO BURGLARS

After Following Thin White Streak for Half a Block Police Learn That it was Left By Runaway Grocery Wagon.

A trail of flour, picked up at Second street and Pacific avenue by the police yesterday, was followed by the bluecoats, believing it might lead them to the cache of the burglars who early Sunday morning broke into the Michael Brothers' store.

Several sacks of flour were stolen and the police believed one of the sacks might have been torn in the wagon the burglars employed to haul away their loot. The flour left a plain trail in the middle of the street. The officers followed it for half a block only to learn that it had been left by a runaway grocery wagon.

No clew to the burglars who pilaged the Michael Brothers' store was unearthed yesterday. Two officers have been detailed on the case, but nothing tangible to indicate the identity of the burglars has been discovered.

PLEA OF GUILTY IS ENTERED BY RUIZ AT LOS LUNAS

Murderer Captured on Gila by Cowboys Has Preliminary Hearing in Valencia County Seat and Admits Crime.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.)
Los Lunas, N. M., Dec. 16.—Hilario Ruiz, captured a few days ago on the Gila river by two cowboys, had a preliminary hearing here today and was bound over to the grand jury on a charge of murder. Ruiz pleaded guilty, admitting that he had shot and killed Transito Galdon, a brother of Frank Galdon, of Albuquerque, in San Rafael, several weeks ago. Ruiz was denied bail.

The capture of the fugitive, who for two weeks and more, defied the peace officers of several counties, will each receive $75 for his arrest. One-third of this money was offered by the commissioners of Valencia county as a reward for his arrest, and the balance was offered by his brother, Frank Galdon.

Ruiz will likely be taken to Socorro for safe keeping.

MERCHANTS OF SOUTH SIDE HIRE POLICEMAN

Merchants in the south part of the city yesterday employed Tony Guavara, merchant policeman, to watch their stores. The series of burglaries at the Michael Brothers' store within a year has aroused the business men of that district.

The selection of Guavara probably is due to his capture of Pablo Jimenez as he came out of the Otto Berger feed store early Monday morning, after the place had been burglarized, and also his arrest of Tom Preston now awaiting trial for burglary. When arrested by Guavara, Preston had some taken from the Bennett curio store and three suits of clothes from Joseph Mahboub's place.

DR. SEWELL DEAD; FORMER HEAD OF SANITARIUM

Responsible for Erection of Presbyterian Hospital; Refused to Give Up Practice
Despite Serious Illness.

Dr. S. G. Sewell, 52 years old, died at 4:15 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, 415 South Third street. Doctor Sewell became seriously ill Thanksgiving day, but would not give up his practice. As recently as last week he attended a patient, although his condition demanded absolute rest at the time. His continuance of his practice without thought of his own health probably hastened his death.

Doctor Sewell had a wide spread reputation as a specialist on diseases of the stomach, but for three years after his coming to Albuquerque he was superintendent of the Presbyterian sanitarium. It was largely through his instigation that this sanitarium was built here. He retired as head of the institution, after three years of service, four years ago on account of his health and gave all his time to private practice. This he continued until almost the day of his death.

A farm in Clinton county, O., near Xenia, was Doctor Sewell's birthplace. He studied medicine in Chicago. He practiced at New Burlington and Greenville, O., and for one year at Monrovia, Cal., before he came to Albuquerque seven years ago.

Besides his widow, a son, Robert, cashier at the American Savings Bank & Trust Company, and a daughter, Pauline, a student at the University of New Mexico, survives. Miss Harriet Smith, Mrs. Sewell's sister, is here from Columbus, O.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until relatives, who have been notified of the death of the doctor, are heard from.

Remember the Affidavit when buying Christmas cigars. A clean cigar and an Albuquerque product.

JUAREZ TO APPEAR IN JUSTICE COURT TODAY

Pablo Juarez, who was arrested yesterday morning when he emerged from the Otto Berger feed store carrying a sack of flour, by Tony Gaurava, merchant policeman, will be arraigned today before Justice George R. Craig.

RHEUMATIC ADVICE. Prominent Doctor's Best Prescrip- tion Easily Mixed at Home.

"From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bedtime." This is said to be the quickest and best remedy known to the medical profession for rheumatism and backache. Good results come after the first dose. Good Roads Local Holds an Enthusiastic Session PLANS PERFECTED FOR LOCAL DAY BY BOOSTERS

Optimistic Spirit Evidenced by Highway Advocates Who Plan Big Increase in Membership This Afternoon.

The meeting of the Albuquerque local of the New Mexico Good Roads Association held last night at the Commercial Club. The meeting was well attended and was busy from its opening at 8 o'clock until after 10 o'clock. Plans were perfected for the holding of Local day today and various other matters, including the project of an automobile road to Jemez Springs, brought up by a committee member sent from that community for the purpose, were discussed.

The first business, aside from the minutes, was the Jemez project, which was brought up by W. H. Rogers, of Jemez Springs. Mr. Rogers declared that the people of that district had raised $1,000 in cash and had about half that amount promised in labor and that he thought they could complete a good road with another $500. He deplored the lack of interest in roads in Sandoval county, but said that the people of Jemez Springs were waking up to the fact that if they ever wanted their community to amount to anything they had to be up and doing, and that they had begun to do.

"I am a committee of one named to find out what Albuquerque is willing to do in the way of helping us to get a road to Jemez. We believe that such a road would draw a good deal of traffic through here and that would be of benefit to this city, of course. Then if we get a good road down here, a lot of freshening would be done from here. Now, as much freight comes from the north as from this way.

"We can certainly get this road, and not only maintain it but improve it if we pull together as we should." Mr. Rogers scored the way that road funds have been wasted in the past, and said that he believed the only thing to do to get good roads was to get out and build them. He declared that routes by way of Bernalillo and Alameda were under consideration, and to these added the route going directly west from Albuquerque, at the suggestion of A. B. Stroup, whom President E. C. Butler had called to the chair.

The local discussed the matter pro and con, aided by answers to questions propounded Mr. Rogers, and decided to ask the Jemez people to make an inspection of the different roads and then present a definite proposition to them. A motion carried to the effect that the local factored the project and would lend assistance at the proper time in the completion of such a road.

A letter from the American Automobile Association, asking that the state association name delegates to the second national good roads convention, to be held in Washington early in March, was read.

A. B. Stroup, of the extension committee, reported that favorable progress was being made in the work of awakening the people of the county to good roads ideas, and that he believed within a short time the outside precincts could be organized into effective working bodies. T. J. Passmore, of the same committee, corroborated this, but pleaded indulgence in the matter of time for the work, owing to the care necessary in choosing precinct leaders. Mr. Stroup declared that in an hour and a half he had got 165 days of work with teams pledged in Pajarito, where the road sentiment was strong, and compared that precinct with Padillas, where the people, he said, have not even worked out their road tax for this year.

Col. D. K. By Sellers made an interesting talk on the spirit which he had found in the smaller towns south while on his automobile trip to the Arizona line recently, and gave the Socorro county road boosters credit for a great deal of quiet work, comparing them with the Las Cruces and Dona Ana boosters, who he said frequently got into the newspapers, but had not yet done as much actual road building as had the Magdalena and Socorro people, with their magnificent road from Socorro to the Arizona line. "But I believe that the Dona Ana boosters are about to accomplish wonders," he said. "I understand that their $100,000 bond issue will not have forty votes against it in the county, and that is certainly a wonderful record."

Colonel Sellers spoke, also, of the stories started by boosters for other trans-continental routes about the difficulties encountered along the Ocean-to-Ocean highway, and declared that local people should be up and doing, or they would lose much of this profitable trade. He declared that if people elsewhere knew of the splendid road through this state, except for the bad spots north of Albuquerque, there would never be any question about locating a national highway anywhere else.

The question of getting the state

MAKES CONSUMPTIVES TAKE ON WEIGHT

Swiss Remedy Builds Up Body and Checks Disease.

There is a famous Swiss preparation called Strohn for the treatment of Consumption, which has lately been imported into this country, and which has been known to add as much as twelve to fifteen pounds to a patient's weight in a few months. It accomplishes this because besides checking the tubercle germ, it agrees with the weakest stomach, and aids digestion to such a degree that greatly added nourishment is the result. This remarkable remedy, which has the endorsement of the leading specialists of Europe, contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs. If you know of any one suffering from Consumption you will be doing a great thing for them by getting additional information about Strohn from the Strohn Co., 225 West Broadway, New York City. commission to begin its work on the bad stretch north of here at the city limits and then working northward, instead of beginning at Algodones and working southward, was discussed. Owing to the feeling that it was best to close the gaps first and then continue toward the south, no action was taken.

A. B. Stroup suggested that it would be a good thing in the way of awakening enthusiasm to plan a road building day, such as that on which local farmers built a good road across their state in a single day. This was not acted upon, because at the moment every one felt that an increase in membership was the critical thing and the local turned to the consideration of the membership scheme to be used today, which was planned for several weeks ago.

It was suggested that the city be divided into four sections and that the members be equally divided among the committees which were assigned to each section. This was done. Arrangements were made for the establishment of headquarters at Second street and Central avenue, from which the canvassing will be directed.

The committees will all meet at 7:15 and at 8:30, the blowing of the fire whistle will announce the hour for them to commence their work. An hour later the whistle will be blown again, and they will cease their canvassing, return to headquarters and complete their canvassing, turning over the cash collected and the lists of members secured.

The secretary was instructed to have printed 500 post cards and 500 red ribbon badges. The post cards will be for the purpose of keeping the county road board informed of bad places in the roads, giving it the benefit of the observations of a number of users of the highways, who will each report whatever they see amiss. One post card and one badge will be given each new member.

The local adjourned, loaded with enthusiasm and the determination to gather in a large number of new members today.

The next meeting will be held January 7.

Much Impressed With Optimism Shown There.

F. B. Schwentker, always a booster for Deming and the Deming spirit, came back from that city Sunday loaded down with a large back of additional enthusiasm for the way they do things down in that section. Mr. Schwentker attended the annual banquet of the chamber of commerce while in Deming, and this gave him foundation for fresh structures of optimism.

"They had about 125 members and guests at the banquet given by the chamber of commerce," he said, "and when they got through with the last toast, at a quarter to three the next morning, there were fifty-seven of them left."

"This banquet was held in honor of the new officers of the organization. A. A. Tompke was the new president and Roy Bedichek succeeded himself as secretary."

HEALTH BACK AFTER LUNGS WERE AFFECTED

Sufferers from weak lungs or throat troubles, the result of neglecting a cold or a fever, should investigate the many reports of recoveries brought about by the use of Eckman's Alternative. ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

ROOSEVELT HAS HELPED.

The Journal is in receipt of the following criticism in a letter from a prominent progressive of New Mexico:

"Is it possible for the Journal to be fair editorially? Your news columns are above criticism, and you brag about the fact that everything you print in your news columns is uncolored news. It is because of that fact that the Journal has gained its leadership in the state. But why can't you be as fair in your editorials? Following the recent meeting of the progressives in Chicago, you took one of your characteristic flings at Colonel Roosevelt, for whom you never at any time have had a kind word without following it with at least two words of caustic criticism. You know the art of attacking while maintaining an appearance of great fairness. Can't you give Roosevelt credit for being a great man and a great patriot, even when differing from some of his views on the questions of the day?"

The Journal has said that Colonel Roosevelt, taken all in all, is the most picturesque and forceful figure in the world today. He has done great good, for his precepts are sound to the core; he has done great harm, for his acts usually negative his declarations.

At the meeting in Chicago recently, Colonel Roosevelt devoted much time to an attack on the supreme court of Idaho for its ruling relative to the progressive ballot. We have an idea that his attack was justified. But here comes in the hopelessness of the colonel as a reformer and a purveyor of American politics. In his position, it is always the question of whose ox is gored. If a rich man is for him, that man is a patriot; against him, the man is a scoundrel. A supreme court ruling that favors his contention is right. If the same principle of law is invoked against him, it is deserving of all the abuse his extensive vocabulary can heap upon it.

For illustration: William Flinn and George W. Perkins are worthy of being pointed out in an audience as shining examples of disinterested patriotism, because they supported the colonel. Had they been against him he would have denounced both of them as worthy only of the stripes of a convict's garb.

He denounced the ruling of the Idaho supreme court, but when it came to the states of California and South Dakota, where the Taft men were not permitted to place the names of their candidates for electors on the official ballot, he had no word of criticism, though the principle of law involved in all three of the cases was the same. It was solely a question of whose ox was gored.

Notwithstanding these facts, and they are facts, there is no doubt that the United States is better off because Roosevelt has lived and preached and acted. George Eliot expressed it well when she said:

"The blessed work of helping the world forward happily does not wait to be done by perfect men." Napoleon was not a good man. He was intensely selfish and a supreme egotist, as is Roosevelt, but he did an incalculable service to mankind by his wars that shook Europe from the crystallized tyranny into which it had fallen. He stirred men to thought and action. So has Roosevelt, and that is the best that can be said of him.

A WORD FOR THE TURK.

Two important conferences are now in progress in London: One by the Balkan states and Turkey for the purpose of reaching a basis for ending the short and terrible war; the other, a conference of ambassadors of the great powers for the purpose of deciding what shall be the final fate of Europe, whether peace or war, involved in which is how much of Turkey shall be taken by the allies and how much spoils shall be apportioned among them; how much prestige Serbia shall gain and how far little Montenegro may extend her diminutive territory; whether Greece shall annex Crete and certain islands of the Aegean sea; whether Albania shall be converted into an independent kingdom; whether Turkey shall retain any part of her European territory except that immediately contiguous to Constantinople.

All of these questions are to be determined, and it will be fortunate indeed if an agreement can be reached without first having the differences between Austria and Russia submitted to the arbitrament of the sword, with the triple alliance aligned behind Austria and the triple entente behind Russia.

The real sentiment of the civilized world is against Turkey, but there is another side to it. The president of Robert College in Turkey, writes to the London Times as follows:

"The Turkish government deserves honor and respect for the way in which it has repressed the turbulent elements and made Constantinople a quiet, well ordered city during this war, and the reports given in many foreign papers represent rather the correspondents' idea of what they would expect than the actual state of things here. The Turks have borne their misfortunes with great dignity and self control, which merit our admiration and sympathy."

Evidence accumulated that nothing has so well become the Turk as the manner of his taking off. He has been lately fed, they provided for, but he has preserved his ancient reputation for indomitable endurance, for stubborn courage, for sullen fatalism. He has lost Albania, Macedonia, Epirus, Noybazar and most of Thrace. But he has exacted a terrible price. Frederick Palmer, who is in Sofia, estimates the loss of the Bulgarians in killed and wounded at from seventy-five to eighty thousand, one of every twelve males in the entire Bulgarian population. This in a war of a month.

The Turk is not degenerate; he is belated. He may be exasperated, but he compels admiration. Beaten in the field, shattered beyond recovery apparently, he turns at Tehtatja and presents so grim a front that his enemies are ready for peace.

The Turk is a grand old barbarian, as Andalus was when he first left the steppes of Turkistan for his career of almost unparalleled conquest.

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE MARRIED AT SOCORRO

Miss Josefita Torres Becomes Bride of Hermanio M. Aragon, Son of Wealthy Sheepman of Western New Mexico

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal.) Socorro, N. M., Dec. 16.—St. Michael's Catholic church was the scene of an impressive wedding ceremony at 7:30 o'clock this morning, when Miss Josefita Torres became the bride of Hermanio M. Aragon. Following the ceremony, there was a reception at the residence of J. E. Torres, father of the bride, and tonight a dance was held at the opera house, at which the bride and groom and guests enjoyed themselves. Mrs. Aragon is the daughter of Jose E. Torres, former county treasurer, and is a member of one of the oldest and most highly respected families in Socorro county. She is a vivacious young woman and admired by all who know her.

Mr. Aragon is a son of a wealthy sheep man of the western part of the county, and is engaged in sheep raising with his father.

Hundreds of relatives and friends attended the ceremony, the reception which followed and the dance tonight. Among those present were many from all sections of the state. The wedding was the event of the year in Spanish-American social circles here.

GOVERNOR PARDONS 360 CONVICTS AT ONE TIME

Arkansas Executive's Act is Designed as Protest Against Leasing System in Vogue in That State.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 16.—Governor Donaghy today pardoned 314 state and forty-four county convicts, and in a long statement said his action was taken as a protest against the system of leasing convicts in vogue in Arkansas.

In answer to his critics, whom the governor quotes as saying that a "state penitentiary could not be designed as a Sunday school," he said, "It was designed as a reformatory. Of course, no one intended it for such, but in a measure that is what it is and what the county farms of the state have resolved themselves into."

Of the minor courts, Governor Donaghy says:

"The abuse of power shown by a few individuals acting as justices of the peace in some of the towns and cities is enough to stagger into amazement those who have given the matter any attention."

SIX WOMEN KILLED IN R. R. COLLISION

Ashtabula, O., Dec. 16.—Six women were killed and three passengers are missing, as the result of a collision between a street car and a Lake Shore & Michigan Southern coal train on the city branch at the center street crossing tonight. The dead were residents of Ashtabula.

What Are You Going to Do About It?

The Santa Fe Chamber of Commerce has taken the initiative in calling a meeting in Santa Fe next month of representatives of all the commercial organizations of the state with a view to the organization of a state-wide association for the exploitation of New Mexico. The movement is a good one and deserves to receive the hearty support of every community in the state. Any organization of this kind, formed on business principles and with energetic and intelligent direction cannot fail to prove of enormous benefit.

The greatest benefit, however, which such an organization could confer upon New Mexico would be to bring to bear upon the state legislature such pressure of sound business reasoning and public sentiment as would force that body immediately to make adequate provision for the proper maintenance of the bureau of immigration or of a state immigration and advertising department in some similar practical form.

The last legislature, for reasons which it is useless to discuss at this time, made an appropriation for immigration and advertising work which the governor, for reasons which it is likewise useless to discuss at this time, saw fit to veto. The result has been that on November 30th, the meagre appropriation for the bureau of immigration expired and the state is now left absolutely without, not only an advertising department, but without any source whatever to which those interested in New Mexico, with a view to settlement or investment, may turn.

Attention is called to the statement by the bureau of immigration which appears in this issue of the Journal and which is copied from the weekly bulletin of the New Mexico Publicity Association of December 16th. This statement should be read by every citizen of New Mexico interested in her development, and this means, or should mean, the entire citizenship of the state. The statement discloses a condition which is calculated to give us pause.

At this time the bureau of immigration has exhausted its supply of literature describing New Mexico. During the past twelve months it has distributed more than 100,000 copies of the little New Mexico hand book, "Ho, to the Land of Sunshine," alone. The office has calls for this hand book, which would, had they been supplied, have exhausted the entire appropriation for the past fiscal year of $8,000. The office now has on hand calls for considerably more than 5,000 of these hand books. These requests are not indiscriminate demands from irresponsible people. They come from the great sources to which we must look for our development: From the Santa Fe railroad which is spending $50,000 a year for the exploitation of New Mexico, from the United States land offices, from the government immigration offices, from the Rock Island railroad, from the active commercial bodies of the state, and from the large land and development companies interested here.

During the past twelve months the bureau of immigration has answered direct from the secretary's office, some 20,000 inquiries from people interested in this state. These inquiries are still coming in. They come direct to the bureau of immigration, through the offices of the governor, the secretary of state, and through other public offices to which people outside may reasonably look for intelligent information. As matters now stand, the only way to give this in-

So That the People of New Mexico May Know

By careful management and rigid economy the Bureau of Immigration was able to get through the fiscal year which ended on November 30th, and will be able, with the assistance of the Publicity Association, to continue its work until such time as the next legislature shall say whether or not the Bureau in its present, or some other form, is to be continued.

Only the most necessary literature has been printed. The calls upon the Bureau of Immigration for the little Homeowner's Guide to New Mexico, which in its present form carries a complete review of the state, if supplied, would have exhausted the entire appropriation for the past fiscal year. These little books are distributed not only from this office but by the railroads entering New Mexico, by the land offices, by United States Commissioners, by commercial bodies and by many land companies and individuals.

The supply of these books on hand is now practically exhausted. There is no money available to print any more. By carefully conserving them we have been able to keep enough to use in answering the inquiries coming direct to this office. There are requests on hand at the present time for more than five thousand of these books which we cannot supply. These include requests from the Santa Fe railroad which is spending more than $50,000 a year in advertising this state, from other railroads entering the state from the U. S. Land offices which receive large numbers of inquiries daily and from land companies in and out of New Mexico who are spending thousands of dollars in development work and in advertising the state.

The plain, hard fact is that after January first, New Mexico as a state will have absolutely nothing in the way of literature with which to answer inquiries concerning our resources. All of the hundreds of inquiries concerning the governor's office; to the secretary of state and to other public offices from which complete information about New Mexico may reasonably be expected, must go unanswered and the people interested turned away, unless the office undertakes the impossible task of describing the state to each person inquiring by means of a personal letter.

In the meantime Kansas, Texas, Colorado, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, California, and the northwest, are sending out daily tons upon tons of elaborately illustrated, carefully prepared literature, and reaching with it practically everyone interested in investment or in a change of location.

It is a condition which in its effect upon the development of the state is appalling. New Mexico's hands are tied while her neighboring states and the northwest are getting the great flood of population and money that is this year moving westward.

It is true that a few active communities are spending or preparing to spend large sums of money in advertising their advantages. This money is raised by popular subscription and it is not fair to expect that these communities should spend funds so raised for the general exploitation of the state as a whole. The state should do as practically every other state in the west is doing—provide the general advertising and thus pave the way for those communities which are sufficiently alive to look out for their own interests.

New Mexico at this time has dropped from a fairly prominent place to the tail end of the development procession of the west.

The situation as regards our immediate future is serious. What are you who have large property interests in New Mexico; what are you who are interested in the development of irrigation and land projects; what are you who desire a rapid growth of your community, going to do about it?

The legislature convenes on January 10th. It is up to the legislature to say whether this state shall remain at the tail end of the development procession or whether it shall go forward.

It is up to you who are most interested to say to your legislators what you desire done and what should be done.

Let there be no misunderstanding regarding the attitude of the present Bureau of Immigration. None of the members of the present Bureau desire to continue in a work to which they have given freely of their time and energy and thought during the past three years. It makes no difference to the Bureau what form this work may take, how it may be done, or by whom, so that it is done well. We know what the work has accomplished and what it can accomplish with proper support by the state.

In view of the above we simply suggest that you who are most interested in our development see to it that your members of the legislature understand the situation and the importance of immediate action.

CONVICTION GROWS THAT BIRDMEN LOST LIVES

Futile Search of Forty-Eight Hours Fails to Find Any Trace Whatever of Kearny and Lawrence.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Los Angeles, Dec. 16.—A day of futile search by land and water and the investigation of numerous rumors, all of which proved groundless, strengthened the conviction that Aviator Horace Kearny and Chester Lawrence, his companion on the attempted hydro-aeroplane flight to San Francisco, had lost their lives.

The fruitless search of the past two days and nights for wreckage from Kearny's flying machine has brought the inevitable conclusion that they fell from such an altitude that the air craft and the men plunged to the bottom of the Pacific.

Optimistic friends of the two men particularly those versed in aviation and knowledge of the coast, still cling to the slender hope that the airplane might have blown by Saturday's gale, toward the group of Santa Barbara channel islands, and that Kearny and Lawrence effected a landing on one of them. Word comes from Santa Barbara, however, that the channel islands stood out clearly Saturday afternoon and that the landing of an aeroplane would have been observed.

Nothing indicative of the probable fate of the two men has been found other than the cylindrical wing pontoon picked up at sea yesterday. The power yacht Skidbush, owned by Frank A. Garbutt, a wealthy yachtman, who accompanied Glenn Martin on his hydro-aeroplane journey yesterday, reached here tonight from Santa Barbara. Members of Mr. Garbutt's family aboard the yacht, reported that a careful search of the coast line between San Pedro and Santa Barbara has revealed no trace of the "Spookums" or its passengers.

It was impossible tonight to get into communication with the British ship of war Shearwater, which left today in the direction taken by Kearny. Captain J. E. Walters, in command of the British fleet in Pacific waters, said before the vessel departed that a careful lookout would be maintained, but wireless stations reported tonight that the Shearwater's operator refused to take any messages.

Roy Knudsen, an air man, was one of those who still believed today that Kearny and Lawrence might yet be alive. Knudsen was up in a dirigible balloon Saturday and at an elevation of 7,000 feet he could clearly distinguish the channel islands, off Ventura and Santa Barbara. He said it was possible for Kearny to have reached the nearest one in an hour and a half after passing point Eureka, where they were last sighted.

WILSON GIVES NO TIP ON CABINET OFFICERS

President-Elect Indicates Portfolios May Go to Political and Personal Friends on Whom He Can Rely.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Princeton, N. J., Dec. 16.—After a month's recreation in the Bermuda islands, Woodrow Wilson returned home tonight and took up the many tasks that confront him in his dual role as governor of New Jersey and president-elect of the United States. Thousands of letters awaited Governor Wilson's arrival and though most of them concerned his national administration, the president-elect made it clear that he was still governor. Mr. Wilson said he would defer office filing and announcements concerning his administration until after he had cleared away the accumulated details of his New Jersey office. Mr. Wilson may remain governor of the state until March 3d, or until a few days before he must go to Washington. This is because he wishes to finish his program of legislation pending in the state legislature, which convenes January 14th.

Mr. Wilson said today he had made no final cabinet selections. Mr. Wilson said he realized that before determining his cabinet he would have to make a careful study of the situation in the state legislature, which convenes January 14th. Mr. Wilson said today he had made no final cabinet selections. Mr. Wilson said he realized that before de-

LACK OF QUORUM FORCES COUNCIL TO POSTPONE MEETING

Absence of a quorum last night forced an adjournment of the city council. The time for the next session was left to Mayor L. K. B. Sellers.

Councilman Ivan Grunfeldt was the first to arrive. Alderman John Lee Clarke, J. S. Skinner, S. E. Coen and Mayor Sellers drifted in within an hour and waited until 9 o'clock for the arrival of another municipal father to make up a quorum.

Councilman Coen had to leave at 9 o'clock, and hopes of holding a session were given up when he left.

Legal Rights Secured by Mr. and Mrs. Frederico Padilla, Who Found Babe Three Weeks Ago.

The infant which was abandoned on the doorstep of Mr. and Mrs. Frederico Padilla, at their home in Alamo, about three weeks ago, was yesterday formally adopted by them. The name "Escapula Padilla" was given the child.

The formal action took place before the probate court yesterday afternoon, the Padillas promising to care for the child as if it were their own. The parentage of the child has never been discovered. When found it was wrapped in rags and clothing, and a man remained to watch it until Padilla opened his door the morning of its discovery. Then he ran. The sheriff's office investigated, but dropped the quest when Padilla and his wife announced that they would like to adopt the child.

In response to a citation issued a few days ago, Mrs. Matthew Ridley appeared in court to show cause why she had failed to pay a legacy of $500 from the estate of her husband, Mrs. Ridley showed that there had never been any proper inventory made and that there had been no appraisers appointed for the estate. She had to inventory with her in court yesterday, but it was not in proper shape and was remanded to her until a later session, when the matter will be gone into more thoroughly.

Dr. S. L. Burton and W. H. McMillon were named appraisers of the estate.

JUSTICE OF PEACE ELECTION OCCURS IN JANUARY

George R. Craig Candidate to Succeed Himself in Precinct 26, Likewise Judge W. W. McClellan in Precinct 12.

Justice of the peace elections will be held throughout New Mexico on January 13, which is the second Monday in the month. While the election is devoid of any particular interest, there is sometimes a spirited contest among the candidates for the job.

In Precinct 26, Albuquerque, Justice of the Peace George R. Craig, who acts also as police magistrate, will be a candidate to succeed himself. In Precinct 12, Judge W. W. McClellan likewise will seek continuance in office.

Justice Craig may have opposition in the person of John W. Wilson, a local attorney, who, it is said, desires the job. So far as known, Judge McClellan will have no opposition.

NON-SECTARIANS TO MAKE CHRISTMAS GLAD EVENT

Ladies to Meet Next Monday at Guild Hall to Prepare Baskets for Poor, All of Whom Will be Remembered.

Following their meeting yesterday at the office of George S. Klock, the ladies of the Non-Sectarian Benevolent Society announced that they would remember every poor family in the city on Christmas day. All the ladies are to meet at the Guild hall on South Fourth street between Gold and Silver, Monday, to prepare baskets and boxes for the needy ones of the city. They will come at different times, each of them spending such time as she is able to in the work.

The ladies are much cramped for funds with which to carry on this work, but they are doing the best they can. The Elks' donation of $75 helped a great deal, and they expect to call on the school children of the city to aid in the good work.

Owing to the somewhat disorganized condition of the society it is difficult to know just how many poor families in the city will be in need of food and clothing on Christmas, but the ladies have bravely asserted that they will try to overlook no worthy case.

Many new members were added yesterday.

FREIGHT CARS INTO A DITCH EAST OF DALIES

Four cars of Santa Fe freight train No. 822 yesterday morning left the city three miles east of Dalies, N. M. The engine and caboose remained on the track.

The derailed cars piled up, blocking traffic. Passenger train No. 16 was delayed and arrived in Albuquerque at 9:15 o'clock, an hour and twenty-five minutes late. The wreckage was cleared away in time to allow trains following to pass.

EXPOSITION LECTURER TO BE HERE JANUARY 2

T. J. Naylor, secretary of the Commercial club, yesterday telegraphed Dr. Fred V. Fisher, who will lecture under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific exposition management, that he had engaged the Elks' theater for the night of January 2nd.

The lecturer sent word that he would be in Albuquerque January 1st, and asked Secretary Naylor to make arrangements for his lecture.

INDIANS DEPART FOR HOME AT GANADO, ARIZ.

"Charlie," one of the Indians employed at the Harvey curio rooms here, left last night for his home at Ganado, Ariz., for a vacation of three months. Accompanying him were his wife and small son. The youngster, who is perhaps six years old, made a pretty picture as he waddled along in the trail of his father, wrapped in a miniature blanket, for all the world an exact replica of the older man except as to size.

While Charlie and his family are home, Charlie's place will be filled by another Indian, "Slivers" by name.

INQUIRES IF PUPILS ARE INSTRUCTED HOW TO SHOOT

Superintendent Milne Writes Easterner That Albuquerque Schools Have No Course in Six-Shooting.

John Milne, superintendent of city schools, yesterday received a letter from Charles R. Stark, chairman of the Providence, R. I. Educational Association, inquiring if pupils in Albuquerque schools were taught to shoot.

Superintendent Milne answered truthfully. He wrote Chairman Stark that instruction in the manipulation of "six-shooters" has no place on the curriculum of the Albuquerque schools. Superintendent Milne contented himself with this simple statement.

Mr. Stark said a resident of Providence, who recently returned from Albuquerque, had told his friends children were taught to shoot in schools here and the information came to his ears. Mr. Stark did not say whether he was thinking of giving Providence children a course in "how to get the drop" or "fanning." Superintendent Milne was unable to give him instructions in this art.

MAN WHO CALLED TURN ON LAS VEGAS FIASCO IN TOWN

Harry B. Smith, sporting editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and one of the few writers in the country to call the turn on the Johnson-Flynn fiasco at Las Vegas on July 4th of this year, was in Albuquerque several hours yesterday, on his way to the Pacific coast from a trip east, which took him as far as New York. Mr. Smith arrived early yesterday morning from El Paso, and left at noon on the California limited for San Francisco.

The visit in the city of Mr. Smith was made enjoyable by Roy (Binger) Corhan, of the San Francisco club in the Pacific coast league. Corhan and Smith spent several hours together and the visitor was taken for a tour of the city by Corhan.

The Fresno sporting editor, praised Corhan highly and declared he was the most popular member of the San Francisco baseball club. He said that the season of 1913 probably would see Corhan develop into the sensation of the Coast league.
