POLICY OF AUSTRIA CAUSES CONCERN TO BALKAN ALLIES

Turkey's Reply to Demands of Victorious Enemies Expected
to Present Widely Different Basis for Peace.

ORIENTAL DIPLOMACY NOT GREATLY FEARED

Franz Joseph's Empire is Believed Determined to Hamper Little Kingdoms in Program for Dividing Spoils.

AUSTRIA DEMANDS THAT SERVIA QUIT DURAZZO.
London, Dec. 27.—The correspondent of the Daily Mail, at Vienna, says that he learns that the Austrian government will not withdraw a single soldier
from the southern frontiers until the Servians evacuate Durazzo.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
London, Dec. 27.—Turkey's reply to the demands made several days ago
by the Balkan allies as a basis for peace in southeastern Europe, will be delivered tomorrow to the peace conference in St. James palace. Interest, however, again has shifted from the phase of the situation and is centered tonight on the question of what are the intentions of Austria with respect to the Balkans. The peace delegates are prepared to consider the reply of the Ottoman government and its counter proposals, starting though the reply may be, as simply points for future
negotiations. It is well known that Turkey has not the least hope of attaining what she will demand and also
that she has no intention of resump-
ing a war that may result in farther disaster.

That this is the situation seems to receive confirmation from the fact that several attempts already have been made unofficially by members of the Turkish delegation to get the Montenegro, Serbian and Greek delegates to recede from the demands that Adrianople be surrendered, promising in return that Turkey will not object to their respective enlargements territorially. These advances, and reports emanating from Constantinople that Bulgaria is negotiating terms direct with Turkey, are considered to have
as their basic purposes an attempt to divide the allies.

The representatives of the Balkans have resisted all temptations placed in their way and today presented as united
a front as they did the first day of the negotiations and are just as determined as ever to have their own way
in concluding peace. Instead of diminishing, excitement is growing
among the Serbian and Montenegrin
delegations over what are considered Austria's plans in the Balkans. That the duel monarchy seems determined to carry out these plans is considered proven by the fact that she has not yet begun to demobilize the big army she recently called to the colors. It is now considered certain that at the resumption of the ambassadorial conference, January 2nd, Austria will urge the representatives of Europe to make the territory of autonomous Albania
as large as possible, including in it Prizren, Dibra and Scutari.

Meanwhile Austria is tempting Montenegro by proposing in exchange of Austria's support, the occupation of Scutari by Montenegrin, that Austria
be given possession of the mountains
dominating Cattaro, which this would become such an impregnable naval stronghold as to make the Vienna government the real master of the Adriatic sea.

Italy, the power chiefly interested,
opposes a scheme that gives her rival
the coveted supremacy on the sea
which once was considered a Venetian lake. Russia is anxious to prevent Austrian project which, if successful,
would stifle for ever the Muscovite
ambition to obtain an outlet in the Adriatic.

Montenegro considers that the scheme will be fatal to her very existence, as Scutari is the real soul of the country while the loss of the mountains above Cattaro, besides depriving her of a strong weapon against Austria, would put the country in Austria's hands, as from the mountains
can dominate Cattaro. Austria's project is causing dissatisfaction among the triple entente, which is accused of acting against its own interests in failing to defend the Balkans. The Serbian delegation observes that it has only asked a port for the free development of the country without Austrian intervention.

"This port," the Servians say, "although already conquered by our arms, has been taken from us in deference to the will of Austria. The triple entente also meekly acquiescence to the will of the triple alliance when it consented to the formation of an artificial Albania composed of all the territories which Austria
covets for herself, granting the only instead, a commercial port, the only guarantee of which are illusory."

"If official Albania should be dominated by Austria, a policy of chicanery
could be inaugurated and cause all

imaginable difficulties to Serbian commerce. Italian support would be only theoretical, as Italy never would fight
Austria to guarantee Serbia a neutral port.

"The question of a port is trifling,
if placed by itself, but behind it is the question whether the Balkans are to be enslaved to the triple alliance, or emancipated. The emancipation of the Balkans, achieved by splendid victories
of the allies, threatens to be lost through inconceivable weakness of the triple entente. The triple entente urges peace at any cost, even yielding on the frontiers of Albania. It is proposed to turn Serbia out of Durazzo
because she occupied it and to deprive Montenegro of Scutari because she did not take it.

"Nobody proposes to enlarge Albania over the southern territories
which the Greeks have not conquered or deprive Bulgaria of the fruits of her victory, only Serbia and Montenegro are to be sacrificed in order to allow Austria permanent intervention
in the Balkans and prevent a final settlement of the status of the peninsula.

"The Austrian declares she desires
no territorial aggrandizement, but,
through her mobilization, she prevents a solution of the Balkan problem and imposes the formation of Albania into a territory which Austria will seize at the first opportunity. German policy will be definitely substituted in the Orient for the Balkan Slav equilibrium, if the triple entente makes this last abdication before the triple alliance.

"The Balkan Slavs realize that even a victorious war cannot gain for them
conditions necessary to their political,
moral and economic development,
and find that their safety lies in a close understanding with Austria.

"This would cause a great transformation in the status of the Orient,
as Germany and Austria, freed from the nightmare of a great Serbian
state, would dominate the Balkans unopposed, having in their hands the markets and a route to India. If the triple entente desires this, they had better say so frankly."

Reports received from Constantinople
stating that the military officers
had been ordered to the Thracian
lines, caused a ripple of excitement here today. The explanation given is that they were sent back because the soldiers had grown mutinous, saying
the officers were enjoying themselves
in the capital while they were enduring hardships in the trenches.

JUDGE PUNISHES MAN WHO SPAT ON HOLY BIBLE

Fine of Twenty-Five Dollars
and Costs Assessed Against Foreigner, for Insulting Good Book, by Milwaukee Jurist.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 27.—Judge
Neelen, in the district court today fined Martin Premak $25 because he spat on a bible. Premak was brought before the court by Masse Maszicka,
who charged him with assault and battery. Maszicka said that Premak pushed him and that he did not mind
that; that he was angered over a book before the court. The book was a bible and Maszicka opened it in court.
"You honor," said Maszicka, "he spat upon this book. I brought it with me from the old country. This man came into my house drunk and abusive and when I remonstrated with him and told him what this book commands us to do, he opened it and he spat upon it and spat upon its pages."

"Did you do that?" Judge Neelen asked Premak.

The man shrugged his shoulders:
"Oh, yes," he said, "I did do that, but it harmed no one. You can see that he wiped it dry again."

"You are fined $25 and costs," Judge
Neelen told him.

"I wish that I could send you to jail for about ninety days. It would serve you right."

NEW SUFFRAGE LAW EMBARRASSING TO CALIFORNIA

Golden State Gallantry, Eliminating Necessity of Telling
Age of Women, Extends Same Exemption to Male Citizens.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
San Francisco, Dec. 27.—By extension to the feminine desire to conceal
age, the last legislature of California
brought upon state and county officials a series of unexpected problems which are only now coming up for solution. After the suffrage had been granted women by popular vote
and it became necessary to revise the election laws in consequence, the legislature yielded to the importunities
of fair lobbyists and amended the registration law to relieve women
voters of the embarrassment of recording their ages. It now develops that the same amendment freed male voters from recording their ages, and
county officials are unable to report
the names of men eligible for military service.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF CAUSING DEATH OF HUSBAND

Mrs. James King, Widow of Owner of Large Georgia Plantation, Alleged Guilty of Hiring Man for Murder.

Macon, Ga., Dec. 27.—Mrs.
James King, widow of a Round
Oak, Ga., planter, who was killed at night here recently, confessed
tonight that she plotted with Nicholas Wilburn, a farmer, to slay her husband so that she might marry Wilburn and get $2,000 life insurance.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Macon, Ga., Dec. 27.—Mrs. James King, widow of the owner of one of the largest plantations in middle Georgia, was arrested today, after Nicholas Wilburn, a farm hand, had confessed, according to the police,
that he killed James King because Mrs. King hired him to do it. King married Mrs. King in 1908, while hunting investigation led to the arrest of Wilburn and a negro, James Barber,
who the police say, has stated that Wilburn told him he was going to kill King. Mrs. King is 42 years old and Wilburn is 25. In his confession today
Wilburn is quoted as saying:

"Mrs. King had offered me $500 to kill her husband. She said she wanted to get rid of him and promised to marry me if I killed him. He had
$2,000 life insurance.

"On December 12th, I was passing the King home. She called to me and told me that Mr. King had gone hunting and for me to shoot him. I followed him and when he stopped, I grabbed his gun and shot him. He begged me not to shoot him any more.
Just then he fell over.

"I put his gun in his hands and arranged the body so as to make it look like he had shot himself and then went back to the house and told
Mrs. King what I had done. She said
I was a good boy and she thought a lot of me."

Mrs. King is the mother of six children. Her eldest daughter married a brother of Wilburn.

COMPANY PAYS FINE FOR VIOLATING LAW

Boston, Dec. 27.—The federal government's proceedings against the Barre Wool Combining Company, limited,
of South Barre, Mass., for violations of the alien contract labor law,
were ended today on the payment by the company's attorney in the United States district court of $20,000 in fines, by agreement with Attorney General Wickham. Criminal action against T. Vernon Wiley, manager, and Arthur T. Saville, of England, agents, was abandoned.

HAWAIIANS ENJOY YEAR OF GREAT PROSPERITY

Total Import and Export Trade
Amounts to $84,100,000,
with United States Principal Purchaser from Islands.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Washington, Dec. 27.—Hawaii has enjoyed greater prosperity and progress during the last year than during any other in its history, according to Governor W. F. Freese's annual report, submitted today to the United States Senate by Walter L. Fisher. The prosperity of the islands has been due to their prosperity, says the governor, but this year witnessed even greater strides forward. In commerce, homeostering improvement, class of immigrants, betterment of transportation facilities, construction of public works, public health, administration and public school facilities, there had been marked advancement. That the United States reclamation act be extended to Hawaii is one of the governor's recommendations. He says there are large areas which should be made available by irrigation for settlement by Americans in colonies of considerable size.

Imports and exports of the island
during the year totaled $84,100,000,
an increase of $14,680,000 over the preceding year. The increase was chiefly in trade with the United States which constituted more than nine-tenths of the total. The increase in exports from the territory was twelve times as much as that in imports, being $12,500,000 against $1, 180,000. The exports totaled $55,400,
000, and imports, $25,700,000.

Governor Freese reports that the percentage of homeosters taken by Americans and other Caucasians has been larger this year than usual.
During the last two years, the departure of Japanese steamer passengers exceeded the arrivals by 459.

MORE THAN THOUSAND DIFFERENT CHARGES

Twelve Men, Good and True,
May Have to Take Over a Thousand Ballots to Reach
Decisions in All Cases.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 27.—Fifteen hours' deliberation by the jury in the "dynamite conspiracy" case, up to tonight, had failed to result in the return of any verdicts. Federal Judge Anderson, after convening
the jury, ordered an adjournment until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.
The jury, which was composed of twelve men, good and true, may have to take over a thousand ballots to reach
decisions in all cases.

While government officials expressed confidence that the jury
would report tomorrow, attorneys for the defense stated it may require a longer time. Twenty-six offenses are charged against each of the defendants and the jury, if it chooses, may ballot on each charge as to each defendant, making a total of 1,440
charges.

The deliberations of the jurors are conducted in a room near their living quarters on the third floor of the federal building, which is reached by a private stairway out off from the rest of the building. On the same floor, at another end of the confined space, are the quarters of the confederate dynamite, Otto McManis and Edward Clark, who appeared as witnesses for the government. That there may be no basis for reports that the jury is making progress, every approach leading to their quarters is guarded.

Twice today the forty labor officials, headed by Frank M. Ryan,
president of the iron workers' union,
who are charged with conspiracy in the McManis dynamite plots to destroy the property of "open shop"
employers, were assembled in the courtroom in expectation that their fate would be made known. Crowds of women and other spectators who had been permitted in court or in the lobbies for the last three months,
were prevented by guards from approaching the court, so that only
those who had business in connection with the trial or were relatives of the defendants, were present.
These included the wives and children of about thirty of the men on trial.

The court sessions were brief. At 9:30 o'clock this morning the defendants occupied their accustomed
rows of four seats behind the lawyer's table. Four defendants were brought in as prisoners from the county jail. These were Edward Smythe and James E. Ray, Peoria, Ill.; Herbert S. Hokin, accused as
"the king of the conspiracy," and John T. Butler, of Buffalo, vice president of the iron workers' union, all of whom were taken in custody de-
cause their hands were so badly burned by dynamite that they had been in hospital for some time. Butler was ordered imprisoned after he had testified in his own behalf that he knew nothing of any $1,000 a month
appropriation out of the union's funds
to be used by John J. McManis, the secretary, for dynamite. As a token that the trial had ended, as far as testimony was concerned, balliffs entered, and the defendants were wearing, and removed almost a ton
of revolvers, guns, alarm clocks,
pieces of exploded bombs, nitro-gly-
cerin carrying cases, and articles
shattered by dynamite, which the
government had introduced as exhib-
its. Parts of the exhibits were wearing, and removed almost a ton
of revolvers, guns, alarm clocks,
pieces of exploded bombs, nitro-gly-
cerin carrying cases, and articles
shattered by dynamite, which the
government had introduced as exhib-
its. Parts of the exhibits were wear-

of revolvers, guns, alarm clocks,
pieces of exploded bombs, nitro-gly-
cerin carrying cases, and articles
shattered by dynamite, which the
government had introduced as exhibits.

The afternoon court reconvened
only again to adjourn, after a brief
wait.

TRAGIC DEATH OF GERMAN ADVENTURER

Reno, Nev., Dec. 27.—With both hands cut off and his skull fractured, Max von Buelow, said to be a descendant of Count von Buelow, the famous German general, was picked up on the railroad track near the state line last night and died two hours later in the railroad hospital at Sparks.

Von Buelow was a globe trotter
and soldier of fortune. Several years ago he married Miss Christine Plummer, a wealthy woman of Pueblo, Colo., and they traveled through Europe in royal style only later to be separated by the divorce court. Von Buelow was highly educated and spoke several languages. It is believed he was beating his way west on a passenger train last night and fell beneath the wheels.

WILSON WELCOMED ROYAL ENROUTE TO STAUNTON, VIRGINIA

Bonfires Glean at Every Station, Skyrockets Illuminate Heavens and Cannon Roar
as President-Elect Passes.

NO SPEECHMAKING IS ALLOWED BY DOCTOR

Throngs Gather in City of Birth to Show Appreciation of Distinguished Son Returning to His Home.

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Staunton, Va., Dec. 27.—Virginia
welcomed home tonight Governor Woodrow Wilson, the eighth of her native sons to be chosen president of the United States. From the moment
the president-elect crossed the state line at Alexandria, in the afternoon,
after he had a ten-minute glimpse of the national capital, until 9 o'clock
when he reached the little parsonage
where he was born, just fifty-six years ago tomorrow, the reception given him
was one of great enthusiasm, noisy demonstration and spectacular display.

Escorted by cavalry, militia companies, and a torchlight procession,
the governor and Mrs. Wilson motored through the streets of Staunton to the home of Dr. A. N. Frazer, pastor of the Presbyterian church. In this home, Reverend Joseph R. Wilson, rather of the president-elect, lived in 1856.

"It is fine to be back again," exclaimed the president-elect as he stepped indoors.

Suffering still from the effects of
his cold, he retired to the room
where he was born to rest for the morning, when the chief program of the day, fireworks, will be carried out. From far and wide, native children of Staunton had come to greet their fellow townsman. Except for an informal visit a year ago, Mr. Wilson had not been here since he was 2 years old.

Staunton was not alone in celebrating the arrival in Virginia of the distinguished visitor. Bonfires blazed the way, fireworks shot across the skies and red lights threw a festive glare at all stations along the route.
Mrs. Wilson stood with her husband on the rear platform of the train and enjoyed the demonstration.

"This is the real president-elect,"
said Mr. Wilson, as he introduced her to the crowd at Alexandria. Senator Claude A. Swanson, of Virginia, Representative Charles C. Carlin and W. A.
Jones, of this state, got aboard at Alexandria. Mr. Wilson was unable to speak at any of the stops en route,
his physician having prohibited unnecessary exposure. Senator Swanson explained this to the crowd at Alexandria, and Governor Wilson raised his hat to acknowledge their cheers. The governor did not respond to any of the many cries today for a speech.
The crowds were good natured and did not insist.

"I must say they are very generous in taking the thing as they do,"
he said to National Chairman Mason, who stood beside him on the platform. It was at Alexandria that the first of the series of bonfires along the route, cracked a welcome. The governor peered from his state room
at the fires along the way.

"Is it the Fourth of July?" he queried, as cannon roared and sky-rockets gleamed at Orange. Another display of fireworks came at Fordsville,
but the biggest crowd of all
pressed around the train at Charlottesville, where Governor and Mrs.
Wilson and a delegation from Richmond, joined the party.

Harry Smith, Jr., and Speaker R.
E. Bird, of the house of delegates,
both of them classmates of Governor
Wilson at the University of Virginia
Law School, greeted the president-elect warmly for their efforts in his behalf in the pre-convention campaign. Joseph E.
Willard, former lieutenant-governor of Virginia, had his private car attached at Charlottesville and the party of former Virginians was increased to nearly one hundred by the time of arrival at Staunton.

SIMPLE INAUGURATION IS WISH OF WILSON
Washington, Dec. 27.—Inauguration ceremonies in the past have been too spectacular and pretentious, in the opinion of President-elect Woodrow Wilson, who wants his inauguration service as simple as possible. At Washington, where his train stopped
for a few minutes en route to Stanton, Governor Wilson talked today with William Wilson, chairman of the inauguration committee.

"The thing has been overdone in the past," said the governor to him.
"I wish you would have the ceremonies as simple as may be consistent with dignity and order."

The president-elect today had his first glimpse of the national capital since the election. As he stepped to the platform he was greeted by Senators Martine, of New Jersey; Swanson, of Virginia; Representatives
Jones and Carlin, of Virginia; Chairman Eustis and Secretary Nick, of whom they expect to prove allies.

The names of the missionaries offered by the accused include Bishop Merriman C. Harris, J. S. Gale, the Rev. George S. McCune, the Rev. Dr.
Samuel A. Moffet, Dr. A. M. Sharracks, Dr. J. Hunter Wells and the Rev. W. M. Baird. A few others are incidentally mentioned.

Ferry Steamer Sinks Naval Launch.
Vallejo, Cal., Dec. 27.—The Southern Pacific ferry steamer El Capitán sank a launch of the gunboat Vicksburg in Vallejo channel today, and Coxswain Frederick Welsch was drowned. Three other men in the launch were rescued. The steamer Napa Valley cut off Welsch's view of the ferry boat until it was too late to avoid the collision. The launch came astern of the paddle wheel and was battered to pieces.

TREATY BETWEEN CUBA AND UNITED STATES

Havana, Dec. 27.—Arthur M. Bou-fford, the United States minister, and Manuel Saenz, the Cuban secretary of state, today signed a treaty providing for the addition by lease of a considerable tract of land to the American naval station at Guantanamo.

In return for it, the United States government surrenders its claim to a site for a naval station at Bahía
Honda, on the north coast of Cuba,
fifty-five miles southwest of Havana.
The treaty signed today will be sent to the Cuban and American senates
for ratification.

CASTRO MAY NOT BE ALLOWED TO LAND IN NEW YORK

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Orders Rigid Exami-

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire).
Washington, Dec. 27.—Cipriano Castro, ex-president of Venezuela, said to be on board the steamer La Touraine,
due at New York from Havre Sunday,
will be detained at the Ellis Island immigration station until Secretary Nagel, of the department of commerce
and labor, has passed upon his admission to the United States. Mr. Nagel
today instructed Commissioner of Immigration Williams at New York, to subject Castro to a rigid inspection
under the immigration laws to determine his right to enter and to forward
the result to Washington. This unusual course is due to the fact that the state department has requested Secretary Nagel strictly to apply the immigration laws to the ex-president.

That department is searching for evidence which would bar Castro.
The state department today received a report from Venezuela concerning
the status of the deposed president.
This was not made public.

JOHN S. BEAVEN IS THIRD MEMBER OF THE ROAD BOARD

State Highway Commission Names Local Coal Merchant as Successor of Late Felix H. Lester.

John S. Beaven was yesterday named as the third member of the county road board for Bernalillo county. Much was the news received last night from Santa Fe. Mr. Beaven succeeds the late Felix H. Lester, whose death left the chairmanship of the board vacant. There is every likelihood that Mr. Beaven will be chosen chairman.

When asked about the appointment last night, Mr. Beaven declared that he had not received any notification of the appointment, but that he would take pleasure in serving if the state commission really thought he was the man for the place.

"I have not been a candidate for the place," he said, "but will be glad to serve, if I will do all I can to get good roads in Bernalillo county, for we certainly need them."

COUNTY MAY EFFECT HEAVY SAVING ON BOND INTEREST

Securities to the Amount of $108,400 Now Optional and May be Handed Over to State for Refunding.

Bernalillo county now has an opportunity to effect a large saving in interest charges and taxes by putting its bonded debt into the hands of the state for refunding.

The county now has $108,400 worth of bonds of different issues, which have now become optional and may be turned over to the state for refunding. The county, of course, will continue to pay the interest. At present the interest charge is 6 per cent on all but $17,000 worth of the bonds. On these it is 5 1/2 per cent. All may now be refunded at approximately the same as that paid by the state for other bonds, that is, about 4 per cent. In some cases the state pays a lower rate on the amount actually received. New Mexico securities selling at a premium. The saving which would thus be made would be about 2 per cent on the whole amount, or $2,169 a year.

The commissioners yesterday instructed H. H. Johnson, assistant district attorney, to inform the state bond board that the county now had these bonds in condition to be converted. Further steps to effect the saving will be made as soon as possible.

Mr. Johnson was further instructed to confer with state engineer J. A. French regarding what steps might be necessary to make available the $2,250 which Bernalillo county can claim for river protection. The commissioners want this money spent at the Bernalillo bridge, to prevent the stream from again washing out that structure.

FATHER OF CITY ENGINEER DIES AT ISHERWOOD HOME

Daniel Gladding, father of City Engineer James N. Gladding, passed away early yesterday morning at the home of Thomas Isherwood. He had been ill for some time. Death was directly due to a cancerous growth. Mr. Gladding leaves a wife, who was with him at the time of death, two sons here, Andrew and Raymond, and one in San Bernardino, Cal., Edward.

I would like to have bids on all improvements on land bought for use of A. T. & S. F. R. Co., east of Second street and north of Trumbull avenue, either together or separately on each house. This does not include houses under condemnation proceedings.

and a daughter, Ruth. The son at San Bernardino was notified by telegram of his father's death. The two who were here were Mr. Gladding when death came.

Mrs. Gladding is the sister of Mrs. Thomas Isherwood. Mr. Gladding has been here several months ago, leaving for San Bernardino to visit his son there and only returned here about a week ago. Raymond Gladding, one of the sons, was formerly a student at the state university, but since last fall, has attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He arrived from Boston Thursday, barely in time to see his father before death.

Mr. Gladding was 58 years old and had passed most of his life in Fall River, Mass. He was a blacksmith by trade.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at French & Lawler's chapel. The body will be sent to Fall River Monday for burial.

A large number of tickets have already been sold. The affair will be an informal one. The proceeds will be used in the beautification of the B'nei B'rith cemetery.

GREATEST YEAR OF MERCHANTS FAIL TO IDENTIFY GOODS OF SUSPECTS

Police Will Take Needed Day of Rest and City Will be Given Over to Revelers for Three Solid Hours.

All Albuquerque well wishers are invited to participate in a carnival of welcome to Albuquerque's greatest year, which will be held beginning at 10 o'clock Tuesday evening, December 31, and will continue until 1 o'clock of the succeeding morning. The invitation is issued by Mayor D. K. B. Sellers, who desires to have all Albuquerqueans fittingly celebrate the beginning of the year that will place the city on the map for all time to come.

The celebration will be held on the paved streets down town, which will be illuminated until the celebration closes by the street lamps, which will be kept burning until every one is ready to go home.

The principal feature of the carnival is to have such a lot of noise that the din will resound all over the southwest and advertise to the world that Albuquerque is here and is going to stay. The only condition necessary to enter the celebration is to provide a horn. Each participant will be required to blow his own horn, because his neighbors will be busy blowing theirs and will have no time to aid him in his share of the advertising work.

A band, possibly two bands, will be on the street all the evening and the melodious strains of the oompah horn and the strident screeches of the solo A-flat clarinet will mingle with the raucous blasts from horns manipulated by joyous welcomers of the new year. And every one will have to be joyful for a special force of policemen named particularly for that one night, will be on the job to arrest and torture any glooms glooming the joy of others.

As for the regular police force, they will join the revelers, taking for themselves a needed day—or rather night—of rest from the onerous duties.

At midnight all noises will be redoubled, if the mayor has anything to do with it. The municipal mocking bird, used from time immemorial, will sing what will likely be its swan song as a starter. Then the other noise producers attached to local factories and shops, will chime in.

The result will doubtless achieve what the mayor aims at—that is, the prevention of sleep on the part of anyone so recent as to not take part in the general joy.

"No one will have any business sleeping that night," he said yesterday. "That is Albuquerque's night to howl and sing and shout and howl and sing. I advise all who intend to watch out the old year to engage their tables early. Mine's already chosen."

That Denman Thompson's idyllic play, "The Old Homestead," which appears tonight at Elks theater, has personal popularity is strongly evidenced by the fact that this is the twenty-seventh annual tour of the play, and their friends seem to increase in numbers instead of lessening.

There are innumerable scenes in the play that come home to all, and any one who has ever tasted the delights of rural life can not fail to appreciate the remarkable touches of nature embodied in this New England idyl. Joshua Whitcomb himself is the epitome of honest, bucolic simplicity, confident, sympathetic and grave, a character so chary and wholesome that he brightens every shadow and lightens every other's burden. Then, too, there are two "boys," Cy Prime, "nigh onto eighty," and Seth Perkins, who never grows old despite his years, both of whom are the exemplification of the adage applied by Joshua himself, "How true it is that once a man, twice a child." These characters together with those of Aunt Matilda, Rickett Ann and the Gansey boy, harmonize with each other and are as natural as life itself.

Mr. Thompson promises a complete production of his father's play and a case of unusual merit. The famous quartette of farm hands will, as usual, entertain Uncle Josh's city visitors, and the grand choir in the Grace church scene is said to be as impressive as heretofore. The original company will be seen here. Old friends as well as new will welcome the Grand Old Play. A capacity house is expected.

SANTA FE SHOPMEN AT SAN MARCIAL HOSTS AT DANCE

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) San Marcial, N. M., Dec. 27.—The shopmen of this division gave their annual ball at the opera house Christmas night. The decorations were unique. Festoons of Christmas bunting were strung from the chandeliers to the walls which were decorated with representations of all kinds of mechanical tools made from tin. The stage was fitted up to represent the rear floor of the shops and to make it more realistic two four-foot models of the passenger type of locomotives were used. These models were constructed by W. H. Howard, one of the machinists in his spare time, and were complete in every detail. The grand march was led by J. P. McMurray, the master mechanic of this division, and wife of Albuquerque. Many beautiful ball gowns were in evidence. A dainty and delicious lunch was served at 11:15 p. m., and punch was served to all who cared for it throughout the evening.

PORTER'S PLEA IS DRUNK; CASE UP TO GRAND JURY

Frank Austin Didn't Know If He Took Bridle; Justice Craig Enters Plea of Not Guilty for Old Negro.

Frank Austin, charged with stealing a bridle by Charles Grande, yesterday entered a non-committal plea before Justice George R. Craig. "Guilty or not guilty?" asked the justice.

"I don't know, judge," said Austin. Justice Craig entered a plea of not guilty on the record and bound Austin over to the grand jury under a bond of $150. The old negro was unable to furnish that amount.

Grande, who caught Austin and held him until the police came, said the negro had his bridle in his hands. Austin's lips were swollen and one eye bruised. Grande said he ran into a mail box when he was running away from him.

Austin, who was a saloon porter, has a violin that he values highly. He is said to have refused an offer of $50 for it. He used to carry the violin to the saloon with him every morning and take it home at night, fearing that some one would steal it.

Police, However, Hold Woman and Two Men When Michael Brothers Say Stuff is Not Theirs; Others to Examine It.

Two men and a woman, arrested yesterday by the police on suspicion that they were implicated in the recent burglary of the Michael Brothers' store, on South First street, were exonerated from connection with this robbery when the proprietors of this store last night failed to identify any of the goods in the possession of the trio. The three under arrest are Mrs. Juana Amuniz de Mendez, her son, Jose Mendez, and Marcelino Ramirez.

The trio is held by the police, despite the fact that they were unable to connect them with the Michael's burglary, that other merchants may examine the goods. Some of the stuff bears the Rosenwald Brothers' trade mark and other articles evidently came from the Kistler-Collister Company's store. Representatives of those two firms and others will be asked today by the police to look at the goods.

A chance blow led to the arrest of the men and woman. The woman yesterday afternoon was peddling expensive cloth fabric. An Assyrian, to whose house she went, seized her, thinking that the goods might have come from the Michael Brothers' store, and called Patrolman Ed. Donohue.

The woman said she lived at 861 South John street. That is Ramirez's home. The police searched the house, but not before they obtained a search warrant from Justice George R. Craig. Ramirez refused to allow them entrance until they showed him the paper. They found there some goods hidden in the bed.

Officer Pablo Lujan later said the woman's home was at 123 East street. He knew her. The police went there and found a trunk full of silks and Mexican drawn work. Mendez, the woman's son, who works at the Santa Fe shops, was arrested later.

Mendez told the police that some of the goods his sister and mother had bought at stores and that the rest of it they purchased from "tramps" who were on their way from Denver to El Paso. They told it, he said, because they needed the money to buy food.

The Michaels brothers examined the goods, piece by piece, at the police station last night, but neither the trunk or any of the goods was theirs.

WASHINGTON POULTRY MAN MAY COME HERE

If the Commercial club's information about Albuquerque suits C. H. Flick, of East Sound, Wash., he will start a chicken ranch here. Mr. Flick wants to know, in a letter to the Commercial club, what are the prospects for raising poultry here. He asks if ducks or other small animals are numerous and what prices eggs and chickens bring on the local market.

Frank Austin Didn't Know If He Took Bridle; Justice Craig Enters Plea of Not Guilty for Old Negro.

Frank Austin, charged with stealing a bridle by Charles Grande, yesterday entered a non-committal plea before Justice George R. Craig. "Guilty or not guilty?" asked the justice.

"I don't know, judge," said Austin. Justice Craig entered a plea of not guilty on the record and bound Austin over to the grand jury under a bond of $150. The old negro was unable to furnish that amount.

Grande, who caught Austin and held him until the police came, said the negro had his bridle in his hands. Austin's lips were swollen and one eye bruised. Grande said he ran into a mail box when he was running away from him.

Austin, who was a saloon porter, has a violin that he values highly. He is said to have refused an offer of $50 for it. He used to carry the violin to the saloon with him every morning and take it home at night, fearing that some one would steal it.

FAMOUS DRAMA IS ATTRACTION AT ELKS TONIGHT

Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead" to be Presented to Albuquerque Theatergoers by Fine Cast.

That Denman Thompson's idyllic play, "The Old Homestead," which appears tonight at Elks theater, has personal popularity is strongly evidenced by the fact that this is the twenty-seventh annual tour of the play, and their friends seem to increase in numbers instead of lessening.

There are innumerable scenes in the play that come home to all, and any one who has ever tasted the delights of rural life can not fail to appreciate the remarkable touches of nature embodied in this New England idyl. Joshua Whitcomb himself is the epitome of honest, bucolic simplicity, confident, sympathetic and grave, a character so chary and wholesome that he brightens every shadow and lightens every other's burden. Then, too, there are two "boys," Cy Prime, "nigh onto eighty," and Seth Perkins, who never grows old despite his years, both of whom are the exemplification of the adage applied by Joshua himself, "How true it is that once a man, twice a child." These characters together with those of Aunt Matilda, Rickett Ann and the Gansey boy, harmonize with each other and are as natural as life itself.

Mr. Thompson promises a complete production of his father's play and a case of unusual merit. The famous quartette of farm hands will, as usual, entertain Uncle Josh's city visitors, and the grand choir in the Grace church scene is said to be as impressive as heretofore. The original company will be seen here. Old friends as well as new will welcome the Grand Old Play. A capacity house is expected.

WASHINGTON POULTRY MAN MAY COME HERE

If the Commercial club's information about Albuquerque suits C. H. Flick, of East Sound, Wash., he will start a chicken ranch here. Mr. Flick wants to know, in a letter to the Commercial club, what are the prospects for raising poultry here. He asks if ducks or other small animals are numerous and what prices eggs and chickens bring on the local market.

SANTAL MIDY

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) San Marcial, N. M., Dec. 27.—The shopmen of this division gave their annual ball at the opera house Christmas night. The decorations were unique. Festoons of Christmas bunting were strung from the chandeliers to the walls which were decorated with representations of all kinds of mechanical tools made from tin. The stage was fitted up to represent the rear floor of the shops and to make it more realistic two four-foot models of the passenger type of locomotives were used. These models were constructed by W. H. Howard, one of the machinists in his spare time, and were complete in every detail. The grand march was led by J. P. McMurray, the master mechanic of this division, and wife of Albuquerque. Many beautiful ball gowns were in evidence. A dainty and delicious lunch was served at 11:15 p. m., and punch was served to all who cared for it throughout the evening.

COUNTY HAD NEARLY $200,000 ON HAND ON DECEMBER 1

Treasurer's Report, Filed Yesterday with County Commissioners, Shows Collections Totalling $119,607.42.

According to the regular report for the month of November filed by Treasurer M. Mandell with the board of county commissioners yesterday the county had nearly $200,000 on hand Dec. 1st, before the cash was divided up with others who derive moneys from the county taxes. The exact amount was $186,463.35. The collections for November, by far the heaviest month of the half year, totalled $119,607.42.

At their meeting yesterday the commissioners took up a number of matters, allowing several bills against the county and discussing the long postponed county survey. A letter was presented to them by Assistant District Attorney H. B. Jamison, sent him by John L. Zimmerman, contractor for the county survey several years ago, which asserted that the contractor thought he would be able to finish the work by July 31st, and that he would comply with the conditions named in a letter from the commissioners to him, if he were granted that much time in order to complete the work.

The commissioners instructed Mr. Jamison to inform Mr. Zimmerman that his contract would be extended to the date named, provided that he would wait for the cash demanded by the contract until there were sufficient funds in the county survey fund to pay him. What the surveyor will say to this is only a matter of conjecture. Three years ago, or nearly that, Mr. Zimmerman contracted to survey the county, platting all holdings and turning over to the commissioners a complete plat and copies of his field notes, for a price considered very low. It was a good deal lower than the bid made by any of his competitors. His bid was accepted and for a few months Zimmerman had a corps of workers going over the county with rod and transit. Because of a lack of funds he was never able to finish the contract. Lately negotiations were commenced with him and it now appears that he is able to do the work.

The commissioners ordered a telephone installed in the office of the county superintendent of school in the court house.

FIRE SEASON OPENS IN FORESTS OF ARKANSAS

When Season is Over in Western States It Begins There; Fire Control System in That State is Efficient.

The report of several forest fires in Arkansas appeared at the headquarters in Albuquerque of the third forest district that the fire season is open in that state.

The fire season in the western states closed more than a month ago and will not be open until late next spring. Arkansas, however, has a fire season all its own. It begins in December usually, and lasts until summer. This is due to the fact that Arkansas winters are dry and that the rainfall is heavy there in summer.

Florida, which is included in the third district, also has a winter fire season, but it does not begin until January. Climatic conditions are responsible for this seeming reversal in that state also.

The forest service has completed an efficient system for fire control in the two Arkansas forests. It has watch towers and telephones there just as it has in western forests, but the plentiful water supply in Arkansas enables them to have a pack horse fire department. The horses carry tanks filled with water. When a fire is reported the horses are driven to the scene. Rangers in Arkansas have water bags that they strap on their backs and when a blaze is discovered soon enough they frequently are able to put it out before it grows large.

The service hopes this year to decrease the fire loss in Arkansas under last year's figures. A decrease in the loss last year in comparison with the record of the previous year was apparent. The fires already reported in Arkansas were small.

THREE YOUTHS ARE TO FACE A CHARGE OF STEALING COAL

Three boys, charged with stealing coal from C. W. Kunz' coal yard, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Officer Pablo Lujan. They will appear before Judge Craig this morning.

Officer Lujan caught Jose Amaya, 9 years old, carrying away coal. The boy told him that Cecilio Gonzalez, 12 years old, and Antonio Amaya, 18 years old, also stole coal from the Kunz yard.

The boys were released upon their own recognizance. Last night R. M. Griego, who is employed by Kunz, detected three men in the act of stealing coal from the same yard. Griego attempted to arrest the men, but they ran. He fired four shots into the air to stop them, but this only accelerated their speed and they made good their getaway. Griego secured several large gunny sacks which the men were carrying. They dropped the sacks when they fled.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION HERE ON WAY HOME

Alvan N. White, state superintendent of public instruction, was in the city last night on his way home to Silver City. Mr. White declared that sentiment in the capital was very high over the stoppage of local travel through New Mexico on the California limited.

"People are all wrought up over it," he said, "but not so much as they were before the Santa Fe allowed us to travel to Albuquerque on the west-bound train."

Mr. White declared that he had yesterday appointed the school funds on hand to the different counties, at the rate of 33 cents for each person of school age. "We had $55,000 or a little more on hand to be apportioned, so we just made the apportionment. Generally, we keep funds in the general school fund until they amount to enough to make a respectable sum for each county."

Mr. White said that the school population of the state was about 101,000, an increase of only 1,600 over last year at this time. "This shows that we have an honest administration," he said, "as the rolls are evidently not padded."

Mr. White left on the midnight train last night for Silver City, Deming, Lordsburg and Las Cruces, at which latter place he will attend Farmers' Week at the Agricultural college, January 2nd to 6th.

"I had been troubled with constipation for two years and tried all of the best physicians in Bristol, Tenn., and they could do nothing for me," writes Thos. E. Williams, Williams, Ky. "Two packages of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets cured me." For sale by all druggists.

BRILLIANT SOCIAL EVENT TO BE HELD BY FIRE LADDIES

The Santa Fe fire department is planning one of the most brilliant social events of the year, to be held at the Armory Tuesday evening. As that is New Year's eve, preparations are being made for events fitting to the time and the spirit of carnival which will then prevail.

Arrangements for the dance are practically completed and assure that it will be one of the swiftest affairs ever given by any organization in the city. There will be a confetti battle at midnight and free horns will be given all who attend.

Ladies will be admitted free. The music will be the best obtainable. Handsome prizes are on display in Matson's window and will be awarded to those appearing at the dance in the most beautiful, original and grotesque costumes. There are twelve prizes in all, but of the ten in the window almost any would tempt any observer to compete for them at least. They include tobacco jars, cigars, rings, a shaving set, socks and ties and many other dainty and useful articles, and have a total value of $50. They were contributed by local merchants.

ROAD BOND ISSUE IS PASSED AS MEANS OF ECONOMY

El Paso County, Tex., Votes $350,000 for Improving Highways and Expects to Reduce Tax Rate by So Doing

(By Morning Journal Special Leased Wire)

El Paso, Dec. 27.—A bond issue of $350,000 for road improvement in El Paso county carried at a special election held today. An unusually heavy vote was cast by taxpayers in the rural districts. The funds will be used to continue the Camino Real, which closely follows the old Santa Fe trail from New Mexico, where it now is being improved by convict labor, through west Texas and into Arizona to the west. It is asserted that the bonds will make a reduction of 3 cents on the $100 valuation of the county tax rate, by doing away with the present heavy road tax.

JOYRIDER RELEASED BY JUDGE CRAIG WITHOUT BOND

Thomas Pierce Probably Will Not be Tried for Obtaining an Automobile Under False Pretenses; Not Arraigned.

Thomas Pierce, arrested Thursday for taking a joy ride in Dr. M. K. Wylder's Ford runabout, yesterday was released on his own recognizance. Justice George R. Craig continued the arraignment of Pierce on the formal charge of "obtaining an automobile under false pretenses." The release of Pierce on his own word, after his bond had been fixed at $250, and the indefinite continuance of his arraignment probably means that he will not be held in court.

Mrs. Pierce's intercession for her husband was instrumental in effecting her husband's release. When Pierce went to the jail Thursday afternoon and gave himself up to Chief of Police Thomas McMillin, she began her attempts to procure bail. This she was unable to do. Mrs. Pierce took Pierce's supper to the jail Thursday evening and thinking he might get cold in the jail, she took him blankets from her home.

$4,100 IN PARCELS POST STAMPS AT POSTOFFICE

Special Design of Pastors Arrives Christmas Day for Use in Handling New Branch of Postal Business.

Special parcels post stamps to the value of $4,152.50 have arrived at the local postoffice and are all ready for use when the parcels post system blossoms forth bright and early New Year's morning. The stamps are all of special design and color. They are divided as follows:

3,000 one-cent stamps; 4,500 two-cent stamps; 2,700 four-cent stamps; 9,000 five-cent stamps; 3,600 ten-cent stamps; 3,600 fifteen-cent stamps; 3,600 twenty-cent stamps; 3,600 twenty-five-cent stamps; 900 seventy-five-cent stamps.

The postage due stamps for use on parcels are as follows:
30 one-cent postage due stamps; 450 two-cent postage due stamps; 900 five-cent postage due stamps; 450 ten-cent postage due stamps; 450 twenty-five-cent postage due stamps.

Postmaster R. W. Hopkins declared last night that he did not know where the parcels post business could best be located in the office. "All our windows are working now," he said, "of course, the proper place for this thing is at the stamp window, but as it is likely to be quite a slow process, mailing parcels there may cause a good deal of congestion and delay. The public is not going to like that."

"We expect to have a good deal of trouble with packages that are improperly wrapped or packed. The department is going to hold the postmaster responsible for each insufficiently wrapped or packed parcel that is accepted, and although we are anxious to turn down anything that does not look like it would stand the trip all right, people are not going to like to have their packages handed back. Then all packages must be marked with the name and address of the sender. I never saw the value of return cards on packages quite so clearly as I did in the Christmas rush just past. Time after time there would be a package with address torn clear off. Usually the return card was left when this was the case. Then we would simply notify the sender that there was such and such a package in the office minus an address, and they would supply the address. After which we would deliver the package. It was a little delayed, but it got there all right."

"The packages offered for parcels post handling must bear the name and address of the sender, otherwise we can not accept them."
"This parcels post business is going to be a slow affair, anyway, I am afraid. When a package is delivered at the office for shipment, we must first of all weigh it. Then we figure the rate for so many pounds to such and such a zone, in this case the sixth, for Chicago is in the sixth zone from Albuquerque. After that we tell the shipper how many cents he will have to pay and he buys that many stamps and puts them on the package. If it is properly wrapped and marked with the correct name and address, we accept it. After that we do the rest. He has pressed the button."

Mr. Hopkins said that a scale of eleven pounds capacity had been received for use on the parcels post business and that half a dozen six-foot tape-lines had also been received for measuring parcels. No parcels that can not be compassed by a six-foot line or which weighs more than eleven pounds can be accepted.

FORMER GOVERNOR RETURNS FROM WINDY CITY

Progressive Leader Declares Roosevelt is Idol of Party as Before; Thinks Legislature Will Remain as It is.

Former Governor Miguel A. Otero, of Santa Fe, arrived in Albuquerque last night from the capital, his first appearance in this city since he attended the progressive gathering in Chicago a short time ago.

Governor Otero did not wish to speak very definitely about local topics, as he had been out of the state for several weeks, but declared it was his belief that the legislature would remain organized as it was at the former session. "I think as does Mr. Baca," he said, "that last year's session was an extraordinary one, but that does not prevent the organization of the body at that time from continuing as it stands."

Mr. Otero would not be very definite about it, but intimated that in his belief, Speaker Baca would remain on the job. "He has many friends among the democrats," he said, "and who is there to fight him? I think he will keep his place as long as he wants it."

The governor asserted that in Chicago everything had been Roosevelt, who remained the idol of his party. Just as he had been before the vote was counted last November. "The slogan was victory in 1912," he declared. "The gathering of the progressives in Chicago was such a gathering as is seldom seen. It was composed wholly of men who wanted to see the progressive principles triumph in the next presidential election. The party will carry on its fight, prosecute its propaganda, but as though it had not been defeated. You must remember that we went into the last fight handicapped by a very late start, yet we made remarkable showings."

SALT 'EM.

Every time your animals get off feed, or out of condition, you lose by it. You can bring them back to health nine times out of ten if your treatment is right, but you lose the time in that animal's producing period, you lose your own time and labor and worry in doctoring, as well as the expense of treatment. In most cases you lose from a set-back while the animal is regaining condition.

In short, you lose every time you stop and doctor diseases.

All animals are liable to get out of condition.

1.—There is the danger from worms, the natural pests of all live stock, which multiply when animals are kept under domesticated conditions.

2.—There is danger from getting "off feed."

3.—There is danger from waste of feed—worms get the substance—or from weak body organs which can not take care of the feed.

4.—From worms and the "off-feed" conditions there is danger of any one of a dozen serious diseases, which are liable to attack farm stock and so hard when the animal is out of condition.

Now, having told you the danger, we are going to tell you the remedy.

For there is a short cut that will save you this dreadful risk from worms and disease. There is a way to safeguard your profits.

Every stockman wants to be the owner of fifty, thrifty livestock.

Every feeder wants to see in his herds those sleek, well rounded sides, and the gleam and glister, the roll to the hide that promises top prices.

It sounds like humanitarianism, but—its business management.

One trouble in treating disease is that it has a good start before you know it.

Usually you don't know anything is wrong until there is some bad symptom. Now consider: You know when you are feeling "run down," not able to do your best. You know this long before any outsider can sound the warning. It is exactly the same with your animals. They know—long before you can know—that something is wrong with conditions.

To be profitable, all stock must be kept under unnatural conditions—a little over-crowded, a little under-exercised and a little over-fed. Is it any wonder animals get out of condition?

Now then, this is the biggest problem before the live stock owner: How to keep his herds in vigorous, productive health—how to push to the limit of healthful production in order to show good returns for the high cost of feed and care.

We solve that problem.

We solve it with "Salt-em." Con-

key's Medicated Stock Salt, the nature solves it.

In a state of nature animals in the herbs of the fields, in salt stacks, the elements they crave they freely seek these elements, made in a state of nature die from violence or accident—practically never from acquired diseases—doctor themselves.

Now, nature has provided two safeguards in two very common terials—salt and charcoal.

It is an absolute fact if you take just salt and charcoal, and then before your animals you go a long way toward preventing ease.

But why do things by half? You can buy "Salt-em," Cont Medicated Stock Salt, and solve whole problem?

There are certain dangers in common methods of "salting." Chickens are easily poisoned salt, and many animals if deprived salt for a long time will take much of it, so that scouring, indigestion and overtaxed kidneys the sure results.

On the other hand, we have to common salt—a pure grade—charcoal, and to this simple have added active medicinal principles, making a medicated stock uniformly mixed according to best pharmaceutical standards.

ers course in a dose of mild medicine to help the action of the er, reduce the strain on the kidneys and perfect the processes of digestion.

Per Pail, 10 lbs. 50 cents; 20 lbs. $1.00.

The quicker a cold is gotten rid of the less the danger from pneumonia and other serious diseases. Mr. L. L. Hall of Waycross, Ga., says: "I firmly believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to be absolutely the best preparation on the market for cold, have recommended it to my friends and they all agree with me." For by all druggists.

Today and tonight—the Golden Rule "Saving Sale" on ladies' and ready-to-wear. 25 per cent reduction.

Austria actually closed her gates to Serbian produce.
"What Austria did was to plot the economic ruin of Serbia, and the figures show how nearly she succeeded. But Austria's malevolence consolidated the Balkans. Serbia turned to her sisters in sorrow, and the despised Serbs, Bulgars and Greeks have shown on the battlefield what the united Balkans can do.

"In her economic straits Serbia changed the character of her industries. France, lender to all the Slavs, financed great packing houses, refrigerators, special railway cars and ships, whereby for prepared meats and dried fruits Serbia has found a market in Egypt, Malta, Italy and elsewhere.

"Austria's failure to achieve the economic ruin of Serbia explains her sinister move. And we can see, too, why Serbia wants Durazzo; for Durazzo spoils prosperity for Serbia.

"Is Austria, oppressor of Pole, Italian, Slav, to be permitted by Christendom to stamp into the earth those valiant Serbs?"

A. A. JONES THE RIGHT MAN.

It is generally conceded that the next secretary of the interior will be from one of the public land states. By all the rules of common sense, such should be the case, for what the best informed man from any other section of the country does not know of public lands and of Indians, and what he cannot learn during four years, would fill a volume much larger than has ever been turned out by the government printing office.

Not only should the next secretary be from the public land states, but he should be from one of the states where the government lands form a large percentage of the area included within its borders.

Such are the states of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Idaho. While there are public lands in a number of other states, there are few problems connected with their administration.

New Mexico has a man eminently fitted for the office of secretary of the interior. Hon. A. A. Jones, of East Las Vegas, has made a close study of most of the problems involved. He has had broad practical experience, is one of the best lawyers of the west, has sound judgment and is scrupulously conscientious.

Mr. Jones would make an admirable administrator, and knows more, both of public land problems and Indian affairs, than could be learned by almost any other man during a four years' term as secretary, or even by eight years' service. Mr. Jones has devoted much of the past quarter of a century to studying the questions he would be called upon to deal with.

There is no question that President Wilson would act wisely by giving the interior department portfolio to Mr. Jones. Should he not do so, the position is almost sure to fall in less competent hands.

BRYAN AND WILSON.

Mr. Bryan's relations to the incoming administration constitute by far the most interesting subject of speculation in American politics today. That he will go into the cabinet is expected. But it is not expected that he will dictate the conditions under which he will enter the president's council of advisers.

The rumor that Mr. Bryan will exact as a condition of his support that Mr. Wilson disavow a second candidacy and promise to advocate the candidacy of Bryan four years hence cannot be true. Woodrow Wilson is not a man to be run in this way and Mr. Bryan is not a man whose record is such as to justify him in making such a raw demand. Neither of them, nor both of them, could dispose of the presidency in 1916, if so disposed. The office still belongs to the people.

Mr. Wilson's administration would lose dignity from the beginning if it came to be recognized that it was but a vestibule to another Bryan boom. The history of the Taft campaign, backed by Roosevelt, is too recent in the minds of the voters to make such program popular or possible.

The only thing Mr. Wilson can do is to offer Mr. Bryan the position, as has been customary with presidents to offer the premier position to the most influential man in the party who at the time holds no public office. When that is done it will be up to Mr. Bryan to make a record in that position that will justify his party in considering him for the candidacy in 1916.

Colonel Goethals seems to be one of those men who are able to secure recognition without heaving a ton and shouting "here, here" all the time.

Laura Jean Libby says nothing gets so cold as the human heart. Did Aunt Laura ever feel one of those hot air registers when the heat gets turned in the other direction?

The gentlemen who were testing a fourteen inch gun somewhere off New York got off soon free, but they heard the noise when the cannon's face blew off.

Champ Clark declares that he will not discuss Bryan with anybody. Perhaps he believes his vocabulary is too limited to do that subject justice.

The president-elect says that his first duty as president is to help Mrs. Wilson unpack. Wonder what Mrs. Wilson thinks about it? Has she ever seen a man unpack?

If you didn't get what you liked for Christmas you can always like what you got.

DONA ANA COUNTY BLIND LAWYER IS FEDERAL CHARGE IS VOTES TODAY ON BOND ISSUE

Proposed One Hundred Thousand Dollars Appropriation for Good Roads Believed Certain to Carry.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Las Cruces, N. M., Dec. 27.—Tomorrow the people of Dona Ana county will go to the polls to vote upon the proposed $100,000 road bond issue. What opposition originally appeared to this proposed bond issue seems to have now faded away, due to the untiring and enthusiastic efforts of the road boosters in the county. As president of the Dona Ana County Good Roads Association, Francis E. Lester, together with members of the county road board, have visited all parts of the county, held a series of public meetings at which the citizens of the county have been taken into confidence and the policies of the road board explained and shown to be in the interest of the people of the county as a whole. Letters have also been sent out to citizens of the county and to members of the Dona Ana County Good Roads Association executive committee, which exist in each of the nineteen precincts, and in this way an organization has been created that will bring out the vote on tomorrow in favor of the bond issue. As a result of this work the people of the county are now enthusiastic in favor of the bonds, and they will undoubtedly be approved by a very large majority.

On Monday W. S. Gilliam and Francis E. Lester, members of the county road board, went to Rincon and held a good roads meeting in the afternoon, at which was also present B. H. Burrell, the government highway engineer, who is spending ten days in Dona Ana county delivering lectures to various precincts in the county. Monday Mr. Burrell delivered his lecture to a crowded house, over fifty people being present, and most of whom traveled a distance of fifteen to eighteen miles through the snow and cold.

Tuesday night Mr. Burrell delivered his lecture at La Mesa, and the school house was jammed to the doors with an audience of 214 persons who came from Chamberlain, La Mesa and San Miguel. The audience was enthusiastic and delighted with the lecture from beginning to end.

On last night Mr. Burrell lectured to an audience of over 250 people gathered in the Armory hall here, ex-Mayor Young of Las Cruces presiding. For this lecture a large number of additional voters had been received from Washington, including a great many showing the best methods of road building for local conditions in Dona Ana county, and this part of the lecture was listened to with rapt attention.

Mr. Burrell lectured in Mesilla tonight, at the Agricultural college, on Monday night, December 31st, and at La Union Wednesday, January 1st, after which he leaves for Deming and Silver City.

The enthusiasm in favor of good roads in Dona Ana county seems at present to be unbounded. Every one is a good road booster. The native people especially are taking an active personal interest in not only talking up good roads but in bringing out a heavy vote at the polls tomorrow.

NEW MEXICO SITE IS SELECTED AT SAN FRANCISCO

Commission Appointed by Governor W. C. McDonald Picks Out Location for State Building at 1915 Show.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal) San Francisco, Dec. 27.—The New Mexico commission, appointed by Governor W. C. McDonald, as a result of a bill passed by the legislature in January of this year, arrived in this city today, and selected a site for New Mexico's building at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, in 1915.

The commission consisted of ex-Governor Herbert J. Hagerman, of Roswell; ex-Governor W. T. Thornton, of Santa Fe; R. E. Twitchell, of Las Vegas; Mayor J. J. Schuler, of Raton; and H. A. Jastro, of Deming.

This makes the twenty-fourth state to select a site for participation in the coming world's fair, and is the last of the Pacific coast states, all others having made their selections.

With the exception of Texas and Oklahoma, every state west of the Missouri river has selected its state building site at the exposition.

New Mexico has in mind the erection of a building of Mexican architecture, to be of adobe, surrounding a patio and the plantings are to be of cactus and other desert growths.

Upper Branch of Congress May Have Second Sightless Member in Henry Ridgely of Delaware.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Wilmington, Del., Dec. 27.—When the next session of the legislature meets in January, there is sure to be a big night when the matter of electing a democratic United States senator to succeed Senator Richardson, republican, is brought up, and from the present indications the struggle is sure to be one of the bitterest in the political history of the state. There are now so many possibilities that prophets are becoming more and more cautious in their predictions.

Willard Saulsbury, the national committeeman, appears at the present time to have the lead, but it is rumored that he is going to be subject to such an attack by the du Pont republican machine, aided by a certain element of democrats, that he will be eliminated from the fight.

The du Pont machine is now seeking to make any sort of a deal with the democrats to defeat Saulsbury. Henry Ridgely, the blind lawyer, of Dover, has been boomed for the berth by the anti-Saulsbury faction. He is an able lawyer, and democrats have a number of times unsuccessfully sought the use of his name for various positions. It is said, however, that he will not refuse to permit his friends to use his name in connection with the senatorial fight. Friends of L. Irving Handy, ex-congressman, are also declaring that he will be the most potent factor in the fight, and that with Saulsbury, Ridgely and Handy to select him. Therefore, they are not inclined to join the proposed coalition with Ridgely unless they first see that Handy is hopelessly bent.

HOME HEALTH CLUB

(BY DR. DAVID H. REEDER.)

Ventilating the Home.

Just recently I received a letter from a young lady attending school saying that she has had a cold for several weeks, and that she just sneezes and coughs something "awful." She took great pains to tell me she couldn't account for it, because she never slept with her bedroom windows open. To you, Home Health club readers, I'll give you just one guess as to the cause of the young lady's cold. To transcribe one of Solomon's sayings: "What would it profit one to gain a world of knowledge and in doing so lose his health?"

If the value of fresh air were reckoned in dollars and cents we would all be figuring out ways and means of getting it. Come to think of it, it has, indirectly, a decided money value. Health and a clear brain are worth money. Proper ventilation of the home is requisite to both.

It is true that most of our homes are built without any thought to ventilation. While the fact is regrettable, it is not a valid excuse for living and sleeping in almost airless rooms. Rooms have windows and doors, and these can be used in such a way, even in the coldest of weather, as to give a fair degree of ventilation.

I was walking along the street a few days ago and noticed two men working outside on a house. One was pulling weather strips around the windows against the sash, and the other was putting on a heavy storm door. I was reminded of an old song I had heard somewhere, the words of which ran something like this: "A little more work for the undertaker, a little more work for the casket maker." Colds, pneumonia, consumption—but what's the use, you all see the point.

How can doors and windows be arranged so as to permit ventilation without permitting a draft through the room? The best and most practical device that I have found is the deflector. If one cares to spend the money he can have them made of plate glass. Most any one who can use a saw and hammer can make one out of a pine board that will give as good service as a glass one. The only difference being in the looks. Take a one-half to three-fourth inch board six to eight inches wide and saw it the length to fit into the window frame at the bottom. One edge must rest on the window sill, elevate the other to an angle of about sixty degrees. Now tack small cleats on both sides of the board so as to hold it in position, and allow it to be slipped in and out as desired. The side resting on the window sill may be planed to the proper angle so that it will set firmly.

You see now the window can be raised from a fraction of an inch to 6 or 8 inches, and there will be no draft through the room as the air is deflected or thrown upward toward the ceiling.

A window on the opposite side of the room may be lowered from the top, thus securing to three-fourth inch. Suppose there is only one window in the room. Use the deflector and lower the top sash. While this will allow only a poor circulation of air it is a great deal better than none.

You see in getting ventilation, the idea is to have the intake near the floor and the outlet on the opposite side of the room near the ceiling.

That Pension. Might just suggest to Andy, dear. To Oyster Bay he speeds it. And see if 'round there things appear. As if he really needs it.

Former Postmaster at Farmington and Manager of Distillery Indicted on Three Counts by U. S. Grand Jury.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Aztec, N. M., Dec. 27.—James T. Fay, former postmaster at Farmington, was arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Callier on three different counts today. Hearing will come up before United States Commissioner Frank Stuplin at Farmington. It is said that the charges against Mr. Fay include selling liquor to an Indian and manufacturing liquor without paying internal revenue tax thereon. Mr. Fay has been manager of the distillery at Farmington for some months. He was at one time a prominent republican politician of San Juan county.

Conspiracy Is Alleged.

The confession of Placido H. Head, the Indian who set fire to the Farmington cannery factory and the lumber yard of the Durango Planing Mill & Lumber Co., in that city, is said to reveal a conspiracy by which Head was to be convicted of the crime and two accomplices were to receive a reward offered for the culprit's detection. Ernest Westbrook and C. C. McKinney are under indictment with Head as accessories. It is said that C. C. McKinney, manager of the lumber company, was told if he would pay the offered reward, which was $300, to a friend of the accused men, the name of the guilty man would be given him. This he refused to do. Further investigation brought out evidence that showed that Head to be a mere stool-pigeon, and the making public of his confession is awaited with much interest.

Numerous Cases Disposed of.

District court is proceeding with good speed, under the guidance of Judge Abbott. Disposition has been made of the following cases:

La Plata Horse Company vs. H. S. Cooper, dismissed at plaintiff's cost.

John Pearson vs. John Swire, damage suit, verdict favor defendant.

Larkin Beck et al. vs. Peter Adamson, Jr., judgment for plaintiff.

R. J. Overholser vs. Foster Blacklock, damage suit, judgment for plaintiff.

E. R. Chambers vs. G. E. West, judgment for defendant.

E. E. Otis vs. F. M. Quinn, judgment for plaintiff, $280.

Ben Murray, charged with concealing stolen property, was acquitted.

The grand jury returned additional indictments as follows:

Frank B. Allen and David Robertson, doing business without license, W. J. Hall and Ted Holmes, selling liquor to minor.

"No bills" were returned in following cases:

Jack Buncer, Ernest Chambers, J. H. Swire, David Truby, Henry Truby and Pete Lutz.

Recommendations by Grand Jury.

Recommendations were made by the grand jury in its report. Among those it was advised that the next grand jury look more closely into alleged violation of gambling law and illegal selling of liquor; that an act be passed by the legislature making it compulsory to get written permission before deadly weapons may be sold; that no evidence whatever of "court fixing" could be found; that the county treasurer's office was kept neat, the treasurer is under $25,000 bond to the county and an additional bond of $10,000 as school fund custodian; bounty on wild animals is urged repealed; new office fixtures are recommended for treasurer, assessor and superintendent; more fireproof vault room is urged for the county clerk's office; a new jail building is recommended.

DEMING SUFFERS FROM COSTLY MIDNIGHT BLAZE

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal) Deming, N. M., Dec. 27.—As the result of a fire which broke out about midnight Thursday, two stores and a saloon were destroyed and adjoining buildings seriously damaged, causing a loss estimated at $16,000 on buildings and stock. The fire originated in the Birchfield & Heath millinery store, destroyed this establishment, gutted the Victor confectionery and the Silver King saloon and caused a considerable loss to a barber shop and the N. A. Bolch dry goods house. With the exception of the saloon stock, the loss is covered by insurance.

REVISED FOOTBALL RULES WARMLY COMMENDED

New Regulations Governing Great College Game Almost Perfect; Defense and Offense Equally Balanced.

(Special Correspondence to Morning Journal)
New York, Dec. 27.—Praise for the revised football rules, with the statement that they "made possible the best game of football ever played by American colleges," was expressed by H. L. Williams, coach of the University of Minnesota football team, in his report today before the National Collegiate Athletic association, a chairman of the rules committee.

"Mr. Williams told of the difficulties that had been overcome and the many changes that had been made, all of which proved most fortunate, several years back, he said, the proper adjustment of the balance between offense and defense, with just the right equilibrium between those forces, has been a serious problem. The advantage, he contended, had been on the side of the defense and it had been well recognized that as the goal line was approached the defense became stronger through the leaning in of the backs to support the line so that the scoring of touchdowns by equally balanced teams was exceedingly difficult. For these reasons, he said, the rules were changed to give four downs in ten yards instead of three, a change which he characterized as the most important and beneficial introduced since the original rule was adopted.

"The estimation of the on-side kick as another change which he said was most important for the best interests of the game and was made because the committee felt that the advantage of the attack over the defense might be too great because of the decided danger to the defensive backs and because of the decided element of luck in the play.

"Mr. Williams closed his report with the statement that "now we seem to have a game that is most satisfactory, popular alike to players, spectators and coaches, where the balance between attack and defense is nicely adjusted, where a team that is properly instructed and properly directed in the field of play ought always to be able to score unless outclassed and where the team of superior ability and skill almost invariably wins."

George W. Ehrler, director of physical education at the University of Wisconsin, rendering a report on Football Fatalities Among students, announced that there were no deaths among college men last season but that a school boy was killed. The track rules committee, of which A. Stagg, of Chicago university, is captain, had no important changes in proposed. Mr. Ehrler, in discussing the work of the committee on amateurism, said there was a "twilight zone" within which the application of the law is not always simple or clear.

"The trouble," he said, "does not arise so much out of the difficulty of determining whether an actual violation of the letter of the law has occurred, but whether there has been a violation of the spirit of the rule. That there is no widespread demand for liberalizing the amateur law is the view of the committee. On the contrary, several events seem to indicate a tendency to uphold the present standards and to extend the benefits of cooperation to that end."

Lieutenant H. M. Nelly, of West Point, was the only new member elected to the football rules committee. The nominating committee proposed the following ticket, which was elected:

President, L. B. R. Briggs, Harvard; vice president, Prof. T. L. Moran, Purdue; secretary-treasurer, Prof. Frank W. Nicholson, Wesleyan University; district representative, Frank Castleman, University of Colorado. Mr. Castleman also is on the new track rules committee.

Glenn Warner, athletic coach at Carleton, said during tonight's discussion, that college baseball should be abolished. "Our experience at Carleton has convinced us that instead of baseball making men of Indians, it has more apt to make 'bums' of them. I speak not only of baseball in college, but the professional game the student gets into on leaving college. We have abolished baseball at Carleton. We substituted for baseball the game of ice cream. I believe the only solution of the baseball evil in our colleges is to substitute a game that is not so professional."

WIFE OF MERCHANT AT SAN MARCIAL DIES OF BURNS

Mrs. Alfredo Armijo, Whose Dress Was Soaked with Gasoline, Passes Near Stove and Clothes Are Ignited.

(Special Dispatch to the Morning Journal)
San Marcial, N. M., Dec. 27.—Mrs. Alfredo Armijo, wife of a leading merchant of "Old Town," who was severely burned yesterday died this morning.

Mrs. Armijo was cleaning clothes with gasoline yesterday. Her dress became saturated, and when she passed a wood stove the oil-soaked garments ignited. In a second she was burned beyond hope of recovery. Only the woman's feet were not burned, and it was evident from the first that she would not survive. The only aid physicians were able to give was to alleviate her pain until death.

Alfredo Armijo, husband, formerly was a member of the board of commissioners of Socorro county.

Mrs. Armijo before her marriage was Miss Lou Young. She lived in Albuquerque at one time. An aunt, Mrs. Julian Garcia, and an uncle, Tomas Gonzales, live here. Mr. Armijo yesterday morning telephoned to the police here to notify relatives of the death of his wife.

NO MORE IDLENESS FOR PRISONERS IN COUNTY JAIL

Road Board Plans to Improve Opportunity for Cheap Labor Afforded by Men in Bernalillo Bastille.

Idleness is soon to be a thing of the past for the prisoners of the Bernalillo county jail. The county road board's two remaining members held an informal meeting yesterday and decided that the men who are being maintained at county expense might as well earn something while they remain in custody and will ask the commissioners to put the men to work on the roads as soon as possible. The change is expected to be beneficial to the prisoners, as well as to the roads, as work in the open air will keep them in better health than merely idling away their time in jail. It will also act as a deterrent to the several men who seem to think that a sentence to jail means merely a meal ticket for so many months. The board did not hold a formal meeting because of the lack of a chairman, caused by the death of Felix H. Lester, and will not hold a formal meeting until the new third member of the board, John S. Beaven, takes up his duties. The present members, A. Zamora and E. C. Butler, do not care to elect a chairman at present.

The board held a lengthy session at the court house and heard several complaints regarding the roads of the county, particularly north from Old Albuquerque to Los Duranes, where the convicts have been working. Although a considerable section of this highway has been graded north of Duranes, there is a section just south of that place where buildings, brought by the county, still project into the right-of-way. These, it is planned to remove and then the road will be finished as far as Duranes. After that, what will be done depends more or less upon what the state highway commission will do. Until the work is finished, the convict gang employed there for some time past will remain at work.

Part of the discussion yesterday was relative to the crossing of the road by several aqueducts, but the board settled these difficulties to the satisfaction of all concerned.

ALBUQUERQUE MAY BE MADE CENTER OF TWO ROUTES

People Both South and North of City Interested in Projects for Rural Free Delivery Through Valley.

Within a comparatively short time Albuquerque may be made the center of two rural free delivery routes. Several months ago Postmaster R. W. Hopkins was approached by men living south of the city, across the river, who wished to have a delivery route established there and not long ago he was also approached by a resident of the district north of the city.

The plan for the southern project is to have the carrier go south on the west bank of the river, reaching Parajito, Atrisco, Rancho de Atrisco, Padillas and other places, re-cross the river at Isleta and return to Albuquerque on the east bank of the stream, reaching people at Barr, Abajo, San Jose and other settlements on his way.

The plan for the northern route is to have the carrier go from here through Duranes and on to Alameda through the thickly settled portions of the lower valley and return by the road along the foothills. A petition for this route has been in circulation for several days past and last night had more than the requisite 100 signatures.

Considerable progress has been made on the petition for the southern routes.

BUSINESS IN 1912 IS BETTER THAN THE YEAR BEFORE

Half Dozen Merchants in Varied Lines Declare That They Have Done Bigger Volume; Christmas Trade Heavy.

Business for 1912, as evidenced by statements from half a dozen or so merchants of Albuquerque, has been far better than that of 1911. While they are naturally chary of giving out actual figures, all agree that prosperity has surely visited the local public this year or there would have been a much smaller volume of transactions.

The Christmas trade has been quite heavy, also. The two weeks preceding Christmas brought a big volume of cash into the coffers of the local retailers, and of course, the wholesalers got their proportion of this indirectly.

The following statements are typical of the feeling manifested by local business men:

"The business we have done in 1912 has been far better than that of 1911," said C. O. Cushman last night. "The Washburn company has sold more goods and to more people, this year than any year of our history. The Christmas trade was all that could be asked, far surpassing that of last year."

"I had a far Christmas trade," said C. H. Kipple, of the Kipple Furniture Company, "but then you know we are not exactly in the line where most of the Christmas buying is done. Our business for the year has been very satisfactory and has been considerably larger than it was in 1911."

"The Christmas trade we had this year, bought rather earlier than in 1911," said A. H. Loken, of the Hub, "but it was of a satisfactory volume. Larger than last year's. The business for the year has been much larger than last year's."

"This year is the best in our history," said J. A. Weinman, of the Golden Rule Dry Goods Company. He was enthusiastic over the business of 1912. "Sales at the Golden Rule were five times as large as in the bigger Christmas week than ever before for the same period. There was no drop today. We have been as busy today as we were any day last week."

J. C. Nead, of the McIntosh Hardware Company, said business for 1912 was good. "It was better than the record for last year," he said. "The Christmas trade was unusual."

"Business was all right," declared D. S. Rosenwald, of the Rosenwald Brothers. "It surpassed 1911's record. The holiday trade was heavy."

"Our Christmas business was fine," asserted R. H. Cowper, of the Kistler-Collister Company, "far better, even, than we had hoped for. Our business for 1912 has been very good, also, but as we will not complete our fiscal year for some months yet, I cannot speak so definitely about it. But it has been good."

Seymour Lewinson, of the Economist said: "I was well satisfied with our Christmas business. The first two weeks of December were rather quiet, but after that things picked up wonderfully. We had five or six days that were enormous. The yearly business has gained a good deal, more than we had any reason to expect."

BRICK PLANT SOLD ON OLD JUDGMENT TO OUTSIDER

A. E. Rouiller, of San Marcial, Bids in Property at $7,000 Through Local Attorney Yesterday Morning.

The Albuquerque brick plant, located in San Jose near the railroad tracks, was sold at a sheriff's sale yesterday morning. The purchaser was A. E. Rouiller, of San Marcial, who made the deal through a local attorney.

The sale was made on an old judgment in favor of a man named Wheeler, in Trinidad. Wheeler is trustee for Robert Price. The amount of the judgment was $3,200. Rouiller went security for the judgment shortly after it was obtained, in April, 1911. Wheeler will now turn the plant over to him. The price it brought when sold by Under Sheriff Dick Lewis yesterday morning, was $7,000.

The Albuquerque Pressed Brick & Tile Co., which built the plant and operated it for some time past, was organized about six years ago. It underwent many vicissitudes and changes culminating in the sale of the property yesterday. Its original purpose was to manufacture shale brick from material found at Algodones. Later it abandoned the idea of making building brick and manufactured only fire brick, of which it is said to have made an exceptional quality.
