WILSON INDISPOSED FROM SLIGHT ATTACK OF LA GRIPPE

President-Elect Puts in Most of Day in Bed Sleeping to Obtain Rest From Previous Overwork and Exposure.

CHRISTMAS PRESENTS POUR IN ON FAMILY

Arrangements Are Made for Journey to Birthplace at Staunton, Virginia; Elaborate Preparations for Reception.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Princeton, N. J., Dec. 25.—President-elect Wilson spent most of Christmas day in bed suffering from a slight attack of la grippe. He caught cold on Monday, it was learned today, and his automobile ride to and from Trenton yesterday, added to his indisposition. He turned his holiday, therefore, into a day of rest, and while other folks were busy celebrating, he remained quiet in his room, sleeping a good part of the time.

"Mr. Wilson is much better to-night," said Mrs. Wilson, as she came out of the house to visit a neighbor. "He had a little fever last night, but is much improved now." Tonight the governor and his family received friends.

In the morning the Wilsons all found their stockings filled, as the custom of Santa Claus still prevails with them. Presents from outside the family circle came in in wagon loads. The secret service men and correspondents, who have had a little home built for them across the lane from the Wilsons, found it a comfortable shelter today.

The secret service men are on duty day and night, but not until today did they have a place in which to keep warm and yet keep an eye on the house. The newspaper men have working space in it too.

The governor will be in Trenton tomorrow and on Friday starts for Staunton, Va., his birthplace, where on December 28th, his birthday, there will be a celebration for him.

STAUNTON TO EXTEND ROYAL RECEPTION

Staunton, Va., Dec. 25.—With all arrangements practically completed, Staunton, the birthplace of Woodrow Wilson, enthusiastically awaits the arrival of its distinguished son next Friday night, which will mark the beginning of the celebration in honor of his home coming. The city is in gala attire for the celebration and no event in Virginia in recent years has attracted more attention.

Elaborate preparations have been made to extend to the president-elect a royal welcome. Probably the most spectacular feature of the celebration will be the heralding of the distinguished visitor by the glare of bonfires. From the time his special train crosses the state line at Alexandria until it arrives at Staunton, Governor Wilson's approach will be signaled by hundreds of bonfires.

The celebration will bring to Staunton prominent members of the United States senate and house of representatives, state officials, including governor Mann, and hosts of friends of the president-elect. The climax of entertainment will occur Saturday, when a parade, participated in by federal, state and other military organizations and civic bodies, will be reviewed by the president-elect.

Mr. Wilson is scheduled to arrive in Staunton at 7:50 o'clock Friday evening. An appropriate welcome will be extended to him at the state after which he will be escorted to the house where he was born, the Presbyterian manse, when his father was pastor of the local Presbyterian church. There he will be received by Rev. A. M. Frazer, as the official representative of the city and his host during the visit. Friday evening there will be a torchlight procession and a local street demonstration, with addresses by prominent visitors to the city.

On Saturday morning an informal reception will be held at the home of Dr. Frazer, at which the governor will receive all state, county and city officials, honored visitors and members of the Wilson celebration committee. Then will occur the military and civic parade. In the afternoon Dr. Frazer will deliver from the front porch of the Mary Baldwin seminary, an address of welcome to Mr. Wilson, to which he will respond. Following this, the president-elect will hold a public reception at the seminary.

At night another southern dinner will end the festivities.

The seventh federal cavalry is proceeding slowly behind railroad work trains toward Ascension.

FRENCH STEAMER IS WRECKED IN ORIENT

Marseilles, Dec. 25.—The steamer Djennah arrived here today with 145 passengers of the French steamship Salazie, which was driven on a reef about forty miles off the southeast coast of the island of Madagascar, in the Indian ocean, during a cyclone on November 29. The Salazie passengers give a thrilling account of the wreck. The passengers were in a state of panic. A group of English passengers gathered in the saloon and sang "Nearer, My God to Thee."

Six of the eight life boats were washed away and the second officer perished while trying to rig a floating anchor.

When the storm subsided the passengers were landed by the remaining two boats on a desert island. Camps were erected and one of the boats proceeded to Madagascar, bringing back aid. The passengers were taken off.

DIAMOND CUT FROM MAN BY SURGEON

HOUSE COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS TO BE SETTLED

Representative H. D. Flood of Virginia, Is Scheduled to Succeed Sulzer as Head of Foreign Relations.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Washington, Dec. 25.—Committee assignments in the house of representatives, made necessary by changes in membership, will be completed today, a democratic caucus, which has been called for January 7th, and announced today, the chairmanship of the committee on foreign affairs, made vacant by the election of Representative Sulzer as governor of New York, is one of the important places to be filled and it is probable the place will go to Representative Flood, of Virginia, who is at present acting chairman of the committee. To succeed former Representative Hughes, of New Jersey, on the ways and means committee, Representative Ashberry, of Ohio, is said to have been selected.

Of republican assignments, Representative Green, of Vermont, is slated for the caucus and pensions committee; Merritt, of New York, immigration and naturalization and education; and Representative Scott, of Iowa, for the committees on coinage, weights and measures and reforms in the civil service.

Besides these the caucus will award the chairmanship of the committee on public lands, contest for which is between Representative Ferris, of Oklahoma, and Representative Graham, of Illinois. The outgoing chairman is Governor-elect Robinson, of Arkansas, whose inauguration, like that of Governor-elect Cox, of Ohio, a member of the appropriations committee, will not take place until later in the month. There are a number of candidates for the Cox vacancy on the appropriations committee.

PASSENGERS SAVED FROM STRANDED STEAMSHIP TURRIALBA

Those Aboard Thought of Titanic's Fate and All Believed for Time That Death in Storm Was Inevitable.

REVENUE CUTTER WAS CALLED BY WIRELESS

Vessel Runs on Sand During Blinding Snow Storm and All Efforts to Back Off Proved of No Avail.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) New York, Dec. 25.—The fifty-seven passengers and eighteen of the crew of the United Fruit steamship Turrialba, ashore since yesterday morning at Brigantine shoals, nine miles north of Atlantic City, N. J., arrived here tonight on board the United States revenue cutter Seneca. The cutter had stood by the stranded vessel all last night and at 9 o'clock this morning, passengers, part of the crew and the baggage and mail were safely transferred and the steamer started on its Christmas journey to this port.

The sea was smooth and the weather fair when the transfer was made and the passengers experienced little discomfort. A Christmas dinner was provided by the officers of the Seneca.

"It was not as bad as you thought it was," vouchsafed an elderly man as he stepped, first among rescued passengers, from a gang plank at an East river pier tonight.

"We had plenty to eat and drink on board the Turrialba."

Scarcely one hundred relatives and friends of the passengers were waiting at the pier, for wireless messages during the day had brought word that all on board the stranded steamer were safe and that the Seneca was on her way with the rescued party to the company's pier.

According to reports brought here, the Turrialba lies with propeller damaged, stern-post cracked and rudder missing. She may be saved, though the cargo of bananas may have to be jettisoned.

The Seneca arrived at quarantine shortly after dark and was boarded there by United States customs officers. Passengers reported that several hours earlier, the Santa Marta, sister ship of the wrecked Turrialba, outward bound, met the Seneca. The Santa Marta's passengers lined the rail and cheered the rescued men and women on the revenue cutter.

According to stories told by passengers upon reaching here tonight, many of them prepared for death by drowning after the Turrialba, steaming through a snow storm on her way from Jamaica, West Indies to New York, grounded on the Jersey sands in the early hours of yesterday.

"We were reconciled to our fate," narrated Police Inspector Edward Hughes, of this city, returning with his wife from a trip in search of health.

"We talked about the Titanic, and we can tell something of what the passengers on that ill-fated ship experienced. Everyone prayed when the storm was at its height and those who had eaten—we, well, you can think it over for yourselves, young men!" he said to reporters.

"We struck the sand bar at 2 o'clock in the morning and among others, came out on deck to see what was the cause of the peculiar situation—the ship apparently quivering as if she were going to break. The weather was thick, it was snowing and the wind from the northeast."

"Then the engines were shut down and all that could be heard was the noise of breakers striking against the ship. Later the engines were reversed and efforts made to back her off the bar, but the ship did not respond."

Wireless messages for help were sent and soon a reply came that the Seneca was on her way. Early in the afternoon a life-saving motor boat, trying to reach the vessel, was swept by a giant wave against her side. Those on board the Turrialba pulled the life boat on board to save her from being dashed to pieces by waves.

According to passengers the life boats were lowered yesterday afternoon and those on board were prepared to enter them, but the steamer was heaving so heavily that the passengers were unable to stand. A small boat with seven men came alongside. After a conference, it was decided not to attempt to transfer until the water became smoother.

Amplification of weather conditions began soon afterward. The night was passed in comparative comfort and early today the transfer began with five boats, two from the Seneca, one from the Turrialba and two from a nearby life-saving station. The transfer was made without mishap on a comparatively smooth sea, women and children going first. The passengers were landed in time to eat a belated Christmas dinner in New York.

POLICE FEEL SURE THEY HAVE TRAIN ROBBERS

Jack Hartnett and Elmer Vigus Believed Guilty of Holding Up Alton 'Hummer' Near Springfield.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Springfield, Ill., Dec. 25.—"We have the goods on one of these men," said Chief Detective Cain after Jack Hartnett, of Chicago, and Elmer Vigus, of Springfield, held in connection with the attempted robbery of the Alton 'Hummer,' had been confronted by Engineer McLaughlin, Fireman Sullivan and Express Messenger Ayres, of the train. Cain said that later in the day he might tell which of the two he had definitely connected with the case.

Following the examination of Hartnett and Vigus, Assistant State Attorney William Galemer was called into conference with the detective. At the close of this conference, Detective Cain declared:

"The members of the 'Hummer' crew, before whom Hartnett and Vigus were brought, feel sure they are the men who held up the train. Moreover, we have established a strong case against them. I am going out with Mr. Galemer now to swear out warrants."

According to Detective Cain, the detectives have full knowledge of the movements of Vigus and Hartnett for five days before the hold-up and they also know what the men did and where they were on the night of the hold-up, until a few minutes before the 'Hummer' pulled out of the Springfield station.

"We know what allies they will attempt to establish and we are prepared to break through them," said Detective Cain.

The detectives have been "sweating" the suspects at the police station, where a dramatic situation was presented today when the prisoners were confronted by Engineer McLaughlin, Fireman Sullivan and Express Messenger Ayres, who were certain the men held are the handiwork. The men being marked, made identification difficult, but the express messenger said he caught a glimpse of their features when the wind blew back the handkerchiefs which the robbers wore over their faces.

After the "sweating" warrants for burglary were sworn out against the pair. This charge was sufficient to hold them until the case is established.

By the stories of the express messenger and trainmen, the authorities were convinced that only two men took part in the actual work of holding up the train. They are not sure, however, that there was not another at some distance from the scene. Another thing ascertained from the stories of the trainmen, was that the two men whom some of the officers first on the scene saw retreating across a stubble field a few hundred yards from the express car were the same two men who had attempted the robbery.

GREEKS ACCUSED OF MURDER ARE CAPTURED

Newly-Fallen Snows Enables Salt Lake City Posse to Trail Foreigners Wanted for Killing Night Watchman.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Salt Lake City, Dec. 25.—Aided by a heavy snow that fell in the early hours this morning, four Greeks were arrested by the sheriff's posse today on suspicion of being the murderers of William Nelson, the young night watchman who was killed at Midvale about 2 o'clock this morning, after he had ordered four foreigners to cease firing their revolvers. A sheriff's posse left here soon after the murder was committed and were enabled to pick up the track of the murderers in the newly fallen snow.

Following these tracks, which took a detour to the edge of the village and then back again, the posse arrived at the home of a Greek who was found in bed with a revolver under his pillow. A house to house search then was made about the town and by comparing tracks leading to another Greek's home with those leading away from the scene of the murder, three other foreigners were arrested.

Nelson, who was serving his first night as night marshal, was shot down from behind without the slightest warning. He had just cautioned four Greeks who came from a bakery to cease firing their guns and was talking with the men when one of them slipped up behind him and fired the bullet entering the young officer's skull, killing him instantly.

Nelson was killed within a few feet of the spot where Night Marshal Colclough met his death at the hands of highwaymen a few months ago. He was the affiance of Miss Agnes Colclough, a daughter of his predecessor.

ILLINOIS WEDDING CONVERTED INTO TRAGEDY; TWO WILL DIE

Father Invades Home Where Step-Daughter Is to Be Married and Shoots His Mother-in-Law.

ASSAILANT FATALLY WOUNDED BY POLICE

After Attempting Lives of Several Assembled Guests, the Would-Be Murderer Battles With Officers.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Springfield, Ill., Dec. 25.—A Christmas wedding ceremony at Taylorville, Ill., thirty-six miles east of here, today was converted into a tragedy, and two persons are at the point of death.

John Belder, a carpenter, to avenge some grievance, he is said to have entertained against his wife, shot his mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Fisher, aged 65, and battled with the Taylorville police. He was cornered and caught by a posse. When captured he was found Belder had been shot near the heart by one of the officers, Mrs. Fisher and Belder will die.

Belder, said to have been drinking, went to the home of Mrs. Fisher in the residence district of Taylorville, where relatives had gathered for the wedding of his step daughter, Miss Elsie Bates, to Ora Redfern.

He followed the pastor, Rev. M. G. Coleman, of the Taylorville Methodist church, into the home, drove a revolver and began firing at his wife. She ran out of the back door, followed by her husband. Three shots were fired. None were effective. The frightened guests, with the exception of Mrs. Fisher and the bride and groom, retreated.

Going to the room occupied by Mrs. Fisher, Belder fired six times through the door. The first bullet took effect in the woman's abdomen. She finally managed to crawl out of the window and escaped to the home of Dr. A. E. Turner. She was taken to one of the Taylorville hospitals. After the shooting of Mrs. Fisher, he went to the room in which Miss Bates and Redfern had taken refuge and fired five shots, none of which took effect.

In the meantime, the police were notified and rushed to the scene. Chief of Police Steven Lihl, Officer Charles Lee and Deputies Ben Davis and Lee Taylor began the attack. Belder came to the door and fired five shots at the officers, but none were effective. Deputy Chief returned the fire, seemingly without effect.

The bride couple climbed out of the window and retreated to the home of a neighbor. While they were retreating from the house Belder reappeared at the door and reopened fire on the officers.

Deputy Davis retaliated by firing at him with a shotgun and Officer Lee fired again with his revolver. One of the bullets fired during this part of the fight is thought to have been the one that took effect, as Belder retreated into the rear of the residence.

D. C. Kearns, slipping into the house, found Belder with a bullet wound near the heart, but heavily armed and preparing to make a final fight. Kearns effected a capture by pretending he had come to assist Belder. The latter was then taken to a hospital. After the excitement the wedding guests reasonably and Redfern and Miss Bates were married.

REWARD IS PAID MAN IN UNUSUAL MANNER

Mayfield, Cal., Dec. 25.—"Go to the bald head and wait until the setting sun casts the shadow of the dead redwood, then die where the shadow ends."

Those were the directions received today by Steve Perkins, a wood chopper of the Alpine district. Tonight he is richer by $500 because he obeyed instructions. Twenty years ago Perkins saved the life of Nathan Constock, an eccentric resident of Woodside, and the letter received today was written by Constock, who died sixteen years ago. Today Perkins became 50 years old and while the letter bore no identification other than a San Francisco date, Perkins knew that it was posted by the executor of Constock's estate.

DR. MARY WALKER IS BOOSTER FOR ONIONS

Chicago, Dec. 25.—The use of plenty of onions will drive contagious diseases out of any city, Dr. Mary Walker, who is visiting with Chicago friends, tonight declared.

Here are Dr. Walker's directions for the use of onions:

"Eat plenty of them, stewed, boiled, fried or raw."

"Spread onions in the alleys, on the lawn and any other place where it might appear they would do good."

Dr. Walker said onions were particularly effective against smallpox. "Madrid was one of the affected cities," she said.

"Some even had made the statement before the onions were used that the city would be depopulated by smallpox. The minister plenipotentiary assured me that the spread of the disease had been halted by the use of onions. They also were used in other cities."

OROZCO'S FATHER IS ARRESTED AGAIN

San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 25.—Colonel Pascual Orozco, father of General Pascual Orozco, Jr., leader of the Mexican revolution in the north, was released from the military prison at Fort Sam Houston today under bonds of $25,000 on the charge of violating neutrality laws.

He immediately was rearrested by the civil authorities on a warrant, in which the Mexican government charged him with larceny and robbery, alleged to have been committed in the state of Chihuahua. Orozco was placed in the county jail, where he will under the law, remain not more than forty days, in which time the Mexican government must make a showing of its evidence against the prisoner.

Orozco, under an indictment found by the federal grand jury, was placed in the military prison, a month ago.

Austrians Insult American Flag. Los Angeles, Dec. 25.—A small riot occurred here today, when some Austrians holding a Christmas fete, decided not to use a United States flag behind which they had been marching in a short parade. They tore the flag to pieces. Some Americans remonstrated with their fists and fewer in number would have suffered defeat had it not been for the police.

McManigal and the McNamara brothers on their dynamiting expeditions and letters written by Olaf A. Tveitmoose and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and J. E. Butler, Buffalo, and dozens of business agents of the Iron Workers' union are accused of directing explosions on non-union jobs, also are to be placed with the jury.

District Attorney Charles W. Miller's argument to the jury today was devoted largely to reviewing McManigal's confession as a hired dynamiter. The district had been corroborated in every important detail.

Christmas at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today found the forty men, accused of complicity in the McNamara plot, listening to attacks upon themselves by District Attorney Miller.

Toys which some of the defendants' children had trampled into the federal building and sprigs of holly in the coats of men charged with dynamiting were the only outward tokens of Christmas.

Once only was Christmas mentioned before the jury. That was when District Attorney Miller referred to an explosion which Orville E. McManigal said he caused in an iron works plant at Los Angeles on December 25, 1910, and which the government alleges Olaf A. Tveitmoose, San Francisco, acknowledged in a letter to J. J. McNamara as "a Christmas present to the Pacific coast." Mr. Miller also detailed to the jury the story of the Los Angeles explosions and again referred to Senator John W. Kern, who had argued before the jury for the defense.

"Senator Kern has said that in the strike of the Iron Workers' union against the open shop contractors it would not have been to the advantage of those men to blow up jobs," said Mr. Miller. "Senator Kern said the jobs were those of the steel trust and it would not hurt the steel trust and its millions to damage their property. Federal Judge Anderson had refused to adjourn court over the holiday because of his desire soon to release the jury.

DYNAMITE CASE TO GO TO JURY IN THIRTY-SIX HOURS

Government's Attorney Is Expected to Close Argument Tonight or Friday Morning; Anxious to End Trial.

EACH DEFENDANT HAS INDEPENDENT HEARING

Charge By Judge Anderson Presumed to Consume About One Hour, Then Panel Will Begin Consideration.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire.) Indianapolis, Dec. 25.—The cases of the forty union officials accused of promoting the McNamara dynamiting plots in the Iron Workers' strike against employers of non-union labor, will go to the jury within thirty-six hours, or possibly sooner. At the close of all argument tomorrow night, or on Friday morning, Federal Judge Anderson will instruct the jury.

It is understood the court instructions will outline as to the law and as to what testimony shall be applied to certain defendants and will require about one hour. The jurors then will retire to deliberate as to the men, headed by Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, were brought here three months ago from cities scattered from Boston to Los Angeles to figure as defendants in what is said to be the most important trial of its kind ever held in a federal court.

The jury to be asked to return a separate verdict for each defendant, is composed of farmers or merchants from rural districts of Indiana.

The fact that the jury must vote on each defendant, after considering the testimony of the court, holds applicable to him, is the basis for a belief that verdicts will not be returned in less than a day. There are twenty-six counts against each defendant, twenty-five of which provide a maximum penalty of eighteen months imprisonment and one which provides a maximum imprisonment of two years.

The government contends that the penalties for the offenses charged are cumulative in the discretion of the court, or a total possible penalty of thirty-nine and one-half years.

The room in the federal building in which the jurors have been kept under guard for almost three months today was made ready for the mass of exhibits to be turned over for reference during the jury's deliberations.

These exhibits include revolvers, shot guns, pieces of infernal machines and clock work attachments used by Orville E. McManigal and the McNamara brothers on their dynamiting expeditions and letters written by Olaf A. Tveitmoose and Eugene A. Clancy, San Francisco, and J. E. ## CORPORATION TAX QUESTION TO BE TESTED

Railroad Company, Leasing All of Its Property, Contends It Is Not Subject to Operation Under Federal Act.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Washington, Dec. 25.—A corporation tax issue, involving the right of the federal government to collect hundreds of thousands in taxes from thousands of corporations which have leased their property, will be argued in the United States supreme court January 8th. The case, according to a statement by Solicitor General Bullitt today, is that of the Minehill & Schuylkill Railroad Co., which sued the collector of internal revenue at Philadelphia for $5,990, collected by the government under the corporation tax law.

This $4,000,000 corporation, by the authority of the legislature of Pennsylvania, leased its property to the Pennsylvania & Reading Railroad Co., at an annual rental of $252,000. The supreme court has held that the corporation tax, as imposed upon the "doing" of corporate business and the point involved in this case, is whether corporations, which have thus leased their property really are "doing" business.

In a brief filed with the supreme court, Solicitor General Bullitt says: "That the shareholders of the Minehill Company are enjoying any advantages thereby that constitutes a 'doing' of business within the meaning of the statute is found when we consider that although the Reading Company pays all the taxes on the property leased and on the business done over the road, yet the Minehill Company is paying about $25,000 to $30,000 yearly in taxes for the privilege of maintaining its corporate existence."

"This is eminently a practical case and we must recognize things as they are. If a lot of shareholders are willing to pay $25,000 a year in taxes rather than surrender the corporate franchise, we may well conclude that the corporation must be 'doing' something, or else they would quickly dissolve and save that large sum in taxes."

Counsel for the railroad company deny the contentions of the government and maintain that the company is substantially a landlord, receiving income from property and not from business and the corporation act taxes only the latter. To apply the act to the corporation, it is argued, would be to make the tax an income tax—a direct tax, which must be apportioned among the states according to representation.

"Congress knew," continues the brief of the company, "that it could not impose a tax upon property, and that the tax act would be sustained as constitutional, if at all, only if it imposed an excise tax with respect to the doing of business."

The government has the case in the lower courts.

PRESIDENT DANCES LONG PROCESS AT BALL GIVEN IN PANAMA

United States Chief Executive Spends Part of Day on Foreign Territory; Inspects the Locks of Big Ditch.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Panama, Dec. 25.—The president of the United States spent part of Christmas outside of American territory. He attended the ball given in his honor this evening by General Porras.

As this function was held in the National theater at Panama, it was necessary for President Taft to leave the limits of the canal zone in order to fulfill his engagement. The streets of the capital were crowded and the buildings were gaily decorated. Red-shirted firemen, guarding the route over which the presidential party passed, made the scene a picturesque one.

The members of the diplomatic corps, the canal officials, the cabinet ministers and officials of the republic were present and united in giving President Taft a hearty reception. Christmas day was spent by the president largely in an inspection of the various canal works.

MARTINEZ SLATED FOR MEXICAN AMBASSADOR

Those Close to President-Elect Woodrow Wilson Believe Mexico City Post Will Be Tendered New Mexican.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal).
New York, Dec. 25.—It is said by persons necessarily close to President-elect Wilson that the ambassadorship to Mexico probably will be tendered to Felix Martinez, a prominent business man of New Mexico, of Spanish-American descent.

MR. MARTINEZ WILL NOT DECLINE HONOR.
El Paso, Tex., Dec. 25.—It became known here today that Felix Martinez, of New Mexico and El Paso, is probably to receive the appointment of ambassador to Mexico. This assurance has been received by friends of Mr. Martinez, who have interested themselves in the matter because they wished the man pre-eminently qualified to aid in restoring order and in protecting the interests of Americans in Mexico, appointed to the responsible post. Men who will be close to the administration of Woodrow Wilson have sent assurances to El Paso that in all probability Mr. Martinez will be offered the position. They understand that he is peculiarly well equipped for that post and worthy of any high honor that can be conferred by the democratic administration.

In his office here, Mr. Martinez said he could not discuss the matter since it had not been brought to his attention. Which means that he will accept, if there are no strings to it. Result, a man in Mexico City who understands the people of that country, and New Mexico and El Paso will have a friend at the court of Chapultepec.

OF PEACE

Montenegro Excited Over Austria's Failure to Demobilize Following Understanding With Serbia.

SCUTARI SUGGESTED CAUSE OF TROUBLE

Several Peace Delegates Leave London for Christmas Holidays; Conference Begins Early in January.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
London, Dec. 25.—The expedition with which the Turkish government had decided upon counter peace proposals leads to the assumption that they will be equally wide from what are likely to be the eventual terms of the peace treaty, as were the demands of the allies, and there still is a prolonged process of bargaining to be gone through before the conference is ended. Austria's failure to demobilize, however, is a greater source of disquiet to all concerned than the task of arranging peace. This is more especially the case with the Montenegrin delegates, who today were excited over the rumor that Austria having obtained what she wants from Serbia, wishes either to prevent Montenegrins from taking Scutari, by incorporating it in Albania, or to make the Montenegrin occupation of Scutari the price of Austrian occupation of Mount Lovchen.

This point, which rises to a height of about 5,500 feet almost perpendicularly, dominates the gulf of Cattaro, the greatest Austrian stronghold in the Adriatic. But now, Montenegro, with its batteries on Mount Lovchen, commands the gulf. M. Mijuskovitch has declared to all the ambassadors that Montenegro would rather be exterminated than yield Lovchen or renounce Scutari. He said:

"It is naturally absurd to speak of declaring war against Austria, but if Vienna had any such pretenses she would have wiped out every soul in Montenegro. I, myself, would be there, sword in hand, and I would sell my life dearly."

Moreover, it is not believed that Russia ever would permit the annihilation of the small kingdom, which for centuries has represented the strongest shore in this connection, additional attention is drawn to the fact that Russia is taking means to prevent her continued war preparations from becoming known.

Several of the peace delegates left London for Christmas. Those who remained spent the day quietly at their hotels or with friends.

The Vienna correspondent of The Times says that although Christmas leave was given to some reservists of the military preparations, a Saloniki dispatch to The Times says that, in view of the determined stand the Turks are making at Janina, a fourth Greek division is now embarking from Preveza.

A Constantinople dispatch to The Times says that further contingents of Turkish troops from the Black Sea provinces have arrived at the Dardanelles, where more than 40,000 are now concentrated. According to the latest information, David Pasha and his whole staff were killed by shrapnel during an attack by the Turks on the Hellenic position east of Glortza, about December 16th.

Fighting continues in the Janina district.

A St. Petersburg dispatch to the Daily Mail says: "According to reliable information, Austria has decided to discontinue her military preparations and disband her reservists."

GREEKS LOOKING AFTER SANITATION OF SALONIKI.
Saloniki, Dec. 25.—The Greeks have now adopted effective measures to ensure proper sanitation of the city. All cases of infectious and contagious diseases are reported to the authorities, and hospitals for the care of these patients have been opened. The water supply and municipal scavenging system are being reorganized and an extensive medical service has been arranged.

TURKEY MAKES COUNTER PROPOSALS TO ALLIES.
Constantinople, Dec. 25.—The porte today telegraphed to Reşad Pasha at London, counter peace proposals as decided upon by the council of ministers. The exact nature of the proposals has not been revealed, but the official view of the situation is hopeful. Several marines from the United States ship Scorpion had an altercation with citizens in a public place which ended in blows. Senior Eola, the military attaché of the Spanish legation, was involved.

The Bulgarian general, Panoff, arrived in Constantinople recently. He has had several interviews with Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier.

PORTUGAL TORN BY RIVAL FACTIONS OF REPUBLIC

Riot Occurs When Conservative Leader Returns Home From Switzerland in Response to Hurry Call.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Lisbon, Dec. 25.—(Via the Frontier, Dec. 25.)—The political situation arising from the deadlock of the conservatives and democrats is rapidly developing. The conservative element predominates in the cabinet, while nearly one-half the members of the Portuguese parliament are democrats. Both parties are endeavoring to organize a coup d'état.

The conservative chief, Dr. Almeida, was hastily summoned back from Switzerland and his arrival here was made the occasion of a monster demonstration on the part of the conservatives. The democrats replied with an equally imposing counter demonstration.

The government, alarmed at the possibility of trouble, turned out all available police and troops. As soon as the steamer, aboard which Almeida was a passenger, was docked, there was a tremendous uproar of cheers and groans and the democrats made a determined rush with the object of capturing the leader of the rival party.

A riot ensued, Dr. Almeida was excommunicated from his position by cavalry which charged through the mob and he was sent to his home in an automobile under military escort. The baffled democrats paraded the streets for hours.

The troops are constantly under arms, as important happenings are likely at any moment. The prefect of the republic has asked the premier to pardon the archbishop of Braga and the archbishops of Portogalga and Lamego, who were condemned last February to three years' banishment from their dioceses and to grant amnesty to political prisoners, or at least to relax the severity of the imprisonment; but the premier has replied that the moment is not favorable for the granting of pardons. Improvements in the prisons, he added, already have been decided on and will be shortly carried into effect.

MISS HELEN TAFT PRESIDES IN WHITE HOUSE

Christmas Tree Marks Festivities of Executive Mansion in Absence of Father and Mother.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Washington, Dec. 25.—Miss Helen Taft, daughter of the president, was hostess at the White House Christmas celebration today. In the absence of the president and Mrs. Taft, she presided over the family dinner tonight, and later distributed gifts from the Christmas tree in the Blue Room. She was aided by Robert Taft, elder son of the president. Among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Herron, of Cincinnati, and their five children, and Mrs. Thomas Laughlin, with her two children. Mr. Herron is a brother of Mrs. Taft, and Mrs. Laughlin, a sister. Charles Taft, younger son of the president, is with his father in Panama.

The Christmas tree occupied the center of interest at the White House. Robert and Miss Helen Taft devoted the day in decorating the tree, which is a large one, and hanging on it the presents of the children. After dinner tonight the party gathered in the historic Blue Room, where the Christmas tree celebration took place.

SANTA CLAUS MAKES THE CHILDREN HAPPY.
San Francisco, Dec. 25.—Children to the number of 15,000 swarmed the stadium in Golden Gate park today, where a Christmas tree nearly sixty feet in height and six smaller trees were laden with gifts. The affairs was promoted by the Santa Claus Association.

Seven hundred dollars in money and a check for $300 were thrust yesterday into the hands of Patrolman Thomas O'Connell, by a stranger who would not reveal his name. "I want you to take this and have the police department distribute it where it will do the most good," he said.

The stranger directed that the $300 be delivered to Rev. Father Casey, of St. Peter's parish. O'Connell turned the money over to Chief White and on the latter's instruction spent Christmas day in the chief's automobile distributing the money in the poorer quarters of the city.

Catarrah and Blood Disease—Doctors Failed to Cure.

Miss Mabel F. Dawkins, 1214 Lafayette St., Fort Wayne, Ind., writes: "For three years I was troubled with catarrah and blood disease. I tried several doctors and a dozen different remedies, but none of them did me any good. A friend told me of Hood's Sarsaparilla. CHICAGO CHRISTMAS HAS SOME DISAPPOINTMENTS.

Chicago, Dec. 25.—In the gladness of Christmas time, Chicagoans forgot the family of Captain Herman Schuenemann, who with his crew of twenty men, went to the bottom of Lake Michigan, a few weeks ago, while returning from northern Michigan with a cargo of trees for the yuletide. After it was established that the captain and his crew had perished, the wife and daughters of the master of the Christmas ship attempted to fortify themselves against want by bringing a new cargo of trees to the city.

The trees were set up for sale down on the river bank and every day the widow and her orphans worked hard making wreaths and arranging other stock. Many old customers came and bought but not nearly all of the "regulars" remembered to buy. And only a few new customers came. So tonight, when darkness fell and the last hope of another sale had passed, the family found itself still in possession of a considerable amount of unsold stock. But the widow was plucky.

"I don't want charity," she said. "I'll fight it out. Next year we'll sell trees again and may be business will be better."

Prisoners at the county jail were disappointed, too, when the singers from the Chicago Grand Opera Company failed to give a concert which had been planned. Jailer Davies, however, went into the rooming house district of North Clark street and managed to gather several acrobats, monologists and other performers who have been showing at five-cent theaters and other small houses, for a performance. A dinner followed.

Eighteen hundred men and boys in the house of correction sang "The Star Spangled Banner," while a band played the tune. These prisoners also were given a feast.

'OLD HOMESTEAD' IS AT ELKS THEATER DECEMBER 28

Twenty-Seventh Season Finds Denman Thompson's Play Enjoying Greater Patronage Than Before.

The present season is the twenty-seventh of Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead." The play is still as eagerly looked forward to by theatergoers wherever it is announced for production. The exceptionally long life of "The Old Homestead" is a striking tribute to its power to entertain players, who find in its homey sentiment, its lovable characters and rural atmosphere a refreshing change from the conventional. It is beyond question the most perfect picture of simple country life that has ever been presented on any stage. The home-bred love of home, of justice, of right living, tempered with sunny wit and kindly humor, finds its best expression in this delightful play. Nearly everybody has seen it and every one will want to see it again. No wonder, then, that "The Old Homestead" has come to be regarded as the acme of realism, presenting a true and graphic picture of New England country life, with Uncle Josh, a shrewd and affectionate and thoroughly human type of American manhood, as its central character. Its story is so familiar as to make any reiteration of it now altogether unnecessary and unwarranted. Uncle Josh will be found to be the same picturesque, typical figure of the prosperous, warm-hearted, God-fearing New Hampshire farmer as of old. The production and cast will be the same as on former occasions. The famous quartette of farm hands is still a leading feature of the production, not forgetting that sterling character actor, William Lawrence, who for ten long seasons has played the bear old New England farmer. The company appearing here at the Elks theater on Saturday, December 28th, is the original, under the personal direction of Mr. Frank Thompson.

Toy shop, Crystal theater, Saturday afternoon, 4:45 o'clock.

MOTORCYCLIST HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM SERIOUS INJURY

A motorcycle rider, whose name could not be learned, had a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday afternoon when his machine and an automobile driven by F. L. Romero had a collision at Third street and Tienas avenue. The accident took place about 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Romero was driving east on Tienas avenue, going about ten or twelve miles an hour. The motorcycle was going north on Third street. They met, the motorcycle being unable to stop in time or to turn out and Mr. Romero being unable to stop short. The rider was thrown from his machine but not seriously injured. He continued on his way without giving either his name or address to Mr. Romero, who got out of his machine and asked him if he was hurt.

'THE CITY' A FINE DRAMA ACTED BY GOOD CAST

Famous Play Written By Clyde Fitch, Gives Two Performances in Albuquerque to Fair-Sized Audiences.

"The City," while not embodying in theme the illusive or elusive substance popularly called "Christmas spirit," was a diverting, if unvarnished and unpleasant fact, very aptly stated. Coping any other time of the year, "The City" might have drawn a larger crowd and the applause which it really deserved. Christmas being universally a day when the public wants to be amused, rather than instructed, the production last night fell a bit flat. Maybe because the crowd was rather too small to muster up appropriate enthusiasm.

It was well staged and better acted. Hugo B. Koch in the leading role, was fine. His was a difficult and dramatic part and it was well done. Throughout he was lent able assistance as the play was excellently cast. Marie Dunkle and Jeanette Garnett in the two principal feminine roles, gave an added merit to the presentation, and Thomas L. Voile and Daniel Eaker managed to make human and understood portrayals out of the roles in which they successfully appeared. J. G. MacFarlane also deserves special mention for a very clever interpretation of a blasé man of the world.

Each and every member of the cast fitted well into the respective parts and the production as a whole left nothing to be desired unless a bit of humor to enliven things just a little. In justice to the memory of the late Clyde Fitch, he is said that "The City" is of too vital theme and too heavy substance to allow of laughs. It's not that kind of a play. It teaches a lesson with a moral thrown in. A fine play for Lent or any other serious season of the year.

As a Christmas play it could hardly be recommended since it tends to drive people to thought. However, and as previously intimated, the fair-sized audience who survived the gloom last night, were all unanimous in saying it was well done.

"The City" also gave a matinee performance in the afternoon, drawing a fairly good house.

INTEREST GREAT IN OLD TRAILS MEET AT CLUB TONIGHT

Organizer I. J. Kirker Declares That Local People Favor Movement and Will Attend Session This Evening.

That he had found Albuquerque people much interested in the organization here of a branch of the National Old Trails Association, was the statement made here last night by National Organizer I. J. Kirker, of that body, who has spent several days in the city.

"I have talked to a number of your people," he said, "and find practically all of them much interested in the scheme we have for getting national aid for a transcontinental highway. This is only to be expected, however, as great interest has been shown everywhere along the line where we have organized—and that includes every town from Indianapolis to Albuquerque."

"Tonight's meeting at the Commercial club ought to be a big success if what these people say is any indication."

POSTOFFICE PEOPLE SAY CHRISTMAS RUSH IS OVER

Mad Scramble to Get Packages All Out in Time for Christmas Reasonably Successful Yesterday Morning.

Except for a few belated packages and letters, the Christmas rush at the local postoffice is over, and every one of the clerks and employees at the office is glad of it.

Christmas, so joyous a season for others, be one of hard work and long hours for those engaged in delivering the packages sent by those so fortunate as to be able to do so. The clerks at the local office put in a strenuous half day yesterday, and most of one carrier were not so fortunate as to get away to their Christmas dinners so early. The one delivery made was a long and tiresome business, but they went through with it and last night had the satisfaction of knowing that things would now be lighter.

Yesterday's mail was only fair in size. It was heavy enough in all conscience, but not so heavy as those of a few days ago. Today the special tables placed in the lobby of the office for the benefit of Christmas shippers will be removed, the last few packages and letters sent out, and things will return to their usual routine.

BEAR APPARENTLY DEAD SCRATCHES MAN'S HAND

A large brown bear, that probably weighs 250 pounds, was killed last week by H. J. Bambrook just above the second falls in Bear canyon. This is the first bear killed for some years near Albuquerque. Mr. Bambrook and a stable employee went into the mountains to get a Christmas tree. The bear was felled at first shot and the stable man, thinking him dead, ran close to him.

The bear made a swipe with one paw and scratched the man's hand. It took seven more shots to finish him. Two men went after the bear Tuesday but they have not returned. Mr. Bambrook would have hauled the carcass back in his wagon, but the horses were frightened every time they attempted to load the animal into the wagon.

MAIL SACK IS FOUND IN SANTA FE YARDS

A mail sack, which probably fell from Santa Fe train No. 2, was found late Tuesday night at the railroad crossing on Tienas avenue. The finder returned the sack to the transfer clerk at the Santa Fe station. The sack was torn, but the rip is thought to have resulted from the fall. None of the matter it contained was disturbed. ## SALVATION ARMY IS SANTA CLAUS TO 300 CHILDREN

Packages all Given Away Before Those Crowded About Door are Provided for; Dinners Given Parents.

The Salvation Army acted as Santa Claus to more than three hundred children who awoke yesterday morning to find their stockings empty.

Their faith in the Christmas saint shaken, many children went to the Salvation Army hall, 417 West Gold avenue, early in the morning. Twenty children were standing at the front door when Captain Pearl Puett arrived at 11 o'clock, and many of them remained without dinner, until 3 o'clock, in the afternoon, when the Christmas tree exercises began.

At the hall their credence in the old saint received another shock. Santa wasn't there. His absence was due to the fact that Captain Puett was unable to get anyone to take the part until late and then she was unable to get the top. J. R. Carr was to have taken the role, but illness in his family forced him to remain at home.

Old Santa, his long snowy beard, red fur-lined coat and high boots, yesterday faded from many poor children's minds and a girl with a red-and-black bonnet, and blue-and-red uniform had taken his place. Captain Puett, Lieutenant Mabel Brown and their privates all acted as Santas. It was too big a job for one. They all were busy from 3 o'clock until 6, giving presents to the sets whose Christmas was without a Santa Claus.

At 3 o'clock, the hour for the beginning of the exercises, the sidewalk and street in front of the hall was jammed. Many children were accompanied by their parents. The crowd was so great that Chief of Police Thomas McMillin and Patrolman Charles Mainz stationed themselves at the front door. The children were quiet, however, and the presence of the police was hardly needed except to stop their eager rushes to get into the hall when it already was packed.

The doors were opened at 3 o'clock. The hall was filled as fast as the walls could crowd through the narrow opening and when every seat was taken and there was no more standing room a crowd still remained outside. Those outside were admitted as soon as the children inside received their presents.

A musical entertainment was given first. The program follows:
Piano Duet—Misses May and Eva Schmor.
Recitation—Miss Esther Witt.
Recitation—Miss Martha Beatty.
Recitation—Harmon Beatty.
Recitation—Miss Beulah Carr.
Song—Miss Anna Brown.

Recitation—Miss Margaret Beatty.
Piano Solo—Miss May Schmor.
While the children's attention was riveted on the stage, Captain Puett and her assistants carried the gifts to the rear. If they had attempted to distribute them from the stage, where a large tree stood, confusion would have resulted. The children passed out in single file and each as he went out received a sack containing candies and nuts, and a package of toys, stockings, gloves, stocking cap, sweater or underwear—whatever he wanted.

When nothing but the lights were left on the tree, several children still remained outside. Captain Puett told them there was nothing left; the Salvation Army had given away everything it had. Several went away crying.

Many parents who were with their children, plainly showed in their faces the mark of hunger and suffering from the cold. Many were scantily dressed and shivered, although the day was not cold.

About twenty Christmas dinner baskets, prepared Tuesday, were left and these the captain gave to the fathers and mothers.

The number of children and older persons, too, who called at the Salvation Army hall surprised even Captain Puett, who has been working among the poor since the beginning of cold weather.

SANTA ROSA FORGER BELIEVED TO BE CHAS. MADDOX

James Williams Thought By Chief of Police McMillin to Be Alias Assumed by Man Who Passed Bad Checks.

Elmer E. Prettyman, Pinkerton superintendent at Denver, was in the office of Chief of Police Thomas McMillin yesterday morning when the chief read aloud a Morning Journal dispatch, dated Santa Rosa, Cal., telling of the confession of a man named James Williams, to the crime of forgery.

"That's Hogg," declared Mr. Prettyman. The chief had suspected that he knew Williams, but by another name—Charles Maddox. Maddox was arrested here March 4, 1901, for forgery. He is a criminal specialist. His peculiar method enabled Mr. Prettyman to identify him from the dispatch.

His operations in Albuquerque give a fair illustration. When he came here Maddox stayed at the home of the Rev. W. J. Marsh, pastor of the Congregational church. He forged a $100 check on the First National bank upon the strength of bogus paper.

Chief McMillin arrested him just after he had "sat in" at the affray in the St. Elmo. He had lost $4 and $96 was found in his possession. He went to the New Mexico penitentiary for three years, and after the expiration of his sentence, returned to Albuquerque.

He went to the Rev. Hugh A. Cooper, who, believing that the man had reformed, secured him a job at the American Lumber Company mills. On the first holiday, Maddox, stealing a transit, a superintendent's overcoat, and chasing a bogus check for $15, disappeared.

Mr. Prettyman caught him soon afterward at Pueblo, Colo. He was sent to the Colorado state penitentiary for nine to fourteen years and paroled last November when he still had nine years to serve. The warden of the penitentiary several days ago wrote to Mr. Prettyman, saying he saying he would go across the continent to get Maddox back, and it is probable that instead of being tried at Santa Rosa, if he is Maddox, he will be returned to Canon City. Maddox, who is 67 years old, told Mr. Prettyman when he was caught at Pueblo, that he had served thirty-seven years inside prison walls.

Maddox has a long string of aliases. All his crimes were not credited to the one man until Chief McMillin, while Maddox was in jail here, "mugged" him and sent his description to the Pinkertons. It was this description, according to Mr. Prettyman, that has enabled his agency to trace Maddox.

When Maddox was in Mr. Prettyman's hands he said he always "worked the preachers." "They are the easiest marks in the world," he told the Pinkerton superintendent.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

You will find that this simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. It really ends a deep seated cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, croup, chest pains, bronchitis and other throat troubles. It stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps end a cough.

MAKE TOUR ACROSS CONTINENT AS TEST FOR CAR

Six Cylinder Chevrolet Here Last Night in Hurry-Up Hike From Detroit to the Pacific Coast.

To test out a new model car, R. C. Durant, and wife and Gordon Prentice are making a trans-continental trip in a six-cylinder Chevrolet, of a type which is soon to be placed on the market. The party arrived last night from Las Vegas, where they were delayed four days by broken parts. They will leave this morning for the south, over the Ocean-to-Ocean highway for Carthage, Socorro, Magdalena and the western half of the state.

The running time of the car from Detroit to Albuquerque has been just two days less than two weeks, nine days having been spent in different cities on the way. Two of these were in Chicago and three in Kansas City. The rest was the Las Vegas delay.

In speaking of roads encountered, Mr. Durant said: "The best roads we have found have been right here in New Mexico. For the first three hundred miles from Detroit we had miserable roads, simply mud and water. Later on we struck a stretch of frozen mud six inches deep that was frightful. There was not even a path in the road. We broke our shock absorbers, our wind shield and almost everything else that could be broken. The engine and the car proper withstood the strain successfully but small articles such as I have mentioned went to the winds."

"We also had bitter cold weather and were more than pleased at the delightful climate of Albuquerque and the surrounding country."

Mr. Durant said that he was pushing the car hard as he wished to make the total time elapsed on the trip as short as possible and also wanted to give the car a very hard test. The Chevrolet is designed by Louis Chevrolet, a racing driver who was formerly with the Buick people. It is a six-cylinder car and develops seventy horsepower.

NEGRO ARRESTED ON BURGLARY CHARGE THIS MORNING

Frank Austin, Aged Colored Man, Taken Into Custody By Charles Grande While Attempting to Make Get-Away.

Charles Grande, who runs a saloon and general store at North Broadway and Terasas avenue, at 1 o'clock this morning turned over to the police a negro named Frank Austin, whom he reported to have caught in his barn, attempting to get away with a set of harness.

Austin had the harness in his possession at the time Grande found him, according to the saloonkeeper's statement, and was about to depart from the barn. Grande brought him down town and turned him over to the police.

Austin was locked up and will likely have a chance to explain matters today to a local justice. It is not certain what charge will be preferred against him, but it will probably be one of burglary.

BE CONDUCTED AT GUANTANAMO

Navy Department to Thoroughly Test Out Hydro-Aeroplane and Compressed Air Catapult.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Washington, Dec. 25.—On the shores of Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, the navy department will have a winter aviation camp. It has been decided that the hydro-aeroplane is the one machine that is practical for the navy to use, and now that the compressed-air catapult designed by Captain W. I. Chambers has proved a success, the naval fliers are ready to take up the work as fast as the department can spare officers for the detail.

The aviation camp of the navy has been for the past summer at Annapolis, Md. There have been three aeroplanes in use there, and the officers at the naval academy who wanted aviation instruction were trained at a time when they could be excused from their other duties. The department was not willing to spare many officers for the work, and most of those who received instruction had to be enthusiastic enough to take it in their spare time.

Under the provision for the winter camp in Cuba, the officer Sterling will be ordered to Annapolis Monday to load the aeroplanes and camp equipment for the winter flying practice. He will sail about Saturday of the same week with Ensign Chevalier and Lieutenant R. L. Smith in charge of his cargo.

The still water of Guantanamo bay, it is said, will make an ideal field for hydro-aeroplane practice. The machines will be flown in connection with the winter exercises of the fleet, and it is intended if possible to equip several of the warships with the compressed-air launching device that has already been successfully tried out at the Washington navy yard. The flying will continue throughout the winter, and it is thought a number of the officers of the fleet will be able to qualify for pilot licenses and will be made familiar with aeroplane engine practice.

The winter flying camp will be in charge of Lieutenant J. H. Towers, one of the qualified aviators of the navy. He will have with him Lieutenant R. N. Bellinger, Ensign V. D. Herberst, Ensign W. D. Billingsley and First Lieutenant A. A. Cunningham.

The army is preparing tentative specifications for armored aeroplanes that it fulfilled will be the first distinctively military machines in America. This does not mean, as many laymen may suppose, that they will carry much Krupp armor and be capable of withstanding a six-inch shell. The one thing the aviation scout has to dread is small army volley fire, and what the authorities want is to protect the man and the motor from the chance shot that will occasionally find a machine even at a height of 2,000 feet and going at sixty miles an hour. To do this very light armor plate will be enough, something a little less than an eighth of an inch, covering the bottom of the machine where the aviator and the engine are located.

Experiments have shown that very fine chrome-steel will turn a rifle bullet, especially if it is not so such an angle that the bullet cannot strike directly perpendicularly to the surface. Thus the plating is to be somewhat curved and will extend slightly over the lower edges of the cockpit, where the aviator and the engine are housed. It is figured that forty-five pounds of light armor will be enough for all practical purposes. The modern aeroplane has enough margin of lift to accommodate considerably more than this.

The new machines will be equipped with wireless outfits and a number of other instruments that have not heretofore been used on army machines.

The recent experiments of Lieutenant Harry Arnold and Thomas Milling in directing artillery fire by wireless in the artillery practice at Fort Riley have shown the absolute necessity for aeroplane control of artillery fire. All modern artillery fire is of the indirect sort. The gunner never sees what he is shooting at, and the efficiency of modern field artillery is so great that it is inevitable to give the battery all the advantage in point of time over the other fellow that it is possible to give.

It has been found that the modern field battery properly directed, can "get on the target" at the second or third shot, and after this it can place shot at the rate of five a minute from each gun. In some of the recent field practice at dummy lines of infantry there were sixty figures scattered over a sixty-yard front. At the first discharge of shrapnel that found the line, forty-one figures out of the sixty were struck. This in action would have meant forty-one men dead or wounded.

In the artillery practice at Fort Riley, the battery was able to get on a moving target at the third volley, and destroyed it entirely. With wireless communication between the aeroplanes and the battery is in direct communication, the machine having to return to drop a direction card to the gunners.

From a height of 2,000 feet it takes a card of this sort fifty seconds to fall, so the advantage in using wireless is obvious.

The army aeroplane using wireless now carry a trailing wire 200 feet long and this has been found to be very convenient and effective antenna. The aeroplane can send messages, but cannot receive them on account of the noise of the motor. With a trailing motor such as has recently been tried at College Park the officers say there is no reason messages could not be received as well as sent. None of the aeroplanes up to date have had a receiving set, so the experiment has not been tried.

All of the army aviators are now at the winter camp, either in Augusta, Ga., or San Diego, Cal., with the exception of Lieutenant Harry Arnold, and the department contemplates sending him to Marblehead, Mass., to oversee the construction of some new aeroplanes which are to be used by the army next summer.

Anthony James, the young Washington aviator who has just completed an almost 2,000-mile hydro-aeroplane flight down the Mississippi, is expected in Washington December 27th, to spend a few days with friends. James left Omaha, Neb., November 5th, and flew by easy stages to New Orleans, where he arrived December 16th, making the longest hydro-aeroplane trip ever attempted anywhere.

An Oil Well in Operation

The resumption of development work in the Salt Lake Oil Fields of Wyoming on an extensive scale is again drawing the attention of oil men and investors in all parts of the west. W. M. Reed, of 521 North Second street, this city, who is handling stock of the Salt Creek Oil Co., one of the largest concerns in the field, is enthusiastic. He is convinced that the pot value stock he is handling is already worth double the price because the field is already developed to a point where it is no longer a prospect.

Adjoining Salt Creek Oil Company's Property Near Casper, Wyoming.

The Salt Creek field is not new. Oil was known to exist here in the early '80s, but because of lack of facilities for refining and transportation, little development work was done. P. M. Shannon, of Pennsylvania, sank a well 1,920 feet, which yielded four barrels a day. This well has never failed to yield that quantity of oil since the first day. Up to 1902 thirteen wells had been brought in. The oil was hauled to Casper and marketed at from 36 to 38 a barrel. Shannon organized a company which built a small refinery at Casper, the property of which was soon out-

ALBUQUERQUE NEW MEXICO

THE LAND OFFICE.

We have been favored with a copy of the report of the commissioner of the general land office to the secretary of the interior. The document contains much valuable information,
among other things, that the commissioner is winding his office in a mass of red tape. It is particularly fortunate that a new administration
will soon have an opportunity to replace Mr. Dennett with some one who has a better idea of what is required
of the position he now holds.

It will be recalled that President
Taft wrote a letter during the campaign to Crawford Hill, of Denver, in which he admitted that great injustice
had been done to the public land
states by delays originating, he said,
from fear of the muckraking magazines and newspapers.

Among other things, Mr. Dennett
reports that New Mexico and Arizona are now in line for development of lands under the Carey act. But he fails to state that under his system
of delays, such development would be quite impossible and would break any man or any company undertaking it.

By his own report he shows that only about one-tenth of the desert
claim entries are ever perfected for the reason that he has hedged such entries about with so many impossi-
bilities that instead of the pioneer
making the desert blossom as the rose, he is far more likely to find himself indicted and in danger of going to the penitentiary. After he has struggled for awhile, generally he relinquishes and the man who makes
the next entry relinquishes again.

So, under Mr. Dennett's absurd administration the endless chain goes on.

By and by some entryman may have the hardihood to believe that he has complied with the law, but before he can make final proof an inspector is sent to see if there has been perjury committed and in more than half of the cases, an indictment follows and in about seven-tenths of the other cases the entry is rejected.

For absolute inefficiency Mr. Den-
nett is believed to hold the record.
The public lands should be turned over to the states and the general land office should be abolished. No other sane and sensible administration
can be hoped for, though it is not reasonable to suppose that another administration will be experienced
quite so unsatisfactory as that of Mr.
Dennett.

THE SUPREME COURT.

President Taft's supreme court—as it may fairly be called, since he named the majority of its members—
has proved a sad disappointment to those radicals who had fondly hoped that it would prove highly "reactionary" in its decisions. The present court has made a good deal of law in a series of important decisions.

Enoch Wambaugh, of the Harvard
law school, in a recent publication,
reviews the development in constitutional law achieved by the court in 1910-11, and shows that its rulings
with remarkable unanimity, have upheld popular rights.

Mr. Wambaugh cites as among the significant decisions those in which the police power of the states have been upheld, despite the familiar argument about confiscation and taking property "without due process of law." In the Oklahoma case involving the bank guarantee act, Justice Holmes, voicing the opinion of the court, used this significant language:

"We must be cautious about pressing the broad words of the fourteenth amendment to a drily logical extreme.
Many laws could be shown easily enough to transgress a scholastic interpretation of one or another of the great guarantees in the bill of rights.
They more or less limit the liberty
of the individual, or they diminish
property to a certain extent."

Moreover, in a series of notable opinions the present supreme court has interpreted and amplified the Sherman act, transforming it into a practical statute for the prevention of harmful monopoly.

The fond hope of the radicals that the court would prove narrow and reactionary has been disappointed. Especially disappointing to them has been the course of Justice Lurton, of Tennessee, whose appointment was regarded as particularly objectionable.
He has just handed down the considerable decision in which the rights of the people are recognized and guarded.
The appointment of Lurton evoked a storm of opposition in quarters where it was freely predicted he would be a jurist committed to the "special interests," but President Taft knew his man.

Justice Lurton has been invariably found on the people's side and he has written some luminous opinions in which the public interest has been designated as paramount. Also, there was much criticism of the appointment of Justice White to the chief justiceship. But his written opinions
have been strong, open and progressive.

The series of opinions handed down
by the court has entirely disarmed
the radical progressive criticism that was leveled at it when the movement
was begun to bring the government closer to the people. As a matter of fact,
the supreme court has shown itself to be progressive in the right way.

MORGAN AND THE DENTIST.

It is a pleasant story told of J.
Pierpont Morgan, though the experience that prefaced it was evidently not pleasant to the Wall street magnate. Let it be told in the language of an Associated Press dispatch sent out on Christmas day:

"A story which men of the financial district are telling at their Christmas dinners today had J. P. Morgan, a dentist and a washerwoman as its principals.

"Mr. Morgan was in a dentist's
chair, it was related, suffering pain,
for the relief of which the dentist
was telling the financier how a case
of his wife's washerwoman was the worst instance of destitution he ever knew.

"Her husband died and left her with thirteen children, only five of them being large enough to work," he said, and while keeping on with his dental work he continued the hard luck narrative in detail.

"Mr. Morgan left after the operation without comment, but the next day the dentist received a letter
which is quoted as follows:

"Dear Doctor: You hurt me like the devil yesterday, but your vivid story
about the widow and her thirteen children helped some. Enclosed find my check for $10,000, which please turn over to the washerwoman and tell her for me that she was a fool
to ever have thirteen children."

Five thousand dollars was found in New York on the collection plate of one of the churches. Deacons in Albuquerque should carefully examine the collections next Sunday. It is the kind Christmas season when the people get the giving habit.

SUFFRAGIST ARMY PUTS IN QUIET CHRISTMAS

Only Thirty-Two Miles Remain
to Be Tramped Until Albany
Is Reached By the Crusaders.

(By Morning Journal Special Teased Wire).
Hudson, N. Y., Dec. 25.—One hundred and twenty-five miles from their home firesides, the suffragette army,
which is on route from New York to Albany, carrying a message to Governor Sulzer, spent Christmas in this city.

In the afternoon the army gathered in the parlors of their hotel, where a Christmas tree adorned with candles and was burdened with gifts. The fair general, Rosalie G. Jones, presented the gifts to her "troops" as rewards
for "bravery" in the performance of duty.

The "troops," in turn, presented their commander with a copy of "Pilgrim's Progress." Instructed within the cover was the following:

"And it came to pass when the people heard the sounds of trumpets
and the people shouted, the walls of Albany fell flat."

"That they will," announced Miss
Jones, as she read the inscription,
"and we will march around them ten times, once for each state that has granted suffrage to women."

In costumes representing women
suffragists of the seventeenth century,
the marchers tonight attended a charity ball.

There being but thirty-two miles of the journey left, and until December 31 in which to complete it, tomorrow's march will be reduced to five miles, ending at Stockport.

GLEN CURTISS TO MILLION DOLLAR EXPERIMENT WITH FLYING BOAT REVEL TO USHER IN NEW YEAR

Aviation Expert Now at San Diego for Purpose of Exhibiting Possibilities of New Air Craft.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
San Diego, Cal., Dec. 25.—Bringing with him what he declares is the greatest machine for the sportsman
ever devised, the "flying boat," Glen Curteis, now head of the army aviation school, has arrived here to conduct the winter instruction of the army corps of aviators at North Island, in San Diego bay. Three hydro-aerobes, at the training grounds
to shelter "flying boats" have been built, and the land machines will be protected by tents. The lease upon the island, which expires this year,
will be renewed, and the experiments
and demonstration of all sorts of aircraft by the government, for army
use, will continue for several years,
covering the time of the San Diego exposition in 1915, and there is every prospect that North Island will become a permanent army aviation station for the training of fliers driving
across of the bay.

The aviation branch of the army is proving extremely popular, and there are many applications for enrollment in the aviation schools. The government will construct many air machines during 1913, and the experiments to determine their relative worth will be widely varied and interesting.

The new "flying boat," designed and built by Curteis at Hammondport, N. Y., has been given official trial and
proved satisfactory in every respect.
This aero hydro is of a new pattern,
and is equally at home on the water or in the air. Its distinctive features are those adapting it to military service,
these being an engine starting device
permitting it to be stopped and started again when the machine is in the water, and on the test flights carried 999 pounds weight. Although the army has been using aeroplanes for several years, the new Curteis boat is the first of the "flying boats" to be tried for government service, and the army officers observing the trials recommended strongly the adoption of the craft as a part of the army equipment of the nation.

One requirement of the Curteis
"flying boat" was that it climbed 100
feet per minute, and on the trial
flights an altitude of 1,200 feet was reached in six and one half minutes.
The speed was of an average of 54.8
miles, the requirement being 45 miles
an hour, a ten-mile wind blowing diagonally across the course. The machine was driven by Aviator Wildman,
and he was accompanied by John D.
Conner, another Curteis aviator, and
J. Lancing Callan as a passenger.

Four army officers have completed
their course of instruction in the operation of the aero-hydroplane and flying boat, and have come to San Diego
to report at the new army training
camp here for their finishing course
in the operation of the land machine.
North Island will be the scene of unusual aviation activities this winter,
a notable corps of army men being trained in the handling of both the overland machine and the "flying boat."

Glen Curteis, who is doubtless the most famous of America's bird men,
has been made chairman of the Aviation Committee of the San Diego exposition, and will have charge of the aviation "stunt" during the exposition year. President D. Collier, of the exposition, who is also president of the Aero club at San Diego, is taking a deep interest in the experimental work being carried on by Curteis at the North Island aviation camp.

Arrival of Three Rivers
Statesman, Who Is to Stay Indefinitely, So It Is Rumored.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal).
Santa Fe, N. M., Dec. 25.—Political direct of the capital were much interested today to learn that United States Senator Albert B. Fall had arrived at his home at Three Rivers,
from Washington.

Though Senator Fall returned to
New Mexico ostensibly to spend Christmas with his family, there are those who believe he has come back
at this time to "fix his fences," preparatory to going before the incoming legislature to seek re-election. The despite the fact that Senator Fall although has argued that he so-called second election early last summer
was valid.

The rumor is current here that Senator Fall has returned to New Mexico
to stay until the legislature, which meets January 14, is not on the senatorship, which it now is expected to do, and that in the interim the senator will make a trip over the state in the interests of his candidacy for another election, providing of course, he is a candidate for election before the approaching session of the New Mexico law makers.

Senator Fall is expected to arrive in this city within the next few days.

Broadway's Guided Mile Ex- pects to Break All Records by Toasting 1913 With 70- 000 Quarts of Champagne.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
New York, Dec. 25.—In spite of efforts which have been made for a safe
and sane New Year's eve celebration
in this city, all indications point to the conclusion that the ushering out of 1912 and the welcoming of 1913 will even surpass similar revels of the past and made a Roman festival seem tame by comparison. While 1912 has not been a satisfactory year from the point of view of the Wall street brokers who are supposed to be the city's most liberal spenders, general business has been good and every indication of the plans for this year's carnival is that it will be more lavish
than ever before and set a new record
for spending along the Great White Way. Not less than $1,000,000 it is now estimated will be spent in this guided mile in the few hours preceding midnight for food and drink and in spite of the efforts of those who are anxious to reform this celebration
the rattlers, tin horns and other racket producing implements will doubtless be more deafening than ever.
Practically every table in the hotels
and restaurants extending half a mile in either direction from Longacre
square have been reserved for in advance and in many cases hundreds of dollars have been offered by belated applicants for a chance to spend their money. A canvass of the combined capacity of these places of entertainment indicates that between 60-000 and 75,000 will be dining and winning within or near this guided mile as 1912 dawned that they will have spent $1,000,000 and consumed something like 70,000 quarts of champagne.
The bottles containing which would if held out to end make a line seventeen miles long. As is the invariable custom nothing but wine will be served on New Year's eve and naturally the condition is one calculated to bring joy to the hearts of hotel and restaurant keepers. Everything seems to indicate that New York will awaken on January 1st with a worse and more expensive New Year's headache than ever before.

SEVEN STATES HAVE HIGH MOUNTAIN PEAKS

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—There are three states which can boast of mountain peaks exceeding 14,000 feet in height above sea level, according to the United States Geological survey.
They are California, with Mount Whitney, 14,501 feet—the highest mountain in the United States, exclusive of Alaska—Colorado, with Mount Massive and Mount Elbert, each 14,402
feet; and Washington, with Mount Rainier, 14,355 feet. Wyoming, Utah,
New Mexico and Nevada all have mountain peaks exceeding 13,000 feet
in height.

Uncle Sam Plays Santa Claus.
That Uncle Sam played the part of Santa Claus for foreign countries to the tune of more than $100,000,000
this year, thus breaking all previous records, is evidenced by the enormous sums which have been sent to Europe
from this city in the shape of postoffice money orders, the favorite means of remittance among the New York's enormous number of newer Americans. Although the figures are not yet by no means complete it is estimated that the money sent abroad
for Christmas gifts and presents has run from ten to one hundred dollars with an average about half way between the two. The largest part goes to Italy, with France second,
Germany third and England fourth.
The remainder of the $100,000,000
total contributed by the rest of the country follows the same proportion
in a general way with the exception of the amount going to Germany,
which is largely increased by the gifts
of westerners of this nationality.

HILLSBORO'S SCENE OF ROMANTIC WEDDING

Miss Anna MacLanahan Becomes Bride of Francis Eckermann, Business Man of Chihuahua, Mexico.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
Hillsboro, N. M., Dec. 25.—Quite a romantic tinge attached to a pretty wedding which took place in this city
last week, when Miss Anna MacLanahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John MacLanahan, formerly of St. Paul, Minn., was married to Francis Eckermann, a prominent young business man from Chihuahua, Mexico.

The young couple had been engaged for about a year and the wedding
day had been put off from time to time owing to the rebellion. Just before the outbreak of hostilities last year the bride and her sister, Mrs.
Edward D. Tittmann had been one of a party that spent several weeks in the old capital. In the party was Miss Eleanor Wilson, who later had trouble in getting back to the United States. Since last summer
the wedding day had to be postponed
several times for either the railroad

were out or the groom was rushed with work because they were often
On December 7th he was to leave Chihuahua at last, when in and behold,
the rebels on the 6th, cut the Mexican Central. The Mexican Northwestern
was also out of business, but was made passable a few days later and Mr.
Eckermann started over it. The train traveled only in day time for fear of burned bridges and it took him three days to get to El Paso. At present the young couple are in El Paso, waiting for a chance to get across the rebel infected country between that town
and Chihuahua.

Sierra county, barely free from the snow that fell in the big storms three weeks ago received another coating of white Saturday night when about an inch of fine snow fell. The falling temperature put stop to the snow,
Sunday night, the temperature in Hillsboro fell to 12 above zero.

Hillsboro is having lots of novel experiences just now. Saturday the town rubbed its sleepy eyes to see a real
sure enough circus spread its tents.
True it was only a one-acting affair,
but Hillsboro had never even seen a
one-acting circus in its entire history.
The men and beasts who had come across the San Augustine plains had suffered much from the cold. One of them was treated by our local physician, Dr. Given, for frozen toes. The manager claimed he had lost $4,000
since striking New Mexico.

Charles Rouse, a prominent coal-
man whose ranches are along the North Percha, caught a huge American eagle the other day in a trap that had been baited for wild cat. One claw of the eagle was caught in the steel. He measured over six feet from top to tip.

husband's efficiency as blacksmith at this point was seriously impaired.

The decree of divorce was granted unknown to Mrs. Ritter who was sejourning at the time in Montana. She arrived yesterday's stage, intending to reinstate herself in connubial fel-
lity with the blacksmith, who immediately prior to securing his divorce
had sent Mrs. Ritter a request to join him and the money wherewith to come.

This problem presents many perplexities to the aged pair. The only sant for the time being renders the solution doubly difficult.

DRY FARMERS MUST PLOW AT ONCE SAYS TINSLEY

Santa Fe's Agricultural Expert
Points Out Reasons Why
Those Who Cannot Irrigate
Should Break Soil Now.

(By J. D. Tinsley).
We urge upon the dry farmers of the state a consideration of the importance of taking advantage of the moisture in the ground from the recent snows to break for next year's crops.

Since harvest the ground has been so dry that very little plowing has been done. And now that the snow has put a fair season in the ground some difficulty in plowing will be experimented on account of freezing. But do it now if at all possible. One of the main reasons for fall and early winter plowing is that it opens the soil in advance of the winter snow
and rain and allows a much greater amount of moisture to penetrate. And our observations of the better season
in the ground and the superior crop
above the ground in those fields where early plowing was done proves that fact to our satisfaction. The rough surface produced by the breaking of lumpy catches more snow than the smooth surface of the unworked land.

Besides, if the ground is broken
now there will be more freezing and thawing of the soil. This action will produce a good physical condition and help to set free plant food.

By breaking now, the soil will also have time to settle and form a good firm seed bed. Therefore, the breaking at this time should be as deep as the condition of the land and the available horse power will permit.
Breaking near the time of planting
should not be deeper than the seed are to be placed in the ground. But it is to be hoped that no farmer will delay until it is advisable to merely scratch the ground. Spring plowing turns up the moisture and the soil
dries out at the time that moisture is needed for sprouting the seed.

The relative merits of plowing and listing are still being debated. Our observations have not shown that flat
breaking has produced better results
than listing on mixed and sandy lands.
On such lands we believe that listing
or bedding holds more snow from drifting. Another potent advantage in the listing operation is that the ground is covered in less than one half the time. And time is an important consideration where the moisture,
as at present, is limited. The ground
is liable to dry out before much of it can be covered with a covering of snow.

In regard to later cultivation we
urge these points:
Go into your field and kill the weeds
that germinate in the spring before planting, using a hoe or a cultivator with sweeps. Besides eradicating the moisture-drinking weeds you will put the lid (soil) on the soil in the reservoir formed by your early plowing or listing.

In planting use the later planter,
or precede the regular one-row or two-
row planter with a sweep, bull-tongue, or cultivator shovel. As to whether the furrow opener should be run in your original furrow or in the middle,
neither we nor any one else is prepared to make a sweeping statement for all of New Mexico. But in the majority of soils and conditions it is believed that there is a slight advantage in opening the middle to plant. However, every farmer should take a shovel, dig down into both the middle and into the original furrow and investigate the moisture conditions for himself.

FINLEY J. SHEPARD GIVES INTERVIEW ON MANY THINGS

Miss Helen Gould's Fiancee Opposes Woman Suffrage and Hopes to Prove Worthy of Future Wife.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) New York, Dec. 25.—Finley J. Shepard, fiancee of Miss Helen Gould, has given out his first intimate interview regarding his engagement to Miss Gould, and told how his chief hope and ambition was to prove worthy of her love.

"I like to see results before my very eyes," he said, "and that is why Miss Gould's school at Livingston, N. Y., interests me more than other branches of her work. It was very interesting to watch the progress of the pupils under instruction during the one-year course. One should not assume any credit for interesting one's self in the improvement of others. Everything you give out in this way reacts to develop yourself."

"Speaking of self-development, don't you think woman's chance of development would be increased if she could vote?" the reporter asked. "Suffrage is a subject I haven't studied and shouldn't like to discuss because I confess I am prejudiced at the outset. I am opposed to anything that tends toward the further deterioration of womanhood."

"If you don't believe in women in politics you probably don't believe in woman in business?" "No, I don't."

"Don't you find women as efficient as men?" "Within their limitations, yes. There is always their physical handicap you've got to make allowance for. There are exceptions among women, of course. Indeed, only exceptional men are exceptionally efficient. But I should wish that as a rule woman's work were all domestic and man's work providing for the family. We would have better men and better women under these conditions."

"Are you a member of the Young Men's Christian Association?" "No, I am not," he answered. "Your diversions run more to the out-of-door sports?" "You bet!" he replied vigorously. "Have you some general rule that has guided you to success?" "I will tell you of a rule which has guided me at many steps and turns of my career. It was given to me by my darling old daddy. I heard it first when I was 18, the day I left home to seek my fortune, and I was the youngest of a family of five children."

"Many relatives and friends had come to the station to see me off. I had said good-bye to all except father. Now, he was the tenderest, the dearest, the daintiest, the most lovable of men. And although he was a minister, he was not so restricted in his knowledge of the world nor in his sympathies as you'd expect. He used to surprise me sometimes with his breadth of view."

"I held him in my arms while he made his farewell speech, not an incoherent or studied one, befitting the occasion. It ended with: 'Remember, my son, chickens come home to roost.'"

"I made no application of it at the time, except that it meant when I got broke I'd probably return home, but I have remembered that phrase and you can have no idea how many times and places I have used it as a motto—as counsel. Just try it yourself."

"But as for all the courses to which Miss Gould devotes her time as systematically as any business man, I may have to be educated into sympathy with some of them. I have never interested myself in causes where I cannot see material and tangible results; and foreign missions, for instance, I am not far-seeing enough to appreciate. I prefer to see the development of resources near at hand. The practical, as opposed to the theoretical, appeals to me."

"I'd rather have a little available knowledge in daily use than a vast amount of information stored up in my head. I hear men spoken of as walking encyclopedias. They are often about as useful as the book laid away on the library shelf—seldom consulted, often with their leaves uncut."

"And how did you propose to Miss Gould?" the reporter persisted. "He knelt his brows in deep thought, as if delving into memory."

"Come to think of it, I don't believe I ever did. That's not for you to assume that leap year had anything to do with it, though."

"Perhaps you ingratiated yourself by an interest in her charities?" the reporter suggested.

"Not in all of them," he replied, "I

WESTERN UNION TO HAVE DIVISION AT DENVER

Business of Telegraph Company in Eight States Will Be Directed From That City; William J. Lloyd Manager.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal.) Denver Dec. 25.—A change in the telegraphic business of the country will be put into effect January 1st, by the Western Union Telegraph Company. Instead of the whole system being operated from New York, Denver will be made the headquarters and purchasing point for a mountain division, comprising eight states.

William J. Lloyd, who came here from Chicago last September to be general superintendent of the Western Union service in Denver, has been appointed general manager of the mountain division. He will continue his office here.

The mountain division takes in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, Idaho, Utah, New Mexico, Nebraska, and Kansas. This territory no longer will be operated from New York, office, but will look to Mr. Lloyd, in Denver, for orders. All purchasing of supplies for the territory, which formerly was done in the east, undoubtedly will be done in Denver in the future. The Denver offices already have between three and four hundred employees, and this force may be increased.

Lloyd has been in the Western Union service forty-eight years. He started as a messenger in Dubuque, Ia., and worked up gradually to his present position. He is a member of the Old Time Telegraphers' and Historical Association, and was president of this organization two years ago. Andrew Carnegie is a member, and the late Whitelaw Reid also belonged.

During the democratic national convention, held in Denver in 1908, Lloyd was sent here to take charge of the entire telegraph service.

The same changes that affect the Denver district have brought promotion to Belvedere Brooks, formerly of Denver, Brooks has been general manager of the Western Union Company. He now becomes a vice president, having entire charge of the public relations of the business.

A pleasant informal Christmas dinner party was held last night at the Fashion cafe, when the management of that attraction entertained the players and other members of "The City" company.

Tonight the Elks of Albuquerque lodge No. 461 and their ladies will be entertained by the entertainment committee of the lodge at a dance in the lodge rooms. The affair will be an informal one.

The ladies of the G. A. R. will hold a called meeting this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Mulligan, 308 South Seventh street, for the transaction of any regular business that may come before the session. A luncheon will be served.

Postoffice Inspector P. J. Moran returned yesterday morning from Silver City, where he has been for three weeks past, engaged in work in connection with the recently attempted stage robbery near Mogollon. He declined to discuss the case.

Members of Moose lodge are hereby notified that the final meeting for this year will be held at the lodge rooms this evening at 8 o'clock. All members wishing to be included in the reorganization, which takes effect January 1st, are required to be present.

The regular meeting of the Woman's club has been postponed and will not be held this week. However, there will be a meeting of the board of directors Friday afternoon at 2:30 and all members of the board are urged to be present, as matters of extreme importance are to be up for action.

Because Juan C. Pena, a convict employed at the local road camp, was obstreperous, he was yesterday taken back to the penitentiary by Deputy Sheriff Quirino Coulter and will have no more chances at work out in the bright New Mexico sunshine until he learns to obey the rules and behave himself.

Manager J. E. Smithers, of the Alvarado hotel, had a striking evidence of the regard with which the employees of the Alvarado hotel, over whose duties he presides, hold him. This was a sterling silver and cut glass water set, presented by a delegation of the "front office" employees when he came downstairs yesterday morning. Mrs. Smithers had a similar recognition of popularity in the shape of a handsome diamond and sapphire ring, presented by the dining room employees.

MURDER SUSPECT LODGED IN CITY JAIL LAST NIGHT

A man giving his name as Robert Williams was lodged in the city jail last night at the request of Sheriff P. G. Alger, of Graham county, Arizona. Williams is wanted on suspicion of being the murderer of Con Sullivan in the Galena mountains, four years ago. The alleged murderer was named Roberts. Williams who denies strenuously that he is the wanted man, answers his description only in a perfunctory sort of way. Sheriff Alger will take him to Sonomville, Ariz., for identification. Williams was brought from Niles City, Mo., where he had been in jail for some minor offense.

MESSANGER BOYS AT WESTERN UNION WORK OVER NEW RECRUIT

A call for the police was sent in last night from the Western Union office, when a number of native messenger boys "worked over" a new recruit who happened to speak English as his mother tongue. The lad was not seriously hurt and no complaints were filed. The native lads dispersed when the officer gave in sight.

LAD TRAVELING BY HIMSELF GETS LOST

A boy named Murphy, aged 11 years, who was going to Albuquerque west, got himself lost in the mazes of the Alvarado hotel last night and calmed considerably when he was found. The boy was sent to the depot with a grip, there to await, he told the clerk at the Alvarado, the coming of his mother and sister.

When they arrived at the depot waiting room the boy was missing and they asked the police to aid in finding him. He was finally located in the lobby of the Alvarado hotel, asleep shortly after 10 o'clock.

MONSTER MEETING OF ROADMEN AT CLUB TOMORROW

I. J. Kirker, National Organizer for Old Trails Association, to Address Mass Gathering in Albuquerque.

Every good roads booster in the city and vicinity, whether or not he be a member of the state or local associations, or of the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association, is invited to attend a monster mass meeting of roads boosters which will be held at the Commercial club tomorrow evening. The cause of this meeting is the presence in the city of I. J. Kirker, national organizer for the National Old Trails association. Mr. Kirker arrived from Santa Fe on the California limited yesterday morning. He has worked all the way from Indianapolis, organizing the Old Trails association, and has met with great success.

Like the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway association, the object of the National Old Trails association is the securing of national aid in the transcontinental route. In working in this, the Ocean-to-Ocean highway section of the projected route, Mr. Kirker reiterated the pledge of Judge J. M. Lowe, president of the Old Trails association, which he gave at Santa Fe to the assembled delegates to the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway convention. This pledge was that from Santa Fe to Los Angeles the National Old Trails association would advocate and work for national aid first for the route outlined by the Ocean-to-Ocean association at its first meeting in Phoenix. Upon this pledge resolutions which practically amounted to an affiliation of the Old Trails and Ocean-to-Ocean associations were passed by the latter convention.

Mr. Kirker declared yesterday, that while the constitution of his association stood for the "most historic and practical" route from Santa Fe, the western terminus of the Old Trails road, to Los Angeles, he believed that the route already selected by the Ocean-to-Ocean Highway satisfied these conditions and he was accordingly working along that route.

"We have organized in every city from Indianapolis to Albuquerque along the line of our route," he said. "Two men are now working to organize the cities along the route from Indianapolis to its eastern terminus at Washington. Before a great while we shall have our organization perfected from Los Angeles to the Atlantic coast. Then, as it is the most historic, scenic and practical route of all the projected ones across the continent, and as we shall be able to send to congress a petition bearing the names of thousands of members, we will be practically sure, in the present state of good roads sentiment, of getting national aid for our road."

"You know what that means to Albuquerque. When once the autos begin to travel through this country in really large numbers you will build up a tourist traffic that will be worth $50,000 to $75,000 a year to this city alone."

"You people here in New Mexico do not realize your greatest asset, your historic and scenic spots. All you have to do to turn those assets into a never-ending flow of cash is to make them available to the tourist, and that is a simple matter of building decent roads to them."

"We have met with great success in organizing our association everywhere. We have many members in Santa Fe, in Baton, in Trinidad and in Las Vegas. This movement has taken like a house afire. We only charge $2.50 for a whole life membership, non-assessable, and with that we give a year's subscription to Better Roads, the official publication of the association, and a handsome button, you see."

Mr. Kirker has taken up the matter of tomorrow's meeting with the more prominent roads boosters of the city and undoubtedly, even in the holiday season, he will be greeted by a large crowd tomorrow evening. The session will be called to order at 8 o'clock. All roads boosters regardless of affiliations or the lack of them are urged to attend.

LIMITED DINING CAR DECORATED WITH HOLLY

The dining car of the east bound Santa Fe limited last night was decorated with holly. Wreaths, similar to those hung in windows of residences were suspended in the windows of the car.

Christmas dinner was served on the limited after it left Albuquerque. Only eleven passengers were seated at the tables. The bill of fare, of course, included turkey.

A Pullman porter on No. 4 was not among those who ate their Christmas dinner on the train. On his last east-bound trip he bought a turkey in Kansas. It was eaten, he said, and his wife cooked the bird before he left Chicago on the westbound trip. He ate his Christmas dinner a week ahead of schedule, but he ate it at home.

The west bound limited yesterday morning had a Christmas tree on the rear platform of the observation car. It had been used by the passengers aboard the train the night previous, Christmas eve.

Saddle horses, Trimble, 112 N. 2nd.

CHRISTMAS SEASON CELEBRATED IN ALBUQUERQUE

Yesterday's Events All of Sort That Typifies Yuletide Good Feeling and Good Will to All.

Yesterday, Christmas day, was celebrated in Albuquerque by all those events which custom has led people to believe the proper and conventional thing. The principal evidences of it were the perfect weather and the smile of good cheer worn by every one, the "Merry Christmas" greetings that flew thick and fast as friends and even more acquaintances passed on the street, the thought that this was a day of good will to all.

And it was a day of good will. Every one in the city was provided for in some way and many a man was made happier through helping to make some less fortunate fellow happier.

The church services were limited to the morning celebrations of the Holy Eucharist at the Episcopal church. A midnight mass had been celebrated the night before at the Catholic church. Special services were held by the Knights Templar at the Masonic temple, Archdeacon W. E. Warren delivering a sermon at that time.

The prisoners at the county jail were filled with turkey and the usual "fixin'" through the generosity of the sheriff and under sheriff, and a number of dainties that had been donated. The needy families of the city had dinner, and often more than that one meal, provided for them by the Salvation Army, for the children of the same families had a Christmas tree with attendant fruit and candies given them by the same organization.

There were numerous family parties for Christmas dinner and last night the local hotel dining rooms and the restaurants were crowded with diners-out, followed by numerous theater parties to witness the presentation of "The City."

There were few or no "Christmas jags," the police being inclined to look with unavailing tolerance on those who had indulged too much Thomas and Jeremiah or egg-nog.

For the convenience of the public the postoffice kept open half a day and the carriers made a single delivery over their routes. Other offices maintained by the government were all closed. The county officers closed their offices and took a needed day of rest and so did the city functionaries. The policemen and the firemen had to work, for their task never ends, but they were the only city employees who did.

Stores were closed, except drug stores, and all the banks observed the day as a holiday. Every one was happy and every one deserved to be.

The Christmas spirit prevailed at the Marwood Methodist hospital as it did in other institutions of the sort in the city and vicinity. A tree was beautifully decorated and laden with gifts for various patients and attaches at the institution and was a feature of the day's enjoyment. Among the presents were a basket of fruit from "Friends at Rosenwald's," a large box of candy from the Powell drug store, and numerous boxes of home-made candy, preserves, jellies and other delicacies calculated to express the Christmas sentiment and be tempting to patients. A lot of mistletoe for decorations was brought to the hospital by Mr. Calkins.

POLICE AND FIREMEN GET CHRISTMAS GIFTS

George A. Kaseman, president of the Commercial Club, yesterday gave every member of the police and fire departments orders for $5 hats. Mr. Kaseman was not the only one who remembered the fire fighters. Curt Quicker and the New Mexico Cigar Company gave them boxes of cigars.
