UNIONS DEMAND THAT ORIENTALS BE EXCLUDED

Delegates Representing Two Million Men. Insist That Menacing Jap and Hindu be Kept Out.

CHINESE LAW MUST BE MADE BROADER

American Federation of Labor insists That Welfare and Prosperity of Country Necessitate Keeping Out of All Cheap Workmen.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 19.—"Asiatic labor must keep out!" That is the slogan of the organized workers of this country—in fact, of North America, for the Canadian Trade Union congress, at its recent session in Winnipeg, gave expression to the above sentiment in unmistakable tones.

By unanimous vote, and after an interesting discussion in which every phase of the curse of coolie labor was plainly set forth, the delegates to the American Federation of Labor in convention, representing 2,000,000 trade unionists, demanded that congress enact the necessary legislation so that the present Chinese exclusion law can be applied to Japanese, Korean and Hindu labor.

The prohibition of Asiatic immigration is demanded upon the broad ground, first, that the wage and living standards of such labor are dangerous to, and must, if granted recognition in the United States, prove destructive of the American standards in these essential respects; and secondly, that a racial incompatibility, as between the peoples of the Orient and the United States, presents a problem of race preservation which it is our imperative duty to solve in our own favor, and which can only be thus solved by a policy of exclusion.

Chinese Law Effective.
The American people perhaps do not know that if the Chinese exclusion law had not been enacted California would be a Mongolian state today," said Walter MacArthur in discussing this question.

Mr. MacArthur, editor of the Coast Seaman's Journal of San Francisco, a deep student, and, by reason of the position he holds as an officer of the International Seamen's Union, the best posted man on the Asiatic labor problem to be found on the Pacific slope.

"Another fact that the people of the east fail to appreciate," continued Mr. MacArthur, "is that there are enough Japs who have had a military training in California at this moment to form a good sized regiment, and as many more in the Hawaiian Islands. We westerners are not jingoistic, nor are we alarmists, but I want to tell you that we don't intend to wait until the Japs swarm over our section of the country like an army of locusts before we sound a note of warning."

"Let this further fact sink deep into the minds of those honorable Americans who have regarded our appeals with good-natured indifference: We never can assimilate the Japanese, and should not try, unless we want to destroy our civilization and our race. The Asiatics look upon us with the utmost contempt; they hate us and our institutions, and they are transplanting all their ideas of morality, religion and life generally."

"The Jap is a live wire; we demand that he be excluded before it is too late, otherwise the American may be treated to some severe shocks."

ENGINEER KILLED IN HEAD-ON WRECK

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 19.—Two passenger trains on the Vandallia road met head on at Vevay Park, Ill., 35 miles west of this city this morning, and Engineer Joseph McGlenon, of the east bound train was instantly killed. The engineer and conductor of the west bound were slightly injured. The collision was due to a dense fog.

HEARST LOSES IN COURT OF APPEALS

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The court of appeals today decided that the act passed by the last legislature providing for a recount of the votes cast at the majority election in New York City on November 5, is unconstitutional. The contest was instituted on behalf of Wm. R. Hearst to unseat Mayor McClellan on the ground of fraud in counting the votes. The decision was unanimous.

$30,000 FIRE TODAY AT PEORIA, ILLINOIS

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 19.—Fire originating from a defective electric light wire in the Luther building on south Washington street, early today caused losses aggregating $300,000. The Luther building was occupied mainly by wagon and implement companies.

$500,000,000 BONDS FOR WATERWAYS PROJECT

Representative Bartholde Will Introduce Bill to That Effect In Congress at Beginning of Session.

PRESIDENT VIEWS PLAN WITH FAVOR

Another Bill Will be Presented to Give a Legal Status to Proposed Improvements—Smaller Affairs Will be Given Attention.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—Representative Bartholde, of Missouri, after a talk with President Roosevelt yesterday, announced his intention of introducing a bill soon as congress meets to give a legal status to the inland waterways commission, which was created by the executive act, and another bill providing for a five hundred million dollar bond issue to establish a fund for permanent great waterway improvements, leaving smaller projects to be taken care of in the regular river and harbor bills. Bartholde says the president regards the plan with favor.

Magnitude of Plan.
Mr. Bartholde further said that the magnitude of the plan for a deep waterway route via the Illinois river and drainage canal from Chicago to the Mississippi river and thence to the gulf was somewhat astounding but that the five hundred million dollars in bonds would be ample for accomplishing the first work, in his opinion. It will not, however, be sufficient to take in the work upon streams emptying into the river named and those must be provided for as heretofore by the regular river and harbor bill.

Bartholde believes there will be no great opposition in the house to the bill and he does not apprehend any trouble over its passage in the senate, as both bodies have become conversant with the plan of the great valley with its millions upon millions of people, who will all be benefited by the deep waterways and the lessened freight rates which are sure to follow.

Congressmen Favor Project.
Every congressman with one or two exceptions west of Ohio favors the project and practically a majority of those east of that state will vote for the measure, owing to the interest of their friends in the eastern states. He believes that the bill will pass on its first vote in the house and that the senate will pass it within ten days thereafter.

Includes Deep Channel.
The work to be included in the proposed deep waterway will be a deep channel capable of accommodating large vessels from Chicago via the Chicago canal, through the Illinois river to the Mississippi near Grafton, Ill., and thence down the Mississippi to the gulf. The entire distance is to be dredged out, and the channel strengthened where necessary.

It will require a number of years to complete the work, after congress provides ways and means for its accomplishment and it cannot be in use from end to end before at least eight years have gone by. For this reason the advocates of the deep waterway are urging haste on the part of congress.

TAFT SPEEDING ACROSS SIBERIA UNDER GUARD

Elaborate Precautions Taken to Insure Safety of American Secretary.

Vladivostok, Nov. 19.—Secretary Taft and party left Vladivostok this afternoon for St. Petersburg. Rigid precautions for his safety were taken by order of the government.

The czar had one of the Imperial cars, used only for royalty heretofore, sent to Vladivostok for the accommodation of the secretary of war and his party.

Such extraordinary precautions were taken for fear that someone might make an attempt on the secretary that even the leaving time of his train was not announced and its schedule along the line has not been made public. It will proceed immediately to St. Petersburg where the secretary will make a brief stop before proceeding for Bremen to take ship for home.

RAILROAD DEPARTMENT

RAILROAD READY FOR WINTER WEATHER

Santa Fe Is Prepared to Keep Its Traffic on the Move.

"Ready for the winter, why we're always ready for anything on this road and especially in the Albuquerque shops," said a foreman today. "Long before winter is hardly thought of by most people, we begin to get everything in condition for the first snow or cold spell, for both snow and cold affect things on the railroad. For months everything has been in readiness, just the same as we are always ready for a heavy rain which will cause washouts. Washouts may be averted only require a little attention next day from the trackmen, or again they may be very serious and in the latter case, a crew of men is rushed out without moment's delay to repair the damage.

"The same is true in case of a snow in the mountains. Engines are properly equipped as soon as it becomes apparent that heavy snow is on, which is seldom, I must say, and they keep the track clean. We run trains so frequently over these lines that the rails have little chance to become clogged with snow if proper precautions are taken, and the only danger is from the snow slides, which have become such a rarity as to be almost unknown."

Ready for Cold Weather.
The shops, runhouse, wrecking car headquarters and all other departments of the shops show a preparedness for cold weather that is remarkable. The employees are cared for as warmly as possible, and in case of accident on the road in the winter, the men are provided with stoves in their cars, always ready for lighting, and plenty of hot food if the job is a long one.
There is no road in the country that looks so closely after its tracks and its men, a fact which accounts for the great amount of business it is always able to handle at all times. "It keeps them as warm as possible in the winter," declared an official, "and as cool in the summer and is quick to look after any complaints that it lacks in that respect and to remedy them."

MACHINE SHOP CONTRACT HAS BEEN AWARDED.
San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 19.—The contract for the construction of the great machine shop to be erected by the Santa Fe in this city, it is understood, has been awarded to Carl Leonard of Los Angeles, who is now engaged in the erection of the round house and putting in the foundations for the new shop at the same time the round house contract was closed, but the job of putting up the machine shop building has been awarded since and separately. The company will furnish the structural steel for the big shop and shipments of this material are expected to arrive daily, having been on the way for some time. The new machine shop will be 120x500 feet in size, or of fully twice the capacity of the present shop, and will be equipped with the most unique machinery for the purpose, it especially being constructed to handle the immense locomotives now in use. When the present shop was built, though but a few years ago, the engines used by the Santa Fe here were quite diminutive as compared with a majority of those of the present, so that it is a very difficult task to handle the big engines with the present machine shop equipment.

WILL REMOVE BIG CONCRETE RESERVOIR.
San Bernardino, Cal., Nov. 19.—As soon as the big fuel oil tank is lowered to its foundations in the Santa Fe yards, Contractor Basore will tackle one of the most unique moving jobs ever undertaken here or anywhere else.

He will attempt to move the big concrete reservoir now on the east to Mt. Vernon avenue and used for storing water from the compressors which is again pumped back into the boilers for second use. This reservoir is of solid concrete and was built years ago. It is nearly 30 feet square and several feet deep. If the attempt to move proves successful it will mark another epoch in moving accomplishments.

SANTA FE IMMOVING WILLIAMS BUILDINGS.
Williams, Ariz., Nov. 19.—The Santa Fe railroad company is making some substantial improvements at Williams.
The company has a large number of Mexican laborers at work in the local yards and is putting in several miles of side track in addition to what it already has. An average of a trainload per day of cinders is being brought in, and is being used for ballast. The company expects to have the side tracks completed within thirty days, and from the way things look in the yards, its expectations will not go amiss.
The five-story roundhouse under course of construction will probably be ready for business by the first of the year. It will be modern in every particular and an ideal home for the Santa Fe's great iron horses. It will be quite an addition to the railway's equipment. Above all, it is a substantial improvement and represents an investment on the part of the railroad company that is not to be sneezed at.

ROADS WIN OUT IN MAIL SQUABBLE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The Santa Fe, Frisco and Missouri Pacific railroad companies, as forecasted in these dispatches, won out in their contention with the postoffice department that they would not comply with the order to carry surplus mail equipment as mail from November 15 to December 25 without compensation. Mr. McCleary, second assistant postmaster general, who issued the order under date of November 8, today rescinded the order after a conference with Mr. Grant, superintendent of railway mails, and Mr. Graham, chief of the division of equipment.

Philip Cienfuegos, a native employed in the roundhouse at Williams, Ariz., as boiler washer, was fatally scalded Sunday evening by the pulling out of a wash-out plug. Death resulted some time later. A coroner's jury viewed the remains Monday and rendered a verdict of scalding by accident and due to his own negligence.

Alleging that the A. T. & S. F. by building a jetty in the Rio Grande and changing its course damaged their land, George B. and Thomas W. Zimbleman, of Travis county, Texas, have instituted suits in the district court at El Paso, the former asking for damages in the sum of $30,000 and the latter for $17,500.

Taylor Nevels, a passenger fireman of the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, who has been sick at San Marcial for the last month, has resumed his duties.

C. W. Alexander, fireman of the extra gang at Gallup, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

R. J. Walker, inspector at Thorpeau, N. M., was city visitor yesterday on business.

T. D. Allen has returned from St. Louis to resume his old position of night chief clerk.

King Rollins has returned from Los Angeles and accepted a position in the round house here.

E. H. Harlow, master mechanic, will leave Thursday for Chicago on business.

TEACHERS URGED TO OBSERVE HOLIDAY

Supt. Clark Requests Them to Properly Impress Its Significance.

Superintendent of Public Instruction James E. Clark has issued a circular letter addressed to the public school teachers of New Mexico in which he urged that Thanksgiving day be observed with fitting exercises in the public schools throughout the territory. The communication follows:

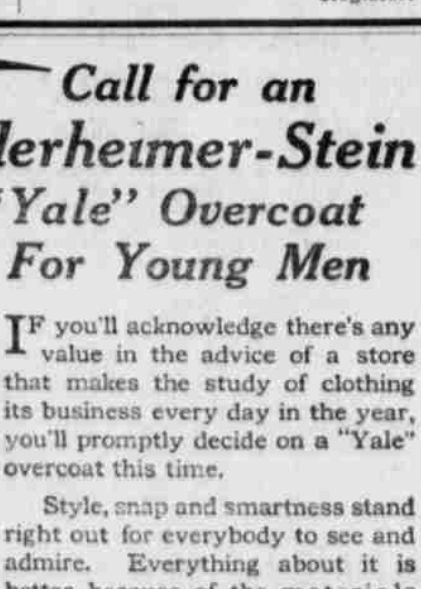

"Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 19, 1907.
"Dear Friends—Honorable Nathan Jaffa, acting governor of the territory of New Mexico, has declared Thursday, November 28th, 1907, as Thanksgiving day, and orders that business matters be set aside and that the day be spent in places of worship giving thanks to Almighty God for a year of plenty, prosperity, and peace.
"As territorial superintendent of public instruction, I strongly urge that all teachers impress upon the minds of the children in our public schools the true meaning of Thanksgiving, in order that they may enjoy the day, tell them of the Pilgrims; tell of the hardships and starvation; tell of the harvest and first Thanksgiving day. Decorate the school room with fruits, vegetables, and grains. Have at least one recitation at the close of school the day before Thanksgiving. Sing the songs of Thanksgiving. In short, send the children away from the school on the evening of the 27th of November full of Thanksgiving. In order that they may enjoy their holiday with minds so full of the true meaning of the day that they will not spend the hours in thoughts of things wholly unrelated to it.
"While urging upon the children that they be thankful for life, for friends, for health, for all necessities and luxuries, the teacher should not fail to appreciate the fact that she is laboring in the most helpful, most uplifting, most worthy cause known among men. The teacher should be most thankful for her opportunity to minister to the rising generation at the time when its mind is most impressionable. She is the guide to manhood and womanhood, the molder of character. It is no wonder that the schools are regarded as the 'Bulwark of the Nation.' It is natural that the public school is uniformly denominated 'The Most Important Institution in the Nation.' Let the teacher in the public school or in other departments of educational work be mindful of these facts and rejoice in the service.
"Yours very sincerely,
"JAMES E. CLARK."

ON A SPREE IN A BIG ROAD ENGINE

He "Jumped Her" Against Two Others Before She Was Stopped.

Kansas City, Nov. 19.—A visitor on several street saloons last night was Edward Wangamus. In each he drank. Then he started in search of excitement. He found it. Down at the crossing of the Santa Fe and Milwaukee railroad tracks was a through freight train, which had stopped, waiting for orders. About fifty feet behind the caboose of that train a switch engine stood. The engineer, the fireman of the switch engine and C. E. Skaggs, a special officer of the Milwaukee railroad company, were in the cab waiting until the freight train could move out of the way. And behind the train and the engine, at a round house about 200 yards away, stood a round engine with full steam up. There was no one in the cab of this.

Pulled the Throttle Open.
To the road engine Edward wandered. He looked it over and then decided it was a pretty good vehicle. Up into the cab he climbed. Then he grasped the throttle and pulled it wide open. The engine almost jumped off the rails. But Edward was pleased. He was having his excitement.
"Hit 'er up, Bill!" he yelled, and the engine fairly "tore up" the track. The men on the switch engine heard a loud noise. They looked around, saw the big headlight coming and jumped for safety. Maybe Wangamus saw the engine ahead but that didn't stop him. He was too busy. A second later there was a crash and the switch engine began to move rapidly, propelled by the force of the road engine behind it.
"Hit 'er up, Bill!" again yelled Wangamus who was vainly trying to pull the throttle wider. He hadn't been injured by the collision.

Hit the Freight Train Then.
The brakes of the switch engine were on, but that didn't make much difference. There was too much steam on. The freight train was ahead and Wangamus was still seeking excitement. There was another crash as the switch engine began to move rapidly, propelled by the force of the road engine behind it. The caboose of the freight train. The back end of the caboose was broken in and the doors knocked from about a dozen box cars. But the road was too much for the engine behind. It couldn't push any more. Still Wangamus wasn't satisfied. He wanted more and so with jerking engine he throttled when Skaggs climbed into the cab and arrested him.
Jeremiah Caskey, the sergeant at the Sheriff's station, heard the noise of the collision and the sound of escaping steam.

"It's a train wreck," he said, and sent men there at once. But they returned soon with nothing. Wangamus is estimated that the damage to the engines and to the freight train will amount to about $2,000. The conductor of the freight train wired ahead for a new engine and the train went on. The two engines were "laid off" for repairs and Wangamus is locked up for investigation.

COTTON GROWS FINE IN NEW MEXICO

Pecos Valley Farmers Demonstrate What Can be Done With That Crop.

Carlsbad, N. M., Nov. 19.—That cotton is one of the staple crops of the Pecos valley is being demonstrated as the growers are just now beginning to bring the staple to the gin.
It was planted for the first time three years ago just at the time when the floods carried out the dams of the Pecos irrigation company and since that time the farmers have devoted their time to farming under the Campbell system until this year the water was turned into the ditches under government control.
It was too late in the season for early planting, but many relied upon it and planted a late crop and are now realizing upon their labor. Simpson brothers, who reside about three miles north of Carlsbad, have raised cotton for the first time under irrigation this season, although they have been cotton growers for the past 20 years in the southern states.

They consider the conditions in the higher and dryer altitude much better for a finer and superior grade of fiber than can be raised on the lower lands of Texas or Louisiana and then there is no rain to damage it when it opens on the stalk. They have picked from one to one and one-half bales to the acre, which is an excellent yield.

Ready to Acre.
Grand brothers, who reside north of Carlsbad a few miles, have grown cotton this season for the first time and they are enthusiastic over the result. They will pick about fifteen bales from eighteen acres of land, all of which is fine and will grade first class.
J. W. Donaldson and sons, who are the largest growers in the lower valley, are cotton raisers of many years experience and their yields this season will average one bale to more and they assert positively that a portion of it will yield two bales. This being the first year the farmers have had a chance to try cotton with plenty of water, and with the flattering results obtained, it is an assured fact that the acreage will be materially increased next season and next year's crop will, in probability, be the bumper crop in the valley.

HAS BIG RANCH IN AFRICAN WILDS

Tourist Is Making a Model
Farm Despite Adverse Conditions.

America is getting too crowded for Americans who hanker after a life of unconventional freedom and adventure. The "wild and woolly west" appears to be played out except as a field for sensational fiction. Those Americans who want novelty and excitement with plenty of sport, and a chance, too, to indulge in the national game of making money, now have to seek the gratification of their desires elsewhere.

That is the reason W. Northrup McMillan, an American millionaire and a son of the late Senator James McMillan of Michigan, has established his headquarters in the wilds of British East Africa. There he has an immense farm which it is his ambition to make one of the most up to date on the globe. Just at present he is making a hurried trip to California, having passed through the city Sunday. He came to this country to attend the wedding in Massachusetts of his sister to Sir John Harrington, the British minister to the court of King Menelik of Abyssinia, and is now enjoying a vacation.

Mr. McMillan has made a reputation as a great traveler and big game hunter and it is perhaps appropriate that he should settle down in what was a few years ago the least known portion of the world, but which promises soon to become one of Great Britain's most prosperous colonies.

The former home of "Juju," is situated near Nairobi on the line of the new Uganda railway. It consists of 20,000 acres and really comprises two farms, the Juju and the Juba farms. The name "Juju" is familiar to all readers of the romances of South Africa. It is the name given to the "medicine" or magic of the natives and its human sacrifices and other dark rites have furnished the basis of many a thrilling tale. It takes its name from the district now covered by Mr. McMillan's farm and Juju is the adjoining district in which similar rites were practiced. The seat of the Great Juju or evil spirit, is almost in the geographical center of Mr. McMillan's property.

In this district, where only a few years ago degraded negroes practiced their terrible rites in swamps and jungles, there are today a group of the most modern buildings. An ice plant occupies the site of the great hut which served as the temple of Juju and close beside it is an electric light and power plant. Arc lamps light up what were the dark places of the jungle and the plant furnishes power for driving mills and all kinds of electrical machinery. The natives now bring their corn to be ground in Mr. McMillan's mill on the spot where only a few years ago they brought their human sacrifices to Juju.

Motor Cars for Bad Roads.

The latest additions to the equipment of these Americanized farms are two motor cars which have just been completed in England for Mr. McMillan's farm. They have been built after Mr. McMillan's own design and are especially constructed to meet the requirements of this out of the way corner of the world. There are no roads worthy of the name. The only suitable paths are the rough paths beaten hard by the bare feet of countless thousands of negroes and deeply rutted by the native bullock wagons. There are no bridges and the "roads" are frequently intersected by streams and rivers which have to be forded. The two cars are built so that they can ford a stream three feet deep without affecting the machinery, and they are hung so high that the deepest ruts or the stumps which are found at frequent intervals threaten no injury to the chassis. Of course pneumatic tires are impossible in such a country and both cars are equipped with solid tires, but the place of the pneumatic is taken by extra long springs which do their work well. Each car is fitted both at front and back with heavy steel rings with chains attached, to which bullock teams may be hitched in case the car gets hopelessly stuck in a swamp or in the sand.

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN FAVORS NEW THEORY

E. H. Lambert, of Everett, Massachusetts, Believes Stomach
the Seat of Life.

One of the most interesting statements made recently concerning the much discussed Cooper theory, that has spread over the country during the past year, is made by E. H. Lambert, a retired business man, whose home is at 115 Francis street, Everett, Mass.

Mr. Lambert has this to say in connection with Cooper and his medicines: "Some time ago I read an article about this man Cooper, in which he claimed that stomach trouble was directly responsible for most ill health. He went on to say that, although his medicine did nothing but get the stomach in sound condition, it would in many cases, remove kidney and liver trouble and various other ailments. He argued from this that the stomach was the main cause of sickness, and stated that the success he has had with his medicines was due entirely to this fact."

"I am now fully convinced that this theory is correct, and believe Cooper has a really remarkable medicine, judging from my own experience."

"I have been a sick man for five years. Three years ago I was told by a physician that I had Bright's disease of the kidneys. I have treated constantly for this trouble since, without results. After reading the article I have mentioned, I purchased some of this man Cooper's medicine. I have been astounded by what it has done for me. I was relieved to some extent within 24 hours. Today my health is better than for five years, and so far as I can tell, my kidney trouble has disappeared."

"My wife who had stomach trouble for some time, tried the preparation after noting its action in my case, and her improvement is fully as marked as mine. She now eats heartily three times a day without any distress whatsoever. Her nervousness has also left her. I certainly believe this man's success is fully justified, as he undoubtedly has a wonderful medicine."

We will gladly describe the remarkable record made by the Cooper medicines to all who wish to know of them. J. H. O'Reilly Co., Second and Central.

DOZEN PENSIONS FOR NEW MEXICANS

Delegate Andrews Secures the Approval of Twelve Claims for Territorial Veterans.

Is to love children, and no home can be completely happy without them, yet the ordeal through which the expectant mother must pass usually is so full of suffering, danger and fear that she looks forward to the critical hour with apprehension and dread. Mother's Friend, by its penetrating and soothing properties, allays nausea, nervousness, and all unpleasant feelings, and so prepares the system for the ordeal that she passes through the event safely and with but little suffering, as numbers have testified and said, "it is worth its weight in gold." $1.00 per bottle of druggists. Book containing valuable information mailed free.

WOMAN'S SPEECH INCITES A RIOT

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—Two policemen were injured by bricks, five men arrested and a number of persons clubbed as the result of a riotous demonstration made by string street car employees and their friends this afternoon.

A mass meeting of strike sympathizers was held this afternoon at a hall in the central part of the city at which heated speeches were made, but the crowd did not become fired until an address was delivered by the wife of a discharged conductor.

Her remarks so worked on the feelings of the assemblage that when the meeting was broken up an impromptu parade of the city at which women were formed and marched about the business district. There was a large sprinkling of women in line and they incited the crowd to stone the cars.

"STATEHOOD FOR NEW MEXICO"

Building a Town

It has only been a few years since the first determined effort was made to settle Kansas and Nebraska.

Less time has passed since the state builder set foot in Oklahoma, Oklahoma is now a state.

The Citizen calls attention to the facts above mentioned because it is right in line with what is taking place in New Mexico.

Today The Citizen devotes a page to another portion of the fertile Estancia valley—the wonder of the farming age. It is telling of the building of a town.

Willard, New Mexico, and the country surrounding is another part of the Great American Desert which less than twenty years ago we were taught covered the whole of New Mexico.

In fact, there were nothing but a few little shacks and some dozen sheep ranches in the vicinity of Willard so short a time ago that one does not like to refer to it.

Willard of today, however, is an entirely different proposition. It has not grown up in a night with a boom either, but a set of hard-working, progressive business men have placed substantial buildings where adobe sheds once stood and two railroads now form a junction upon the townsite.

In fact, Willard has come to stay, and it forms one of the busiest little towns in the whole territory, where a few years ago there was practically nothing.

The building of a town is much like the training of a child of tender years. It is a task that imposes a considerable burden upon those who undertake it and a poor town is as much a result of poor management as of poor opportunities.

Willard is the outgrowth of a necessity—not of speculation. It grew to be a town because the settlement of the surrounding country demanded a trade center.

That was what Willard originally was, a busy little trade center. Then the Elsen cut-off came in sight and before Willard realized what had happened it became an important railroad point. Its importance will increase with the operation of regular trains over the cut-off and more trains over the Santa Fe Central.

So Willard just naturally grew—as the Estancia valley grew—because the natural conditions of development and wealth were on every hand and a kind fate aided.

Surrounding Willard are hundreds and hundreds of the best claims in the Estancia valley. Water can be found at a depth of only a few feet and windmills are everywhere to be seen.

But The Citizen does not intend to comment upon the town nor its rich tributary farm lands here.

The story has been told—well told by The Citizen's staff representative who visited the thriving little railroad hub and its territory. He saw conditions as they actually existed, and he told what he saw in a clear, straightforward manner. There is no exaggeration and no coloring.

This paper has already told of the Estancia district, and now it tells of Willard. There is a certain similarity throughout the whole valley, but each locality has that, in which it takes especial pride and justly so.

The pride of Willard is in Willard, and those who read what The Citizen reporter has written will understand why, just as in the case of Estancia.

Albuquerque people especially will do well to give the matter attention for the Estancia valley has already become a trade center which this city can not afford to neglect.

Within five years it will undoubtedly be the wealthiest trade district tributary to our city, and Willard bids fair to grow ahead of the valley.

One on the Customer

A rather amusing story is told on a man who went into a hardware store of a neighboring town and wished to purchase an axe, says an Ohio paper. Being shown the article and informed that the price was $1.15 he said:

"Why, I can get the same kind of an axe from a mail-order house for 90 cents."

"Very well," said the hardware man, "I will give it to you for the same price provided that you will do the same with me as you would with them."

"All right," replied the customer as he handed over a dollar bill, the merchant giving him back ten cents in change.

"Now," said the hardware man, "I want 25 cents more to pay express charges," which the purchaser gave him. "How much did your axe cost you?"

"One dollar and fifteen cents," the man answered.

"Very good; now give me the five cents more for money order fees and postage," which the purchaser had to hand over.

"Now how much did your axe cost you?"

"One dollar and twenty cents," said the customer.

"Not so cheap after all," said the merchant, whereupon he picked up the axe, tossed it back on the shelf and told the customer to call for it in ten days, as that would be as soon as he could get it if he had ordered it from the mail-order house.

An attempt at co-operative housekeeping is to be tried in a large scale at Garden City, Letchworth, England, the plan embracing some novel points. The houses are to be built about three and a half sides of a quadrangle, each house separate, except that there will be a common dining hall. This, with the servants' quarters, will be in a central building, connected with each house by a roofed cloister. Meals may be eaten in the common room or, for a small extra charge, may be served in the separate houses. The rent of the houses is to be from $100 to $225 a year. A special place may be provided for musical practice, so that the non-musical tenants may be freed from annoyance, and there will be restrictions on pets, but none on children, for whom a separate playground with all modern improvements will be provided. It is said that there is little doubt but that the co-operative plan will pay, as already there have been a great number of applications for houses, many of the applications coming from retired army and navy officers.

The city council will likely raise the price of saloon licenses to $1,500. This was suggested by The Citizen some time ago as a fair means of meeting the deficit which would result from the abolishment of gambling. By adopting this means of meeting the demand, the city council will work a hardship on no one particularly, and will not damage the saloon business conducted along legitimate lines. A higher saloon license will perhaps operate to close out a few dealers who sell cheap liquors at cheap prices, but such resorts will not be missed. In fact, fewer saloons conducted along proper lines, will result in better business for the proprietors of the better saloons, choice grades of liquors for the consumers and better protection for the public. Cheap saloons are no benefit and no credit to any city and they will not be missed. The large saloons of Albuquerque will be benefited by a higher license and the owners of small joints of questionable reputation will not be able to stay in business.

This is fine weather for ducks; fine weather for the shoe man; fine weather for the sheep man; fine weather for the cattleman; fine weather for the farmer; fine weather for the whole territory of New Mexico—but Gee, how muddy it is!

This is the sad and sacred season of the year when a man shakes the moth balls out of his last year's overcoat, and wonders if he can make it last another winter.

There are two things to which New Mexico is looking forward—Congress and Christmas. Wonder if Congress would give us a Christmas present?

LOOKING FOR A GOOD TIME?

There are about as many conceptions as to what constitutes a "good time" as there are individuals, but there is one place in New Mexico, not very far from Albuquerque, where 99 out of every 100 people find what they are looking for. That place is the Valley Ranch, at Pecos, New Mexico.

Fresh country produce in abundance, horses to ride or drive, dogs, guns, traps, tackle, all at your disposal. The finest hunting and fishing in the territory. You can live in a house, a cabin or a tent, and come and go as you please.

You'll find plenty of company there, agreeable and refined. If you are sociably inclined, a favorite resort for ladies. Conditions ideal for recuperating, reading, hunting or loafing.

You CAN'T SPEND MORE THAN NINE DOLLARS A WEEK ANY WAY YOU FIX IT.

INFANTRY MANEUVERS UNDER DIFFICULTY

Man Wearing Uniform of Artillery Service Took Several Drinks Too Many and Then Proceeded to Drill on Vacant Lot for Benefit of Spectators—Court Not Pleased Himself With Unmilitary Conduct and Was Arrested.

A man wearing the uniform of a United States artilleryman, afforded a half hour's entertainment to some half dozen residents of the north side the other day by executing alone and single handed some very difficult infantry maneuvers. At first they appeared to be difficult for the artilleryman who found it hard to maintain his equilibrium owing to a few drinks too many.

The man was evidently one of a party of soldiers which passed through here recently and his desire to refresh himself with a few extra drinks probably caused him to miss the train.

At all events, according to one of the spectators, the gallant defender of Uncle Sam finally landed on a vacant lot over on the north side, well jagged and ready for duty.

He was forced to play a dual role of officer and company but those who saw him say he succeeded admirably considering all the circumstances. He ordered himself to fall in line, right dress and form company, all of which he did in due form although his feet did not always get together with military precision.

Then he started to march. He made fair progress until he gave himself the order to "double time" when he started to run across the improvised parade ground at an angle of forty-five degrees. A sudden order to "Halt!" brought him to such a sudden stop that he fell to the ground. It took him some time to get back into military position and he then proceeded to call himself out in front of the company and give himself a severe talking.

It took him some time to get back into military position and he then proceeded to call himself out in front of the company and give himself a severe talking.

BAPTIST MINISTER IS FATHER SHERMAN DELIVERS SECOND LECTURE

SHOWERED WITH CHICKENS

Eighty of the members of the First Baptist church perpetrated a surprise on their pastor, Rev. John A. Shaw, last night, coming unannounced to his home, 514 South High street, laden with baskets of good things to eat and prepared to spend an enjoyable evening.

The feature of the party was the chicken shower—and there was a veritable downpour of chickens in Rev. Shaw's hennery. Each family brought a chicken and when they all arrived the population of Rev. Shaw's chicken house was increased by forty.

There was speaking by several of the prominent members, Rev. W. H. Rishel, Dr. Alice Rice, of Las Vegas, and Dr. S. L. Burton making short talks. Rev. Shaw responded with a brief address. Several musical numbers were furnished by members of the church choir. A lunch was served.

JUDGE ABBOTT GIVES CONFESSION 20 YEARS

Court Pronounces Sentence on Prisoners Before the Bar.

Twenty years in the territorial penitentiary was the sentence imposed by Judge Abbott in the second judicial district court on Zenobio Sanchez for the murder of William McComber, a Civil war veteran and former resident of Albuquerque, near his ranch thirty-five miles southeast of this city in June, 1904. Sanchez took his sentence coolly. It didn't depress his spirits any for he smiled and chatted gaily with the other prisoners who were before Judge Abbott to be sentenced. He talked to his mother a few minutes after receiving the sentence and before he was taken back to the county jail.

On the witness stand before receiving sentence Sanchez told how he killed McComber. His most important statement was that he committed the deed alone and without the aid of Natividad Gutierrez, his employer, charged with complicity in the murder of McComber, who is now under bond awaiting trial.

According to Sanchez, Gutierrez was at his ranch seven miles from the scene of the killing when he shot McComber.

The murder was a brutal one, resulting over the theft of a cheap bell belonging to McComber by one of the sheep herders in the camp where Sanchez was employed. When found the body was in an advanced state of decomposition, dragged from the scene of the shooting to a clump of bushes and there concealed. The head was beaten to a pulp. Sanchez denied beating McComber or dragging the body to the bushes; he says he shot him through the breast and left the body lying beside the trail.

Other Prisoners Sentenced.
Edgar Smith and John Williams, colored, found guilty of burglary, and who led an attempt to break from the county jail, were sentenced to two years in the territorial penitentiary.

William Korte, burglary, was sentenced to one year, but Judge Abbott suspended sentence when he learned a friend of the boy would give him a home and employment.

George Elwood, burglary, one and a half years.

Jack Rogers, carrying deadly weapon, sixty days, sentence suspended on promise of good behavior.

Ramon Velasquez, assault and battery, thirty days.

Albert Aros, larceny, one and a half years.

Charles A. Bartlett, alias Clyde A. Brown, drawing and uttering worthless checks, two years.

Alberto Luna, obtaining money on a bogus check, 2 years; sentence suspended on promise of good behavior.

INFORMAL DANCE PARTY

The local Elks will open the social season in Albuquerque Elksdom tomorrow night with an informal ball, to which all Elks, their ladies and visiting Elks are cordially invited.

The ball will be held at the club rooms and the dancing will be in the new ball room, which has been remodeled and handsomely decorated for the occasion.

The local order of Elks will give similar dance parties throughout the winter and will take an active part in giving the metropolis a little more social life.

A number of Elks from nearby towns will arrive this evening and tomorrow to attend this opening dance, which will undoubtedly be one of the most enjoyable events of the winter.

DETECTIVES START IN SEARCH OF HARRY HUCK

Eccentric Millionaire Shepherd Mysteriously Absent
From Ranch at Grants.

The disappearance of Harry Huck, the eccentric sheep raiser of San Rafael, N. M., announced in The Citizen several months ago but said at the time by friends of Huck to be another of the many mysterious disappearances, has taken on a very serious aspect, according to a story printed in the Chicago American, of Saturday, November 11th.

It seems that Huck has actually disappeared and that his unceremonious departure from his ranch near San Rafael in August may have been more than a will-o-the-wisp pilgrimage.

It is known that Huck was deep in debt and that his creditors had been pressing him previous to his departure. So recent were the requests of his creditors on one occasion that Huck took refuge in a box car standing on the siding at Grants, a small station near his ranch.

His hiding place was discovered and he was ruthlessly pulled from the car. On the occasion of his last disappearance, the Chicago story says that he left his ranch equipped for a hunting trip. That he was going hunting is doubted as he wrote agents of this city shortly after leaving the ranch from a point in Arizona. He estimated in this letter that he was on his way to either Los Angeles or Nevada. He had friends at the latter place.

Detectives Search for Huck.
The Chicago Examiner story is as follows:

"Through a search begun yesterday, in which the aid of the Chicago Examiner was solicited by representatives of the widow of Marshall Field, Jr., the story of a mysterious disappearance was revealed. Henry E. Huck, only brother of Mrs. Field, is the person who has disappeared."

He was virtually kidnapped by his father, who left him the small fortune of $15,000 out of the $3,000,000 Huck estate.

Henry Huck has not been seen or heard from since he left his ranch near Grants, New Mexico, three months ago, equipped for a hunting trip. Since that time he has not been heard from and no word of his movements has reached his relatives.

Mrs. Field, it was learned, entertains grave anxiety over her brother's fate. It was she who set him up on his ranch, and it was she who added enough to the meager income from his share of the estate to support him as he was accustomed.

Appeals to Examine.
Acting for her in the search is Otto B. Schubert, 1753 Duane street, the manager of the Huck estate.

Mr. Schubert has enlisted the aid of the Examiner's "Missing Persons" column. Before agencies have also been engaged and the search will be made national and even international in his effort to carry out the mission of the mother of the world's richest boy.

Any word of his whereabouts should be sent to Mr. Schubert. Mrs. Field is now in Paris.

The missing man is said to have angered his father by eccentric methods of spending his large allowance and by alleged devotion to Miss Hirtha Bauer, a Chicago actress.

When he was but eighteen years old he became deeply engaged to a beautiful Chicago heiress whom he threw over when he became infatuated. It is alleged—with Miss Bauer's denial—that he refused to marry her when the parental objection became known.

Sister Gave Him Allowance.
Mrs. Field aided largely in the support of her brother after the death of his father, who sent him abroad and, it is believed, made him a regular allowance of liberal amount from her own fortune.

She induced him to seek life anew on a big ranch which she caused to be purchased and stocked with sheep for him. He became its master last November and remained there steadily until his disappearance four months ago.

His wealthy sister received no word from him since that time and inquiries by cable to the ranch, to Mr. Schubert and to other persons and places where news of his whereabouts might be had yielded nothing.

So, Mrs. Field has called upon Mr. Schubert to make a thorough search, using every means that wealth affords to find the missing brother.

G. H. Van Stone Says Estancia Valley Has Plenty of Moisture and Crops of Winter Wheat Are Looking Fine—Another Big Year in Prospect.

"Recent rains and light snowfalls have put the entire Estancia valley in the best condition I ever saw it," said G. H. Van Stone, the well known local weather prophet, who is now on a tour of inspection at Estancia and Moriarty, who spent the day in this city on business for his company.

Mr. Van Stone is president of the Estancia Commercial club and the most enthusiastic booster for the big valley of any one residing in it.

"The crops raised during the past year have all been harvested and they are a surprise to every one. In fact, they exceeded our expectations. The farmers are shipping out grain, hay and beans where a few years ago it was necessary to import them. The bean crop in particular was very heavy and the larger per cent of it will be marketed in El Paso as a result of the Boosters' visit to our little city."

"There is plenty of moisture in the Estancia valley and it will not take an ordinary amount of rainfall to insure a bumper crop. The soil is in fine condition. Winter wheat is looking fine and promises a big yield. The homesteaders are busily engaged in improving their farms and getting into shape for winter."

"We are all looking forward to another big year and if we get it, the fame of the Estancia valley will spread as it has never done before."

Mr. Van Stone said that the article recently published by The Citizen on Estancia and the surrounding country was greatly appreciated by the business men and farmers generally and hundreds of copies were sent to all parts of the United States to persons inquiring about the valley.

SALOONS WILL BE ASKED TO PAY $1500 A YEAR

Prohibitive License to be Placed on Slot Machines.
No Slot 'Phones Go.

For the purpose of increasing the city's revenues the council last night instructed City Attorney Hickey to draw up ordinances raising the licensing for saloons over seven times the present amount and placing an almost prohibitive tax on slot machines, on which the ban was not placed in the anti-gambling act.

Councilman Harrison started the ball rolling with his motion that an ordinance be drawn up increasing the liquor license from $200 per annum to $1,500. The motion passed without a dissenting vote. The city attorney will probably submit the new ordinance at the next meeting of the city fathers.

$200 on Slot Machines.
The matter of licensing the slot machines was brought before the council by Councilman Wilkerson. His motion, which was unanimously passed, instructed City Attorney Hickey to draw up an ordinance licensing 6-cent machines $200; 10-cent machines $300; 25-cent machines $400, and all machines above 25 cents $600 per annum.

If the ordinance passes there undoubtedly will be a decrease in the number of saloons in Albuquerque and slot machines probably will go with the rest of the gambling apparatus January 1.

No Charge for Moving Phones.
City Attorney Hickey gave his opinion as to whether the Colorado Telephone company could operate slot phones in this city and whether it had a right to make a charge for changing a phone from one house to another. He said that the company could operate slot phones, but it had no right to make a charge for changing a phone from one house to another for a subscriber.

Telephone matters then came up for a general discussion. Councilman Beaven told of an old patron of the company who had waited for months to have a phone installed in his home, the house already being wired. Another councilman said that charges were being made for installing the phones.

Council Opposes Slot Phones.
Beaven submitted a motion that the Colorado Telephone company be instructed to install phones when prospective patrons ask for them. Wilkerson amended the motion that the council notify the telephone company that it has no right to charge for putting in phones. It was said that the company had been charging $2 for installing phones.

Nickel-in-the-slot phones were discussed and the council lamented the fact that one slot phone had been installed in a hotel before the city fathers made serious objection. The council regarded it as an opening wedge of the telephone company to get the slot phones started in this city and in their opinion the council had no right to charge subscribers for using the phones.

Gas Tests Will Cost $361.50.
Councilman Beaven submitted an estimate on the apparatus to test gas in the city $361.50. Council did not pass on the matter, but decided to call Prof. Angell, of the University of New Mexico, before the next meeting to discuss gas questions.

Proposes Market Place.
A petition signed by a number of business men, asking that the city acquire from the Santa Fe the north half of the vacant lot across the tracks from the Alvarado at the corner of the right-of-way and Tularosa for a market place was submitted and referred to a committee.

Ordinance No. 339 prohibiting the sale of liquor in a room where other wares are offered for sale came up for its third reading and was passed.

THREE LITTLE GIRLS STOLE THREE DOLLS

Example to be Made of Next Juvenile Shoplifter in Effort to Break Up Growing Practice Among Certain Class of Children—Reformatory Needed.

The need of an adequate reform school and juvenile court was again illustrated Saturday when three small girls, the oldest only twelve years of age, were arrested stealing toys from the counters of the Leader, the ten cent store.

As a result, the owners of the store stated today that they would cause arrest and prosecution, if possible, of the next child caught stealing goods.

"We lose so many goods each week from the living children," said a member of the firm today. "We have resolved to put a stop to it by causing the arrest of all children caught stealing from us hereafter."

The three small girls secured dolls, valued at twenty-five cents each and carried them from the store concealed under their cloaks.

A small boy, son of wealthy parents, was caught in the same store a short time ago, stealing books and slipping them under his sweater. He had half a dozen when apprehended.

The children display the ingenuity of old time shoplifters," said an employee at one of the largest stores in discussing the matter. "I have caught a number of children stealing things for which they had no use whatever. Generally, however, they steal toys. During the Christmas season it is almost impossible to catch all the children who shoplift because the toys and wares are displayed on open show counters."

The police have been notified that they will be called upon to arrest the next child caught shoplifting.

Thomas McMillin, chief of police, said:

"It is certainly a question what to do with the bad boys and bad girls of tender years. I simply can not place them in the city holdover with hardened men and women who have served half a life time in crime. That would be doing the very worst thing possible. We need some place of correction where the children could be given a severe fright and then sent home. Most of them only yield to temptation and are not really bad. They could be cured easily by good scare. Others are really hardened and should be placed in a reformatory for a term. Something at all event, ought to be done very soon."

WILLARD, HUB CITY OF SOUTHEASTERN NEW MEXICO

OPENING OF BELEN CUT-OFF WILL GIVE VALLEY TOWN THE BEST FACILITIES IN NEW MEXICO

Wholesale Business Already Started There and All Lines of Trade Are Prospering--Rich Farming Country Surrounding Raises Bounteous Crops and the Water Supply is Pure and Abundant--Settlers Are Making Permanent Improvements of the Best Sort on Their Farms and Can Be Counted Upon as Lifelong Residents.

Willard Is Growing Rapidly and It Can Safely Be Forecasted

That a Large Population in a Few Years Is Assured--People Are Active, Energetic and Real Town Builders--Interesting Nature of the Surrounding Country With Its Many Relics of Early Settlement Add to the Charm of a Visit There.

According to announcement made by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad company, a new era is about to be inaugurated in the history of New Mexico with the establishment of through train service between the cities of Albuquerque and Roswell. This action which is predicted for some date between the present and the first of next January is fraught with great importance to the entire southeastern portion of the territory and no straggling line of settlements required to force for that locality one of the most remarkable developments both in population and resource which have so far been incident upon the opening of new lines of communication. Additional reason for optimism is found in the combination of circumstances presented by the general conditions which the times afford and under which we find an ever increasing tide of settlers seeking locations in the southwest with a consequent decrease in the area of tillable land obtainable. The opening of the new line passing as it does, with its connections through hundreds of miles of arable soil in the territory cannot fail to spell opportunity to thousands of these pioneers who will readily see for themselves that southeastern New Mexico is in condition to develop the goods and that for the homeseeker of energy and determination with a minimum of capital, there is ample reward in store.

A glance at the map of the territory through which the line passes will reveal to the observer a chain of valleys and plains several of which contain large areas of agricultural land, much remaining untaken and all of which must in the course of a short time become the scene of pastoral activity. By far the most important of these centers is found in the fertile Estancia Valley, which Willard, the HUB CITY, is on the new line, at its junction with the Santa Fe Central railroad. Here within a period but slightly in excess of two years has grown up a bustling city of 700 inhabitants, with large wholesale and retail establishments, hotels, two railroad stations and many of the accessories of comfort and convenience, while into the surrounding valley have flocked from all portions of the United States and Europe a population conservatively estimated at 10,000 people, attracted by exceptional climatic conditions, surrounded on all sides by a soil of peculiar fertility, with an unlimited supply of pure water found but a short distance from the town and with the most complete railroad facilities in the territory, it is destined to become the principal shipping point in southeastern New Mexico and consequently one of the most important towns in the commonwealth.

HISTORY OF WILLARD.

The history of Willard began with the completion of the Santa Fe Central railroad and the initiation of construction of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe branch from Texico, New Mexico, to Rio Perca, New Mexico, more familiarly known as the Belen cut-off, the purpose of which is to reduce the running time between Chicago and the Pacific coast and to afford direct communication for the company between San Francisco and the Gulf of Mexico. The first buildings on the ground were erected between three and four years ago and consisted of a group of temporary wooden shacks designed to meet the needs of a railroad camp. The rapid influx of settlers to the Estancia Valley, however, and the success with which they met in their agricultural pursuits soon brought about the establishment of several important business enterprises and the city of Willard as we find it today is not only the product of newly created transportation facilities, but in a large degree the result of a constantly increasing farming development.

LOCATION AND CLIMATE.

The town is located in the central and southern part of the valley on a level plain which stretches at this point for a distance of thirty miles east and west and for nearly sixty miles from north to south and which contains an area of more than 1,000 square miles. The barometer at Willard shows an elevation of about 6,000 feet which taken in connection with the fact that the valley is entirely surrounded by mountains and mesas accounts for the favorable climatic conditions which prevail. For the health-seeker from lower climates in search of pure, clear mountain air and the stimulation and exhilaration of higher altitudes the climate and conditions here offer unusual opportunities and many of those who have already availed themselves of them testify to their efficacy in both directions. The elevation of the Estancia Valley insures against the unbearable heat of summer and the surrounding mountains furnish an effective protection from the extremities of winter and while here as elsewhere the thermometer occasionally registers what what would be known in the East as high and low temperatures the duration of these periods is so slight as to entitle the climate to the appellation of ideal.

SOIL AND WATER.

While in the immediate vicinity of Willard the soil is sandy insuring for the town itself a desirable degree of dryness and freedom from continued muddy conditions in time of rain precisely the opposite obtains at a distance of but one mile from the city, where stretching for leagues on the north, east and west a rich chocolate loam is encountered, from which when combined with the unlimited supply of water which underlies the entire Estancia Valley at a distance of from four to one hundred and fifty feet, has produced some remarkable specimens in both the vegetable and animal line. Both the soil and water are contributions which the mountains surrounding the valley have been making for centuries toward the prosperity which has at last overtaken it. The entire plain bearing the same relation to the encircling hills as the bottom of a cup does to its sides. Corn has been raised near Willard with a yield of 52 bushels to the acre and winter wheat sown broadcast on the soil and plowed under produced 18 bushels. Sugar beets 9 inches in diameter, turnips 14 inches in circumference, tomatoes 5 inches in diameter, potatoes weighing a pound and nine ounces, cabbages, onions, melons, beans and beautiful crops of cane have all been raised. The products of which the valley boasts and specimens of which are freely exhibited at all points throughout the tancia plain. Nor is this all upon which the new town depends for its support and future, for on the south of Willard at a distance of five miles there is an immense area of mesa which stretches away for miles to the foot of the beautiful Federal mountain range, the slopes of which are broken with numerous fresh water lakes and covered with a rich pasture of grama, the most nutritious of grasses and from which is shipped from east to west, giving access to all points in Texas and with the ports of the Gulf. In the west is reached an unbroken line to Los Angeles, San Francisco and the intervening towns on the Pacific coast. At Belen, 50 miles distant it crosses the Rio Grande division reaching from El Paso, Texas, on the south to Denver on the north. The combined station and baggage room which it has erected here is one of the most complete on the line and is constructed of solid concrete, with walls 12 inches in thickness and attractive roof of red tile. The interior finish is of English oak with ebony tops and it contains on the second floor living rooms for the agent. Beside this the company has constructed spacious yards, a two stall engine house and a pumping plant in the town. This latter is the most important on the new line, consisting of numerous large tanks and

ACCESS AND FACILITIES.

While at the opening of this article much has been said about the railroads tributary to Willard a more definite description of its facilities in that important direction will be in order here. The town is accessible from all points through two competing lines which are under distinctly different influence and management. The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, a cut of whose new depot we are fortunate to be able to produce with this issue divides the valley from east to west, giving access to all points in the north, east, south and west. It connects at Texico on the east with the main line to Chicago and through the Peoria valley lines to all points in Texas and with the ports of the Gulf. In the west is reached an unbroken line to Los Angeles, San Francisco and the intervening towns on the Pacific coast. At Belen, 50 miles distant it crosses the Rio Grande division reaching from El Paso, Texas, on the south to Denver on the north. The combined station and baggage room which it has erected here is one of the most complete on the line and is constructed of solid concrete, with walls 12 inches in thickness and attractive roof of red tile. at Willard under the title of The Torrance County Savings bank. In personnel the company is an unusually strong one, its directorate containing the names of some of the territory's ablest and most trustworthy men. H. B. Jones is its president, Duncan McGillivray, vice president, and E. P. Davies, cashier. The directors are H. B. Jones, Duncan McGillivray, John Becker, John W. Corbett and A. B. McDonald. L. E. Hanlon, secretary of the board of trade, serves as teller and has charge of the books. At the expiration of the first year, on July 25th last, the institution was able to show total resources of $96,193.59, which is certainly a creditable growth. The capital stock is $15,000, and the deposits were $81,193.59. Mr. Davies, upon whom the actual management falls, is a public spirited man. He has put in some hard licks for the town whenever opportunity offered itself and his work in this direction, together with the close attention he has given the business is reflected in the success which the bank has achieved. The institution owns its own building specially constructed of brick for the purpose.

BUSINESS STATISTICS.

Willard has already started on its career as a wholesale center, each of three general stores being to a greater or less extent engaged in the distributing trade. On one day recently the rail shipments of general merchandise to points within the town zone aggregated four carloads besides an extensive wagon output. One concern, the Willard Mercantile company, a cut of whose retail building accompanies this article, has an investment in plant and stock of $100,000.00, and its business has already reached large proportions. Its plant covers one entire block and a portion of another, the buildings consisting of a brick and iron retail store and office building with plate glass front, a spacious wholesale house of iron construction, a large brick and iron warehouse, a smaller building used as a general storehouse, and it now has under way plans for another building, the excavating work for which has been started. The stone for which is already on the ground. B. S. Jackson is the manager of the corporation whose stockholders are all well known men of the territory.

Another concern engaged both in wholesaling and retailing is that of W. A. Dunlavy. Mr. Dunlavy is one of the pioneers of the valley and has shown a belief in the permanence of conditions in Willard by an investment of $30,000 in stock and buildings in the town his trade showing a continual increase in volume from month to month. Alfred L. Mefferd, who came here two years ago is the third member of a trio of general merchandise dealers in Willard who from a small beginning has expanded his business to important proportions and whose success is one of the object lessons of the town.

Beside the general stores mentioned in the foregoing paragraphs, Willard has a number of other interesting two stories hotels, five restaurants, two rooming houses, each of which serves meals, six real estate and insurance agencies, a drug store, the proprietor of which is Dr. W. A. Wilson, the first established physician in Willard. The constant activity in real estate has brought to the town two civil engineers, the most prominent of whom is John W. Corbett, one of the valley's first settlers and most public spirited men and who conducts an office here together with the building of a Catholic church, the Estancia valley real estate men.

CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS.

As yet no actual construction of churches has begun in the town but preparations have been made toward the establishment of religious institutions which now hold services in a school house and will as soon as the board of trade building is complete make their headquarters there. These bodies represent the Catholic, Methodist, Christian and Baptist denominations and the Catholics promise to be first in the field with a new building. For this purpose it is said that they have already raised the tidy sum of $2,500 and that construction is to begin in the spring. It is also thought that the Methodists will be long in making a determined effort to bring about the erection of a church home. The public school at Willard has the reputation of being one of the best equipped in the county, its building being of ample proportions and furnished with all the accessories for thorough training of the city's children. At present it has two teachers and 145 scholars.

GROWTH OF POPULATION.

Twenty full carloads of immigrant outfit have come into Willard within the last year in addition to a large number of partial shipments. Many homeseekers are flocking here by wagon over the surrounding roads and trails. Already most of the land in the immediate vicinity of the town is taken up and the filling of claims is ever on the increase. Under this influx reinforcements already bring from $150 to $2,500 according to location and value of improvements and one farm in the neighborhood recently brought $4,000. Many of the settlers bring with them their own stock which is noticeable for its fine quality in many cases. Farm implements and machinery are also beginning to Confidence Is Reviving Gradually and Distrust Is Passing Away Rapidly.

New York, Nov. 19.—Confidence is reviving gradually. Distrust is less acute than at the time of the runs on financial institutions, although the shock then administered is traveling across the continent and starting the forces of readjustment in general business with unexpected severity. Our chief trouble has been the demoralized condition of credit. The local banks are handling the crisis with admirable skill and spirit, but are still crippled by the universal loss of confidence; and because of a temporary breakdown in the credit system are unable to do their full share of the country's business.

It is estimated that fully 95 per cent of the transactions in this country are settled by check or the transfer and balancing of credits; yet in many instances the banks are now obliged to refuse credit on checks for deposit, the result being a much heavier demand than usual for currency in the making of payments. Added to this exceptional demand is the tendency to hoard cash, not only by individuals, but by some of the interior banks. Nothing could be more harmful at such a time than hoarding.

This tendency, it is true, has been somewhat counteracted by the premium on 2 to 4 per cent on currency, but the injury is serious nevertheless. The hoarder should be regarded as an enemy of society and shamed out of his folly. There are numerous institutions all over the country where the depositor's money is perfectly safe, while in stockpiles and other hiding places it is very unsafe.

Many of our state banks have available records for safety and soundness. Our national banks are eminently safe; so, too, are our savings banks and conservatively managed trust companies. People must cease their silly and injurious hoarding, and if disposed to invest at this time should deposit their funds in banking institutions of well-established reputation, managed by men of high character and ability and free from all undesirable connections.

There are plenty of such institutions, not a few of which are profiting largely by this shifting of deposits from weak to strong concerns, but they are not among the class that seek public notoriety.

Efforts for Relief.

Extraordinary efforts for relief are being made in all directions. Many millions of Clearing House certificates have been issued in various parts of the country, irrespective of New York City.

We have already engaged about $60,000,000 of gold—the best and most natural of all mediums of exchange—rapidly expanded, about $70,000,000 having been added in October alone. By such means the banks have been enabled to materially ease the strain on credit. It is unfortunate that this stress comes during the crop moving time, but relief does not seem far distant and the tangle is working out its own solution.

The grain movement has been distinctly stimulated by financial stringency, western holders being compelled to sell and Europe fortunate in coming in as a free buyer at the emergency. Very likely this may prove to our loss for the world's wheat crop is decidedly short and we are losing the chance of selling our surplus at a better price later on; but this is one of the penalties of past excesses. The real benefit to us comes in the freer importation of gold which is affording the best form of relief. Our cotton situation, however, is still a problem.

The exports of this staple have fallen off considerably, southern holders persisting in holding the crop for better prices. Considering the certainty of lessened consumption for the present, beyond dispute it is unwise policy for us to unduly weaken the European banks, especially when sudden relief here afterwards is more apt to be deferred to complete the cure of our own troubles.

In the long run excessive importations will injure the United States by creating a glut of funds next spring that may invite heavy gold exports and undue reaction. The great expansion which is now being made in our circulating medium is sure to result in a surplus of idle funds when the present crisis subsides. Then we will feel the lack of an elastic currency and the expansion will be contracted in accordance with demands.

No civilized country in the world shows such violent fluctuations in interest rates as the United States, simply because we have no efficient means of regulating the supply of money.

Fortunate, the stock market has largely, if not fully, absorbed the reaction. Security values may go lower in case of further financial difficulties, but the shrinkage cannot now be extreme.

Wall street has passed through the worst of the cyclone, badly crippled it is true, but still able to weather the clearing squalls and ready to continue the voyage under close reef of sails until fair weather again comes into sight.

The next two weeks should bring much better bank statements. Interior banks have drawn heavily on New York, but this outflow is largely offset by big gold imports that must shortly give very substantial relief.

No more patriotic duty can now be undertaken by any citizen than to do his best to restore confidence by national means; not by timid concealment of the facts, but by a spirit of helpfulness, by consideration and patience, by quiet recognition of the situation and by a calm acceptance of the inevitable process of readjustment which has already set in and must work out its own solution.

HENRY CLEWS.

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness. It is a fact, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden danger that leads to serious trouble. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more energy, more controlling nerve strength. Without that the heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this regular prescription—also does away with weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds! It cures! It cures real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with currency.

Patience Required.

The remaining six weeks of the year will require much patience and skillful plotting by those who control the financial situation. The usual maturities which occur about the close of the year will have to be provided for; so will the $180,000,000 of dividends and interest payments at that time.

These will probably be more largely applied to the payment of debts than to investments of new securities. Moreover, there are large syndicate payments soon coming due, and during 1908 at least $100,000,000 of short-term notes mature.

Many of these obligations, of course, be extended if found necessary.

Altogether, at best the situation is one that calls for much conservatism. It is a good time to be satisfied with retaining what one has rather than try to gain more just now through hazardous ventures. The downward spiral which began in 1906 has fully entered into commercial and industrial affairs and must inevitably be cancelled, hence mills will curtail or shut down, building will be checked, and unavoidably many men thrown out of employment, involving a more or less general reduction in wages. These are the sequences of a panic following a prolonged period of prosperity. The pendulum must swing both ways, and the longer the swing in one direction, the more violent the return in the other.

Stocks Firm.

Fortunately, the stock market has largely, if not fully, absorbed the reaction. Security values may go lower in case of further financial difficulties, but the shrinkage cannot now be extreme.

Fortunately, the stock market has largely, if not fully, absorbed the reaction. Security values may go lower in case of further financial difficulties, but the shrinkage cannot now be extreme.

Wall street has passed through the worst of the cyclone, badly crippled it is true, but still able to weather the clearing squalls and ready to continue the voyage under close reef of sails until fair weather again comes into sight.

The next two weeks should bring much better bank statements. Interior banks have drawn heavily on New York, but this outflow is largely offset by big gold imports that must shortly give very substantial relief.

No more patriotic duty can now be undertaken by any citizen than to do his best to restore confidence by national means; not by timid concealment of the facts, but by a spirit of helpfulness, by consideration and patience, by quiet recognition of the situation and by a calm acceptance of the inevitable process of readjustment which has already set in and must work out its own solution.

Patience Required.

The remaining six weeks of the year will require much patience and skillful plotting by those who control the financial situation. The usual maturities which occur about the close of the year will have to be provided for; so will the $180,000,000 of dividends and interest payments at that time.

These will probably be more largely applied to the payment of debts than to investments of new securities. Moreover, there are large syndicate payments soon coming due, and during 1908 at least $100,000,000 of short-term notes mature.

Many of these obligations, of course, be extended if found necessary.

Altogether, at best the situation is one that calls for much conservatism. It is a good time to be satisfied with retaining what one has rather than try to gain more just now through hazardous ventures. The downward spiral which began in 1906 has fully entered into commercial and industrial affairs and must inevitably be cancelled, hence mills will curtail or shut down, building will be checked, and unavoidably many men thrown out of employment, involving a more or less general reduction in wages. These are the sequences of a panic following a prolonged period of prosperity. The pendulum must swing both ways, and the longer the swing in one direction, the more violent the return in the other.

Stocks Firm.

Fortunately, the stock market has largely, if not fully, absorbed the reaction. Security values may go lower in case of further financial difficulties, but the shrinkage cannot now be extreme.

Wall street has passed through the worst of the cyclone, badly crippled it is true, but still able to weather the clearing squalls and ready to continue the voyage under close reef of sails until fair weather again comes into sight.

H. L. Brown, of "Elk's Tooth" fame in Albuquerque, passed through the city last night en route to Los Angeles. A number of Albuquerque Elks were down at the station to greet Mr. Brown. The "Elk's Tooth" was one of the most interesting performances ever put on with home talent at the Elks' opera house.

FLATULENT COLIC.

This is caused by the process of digestion being stopped. It is in the nature of severe acute indigestion. The food ferments and forms a gas which causes the horse to bloat and to have a great deal of pain. It is more common where corn is used for the grain feed, and is induced by working or driving when the stomach is filled with food. Hard exercise immediately after eating heartily has a tendency to stop digestion and decomposition of the food commences and the colic gas is formed. "International Colic Cure" is guaranteed to cure in ten minutes. Use one bottle and if it fails your money will be promptly refunded.
